Foreword

IT IS a very responsible thing to translate the Holy Scriptures from their original languages of Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek into modern speech. Translating the Holy Scriptures means rendering into another language the thoughts and sayings of Jehovah God, the heavenly Author of this sacred library of sixty-six books that holy men of long ago were inspired to write down for our benefit today.

That is a very sobering thought. The translators of this work, who fear and love the Divine Author of the Holy Scriptures, feel toward Him a special responsibility to transmit his thoughts and declarations as accurately as possible. They also feel a responsibility toward the searching readers who depend upon a translation of the inspired Word of the Most High God for their everlasting salvation.

It was with such a sense of solemn responsibility that over the course of many years this committee of dedicated men have produced the New World Translation of the Holy Scriptures. The entire work was originally released in six volumes, from 1950 to 1960. From the start it was the desire of the translators to have all these volumes brought together into one book, inasmuch as the Holy Scriptures are in actuality one book by the One Author. While the original volumes contained marginal references and footnotes, the revised one-volume edition, released in 1961, contained neither footnotes nor marginal references. A second revision was released in 1970 and a third revision with footnotes followed in 1971. In 1969 the committee released The Kingdom Interlinear Translation of the Greek Scriptures, which presented under the Greek text published in 1881 by Westcott and Hort a literal word-for-word translation into English.

This new edition is not just a refinement of the translated text beyond its already previous revisions, but it has been expanded to include a complete updating and revision of the marginal (cross) references that were initially presented in English, from 1950 to 1960.

This 1984 revision has been released by us to the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society of Pennsylvania for printing, translation into other leading languages and distribution. We thus make it available with a deep sense of gratitude to the Divine Author of the Holy Scriptures, who has so privileged us and in whose spirit we have trusted in producing this revision. We pray for his blessing upon those who use this translation for spiritual advancement.

GENESIS

1 In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth.

[2] Now the earth proved to be formless and waste and there was darkness upon the surface of the watery deep; and God’s active force was moving to and fro over the surface of the waters.

[3] And God proceeded to say: “Let light come to be.” Then there came to be light. [4] After that God saw that the light was good, and God brought about a division between the light and the darkness. [5] And God began calling the light Day, but the darkness he called Night. And there came to be evening and there came to be morning, a first day.

[6] And God went on to say: “Let an expanse come to be in between the waters and let a dividing occur between the waters and the waters.” [7] Then God proceeded to make the expanse and to make a division between the waters that should be beneath the expanse and the waters that should be above the expanse. And it came to be so. [8] And God began to call the expanse Heaven. And there came to be evening and there came to be morning, a second day.

[9] And God went on to say: “Let the waters under the heavens be brought together into one place and let the dry land appear.” And it came to be so. [10] And God began calling the dry land Earth, but the bringing together of the waters he called Seas. Further, God saw that it was good. [11] And God went on to say: “Let the earth cause grass to shoot forth, vegetation bearing seed, fruit trees yielding fruit according to their kinds, the seed of which is in it, upon the earth.” And it came to be so. [12] And the earth began to put forth grass, vegetation bearing seed according to its kind and trees yielding fruit, the seed of which is in it according to its kind. Then God saw that it was good. [13] And there came to be evening and there came to be morning, a third day.

[14] And God went on to say: “Let luminaries come to be in the expanse of the heavens to make a division between the day and the night; and they must serve as signs and for seasons and for days and years. [15] And they must serve as luminaries in the expanse of the heavens to shine upon the earth.” And it came to be so. [16] And God proceeded to make the two great luminaries, the greater luminary for dominating the day and the lesser luminary for dominating the night, and also the stars. [17] Thus God put them in the expanse of the heavens to shine upon the earth, [18] and to dominate by day and by night and to make a division between the light and the darkness. Then God saw that it was good. [19] And there came to be evening and there came to be morning, a fourth day.

[20] And God went on to say: “Let the waters swarm forth a swarm of living souls and let flying creatures fly over the earth upon the face of the expanse of the heavens.” [21] And God proceeded to create the great sea monsters and every living soul that moves about, which the waters swarmed forth according to their kinds, and every winged flying creature according to its kind. And God got to see that it was good. [22] With that God blessed them, saying: “Be fruitful and become many and fill the waters in the sea basins, and let the flying creatures become many in the earth.” [23] And there came to be evening and there came to be morning, a fifth day.

[24] And God went on to say: “Let the earth put forth living souls according to their kinds, domestic animal and moving animal and wild beast of the earth according to its kind.”

And it came to be so. [25] And God proceeded to make the wild beast of the earth according to its kind and the domestic animal according to its kind and every moving animal of the ground according to its kind. And God got to see that it was good.

[26] And God went on to say: “Let us make man in our image, according to our likeness, and let them have in subjection the fish of the sea and the flying creatures of the heavens and the domestic animals and all the earth and every moving animal that is moving upon the earth.” [27] And God proceeded to create the man in his image, in God’s image he created him; male and female he created them. [28] Further, God blessed them and God said to them: “Be fruitful and become many and fill the earth and subdue it, and have in subjection the fish of the sea and the flying creatures of the heavens and every living creature that is moving upon the earth.”

[29] And God went on to say: “Here I have given to YOU all vegetation bearing seed which is on the surface of the whole earth and every tree on which there is the fruit of a tree bearing seed. To YOU let it serve as food. [30] And to every wild beast of the earth and to every flying creature of the heavens and to everything moving upon the earth in which there is life as a soul I have given all green vegetation for food.” And it came to be so.

[31] After that God saw everything he had made and, look! it was very good. And there came to be evening and there came to be morning, a sixth day.

2 Thus the heavens and the earth and all their army came to their completion. [2] And by the seventh day God came to the completion of his work that he had made, and he proceeded to rest on the seventh day from all his work that he had made. [3] And God proceeded to bless the seventh day and make it sacred, because on it he has been resting from all his work that God has created for the purpose of making.

[4] This is a history of the heavens and the earth in the time of their being created, in the day that Jehovah God made earth and heaven.

[5] Now there was as yet no bush of the field found in the earth and no vegetation of the field was as yet sprouting, because Jehovah God had not made it rain upon the earth and there was no man to cultivate the ground. [6] But a mist would go up from the earth and it watered the entire surface of the ground.

[7] And Jehovah God proceeded to form the man out of dust from the ground and to blow into his nostrils the breath of life, and the man came to be a living soul. [8] Further, Jehovah God planted a garden in E′den, toward the east, and there he put the man whom he had formed. [9] Thus Jehovah God made to grow out of the ground every tree desirable to one’s sight and good for food and also the tree of life in the middle of the garden and the tree of the knowledge of good and bad.

[10] Now there was a river issuing out of E′den to water the garden, and from there it began to be parted and it became, as it were, four heads. [11] The first one’s name is Pi′shon; it is the one encircling the entire land of Hav′i·lah, where there is gold. [12] And the gold of that land is good. There also are the bdellium gum and the onyx stone. [13] And the name of the second river is Giʹhon; it is the one encircling the entire land of Cush. [14] And the name of the third river is Hidʹde·kel; it is the one going to the east of As·syrʹi·a. And the fourth river is the Eu·phraʹtes.

[15] And Jehovah God proceeded to take the man and settle him in the garden of Eʹden to cultivate it and to take care of it. [16] And Jehovah God also laid this command upon the man: “From every tree of the garden you may eat to satisfaction. [17] But as for the tree of the knowledge of good and bad you must not eat from it, for in the day you eat from it you will positively die.”

[18] And Jehovah God went on to say: “It is not good for the man to continue by himself. I am going to make a helper for him, as a complement of him.” [19] Now Jehovah God was forming from the ground every wild beast of the field and every flying creature of the heavens, and he began bringing them to the man to see what he would call each one; and whatever the man would call it, each living soul, that was its name. [20] So the man was calling the names of all the domestic animals and of the flying creatures of the heavens and of every wild beast of the field, but for man there was found no helper as a complement of him. [21] Hence Jehovah God had a deep sleep fall upon the man and, while he was sleeping, he took one of his ribs and then closed up the flesh over its place. [22] And Jehovah God proceeded to build the rib that he had taken from the man into a woman and to bring her to the man.

[23] Then the man said:

“This is at last bone of my bones
And flesh of my flesh.
This one will be called Woman,
Because from man this one was taken.”

[24] That is why a man will leave his father and his mother and he must stick to his wife and they must become one flesh. [25] And both of them continued to be naked, the man and his wife, and yet they did not become ashamed.

3 Now the serpent proved to be the most cautious of all the wild beasts of the field that Jehovah God had made. So it began to say to the woman: “Is it really so that God said YOU must not eat from every tree of the garden?” [2] At this the woman said to the serpent: “Of the fruit of the trees of the garden we may eat. [3] But as for eating of the fruit of the tree that is in the middle of the garden, God has said, ‘YOU must not eat from it, no, YOU must not touch it that YOU do not die.’” [4] At this the serpent said to the woman: “YOU positively will not die. [5] For God knows that in the very day of YOUR eating from it YOUR eyes are bound to be opened and YOU are bound to be like God, KNOWING good and bad.”

[6] Consequently the woman saw that the tree was good for food and that it was something to be longed for to the eyes, yes, the tree was desirable to look upon. So she began taking of its fruit and eating it. Afterward she gave some also to her husband when with her and he began eating it. [7] Then the eyes of both of them became opened and they began to realize that they were naked. Hence they sewed fig leaves together and made loin coverings for themselves.

[8] Later they heard the voice of Jehovah God walking in the garden about the breezy part of the day, and the man and his wife went into hiding from the face of Jehovah God in between the trees of the garden. [9] And Jehovah God kept calling to the man and saying to him: “Where are you?” [10] Finally he said: “Your voice I heard in the garden, but I was afraid because I was naked and so I hid myself.” [11] At that he said: “Who told you that you were naked? From the tree from which I commanded you not to eat have you eaten?” [12] And the man went on to say: “The woman whom you gave to be with me, she gave me fruit from the tree and so I ate.” [13] With that Jehovah God said to the woman: “What is this you have done?” To this the woman replied: “The serpent—it deceived me and so I ate.”

[14] And Jehovah God proceeded to say to the serpent: “Because you have done this thing, you are the cursed one out of all the domestic animals and out of all the wild beasts of the field. Upon your belly you will go and dust is what you will eat all the days of your life. [15] And I shall put enmity between you and the woman and between your seed and her seed. He will bruise you in the head and you will bruise him in the heel.”

[16] To the woman he said: “I shall greatly increase the pain of your pregnancy; in birth pangs you will bring forth children, and your craving will be for your husband, and he will dominate you.”

[17] And to Adam he said: “Because you listened to your wife’s voice and took to eating from the tree concerning which I gave you this command, ‘You must not eat from it,’ cursed is the ground on your account. In pain you will eat its produce all the days of your life. [18] And thorns and thistles it will grow for you, and you must eat the vegetation of the field. [19] In the sweat of your face you will eat bread until you return to the ground, for out of it you were taken. For dust you are and to dust you will return.”

[20] After this Adam called his wife’s name Eve, because she had to become the mother of everyone living. [21] And Jehovah God proceeded to make long garments of skin for Adam and for his wife and to clothe them. [22] And Jehovah God went on to say: “Here the man has become like one of us in knowing good and bad, and now in order that he may not put his hand out and actually take fruit also from the tree of life and eat and live to time indefinite,—” [23] With that Jehovah God put him out of the garden of E′den to cultivate the ground from which he had been taken. [24] And so he drove the man out and posted at the east of the garden of E′den the cherubs and the flaming blade of a sword that was turning itself continually to guard the way to the tree of life.

4 Now Adam had intercourse with Eve his wife and she became pregnant. In time she gave birth to Cain and said: “I have produced a man with the aid of Jehovah.” [2] Later she again gave birth, to his brother Abel.

And Abel came to be a herder of sheep, but Cain became a cultivator of the ground. [3] And it came about at the expiration of some time that Cain proceeded to bring some fruits of the ground as an offering to Jehovah. [4] But as for Abel, he too brought some firstlings of his flock, even their fatty pieces. Now while Jehovah was looking with favor upon Abel and his offering, [5] he did not look with any favor upon Cain and upon his offering. And Cain grew hot with great anger, and his countenance began to fall. [6] At this Jehovah said to Cain: “Why are you hot with anger and why has your countenance fallen? [7] If you turn to doing good, will there not be an exaltation? But if you do not turn to doing good, there is sin crouching at the entrance, and for you is its craving; and will you, for your part, get the mastery over it?”

[8] After that Cain said to Abel his brother: “Let us go over into the field.” So it came about that while they were in the field Cain proceeded to assault Abel his brother and kill him. [9] Later on Jehovah said to Cain: “Where is Abel your brother?” and he said: “I do not know. Am I my brother’s guardian?” [10] At this he said: “What have you done? Listen! Your brother’s blood is crying out to me from the ground. [11] And now you are cursed in banishment from the ground, which has opened its mouth to receive your brother’s blood at your hand. [12] When you cultivate the ground, it will not give you back its power. A wanderer and a fugitive you will become in the earth.” [13] At this Cain said to Jehovah: “My punishment for error is too great to carry. [14] Here you are actually driving me this day from off the surface of the ground, and from your face I shall be concealed; and I must become a wanderer and fugitive on the earth, and it is certain that anyone finding me will kill me.” 15 At this Jehovah said to him: “For that reason anyone killing Cain must suffer vengeance seven times.”

And so Jehovah set up a sign for Cain in order that no one finding him should strike him. 16 With that Cain went away from the face of Jehovah and took up residence in the land of Fugitiveness to the east of E′den.

17 Afterward Cain had intercourse with his wife and she became pregnant and gave birth to E′noch. Then he engaged in building a city and called the city’s name by the name of his son E′noch. 18 Later there was born to E′noch I′rad. And I′rad became father to Me·hu′ja·el, and Me·hu′ja·el became father to Me·thu′sha·el, and Me·thu′sha·el became father to La′mech.

19 And La′mech proceeded to take two wives for himself. The name of the first was A′dah and the name of the second was Zil′lah. 20 In time A′dah gave birth to Ja′bal. He proved to be the founder of those who dwell in tents and have livestock. 21 And the name of his brother was Ju′bal. He proved to be the founder of all those who handle the harp and the pipe. 22 As for Zil′lah, she too gave birth to Tu′bal-cain, the forger of every sort of tool of copper and iron. And the sister of Tu′bal-cain was Na′a·mah. 23 Consequently La′mech composed these words for his wives A′dah and Zil′lah:

“Hear my voice, YOU wives of La′mech;
Give ear to my saying:
A man I have killed for wounding me,
Yes, a young man for giving me a blow.

24 If seven times Cain is to be avenged,
Then La′mech seventy times and seven.”

25 And Adam proceeded to have intercourse again with his wife and so she gave birth to a son and called his name Seth, because, as she said: “God has appointed for me another seed in place of Abel, because Cain killed him.” 26 And to Seth also there was born a son and he proceeded to call his name E′nosh. At that time a start was made of calling on the name of Jehovah.

5 This is the book of Adam’s history. In the day of God’s creating Adam he made him in the likeness of God. [2] Male and female he created them. After that he blessed them and called their name Man in the day of their being created.

[3] And Adam lived on for a hundred and thirty years. Then he became father to a son in his likeness, in his image, and called his name Seth. [4] And the days of Adam after his fathering Seth came to be eight hundred years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [5] So all the days of Adam that he lived amounted to nine hundred and thirty years and he died.

[6] And Seth lived on for a hundred and five years. Then he became father to E′nosh. [7] And after his fathering E′nosh Seth continued to live eight hundred and seven years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [8] So all the days of Seth amounted to nine hundred and twelve years and he died.

[9] And E′nosh lived on for ninety years. Then he became father to Ke′nan. [10] And after his fathering Ke′nan E′nosh continued to live eight hundred and fifteen years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [11] So all the days of E′nosh amounted to nine hundred and five years and he died.

[12] And Ke′nan lived on for seventy years. Then he became father to Ma·hal′a·lel. [13] And after his fathering Ma·hal′a·lel Ke′nan continued to live eight hundred and forty years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [14] So all the days of Ke′nan amounted to nine hundred and ten years and he died.

[15] And Ma·halʹa·lel lived on for sixty-five years. Then he became father to Jaʹred. [16] And after his fathering Jaʹred Ma·halʹa·lel continued to live eight hundred and thirty years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [17] So all the days of Ma·halʹa·lel amounted to eight hundred and ninety-five years and he died.

[18] And Jaʹred lived on for a hundred and sixty-two years. Then he became father to Eʹnoch. [19] And after his fathering Eʹnoch Jaʹred continued to live eight hundred years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [20] So all the days of Jaʹred amounted to nine hundred and sixty-two years and he died.

[21] And Eʹnoch lived on for sixty-five years. Then he became father to Me·thuʹse·lah. [22] And after his fathering Me·thuʹse·lah Eʹnoch went on walking with the true God three hundred years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [23] So all the days of Eʹnoch amounted to three hundred and sixty-five years. [24] And Eʹnoch kept walking with the true God. Then he was no more, for God took him.

[25] And Me·thuʹse·lah lived on for a hundred and eighty-seven years. Then he became father to Laʹmech. [26] And after his fathering Laʹmech Me·thuʹse·lah continued to live seven hundred and eighty-two years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. [27] So all the days of Me·thuʹse·lah amounted to nine hundred and sixty-nine years and he died.

[28] And Laʹmech lived on for a hundred and eighty-two years. Then he became father to a son. [29] And he proceeded to call his name Noah, saying: “This one will bring us comfort from our work and from the pain of our hands resulting from the ground which Jehovah has cursed.” [30] And after his fathering

Noah La′mech continued to live five hundred and ninety-five years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters. 31 So all the days of La′mech amounted to seven hundred and seventy-seven years and he died.

32 And Noah got to be five hundred years old. After that Noah became father to Shem, Ham and Ja′pheth.

6 Now it came about that when men started to grow in numbers on the surface of the ground and daughters were born to them, [2] then the sons of the true God began to notice the daughters of men, that they were good-looking; and they went taking wives for themselves, namely, all whom they chose. [3] After that Jehovah said: “My spirit shall not act toward man indefinitely in that he is also flesh. Accordingly his days shall amount to a hundred and twenty years.”

[4] The Nephʹi·lim proved to be in the earth in those days, and also after that, when the sons of the true God continued to have relations with the daughters of men and they bore sons to them, they were the mighty ones who were of old, the men of fame.

[5] Consequently Jehovah saw that the badness of man was abundant in the earth and every inclination of the thoughts of his heart was only bad all the time. [6] And Jehovah felt regrets that he had made men in the earth, and he felt hurt at his heart. [7] So Jehovah said: “I am going to wipe men whom I have created off the surface of the ground, from man to domestic animal, to moving animal and to flying creature of the heavens, because I do regret that I have made them.” [8] But Noah found favor in the eyes of Jehovah.

[9] This is the history of Noah.

Noah was a righteous man. He proved himself faultless among his contemporaries. Noah walked with the true God. [10] In time Noah became father to three sons, Shem, Ham and Jaʹpheth. [11] And the earth came to be ruined in the sight of the true God and the earth became filled with violence. [12]

So God saw the earth and, look! it was ruined, because all flesh had ruined its way on the earth.

[13] After that God said to Noah: “The end of all flesh has come before me, because the earth is full of violence as a result of them; and here I am bringing them to ruin together with the earth. [14] Make for yourself an ark out of wood of a resinous tree. You will make compartments in the ark, and you must cover it inside and outside with tar. [15] And this is how you will make it: three hundred cubits the length of the ark, fifty cubits its width, and thirty cubits its height. [16] You will make a tsoʹhar [roof; or, window] for the ark, and you will complete it to the extent of a cubit upward, and the entrance of the ark you will put in its side; you will make it with a lower story, a second story and a third story.

[17] “And as for me, here I am bringing the deluge of waters upon the earth to bring to ruin all flesh in which the force of life is active from under the heavens. Everything that is in the earth will expire. [18] And I do establish my covenant with you; and you must go into the ark, you and your sons and your wife and your sons’ wives with you. [19] And of every living creature of every sort of flesh, two of each, you will bring into the ark to preserve them alive with you. Male and female they will be. [20] Of the flying creatures according to their kinds and of the domestic animals according to their kinds, of all moving animals of the ground according to their kinds, two of each will go in there to you to preserve them alive. [21] And as for you, take for yourself every sort of food that is eaten; and you must gather it to yourself, and it must serve as food for you and for them.”

[22] And Noah proceeded to do according to all that God had commanded him. He did just so.

7 After that Jehovah said to Noah: “Go, you and all your household, into the ark, because you are the one I have seen to be righteous before me among this generation. [2] Of every clean beast you must take to yourself by sevens, the sire and its mate; and of every beast that is not clean just two, the sire and its mate; [3] also of the flying creatures of the heavens by sevens, male and female, to preserve offspring alive on the surface of the entire earth. [4] For in just seven days more I am making it rain upon the earth forty days and forty nights; and I will wipe every existing thing that I have made off the surface of the ground.” [5] And Noah proceeded to do according to all that Jehovah had commanded him.

[6] And Noah was six hundred years old when the deluge of waters occurred on the earth. [7] So Noah went in, and his sons and his wife and his sons’ wives with him, into the ark ahead of the waters of the deluge. [8] Of every clean beast and of every beast that is not clean and of the flying creatures and everything that moves on the ground, [9] they went in by twos to Noah inside the ark, male and female, just as God had commanded Noah. [10] And seven days later it turned out that the waters of the deluge came upon the earth.

[11] In the six hundredth year of Noah’s life, in the second month, on the seventeenth day of the month, on this day all the springs of the vast watery deep were broken open and the floodgates of the heavens were opened. [12] And the downpour upon the earth went on for forty days and forty nights. [13] On this very day Noah went in, and Shem and Ham and Ja′pheth, Noah’s sons, and the wife of Noah and the three wives of his sons with him, into the ark; [14] they and every wild beast according to its kind, and every domestic animal according to its kind, and every moving animal that moves on the earth according to its kind, and every flying creature according to its kind, every bird, every winged creature. [15] And they kept going to Noah inside the ark, two by two, of every sort of flesh in which the force of life was active. [16] And those going in, male and female of every sort of flesh, went in, just as God had commanded him. After that Jehovah shut the door behind him.

[17] And the deluge went on for forty days upon the earth, and the waters kept increasing and began carrying the ark and it was floating high above the earth. [18] And the waters became overwhelming and kept increasing greatly upon the earth, but the ark kept going on the surface of the waters. [19] And the waters overwhelmed the earth so greatly that all the tall mountains that were under the whole heavens came to be covered. [20] Up to fifteen cubits the waters overwhelmed them and the mountains became covered.

[21] So all flesh that was moving upon the earth expired, among the flying creatures and among the domestic animals and among the wild beasts and among all the swarms that were swarming upon the earth, and all mankind. [22] Everything in which the breath of the force of life was active in its nostrils, namely, all that were on the dry ground, died. [23] Thus he wiped out every existing thing that was on the surface of the ground, from man to beast, to moving animal and to flying creature of the heavens, and they were wiped off the earth; and only Noah and those who were with him in the ark kept on surviving. [24] And the waters continued overwhelming the earth a hundred and fifty days.

8 After that God remembered Noah and every wild beast and every domestic animal that was with him in the ark, and God caused a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters began to subside. [2] And the springs of the watery deep and the floodgates of the heavens became stopped up, and so the downpour from the heavens was restrained. [3] And the waters began receding from off the earth, progressively receding; and at the end of a hundred and fifty days the waters were lacking. [4] And in the seventh month, on the seventeenth day of the month, the ark came to rest on the mountains of Arʹa·rat. [5] And the waters kept on progressively lessening until the tenth month. In the tenth month, on the first of the month, the tops of the mountains appeared.

[6] So it occurred that at the end of forty days Noah proceeded to open the window of the ark that he had made. [7] After that he sent out a raven, and it continued flying outdoors, going and returning, until the waters dried off the earth.

[8] Later he sent out from him a dove to see whether the waters had abated from the surface of the ground. [9] And the dove did not find any resting-place for the sole of its foot, and so it returned to him into the ark because the waters were yet upon the surface of the whole earth. At that he put his hand out and took it and brought it to himself inside the ark. [10] And he went on waiting still another seven days, and once again he sent out the dove from the ark. [11] Later on the dove came to him about the time of evening and, look! there was an olive leaf freshly plucked in its bill, and so Noah got to know that the waters had abated from the earth. [12] And he went on waiting still another seven days. Then he sent out the dove, but it did not come back again to him anymore.

13 Now in the six hundred and first year, in the first month, on the first day of the month, it came about that the waters had drained from off the earth; and Noah proceeded to remove the covering of the ark and to look, and here the surface of the ground had drained dry. 14 And in the second month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, the earth had dried off.

15 God now spoke to Noah, saying: 16 “Go out of the ark, you and your wife and your sons and your sons’ wives with you. 17 Every living creature that is with you of every sort of flesh, among the flying creatures and among the beasts and among all the moving animals that move upon the earth, bring out with you, as they must swarm in the earth and be fruitful and become many upon the earth.”

18 At that Noah went out, and also his sons and his wife and his sons’ wives with him. 19 Every living creature, every moving animal and every flying creature, everything that moves on the earth, according to their families they went out of the ark. 20 And Noah began to build an altar to Jehovah and to take some of all the clean beasts and of all the clean flying creatures and to offer burnt offerings upon the altar. 21 And Jehovah began to smell a restful odor, and so Jehovah said in his heart: “Never again shall I call down evil upon the ground on man’s account, because the inclination of the heart of man is bad from his youth up; and never again shall I deal every living thing a blow just as I have done. 22 For all the days the earth continues, seed sowing and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter, and day and night, will never cease.”

9 And God went on to bless Noah and his sons and to say to them: “Be fruitful and become many and fill the earth. [2] And a fear of YOU and a terror of YOU will continue upon every living creature of the earth and upon every flying creature of the heavens, upon everything that goes moving on the ground, and upon all the fishes of the sea. Into YOUR hand they are now given. [3] Every moving animal that is alive may serve as food for YOU. As in the case of green vegetation, I do give it all to YOU. [4] Only flesh with its soul—its blood—YOU must not eat. [5] And, besides that, YOUR blood of YOUR souls shall I ask back. From the hand of every living creature shall I ask it back; and from the hand of man, from the hand of each one who is his brother, shall I ask back the soul of man. [6] Anyone shedding man’s blood, by man will his own blood be shed, for in God’s image he made man. [7] And as for YOU men, be fruitful and become many, make the earth swarm with YOU and become many in it.”

[8] And God went on to say to Noah and to his sons with him: [9] “And as for me, here I am establishing my covenant with YOU men and with YOUR offspring after YOU, [10] and with every living soul that is with YOU, among fowls, among beasts and among all living creatures of the earth with YOU, from all those going out of the ark to every living creature of the earth. [11] Yes, I do establish my covenant with YOU: No more will all flesh be cut off by waters of a deluge, and no more will there occur a deluge to bring the earth to ruin.”

[12] And God added: “This is the sign of the covenant that I am giving between me and YOU and every living soul that is with YOU, for the generations to time indefinite. [13] My rainbow I do give in the cloud, and it must serve as a sign of the covenant between me and the earth. [14] And it shall occur that when I bring a cloud over the earth, then the rainbow will certainly appear in the cloud. 15 And I shall certainly remember my covenant which is between me and YOU and every living soul among all flesh; and no more will the waters become a deluge to bring all flesh to ruin. 16 And the rainbow must occur in the cloud, and I shall certainly see it to remember the covenant to time indefinite between God and every living soul among all flesh that is upon the earth.”

17 And God repeated to Noah: “This is the sign of the covenant that I do establish between me and all flesh that is upon the earth.”

18 And Noah’s sons who came out of the ark were Shem and Ham and Ja′pheth. Later Ham was the father of Ca′naan. 19 These three were Noah’s sons, and from these was all the earth’s population spread abroad.

20 Now Noah started off as a farmer and proceeded to plant a vineyard. 21 And he began drinking of the wine and became intoxicated, and so he uncovered himself in the midst of his tent. 22 Later Ham the father of Ca′naan saw his father’s nakedness and went telling it to his two brothers outside. 23 At that Shem and Ja′pheth took a mantle and put it upon both their shoulders and walked in backwards. Thus they covered their father’s nakedness, while their faces were turned away, and they did not see their father’s nakedness.

24 Finally Noah awoke from his wine and got to know what his youngest son had done to him. 25 At this he said:

“Cursed be Ca′naan.
Let him become the lowest slave to his brothers.”

26 And he added:

“Blessed be Jehovah, Shem’s God,
And let Ca′naan become a slave to him.
27 Let God grant ample space to Ja′pheth,

And let him reside in the tents of Shem.
Let Ca′naan become a slave to him also.”

28 And Noah continued to live three hundred and fifty years after the deluge. 29 So all the days of Noah amounted to nine hundred and fifty years and he died.

10 And this is the history of Noah’s sons, Shem, Ham and Jaʹpheth.

Now sons began to be born to them after the deluge. [2] The sons of Jaʹpheth were Goʹmer and Maʹgog and Maʹda·i and Jaʹvan and Tuʹbal and Meʹshech and Tiʹras.

[3] And the sons of Goʹmer were Ashʹke·naz and Riʹphath and To·garʹmah.

[4] And the sons of Jaʹvan were E·liʹshah and Tarʹshish, Kitʹtim and Doʹda·nim.

[5] From these the population of the isles of the nations was spread about in their lands, each according to its tongue, according to their families, by their nations.

[6] And the sons of Ham were Cush and Mizʹra·im and Put and Caʹnaan.

[7] And the sons of Cush were Seʹba and Havʹi·lah and Sabʹtah and Raʹa·mah and Sabʹte·ca.

And the sons of Raʹa·mah were Sheʹba and Deʹdan.

[8] And Cush became father to Nimʹrod. He made the start in becoming a mighty one in the earth. [9] He displayed himself a mighty hunter in opposition to Jehovah. That is why there is a saying: “Just like Nimʹrod a mighty hunter in opposition to Jehovah.” [10] And the beginning of his kingdom came to be Baʹbel and Eʹrech and Acʹcad and Calʹneh, in the land of Shiʹnar. [11] Out of that land he went forth into As·syrʹi·a and set himself to building Ninʹe·veh and Re·hoʹboth-Ir and Caʹlah [12] and Reʹsen between Ninʹe·veh and Caʹlah: this is the great city.

[13] And Miz′ra·im became father to Lu′dim and An′a·mim and Le·ha′bim and Naph·tu′him [14] and Path·ru′sim and Cas·lu′him (from among whom the Phi·lis′tines went forth) and Caph′to·rim.

[15] And Ca′naan became father to Si′don his firstborn and Heth [16] and the Jeb′u·site and the Am′or·ite and the Gir′ga·shite [17] and the Hi′vite and the Ark′ite and the Si′nite [18] and the Ar′vad·ite and the Zem′a·rite and the Ha′math·ite; and afterward the families of the Ca′naan·ite were scattered. [19] So the boundary of the Ca′naan·ite came to be from Si′don as far as Ge′rar, near Ga′za, as far as Sod′om and Go·mor′rah and Ad′mah and Ze·boi′im, near La′sha. [20] These were the sons of Ham according to their families, according to their tongues, in their lands, by their nations.

[21] And to Shem, the forefather of all the sons of E′ber, the brother of Ja′pheth the oldest, there was also progeny born. [22] The sons of Shem were E′lam and As′shur and Ar·pach′shad and Lud and A′ram.

[23] And the sons of A′ram were Uz and Hul and Ge′ther and Mash.

[24] And Ar·pach′shad became father to She′lah, and She′lah became father to E′ber.

[25] And to E′ber there were two sons born. The name of the one was Pe′leg, because in his days the earth was divided; and the name of his brother was Jok′tan.

[26] And Jok′tan became father to Al·mo′dad and She′leph and Ha·zar·ma′veth and Je′rah [27] and Ha·do′ram and U′zal and Dik′lah [28] and O′bal and A·bim′a·el and She′ba [29] and O′phir and Hav′i·lah and Jo′bab; all these were the sons of Jok′tan.

[30] And their place of dwelling came to extend from Me′sha as far as Se′phar, the mountainous region of the East.

[31] These were the sons of Shem according to their families, according to their tongues, in their lands, according to their nations.

[32] These were the families of the sons of Noah according to their family descents, by their nations, and from these the nations were spread about in the earth after the deluge.

GENESIS

11 Now all the earth continued to be of one language and of one set of words. [2] And it came about that in their journeying eastward they eventually discovered a valley plain in the land of Shi′nar, and they took up dwelling there.
[3] And they began to say, each one to the other: “Come on!
Let us make bricks and bake them with a burning process.”
So brick served as stone for them, but bitumen served as mortar for them. [4] They now said: “Come on! Let us build ourselves a city and also a tower with its top in the heavens, and let us make a celebrated name for ourselves, for fear we may be scattered over all the surface of the earth.”

[5] And Jehovah proceeded to go down to see the city and the tower that the sons of men had built. [6] After that Jehovah said: “Look! They are one people and there is one language for them all, and this is what they start to do. Why, now there is nothing that they may have in mind to do that will be unattainable for them. [7] Come now! Let us go down and there confuse their language that they may not listen to one another’s language.” [8] Accordingly Jehovah scattered them from there over all the surface of the earth, and they gradually left off building the city. [9] That is why its name was called Ba′bel, because there Jehovah had confused the language of all the earth, and Jehovah had scattered them from there over all the surface of the earth.

[10] This is the history of Shem.

Shem was a hundred years old when he became father to Ar·pach′shad two years after the deluge. [11] And after his fathering Ar·pach′shad Shem continued to live five hundred years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[12] And Ar·pach′shad lived thirty-five years. Then he became father to She′lah. [13] And after his fathering She′lah Ar·pach′shad continued to live four hundred and three years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[14] And She′lah lived thirty years. Then he became father to E′ber. [15] And after his fathering E′ber She′lah continued to live four hundred and three years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[16] And E′ber lived on for thirty-four years. Then he became father to Pe′leg. [17] And after his fathering Pe′leg E′ber continued to live four hundred and thirty years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[18] And Pe′leg lived on for thirty years. Then he became father to Re′u. [19] And after his fathering Re′u Pe′leg continued to live two hundred and nine years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[20] And Re′u lived on for thirty-two years. Then he became father to Se′rug. [21] And after his fathering Se′rug Re′u continued to live two hundred and seven years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[22] And Se′rug lived on for thirty years. Then he became father to Na′hor. [23] And after his fathering Na′hor Se′rug continued to live two hundred years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[24] And Na′hor lived on for twenty-nine years. Then he became father to Te′rah. [25] And after his fathering Te′rah Na′hor continued to live a hundred and nineteen years. Meanwhile he became father to sons and daughters.

[26] And Te′rah lived on for seventy years, after which he became father to A′bram, Na′hor and Ha′ran.

[27] And this is the history of Te′rah.

Te′rah became father to A′bram, Na′hor and Ha′ran; and Ha′ran became father to Lot. [28] Later Ha′ran died while in company with Te′rah his father in the land of his birth, in Ur of the Chal·de′ans. [29] And A′bram and Na′hor proceeded to take wives for themselves. The name of A′bram’s wife was Sar′ai, while the name of Na′hor’s wife was Mil′cah, the daughter of Ha′ran, the father of Mil′cah and father of Is′cah. [30] But Sar′ai continued to be barren; she had no child.

[31] After that Te′rah took A′bram his son and Lot, the son of Ha′ran, his grandson, and Sar′ai his daughter-in-law, the wife of A′bram his son, and they went with him out of Ur of the Chal·de′ans to go to the land of Ca′naan. In time they came to Ha′ran and took up dwelling there. [32] And the days of Te′rah came to be two hundred and five years. Then Te′rah died in Ha′ran.

12 And Jehovah proceeded to say to A′bram: “Go your way out of your country and from your relatives and from the house of your father to the country that I shall show you; [2] and I shall make a great nation out of you and I shall bless you and I will make your name great; and prove yourself a blessing. [3] And I will bless those who bless you, and him that calls down evil upon you I shall curse, and all the families of the ground will certainly bless themselves by means of you.”

[4] At that A′bram went just as Jehovah had spoken to him, and Lot went with him. And A′bram was seventy-five years old when he went out from Ha′ran. [5] So A′bram took Sar′ai his wife and Lot the son of his brother and all the goods that they had accumulated and the souls whom they had acquired in Ha′ran, and they got on their way out to go to the land of Ca′naan. Finally they came to the land of Ca′naan. [6] And A′bram went on through the land as far as the site of She′chem, near the big trees of Mo′reh; and at that time the Ca′naan·ite was in the land. [7] Jehovah now appeared to A′bram and said: “To your seed I am going to give this land.” After that he built an altar there to Jehovah, who had appeared to him. [8] Later he moved from there to the mountainous region to the east of Beth′el and pitched his tent with Beth′el on the west and A′i on the east. Then he built an altar there to Jehovah and began to call on the name of Jehovah. [9] Afterward A′bram broke camp, going then from encampment to encampment toward the Neg′eb.

[10] Now a famine arose in the land and A′bram made his way down toward Egypt to reside there as an alien, because the famine was severe in the land. [11] And it came about that as soon as he got near to entering Egypt, then he said to Sar′ai his wife: “Please, now! I well know you are a woman beautiful in appearance. [12] So it is bound to happen that the Egyptians will see you and will say, ‘This is his wife.’ And they will certainly kill me, but you they will preserve alive. [13] Please say you are my sister, in order that it may go well with me on your account, and my soul will be certain to live due to you.”

[14] So it happened that, as soon as A′bram entered Egypt, the Egyptians got to see the woman, that she was very beautiful. [15] And the princes of Phar′aoh also got to see her and they began praising her to Phar′aoh, so that the woman was taken to the house of Phar′aoh. [16] And he treated A′bram well on her account, and he came to have sheep and cattle and asses and menservants and maidservants and she-asses and camels. [17] Then Jehovah touched Phar′aoh and his household with great plagues because of Sar′ai, A′bram’s wife. [18] With that Phar′aoh called A′bram and said: “What is this you have done to me? Why did you not tell me that she was your wife? [19] Why did you say, ‘She is my sister,’ so that I was about to take her as my wife? And now here is your wife. Take her and go! ” [20] And Phar′aoh issued commands to men concerning him, and they went escorting him and his wife and all that he had.

13 Following that A′bram went up out of Egypt, he and his wife and all that he had, and Lot with him, to the Neg′eb. [2] And A′bram was heavily stocked with herds and silver and gold. [3] And he made his way from encampment to encampment out of the Neg′eb and to Beth′el, to the place where his tent had been at first between Beth′el and A′i, [4] to the place of the altar that he had made there originally; and A′bram proceeded to call there on the name of Jehovah.

[5] Now Lot, who was going along with A′bram, also owned sheep and cattle and tents. [6] So the land did not allow for them to dwell all together, because their goods had become many and they were not able to dwell all together. [7] And a quarrel arose between the herders of A′bram’s livestock and the herders of Lot’s livestock; and at that time the Ca′naan·ite and the Per′iz·zite were dwelling in the land. [8] Hence A′bram said to Lot: “Please, do not let any quarreling continue between me and you and between my herdsmen and your herdsmen, for we men are brothers. [9] Is not the whole land available to you? Please, separate from me. If you go to the left, then I will go to the right; but if you go to the right, then I will go to the left.” [10] So Lot raised his eyes and saw the whole District of the Jordan, that all of it was a well-watered region before Jehovah brought Sod′om and Go·mor′rah to ruin, like the garden of Jehovah, like the land of Egypt as far as Zo′ar. [11] Then Lot chose for himself the whole District of the Jordan, and Lot moved his camp to the east. So they separated the one from the other. [12] A′bram dwelt in the land of Ca′naan, but Lot dwelt among the cities of the District. Finally he pitched tent near Sod′om. [13] And the men of Sod′om were bad and were gross sinners against Jehovah.

[14] And Jehovah said to A′bram after Lot had separated from him: “Raise your eyes, please, and look from the place where you are, northward and southward and eastward and westward, [15] because all the land at which you are looking, to you and to your seed I am going to give it until time indefinite. [16] And I will constitute your seed like the dust particles of the earth, so that, if a man could be able to count the dust particles of the earth, then your seed could be numbered. [17] Get up, go about in the land through its length and through its breadth, because to you I am going to give it.” [18] So A′bram continued to live in tents. Later on he came and dwelt among the big trees of Mam′re, which are in He′bron; and there he proceeded to build an altar to Jehovah.

[4] Twelve years they had served Ched·or·la·o′mer, but the thirteenth year they rebelled. [5] And in the fourteenth year Ched·or·la·o′mer came, and also the kings who were with him, and they inflicted defeats on the Reph′a·im in Ash′te·roth-kar·na′im, and the Zu′zim in Ham, and the E′mim in Sha′veh-kir·i·a·tha′im, [6] and the Hor′ites in their mountain of Se′ir, down to El-pa′ran, which is at the wilderness. [7] Then they turned about and came to En-mish′pat, that is, Ka′desh, and defeated the whole field of the A·mal′ek·ites and also the Am′or·ites who were dwelling in Haz′a·zon-ta′mar.

[8] At this point the king of Sod′om went on the march, and also the king of Go·mor′rah and the king of Ad′mah and the king of Ze·boi′im and the king of Be′la (that is to say, Zo′ar), and they drew up in battle order against them in the Low Plain of Sid′dim, [9] against Ched·or·la·o′mer king of E′lam and Ti′dal king of Goi′im and Am′ra·phel king of Shi′nar and Ar′i·och king of El·la′sar; four kings against the five. [10] Now the Low Plain of Sid′dim was pits upon pits of bitumen; and the kings of Sod′om and Go·mor′rah took to flight and went falling into them, and those who remained fled to the mountainous region. [11] Then the victors took all the goods of Sod′om and Go·mor′rah and all their food and went on their way. [12] They also took Lot the son of A′bram’s brother and his goods and continued on their way. He was then dwelling in Sod′om.

[13] After that a man who had escaped came and told A′bram the Hebrew. He was then tabernacling among the big trees of Mam′re the Am′or·ite, the brother of Esh′col and brother of A′ner; and they were confederates of A′bram. [14] Thus A′bram got to hear that his brother had been taken captive. With that he mustered his trained men, three hundred and eighteen slaves born in his household, and went in pursuit up to Dan. [15] And by night he resorted to dividing his forces, he and his slaves, against them, and thus he defeated them and kept in pursuit of them up to Ho′bah, which is north of Damascus. [16] And he proceeded to recover all the goods, and he recovered also Lot his brother and his goods and also the women and the people.

[17] Then the king of Sod′om went out to meet him after he returned from defeating Ched·or·la·o′mer and the kings that were with him, to the Low Plain of Sha′veh, that is, the king's Low Plain. [18] And Mel·chiz′e·dek king of Sa′lem brought out bread and wine, and he was priest of the Most High God. [19] Then he blessed him and said:

“Blessed be A′bram of the Most High God, Producer of heaven and earth;
[20] And blessed be the Most High God,
Who has delivered your oppressors into your hand!”

At that A′bram gave him a tenth of everything.

[21] After that the king of Sod′om said to A′bram: “Give me the souls, but take the goods for yourself.” [22] At this A′bram said to the king of Sod′om: “I do lift up my hand in an oath to Jehovah the Most High God, Producer of heaven and earth, [23] that, from a thread to a sandal lace, no, I shall take nothing from anything that is yours, in order that you may not say, ‘It was I who made A′bram rich.’ [24] Nothing for me!

Only what the young men have already eaten, and the share of the men who went with me, A′ner, Esh′col and Mam′re—let them take their share.”

15 After these things the word of Jehovah came to A′bram in a vision, saying: “Do not fear, A′bram. I am a shield for you. Your reward will be very great.” [2] At this A′bram said: “Sovereign Lord Jehovah, what will you give me, seeing that I am going childless and the one who will possess my house is a man of Damascus, E·li·e′zer?” [3] And A′bram added: “Look! You have given me no seed, and, look! a son of my household is succeeding me as heir.” [4] But, look! the word of Jehovah to him was in these words: “This man will not succeed you as heir, but one who will come out of your own inward parts will succeed you as heir.”

[5] He now brought him outside and said: “Look up, please, to the heavens and count the stars, if you are possibly able to count them.” And he went on to say to him: “So your seed will become.” [6] And he put faith in Jehovah; and he proceeded to count it to him as righteousness. [7] Then he added to him: “I am Jehovah, who brought you out of Ur of the Chal·de′ans to give you this land to take it in possession.” [8] To this he said: “Sovereign Lord Jehovah, by what shall I know that I shall take it in possession?” [9] In turn he said to him: “Take for me a three-year-old heifer and a three-year-old she-goat and a three-year-old ram and a turtledove and a young pigeon.” [10] So he took all these to himself and cut them in two and put each part of them so as to match the other, but the birds he did not cut in pieces. [11] And the birds of prey began to descend upon the carcasses, but A′bram kept driving them away.

[12] After a while the sun was about to set, and a deep sleep fell upon A′bram, and, look! a frightfully great darkness was falling upon him. [13] And he began to say to A′bram: “You may know for sure that your seed will become an alien resident in a land not theirs, and they will have to serve them, and these will certainly afflict them for four hundred years. [14] But the nation that they will serve I am judging, and after that they will go out with many goods. [15] As for you, you will go to your forefathers in peace; you will be buried at a good old age. [16] But in the fourth generation they will return here, because the error of the Am′or·ites has not yet come to completion.”

[17] The sun was now setting and a dense darkness came and, look! a smoking furnace and a fiery torch that passed in between these pieces. [18] On that day Jehovah concluded with A′bram a covenant, saying: “To your seed I will give this land, from the river of Egypt to the great river, the river Eu·phra′tes: [19] the Ken′ites and the Ken′iz·zites and the Kad′mon·ites [20] and the Hit′tites and the Per′iz·zites and the Reph′a·im [21] and the Am′or·ites and the Ca′naan·ites and the Gir′ga·shites and the Jeb′u·sites.”

16 Now Sar′ai, A′bram’s wife, had borne him no children; but she had an Egyptian maidservant and her name was Ha′gar. [2] Hence Sar′ai said to A′bram: “Please now! Jehovah has shut me off from bearing children. Please, have relations with my maidservant. Perhaps I may get children from her.” So A′bram listened to the voice of Sar′ai. [3] Then Sar′ai, A′bram’s wife, took Ha′gar, her Egyptian maidservant, at the end of ten years of A′bram’s dwelling in the land of Ca′naan, and gave her to A′bram her husband as his wife. [4] Accordingly he had relations with Ha′gar, and she became pregnant. When she became aware that she was pregnant, then her mistress began to be despised in her eyes.

[5] At this Sar′ai said to A′bram: “The violence done me be upon you. I myself gave my maidservant over to your bosom, and she became aware that she was pregnant, and I began to be despised in her eyes. May Jehovah judge between me and you.” [6] So A′bram said to Sar′ai: “Look! Your maidservant is at your disposal. Do to her what is good in your eyes.” Then Sar′ai began to humiliate her so that she ran away from her.

[7] Later Jehovah’s angel found her at a fountain of waters in the wilderness, at the fountain on the way to Shur. [8] And he began to say: “Ha′gar, maidservant of Sar′ai, just where have you come from and where are you going?” To this she said: “Why, from Sar′ai my mistress I am running away.” [9] And Jehovah’s angel went on to say to her: “Return to your mistress and humble yourself under her hand.” [10] Then Jehovah’s angel said to her: “I shall greatly multiply your seed, so that it will not be numbered for multitude.” [11] Further Jehovah’s angel added to her: “Here you are pregnant, and you shall give birth to a son and must call his name Ishʹma·el; for Jehovah has heard your affliction. [12] As for him, he will become a zebra of a man. His hand will be against everyone, and the hand of everyone will be against him; and before the face of all his brothers he will tabernacle.”

[13] Then she began to call the name of Jehovah, who was speaking to her: “You are a God of sight,” for she said: “Have I here actually looked upon him who sees me?” [14] That is why the well was called Beʹer-laʹhai-roi. Here it is between Kaʹdesh and Beʹred. [15] Later on Haʹgar bore to Aʹbram a son and Aʹbram called the name of his son whom Haʹgar bore Ishʹma·el. [16] And Aʹbram was eighty-six years old at Haʹgar’s bearing Ishʹma·el to Aʹbram.

GENESIS

17 When A′bram got to be ninety-nine years old, then Jehovah appeared to A′bram and said to him: “I am God Almighty. Walk before me and prove yourself faultless. [2] And I will give my covenant between me and you, that I may multiply you very, very much.”

[3] At this A′bram fell upon his face, and God continued to speak with him, saying: [4] “As for me, look! my covenant is with you, and you will certainly become a father of a crowd of nations. [5] And your name will not be called A′bram anymore, and your name must become Abraham, because a father of a crowd of nations I will make you. [6] And I will make you very, very fruitful and will make you become nations, and kings will come out of you.

[7] “And I will carry out my covenant between me and you and your seed after you according to their generations for a covenant to time indefinite, to prove myself God to you and to your seed after you. [8] And I will give to you and to your seed after you the land of your alien residences, even the entire land of Ca′naan, for a possession to time indefinite; and I will prove myself God to them.”

[9] And God said further to Abraham: “As for you, you are to keep my covenant, you and your seed after you according to their generations. [10] This is my covenant that YOU men will keep, between me and YOU men, even your seed after you: Every male of YOURS must get circumcised. [11] And YOU must get circumcised in the flesh of YOUR foreskins, and it must serve as a sign of the covenant between me and YOU. [12] And every male of YOURS eight days old must be circumcised, according to YOUR generations, anyone born in the house and anyone purchased with money from any foreigner who is not from your seed. [13] Every man born in your house and every man purchased with money of yours must without fail get circumcised; and my covenant in the flesh of YOU men must serve as a covenant to time indefinite. [14] And an uncircumcised male who will not get the flesh of his foreskin circumcised, even that soul must be cut off from his people. He has broken my covenant.”

[15] And God went on to say to Abraham: “As for Sar′ai your wife, you must not call her name Sar′ai, because Sarah is her name. [16] And I will bless her and also give you a son from her; and I will bless her and she shall become nations; kings of peoples will come from her.” [17] At this Abraham fell upon his face and began to laugh and to say in his heart: “Will a man a hundred years old have a child born, and will Sarah, yes, will a woman ninety years old give birth?”

[18] After that Abraham said to the true God: “O that Ish′ma·el might live before you!” [19] To this God said: “Sarah your wife is indeed bearing you a son, and you must call his name Isaac. And I will establish my covenant with him for a covenant to time indefinite to his seed after him. [20] But as regards Ish′ma·el I have heard you. Look! I will bless him and will make him fruitful and will multiply him very, very much. He will certainly produce twelve chieftains, and I will make him become a great nation. [21] However, my covenant I shall establish with Isaac, whom Sarah will bear to you at this appointed time next year.”

[22] With that God finished speaking with him and went up from Abraham. [23] Abraham then proceeded to take Ish′ma·el his son and all the men born in his house and everyone purchased with money of his, every male among the men of the household of Abraham, and he went to circumcising the flesh of their foreskins in this very day, just as God had spoken with him. [24] And Abraham was ninety-nine years old when he had the flesh of his foreskin circumcised. [25] And Ish′ma·el his son was thirteen years old when he had the flesh of his foreskin circumcised. [26] In this very day Abraham got circumcised, and also Ish′ma·el his son. [27] And all the men of his household, anyone born in the house and anyone purchased with money from a foreigner, got circumcised with him.

18 Afterward Jehovah appeared to him among the big trees of Mam′re, while he was sitting at the entrance of the tent about the heat of the day. [2] When he raised his eyes, then he looked and there three men were standing some distance from him. When he caught sight of them he began running to meet them from the entrance of the tent and proceeded to bow down to the earth. [3] Then he said: “Jehovah, if, now, I have found favor in your eyes, please do not pass by your servant. [4] Let a little water be taken, please, and YOU must have YOUR feet washed. Then recline under the tree. [5] And let me get a piece of bread, and refresh YOUR hearts. Following that, YOU can pass on, because that is why YOU have passed this way to YOUR servant.” At this they said: “All right. You may do just as you have spoken.”

[6] So Abraham went hurrying to the tent to Sarah and said: “Hurry! Get three seah measures of fine flour, knead the dough and make round cakes.” [7] Next Abraham ran to the herd and proceeded to get a tender and good young bull and to give it to the attendant, and he went hurrying to get it ready. [8] He then took butter and milk and the young bull that he had got ready and set it before them. Then he himself kept standing by them under the tree as they were eating.

[9] They now said to him: “Where is Sarah your wife?” To this he said: “Here in the tent! ” [10] So he continued: “I am surely going to return to you next year at this time, and, look! Sarah your wife will have a son.” Now Sarah was listening at the tent entrance, and it was behind the man. [11] And Abraham and Sarah were old, being advanced in years. Sarah had stopped having menstruation. [12] Hence Sarah began to laugh inside herself, saying: “After I am worn out, shall I really have pleasure, my lord being old besides?” 13 Then Jehovah said to Abraham: “Why was it that Sarah laughed, saying, ‘Shall I really and truly give birth although I have become old?’ 14 Is anything too extraordinary for Jehovah? At the appointed time I shall return to you, next year at this time, and Sarah will have a son.” 15 But Sarah began to deny it, saying: “I did not laugh!” For she was afraid. At this he said: “No! but you did laugh.”

16 Later the men got up from there and looked down toward Sod′om, and Abraham was walking with them to escort them. 17 And Jehovah said: “Am I keeping covered from Abraham what I am doing? 18 Why, Abraham is surely going to become a nation great and mighty, and all the nations of the earth must bless themselves by means of him. 19 For I have become acquainted with him in order that he may command his sons and his household after him so that they shall keep Jehovah’s way to do righteousness and judgment; in order that Jehovah may certainly bring upon Abraham what he has spoken about him.”

20 Consequently Jehovah said: “The cry of complaint about Sod′om and Go·mor′rah, yes, it is loud, and their sin, yes, it is very heavy. 21 I am quite determined to go down that I may see whether they act altogether according to the outcry over it that has come to me, and, if not, I can get to know it.”

22 At this point the men turned from there and got on their way to Sod′om; but as for Jehovah, he was still standing before Abraham. 23 Then Abraham approached and began to say: “Will you really sweep away the righteous with the wicked? 24 Suppose there are fifty righteous men in the midst of the city. Will you, then, sweep them away and not pardon the place for the sake of the fifty righteous who are inside it? 25 It is unthinkable of you that you are acting in this manner to put to death the righteous man with the wicked one so that it has to occur with the righteous man as it does with the wicked! It is unthinkable of you. Is the Judge of all the earth not going to do what is right?” [26] Then Jehovah said: “If I shall find in Sod′om fifty righteous men in the midst of the city I will pardon the whole place on their account.” [27] But Abraham went on to answer and say: “Please, here I have taken upon myself to speak to Jehovah, whereas I am dust and ashes. [28] Suppose the fifty righteous should be lacking five. Will you for the five bring the whole city to ruin?” To this he said: “I shall not bring it to ruin if I find there forty-five.”

[29] But yet again he spoke further to him and said: “Suppose forty are found there.” In turn he said: “I shall not do it on account of the forty.” [30] But he continued: “May Jehovah, please, not grow hot with anger, but let me go on speaking: Suppose thirty are found there.” In turn he said: “I shall not do it if I find thirty there.” [31] But he continued on: “Please, here I have taken upon myself to speak to Jehovah: Suppose twenty are found there.” In turn he said: “I shall not bring it to ruin on account of the twenty.” [32] Finally he said: “May Jehovah, please, not grow hot with anger, but let me speak just this once: Suppose ten are found there.” In turn he said: “I shall not bring it to ruin on account of the ten.” [33] Then Jehovah went his way when he had finished speaking to Abraham, and Abraham returned to his place.

19 Now the two angels arrived at Sod′om by evening, and Lot was sitting in the gate of Sod′om. When Lot caught sight of them, then he got up to meet them and bowed down with his face to the earth. [2] And he proceeded to say: “Please, now, my lords, turn aside, please, into the house of YOUR servant and stay overnight and have YOUR feet washed. Then YOU must get up early and travel on YOUR way.” To this they said: “No, but in the public square is where we shall stay overnight.” [3] But he was very insistent with them, so that they turned aside to him and came into his house. Then he made a feast for them, and he baked unfermented cakes, and they went to eating.

[4] Before they could lie down, the men of the city, the men of Sod′om, surrounded the house, from boy to old man, all the people in one mob. [5] And they kept calling out to Lot and saying to him: “Where are the men who came in to you tonight? Bring them out to us that we may have intercourse with them.”

[6] Finally Lot went out to them to the entrance, but he shut the door behind him. [7] Then he said: “Please, my brothers, do not act badly. [8] Please, here I have two daughters who have never had intercourse with a man. Please, let me bring them out to YOU. Then do to them as is good in YOUR eyes. Only to these men do not do a thing, because that is why they have come under the shadow of my roof.” [9] At this they said: “Stand back there!” And they added: “This lone man came here to reside as an alien and yet he would actually play the judge. Now we are going to do worse to you than to them.” And they came pressing heavily in on the man, on Lot, and were getting near to break in the door. [10] So the men thrust out their hands and brought Lot in to them, into the house, and they shut the door. 11 But they struck with blindness the men who were at the entrance of the house, from the least to the greatest, so that they were wearing themselves out trying to find the entrance.

12 Then the men said to Lot: “Do you have anyone else here? Son-in-law and your sons and your daughters and all who are yours in the city, bring out of the place! 13 For we are bringing this place to ruin, because the outcry against them has grown loud before Jehovah, so that Jehovah sent us to bring the city to ruin.” 14 Hence Lot went on out and began to speak to his sons-in-law who were to take his daughters, and he kept on saying: “Get up! Get out of this place, because Jehovah is bringing the city to ruin!” But in the eyes of his sons-in-law he seemed like a man who was joking.

15 However, when the dawn ascended, then the angels became urgent with Lot, saying: “Get up! Take your wife and your two daughters who are found here, for fear you may be swept away in the error of the city!” 16 When he kept lingering, then in the compassion of Jehovah upon him, the men seized hold of his hand and of the hand of his wife and of the hands of his two daughters and they proceeded to bring him out and to station him outside the city. 17 And it came about that, as soon as they had brought them forth to the outskirts, he began to say: “Escape for your soul! Do not look behind you and do not stand still in all the District! Escape to the mountainous region for fear you may be swept away!”

18 Then Lot said to them: “Not that, please, Jehovah! 19 Please, now, your servant has found favor in your eyes so that you are magnifying your loving-kindness, which you have exercised with me to preserve my soul alive, but I—I am not able to escape to the mountainous region for fear calamity may keep close to me and I certainly die. 20 Please, now, this city is nearby to flee there and it is a small thing. May I, please, escape there—is it not a small thing?—and my soul will live on.” 21 So he said to him: “Here I do show you consideration to this extent also, by my not overthrowing the city of which you have spoken. 22 Hurry! Escape there, because I am not able to do a thing until your arriving there!” That is why he called the name of the city Zo′ar.

23 The sun had gone forth over the land when Lot arrived at Zo′ar. 24 Then Jehovah made it rain sulphur and fire from Jehovah, from the heavens, upon Sod′om and upon Go·mor′rah. 25 So he went ahead overthrowing these cities, even the entire District and all the inhabitants of the cities and the plants of the ground. 26 And his wife began to look around from behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.

27 Now Abraham made his way early in the morning to the place where he had stood before Jehovah. 28 Then he looked down toward Sod′om and Go·mor′rah and toward all the land of the District and saw a sight. Why, here thick smoke ascended from the land like the thick smoke of a kiln! 29 And it came about that when God brought the cities of the District to ruin God kept Abraham in mind in that he took steps to send Lot out of the midst of the overthrow when overthrowing the cities among which Lot had been dwelling.

30 Later Lot went up from Zo′ar and began dwelling in the mountainous region, and his two daughters along with him, because he got afraid of dwelling in Zo′ar. So he began dwelling in a cave, he and his two daughters. 31 And the firstborn proceeded to say to the younger woman: “Our father is old and there is not a man in the land to have relations with us according to the way of the whole earth. 32 Come, let us give our father wine to drink and let us lie down with him and preserve offspring from our father.”

[33] So they kept giving their father wine to drink during that night; then the firstborn went in and lay down with her father, but he did not know when she lay down and when she got up. [34] And it came about on the next day that the firstborn then said to the younger: “Here I lay down with my father last night. Let us give him wine to drink tonight also. Then you go in, lie down with him, and let us preserve offspring from our father.” [35] So they repeatedly gave their father wine to drink during that night also; then the younger got up and lay down with him, but he did not know when she lay down and when she got up. [36] And both the daughters of Lot became pregnant from their father. [37] In time the firstborn became mother to a son and called his name Moʹab. He is the father of Moʹab, to this day. [38] As for the younger, she too gave birth to a son and then called his name Ben-amʹmi. He is the father of the sons of Amʹmon, to this day.

20 Now Abraham moved camp from there to the land of the Neg′eb and took up dwelling between Ka′desh and Shur and residing as an alien at Ge′rar. [2] And Abraham repeated concerning Sarah his wife: “She is my sister.” With that A·bim′e·lech king of Ge′rar sent and took Sarah. [3] Afterward God came to A·bim′e·lech in a dream by night and said to him: “Here you are as good as dead because of the woman whom you have taken, since she is owned by another owner as his wife.” [4] However, A·bim′e·lech had not gone near her. Hence he said: “Jehovah, will you kill a nation that is really righteous? [5] Did not he say to me, ‘She is my sister’? and she—did not she too say, ‘He is my brother’? In the honesty of my heart and with innocency of my hands I have done this.” [6] At that the true God said to him in the dream: “I too have known that in the honesty of your heart you have done this, and I was also holding you back from sinning against me. That is why I did not allow you to touch her. [7] But now return the man’s wife, for he is a prophet, and he will make supplication for you. So keep living. But if you are not returning her, know that you will positively die, you and all who are yours.”

[8] So A·bim′e·lech got up early in the morning and proceeded to call all his servants and to speak of all these things in their ears. And the men got very much afraid. [9] Then A·bim′e·lech called Abraham and said to him: “What have you done to us, and what sin have I committed against you, in that you have brought upon me and my kingdom a great sin? Deeds that should not have been done you have done in connection with me.” [10] And A·bim′e·lech went on to say to Abraham: “What did you have in view in that you have done this thing?” [11] To this Abraham said: “It was because I said to myself, ‘Doubtless there is no fear of God in this place, and they will certainly kill me because of my wife.’ [12] And, besides, she is truly my sister, the daughter of my father, only not the daughter of my mother; and she became my wife. [13] And it came about that, when God caused me to wander from the house of my father, then I said to her, ‘This is your loving-kindness which you may exercise toward me: At every place where we shall come say of me: “He is my brother.”’”

[14] Following that A·bim′e·lech took sheep and cattle and menservants and maidservants and gave them to Abraham and returned to him Sarah his wife. [15] Further A·bim′e·lech said: “Here my land is available to you. Dwell where it is good in your eyes.” [16] And to Sarah he said: “Here I do give a thousand silver pieces of money to your brother. Here it is for you a covering of the eyes to all who are with you, and before everybody, and you are cleared of reproach.” [17] And Abraham began to make supplication to the true God; and God proceeded to heal A·bim′e·lech and his wife and his slave girls, and they began bearing children. [18] For Jehovah had tightly shut up every womb of the house of A·bim′e·lech because of Sarah, Abraham’s wife.

21 And Jehovah turned his attention to Sarah just as he had said, and Jehovah now did to Sarah just as he had spoken. [2] And Sarah became pregnant and then bore a son to Abraham in his old age at the appointed time of which God had spoken to him. [3] Accordingly Abraham called the name of his son who had been born to him, whom Sarah had borne to him, Isaac. [4] And Abraham proceeded to circumcise Isaac his son when eight days old, just as God had commanded him. [5] And Abraham was a hundred years old when Isaac his son was born to him. [6] Then Sarah said: “God has prepared laughter for me: everybody hearing of it will laugh at me.” [7] And she added: “Who would have uttered to Abraham, ‘Sarah will certainly suckle children,’ whereas I have given birth to a son in his old age?”

[8] Now the child kept growing and came to be weaned; and Abraham then prepared a big feast on the day of Isaac’s being weaned. [9] And Sarah kept noticing the son of Ha´gar the Egyptian, whom she had borne to Abraham, poking fun. [10] So she began to say to Abraham: “Drive out this slave girl and her son, for the son of this slave girl is not going to be an heir with my son, with Isaac!” [11] But the thing proved to be very displeasing to Abraham as regards his son. [12] Then God said to Abraham: “Do not let anything that Sarah keeps saying to you be displeasing to you about the boy and about your slave girl. Listen to her voice, because it is by means of Isaac that what will be called your seed will be. [13] And as for the son of the slave girl, I shall also constitute him a nation, because he is your offspring.”

[14] So Abraham got up early in the morning and took bread and a skin water bottle and gave it to Ha´gar, setting it upon her shoulder, and the child, and then dismissed her. And she went her way and wandered about in the wilderness of Be′er-she′ba. [15] Finally the water became exhausted in the skin bottle and she threw the child under one of the bushes. [16] Then she went on and sat down by herself, about the distance of a bowshot away, because she said: “Let me not see it when the child dies.” So she sat down at a distance and began to raise her voice and weep.

[17] At that God heard the voice of the boy, and God’s angel called to Ha′gar out of the heavens and said to her: “What is the matter with you, Ha′gar? Do not be afraid, because God has listened to the voice of the boy there where he is. [18] Get up, lift up the boy and take hold of him with your hand, because I shall constitute him a great nation.” [19] Then God opened her eyes so that she caught sight of a well of water; and she went and began to fill the skin bottle with water and to give the boy a drink. [20] And God continued to be with the boy, and he kept growing and dwelling in the wilderness; and he became an archer. [21] And he took up dwelling in the wilderness of Pa′ran, and his mother proceeded to take a wife for him from the land of Egypt.

[22] Now it came about at that time that A·bim′e·lech together with Phi′col the chief of his army said to Abraham: “God is with you in everything you are doing. [23] So now swear to me here by God that you will not prove false to me and to my offspring and to my posterity; that, according to the loyal love with which I have dealt with you, you will deal with me and with the land in which you have been residing as an alien.” [24] So Abraham said: “I shall swear.”

[25] When Abraham criticized A·bim′e·lech severely as regards the well of water that the servants of A·bim′e·lech had seized by violence, [26] then A·bim′e·lech said: “I do not know who did this thing, neither did you yourself tell it to me, and I myself have also not heard of it except today.” [27] With that

Abraham took sheep and cattle and gave them to A·bimʹe·lech, and both of them proceeded to conclude a covenant. [28] When Abraham set seven female lambs of the flock by themselves, [29] A·bimʹe·lech went on to say to Abraham: “What is the meaning here of these seven female lambs that you have set by themselves?” [30] Then he said: “You are to accept the seven female lambs at my hand, that it may serve as a witness for me that I have dug this well.” [31] That is why he called that place Beʹer-sheʹba, because there both of them had taken an oath. [32] So they concluded a covenant at Beʹer-sheʹba, after which A·bimʹe·lech got up together with Phiʹcol the chief of his army and they returned to the land of the Phi·lisʹtines. [33] After that he planted a tamarisk tree at Beʹer-sheʹba and called there upon the name of Jehovah the indefinitely lasting God. [34] And Abraham extended his residence as an alien in the land of the Phi·lisʹtines many days.

22 Now after these things it came about that the true God put Abraham to the test. Accordingly he said to him: “Abraham! ” to which he said: “Here I am! ” [2] And he went on to say: “Take, please, your son, your only son whom you so love, Isaac, and make a trip to the land of Mo·riʹah and there offer him up as a burnt offering on one of the mountains that I shall designate to you.”

[3] So Abraham got up early in the morning and saddled his ass and took two of his attendants with him and Isaac his son; and he split the wood for the burnt offering. Then he rose and went on the trip to the place that the true God designated to him. [4] It was first on the third day that Abraham raised his eyes and began to see the place from a distance. [5] Abraham now said to his attendants: “YOU stay here with the ass, but I and the boy want to go on over there and worship and return to YOU.”

[6] After that Abraham took the wood of the burnt offering and put it upon Isaac his son and took in his hands the fire and the slaughtering knife, and both of them went on together. [7] And Isaac began to say to Abraham his father: “My father! ” In turn he said: “Here I am, my son! ” So he continued: “Here are the fire and the wood, but where is the sheep for the burnt offering?” [8] To this Abraham said: “God will provide himself the sheep for the burnt offering, my son.” And both of them walked on together.

[9] Finally they reached the place that the true God had designated to him, and Abraham built an altar there and set the wood in order and bound Isaac his son hand and foot and put him upon the altar on top of the wood. [10] Then Abraham put out his hand and took the slaughtering knife to kill his son. [11] But Jehovah’s angel began calling to him out of the heavens and saying: “Abraham, Abraham! ” to which he answered: “Here I am! ” [12] And he went on to say: “Do not put out your hand against the boy and do not do anything at all to him, for now I do know that you are God-fearing in that you have not withheld your son, your only one, from me.” [13] At that Abraham raised his eyes and looked and there, deep in the foreground, there was a ram caught by its horns in a thicket. So Abraham went and took the ram and offered it up for a burnt offering in place of his son. [14] And Abraham began to call the name of that place Je·ho′vah-ji′reh. This is why it is customarily said today: “In the mountain of Jehovah it will be provided.”

[15] And Jehovah’s angel proceeded to call to Abraham the second time out of the heavens [16] and to say: “‘By myself I do swear,’ is the utterance of Jehovah, ‘that by reason of the fact that you have done this thing and you have not withheld your son, your only one, [17] I shall surely bless you and I shall surely multiply your seed like the stars of the heavens and like the grains of sand that are on the seashore; and your seed will take possession of the gate of his enemies. [18] And by means of your seed all nations of the earth will certainly bless themselves due to the fact that you have listened to my voice.’”

[19] After that Abraham returned to his attendants, and they got up and went their way together to Be′er-she′ba; and Abraham continued to dwell at Be′er-she′ba.

[20] Now it came about after these things that the report got through to Abraham: “Here Mil′cah herself has also borne sons to Na′hor your brother: [21] Uz his firstborn and Buz his brother and Kem·u′el the father of A′ram, [22] and Che′sed and Ha′zo and Pil′dash and Jid′laph and Be·thu′el.” [23] And Be·thu′el became the father of Re·bek′ah. These eight Milʹcah bore to Naʹhor the brother of Abraham. [24] There was his concubine too, whose name was Reuʹmah. In time she herself also gave birth to Teʹbah and Gaʹham and Taʹhash and Maʹa·cah.

23 And Sarah’s life got to be a hundred and twenty-seven years long. They were the years of Sarah’s life. [2] So Sarah died in Kir′i·ath-ar′ba, that is to say, He′bron, in the land of Ca′naan, and Abraham came in to bewail Sarah and to weep over her. [3] Then Abraham got up from before his dead and proceeded to speak to the sons of Heth, saying: [4] “An alien resident and settler I am among YOU. Give me the possession of a burial place among YOU that I may bury my dead out of my sight.” [5] At this the sons of Heth answered Abraham, saying to him: [6] “Hear us, my lord. A chieftain of God you are in the midst of us. In the choicest of our burial places bury your dead. None of us will hold back his burial place from you to prevent burying your dead.”

[7] Thereupon Abraham got up and bowed down to the natives, to the sons of Heth, [8] and spoke with them, saying: “If YOUR souls agree to bury my dead out of my sight, listen to me and urge E′phron the son of Zo′har for me, [9] that he may give me the cave of Mach·pe′lah, which is his, which is at the extremity of his field. For the full amount of silver let him give it to me in the midst of YOU for the possession of a burial place.”

[10] As it was, E′phron was sitting among the sons of Heth. So E′phron the Hit′tite answered Abraham in the hearing of the sons of Heth with all those entering the gate of his city, saying: [11] “No, my lord! Listen to me. The field I do give to you, and the cave that is in it to you I do give it. Before the eyes of the sons of my people I do give it to you. Bury your dead.” [12] At that Abraham bowed down before the natives [13] and spoke to E′phron in the hearing of the natives, saying: “Only if you—no, listen to me! I will give you the amount of silver for the field. Take it from me, that I may bury my dead there.”

[14] Then E′phron answered Abraham, saying to him: [15] “My lord, listen to me. A land plot worth four hundred silver shekels, what is that between me and you? So bury your dead.” [16] Accordingly Abraham listened to E′phron, and Abraham weighed out to E′phron the amount of silver that he had spoken in the hearing of the sons of Heth, four hundred silver shekels current with the merchants. [17] Thus the field of E′phron that was in Mach·pe′lah, which is in front of Mam′re, the field and the cave that was in it and all the trees that were in the field, which were within all its boundaries round about, became confirmed [18] to Abraham as his purchased property before the eyes of the sons of Heth among all those entering the gate of his city. [19] And after that Abraham buried Sarah his wife in the cave of the field of Mach·pe′lah in front of Mam′re, that is to say, He′bron, in the land of Ca′naan. [20] Thus the field and the cave that was in it became confirmed to Abraham for the possession of a burial place at the hands of the sons of Heth.

24 Now Abraham was old, advanced in years; and Jehovah had blessed Abraham in everything. [2] Hence Abraham said to his servant, the oldest one of his household, who was managing all he had: “Put your hand, please, under my thigh, [3] as I must have you swear by Jehovah, the God of the heavens and the God of the earth, that you will not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Caʹnaan·ites in among whom I am dwelling, [4] but you will go to my country and to my relatives, and you will certainly take a wife for my son, for Isaac.”

[5] However, the servant said to him: “What if the woman does not wish to come with me to this land? Must I be sure to return your son to the land from where you went out?” [6] At this Abraham said to him: “Be on your guard that you do not return my son there. [7] Jehovah the God of the heavens, who took me from my father’s house and from the land of my relatives and who spoke to me and who swore to me, saying, ‘To your seed I am going to give this land,’ he will send his angel ahead of you, and you will certainly take a wife for my son from there. [8] But if the woman should not wish to come with you, you also will have become free from this oath you gave me. Only you must not return my son there.” [9] With that the servant put his hand under the thigh of Abraham his master and swore to him concerning this matter.

say: “Jehovah the God of my master Abraham, cause it to happen, please, before me this day and perform loving-kindness with my master Abraham. [13] Here I am stationed at a fountain of water, and the daughters of the men of the city are coming out to draw water. [14] What must occur is that the young woman to whom I shall say, ‘Let your water jar down, please, that I may take a drink,’ and who will indeed say, ‘Take a drink, and I shall also water your camels,’ this is the one you must assign to your servant, to Isaac; and by this let me know that you have performed loyal love with my master.”

[15] Well, it came about that before he had finished speaking, why, here coming out was Re·bek′ah, who had been born to Be·thu′el the son of Mil′cah the wife of Na′hor, Abraham’s brother, and her water jar was upon her shoulder. [16] Now the young woman was very attractive in appearance, a virgin, and no man had had sexual intercourse with her; and she made her way down to the fountain and began to fill her water jar and then came up. [17] At once the servant ran to meet her and said: “Give me, please, a little sip of water from your jar.” [18] In turn she said: “Drink, my lord.” With that she quickly lowered her jar upon her hand and gave him a drink. [19] When she was finished giving him a drink, then she said: “For your camels too I shall draw water until they are done drinking.” [20] So she quickly emptied her jar into the drinking trough and ran yet again and again to the well to draw water, and kept drawing for all his camels. [21] All the while the man was gazing at her in wonder, keeping silent to know whether Jehovah had made his trip successful or not.

“Whose daughter are you? Tell me, please. Is there any room at the house of your father for us to spend the night?” [24] At that she said to him: “I am the daughter of Be·thuʹel the son of Milʹcah, whom she bore to Naʹhor.” [25] And she said further to him: “There is both straw and much fodder with us, also a place to spend the night.” [26] And the man proceeded to bow down and prostrate himself before Jehovah [27] and say: “Blessed be Jehovah the God of my master Abraham, who has not left his loving-kindness and his trustworthiness toward my master. I being on the way, Jehovah has led me to the house of the brothers of my master.”

[28] And the young woman went running and telling the household of her mother about these things. [29] Now Re·bekʹah had a brother and his name was Laʹban. So Laʹban went running to the man who was outside at the fountain. [30] And it came about that on seeing the nose ring and the bracelets on the hands of his sister and on hearing the words of Re·bekʹah his sister, saying: “This is the way the man spoke to me,” then he came to the man and there he was, standing by the camels at the fountain. [31] At once he said: “Come, you blessed one of Jehovah. Why do you keep standing out here, when I myself have made the house ready and room for the camels?” [32] With that the man came on into the house, and he went unharnessing the camels and giving straw and fodder to the camels and water to wash his feet and the feet of the men who were with him. [33] Then something to eat was set before him, but he said: “I shall not eat until I have spoken about my matters.” Hence he said: “Speak! ”

[34] Then he went on to say: “I am Abraham’s servant. [35] And Jehovah has blessed my master very much in that he goes on making him greater and giving him sheep and cattle and silver and gold and menservants and maidservants and camels and asses. [36] Further, Sarah the wife of my master bore a son to my master after her growing old; and he will give him everything he has. [37] So my master made me swear, saying, ‘You must not take a wife for my son from the daughters of the Ca′naan·ites in whose land I am dwelling. [38] No, but you will go to the house of my father and to my family and you must take a wife for my son.’ [39] But I said to my master, ‘What if the woman will not come with me?’ [40] Then he said to me, ‘Jehovah, before whom I have walked, will send his angel with you and will certainly give success to your way; and you must take a wife for my son from my family and from the house of my father. [41] At that time you will be cleared of obligation to me by oath when you get to my family, and if they will not give her to you, then you shall become free of obligation to me by oath.’

[42] “When I got to the fountain today, then I said, ‘Jehovah the God of my master Abraham, if you are really giving success to my way on which I am going, [43] here I am stationed at a fountain of water. What must occur is that the maiden coming out to draw water to whom I shall actually say: “Please, let me drink a little water from your jar,” [44] and who will indeed say to me: “Both you take a drink, and I shall also draw water for your camels,” she is the woman whom Jehovah has assigned for the son of my master.’

bore to him.’ Accordingly I put the nose ring on her nostril and the bracelets on her hands. [48] And I proceeded to bow down and prostrate myself before Jehovah and bless Jehovah the God of my master Abraham, who had led me in the true way to take the daughter of the brother of my master for his son. [49] And now if YOU are actually exercising loving-kindness and trustworthiness toward my master, tell me; but if not, tell me, that I may turn to the right hand or to the left.”

[50] Then La′ban and Be·thu′el answered and said: “From Jehovah this thing has issued. We are unable to speak bad or good to you. [51] Here is Re·bek′ah before you. Take her and go, and let her become a wife to the son of your master, just as Jehovah has spoken.” [52] And it came about that when Abraham’s servant had heard their words, he at once prostrated himself on the earth before Jehovah. [53] And the servant began to bring out articles of silver and articles of gold and garments and to give them to Re·bek′ah; and he gave choice things to her brother and to her mother. [54] After that they ate and drank, he and the men who were with him, and they spent the night there and got up in the morning.

Then he said: “SEND me off to my master.” [55] To this her brother and her mother said: “Let the young woman stay with us at least ten days. Afterward she can go.” [56] But he said to them: “Do not detain me, seeing that Jehovah has given success to my way. Send me off, that I may go to my master.” [57] So they said: “Let us call the young woman and inquire at her mouth.” [58] Then they called Re·bek′ah and said to her: “Will you go with this man?” In turn she said: “I am willing to go.”

[59] At that they sent off Re·bek′ah their sister and her nurse and Abraham’s servant and his men. [60] And they began to bless Re·bek′ah and say to her: “O you, our sister, may you become thousands times ten thousand, and let your seed take possession of the gate of those who hate it.” [61] After that Re·bekʹah and her lady attendants rose and they went riding on the camels and following the man; and the servant took Re·bekʹah and got on his way.

[62] Now Isaac had come from the way that goes to Beʹer-laʹhai-roi, for he was dwelling in the land of the Negʹeb. [63] And Isaac was out walking in order to meditate in the field at about the falling of evening. When he raised his eyes and looked, why, there camels were coming! [64] When Re·bekʹah raised her eyes, she caught sight of Isaac and she swung herself down from off the camel. [65] Then she said to the servant: “Who is that man there walking in the field to meet us?” and the servant said: “It is my master.” And she proceeded to take a headcloth and to cover herself. [66] And the servant went relating to Isaac all the things he had done. [67] After that Isaac brought her into the tent of Sarah his mother. Thus he took Re·bekʹah and she became his wife; and he fell in love with her, and Isaac found comfort after the loss of his mother.

25 Furthermore, Abraham again took a wife, and her name was Ke·tu′rah. [2] In time she bore him Zim′ran and Jok′shan and Me′dan and Mid′i·an and Ish′bak and Shu′ah.

[3] And Jok′shan became father to She′ba and De′dan.

And the sons of De′dan became As·shu′rim and Le·tu′shim and Le·um′mim.

[4] And the sons of Mid′i·an were E′phah and E′pher and Ha′noch and A·bi′da and El·da′ah.

All these were the sons of Ke·tu′rah.

[5] Later on Abraham gave everything he had to Isaac, [6] but to the sons of the concubines that Abraham had Abraham gave gifts. Then he sent them away from Isaac his son, while he was still alive, eastward, to the land of the East. [7] And these are the days of the years of Abraham’s life which he lived, a hundred and seventy-five years. [8] Then Abraham expired and died in a good old age, old and satisfied, and was gathered to his people. [9] So Isaac and Ish′ma·el his sons buried him in the cave of Mach·pe′lah in the field of E′phron the son of Zo′har the Hit′tite that is in front of Mam′re, [10] the field that Abraham had purchased from the sons of Heth. There Abraham was buried, and also Sarah his wife. [11] And it developed that after Abraham’s death God continued to bless Isaac his son, and Isaac was dwelling close by Be′er-la′hai-roi.

[12] And this is the history of Ish′ma·el the son of Abraham whom Ha′gar the Egyptian the maidservant of Sarah bore to Abraham.

13 Now these are the names of the sons of Ish′ma·el, by their names, according to their family origins: Ish′ma·el’s firstborn Ne·ba′ioth and Ke′dar and Ad′be·el and Mib′sam 14 and Mish′ma and Du′mah and Mas′sa, 15 Ha′dad and Te′ma, Je′tur, Na′phish and Ked′e·mah. 16 These are the sons of Ish′ma·el, and these are their names by their courtyards and by their walled camps: twelve chieftains according to their clans. 17 And these are the years of Ish′ma·el’s life, a hundred and thirty-seven years. Then he expired and died and was gathered to his people. 18 And they took up tabernacling from Hav′i·lah near Shur, which is in front of Egypt, as far as As·syr′i·a. In front of all his brothers he settled down.

Abraham became father to Isaac. 20 And Isaac happened to be forty years old at his taking Re·bek′ah the daughter of Be·thu′el the Syrian of Pad′dan-a′ram, the sister of La′ban the Syrian, as his wife. 21 And Isaac kept on entreating Jehovah especially for his wife, because she was barren; so Jehovah let himself be entreated for him, and Re·bek′ah his wife became pregnant. 22 And the sons within her began to struggle with each other, so that she said: “If this is the way it is, just why am I alive?” With that she went to inquire of Jehovah. 23 And Jehovah proceeded to say to her: “Two nations are in your belly, and two national groups will be separated from your inward parts; and the one national group will be stronger than the other national group, and the older will serve the younger.”

24 Gradually her days came to the full for giving birth, and, look! twins were in her belly. 25 Then the first came out red all over like an official garment of hair; so they called his name E′sau. 26 And after that his brother came out and his hand was holding onto the heel of E′sau; so he called his name Jacob. And Isaac was sixty years old at her giving them birth.

27 And the boys got bigger, and E′sau became a man knowing how to hunt, a man of the field, but Jacob a blameless man, dwelling in tents. 28 And Isaac had love for E′sau, because it meant game in his mouth, whereas Re·bek′ah was a lover of Jacob. 29 Once Jacob was boiling up some stew, when E′sau came along from the field and he was tired. 30 So E′sau said to Jacob: “Quick, please, give me a swallow of the red—the red there, for I am tired!” That is why his name was called E′dom. 31 To this Jacob said: “Sell me, first of all, your right as firstborn!” 32 And E′sau continued: “Here I am simply going to die, and of what benefit to me is a birthright?” 33 And Jacob added: “Swear to me first of all!” And he proceeded to swear to him and to sell his right as firstborn to Jacob. 34 And Jacob gave E′sau bread and lentil stew, and he went to eating and drinking. Then he got up and went his way. So E′sau despised the birthright.

26 Now there arose a famine in the land, besides the first famine that occurred in the days of Abraham, so that Isaac directed himself to A·bim′e·lech, king of the Phi·lis′tines, to Ge′rar. [2] Then Jehovah appeared to him and said: “Do not go down to Egypt. Tabernacle in the land that I designate to you. [3] Reside as an alien in this land, and I shall continue with you and bless you, because to you and to your seed I shall give all these lands, and I will carry out the sworn statement that I swore to Abraham your father, [4] ‘And I will multiply your seed like the stars of the heavens and I will give to your seed all these lands; and by means of your seed all nations of the earth will certainly bless themselves,’ [5] due to the fact that Abraham listened to my voice and continued to keep his obligations to me, my commands, my statutes, and my laws.” [6] So Isaac went on dwelling at Ge′rar.

[7] Well, the men of the place kept asking with respect to his wife, and he would say: “She is my sister.” For he was afraid to say “My wife” for fear that, to quote him, “the men of the place should kill me because of Re·bek′ah,” because she was attractive in appearance. [8] So it came about that as his days there extended themselves A·bim′e·lech, king of the Phi·lis′tines, was looking out of the window and taking in the sight, and there was Isaac having a good time with Re·bek′ah his wife. [9] At once A·bim′e·lech called Isaac and said: “Why, she is no other than your wife! So how is it that you said, ‘She is my sister’?” At this Isaac said to him: “I said it for fear I should die on her account.” [10] But A·bim′e·lech continued: “What is this you have done to us? A little more and certainly one of the people would have lain down with your wife, and you would have brought guilt upon us!” [11] Then A·bim′e·lech commanded all the people, saying:

[12] Afterward Isaac began to sow seed in that land, and in that year he was getting up to a hundred measures to one, as Jehovah was blessing him. [13] Consequently the man became great and went on advancing more and more and growing great until he got very great. [14] And he came to have flocks of sheep and herds of cattle and a large body of servants, so that the Phi·lis′tines began to envy him.

[15] As for all the wells that the servants of his father had dug in the days of Abraham his father, these the Phi·lis′tines stopped up and they would fill them with dry earth. [16] Finally A·bim′e·lech said to Isaac: “Move from our neighborhood, because you have grown far stronger than we are.” [17] So Isaac moved from there and encamped in the torrent valley of Ge′rar and took up dwelling there. [18] And Isaac proceeded to dig again the wells of water that they had dug in the days of Abraham his father but which the Phi·lis′tines went stopping up after Abraham’s death; and he resumed calling their names by the names that his father had called them.

[23] Then he went up from there to Be′er-she′ba. [24] And Jehovah proceeded to appear to him during that night and to say: “I am the God of Abraham your father. Do not be afraid, because I am with you, and I will bless you and multiply your seed on account of Abraham my servant.” [25] Accordingly he built an altar there and called on the name of Jehovah and pitched his tent there, and the servants of Isaac went excavating a well there.

[26] Later on A·bim′e·lech came to him from Ge′rar with A·huz′zath his confidential friend and Phi′col the chief of his army. [27] At this Isaac said to them: “Why have YOU come to me, seeing that YOU yourselves hated me and so sent me away from YOUR neighborhood?” [28] To this they said: “We have unmistakably seen that Jehovah has proved to be with you. Hence we said, ‘Let, please, an oath of obligation occur between us, between us and you, and let us conclude a covenant with you, [29] that you will do nothing bad toward us just as we have not touched you and just as we have done only good toward you in that we sent you away in peace. You now are the blessed of Jehovah.’” [30] Then he made a feast for them and they ate and drank. [31] Next morning they were early in rising and they made sworn statements one to the other. After that Isaac sent them away and they went from him in peace.

[32] Now on that day it occurred that the servants of Isaac proceeded to come and report to him regarding the well that they had dug, and to say to him: “We have found water!” [33] Hence he called its name Shi′bah. That is why the name of the city is Be′er-she′ba, down to this day.

[34] And E′sau grew to be forty years old. Then he took as wife Ju′dith the daughter of Be·e′ri the Hit′tite and also Bas′e·math the daughter of E′lon the Hit′tite. 35 And they were a source of bitterness of spirit to Isaac and Re·bek′ah.

27 Now it came about that when Isaac was old and his eyes were too dim to see he then called E′sau his older son and said to him: “My son!” at which he said to him: “Here I am!” [2] And he went on to say: “Here, now, I have become old. I do not know the day of my death. [3] So at this time take, please, your implements, your quiver and your bow, and go out to the field and hunt some venison for me. [4] Then make me a tasty dish such as I am fond of and bring it to me and, ah, let me eat, in order that my soul may bless you before I die.”

[5] However, Re·bek′ah was listening while Isaac spoke to E′sau his son. And E′sau went on out into the field to hunt game and to bring it in. [6] And Re·bek′ah said to Jacob her son: “Here I just heard your father speaking to E′sau your brother, saying, [7] ‘Bring me some game and make me a tasty dish and, ah, let me eat, that I may bless you before Jehovah before my death.’ [8] And now, my son, listen to my voice in what I am commanding you. [9] Go, please, to the herd and get me from there two kids of the goats, good ones, that I may make them up into a tasty dish for your father such as he is fond of. [10] Then you must bring it to your father and he must eat it, in order that he may bless you before his death.”

[11] And Jacob proceeded to say to Re·bek′ah his mother: “But E′sau my brother is a hairy man and I am a smooth man. [12] What if my father feels me? Then I shall certainly become in his eyes like one making a mockery, and I shall certainly bring upon myself a malediction and not a blessing.” [13] At this his mother said to him: “Upon me be the malediction meant for you, my son. Only listen to my voice and go, get them for me.” [14] Accordingly he went and got them and brought them to his mother, and his mother made a tasty dish such as his father was fond of. 15 After that Re·bek′ah took garments of E′sau her older son, the most desirable ones which were with her in the house, and put them on Jacob her younger son. 16 And the skins of the kids of the goats she put upon his hands and upon the hairless part of his neck. 17 Then she gave the tasty dish and the bread that she had made into the hand of Jacob her son.

18 So he went on in to his father and said: “My father!” to which he said: “Here I am! Who are you, my son?” 19 And Jacob went on to say to his father: “I am E′sau your firstborn. I have done just as you have spoken to me. Raise yourself up, please. Sit down and eat some of my game, in order that your soul may bless me.” 20 At that Isaac said to his son: “How is it that you have been so quick in finding it, my son?” In turn he said: “Because Jehovah your God caused it to meet up with me.” 21 Then Isaac said to Jacob: “Come near, please, that I may feel you, my son, to know whether you are really my son E′sau or not.” 22 So Jacob came near to Isaac his father, and he went feeling him, after which he said: “The voice is the voice of Jacob, but the hands are the hands of E′sau.” 23 And he did not recognize him, because his hands proved to be hairy like the hands of E′sau his brother. Hence he blessed him.

24 After that he said: “You are really my son E′sau?” to which he said: “I am.” 25 Then he said: “Bring it near to me that I may eat some of the game of my son, to the end that my soul may bless you.” With that he brought it near to him and he began to eat, and he brought him wine and he began to drink. 26 Then Isaac his father said to him: “Come near, please, and kiss me, my son.” 27 So he came near and kissed him, and he could smell the scent of his garments. And he proceeded to bless him and to say:

“See, the scent of my son is like the scent of the field which Jehovah has blessed. 28 And may the true God give you the dews of the heavens and the fertile soils of the earth and an abundance of grain and new wine. 29 Let peoples serve you and let national groups bow low to you. Become master over your brothers, and let the sons of your mother bow low to you. Cursed be each one of those cursing you, and blessed be each one of those blessing you.”

30 Now it came about as soon as Isaac had finished blessing Jacob, yes, it indeed came about when Jacob had barely come out from before the face of Isaac his father, that E′sau his brother came back from his hunting. 31 And he too went about making a tasty dish. Then he brought it to his father and said to his father: “Let my father get up and eat some of his son’s game, in order that your soul may bless me.” 32 At this Isaac his father said to him: “Who are you?” to which he said: “I am your son, your firstborn, E′sau.” 33 And Isaac began to shake with a great trembling in extreme measure, and so he said: “Who, then, was it that hunted for game and came bringing it to me, so that I ate of everything before you could come in and I blessed him? Blessed too he will become!”

34 On hearing his father’s words E′sau began to cry out in an extremely loud and bitter manner and to say to his father: “Bless me, even me too, my father!” 35 But he went on to say: “Your brother came with deception that he might get the blessing meant for you.” 36 At this he said: “Is that not why his name is called Jacob, in that he should supplant me these two times? My birthright he has already taken, and here at this time he has taken my blessing!” Then he added: “Have you not reserved a blessing for me?” 37 But in answer to E′sau Isaac continued: “Here I have appointed him master over you, and all his brothers I have given to him as servants, and grain and new wine I have bestowed for his support, and where is there anything I can do for you, my son?”

[38] Then E′sau said to his father: “Is there just one blessing that you have, my father? Bless me, even me too, my father!” With that E′sau raised his voice and burst into tears. [39] So in answer Isaac his father said to him:

“Behold, away from the fertile soils of the earth your dwelling will be found, and away from the dew of the heavens above. [40] And by your sword you will live, and your brother you will serve. But it will certainly occur that, when you grow restless, you will indeed break his yoke off your neck.”

[41] However, E′sau harbored animosity for Jacob on account of the blessing with which his father had blessed him, and E′sau kept saying in his heart: “The days of the period of mourning for my father are getting closer. After that I am going to kill Jacob my brother.” [42] When the words of E′sau her older son were told to Re·bek′ah, she at once sent and called Jacob her younger son and said to him: “Look! E′sau your brother is comforting himself in regard to you—to kill you. [43] Now, then, my son, listen to my voice and get up, run away to La′ban my brother at Ha′ran. [44] And you must dwell with him for some days until the rage of your brother calms down, [45] until the anger of your brother turns away from you and he has forgotten what you have done to him. And I shall certainly send and get you from there. Why should I be bereaved also of both of YOU in one day?”

[46] After that Re·bek′ah kept saying to Isaac: “I have come to abhor this life of mine because of the daughters of Heth. If Jacob ever takes a wife from the daughters of Heth like these from the daughters of the land, of what good is life to me?”

28 Consequently Isaac called Jacob and blessed him and commanded him and said to him: “You must not take a wife from the daughters of Caʹnaan. [2] Get up, go to Padʹdan-aʹram to the house of Be·thuʹel the father of your mother and from there take yourself a wife from the daughters of Laʹban the brother of your mother. [3] And God Almighty will bless you and make you fruitful and multiply you, and you will certainly become a congregation of peoples. [4] And he will give to you the blessing of Abraham, to you and to your seed with you, that you may take possession of the land of your alien residences, which God has given to Abraham.”

[5] So Isaac sent Jacob away, and he struck out for Padʹdan-aʹram, for Laʹban the son of Be·thuʹel the Syrian, the brother of Re·bekʹah, mother of Jacob and Eʹsau.

[6] When Eʹsau saw that Isaac had blessed Jacob and had sent him away to Padʹdan-aʹram to take from there a wife for himself, and that when he blessed him he laid the command upon him, saying: “Do not take a wife from the daughters of Caʹnaan”; [7] and that Jacob was obeying his father and his mother and was on his way to Padʹdan-aʹram; [8] then Eʹsau saw that the daughters of Caʹnaan were displeasing in the eyes of Isaac his father. [9] Hence Eʹsau went to Ishʹma·el and took as wife Maʹha·lath the daughter of Ishʹma·el the son of Abraham, the sister of Ne·baʹioth, besides his other wives.

[10] And Jacob continued on his way out from Beʹer-sheʹba and kept going to Haʹran. [11] In time he came across a place and set about spending the night there because the sun had set. So he took one of the stones of the place and set it as his head supporter and lay down in that place. [12] And he began to dream, and, look! there was a ladder stationed upon the earth and its top reaching up to the heavens; and, look! there were God’s angels ascending and descending on it. [13] And, look! there was Jehovah stationed above it, and he proceeded to say:

“I am Jehovah the God of Abraham your father and the God of Isaac. The land upon which you are lying, to you I am going to give it and to your seed. [14] And your seed will certainly become like the dust particles of the earth, and you will certainly spread abroad to the west and to the east and to the north and to the south, and by means of you and by means of your seed all the families of the ground will certainly bless themselves. [15] And here I am with you and I will keep you in all the way you are going and I will return you to this ground, because I am not going to leave you until I have actually done what I have spoken to you.”

[16] Then Jacob awoke from his sleep and said: “Truly Jehovah is in this place and I myself did not know it.” [17] And he grew fearful and added: “How fear-inspiring this place is! This is nothing else but the house of God and this is the gate of the heavens.” [18] So Jacob got up early in the morning and took the stone that was there as his head supporter and he set it up as a pillar and poured oil on the top of it. [19] Further, he called the name of that place Beth′el; but the fact is, Luz was the city’s name formerly.

[20] And Jacob went on to vow a vow, saying: “If God will continue with me and will certainly keep me on this way on which I am going and will certainly give me bread to eat and garments to wear [21] and I shall certainly return in peace to the house of my father, then Jehovah will have proved to be my God. [22] And this stone that I have set up as a pillar will become a house of God, and as for everything that you will give me I shall without fail give the tenth of it to you.”

29 After that Jacob set his feet in motion and traveled on to the land of the Orientals. [2] Now he looked, and here there was a well in the field and here three droves of sheep were lying down there by it, because from that well they were accustomed to water the droves; and there was a great stone over the mouth of the well. [3] When all the droves had been gathered there, they rolled away the stone from off the mouth of the well, and they watered the flocks, after which they returned the stone over the mouth of the well to its place.

[4] So Jacob said to them: “My brothers, from what place are YOU?” to which they said: “We are from Haʹran.” [5] Then he said to them: “Do YOU know Laʹban the grandson of Naʹhor?” to which they said: “We know him.” [6] At this he said to them: “Is it all right with him?” In turn they said: “It is all right. And here is Rachel his daughter coming with the sheep!” [7] And he went on to say: “Why, it is yet full day. It is not the time for gathering the herds. WATER the sheep, then go feed them.” [8] To this they said: “We are not allowed to do so until all the droves are gathered and they actually roll away the stone from off the mouth of the well. Then we must water the sheep.”

[9] While he was yet speaking with them, Rachel came with the sheep that belonged to her father, for she was a shepherdess. [10] And it came about that when Jacob saw Rachel the daughter of Laʹban his mother’s brother and the sheep of Laʹban his mother’s brother, Jacob immediately approached and rolled away the stone from off the mouth of the well and watered the sheep of Laʹban his mother’s brother. [11] Then Jacob kissed Rachel and raised his voice and burst into tears. [12] And Jacob began to tell Rachel that he was the brother of her father and that he was the son of Re·bekʹah. And she went running and telling her father.

13 Now it came about that as soon as Laʹban heard the report about Jacob the son of his sister, he went running to meet him. Then he embraced him and kissed him and brought him on into his house. And he began to relate to Laʹban all these things. 14 After that Laʹban said to him: “You are indeed my bone and my flesh.” So he dwelt with him a full month.

15 After that Laʹban said to Jacob: “Are you my brother, and must you serve me for nothing? Tell me, What are your wages to be?” 16 As it was, Laʹban had two daughters. The name of the older was Leʹah and the name of the younger Rachel. 17 But the eyes of Leʹah had no luster, whereas Rachel had become beautiful in form and beautiful of countenance. 18 And Jacob was in love with Rachel. So he said: “I am willing to serve you seven years for Rachel your younger daughter.” 19 To this Laʹban said: “It is better for me to give her to you than for me to give her to another man. Keep dwelling with me.” 20 And Jacob proceeded to serve seven years for Rachel, but in his eyes they proved to be like some few days because of his love for her.

21 Then Jacob said to Laʹban: “Give over my wife, because my days are up, and let me have relations with her.” 22 With that Laʹban gathered all the men of the place and made a feast. 23 But it turned out that during the evening he resorted to taking Leʹah his daughter and bringing her to him that he might have relations with her. 24 Moreover, Laʹban gave to her Zilʹpah his maidservant, even to Leʹah his daughter, as a maidservant. 25 So it followed in the morning that here it was Leʹah! Consequently he said to Laʹban: “What is this you have done to me? Was it not for Rachel that I served with you? So why have you tricked me?” [26] To this La′ban said: “It is not customary to do this way in our place, to give the younger woman before the firstborn. [27] Celebrate to the full the week of this woman. After that there shall be given to you also this other woman for the service that you can serve with me for seven years more.” [28] Accordingly Jacob did so and celebrated fully the week of this woman, after which he gave him Rachel his daughter as his wife. [29] Besides, La′ban gave Bil′hah his maidservant to Rachel his daughter as her maidservant.

[30] Then he had relations also with Rachel and also expressed more love for Rachel than for Le′ah, and he went serving with him for yet seven years more. [31] When Jehovah came to see that Le′ah was hated, he then opened her womb, but Rachel was barren. [32] And Le′ah became pregnant and brought a son to birth and then called his name Reu′ben, for she said: “It is because Jehovah has looked upon my wretchedness, in that now my husband will begin to love me.” [33] And she became pregnant again and brought a son to birth and then said: “It is because Jehovah has listened, in that I was hated and so he gave me also this one.” Hence she called his name Sim′e·on. [34] And she became pregnant yet again and brought a son to birth and then said: “Now this time my husband will join himself to me, because I have borne him three sons.” His name was therefore called Le′vi. [35] And she became pregnant once more and brought a son to birth and then said: “This time I shall laud Jehovah.” She therefore called his name Judah. After that she left off giving birth.

30 When Rachel came to see that she had borne nothing to Jacob, Rachel got jealous of her sister and began to say to Jacob: “Give me children or otherwise I shall be a dead woman.” [2] At this Jacob’s anger burned against Rachel and he said: “Am I in the place of God, who has held back the fruit of the belly from you?” [3] So she said: “Here is my slave girl Bil′hah. Have relations with her, that she may give birth upon my knees and that I, even I, may get children from her.” [4] With that she gave him Bil′hah her maidservant as wife, and Jacob had relations with her. [5] And Bil′hah became pregnant and in time bore Jacob a son. [6] Then Rachel said: “God has acted as my judge and has also listened to my voice, so that he gave me a son.” That is why she called his name Dan. [7] And Bil′hah, Rachel’s maidservant, became pregnant once more and in time bore a second son to Jacob. [8] Then Rachel said: “With strenuous wrestlings I have wrestled with my sister. I have also come off winner!” So she called his name Naph′ta·li.

[9] When Le′ah came to see that she had left off giving birth, she proceeded to take Zil′pah her maidservant and to give her to Jacob as wife. [10] In time Zil′pah, Le′ah’s maidservant, bore a son to Jacob. [11] Then Le′ah said: “With good fortune!” So she called his name Gad. [12] After that Zil′pah, Le′ah’s maidservant, bore a second son to Jacob. [13] Then Le′ah said: “With my happiness! For the daughters will certainly pronounce me happy.” So she called his name Ash′er.

[14] Now Reu′ben went walking in the days of the wheat harvest and got to find mandrakes in the field. So he brought them to Le′ah his mother. Then Rachel said to Le′ah: “Give me, please, some of your son’s mandrakes.” [15] At this she said to her: “Is this a little thing, your having taken my husband, with your now taking also my son’s mandrakes?” So Rachel said: “For that reason he is going to lie down with you tonight in exchange for your son’s mandrakes.”

[16] When Jacob was coming from the field in the evening, Le′ah went on out to meet him and then said: “It is with me you are going to have relations, because I have hired you outright with my son’s mandrakes.” Accordingly he lay down with her that night. [17] And God heard and answered Le′ah and she became pregnant and in time bore to Jacob a fifth son. [18] Then Le′ah said: “God has given me a hireling’s wages, because I have given my maidservant to my husband.” So she called his name Is′sa·char. [19] And Le′ah became pregnant once more and in time bore a sixth son to Jacob. [20] Then Le′ah said: “God has endowed me, yes, me, with a good endowment. At last my husband will tolerate me, because I have borne him six sons.” So she called his name Zeb′u·lun. [21] And afterward she bore a daughter and then called her name Di′nah.

[22] Finally God remembered Rachel, and God heard and answered her in that he opened her womb. [23] And she became pregnant and brought a son to birth. Then she said: “God has taken away my reproach!” [24] So she called his name Joseph, saying: “Jehovah is adding another son to me.”

[25] And it followed that when Rachel had given birth to Joseph, Jacob immediately said to La′ban: “Send me away that I may go to my place and to my country. [26] Give over my wives and my children, for whom I have served with you, that I may go; for you yourself must know my service which I have rendered you.” [27] Then La′ban said to him: “If, now, I have found favor in your eyes,—I have taken the omens to the effect that Jehovah is blessing me due to you.” [28] And he added: “Stipulate your wages to me and I shall give them.”

[29] So he said to him: “You yourself must know how I have served you and how your herd has fared with me; [30] that it was little that you actually had before my coming, and it went expanding to a multitude, in that Jehovah blessed you since I stepped in. So now when am I to do something also for my own house?”

[31] Then he said: “What shall I give you?” And Jacob went on to say: “You will give me nothing whatsoever! If you will do this thing for me, I shall resume shepherding your flock. I shall continue guarding it. [32] I will pass among your whole flock today. You set aside from there every sheep speckled and with color patches, and every dark-brown sheep among the young rams and any color-patched and speckled one among the she-goats. Hereafter such must be my wages. [33] And my right-doing must answer for me on whatever future day you may come to look over my wages; every one that is not speckled and color-patched among the she-goats and dark brown among the young rams is something stolen if it is with me.”

[34] To this La′ban said: “Why, that is fine! Let it be according to your word.” [35] Then he set aside on that day the he-goats striped and color-patched and all the she-goats speckled and color-patched, every one in which there was any white and every one dark brown among the young rams, but he gave them over into the hands of his sons. [36] After that he set a distance of three days’ journey between himself and Jacob, and Jacob was shepherding the flocks of La′ban that remained over.

[37] Then Jacob took for his use staffs still moist of the storax tree and of the almond tree and of the plane tree and peeled in them white peeled spots by laying bare white places which were upon the staffs. [38] Finally the staffs that he had peeled he placed in front of the flock, in the gutters, in the water drinking troughs, where the flocks would come to drink, that they might get into a heat before them when they came to drink.

[39] Consequently the flocks would get in heat before the staffs, and the flocks would produce striped, speckled and color-patched ones. [40] And Jacob separated the young rams and then turned the faces of the flocks to the striped ones and all the dark-brown ones among the flocks of La′ban. Then he set his own droves by themselves and did not set them by the flocks of La′ban. [41] And it always occurred that whenever the robust flocks would get in heat, Jacob would locate the staffs in the gutters before the eyes of the flocks, that they might get in heat by the staffs. [42] But when the flocks showed feebleness he would not locate them there. So the feeble ones always came to be La′ban’s, but the robust ones Jacob’s.

[43] And the man went on increasing more and more, and great flocks and maidservants and menservants and camels and asses came to be his.

“I am seeing the face of YOUR father, that he is not the same toward me as formerly; but the God of my father has proved to be with me. [6] And YOU yourselves certainly know that with all my power I have served YOUR father. [7] And YOUR father has trifled with me and he has changed my wages ten times, but God has not allowed him to do me harm. [8] If on the one hand he would say, ‘The speckled ones will become your wages,’ then the whole flock produced speckled ones; but if on the other hand he would say, ‘The striped ones will become your wages,’ then the whole flock produced striped ones. [9] So God kept taking the herd of YOUR father away and giving it to me. [10] At last it came about at the time when the flock got in heat that I raised my eyes and saw a sight in a dream and here the he-goats springing upon the flock were striped, speckled and spotty. [11] Then the angel of the true God said to me in the dream, ‘Jacob!’ to which I said, ‘Here I am.’ [12] And he continued, ‘Raise your eyes, please, and see all the he-goats springing upon the flock are striped, speckled and spotty, for I have seen all that La′ban is doing to you. [13] I am the true God of Beth′el, where you anointed a pillar and where you vowed a vow to me. Now get up, go out of this land and return to the land of your birth.’”

[14] At this Rachel and Leʹah answered and said to him: “Is there a share of inheritance for us anymore in the house of our father? [15] Are we not really considered as foreigners to him since he has sold us, so that he keeps eating continually even from the money given for us? [16] For all the riches that God has taken away from our father are ours and our children’s. So now everything God has said to you do.”

[17] Then Jacob got up and lifted his children and his wives onto the camels; [18] and he began driving all his herd and all the goods that he had accumulated, the herd of his acquisition that he had accumulated in Padʹdan-aʹram, in order to go to Isaac his father to the land of Caʹnaan.

[19] Now Laʹban had gone to shear his sheep. Meantime Rachel stole the teraphim that belonged to her father. [20] So Jacob outwitted Laʹban the Syrian, because he had not told him that he was running away. [21] And he proceeded to run away and to get up and cross the River, he and all he had. After that he directed his face to the mountainous region of Gilʹe·ad. [22] Later, on the third day, it was told to Laʹban that Jacob had run away. [23] With that he took his brothers with him and went chasing after him for a distance of seven days’ journey and caught up with him in the mountainous region of Gilʹe·ad. [24] Then God came to Laʹban the Syrian in a dream by night and said to him: “Watch yourself that you do not go speaking either good or bad with Jacob.”

[25] So Laʹban approached Jacob, as Jacob had pitched his tent in the mountain and Laʹban had encamped his brothers in the mountainous region of Gilʹe·ad. [26] Then Laʹban said to Jacob: “What have you done, in that you resorted to outwitting me and driving my daughters off like captives taken by the sword? [27] Why did you have to run away secretly and outwit me and not tell me, that I might send you away with rejoicing and with songs, with tambourine and with harp? [28] And you did not give me a chance to kiss my children and my daughters. Now you have acted foolishly. [29] It is in the power of my hand to do harm to YOU people, but the God of YOUR father talked to me last night, saying, ‘Watch yourself against speaking either good or bad with Jacob.’ [30] While you have actually gone now because you have been yearning intensely for the house of your father, why, though, have you stolen my gods?”

[31] In answer Jacob proceeded to say to La′ban: “It was because I was afraid. For I said to myself, ‘You might tear your daughters away from me.’ [32] Whoever it is with whom you may find your gods, let him not live. Before our brothers, examine for yourself what is with me and take them for yourself.” But Jacob did not know that Rachel had stolen them. [33] So La′ban went on into the tent of Jacob and into the tent of Le′ah and into the tent of the two slave girls, but did not find them. Finally he went out of Le′ah’s tent and went on into Rachel’s tent. [34] Now Rachel had taken the teraphim, and she resorted to putting them in the woman’s saddle basket of the camel, and she kept sitting upon them. So La′ban went feeling through the whole tent, but did not find them. [35] Then she said to her father: “Do not let anger gleam in the eyes of my lord, because I am not able to get up before you, for the customary thing with women is upon me.” So he searched on carefully, but did not find the teraphim.

[36] And Jacob became angry and began to quarrel with La′ban, and in answer Jacob went on to say to La′ban: “What is the revolt on my part, what the sin of mine, as a reason why you have hotly pursued after me? [37] Now that you have felt through all my goods, what of all the goods of your house have you found? Put it here in front of my brothers and your brothers, and let them decide between us two. 38 These twenty years I have been with you. Your female sheep and your she-goats did not suffer abortions, and the rams of your flock I never ate. 39 Any animal torn to pieces I did not bring to you. I myself would stand the loss of it. Whether one was stolen by day or was stolen by night, you would put in a claim for it from my hand. 40 It has been my experience that by day the heat consumed me and the cold by night, and my sleep would flee from my eyes. 41 This makes twenty years for me in your house. I have served you fourteen years for your two daughters and six years for your flock, and you kept changing my wages ten times. 42 If the God of my father, the God of Abraham and the Dread of Isaac, had not proved on my side, you would now have sent me away empty-handed. My wretchedness and the toil of my hands God has seen, and so he reproved you last night.”

43 Then La′ban in answer said to Jacob: “The daughters are my daughters and the children my children and the flock my flock, and everything you are looking at is mine and my daughters’. What can I do against these today or against their children whom they have borne? 44 And now, come, let us conclude a covenant, I and you, and it must serve as a witness between me and you.” 45 Accordingly Jacob took a stone and set it up as a pillar. 46 Then Jacob said to his brothers: “Pick up stones!” And they went taking stones and making a heap. After that they ate there on the heap. 47 And La′ban began calling it Je′gar-sa·ha·du′tha, but Jacob called it Gal′e·ed.

48 And La′ban proceeded to say: “This heap is a witness between me and you today.” That is why he called its name Gal′e·ed, 49 and The Watchtower, because he said: “Let Jehovah keep watch between me and you when we are situated unseen the one from the other. 50 If you go to afflicting my daughters and if you go to taking wives in addition to my daughters, there is no man with us. See! God is a witness between me and you.” [51] And La′ban went on to say to Jacob: “Here is this heap and here is the pillar that I have erected between me and you. [52] This heap is a witness, and the pillar is something that bears witness, that I will not pass this heap against you and that you will not pass this heap and this pillar against me for harm. [53] Let the god of Abraham and the god of Na′hor judge between us, the god of their father.” But Jacob swore by the Dread of his father Isaac.

[54] After that Jacob sacrificed a sacrifice in the mountain and invited his brothers to eat bread. Accordingly they ate bread and passed the night in the mountain. [55] However, La′ban got up early in the morning and kissed his children and his daughters and blessed them. Then La′ban got on his way that he might return to his own place.

32 And as for Jacob, he got on his way, and the angels of God now met up with him. [2] Immediately Jacob said, when he saw them: “The camp of God this is! ” Hence he called the name of that place Ma·ha·naʹim.

[3] Then Jacob sent messengers ahead of him to Eʹsau his brother to the land of Seʹir, the field of Eʹdom, [4] and he commanded them, saying: “This is what YOU will say to my lord, to Eʹsau, ‘This is what your servant Jacob has said: “With Laʹban I have resided as an alien and I have stayed for a long time till now. [5] And I have come to have bulls and asses, sheep, and menservants and maidservants, and I would like to send to notify my lord, that I may find favor in your eyes.”’”

[6] In time the messengers returned to Jacob, saying: “We got to your brother Eʹsau, and he is also on his way to meet you, and four hundred men with him.” [7] And Jacob became very much afraid and grew anxious. So he divided the people who were with him, and the flocks and the cattle and the camels into two camps, [8] and he said: “If Eʹsau should come to the one camp and assault it, then there is certain to be a camp remaining to make an escape.”

[9] After that Jacob said: “O God of my father Abraham and God of my father Isaac, O Jehovah, you who are saying to me, ‘Return to your land and to your relatives and I will deal well with you,’ [10] I am unworthy of all the loving-kindnesses and of all the faithfulness that you have exercised toward your servant, for with but my staff I crossed this Jordan and now I have become two camps. [11] Deliver me, I pray you, from my brother’s hand, from Eʹsau’s hand, because I am afraid of him that he may come and certainly assault me, mother together with children. [12] And you, you have said, ‘Unquestionably I shall deal well with you and I will constitute your seed like the grains of sand of the sea, which cannot be numbered for multitude.’”

[13] And he kept lodging there on that night. And from what came to his hand he proceeded to take a gift for E′sau his brother: [14] two hundred she-goats and twenty he-goats, two hundred female sheep and twenty rams, [15] thirty camels giving suck and their young ones, forty cows and ten bulls, twenty she-asses and ten full-grown asses.

[16] Then he handed over to his servants one drove after another by itself and repeatedly said to his servants: “Cross over ahead of me, and YOU are to set an interval between drove and drove.” [17] Further he commanded the first one, saying: “In case that E′sau my brother should meet you and ask you, saying, ‘To whom do you belong, and where are you going and to whom do these ahead of you belong?’ [18] then you must say, ‘To your servant, to Jacob. A gift it is, sent to my lord, to E′sau, and look! he himself is also behind us.’” [19] And he went on to command also the second, also the third, also all those following the droves, saying: “According to this word YOU are to speak to E′sau on YOUR encountering him. [20] And YOU must say also, ‘Here is your servant Jacob behind us.’” For he said to himself: “I may appease him by the gift going ahead of me, and afterward I shall see his face. Perhaps he will give a kindly reception.” [21] So the gift went crossing over ahead of him, but he himself lodged that night in the camp.

[22] Later during that night he rose and took his two wives and his two maidservants and his eleven young sons and crossed over the ford of Jab′bok. [23] So he took them and brought them over the torrent valley, and he brought over what he had.

[24] Finally Jacob was left by himself. Then a man began to grapple with him until the dawn ascended. [25] When he got to see that he had not prevailed over him, then he touched the socket of his thigh joint; and the socket of Jacob’s thigh joint got out of place during his grappling with him. [26] After that he said: “Let me go, for the dawn has ascended.” To this he said: “I am not going to let you go until you first bless me.” [27] So he said to him: “What is your name?” to which he said: “Jacob.” [28] Then he said: “Your name will no longer be called Jacob but Israel, for you have contended with God and with men so that you at last prevailed.” [29] In turn Jacob inquired and said: “Tell me, please, your name.” However, he said: “Why is it that you inquire for my name?” With that he blessed him there. [30] Hence Jacob called the name of the place Pe·niʹel, because, to quote him, “I have seen God face to face and yet my soul was delivered.”

[31] And the sun began to flash upon him as soon as he passed by Pe·nuʹel, but he was limping upon his thigh. [32] That is why the sons of Israel are not accustomed to eat the sinew of the thigh nerve, which is on the socket of the thigh joint, down to this day, because he touched the socket of Jacob’s thigh joint by the sinew of the thigh nerve.

[4] And E′sau went running to meet him, and he began to embrace him and fall upon his neck and kiss him, and they burst into tears. [5] Then he raised his eyes and saw the women and the children and said: “Who are these with you?” to which he said: “The children with whom God has favored your servant.” [6] At that the maidservants came forward, they and their children, and bowed down; [7] and Le′ah too came forward, and her children, and they bowed down, and afterward Joseph came forward, and Rachel, and they bowed down.

[8] He now said: “What do you mean by all this camp of travelers that I have met?” To this he said: “In order to find favor in the eyes of my lord.” [9] Then E′sau said: “I have a great many, my brother. Let continue yours what is yours.” [10] However, Jacob said: “No, please. If, now, I have found favor in your eyes, then you must take my gift at my hand, because in harmony with its purpose I have seen your face as though seeing God’s face in that you received me with pleasure. [11] Take, please, the gift conveying my blessing which was brought to you, because God has favored me and because I have everything.” And he continued to urge him, so that he took it.

[12] Later on he said: “Let us pull out and go, and let me go in advance of you.” [13] But he said to him: “My lord is aware that the children are delicate and sheep and cattle that are giving suck are in my charge, and should they drive them too quickly for one day, then the whole flock will certainly die. [14] Let my lord, please, pass on ahead of his servant, but may I myself continue the journey at my leisure according to the pace of the livestock that is before me and according to the pace of the children until I shall come to my lord at Se′ir.” [15] Then E′sau said: “Let me, please, put at your disposal some of the people who are with me.” To this he said: “Why this? Let me find favor in the eyes of my lord.” [16] So on that day E′sau turned back on his way to Se′ir.

[17] And Jacob pulled out for Suc′coth, and he proceeded to build himself a house and for his herd he made booths. That was why he called the name of the place Suc′coth.

[18] In time Jacob came safe and sound to the city of She′chem, which is in the land of Ca′naan, while he was coming from Pad′dan-a′ram; and he pitched camp in front of the city. [19] Then he acquired a tract of the field where he pitched his tent at the hand of the sons of Ha′mor the father of She′chem, for a hundred pieces of money. [20] After that he set up there an altar and called it God the God of Israel.

[5] And Jacob heard that he had defiled Di′nah his daughter. And his sons happened to be with his herd in the field; and Jacob kept silent until they should come in. [6] Later Ha′mor, She′chem’s father, went out to Jacob to speak with him. [7] And the sons of Jacob came in from the field as soon as they heard of it; and the men became hurt in their feelings and they grew very angry, because he had committed a disgraceful folly against Israel in lying down with Jacob’s daughter, whereas nothing like that ought to be done.

[8] And Ha′mor proceeded to speak with them, saying: “As for She′chem my son, his soul is attached to YOUR daughter. Give her, please, to him as a wife, [9] and form marriage alliances with us. YOUR daughters YOU are to give to us, and our daughters YOU are to take for yourselves. [10] And with us YOU may dwell, and the land will become available for YOU. Dwell and carry on business in it and get settled in it.” [11] Then She′chem said to her father and to her brothers: “Let me find favor in YOUR eyes, and whatever YOU will say to me I shall give it. [12] Raise very high the marriage money and gift imposed upon me, and I stand willing to give according to what YOU may say to me; only give me the young woman as a wife.”

[13] And Jacob’s sons began to answer She′chem and Ha′mor his father with deceit and to speak so because he had defiled Di′nah their sister. [14] And they went on to say to them: “We cannot possibly do such a thing, to give our sister to a man who has a foreskin, because that is a reproach to us. [15] Only on this condition can we give consent to YOU, that YOU become like us, by every male of YOURS getting circumcised. [16] Then we shall certainly give our daughters to YOU, and YOUR daughters we shall take for ourselves, and we shall certainly dwell with YOU and become one people. [17] But if YOU do not listen to us to get circumcised, then we will take our daughter and go.”

[18] And their words seemed good in the eyes of Ha′mor and in the eyes of She′chem, Ha′mor’s son, [19] and the young man did not delay to perform the condition, because he did find delight in Jacob’s daughter and he was the most honorable of the whole house of his father.

[20] So Ha′mor and She′chem his son went to the gate of their city and began to speak to the men of their city, saying: [21] “These men are peace-loving toward us. Hence let them dwell in the land and carry on business in it, as the land is quite wide before them. Their daughters we can take as wives for ourselves and our own daughters we can give to them. [22] Only on this condition will the men give us their consent to dwell with us so as to become one people, that every male of ours gets circumcised just the way they are circumcised. [23] Then their possessions and their wealth and all their livestock, will they not be ours? Only let us give them our consent that they may dwell with us.” [24] Then all those going out by the gate of his city listened to Ha′mor and to She′chem his son, and all the males got circumcised, all those going out by the gate of his city.

[25] However, it came about that on the third day, when they got to be aching, the two sons of Jacob, Sim′e·on and Le′vi, brothers of Di′nah, proceeded to take each one his sword and to go unsuspectedly to the city and to kill every male. [26] And Ha′mor and She′chem his son they killed with the edge of the sword. Then they took Di′nah from She′chem's house and went on out. [27] The other sons of Jacob attacked the fatally wounded men and went plundering the city, because they had defiled their sister. [28] Their flocks and their herds and their asses and what was in the city and what was in the field they took. [29] And all their means of maintenance and all their little children and their wives they carried off captive, so that they plundered all that was in the houses.

[30] At this Jacob said to Sim′e·on and to Le′vi: "YOU have brought ostracism upon me in making me a stench to the inhabitants of the land, with the Ca′naan·ites and the Per′iz·zites; whereas I am few in number, and they will certainly gather together against me and assault me and I must be annihilated, I and my house." [31] In turn they said: "Ought anyone to treat our sister like a prostitute?"

35 After that God said to Jacob: “Rise, go up to Beth′el and dwell there, and make an altar there to the true God who appeared to you when you were running away from E′sau your brother.”

[2] Then Jacob said to his household and to all who were with him: “Put away the foreign gods that are in the midst of YOU and cleanse yourselves and change YOUR mantles, [3] and let us rise and go up to Beth′el. And there I shall make an altar to the true God who answered me in the day of my distress in that he proved to be with me in the way that I have gone.” [4] So they gave Jacob all the foreign gods that were in their hands and the earrings that were in their ears, and Jacob hid them under the big tree that was close by She′chem.

[5] After that they pulled away, and the terror of God came to be upon the cities that were round about them, so that they did not chase after the sons of Jacob. [6] Eventually Jacob came to Luz, which is in the land of Ca′naan, that is to say, Beth′el, he and all the people who were with him. [7] Then he built an altar there and began to call the place El-beth′el, because there the true God had revealed himself to him at the time of his running away from his brother. [8] Later Deb′o·rah the nursing woman of Re·bek′ah died and was buried at the foot of Beth′el under a massive tree. Hence he called its name Al′lon-bac′uth.

[9] God now appeared to Jacob once again during his coming from Pad′dan-a′ram and blessed him. [10] And God went on to say to him: “Your name is Jacob. No longer is your name to be called Jacob, but Israel will your name become.” And he began to call his name Israel. [11] And God said further to him:

“I am God Almighty. Be fruitful and become many. Nations and a congregation of nations will proceed out of you, and kings will come out of your loins. [12] As for the land that I have given to Abraham and to Isaac, to you I shall give it, and to your seed after you I shall give the land.” [13] After that God went up from above him at the place where he had spoken with him.

[14] Consequently Jacob stationed a pillar in the place where he had spoken with him, a pillar of stone, and he poured a drink offering upon it and poured oil upon it. [15] And Jacob continued to call the name of the place where God had spoken with him Beth′el.

[16] Then they pulled away from Beth′el. And while there was yet a good stretch of land before coming to Eph′rath, Rachel proceeded to give birth, and it was going hard with her in making the delivery. [17] But so it was that while she had difficulty in making the delivery the midwife said to her: “Do not be afraid, for you will have this son also.” [18] And the result was that as her soul was going out (because she died) she called his name Ben-o′ni; but his father called him Benjamin. [19] Thus Rachel died and was buried on the way to Eph′rath, that is to say, Beth′le·hem. [20] Hence Jacob stationed a pillar over her grave. This is the pillar of Rachel’s grave down to this day.

[21] After that Israel pulled away and pitched his tent a distance beyond the tower of E′der. [22] And it came about while Israel was tabernacling in that land that once Reu′ben went and lay down with Bil′hah his father’s concubine, and Israel got to hear of it.

So there came to be twelve sons of Jacob. [23] The sons by Le′ah were Jacob’s firstborn Reu′ben and Sim′e·on and Le′vi and Judah and Is′sa·char and Zeb′u·lun. [24] The sons by Rachel were Joseph and Benjamin. [25] And the sons by Bil′hah, Rachel’s maidservant, were Dan and Naph′ta·li. [26] And the sons by Zil′pah, Le′ah’s maidservant, were Gad and Ash′er. These are Jacob’s sons who were born to him in Pad′dan-a′ram.

[27] At length Jacob came to Isaac his father to Mam′re, to Kir′i·ath-ar′ba, that is to say, He′bron, where Abraham and also Isaac had resided as aliens. [28] And the days of Isaac came to be a hundred and eighty years. [29] After that Isaac expired and died and was gathered to his people, old and satisfied with days, and E′sau and Jacob his sons buried him.

36 And this is the history of E′sau, that is to say, E′dom.

[2] E′sau took his wives from the daughters of Ca′naan: A′dah the daughter of E′lon the Hit′tite and O·hol·i·ba′mah the daughter of A′nah, the granddaughter of Zib′e·on the Hi′vite, [3] and Bas′e·math, Ish′ma·el’s daughter, the sister of Ne·ba′ioth.

[4] And A′dah proceeded to bear El′i·phaz to E′sau, and Bas′e·math bore Reu′el,

[5] and O·hol·i·ba′mah bore Je′ush and Ja′lam and Ko′rah.

These are the sons of E′sau who were born to him in the land of Ca′naan. [6] After that E′sau took his wives and his sons and his daughters and all the souls of his house and his herd and all his other beasts and all his wealth, which he had accumulated in the land of Ca′naan, and went to a land away from Jacob his brother, [7] because their goods had become too great for them to dwell together and the land of their alien residences was not able to sustain them as a result of their herds. [8] So E′sau took up dwelling in the mountainous region of Se′ir. E′sau is E′dom.

[9] And this is the history of E′sau the father of E′dom in the mountainous region of Se′ir.

[10] These are the names of the sons of E′sau: El′i·phaz the son of A′dah, E′sau’s wife; Reu′el the son of Bas′e·math, E′sau’s wife.

[11] And the sons of El′i·phaz came to be Te′man, O′mar, Ze′pho and Ga′tam and Ke′naz. [12] And Tim′na became the concubine of El′i·phaz, E′sau’s son. In time she bore to El′i·phaz Am′a·lek. These are the sons of A′dah, E′sau’s wife.

[13] These are the sons of Reu′el: Na′hath and Ze′rah, Sham′mah and Miz′zah. These came to be the sons of Bas′e·math, E′sau’s wife.

[14] And these came to be the sons of O·hol·i·ba′mah the daughter of A′nah, the granddaughter of Zib′e·on, E′sau’s wife, in that she bore to E′sau Je′ush and Ja′lam and Ko′rah.

[15] These are the sheiks of the sons of E′sau: The sons of El′i·phaz, E′sau’s firstborn: Sheik Te′man, sheik O′mar, sheik Ze′pho, sheik Ke′naz, [16] sheik Ko′rah, sheik Ga′tam, sheik Am′a·lek. These are the sheiks of El′i·phaz in the land of E′dom. These are the sons by A′dah.

[17] These are the sons of Reu′el, E′sau’s son: Sheik Na′hath, sheik Ze′rah, sheik Sham′mah, sheik Miz′zah. These are the sheiks of Reu′el in the land of E′dom. These are the sons by Bas′e·math, E′sau’s wife.

[18] Finally these are the sons of O·hol·i·ba′mah, E′sau’s wife: Sheik Je′ush, sheik Ja′lam, sheik Ko′rah. These are the sheiks of O·hol·i·ba′mah the daughter of A′nah, E′sau’s wife.

[19] These are the sons of E′sau, and these are their sheiks. He is E′dom.

[20] These are the sons of Se′ir the Hor′ite, the inhabitants of the land: Lo′tan and Sho′bal and Zib′e·on and A′nah [21] and Di′shon and E′zer and Di′shan. These are the sheiks of the Hor′ite, the sons of Se′ir, in the land of E′dom.

[22] And the sons of Lo′tan came to be Ho′ri and He′mam; and Lo′tan’s sister was Tim′na.

[23] And these are the sons of Sho′bal: Al′van and Man′a·hath and E′bal, She′pho and O′nam.

[24] And these are the sons of Zib′e·on: A′iah and A′nah. This is the A′nah who found the hot springs in the wilderness while he was tending the asses for Zib′e·on his father.

[25] And these are the children of A′nah: Di′shon and O·hol·i·ba′mah the daughter of A′nah.

[26] And these are the sons of Di′shon: Hem′dan and Esh′ban and Ith′ran and Che′ran.

[27] These are the sons of E′zer: Bil′han and Za′a·van and A′kan.

[28] These are the sons of Di′shan: Uz and A′ran.

[29] These are the sheiks of the Hor′ite: Sheik Lo′tan, sheik Sho′bal, sheik Zib′e·on, sheik A′nah, [30] sheik Di′shon, sheik E′zer, sheik Di′shan. These are the sheiks of the Hor′ite according to their sheiks in the land of Se′ir.

[31] Now these are the kings who reigned in the land of E′dom before any king reigned over the sons of Israel. [32] And Be′la son of Be′or proceeded to reign in E′dom, and the name of his city was Din′ha·bah. [33] When Be′la died, Jo′bab son of Ze′rah from Boz′rah began to reign instead of him. [34] When Jo′bab died, Hu′sham from the land of the Te′man·ites began to reign instead of him. [35] When Hu′sham died, Ha′dad son of Be′dad, who defeated the Mid′i·an·ites in the field of Mo′ab, began to reign instead of him, and the name of his city was A′vith. [36] When Ha′dad died, Sam′lah from Mas·re′kah began to reign instead of him. [37] When Sam′lah died, Sha′ul from Re·ho′both by the River began to reign instead of him. [38] When Sha′ul died, Ba′al-ha′nan son of Ach′bor began to reign instead of him. [39] When Ba′al-ha′nan son of Ach′bor died, Ha′dar began to reign instead of him; and the name of his city was Pa′u, and the name of his wife was Me·het′a·bel the daughter of Ma′tred the daughter of Me′za·hab.

40 So these are the names of the sheiks of E′sau according to their families, according to their places, by their names: Sheik Tim′na, sheik Al′vah, sheik Je′theth, 41 sheik O·hol·i·ba′mah, sheik E′lah, sheik Pi′non, 42 sheik Ke′naz, sheik Te′man, sheik Mib′zar, 43 sheik Mag′di·el, sheik I′ram. These are the sheiks of E′dom according to their dwellings in the land of their possession. This is E′sau the father of E′dom.

37 And Jacob continued to dwell in the land of the alien residences of his father, in the land of Ca′naan.

[2] This is the history of Jacob.

Joseph, when seventeen years old, happened to be tending sheep with his brothers among the flock, and, being but a boy, he was with the sons of Bil′hah and the sons of Zil′pah, the wives of his father. So Joseph brought a bad report about them to their father. [3] And Israel loved Joseph more than all his other sons, because he was the son of his old age; and he had a long, striped shirtlike garment made for him. [4] When his brothers came to see that their father loved him more than all his brothers, they began to hate him, and they were not able to speak peacefully to him.

[5] Later on Joseph had a dream and told it to his brothers, and they found further reason to hate him. [6] And he went on to say to them: “Listen, please, to this dream that I have dreamed. [7] Well, here we were binding sheaves in the middle of the field when here my sheaf got up and also stood erect and here YOUR sheaves proceeded to encircle and bow down to my sheaf.” [8] And his brothers began to say to him: “Are you going to be king over us for certain? or, Are you going to dominate over us for certain?” So they found fresh reason to hate him over his dreams and over his words.

[9] After that he had still another dream, and he related it to his brothers and said: “Here I have had a dream once more, and here the sun and the moon and eleven stars were bowing down to me.” [10] Then he related it to his father as well as his brothers, and his father began to rebuke him and say to him: “What does this dream that you have dreamed mean? Am I and also your mother and your brothers for certain going to come and bow down to the earth to you?” [11] And his brothers grew jealous of him, but his father observed the saying.

[12] His brothers now went to feed the flock of their father close by She′chem. [13] After a while Israel said to Joseph: “Your brothers are tending flocks close by She′chem, are they not? Come, and let me send you to them.” At this he said to him: “Here I am!” [14] So he said to him: “Go, please. See whether your brothers are safe and sound and whether the flock is safe and sound, and bring me back word.” With that he sent him away from the low plain of He′bron, and he went on toward She′chem. [15] Later a man found him and here he was wandering in a field. Then the man inquired of him, saying: “What are you looking for?” [16] To this he said: “It is my brothers I am looking for. Tell me, please, Where are they tending flocks?” [17] And the man continued: “They have pulled away from here, because I heard them saying, ‘Let us go to Do′than.’” So Joseph kept on after his brothers and found them at Do′than.

[18] Well, they caught sight of him from a distance, and before he could get close by them they began plotting cunningly against him to put him to death. [19] So they said to one another: “Look! Here comes that dreamer. [20] And now come and let us kill him and pitch him into one of the waterpits; and we must say a vicious wild beast devoured him. Then let us see what will become of his dreams.” [21] When Reu′ben heard this he tried to deliver him out of their hand. So he said: “Let us not strike his soul fatally.” [22] And Reu′ben went on to say to them: “Do not spill blood. Pitch him into this waterpit which is in the wilderness and do not lay a violent hand upon him.” His purpose was to deliver him out of their hand in order to return him to his father.

[23] So it came about that as soon as Joseph came to his brothers, they went stripping Joseph of his long garment, even the long striped garment that was upon him; [24] after which they took him and pitched him into the waterpit. At the time the pit was empty; there was no water in it.

[25] Then they sat down to eat bread. When they raised their eyes and took a look, why, here was a caravan of Ish′ma·el·ites that was coming from Gil′e·ad, and their camels were carrying labdanum and balsam and resinous bark, on their way to take it down to Egypt. [26] At this Judah said to his brothers: “What profit would there be in case we killed our brother and did cover over his blood? [27] Come and let us sell him to the Ish′ma·el·ites, and do not let our hand be upon him. After all, he is our brother, our flesh.” So they listened to their brother. [28] Now men, Mid′i·an·ite merchants, went passing by. Hence they drew and lifted up Joseph out of the waterpit and then sold Joseph to the Ish′ma·el·ites for twenty silver pieces. Eventually these brought Joseph into Egypt.

[29] Later Reu′ben returned to the waterpit and here Joseph was not in the waterpit. Consequently he ripped his garments apart. [30] When he returned to his other brothers he exclaimed: “The child is gone! And I—where am I really to go?”

[31] However, they took Joseph’s long garment and slaughtered a male goat and repeatedly dipped the long garment in the blood. [32] After that they sent the long striped garment and had it brought to their father and said: “This is what we found. Examine, please, whether it is your son’s long garment or not.” [33] And he went examining it and exclaimed: “It is my son’s long garment! A vicious wild beast must have devoured him! Joseph is surely torn to pieces!” [34]

With that Jacob ripped his mantles apart and put sackcloth upon his hips and carried on mourning over his son for many days. [35] And all his sons and all his daughters kept rising up to comfort him, but he kept refusing to take comfort and saying: “For I shall go down mourning to my son into She′ol! ” And his father continued weeping for him.

38 Now in the meantime it came about that when Judah went down from his brothers he pitched his tent near a man, an A·dul′lam·ite, and his name was Hi′rah. [2] And there Judah got to see a daughter of a certain Ca′naan·ite, and his name was Shu′a. So he took her and had relations with her. [3] And she became pregnant. Later she bore a son and he called his name Er. [4] Again she became pregnant. In time she bore a son and called his name O′nan. [5] Yet another time she went on to bear a son and then called his name She′lah. Now he happened to be in Ach′zib at the time she bore him.

[6] In time Judah took a wife for Er his firstborn, and her name was Ta′mar. [7] But Er, Judah’s firstborn, proved to be bad in the eyes of Jehovah; hence Jehovah put him to death. [8] In view of that Judah said to O′nan: “Have relations with your brother’s wife and perform brother-in-law marriage with her and raise up offspring for your brother.” [9] But O′nan knew that the offspring would not become his; and it occurred that when he did have relations with his brother’s wife he wasted his semen on the earth so as not to give offspring to his brother. [10] Now what he did was bad in the eyes of Jehovah; hence he put him also to death. [11] So Judah said to Ta′mar his daughter-in-law: “Dwell as a widow in the house of your father until She′lah my son grows up.” For he said to himself: “He too may die like his brothers.” Accordingly Ta′mar went and continued to dwell at her own father’s house.

[12] Thus the days became many and the daughter of Shu′a, Judah’s wife, died; and Judah kept the period of mourning. After that he went up to the shearers of his sheep, he and Hi′rah his companion the A·dul′lam·ite, to Tim′nah. [13] Then it was told to Ta′mar: “Here your father-in-law is going up to Tim′nah to shear his sheep.” 14 With that she removed the garments of her widowhood from her and covered herself with a shawl and veiled herself and sat down at the entrance of E·na′im, which is along the road to Tim′nah. For she saw that She′lah had grown up and yet she had not been given as a wife to him.

15 When Judah caught sight of her, he at once took her for a harlot, because she had covered her face. 16 So he turned aside to her by the road and said: “Allow me, please, to have relations with you.” For he did not know that she was his daughter-in-law. However, she said: “What will you give me that you may have relations with me?” 17 To this he said: “I myself shall send a kid of the goats from the herd.” But she said: “Will you give a security until you send it?” 18 And he continued: “What is the security that I shall give you?” to which she said: “Your seal ring and your cord and your rod that is in your hand.” Then he gave them to her and had relations with her, so that she became pregnant by him. 19 After that she got up and went and removed her shawl off her and clothed herself with the garments of her widowhood.

20 And Judah proceeded to send the kid of the goats by the hand of his companion the A·dul′lam·ite in order to get back the security from the hand of the woman, but he never found her. 21 And he went inquiring of the men of her place, saying: “Where is that temple prostitute in E·na′im along the road?” But they kept saying: “No temple prostitute has ever been in this place.” 22 Finally he returned to Judah and said: “I never found her and, besides, the men of the place said, ‘No temple prostitute has ever been in this place.’” 23 So Judah said: “Let her take them for herself, in order that we may not fall into contempt. At any rate, I have sent this kid, but you—you never found her.”

24 However, about three months later it happened that it was told to Judah: “Taʹmar your daughter-in-law has played the harlot, and here she is also pregnant by her harlotry.” At that Judah said: “BRING her out and let her be burned.” 25 As she was being brought out she herself sent to her father-in-law, saying: “By the man to whom these belong I am pregnant.” And she added: “Examine, please, to whom these belong, the seal ring and the cord and the rod.” 26 Then Judah examined them and said: “She is more righteous than I am, for the reason that I did not give her to Sheʹlah my son.” And he had no further intercourse with her after that.

27 Now it developed that in the time of her giving birth, why, here there were twins in her belly. 28 Further, it turned out that when she was giving birth one extended his hand, and the midwife at once took and tied a scarlet piece about his hand, saying: “This one came out first.” 29 Finally it developed that as soon as he drew back his hand, why, here his brother came out, so that she exclaimed: “What do you mean by this, that you have produced a perineal rupture for yourself?” Hence his name was called Peʹrez. 30 And afterward his brother upon whose hand the scarlet piece was came out and his name came to be called Zeʹrah.

39 As for Joseph, he was brought down to Egypt, and Pot′i·phar, a court official of Phar′aoh, the chief of the bodyguard, an Egyptian, got to buy him from the hand of the Ish′ma·el·ites who had brought him down there. [2] But Jehovah proved to be with Joseph, so that he turned out a successful man and came to be over the house of his master, the Egyptian. [3] And his master got to see that Jehovah was with him and that everything he was doing Jehovah was making turn out successful in his hand.

[4] And Joseph kept finding favor in his eyes and waited upon him continually, so that he appointed him over his house, and all that was his he gave into his hand. [5] And it followed that from the time he appointed him over his house and in charge of all that was his Jehovah kept blessing the house of the Egyptian due to Joseph, and Jehovah's blessing came to be upon all that he had in the house and in the field. [6] Finally he left everything that was his in Joseph's hand; and he did not know what was with him at all except the bread he was eating. Moreover, Joseph grew to be beautiful in form and beautiful in appearance.

[7] Now after these things it came about that the wife of his master began to raise her eyes toward Joseph and say: "Lie down with me." [8] But he would refuse and would say to his master's wife: "Here my master does not know what is with me in the house, and everything he has he has given into my hand. [9] There is no one greater in this house than I am, and he has not withheld from me anything at all except you, because you are his wife. So how could I commit this great badness and actually sin against God?"

[10] So it turned out that as she spoke to Joseph day after day he never listened to her to lie alongside her, to continue with her. [11] But it happened that on this day as other days he went into the house to do his business, and there was none of the men of the house there in the house. [12] Then she grabbed hold of him by his garment, saying: “Lie down with me!” But he left his garment in her hand and took to flight and went on outside. [13] So it occurred that as soon as she saw that he had left his garment in her hand that he might flee outside, [14] she began to cry out to the men of her house and to say to them: “Look! He brought to us a man, a Hebrew, to make us a laughingstock. He came to me to lie down with me, but I began to cry out at the top of my voice. [15] And it followed that as soon as he heard that I raised my voice and began crying out, he then left his garment beside me and took to flight and went on outside.” [16] After that she kept his garment laid up beside her until his master came to his house.

[17] Then she spoke to him according to these words, saying: “The Hebrew servant whom you brought to us came to me to make me a laughingstock. [18] But it followed that as soon as I raised my voice and began to cry out, he then left his garment beside me and went fleeing outside.” [19] The result was that as soon as his master heard the words of his wife which she spoke to him, saying: “Like this and this your servant did to me,” his anger blazed. [20] So Joseph’s master took him and gave him over to the prison house, the place where the prisoners of the king were kept under arrest, and he continued there in the prison house.

[21] However, Jehovah continued with Joseph and kept extending loving-kindness to him and granting him to find favor in the eyes of the chief officer of the prison house. [22] So the chief officer of the prison house gave over into Joseph’s hand all the prisoners who were in the prison house; and everything that they were doing there he proved to be the one having it done. [23] The chief officer of the prison house was looking after absolutely nothing that was in his hand, because Jehovah was with Joseph and what he was doing Jehovah was making it turn out successful.

[5] And both of them proceeded to dream a dream, each one his own dream in the one night, each one his dream with its own interpretation, the cupbearer and the baker who belonged to the king of Egypt who were prisoners in the prison house. [6] When Joseph came in to them in the morning and saw them, why, here they were looking dejected. [7] And he began to inquire of the officers of Pharʹaoh who were with him in the jail of his master’s house, saying: “For what reason are YOUR faces gloomy today?” [8] At this they said to him: “We have dreamed a dream, and there is no interpreter with us.” So Joseph said to them: “Do not interpretations belong to God? Relate it to me, please.”

[9] And the chief of the cupbearers went on to relate his dream to Joseph and to say to him: “In my dream, why, here there was a vine before me. [10] And on the vine there were three twigs, and it was apparently sprouting shoots. Its blossoms pushed forth. Its clusters ripened their grapes. [11] And Pharʹaoh’s cup was in my hand, and I proceeded to take the grapes and squeeze them out into Pharʹaoh’s cup. After that I gave the cup into Pharʹaoh’s hand.” [12] Then Joseph said to him: “This is its interpretation: The three twigs are three days. [13] In three days from now Pharʹaoh will lift up your head and he will certainly return you to your office; and you will certainly give Pharʹaoh’s cup into his hand, according to the former custom when you acted as his cupbearer. [14] Nevertheless, you must keep me in your remembrance as soon as it goes well with you, and you must, please, perform loving-kindness with me and mention me to Pharʹaoh, and you must get me out of this house. [15] For I was in fact kidnapped from the land of the Hebrews; and here also I have done nothing at all for which they should put me in the prison hole.”

[16] When the chief of the bakers saw that he had interpreted something good, he, in turn, said to Joseph: “I too was in my dream, and here there were three baskets of white bread upon my head, [17] and in the topmost basket there were all sorts of eatables for Pharʹaoh, the product of a baker, and there were fowls eating them out of the basket on top of my head.” [18] Then Joseph answered and said: “This is its interpretation: The three baskets are three days. [19] In three days from now Pharʹaoh will lift up your head from off you and will certainly hang you upon a stake; and the fowls will certainly eat your flesh from off you.”

[20] Now on the third day it turned out to be Pharʹaoh’s birthday, and he proceeded to make a feast for all his servants and to lift up the head of the chief of the cupbearers and the head of the chief of the bakers in the midst of his servants. [21] Accordingly he returned the chief of the cupbearers to his post of cupbearer, and he continued to give the cup into Pharʹaoh’s hand. [22] But the chief of the bakers he hung up, just as Joseph had given them the interpretation. [23] However, the chief of the cupbearers did not remember Joseph and went on forgetting him.

41 And it came about at the end of two full years that Pharʹaoh was dreaming and here he was standing by the river Nile. [2] And here ascending out of the river Nile were seven cows beautiful in appearance and fat-fleshed, and they went feeding among the Nile grass. [3] And here there were seven other cows ascending after them out of the river Nile, ugly in appearance and thin-fleshed, and they took their stand alongside the cows by the bank of the river Nile. [4] Then the cows that were ugly in appearance and thin-fleshed began to eat up the seven cows that were beautiful in appearance and fat. At this Pharʹaoh woke up.

[5] However, he went back to sleep and dreamed a second time. And here there were seven ears of grain coming up on one stalk, fat and good. [6] And here there were seven ears of grain, thin and scorched by the east wind, growing up after them. [7] And the thin ears of grain began to swallow up the seven fat and full ears of grain. At this Pharʹaoh woke up and here it was a dream.

[8] And it developed in the morning that his spirit became agitated. So he sent and called all the magic-practicing priests of Egypt and all her wise men, and Pharʹaoh went on to relate his dreams to them. But there was no interpreter of them for Pharʹaoh.

[9] Then the chief of the cupbearers spoke with Pharʹaoh, saying: “My sins I am mentioning today. [10] Pharʹaoh was indignant at his servants. So he committed me to the jail of the house of the chief of the bodyguard, both me and the chief of the bakers. [11] After that we both dreamed a dream in the one night, both I and he. We dreamed each one his dream with its own interpretation. [12] And there was with us there a young man, a Hebrew, a servant of the chief of the bodyguard. When we related them to him, he proceeded to interpret our dreams to us. He interpreted to each according to his dream. [13] And it turned out that just as he had interpreted to us so it happened. Me he returned to my office, but him he hanged.”

[14] And Phar′aoh proceeded to send and to call Joseph, that they might bring him quickly from the prison hole. Hence he shaved and changed his mantles and went in to Phar′aoh. [15] Then Phar′aoh said to Joseph: “I have dreamed a dream, but there is no interpreter of it. Now I myself have heard it said about you that you can hear a dream and interpret it.” [16] At this Joseph answered Phar′aoh, saying: “I need not be considered! God will announce welfare to Phar′aoh.”

[17] And Phar′aoh went on to speak to Joseph: “In my dream here I was standing on the bank of the river Nile. [18] And here ascending out of the river Nile were seven cows fat-fleshed and beautiful in form, and they began to feed among the Nile grass. [19] And here there were seven other cows ascending after them, poor and very bad in form and thin-fleshed. For badness I have not seen the like of them in all the land of Egypt. [20] And the skinny and bad cows began to eat up the first seven fat cows. [21] So these came into their bellies, and yet it could not be known that they had come into their bellies, as their appearance was bad just as at the start. At that I woke up.

[22] “After that I saw in my dream and here there were seven ears of grain coming up on one stalk, full and good. [23] And here there were seven ears of grain shriveled, thin, scorched by the east wind, growing up after them. [24] And the thin ears of grain began to swallow up the seven good ears of grain. So I stated it to the magic-practicing priests, but there was none telling me.”

[25] Then Joseph said to Pharʹaoh: “The dream of Pharʹaoh is but one. What the true God is doing he has told to Pharʹaoh. [26] The seven good cows are seven years. Likewise the seven good ears of grain are seven years. The dream is but one. [27] And the seven skinny and bad cows that came up after them are seven years; and the seven empty ears of grain, scorched by the east wind, will prove to be seven years of famine. [28] This is the thing that I have spoken to Pharʹaoh: What the true God is doing he has caused Pharʹaoh to see.

[29] “Here there are seven years coming with great plenty in all the land of Egypt. [30] But seven years of famine will certainly arise after them, and all the plenty in the land of Egypt will certainly be forgotten and the famine will simply consume the land. [31] And the plenty once in the land will not be known as a result of that famine afterward, because it will certainly be very severe. [32] And the fact that the dream was repeated to Pharʹaoh twice means that the thing is firmly established on the part of the true God, and the true God is speeding to do it.

[33] “So now let Pharʹaoh look for a man discreet and wise and set him over the land of Egypt. [34] Let Pharʹaoh act and appoint overseers over the land, and he must take up one fifth of the land of Egypt during the seven years of plenty. [35] And let them collect all the foodstuffs of these coming good years, and let them pile up grain under Pharʹaoh’s hand as foodstuffs in the cities, and they must safeguard it. [36] And the foodstuffs must serve as a supply for the land for the seven famine years, which will develop in the land of Egypt, in order that the land may not be cut off by the famine.”

of God is?” [39] After that Phar′aoh said to Joseph: “Since God has caused you to know all this, there is no one as discreet and wise as you are. [40] You will personally be over my house, and all my people will obey you implicitly. Only as to the throne shall I be greater than you.” [41] And Phar′aoh added to Joseph: “See, I do place you over all the land of Egypt.” [42] With that Phar′aoh removed his signet ring from his own hand and put it upon Joseph’s hand and clothed him with garments of fine linen and placed a necklace of gold about his neck. [43] Moreover, he had him ride in the second chariot of honor that he had, so that they should call out ahead of him, “A·vrékh!” thus putting him over all the land of Egypt.

[44] And Phar′aoh further said to Joseph: “I am Phar′aoh, but without your authorization no man may lift up his hand or his foot in all the land of Egypt.” [45] After that Phar′aoh called Joseph’s name Zaph′e·nath-pa·ne′ah and gave him As′e·nath the daughter of Pot·i′phe·ra the priest of On as a wife. And Joseph began to go out over the land of Egypt. [46] And Joseph was thirty years old when he stood before Phar′aoh the king of Egypt.

Then Joseph went out from before Phar′aoh and toured about in all the land of Egypt. [47] And during the seven years of plenty the land went on producing by the handfuls. [48] And he kept collecting all the foodstuffs of the seven years that came upon the land of Egypt and he would put the foodstuffs in the cities. The foodstuffs of the field that was round about a city he put in the midst of it. [49] And Joseph continued piling up grain in very great quantity, like the sand of the sea, until finally they gave up counting it, because it was without number.

[50] And before the year of the famine arrived there were born to Joseph two sons, whom As′e·nath the daughter of Pot·i′phe·ra the priest of On bore to him. [51] So Joseph called the name of the firstborn Ma·nas′seh, because, to quote him, “God has made me forget all my trouble and all the house of my father.” 52 And the name of the second he called E′phra·im, because, to quote him, “God has made me fruitful in the land of my wretchedness.”

53 And the seven years of the plenty that had obtained in the land of Egypt gradually ended, 54 and, in turn, the seven years of the famine started to come, just as Joseph had said. And the famine developed in all the lands, but in all the land of Egypt there was found bread. 55 Finally all the land of Egypt became famished and the people began to cry to Phar′aoh for bread. Then Phar′aoh said to all the Egyptians: “Go to Joseph. Whatever he says to YOU, YOU are to do.” 56 And the famine obtained over all the surface of the earth. Then Joseph began to open up all the grain depositories that were among them and to sell to the Egyptians, as the famine got a strong grip on the land of Egypt. 57 Moreover, people of all the earth came to Egypt to buy from Joseph, because the famine had a strong grip on all the earth.

42 Eventually Jacob got to see that there were cereals in Egypt. Then Jacob said to his sons: “Why do YOU keep looking at one another?” [2] And he added: “Here I have heard that there are cereals in Egypt. Go down there and buy for us from there, that we may keep alive and not die off.” [3] Accordingly ten brothers of Joseph went down to buy grain from Egypt. [4] But Jacob did not send Benjamin, Joseph’s brother, with his other brothers, because he said: “Otherwise a fatal accident may befall him.”

[5] So Israel’s sons came along with the others who were coming to buy, because the famine existed in the land of Ca′naan. [6] And Joseph was the man in power over the land. He was the one that did the selling to all people of the earth. Consequently Joseph’s brothers came and bowed low to him with their faces to the earth. [7] When Joseph got to see his brothers, he at once recognized them, but he made himself unrecognizable to them. So he spoke harshly with them and said to them: “Where have YOU come from?” to which they said: “From the land of Ca′naan to buy foodstuffs.”

[8] Thus Joseph recognized his brothers, but they themselves did not recognize him. [9] Immediately Joseph remembered the dreams that he had dreamed respecting them, and he went on to say to them: “YOU are spies! YOU have come to see the exposed condition of the land!” [10] Then they said to him: “No, my lord, but your servants have come to buy foodstuffs. [11] We are all of us sons of but one man. We are upright men. Your servants do not act as spies.” [12] But he said to them: “Not so! Because YOU have come to see the exposed condition of the land!” [13] At this they said: “Your servants are twelve brothers. We are the sons of but one man in the land of Ca′naan; and here the youngest is with our father today, whereas the other one is no more.”

[14] However, Joseph said to them: “It is what I have spoken to YOU, saying, ‘YOU are spies!’ [15] By this YOU will be tested out. As Phar′aoh lives, YOU will not go out of here except when YOUR youngest brother comes here. [16] Send one of YOU that he may get YOUR brother while YOU have been bound, that YOUR words may be tested out as the truth in YOUR case. And if not, then, as Phar′aoh lives, YOU are spies.” [17] With that he put them together in custody for three days.

[18] After that Joseph said to them on the third day: “Do this and keep alive. I fear the true God. [19] If YOU are upright, let one of YOUR brothers be kept bound in YOUR house of custody, but the rest of YOU go, take cereals for the famine in YOUR houses. [20] Then YOU will bring YOUR youngest brother to me, that YOUR words may be found trustworthy; and YOU will not die.” And they proceeded to do so.

[21] And they began to say one to the other: “Unquestionably we are guilty with regard to our brother, because we saw the distress of his soul when he implored compassion on our part, but we did not listen. That is why this distress has come upon us.” [22] Then Reu′ben answered them, saying: “Did not I say to YOU, ‘Do not sin against the child,’ but YOU did not listen? And now his blood, here it is certainly asked back.” [23] As for them, they did not know that Joseph was listening, because there was an interpreter between them. [24] Consequently he turned away from them and began to weep. Then he returned to them and spoke to them and took Sim′e·on from them and bound him before their eyes. [25] After that Joseph gave the command, and they went filling up their receptacles with grain. Also, they were to return the money of the men to each one’s individual sack and to give them provisions for the journey. Accordingly it was done so to them.

[26] So they loaded their cereals upon their asses and got on their way from there. [27] When one opened his sack to give fodder to his ass at the lodging place, he got to see his money, and here it was in the mouth of his bag. [28] At that he said to his brothers: “My money has been returned and now here it is in my bag!” Then their hearts sank, so that they turned trembling to one another, saying: “What is this God has done to us?”

[29] At length they came to Jacob their father to the land of Ca′naan and told him all the things that had befallen them, saying: [30] “The man who is the lord of the country spoke harshly with us, since he took us for men spying on the country. [31] But we said to him, ‘We are upright men. We do not act as spies. [32] We are twelve brothers, the sons of our father. One is no more, and the youngest is today with our father in the land of Ca′naan.’ [33] But the man who is the lord of the country said to us, ‘By this I am going to know YOU are upright: Have one brother of YOURS stay with me. Then YOU take something for the famine in YOUR houses and go. [34] And bring YOUR youngest brother to me, that I may know that YOU are no spies but YOU are upright. YOUR brother I shall give back to YOU, and YOU may carry on business in the land.’”

[35] And it came about that when they were emptying their sacks here was each one’s bundle of money in his sack. And they as well as their father got to see their bundles of money, and they became afraid. [36] Then Jacob their father exclaimed to them: “It is I YOU have bereaved! Joseph is no more and Sim′e·on is no more, and Benjamin YOU are going to take! It is upon me that all these things have come!” [37] But Reu′ben said to his father: “My own two sons you may put to death if I do not bring him back to you. Give him over to my care, and I shall be the one to return him to you.” 38 However, he said: “My son will not go down with YOU men, because his brother is dead and he has been left by himself. If a fatal accident should befall him on the way on which YOU would go, then YOU would certainly bring down my gray hairs with grief to She′ol.”

43 And the famine was severe in the land. [2] And it came about that as soon as they had finished eating up the cereals they had brought from Egypt, their father proceeded to say to them: “Return, buy a little food for us.” [3] Then Judah said to him: “The man unmistakably bore witness to us, saying, ‘YOU must not see my face again unless YOUR brother is with YOU.’ [4] If you are sending our brother with us, we are willing to go down and buy food for you. [5] But if you are not sending him, we shall not go down, because the man did say to us, ‘YOU must not see my face again unless YOUR brother is with YOU.’” [6] And Israel exclaimed: “Why did YOU have to do harm to me by telling the man YOU had another brother?” [7] At this they said: “The man directly inquired concerning us and our relatives, saying, ‘Is YOUR father yet alive? Do YOU have another brother?’ and we went on to tell him according to these facts. How could we know for certain that he would say, ‘Bring YOUR brother down’?”

[8] Finally Judah said to Israel his father: “Send the boy with me, that we may get up and go and that we may keep alive and not die off, both we and you and our little children. [9] I shall be the one to be surety for him. Out of my hand you may exact the penalty for him. If I fail to bring him to you and present him to you, then I shall have sinned against you for all time. [10] But if we had not lingered around, we should by now have been there and back these two times.”

[11] So Israel their father said to them: “If, then, that is the case, do this: Take the finest products of the land in YOUR receptacles and carry them down to the man as a gift: a little balsam, and a little honey, labdanum and resinous bark, pistachio nuts and almonds. [12] Also, take double the money in YOUR hand; and the money that was returned in the mouth of YOUR bags YOU will take back in YOUR hand. Maybe it was a mistake. [13] And take YOUR brother and get up, return to the man. [14] And may God Almighty give YOU pity before the man, that he may certainly release to YOU YOUR other brother and Benjamin. But I, in case I must be bereaved, I shall certainly be bereaved! ”

[15] Accordingly the men took this gift, and they took double the money in their hand and Benjamin. Then they rose and went their way down to Egypt and got to stand before Joseph. [16] When Joseph saw Benjamin with them, he at once said to the man who was over his house: “Take the men to the house and slaughter animals and make preparation, because the men are to eat with me at noon.” [17] Immediately the man did just as Joseph had said. So the man took the men to Joseph’s house. [18] But the men got afraid because they had been taken to Joseph’s house, and they began to say: “It is because of the money that went back with us in our bags at the start that we are being brought here for them to fall upon us and attack us and to take us for slaves and also our asses! ”

[19] Hence they approached the man who was over Joseph’s house and spoke to him at the entrance of the house, [20] and they said: “Excuse us, my lord! We surely did come down at the start to buy food. [21] But what occurred was that when we came to the lodging place and began opening our bags, why, here was the money of each one in the mouth of his bag, our money in full weight. So we would like to return it with our own hands. [22] And more money we have brought down in our hands to buy food. We certainly do not know who placed our money in our bags.” [23] Then he said: “It is all right with YOU. Do not be afraid. YOUR God and the God of YOUR father gave YOU treasure in YOUR bags. YOUR money came first to me.” After that he brought out Sim′e·on to them.

[24] Then the man brought the men into Joseph’s house and gave water that they might have their feet washed, and he gave fodder for their asses. [25] And they proceeded to get the gift ready for Joseph’s coming at noon, because they had heard that it was there they were going to eat bread. [26] When Joseph went on into the house, then they brought the gift that was in their hand to him into the house, and prostrated themselves to him to the earth. [27] After this he inquired whether they were getting along well and said: “Is YOUR father, the aged man of whom YOU have spoken, getting along well? Is he still alive?” [28] To this they said: “Your servant our father is getting along well. He is still alive.” Then they bowed down and prostrated themselves.

[29] When he raised his eyes and saw Benjamin his brother, the son of his mother, he went on to say: “Is this YOUR brother, the youngest one of whom YOU have spoken to me?” And he added: “May God show you his favor, my son.” [30] Joseph was now in a hurry, because his inward emotions were excited toward his brother, so that he looked for a place to weep and he went into an interior room and gave way to tears there. [31] After that he washed his face and went out and kept control of himself and said: “SET on the meal.” [32] And they proceeded to set it on for him by himself and for them by themselves and for the Egyptians who were eating with him by themselves; for the Egyptians were not able to eat a meal with the Hebrews, because that is a detestable thing to the Egyptians.

[33] And they were seated before him, the firstborn according to his right as firstborn and the youngest according to his youngness; and the men kept looking at one another in amazement. [34] And he kept having portions carried from before him to them, but he would increase Benjamin’s portion five times the size of the portions of all the others. So they continued banqueting and drinking with him to the full.

44 Later on he commanded the man who was over his house, saying: “Fill the bags of the men with food to the extent they are able to carry it and place the money of each one in the mouth of his bag. [2] But you must place my cup, the silver cup, in the mouth of the bag of the youngest and the money for his cereals.” So he did according to the word of Joseph which he had spoken.

[3] The morning had become light when the men were sent away, both they and their asses. [4] They went out of the city. They had not gone far when Joseph said to the man who was over his house: “Get up! Chase after the men and be certain to overtake them and to say to them, ‘Why have YOU repaid bad for good? [5] Is not this the thing that my master drinks from and by means of which he expertly reads omens? It is a bad deed YOU have committed.’”

[6] Eventually he overtook them and spoke these words to them. [7] But they said to him: “Why does my lord speak with such words as these? It is unthinkable that your servants should do anything like this. [8] Why, the money that we found in the mouth of our bags we brought back to you from the land of Ca′naan. How, then, could we steal silver or gold from the house of your master? [9] Let the one of your slaves with whom it may be found die and let us ourselves also become slaves to my master.” [10] So he said: “Let it be now exactly according to YOUR words. Thus the one with whom it may be found will become a slave to me, but YOU yourselves will be proved innocent.” [11] With that they quickly let down each one his bag to the earth and they opened each one his own bag. [12] And he went searching carefully. He started with the oldest and finished with the youngest. At last the cup was found in Benjamin’s bag.

[13] Then they ripped their mantles apart and lifted each one his load back onto his ass and returned to the city. [14] And Judah and his brothers went on into Joseph’s house, and he was still there; and they proceeded to fall before him to the earth. [15] Joseph now said to them: “What sort of deed is this that YOU have done? Did YOU not know that such a man as I am can expertly read omens?” [16] At this Judah exclaimed: “What can we say to my master? What can we speak? And how can we prove ourselves righteous? The true God has found out the error of your slaves. Here we are slaves to my master, both we and the one in whose hand the cup was found!” [17] However, he said: “It is unthinkable for me to do this! The man in whose hand the cup was found is the one who will become a slave to me. As for the rest of YOU, go up in peace to YOUR father.”

[18] Judah now came near to him and said: “I pray you, my master, please let your slave speak a word in the hearing of my master, and do not let your anger grow hot against your slave, because it is the same with you as with Phar′aoh. [19] My master asked his slaves, saying, ‘Do YOU have a father or a brother?’ [20] So we said to my master, ‘We do have an aged father and a child of his old age, the youngest. But his brother is dead so that he alone is left of his mother, and his father does love him.’ [21] After that you said to your slaves, ‘Bring him down to me that I may set my eye upon him.’ [22] But we said to my master, ‘The boy is not able to leave his father. If he did leave his father, he would certainly die.’ [23] Then you said to your slaves, ‘Unless YOUR youngest brother comes down with YOU, YOU may not see my face anymore.’

[24] “And it came about that we went up to your slave my father and then told him the words of my master. [25] Later our father said, ‘Return, buy a little food for us.’ [26] But we said, ‘We are not able to go down. If our youngest brother is with us we will go down, because we are not able to see the man’s face in case our youngest brother is not with us.’ [27] Then your slave my father said to us, ‘YOU yourselves well know that my wife bore but two sons to me. [28] Later the one went out from my company and I exclaimed: “Ah, he must surely be torn to pieces! ” and I have not seen him till now. [29] If YOU were to take this one also out of my sight and a fatal accident were to befall him, YOU would certainly bring down my gray hairs with calamity to She′ol.’

[30] “And now, as soon as I should come to your slave my father without the boy along with us, when that one’s soul is bound up with this one’s soul, [31] then it is certain to occur that as soon as he sees that the boy is not there he will simply die, and your slaves will indeed bring down the gray hairs of your slave our father with grief to She′ol. [32] For your slave became surety for the boy when away from his father, saying, ‘If I fail to bring him back to you, then I shall have sinned against my father forever.’ [33] So now, please, let your slave stay instead of the boy as a slave to my master, that the boy may go up with his brothers. [34] For how can I go up to my father without the boy along with me, for fear that then I may look upon the calamity that will find out my father?”

45 At this Joseph was no longer able to control himself before all those who were stationed by him. So he cried out: “HAVE everybody go out from me! ” And no one else stood with him while Joseph made himself known to his brothers.

[2] And he began to raise his voice in weeping, so that the Egyptians got to hear it and Phar′aoh’s house got to hear it. [3] Finally Joseph said to his brothers: “I am Joseph. Is my father still alive?” But his brothers were unable to answer him at all, because they were disturbed by reason of him. [4] So Joseph said to his brothers: “Come close to me, please.” With that they came close to him.

Then he said: “I am Joseph YOUR brother, whom YOU sold into Egypt. [5] But now do not feel hurt and do not be angry with yourselves because YOU sold me here; because for the preservation of life God has sent me ahead of YOU. [6] For this is the second year of the famine in the midst of the earth, and there are yet five years in which there will be no plowing time or harvest. [7] Consequently God sent me ahead of YOU in order to place a remnant for YOU men in the earth and to keep YOU alive by a great escape. [8] So now it was not YOU who sent me here, but it was the true God, that he might appoint me a father to Phar′aoh and a lord for all his house and as one dominating over all the land of Egypt.

[9] “Go up quickly to my father, and YOU must say to him, ‘This is what your son Joseph has said: “God has appointed me lord for all Egypt. Come down to me. Do not delay. [10] And you must dwell in the land of Go′shen, and you must continue near me, you and your sons and the sons of your sons and your flocks and your herds and everything you have. [11] And I will supply you with food there, for there are yet five years of famine; for fear you and your house and everything you have may come to poverty.”’ [12] And here YOUR eyes and the eyes of my brother Benjamin are seeing that it is my mouth that is speaking to YOU. [13] So YOU must tell my father about all my glory in Egypt and everything YOU have seen; and YOU must hurry and bring my father down here.”

[14] Then he fell upon the neck of Benjamin his brother and gave way to weeping, and Benjamin wept upon his neck. [15] And he proceeded to kiss all his brothers and to weep over them, and after that his brothers spoke with him.

[16] And the news was heard at the house of Phar′aoh, saying: “Joseph’s brothers have come!” And it proved to be good in the eyes of Phar′aoh and of his servants. [17] Accordingly Phar′aoh said to Joseph: “Say to your brothers, ‘Do this: Load YOUR beasts of burden and go enter the land of Ca′naan, [18] and take YOUR father and YOUR households and come here to me, that I may give YOU the good of the land of Egypt; and eat the fat part of the land. [19] And you yourself are commanded: “Do this: TAKE for yourselves wagons from the land of Egypt for YOUR little ones and YOUR wives, and YOU must lift YOUR father on one and come here. [20] And do not let YOUR eye feel sorry over YOUR equipment, because the good of all the land of Egypt is YOURS.”’”

[21] Following that the sons of Israel did so, and Joseph gave them wagons according to Phar′aoh’s orders and gave them provisions for the way. [22] To each of them he gave individual changes of mantles, but to Benjamin he gave three hundred silver pieces and five changes of mantles. [23] And to his father he sent as follows: ten asses carrying good things of Egypt and ten she-asses carrying grain and bread and sustenance for his father for the way. [24] Thus he sent his brothers off, and they proceeded to go. However, he said to them: “Do not get exasperated at one another on the way.”

[25] And they began going up out of Egypt and at length came into the land of Ca′naan to Jacob their father. [26] Then they reported to him, saying: “Joseph is still alive, and he is the one dominating over all the land of Egypt!” But his heart grew numb, because he did not believe them. [27] When they went on speaking to him all of Joseph’s words that he had spoken to them and he got to see the wagons that Joseph had sent to carry him, the spirit of Jacob their father began to revive. [28] Then Israel exclaimed: “It is enough! Joseph my son is still alive! Ah, let me go and see him before I die!”

GENESIS

46 Accordingly Israel and all who were his pulled out and came to Be′er-she′ba, and he proceeded to sacrifice sacrifices to the God of his father Isaac. [2] Then God talked to Israel in visions of the night and said: “Jacob, Jacob!” to which he said: “Here I am!” [3] And he went on to say: “I am the true God, the God of your father. Do not be afraid to go down to Egypt, for I shall constitute you there into a great nation. [4] I myself shall go down with you to Egypt and I myself shall surely bring you up also; and Joseph will lay his hand upon your eyes.”

[5] After that Jacob got up out of Be′er-she′ba, and the sons of Israel continued transporting Jacob their father and their little ones and their wives in the wagons that Phar′aoh had sent to transport him. [6] Further, they took along their herds and their goods, which they had accumulated in the land of Ca′naan. Eventually they came into Egypt, Jacob and all his offspring with him. [7] He brought his sons and his sons’ sons with him, his daughters and his sons’ daughters, even all his offspring, with him into Egypt.

[8] Now these are the names of Israel’s sons who came into Egypt: Jacob and his sons: Jacob’s firstborn was Reu′ben.

[9] And the sons of Reu′ben were Ha′noch and Pal′lu and Hez′ron and Car′mi.

[10] And the sons of Sim′e·on were Jem·u′el and Ja′min and O′had and Ja′chin and Zo′har and Sha′ul the son of a Ca′naan·ite woman.

[11] And the sons of Le′vi were Ger′shon, Ko′hath and Me·rar′i.

12 And the sons of Judah were Er and O′nan and She′lah and Pe′rez and Ze′rah. However, Er and O′nan died in the land of Ca′naan.

And the sons of Pe′rez came to be Hez′ron and Ha′mul.

13 And the sons of Is′sa·char were To′la and Pu′vah and Iob and Shim′ron.

14 And the sons of Zeb′u·lun were Se′red and E′lon and Jah′le·el.

15 These are the sons of Le′ah, whom she bore to Jacob in Pad′dan-a′ram, together with his daughter Di′nah. All the souls of his sons and of his daughters were thirty-three.

16 And the sons of Gad were Ziph′i·on and Hag′gi, Shu′ni and Ez′bon, E′ri and Ar·o′di and A·re′li.

17 And the sons of Ash′er were Im′nah and Ish′vah and Ish′vi and Be·ri′ah, and there was Se′rah their sister.

And the sons of Be·ri′ah were He′ber and Mal′chi·el.

18 These are the sons of Zil′pah, whom La′ban gave to his daughter Le′ah. In time she bore these to Jacob: sixteen souls.

19 The sons of Rachel, Jacob’s wife, were Joseph and Benjamin.

20 And there came to be born to Joseph in the land of Egypt Ma·nas′seh and E′phra·im, whom As′e·nath the daughter of Pot·i′phe·ra the priest of On bore to him.

21 And the sons of Benjamin were Be′la and Be′cher and Ash′bel, Ge′ra and Na′a·man, E′hi and Rosh, Mup′pim and Hup′pim and Ard.

22 These are the sons of Rachel who were born to Jacob. All the souls were fourteen.

23 And the sons of Dan were Hu′shim.

24 And the sons of Naph′ta·li were Jah′ze·el and Gu′ni and Je′zer and Shil′lem.

25 These are the sons of Bil′hah, whom La′ban gave to his daughter Rachel. In time she bore these to Jacob; all the souls were seven.

26 All the souls who came to Jacob into Egypt were those who issued out of his upper thigh, aside from the wives of Jacob’s sons. All the souls were sixty-six. 27 And Joseph’s sons who were born to him in Egypt were two souls. All the souls of the house of Jacob who came into Egypt were seventy.

28 And he sent Judah in advance of him to Joseph to impart information ahead of him to Go′shen. After that they came into the land of Go′shen. 29 Then Joseph had his chariot made ready and went up to meet Israel his father at Go′shen. When he appeared to him he at once fell upon his neck and gave way to tears upon his neck again and again. 30 Finally Israel said to Joseph: “This time I am willing to die, now that I have seen your face, since you are still alive.”

31 Then Joseph said to his brothers and to his father’s household: “Let me go up and report to Phar′aoh and say to him, ‘My brothers and my father’s household who were in the land of Ca′naan have come here to me. 32 And the men are shepherds, because they became stock raisers; and their flocks and their herds and all they have they have brought here.’ 33 And what must occur is that when Phar′aoh will call YOU and actually say, ‘What is YOUR occupation?’ 34 YOU must say, ‘Your servants have continued to be stock raisers from our youth until now, both we and our forefathers,’ in order that YOU may dwell in the land of Go′shen, because every herder of sheep is a detestable thing to Egypt.”

47 Accordingly Joseph came and reported to Phar′aoh and said: “My father and my brothers and their flocks and their herds and all they have have come from the land of Ca′naan, and here they are in the land of Go′shen.” [2] And from the whole number of his brothers he took five men, that he might present them to Phar′aoh.

[3] Then Phar′aoh said to his brothers: “What is YOUR occupation?” So they said to Phar′aoh: “Your servants are herders of sheep, both we and our forefathers.” [4] After that they said to Phar′aoh: “We have come to reside as aliens in the land, because there is no pasturage for the flock that your servants have, for the famine is severe in the land of Ca′naan. And now let your servants dwell, please, in the land of Go′shen.” [5] At that Phar′aoh said to Joseph: “Your father and your brothers have come here to you. [6] The land of Egypt is at your disposal. Have your father and your brothers dwell in the very best of the land. Let them dwell in the land of Go′shen, and if you know that there are among them courageous men, you must appoint them cattle chiefs over what is mine.”

[7] Then Joseph brought in Jacob his father and introduced him to Phar′aoh, and Jacob proceeded to bless Phar′aoh. [8] Phar′aoh now said to Jacob: “How many are the days of the years of your life?” [9] So Jacob said to Phar′aoh: “The days of the years of my alien residences are a hundred and thirty years. Few and distressing the days of the years of my life have proved, and they have not reached the days of the years of the lives of my fathers in the days of their alien residences.” [10] After that Jacob blessed Phar′aoh and went out from before Phar′aoh.

11 Thus Joseph had his father and his brothers dwell and he gave them a possession in the land of Egypt, in the very best of the land, in the land of Ram′e·ses, just as Phar′aoh had commanded. 12 And Joseph kept supplying his father and his brothers and the entire household of his father with bread, according to the number of the little ones.

13 Now there was no bread in all the land, because the famine was very severe; and the land of Egypt and the land of Ca′naan became exhausted as a result of the famine. 14 And Joseph went on picking up all the money that was to be found in the land of Egypt and in the land of Ca′naan for the cereals which people were buying; and Joseph kept bringing the money into Phar′aoh’s house. 15 In time the money from the land of Egypt and the land of Ca′naan was spent, and all the Egyptians began coming to Joseph, saying: “Give us bread! And why should we die in front of you because money has run out?” 16 Then Joseph said: “Hand over YOUR livestock and I shall give YOU bread in exchange for YOUR livestock, if money has run out.” 17 And they began bringing their livestock to Joseph; and Joseph kept giving them bread in exchange for their horses and the livestock of the flock and the livestock of the herd and the asses, and he kept providing them with bread in exchange for all their livestock during that year.

18 Gradually that year came to its close, and they began coming to him in the next year and saying to him: “We shall not hide it from my lord but the money and the stock of domestic animals have been spent to my lord. There remains nothing before my lord but our bodies and our land. 19 Why should we die before your eyes, both we and our land? Buy us and our land for bread, and we together with our land will become slaves to Phar′aoh; and give us seed that we may live and not die and our land not be laid desolate.” 20 So

Joseph bought all the land of the Egyptians for Phar′aoh, because the Egyptians sold each one his field, for the famine had got a strong grip on them; and the land came to be Phar′aoh’s.

[21] As for the people, he removed them into cities from one end of the territory of Egypt to its other end. [22] Only the land of the priests he did not buy, because the rations for the priests were from Phar′aoh and they ate their rations that Phar′aoh gave them. That is why they did not sell their land. [23] Then Joseph said to the people: “See, I have today bought YOU and YOUR land for Phar′aoh. Here is seed for YOU, and YOU must sow the land with it. [24] When it has resulted in produce, then YOU must give a fifth to Phar′aoh, but four parts will become YOURS as seed for the field and as food for YOU and for those who are in YOUR houses and for YOUR little ones to eat.” [25] Consequently they said: “You have preserved our lives. Let us find favor in the eyes of my lord, and we will become slaves to Phar′aoh.” [26] And Joseph proceeded to make it a decree down to this day over the landed estate of Egypt for Phar′aoh to have to the amount of a fifth. Only the land of the priests as a distinct group did not become Phar′aoh’s.

[27] And Israel continued to dwell in the land of Egypt, in the land of Go′shen; and they became settled in it and were fruitful and grew to be very many. [28] And Jacob lived on in the land of Egypt for seventeen years, so that Jacob’s days, the years of his life, came to be a hundred and forty-seven years.

[29] Gradually the days approached for Israel to die. So he called his son Joseph and said to him: “If, now, I have found favor in your eyes, place your hand, please, under my thigh, and you must exercise loving-kindness and trustworthiness toward me. (Please, do not bury me in Egypt.) [30] And I must lie with my fathers, and you must carry me out of Egypt and bury me in their grave.” Accordingly he said: “I myself shall do in keeping with your word.” 31 Then he said: “Swear to me.” So he swore to him. At that Israel prostrated himself over the head of the couch.

48 And it came about after these things that it was said to Joseph: “Look, your father is becoming weak.” At that he took with him his two sons Ma·nasʹseh and Eʹphra·im. [2] Then it was reported to Jacob and said: “Here your son Joseph has come to you.” So Israel exerted his strength and sat up on his couch. [3] And Jacob proceeded to say to Joseph:

“God Almighty appeared to me at Luz in the land of Caʹnaan that he might bless me. [4] And he went on to say to me, ‘Here I am making you fruitful, and I will make you many and I will transform you into a congregation of peoples and I will give this land to your seed after you for a possession to time indefinite.’ [5] And now your two sons who were born to you in the land of Egypt before I came here to you into Egypt, they are mine. Eʹphra·im and Ma·nasʹseh will become mine like Reuʹben and Simʹe·on. [6] But your progeny to which you shall become father after them will become yours. Together with the name of their brothers they will be called in their inheritance. [7] And as for me, when I was coming from Padʹdan, Rachel died alongside me in the land of Caʹnaan on the way while there was yet a good stretch of land before coming to Ephʹrath, so that I buried her there on the way to Ephʹrath, that is to say, Bethʹle·hem.”

[8] Then Israel saw Joseph’s sons and said: “Who are these?” [9] So Joseph said to his father: “They are my sons whom God has given me in this place.” At this he said: “Bring them, please, to me that I may bless them.” [10] Now the eyes of Israel were dull from old age. He was unable to see. Accordingly he brought them close to him, and he then kissed them and embraced them. [11] And Israel went on to say to Joseph: “I had no idea of seeing your face, but here God has let me see also your offspring.” [12] After that Joseph brought them out away from his knees, and he bowed down with his face to the earth.

The true God who has been shepherding me during all my existence until this day, [16] The angel who has been recovering me from all calamity, bless the boys.
And let my name be called upon them and the name of my fathers, Abraham and Isaac,
And let them increase to a multitude in the midst of the earth.”

[17] When Joseph saw that his father kept his right hand placed on E′phra·im’s head, it was displeasing to him, and he tried to take hold of his father’s hand to remove it from E′phra·im’s head to Ma·nas′seh’s head. [18] Hence Joseph said to his father: “Not so, my father, because this is the firstborn. Put your right hand on his head.” [19] But his father kept refusing and said: “I know it, my son, I know it. He too will become a people and he too will become great. But, just the same, his younger brother will become greater than he will, and his offspring will become the full equivalent of nations.” [20] And he continued to bless them on that day, saying:

“By means of you let Israel repeatedly pronounce blessing, saying,
‘May God constitute you like E′phra·im and like Ma·nas′seh.’”

Thus he kept putting E′phra·im before Ma·nas′seh.

[21] After that Israel said to Joseph: “Look, I am dying, but God will certainly continue with YOU people and return YOU to the land of YOUR forefathers. [22] As for me, I do give you one shoulder of land more than to your brothers, which I took from the hand of the Am′or·ites by my sword and by my bow.”

49 Later on Jacob called his sons and said: “Gather yourselves together that I may tell YOU what will happen to YOU in the final part of the days. [2] Assemble yourselves and listen, YOU sons of Jacob, yes, listen to Israel YOUR father.

[3] “Reu′ben, you are my firstborn, my vigor and the beginning of my generative power, the excellence of dignity and the excellence of strength. [4] With reckless license like waters, do not you excel, because you have gone up to your father’s bed. At that time you profaned my lounge. He went up to it!

[5] “Sim′e·on and Le′vi are brothers. Instruments of violence are their slaughter weapons. [6] Into their intimate group do not come, O my soul. With their congregation do not become united, O my disposition, because in their anger they killed men, and in their arbitrariness they hamstrung bulls. [7] Cursed be their anger, because it is cruel, and their fury, because it acts harshly. Let me parcel them out in Jacob and let me scatter them in Israel.

[8] “As for you, Judah, your brothers will laud you. Your hand will be on the back of the neck of your enemies. The sons of your father will prostrate themselves to you. [9] A lion cub Judah is. From the prey, my son, you will certainly go up. He bowed down, he stretched himself out like a lion and, like a lion, who dares rouse him? [10] The scepter will not turn aside from Judah, neither the commander’s staff from between his feet, until Shi′loh comes; and to him the obedience of the peoples will belong. [11] Tying his full-grown ass to a vine and the descendant of his own she-ass to a choice vine, he will certainly wash his clothing in wine and his garment in the blood of grapes. [12] Dark red are his eyes from wine, and the whiteness of his teeth is from milk.

[13] “Zeb′u·lun will reside by the seashore, and he will be by the shore where the ships lie anchored; and his remote side will be toward Si′don.

[14] “Is′sa·char is a strong-boned ass, lying down between the two saddlebags. [15] And he will see that the resting-place is good and that the land is pleasant; and he will bend down his shoulder to bear burdens and he will become subject to slavish forced labor.

[16] “Dan will judge his people as one of the tribes of Israel. [17] Let Dan prove to be a serpent by the roadside, a horned snake at the wayside, that bites the heels of the horse so that its rider falls backward. [18] I shall indeed wait for salvation from you, O Jehovah.

[19] “As for Gad, a marauder band will raid him, but he will raid the extreme rear.

[20] “Out of Ash′er his bread will be fat, and he will give the dainties of a king.

[21] “Naph′ta·li is a slender hind. He is giving words of elegance.

[22] “Offshoot of a fruit-bearing tree, Joseph is the offshoot of a fruit-bearing tree by the fountain, that propels its branches up over a wall. [23] But the archers kept harassing him and shot at him and kept harboring animosity against him. [24] And yet his bow was dwelling in a permanent place, and the strength of his hands was supple. From the hands of the Powerful One of Jacob, from there is the Shepherd, the Stone of Israel. [25] He is from the God of your father, and he will help you; and he is with the Almighty, and he will bless you with the blessings of the heavens above, with the blessings of the watery deep lying down below, with the blessings of the breasts and womb. [26] The blessings of your father will indeed be superior to the blessings of the eternal mountains, to the ornament of the indefinitely lasting hills. They will continue upon the head of Joseph, even upon the crown of the head of the one singled out from his brothers.

[27] “Benjamin will keep on tearing like a wolf. In the morning he will eat the animal seized and at evening he will divide spoil.”

[28] All these are the twelve tribes of Israel, and this is what their father spoke to them when he was blessing them. He blessed them each one according to his own blessing.

[29] After that he commanded them and said to them: “I am being gathered to my people. Bury me with my fathers in the cave that is in the field of E′phron the Hit′tite, [30] in the cave that is in the field of Mach·pe′lah that is in front of Mam′re in the land of Ca′naan, the field that Abraham purchased from E′phron the Hit′tite for the possession of a burial place. [31] There they buried Abraham and Sarah his wife. There they buried Isaac and Re·bek′ah his wife, and there I buried Le′ah. [32] The field purchased and the cave that is in it were from the sons of Heth.”

[33] Thus Jacob finished giving commands to his sons. Then he gathered his feet up onto the couch and expired and was gathered to his people.

50 Then Joseph fell upon the face of his father and burst into tears over him and kissed him. [2] After that Joseph commanded his servants, the physicians, to embalm his father. So the physicians embalmed Israel, [3] and they took fully forty days for him, for this many days they customarily take for the embalming, and the Egyptians continued to shed tears for him seventy days.

[4] Finally the days of weeping for him passed, and Joseph spoke to Phar′aoh’s household, saying: “If, now, I have found favor in YOUR eyes, speak, please, in the hearing of Phar′aoh, saying, [5] ‘My father made me swear, saying: “Look! I am dying. In my burial place which I have excavated for myself in the land of Ca′naan is where you are to bury me.” And now, please, let me go up and bury my father, after which I am willing to return.’” [6] Accordingly Phar′aoh said: “Go up and bury your father just as he made you swear.”

[7] So Joseph went up to bury his father, and there went up with him all of Phar′aoh’s servants, the older men of his household and all the older men of the land of Egypt, [8] and all of Joseph’s household and his brothers and the household of his father. Only their little children and their flocks and their herds they left in the land of Go′shen. [9] There also went up with him both chariots and horsemen, and the camp came to be very numerous. [10] Then they came to the threshing floor of A′tad, which is in the region of the Jordan, and there they carried on a very great and heavy wailing and he kept up the mourning rites for his father seven days. [11] And the inhabitants of the land, the Ca′naan·ites, got to see the mourning rites in the threshing floor of A′tad, and they exclaimed: “This is a heavy mourning for the Egyptians!” That is why its name was called A′bel-miz′ra·im, which is in the region of the Jordan.

[12] And his sons proceeded to do for him exactly as he had commanded them. [13] So his sons carried him into the land of Ca′naan and buried him in the cave of the field of Mach·pe′lah, the field that Abraham had purchased for the possession of a burial place from E′phron the Hit′tite in front of Mam′re. [14] Afterward Joseph returned to Egypt, he and his brothers and all those who went up with him to bury his father, after he had buried his father.

[15] When the brothers of Joseph saw that their father was dead, they began to say: “It may be that Joseph is harboring animosity against us and he will be sure to repay us for all the evil that we have rendered him.” [16] So they expressed a command to Joseph in these words: “Your father gave the command before his death, saying, [17] ‘This is what YOU are to say to Joseph: “I beseech you, pardon, please, the revolt of your brothers and their sin in that they have rendered evil to you.”’ And now pardon, please, the revolt of the servants of your father’s God.” And Joseph burst into tears when they spoke to him. [18] Following that his brothers also came and fell down before him and said: “Here we are as slaves to you!” [19] Then Joseph said to them: “Do not be afraid, for am I in the place of God? [20] As for YOU, YOU had evil in mind against me. God had it in mind for good for the purpose of acting as at this day to preserve many people alive. [21] So now do not be afraid. I myself shall keep supplying YOU and YOUR little children with food.” Thus he comforted them and spoke reassuringly to them.

[22] And Joseph continued to dwell in Egypt, he and the house of his father; and Joseph lived for a hundred and ten years. [23] And Joseph got to see E′phra·im’s sons of the third generation, also the sons of Ma′chir, Ma·nas′seh’s son. They were born upon Joseph’s knees. [24] At length Joseph said to his brothers: “I am dying; but God will without fail turn his attention to YOU, and he will certainly bring YOU up out of this land to the land about which he swore to Abraham, to Isaac and to Jacob.” [25] Hence Joseph made the sons of Israel swear, saying: “God will without fail turn his attention to YOU. Accordingly YOU must take my bones up out of here.” [26] After that Joseph died at the age of a hundred and ten years; and they had him embalmed, and he was put in a coffin in Egypt.

EXODUS

1 Now these are the names of Israel’s sons who came into Egypt with Jacob; each man and his household came: [2] Reu′ben, Sim′e·on, Le′vi and Judah, [3] Is′sa·char, Zeb′u·lun and Benjamin, [4] Dan and Naph′ta·li, Gad and Ash′er. [5] And all the souls who issued out of Jacob’s upper thigh came to be seventy souls, but Joseph was already in Egypt. [6] Eventually Joseph died, and also all his brothers and all that generation. [7] And the sons of Israel became fruitful and began to swarm; and they kept on multiplying and growing mightier at a very extraordinary rate, so that the land got to be filled with them.

[8] In time there arose over Egypt a new king who did not know Joseph. [9] And he proceeded to say to his people: “Look! The people of the sons of Israel are more numerous and mightier than we are. [10] Come on! Let us deal shrewdly with them, for fear they may multiply, and it must turn out that, in case war should befall us, then they certainly will also be added to those who hate us and will fight against us and go up out of the country.”

[11] So they set over them chiefs of forced labor for the purpose of oppressing them in their burden-bearing; and they went building cities as storage places for Phar′aoh, namely, Pi′thom and Ra·am′ses. [12] But the more they would oppress them, the more they would multiply and the more they kept spreading abroad, so that they felt a sickening dread as a result of the sons of Israel. [13] Consequently the Egyptians made the sons of Israel slave under tyranny. [14] And they kept making their life bitter with hard slavery at clay mortar and bricks and with every form of slavery in the field, yes, every form of slavery of theirs in which they used them as slaves under tyranny.

[15] Later on the king of Egypt said to the Hebrew midwives, the name of one of whom was Shiphʹrah and the name of the other Puʹah, [16] yes, he went so far as to say: “When YOU help the Hebrew women to give birth and YOU do see them on the stool for childbirth, if it is a son, YOU must also put it to death; but if it is a daughter, it must also live.” [17] However, the midwives feared the true God, and they did not do as the king of Egypt had spoken to them, but they would preserve the male children alive. [18] In time the king of Egypt called the midwives and said to them: “Why is it YOU have done this thing, in that YOU preserved the male children alive?” [19] In turn the midwives said to Pharʹaoh: “Because the Hebrew women are not like the Egyptian women. Because they are lively, they have already given birth before the midwife can come in to them.”

[20] So God dealt well with the midwives; and the people kept growing more numerous and becoming very mighty. [21] And it came about that because the midwives had feared the true God he later presented them with families. [22] Finally Pharʹaoh commanded all his people, saying: “Every newborn son YOU are to throw into the river Nile, but every daughter YOU are to preserve alive.”

2 Meantime, a certain man of the house of Le′vi went ahead and took a daughter of Le′vi. [2] And the woman became pregnant and brought a son to birth. When she saw how good-looking he was, she kept him concealed for three lunar months. [3] When she was no longer able to conceal him, she then took for him an ark of papyrus and coated it with bitumen and pitch and put the child in it and put it among the reeds by the bank of the river Nile. [4] Further, his sister stationed herself at a distance to find out what would be done with him.

[5] After a while Phar′aoh’s daughter came down to bathe in the Nile River, and her female attendants were walking by the side of the Nile River. And she caught sight of the ark in the middle of the reeds. Immediately she sent her slave girl that she might get it. [6] When she opened it she got to see the child, and here the boy was weeping. At that she felt compassion for him, although she said: “This is one of the children of the Hebrews.” [7] Then his sister said to Phar′aoh’s daughter: “Shall I go and specially call for you a nursing woman from the Hebrew women that she may nurse the child for you?” [8] So Phar′aoh’s daughter said to her: “Go!” At once the maiden went and called the child’s mother. [9] Phar′aoh’s daughter then said to her: “Take this child with you and nurse him for me, and I myself shall give you your wages.” Accordingly the woman took the child and nursed him. [10] And the child grew up. Then she brought him to Phar′aoh’s daughter, so that he became a son to her; and she proceeded to call his name Moses and to say: “It is because I have drawn him out of the water.”

[11] Now it came about in those days, as Moses was becoming strong, that he went out to his brothers that he might look at the burdens they were bearing; and he caught sight of a certain Egyptian striking a certain Hebrew of his brothers. [12] So he turned this way and that and saw there was nobody in sight. Then he struck the Egyptian down and hid him in the sand.

[13] However, he went out on the following day and here there were two Hebrew men struggling with each other. So he said to the one in the wrong: “Why should you strike your companion?” [14] At this he said: “Who appointed you as a prince and judge over us? Are you intending to kill me just as you killed the Egyptian?” Moses now got afraid and said: “Surely the thing has become known!”

[15] Subsequently Phar′aoh got to hear of this thing, and he attempted to kill Moses; but Moses ran away from Phar′aoh that he might dwell in the land of Mid′i·an; and he took a seat by a well. [16] Now the priest of Mid′i·an had seven daughters, and as usual they came and drew water and filled the gutters to water their father’s flock. [17] And as usual the shepherds came and drove them away. At this Moses got up and helped the women out and watered their flock. [18] So when they came home to Reu′el their father he exclaimed: “How is it YOU have come home so quickly today?” [19] To this they said: “A certain Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the shepherds and, besides, he actually drew water for us that he might water the flock.” [20] Then he said to his daughters: “But where is he? Why is it that YOU have left the man behind? Call him, that he may eat bread.” [21] After that Moses showed willingness to dwell with the man, and he gave Zip·po′rah his daughter to Moses. [22] Later she bore a son and he called his name Ger′shom, because, he said: “An alien resident I have come to be in a foreign land.”

because of the slavery and to cry out in complaint, and their cry for help kept going up to the true God because of the slavery. [24] In time God heard their groaning and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. [25] So God looked on the sons of Israel and God took notice.

3 And Moses became a shepherd of the flock of Jethʹro, the priest of Midʹi·an, whose son-in-law he was. While he was driving the flock to the west side of the wilderness, he came at length to the mountain of the true God, to Hoʹreb. [2] Then Jehovah’s angel appeared to him in a flame of fire in the midst of a thornbush. As he kept looking, why, here the thornbush was burning with the fire and yet the thornbush was not consumed. [3] At this Moses said: “Let me just turn aside that I may inspect this great phenomenon, as to why the thornbush is not burnt up.” [4] When Jehovah saw that he turned aside to inspect, God at once called to him out of the midst of the thornbush and said: “Moses! Moses!” to which he said: “Here I am.” [5] Then he said: “Do not come near here. Draw your sandals from off your feet, because the place where you are standing is holy ground.”

[6] And he went on to say: “I am the God of your father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob.” Then Moses concealed his face, because he was afraid to look at the true God. [7] And Jehovah added: “Unquestionably I have seen the affliction of my people who are in Egypt, and I have heard their outcry as a result of those who drive them to work; because I well know the pains they suffer. [8] And I am proceeding to go down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians and to bring them up out of that land to a land good and spacious, to a land flowing with milk and honey, to the locality of the Caʹnaan·ites and the Hitʹtites and the Amʹor·ites and the Perʹiz·zites and the Hiʹvites and the Jebʹu·sites. [9] And now, look! the outcry of the sons of Israel has come to me, and I have seen also the oppression with which the Egyptians are oppressing them. [10] And now come and let me send you to Pharʹaoh, and you bring my people the sons of Israel out of Egypt.”

11 However, Moses said to the true God: “Who am I that I should go to Phar′aoh and that I have to bring the sons of Israel out of Egypt?” 12 To this he said: “Because I shall prove to be with you, and this is the sign for you that it is I who have sent you: After you have brought the people out of Egypt, YOU people will serve the true God on this mountain.”

13 Nevertheless, Moses said to the true God: “Suppose I am now come to the sons of Israel and I do say to them, ‘The God of YOUR forefathers has sent me to YOU,’ and they do say to me, ‘What is his name?’ What shall I say to them?” 14 At this God said to Moses: “I SHALL PROVE TO BE WHAT I SHALL PROVE TO BE.” And he added: “This is what you are to say to the sons of Israel, ‘I SHALL PROVE TO BE has sent me to YOU.’” 15 Then God said once more to Moses:

“This is what you are to say to the sons of Israel, ‘Jehovah the God of YOUR forefathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob, has sent me to YOU.’ This is my name to time indefinite, and this is the memorial of me to generation after generation. 16 You go, and you must gather the older men of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘Jehovah the God of YOUR forefathers has appeared to me, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, saying: “I will without fail give attention to YOU and to what is being done to YOU in Egypt. 17 And so I say, I shall bring YOU up out of affliction by the Egyptians to the land of the Ca′naan·ites and the Hit′tites and the Am′or·ites and the Per′iz·zites and the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, to a land flowing with milk and honey.”’

18 “And they will certainly listen to your voice, and you must come, you and the older men of Israel, to the king of Egypt, and YOU men must say to him, ‘Jehovah the God of the Hebrews has come in touch with us, and now we want to go, please, a journey of three days into the wilderness, and we want to sacrifice to Jehovah our God.’ 19 And I, even I, well know that the king of Egypt will not give YOU permission to go except by a strong hand. 20 And I shall have to stretch out my hand and strike Egypt with all my wonderful acts that I shall do in the midst of it; and after that he will send YOU out. 21 And I will give this people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians; and it will certainly occur that when YOU go, YOU will not go empty-handed. 22 And each woman must ask from her neighbor and from the woman residing as an alien in her house articles of silver and articles of gold and mantles, and YOU must put them upon YOUR sons and YOUR daughters; and YOU must strip the Egyptians.”

4 However, Moses in answering said: “But suppose they do not believe me and do not listen to my voice, because they are going to say, ‘Jehovah did not appear to you.’” [2] Then Jehovah said to him: “What is that in your hand?” to which he said: “A rod.” [3] Next he said: “Throw it on the earth.” So he threw it on the earth, and it became a serpent; and Moses began to flee from it. [4] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Thrust your hand out and grab hold of it by the tail.” So he thrust his hand out and grabbed hold of it, and it became a rod in his palm. [5] “In order that,” to quote him, “they may believe that Jehovah the God of their forefathers, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac and the God of Jacob, has appeared to you.”

[6] Then Jehovah said to him once more: “Stick your hand, please, into the upper fold of your garment.” So he stuck his hand into the upper fold of his garment. When he drew it out, why, here his hand was stricken with leprosy like snow! [7] After that he said: “Return your hand into the upper fold of your garment.” So he returned his hand into the upper fold of his garment. When he drew it out of the upper fold of his garment, why, here it was restored like the rest of his flesh! [8] “And it must occur that,” to quote him, “if they will not believe you and will not listen to the voice of the first sign, then they will certainly believe the voice of the later sign. [9] Still, it must occur that, if they will not believe even these two signs and will not listen to your voice, then you will have to take some water from the Nile River and pour it out on the dry land; and the water that you will take from the Nile River will certainly become, yes, it will indeed become blood on the dry land.”

[10] Moses now said to Jehovah: “Excuse me, Jehovah, but I am not a fluent speaker, neither since yesterday nor since before that nor since your speaking to your servant, for I am slow of mouth and slow of tongue.” [11] At that Jehovah said to him: “Who appointed a mouth for man or who appoints the speechless or the deaf or the clear-sighted or the blind? Is it not I, Jehovah? [12] So now go, and I myself shall prove to be with your mouth and I will teach you what you ought to say.” [13] But he said: “Excuse me, Jehovah, but send, please, by the hand of the one whom you are going to send.” [14] Then Jehovah’s anger grew hot against Moses and he said: “Is not Aaron the Levite your brother? I do know that he can really speak. And, besides, here he is on his way out to meet you. When he does see you, he will certainly rejoice in his heart. [15] And you must speak to him and put the words in his mouth; and I myself shall prove to be with your mouth and his mouth, and I will teach YOU men what YOU are to do. [16] And he must speak for you to the people; and it must occur that he will serve as a mouth to you, and you will serve as God to him. [17] And this rod you will take in your hand that you may perform the signs with it.”

[18] Accordingly Moses went and returned to Jeth′ro his father-in-law and said to him: “I want to go, please, and return to my brothers who are in Egypt that I may see whether they are still alive.” So Jeth′ro said to Moses: “Go in peace.” [19] After that Jehovah said to Moses in Mid′i·an: “Go, return to Egypt, because all the men who were hunting for your soul are dead.”

[20] Then Moses took his wife and his sons and made them ride on an ass, and he proceeded to return to the land of Egypt. Moreover, Moses took the rod of the true God in his hand. [21] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “After you have gone and returned to Egypt see that you actually perform all the miracles that I have put in your hand before Pharʹaoh. As for me, I shall let his heart become obstinate; and he will not send the people away. [22] And you must say to Pharʹaoh, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Israel is my son, my firstborn. [23] And I say to you: Send my son away that he may serve me. But should you refuse to send him away, here I am killing your son, your firstborn.”’”

[24] Now it came about on the road at the lodging place that Jehovah got to meet him and kept looking for a way to put him to death. [25] Finally Zip·poʹrah took a flint and cut off her son’s foreskin and caused it to touch his feet and said: “It is because you are a bridegroom of blood to me.” [26] Consequently he let go of him. At that time she said: “A bridegroom of blood,” because of the circumcision.

[27] Then Jehovah said to Aaron: “Go to meet Moses into the wilderness.” With that he went and met him in the mountain of the true God and kissed him. [28] And Moses proceeded to tell Aaron all the words of Jehovah, who had sent him, and all the signs that he had commanded him to do. [29] After that Moses and Aaron went and gathered all the older men of the sons of Israel. [30] Then Aaron spoke all the words that Jehovah had spoken to Moses, and he performed the signs under the eyes of the people. [31] At this the people believed. When they heard that Jehovah had turned his attention to the sons of Israel and that he had seen their affliction, then they bowed down and prostrated themselves.

5 And afterward Moses and Aaron went in and proceeded to say to Phar′aoh: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘Send my people away that they may celebrate a festival to me in the wilderness.’” [2] But Phar′aoh said: “Who is Jehovah, so that I should obey his voice to send Israel away? I do not know Jehovah at all and, what is more, I am not going to send Israel away.” [3] However, they went on to say: “The God of the Hebrews has come in touch with us. We want to go, please, a journey of three days into the wilderness and sacrifice to Jehovah our God; otherwise he may strike at us with pestilence or with sword.” [4] At this the king of Egypt said to them: “Why is it, Moses and Aaron, that YOU cause the people to leave off from their works? Go bearing YOUR burdens!” [5] And Phar′aoh continued: “Look! The people of the land are now many, and YOU indeed make them desist from their bearing of burdens.”

[6] Immediately on that day Phar′aoh commanded those who drove the people to work and their officers, saying: [7] “YOU must not gather straw to give to the people to make bricks as formerly. Let them themselves go and gather straw for themselves. [8] Moreover, the required amount of bricks that they were making formerly, YOU will further impose upon them. YOU must not make any reduction for them, because they are relaxing. That is why they are crying out, saying, ‘We want to go, we want to sacrifice to our God!’ [9] Let the service be heavy upon the men and let them work at it, and let them not pay attention to false words.”

[10] So those who drove the people to work and their officers went out and said to the people: “Here is what Phar′aoh has said, ‘I am giving YOU no more straw. [11] YOU yourselves go, get straw for yourselves wherever YOU may find it, because there is to be no reducing of YOUR services one bit.’” 12 Consequently the people scattered about over all the land of Egypt to gather stubble for straw. 13 And those who drove them to work kept urging them, saying: “Finish YOUR works, each one his work, day for day, just as when straw was available.” 14 Later on the officers of the sons of Israel, whom Phar′aoh’s taskmasters had set over them, were beaten, these saying: “Why is it YOU did not finish YOUR prescribed task in making bricks as formerly, both yesterday and today?”

15 Consequently the officers of the sons of Israel went in and began to cry out to Phar′aoh, saying: “Why do you deal this way with your servants? 16 There is no straw given to your servants and yet they are saying to us, ‘Make bricks!’ and here your servants are beaten, whereas your own people are at fault.” 17 But he said: “YOU are relaxing, YOU are relaxing! That is why YOU are saying, ‘We want to go, we want to sacrifice to Jehovah.’ 18 And now go, serve! Though no straw will be given to YOU, yet YOU are to give the fixed amount of bricks.”

19 Then the officers of the sons of Israel saw themselves in an evil plight at the saying: “YOU must not deduct from YOUR bricks one bit of anyone’s daily rate.” 20 After that they encountered Moses and Aaron, who were standing there to meet them as they came out from Phar′aoh. 21 At once they said to them: “May Jehovah look upon YOU and judge, since YOU have made us smell offensive before Phar′aoh and before his servants so as to put a sword in their hand to kill us.” 22 Then Moses turned to Jehovah and said: “Jehovah, why have you caused evil to this people? Why is it that you have sent me? 23 For from the time that I went in before Phar′aoh to speak in your name, he has done evil to this people, and you have by no means delivered your people.”

6 So Jehovah said to Moses: “Now you will see what I shall do to Phar′aoh, because on account of a strong hand he will send them away and on account of a strong hand he will drive them out of his land.”

[2] And God went on to speak to Moses and to say to him: “I am Jehovah. [3] And I used to appear to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob as God Almighty, but as respects my name Jehovah I did not make myself known to them. [4] And I also established my covenant with them to give them the land of Ca′naan, the land of their alien residences in which they resided as aliens. [5] And I, even I, have heard the groaning of the sons of Israel, whom the Egyptians are enslaving, and I remember my covenant.

[6] “Therefore say to the sons of Israel, ‘I am Jehovah, and I shall certainly bring YOU out from under the burdens of the Egyptians and deliver YOU from their slavery, and I shall indeed reclaim YOU with an outstretched arm and with great judgments. [7] And I shall certainly take YOU to me as a people, and I shall indeed prove to be God to YOU; and YOU will certainly know that I am Jehovah YOUR God who is bringing YOU out from under the burdens of Egypt. [8] And I shall certainly bring YOU into the land that I raised my hand in oath to give to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; and I shall indeed give it to YOU as something to possess. I am Jehovah.’”

[9] Afterward Moses spoke to this effect to the sons of Israel, but they did not listen to Moses out of discouragement and for the hard slavery.

[10] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [11] “Go in, speak to Phar′aoh, Egypt’s king, that he should send the sons of Israel away out of his land.” [12] However, Moses spoke before Jehovah, saying: “Look! The sons of Israel have not listened to me; and how will Pharʹaoh ever listen to me, as I am uncircumcised in lips?” [13] But Jehovah continued to speak to Moses and Aaron and to issue the command by them to the sons of Israel and to Pharʹaoh, Egypt’s king, in order to bring the sons of Israel out from the land of Egypt.

[14] These are the heads of the house of their fathers: The sons of Reuʹben, Israel’s firstborn, were Haʹnoch and Palʹlu, Hezʹron and Carʹmi. These are the families of Reuʹben.

[15] And the sons of Simʹe·on were Jem·uʹel and Jaʹmin and Oʹhad and Jaʹchin and Zoʹhar and Shaʹul the son of a Caʹnaan·ite woman. These are the families of Simʹe·on.

[16] And these are the names of the sons of Leʹvi, according to their family descents: Gerʹshon and Koʹhath and Me·rarʹi. And the years of Leʹvi’s life were a hundred and thirty-seven years.

[17] The sons of Gerʹshon were Libʹni and Shimʹe·i, according to their families.

[18] And the sons of Koʹhath were Amʹram and Izʹhar and Heʹbron and Uzʹzi·el. And the years of Koʹhath’s life were a hundred and thirty-three years.

[19] And the sons of Me·rarʹi were Mahʹli and Muʹshi.

These were the families of the Levites, according to their family descents.

[20] Now Amʹram took Jochʹe·bed his father’s sister as his wife. Later she bore him Aaron and Moses. And the years of Amʹram’s life were a hundred and thirty-seven years.

[21] And the sons of Izʹhar were Koʹrah and Neʹpheg and Zichʹri.

[22] And the sons of Uzʹzi·el were Mishʹa·el and El·zaʹphan and Sithʹri.

[23] Now Aaron took E·liʹshe·ba, Am·minʹa·dab's daughter, the sister of Nahʹshon, as his wife. Later she bore him Naʹdab and A·biʹhu, El·e·aʹzar and Ithʹa·mar.

[24] And the sons of Koʹrah were Asʹsir and El·kaʹnah and A·biʹa·saph. These were the families of the Koʹrah·ites.

[25] And El·e·aʹzar, Aaron's son, took for himself one of the daughters of Puʹti·el as his wife. Later she bore him Phinʹe·has.

These are the heads of the fathers of the Levites, according to their families.

[26] This is the Aaron and Moses to whom Jehovah said: "BRING the sons of Israel out from the land of Egypt according to their armies." [27] They were the ones speaking to Pharʹaoh, Egypt's king, to bring the sons of Israel out from Egypt. This is the Moses and Aaron.

[28] And it came about on the day that Jehovah spoke to Moses in the land of Egypt, [29] that Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: "I am Jehovah. Speak to Pharʹaoh king of Egypt everything I am speaking to you." [30] Then Moses said before Jehovah: "Look! I am uncircumcised in lips, so how will Pharʹaoh ever listen to me?"

7 Consequently Jehovah said to Moses: “See, I have made you God to Pharʹaoh, and Aaron your own brother will become your prophet. [2] You—you will speak all that I shall command you; and Aaron your brother will do the speaking to Pharʹaoh, and he must send the sons of Israel away from his land. [3] As for me, I shall let Pharʹaoh’s heart become obstinate, and I shall certainly multiply my signs and my miracles in the land of Egypt. [4] And Pharʹaoh will not listen to YOU men; and I shall have to lay my hand upon Egypt and bring my armies, my people, the sons of Israel, out from the land of Egypt with great judgments. [5] And the Egyptians will certainly know that I am Jehovah when I stretch out my hand against Egypt, and I shall indeed bring the sons of Israel out from their midst.” [6] And Moses and Aaron went ahead doing as Jehovah had commanded them. They did just so. [7] And Moses was eighty years old and Aaron was eighty-three years old at the time of their speaking to Pharʹaoh.

[8] Jehovah now said to Moses and Aaron: [9] “In case that Pharʹaoh speaks to YOU, saying, ‘Produce a miracle for yourselves,’ then you must say to Aaron, ‘Take your rod and throw it down before Pharʹaoh.’ It will become a big snake.” [10] So Moses and Aaron went on in to Pharʹaoh and did exactly as Jehovah had commanded. Accordingly Aaron threw his rod down before Pharʹaoh and his servants and it became a big snake. [11] However, Pharʹaoh also called for the wise men and the sorcerers; and the magic-practicing priests of Egypt themselves also proceeded to do the same thing with their magic arts. [12] So they threw down each one his rod, and they became big snakes; but Aaron’s rod swallowed up their rods. [13] Still, Pharʹaoh’s heart became obstinate, and he did not listen to them, just as Jehovah had spoken.

[14] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Pharʹaoh’s heart is unresponsive. He has refused to send the people away. [15] Go to Pharʹaoh in the morning. Look! He is going out to the water! And you must put yourself in position to meet him by the edge of the Nile River, and the rod that turned into a serpent you are to take in your hand. [16] And you must say to him, ‘Jehovah the God of the Hebrews has sent me to you, saying: “Send my people away that they may serve me in the wilderness,” but here you have not obeyed until now. [17] This is what Jehovah has said: “By this you will know that I am Jehovah. Here I am striking with the rod that is in my hand upon the water that is in the Nile River, and it will certainly turn into blood. [18] And the fish that are in the Nile River will die, and the Nile River will actually stink, and the Egyptians will simply have no stomach for drinking water from the Nile River.”’”

[19] Subsequently Jehovah said to Moses: “Say to Aaron, ‘Take your rod and stretch your hand out over the waters of Egypt, over their rivers, over their Nile canals and over their reedy pools and over all their impounded waters, that they may become blood.’ And there will certainly be blood in all the land of Egypt and in the wooden vessels and in the stone vessels.” [20] Immediately Moses and Aaron did so, just as Jehovah had commanded, and he lifted up the rod and struck the water that was in the Nile River under the eyes of Pharʹaoh and his servants, and all the water that was in the Nile River was turned into blood. [21] And the fish that were in the Nile River died, and the Nile River began to stink; and the Egyptians were unable to drink water from the Nile River; and the blood came to be in all the land of Egypt.

[22] Nevertheless, the magic-practicing priests of Egypt proceeded to do the same thing with their secret arts; so that Pharʹaoh’s heart continued to be obstinate, and he did not listen to them, just as Jehovah had spoken. [23] Hence Pharʹaoh turned and went into his house, and he did not set his heart to have any regard for this either. [24] And all the Egyptians went digging round about the Nile River for water to drink, because they were unable to drink any water of the Nile River. [25] And seven days came to be fulfilled after Jehovah’s striking the Nile River.

8 Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Go in to Phar′aoh, and you must say to him, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Send my people away that they may serve me. [2] And if you keep refusing to send them away, here I am plaguing all your territory with frogs. [3] And the Nile River will fairly teem with frogs, and they will certainly come up and enter into your house and your inner bedroom and upon your couch and into the houses of your servants and on your people and into your ovens and into your kneading troughs. [4] And on you and on your people and on all your servants the frogs will come up.”’”

[5] Later on Jehovah said to Moses: “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch your hand with your rod out over the rivers, the Nile canals and the reedy pools and make the frogs come up over the land of Egypt.’” [6] At that Aaron stretched his hand out over the waters of Egypt, and the frogs began to come up and to cover the land of Egypt. [7] However, the magic-practicing priests did the same thing by their secret arts and made the frogs come up over the land of Egypt. [8] In time Phar′aoh called Moses and Aaron and said: “Entreat Jehovah that he may remove the frogs from me and my people, as I want to send the people away that they may sacrifice to Jehovah.” [9] Then Moses said to Phar′aoh: “You take the glory over me to say when I shall make entreaty for you and your servants and your people in order to cut the frogs off from you and your houses. Only in the Nile River will they be left.” [10] To this he said: “Tomorrow.” So he said: “It will be according to your word, in order that you may know that there is no one else like Jehovah our God, [11] in that the frogs will certainly turn away from you and your houses and your servants and your people. Only in the Nile River will they be left.”

12 Accordingly Moses and Aaron went out from Phar′aoh, and Moses cried out to Jehovah because of the frogs that He had put upon Phar′aoh. 13 Then Jehovah did according to Moses’ word, and the frogs began to die off from the houses, the courtyards and the fields. 14 And they went piling them up, heaps upon heaps, and the land began to stink. 15 When Phar′aoh got to see that relief had taken place, he made his heart unresponsive; and he did not listen to them, just as Jehovah had spoken.

16 Jehovah now said to Moses: “Say to Aaron, ‘Stretch your rod out and strike the dust of the earth, and it must become gnats in all the land of Egypt.’” 17 And they proceeded to do this. So Aaron stretched out his hand with his rod and struck the dust of the earth, and the gnats came to be on man and beast. All the dust of the earth became gnats in all the land of Egypt. 18 And the magic-practicing priests tried to do the same by their secret arts, in order to bring forth gnats, but they were unable. And the gnats came to be on man and beast. 19 Hence the magic-practicing priests said to Phar′aoh: “It is the finger of God!” But Phar′aoh’s heart continued to be obstinate, and he did not listen to them, just as Jehovah had spoken.

20 Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Get up early in the morning and take a position in front of Phar′aoh. Look! He is coming out to the water! And you must say to him, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Send my people away that they may serve me. 21 But if you are not sending my people away, here I am sending upon you and your servants and your people and into your houses the gadfly; and the houses of Egypt will simply be full of the gadfly, and also the ground upon which they are. 22 And on that day I shall certainly make the land of Go′shen upon which my people are standing distinct, that no gadfly may exist there; in order that you may know that I am Jehovah in the midst of the earth. 23 And I shall indeed set a demarcation between my people and your people. Tomorrow this sign will take place.”’”

24 And Jehovah proceeded to do so; and heavy swarms of gadflies began to invade the house of Pharʹaoh and the houses of his servants and all the land of Egypt. The land came to ruin as a result of the gadflies. 25 Finally Pharʹaoh called Moses and Aaron and said: “Go, sacrifice to YOUR God in the land.” 26 But Moses said: “It is not admissible to do so, because we would sacrifice to Jehovah our God a thing detestable to the Egyptians. Suppose we would sacrifice a thing detestable to the Egyptians before their eyes; would they not stone us? 27 We shall go a journey of three days into the wilderness and we shall definitely sacrifice to Jehovah our God just as he has said to us.”

28 Pharʹaoh now said: “I—I shall send YOU away, and YOU will indeed sacrifice to Jehovah YOUR God in the wilderness. Only do not make it quite so far away that YOU are going. Make entreaty in my behalf.” 29 Then Moses said: “Here I am going forth from you, and I shall indeed make entreaty to Jehovah, and the gadflies will certainly turn away from Pharʹaoh, his servants and his people tomorrow. Only let not Pharʹaoh trifle again in not sending the people away to sacrifice to Jehovah.” 30 After that Moses went out from Pharʹaoh and made entreaty to Jehovah. 31 So Jehovah did according to Moses’ word, and the gadflies turned away from Pharʹaoh, his servants and his people. Not one was left. 32 However, Pharʹaoh made his heart unresponsive this time also and did not send the people away.

9 Consequently Jehovah said to Moses: “Go in to Pharʹaoh and you must state to him, ‘This is what Jehovah the God of the Hebrews has said: “Send my people away that they may serve me. [2] But if you continue refusing to send them away and you are still keeping hold of them, [3] look! Jehovah’s hand is coming upon your livestock that is in the field. On the horses, the asses, the camels, the herd and the flock there will be a very heavy pestilence. [4] And Jehovah will certainly make a distinction between the livestock of Israel and the livestock of Egypt, and not a thing of all that belongs to the sons of Israel will die.”’” [5] Moreover, Jehovah set an appointed time, saying: “Tomorrow Jehovah will do this thing in the land.”

[6] Accordingly Jehovah did this thing on the next day, and all sorts of livestock of Egypt began to die; but not one of the livestock of the sons of Israel died. [7] Then Pharʹaoh sent, and, look! not so much as one of Israel’s livestock had died. Nevertheless, Pharʹaoh’s heart continued to be unresponsive, and he did not send the people away.

[8] After that Jehovah said to Moses and Aaron: “Take for yourselves both hands full of soot from a kiln, and Moses must toss it toward the heavens in Pharʹaoh’s sight. [9] And it must become a powder upon all the land of Egypt, and it must become boils breaking out with blisters upon man and beast in all the land of Egypt.”

[10] So they took the soot of a kiln and stood before Pharʹaoh, and Moses tossed it toward the heavens, and it became boils with blisters, breaking out on man and beast. [11] And the magic-practicing priests were unable to stand before Moses as a result of the boils, because the boils had developed on the magic-practicing priests and on all the Egyptians. [12] But Jehovah let Pharʹaoh’s heart become obstinate, and he did not listen to them, just as Jehovah had stated to Moses.

[13] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Get up early in the morning and take a position in front of Pharʹaoh, and you must say to him, ‘This is what Jehovah the God of the Hebrews has said: “Send my people away that they may serve me. [14] For at this time I am sending all my blows against your heart and upon your servants and your people, to the end that you may know that there is none like me in all the earth. [15] For by now I could have thrust my hand out that I might strike you and your people with pestilence and that you might be effaced from the earth. [16] But, in fact, for this cause I have kept you in existence, for the sake of showing you my power and in order to have my name declared in all the earth. [17] Are you still behaving haughtily against my people in not sending them away? [18] Here I am causing it to rain down tomorrow about this time a very heavy hail, the like of which has never occurred in Egypt from the day it was founded until now. [19] And now send, bring all your livestock and all that is yours in the field under shelter. As for any man and beast that will be found in the field and not gathered into the house, the hail will have to come down upon them, and they will have to die.”’”

[20] Anyone who feared Jehovah’s word among Pharʹaoh’s servants caused his own servants and his livestock to flee into the houses, [21] but whoever did not set his heart to have any regard for Jehovah’s word left his servants and his livestock in the field.

[22] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Stretch out your hand toward the heavens, that hail may come on all the land of Egypt, upon man and beast and all vegetation of the field in the land of Egypt.” [23] So Moses stretched out his rod toward the heavens; and Jehovah gave thunders and hail, and fire would run down to the earth, and Jehovah kept making it rain down hail upon the land of Egypt. [24] Thus there came hail, and fire quivering in among the hail. It was very heavy, so that there had not occurred any like it in all the land of Egypt from the time it became a nation. [25] And the hail went striking at all the land of Egypt. The hail struck everything that was in the field, from man to beast, and all sorts of vegetation of the field; and it shattered all sorts of trees of the field. [26] Only in the land of Go′shen, where the sons of Israel were, there occurred no hail.

[27] Eventually Phar′aoh sent and called Moses and Aaron and said to them: “I have sinned this time. Jehovah is righteous, and I and my people are in the wrong. [28] Entreat Jehovah that this may be enough of the occurring of God’s thunders and hail. Then I am willing to send YOU away, and YOU will not stay any longer.” [29] So Moses said to him: “As soon as I go out of the city I shall spread my hands up to Jehovah. The thunders will stop and the hail will not continue any longer, in order that you may know that the earth belongs to Jehovah. [30] As for you and your servants, I know already that YOU will not even then show fear because of Jehovah God.”

[31] As it was, the flax and the barley had been struck, because the barley was in the ear and the flax had flower buds. [32] But the wheat and the spelt had not been struck, because they were seasonally late. [33] Moses now went out of the city from Phar′aoh and spread his hands up to Jehovah, and the thunders and the hail began to stop and rain did not pour down on the earth. [34] When Phar′aoh got to see that the rain and the hail and the thunders had stopped, he went sinning again and making his heart unresponsive, he as well as his servants. [35] And Phar′aoh’s heart continued obstinate, and he did not send the sons of Israel away, just as Jehovah had stated by means of Moses.

10 Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Go in to Phar′aoh, because I—I have let his heart and the hearts of his servants become unresponsive, in order that I may set these signs of mine right before him, [2] and in order that you may declare in the ears of your son and your son’s son how severely I have dealt with Egypt and my signs that I have established among them; and YOU will certainly know that I am Jehovah.”

[3] So Moses and Aaron went in to Phar′aoh and said to him: “This is what Jehovah the God of the Hebrews has said, ‘How long must you refuse to submit yourself to me? Send my people away that they may serve me. [4] For if you continue refusing to send my people away, here I am bringing locusts within your boundaries tomorrow. [5] And they will actually cover the visible surface of the earth and it will not be possible to see the earth; and they will simply eat up the rest of what has escaped, what has been left to YOU people by the hail, and they will certainly eat every sprouting tree of YOURS out of the field. [6] And your houses and the houses of all your servants and the houses of all Egypt will be filled to an extent that your fathers and your fathers’ fathers have not seen it from the day of their existing upon the ground until this day.’” With that he turned and went out from Phar′aoh.

[7] After that Phar′aoh’s servants said to him: “How long will this man prove to be as a snare to us? Send the men away that they may serve Jehovah their God. Do you not yet know that Egypt has perished?” [8] So Moses and Aaron were brought back to Phar′aoh, and he said to them: “Go, serve Jehovah YOUR God. Who in particular are the ones going?” [9] Then Moses said: “With our young people and our old people we shall go. With our sons and our daughters, with our sheep and our cattle we shall go, for we have a festival to Jehovah.” [10] In turn he said to them: “Let it prove to be so, that Jehovah is with YOU when I shall send YOU and YOUR little ones away! See, on the contrary, something evil is YOUR aim. [11] Not so! Go, please, YOU who are able-bodied men, and serve Jehovah, because that is what YOU are seeking to secure.” With that they were driven out from before Phar′aoh.

[12] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Stretch your hand out over the land of Egypt for the locusts, that they may come up over the land of Egypt and eat up all the vegetation of the land, everything that the hail has let remain.” [13] At once Moses stretched his rod out over the land of Egypt, and Jehovah caused an east wind to blow upon the land all that day and all night. The morning came and the east wind carried the locusts. [14] And the locusts began to come up over all the land of Egypt and to settle down upon all the territory of Egypt. They were very burdensome. Before them there had never turned up in this way locusts like them, and there will never turn up any in this way after them. [15] And they went covering the visible surface of the entire land, and the land grew dark; and they went on eating up all the vegetation of the land and all the fruit of the trees that the hail had left; and there was left nothing green on the trees or on the vegetation of the field in all the land of Egypt.

[16] So Phar′aoh hurriedly called Moses and Aaron and said: “I have sinned against Jehovah YOUR God and against YOU. [17] And now pardon, please, my sin just this once and ENTREAT Jehovah YOUR God that he may turn away just this deadly plague from upon me.” [18] So he went out from Phar′aoh and made entreaty to Jehovah. [19] Then Jehovah made a shift to a very stiff west wind, and it carried the locusts away and drove them into the Red Sea. Not a single locust was let remain in all the territory of Egypt. [20] However, Jehovah let Pharʹaoh’s heart become obstinate, and he did not send the sons of Israel away.

[21] Jehovah then said to Moses: “Stretch your hand out toward the heavens, that darkness may occur over the land of Egypt and the darkness may be felt.” [22] Moses immediately stretched his hand out toward the heavens, and a gloomy darkness began to occur in all the land of Egypt for three days. [23] They did not see one another, and none of them got up from his own place three days; but for all the sons of Israel there proved to be light in their dwellings. [24] After that Pharʹaoh called Moses and said: “Go, SERVE Jehovah. Only YOUR sheep and YOUR cattle will be detained. YOUR little ones also may go with YOU.” [25] But Moses said: “You yourself will also give into our hands sacrifices and burnt offerings, as we must render them to Jehovah our God. [26] And our livestock will also go with us. Not a hoof will be allowed to remain, because it is from them that we shall take some to worship Jehovah our God, and we ourselves do not know what we shall render in worship to Jehovah until our arriving there.” [27] At this Jehovah let Pharʹaoh’s heart become obstinate, and he did not consent to send them away. [28] So Pharʹaoh said to him: “Get out from me! Watch yourself! Do not try to see my face again, because on the day of your seeing my face you will die.” [29] To this Moses said: “That is the way you have spoken. I shall not try to see your face anymore.”

11 And Jehovah proceeded to say to Moses: “One plague more I am going to bring upon Pharʹaoh and Egypt. After that he will send YOU away from here. At the time he sends YOU away altogether, he will literally drive YOU out from here. [2] Speak, now, in the ears of the people, that they should ask every man of his companion and every woman of her companion articles of silver and articles of gold.” [3] Accordingly Jehovah gave the people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians. The man Moses too was very great in the land of Egypt, in the eyes of Pharʹaoh’s servants and in the eyes of the people.

[4] And Moses went on to say: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘About midnight I am going out into the midst of Egypt, [5] and every firstborn in the land of Egypt must die, from the firstborn of Pharʹaoh who is sitting on his throne to the firstborn of the maidservant who is at the hand mill and every firstborn of beast. [6] And there will certainly occur a great outcry in all the land of Egypt, the like of which has never yet occurred, and the like of which will never be brought about again. [7] But against any of the sons of Israel will no dog move eagerly its tongue, from man to beast; in order that YOU people may know that Jehovah can make a distinction between the Egyptians and the sons of Israel.’ [8] And all these servants of yours will certainly come down to me and prostrate themselves to me, saying, ‘Go, you and all the people who follow your steps.’ And after that I shall go out.” With that he went out from Pharʹaoh in the heat of anger.

[9] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Pharʹaoh will not listen to YOU men, in order for my miracles to be increased in the land of Egypt.” [10] And Moses and Aaron performed all these miracles before Pharʹaoh; but Jehovah would let Pharʹaoh’s heart become obstinate, so that he did not send the sons of Israel away from his land.

12 Jehovah now said to Moses and Aaron in the land of Egypt: [2] “This month will be the start of the months for YOU. It will be the first of the months of the year for YOU. [3] Speak to the entire assembly of Israel, saying, ‘On the tenth day of this month they are to take for themselves each one a sheep for the ancestral house, a sheep to a house. [4] But if the household proves to be too small for the sheep, then he and his neighbor close by must take it into his house according to the number of souls; YOU should compute each one proportionate to his eating as regards the sheep. [5] The sheep should prove to be sound, a male, a year old, for YOU. YOU may pick from the young rams or from the goats. [6] And it must continue under safeguard by YOU until the fourteenth day of this month, and the whole congregation of the assembly of Israel must slaughter it between the two evenings. [7] And they must take some of the blood and splash it upon the two doorposts and the upper part of the doorway belonging to the houses in which they will eat it.

[8] “‘And they must eat the flesh on this night. They should eat it roasted with fire and with unfermented cakes along with bitter greens. [9] Do not eat any of it raw or boiled, cooked in water, but roast with fire, its head together with its shanks and its interior parts. [10] And YOU must not leave any of it over till morning, but what is left over of it till morning YOU should burn with fire. [11] And in this way YOU should eat it, with YOUR hips girded, sandals on YOUR feet and YOUR staff in YOUR hand; and YOU must eat it in haste. It is Jehovah’s passover. [12] And I must pass through the land of Egypt on this night and strike every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from man to beast; and on all the gods of Egypt I shall execute judgments. I am Jehovah. [13] And the blood must serve as YOUR sign upon the houses where YOU are; and I must see the blood and pass over YOU, and the plague will not come on YOU as a ruination when I strike at the land of Egypt.

14 "'And this day must serve as a memorial for YOU, and YOU must celebrate it as a festival to Jehovah throughout YOUR generations. As a statute to time indefinite YOU should celebrate it. 15 Seven days YOU are to eat unfermented cakes. Yes, on the first day YOU are to take away sourdough from YOUR houses, because anyone eating what is leavened, from the first day down to the seventh, that soul must be cut off from Israel. 16 And on the first day there is to take place for YOU a holy convention, and on the seventh day a holy convention. No work is to be done on them. Only what every soul needs to eat, that alone may be done for YOU.

17 "'And YOU must keep the festival of unfermented cakes, because on this very day I must bring YOUR armies out from the land of Egypt. And YOU must keep this day throughout YOUR generations as a statute to time indefinite. 18 In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening YOU are to eat unfermented cakes down till the twenty-first day of the month in the evening. 19 Seven days no sourdough is to be found in YOUR houses, because anyone tasting what is leavened, whether he is an alien resident or a native of the land, that soul must be cut off from the assembly of Israel. 20 Nothing leavened are YOU to eat. In all YOUR dwellings YOU are to eat unfermented cakes.'"

21 Promptly Moses called all the older men of Israel and said to them: "Draw out and take for yourselves small cattle according to YOUR families, and slaughter the passover victim. 22 And YOU must take a bunch of hyssop and dip it into the blood in a basin and strike upon the upper part of the doorway and upon the two doorposts some of the blood that is in the basin; and none of YOU should go out of the entrance of his house until morning. [23] Then when Jehovah does pass through to plague the Egyptians and does see the blood upon the upper part of the doorway and upon the two doorposts, Jehovah will certainly pass over the entrance, and he will not allow the ruination to enter into YOUR houses to plague YOU.

[24] “And YOU must keep this thing as a regulation for you and your sons to time indefinite. [25] And it must occur that when YOU come into the land that Jehovah will give YOU, just as he has stated, then YOU must keep this service. [26] And it must occur that when YOUR sons say to YOU, ‘What does this service mean to YOU?’ [27] then YOU must say, ‘It is the sacrifice of the passover to Jehovah, who passed over the houses of the sons of Israel in Egypt when he plagued the Egyptians, but he delivered our houses.’”

Then the people bowed low and prostrated themselves. [28] Subsequently the sons of Israel went and did just as Jehovah had commanded Moses and Aaron. They did just so.

[29] And it came about that at midnight Jehovah struck every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Phar′aoh sitting on his throne to the firstborn of the captive who was in the prison hole, and every firstborn of beast. [30] Then Phar′aoh got up at night, he and all his servants and all other Egyptians; and there began arising a great outcry among the Egyptians, because there was not a house where there was not one dead. [31] At once he called Moses and Aaron by night and said: “Get up, get out from the midst of my people, both YOU and the other sons of Israel, and go, serve Jehovah, just as YOU have stated. [32] Take both YOUR flocks and YOUR herds, just as YOU have stated, and go. Also, YOU must bless me besides.”

[33] And the Egyptians began to urge the people in order to send them away quickly out of the land, “because,” they said, “we are all as good as dead! ” [34] Consequently the people carried their flour dough before it was leavened, with their kneading troughs wrapped up in their mantles upon their shoulder. [35] And the sons of Israel did according to the word of Moses in that they went asking from the Egyptians articles of silver and articles of gold and mantles. [36] And Jehovah gave the people favor in the eyes of the Egyptians, so that these granted them what was asked; and they stripped the Egyptians.

[37] And the sons of Israel proceeded to depart from Ram′e·ses for Suc′coth, to the number of six hundred thousand able-bodied men on foot, besides little ones. [38] And a vast mixed company also went up with them, as well as flocks and herds, a very numerous stock of animals. [39] And they began to bake the flour dough that they had brought out from Egypt into round cakes, unfermented cakes, because it had not leavened, for they had been driven out of Egypt and had not been able to linger and too they had not prepared any provisions for themselves.

[40] And the dwelling of the sons of Israel, who had dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. [41] And it came about at the end of the four hundred and thirty years, it even came about on this very day that all the armies of Jehovah went out of the land of Egypt. [42] It is a night for observance with regard to Jehovah for bringing them out of the land of Egypt. With regard to Jehovah this night is one for observance on the part of all the sons of Israel throughout their generations.

[43] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses and Aaron: “This is the statute of the passover: No foreigner may eat of it. [44] But where there is any slave man purchased with money, you must circumcise him. Then first he may share in eating it. [45] A settler and a hired laborer may not eat of it. [46] In one house it is to be eaten. You must not take any of the flesh out of the house to some place outside. And YOU must not break a bone in it. [47] All the assembly of Israel are to celebrate it. [48] And in case an alien resident resides as an alien with you and he will actually celebrate the passover to Jehovah, let there be a circumcising of every male of his. First then he may come near to celebrate it; and he must become like a native of the land. But no uncircumcised man may eat of it. [49] One law is to exist for the native and for the alien resident who is residing as an alien in YOUR midst.”

[50] So all the sons of Israel did just as Jehovah had commanded Moses and Aaron. They did just so. [51] And it came about on this very day that Jehovah brought the sons of Israel together with their armies out of the land of Egypt.

13 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Sanctify to me every male firstborn that opens each womb among the sons of Israel, among men and beasts. It is mine.”

[3] And Moses went on to say to the people: “Let there be a remembering of this day on which YOU went out of Egypt, from the house of slaves, because by strength of hand Jehovah brought YOU out from here. So nothing leavened may be eaten. [4] Today YOU are going out in the month of A′bib. [5] And it must occur that when Jehovah will have brought you into the land of the Ca′naan·ites and the Hit′tites and the Am′or·ites and the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, which he swore to your forefathers to give you, a land flowing with milk and honey, then you must render this service in this month. [6] Seven days you are to eat unfermented cakes, and on the seventh day is a festival to Jehovah. [7] Unfermented cakes are to be eaten for the seven days; and nothing leavened is to be seen with you, and no sourdough is to be seen with you within all your boundaries.
[8] And you must tell your son on that day, saying, ‘It is because of that which Jehovah has done to me when I came out of Egypt.’ [9] And it must serve for you as a sign upon your hand and as a memorial between your eyes, in order that Jehovah’s law may prove to be in your mouth; because by a strong hand Jehovah brought you out of Egypt. [10] And you must keep this statute at its appointed time from year to year.

[11] “And it must occur that when Jehovah brings you into the land of the Ca′naan·ites, just as he has sworn to you and to your forefathers, and when he does give it to you, [12] then you must devote everyone that opens the womb to Jehovah, and every firstling, the young of a beast, which will come to be yours. The males belong to Jehovah. 13 And every firstling ass you are to redeem with a sheep, and if you will not redeem it, then you must break its neck. And every firstborn of man among your sons you are to redeem.

14 “And it must occur that in case your son should inquire of you later on, saying, ‘What does this mean?’ then you must say to him, ‘By strength of hand Jehovah brought us out of Egypt, from the house of slaves. 15 And it came about that Phar′aoh showed obstinacy toward sending us away, and Jehovah proceeded to kill every firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of man to the firstborn of beast. That is why I am sacrificing to Jehovah all the males that open the womb, and every firstborn of my sons I redeem.’ 16 And it must serve as a sign upon your hand and as a frontlet band between your eyes, because by strength of hand Jehovah brought us out of Egypt.”

17 And it came about at the time of Phar′aoh’s sending the people away that God did not lead them by the way of the land of the Phi·lis′tines just because it was near, for God said: “It might be the people will feel regret when they see war and will certainly return to Egypt.” 18 Hence God made the people go round about by the way of the wilderness of the Red Sea. But it was in battle formation that the sons of Israel went up out of the land of Egypt. 19 And Moses was taking Joseph’s bones with him, because he had made the sons of Israel solemnly swear, saying: “God will without fail turn his attention to YOU, and YOU must take my bones up out of here with YOU.” 20 And they proceeded to depart from Suc′coth and to encamp at E′tham at the edge of the wilderness.

21 And Jehovah was going ahead of them in the daytime in a pillar of cloud to lead them by the way, and in the nighttime in a pillar of fire to give them light to go in the daytime and nighttime. [22] The pillar of cloud would not move away from before the people in the daytime nor the pillar of fire in the nighttime.

14 Jehovah now spoke to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, that they should turn back and encamp before Pi·ha·hi′roth between Mig′dol and the sea in view of Ba′al-ze′phon. In front of it YOU are to encamp by the sea. [3] Then Phar′aoh will certainly say respecting the sons of Israel, ‘They are wandering in confusion in the land. The wilderness has closed in upon them.’ [4] So I shall indeed let Phar′aoh’s heart become obstinate, and he will certainly chase after them and I shall get glory for myself by means of Phar′aoh and all his military forces; and the Egyptians will certainly know that I am Jehovah.” Accordingly they did just that.

[5] Later it was reported to the king of Egypt that the people had run away. Immediately the heart of Phar′aoh as well as his servants was changed regarding the people, so that they said: “What is this that we have done, in that we have sent Israel away from slaving for us?” [6] So he proceeded to make his war chariots ready, and he took his people with him. [7] And he proceeded to take six hundred chosen chariots and all the other chariots of Egypt and warriors upon every one of them. [8] Thus Jehovah let the heart of Phar′aoh the king of Egypt become obstinate, and he went chasing after the sons of Israel, while the sons of Israel were going out with uplifted hand. [9] And the Egyptians went chasing after them, and all the chariot horses of Phar′aoh and his cavalrymen and his military forces were overtaking them while camping by the sea, by Pi·ha·hi′roth in view of Ba′al-ze′phon.

[10] When Phar′aoh got close by, the sons of Israel began to raise their eyes and here the Egyptians were marching after them; and the sons of Israel got quite afraid and began to cry out to Jehovah. [11] And they proceeded to say to Moses: “Is it because there are no burial places at all in Egypt that you have taken us here to die in the wilderness? What is this that you have done to us in leading us out of Egypt? [12] Is this not the word we spoke to you in Egypt, saying, ‘Let us alone, that we may serve the Egyptians’? For it is better for us to serve the Egyptians than for us to die in the wilderness.” [13] Then Moses said to the people: “Do not be afraid. Stand firm and see the salvation of Jehovah, which he will perform for YOU today. For the Egyptians whom YOU do see today YOU will not see again, no, never again. [14] Jehovah will himself fight for YOU, and YOU yourselves will be silent.”

[15] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Why do you keep crying out to me? Speak to the sons of Israel that they should break camp. [16] As for you, lift up your rod and stretch your hand out over the sea and split it apart, that the sons of Israel may go through the midst of the sea on dry land. [17] As for me, here I am letting the hearts of the Egyptians become obstinate, that they may go in after them and that I may get glory for myself by means of Phar′aoh and all his military forces, his war chariots and his cavalrymen. [18] And the Egyptians will certainly know that I am Jehovah when I get glory for myself by means of Phar′aoh, his war chariots and his cavalrymen.”

[19] Then the angel of the true God who was going ahead of the camp of Israel departed and went to their rear, and the pillar of cloud departed from their van and stood in the rear of them. [20] So it came in between the camp of the Egyptians and the camp of Israel. On the one hand it proved to be a cloud together with darkness. On the other hand it kept lighting up the night. And this group did not come near that group all night long.

wind all night long and converting the sea basin into dry ground, and the waters were being split apart. [22] At length the sons of Israel went through the midst of the sea on dry land, while the waters were a wall to them on their right hand and on their left. [23] And the Egyptians took up the pursuit, and all the horses of Pharʹaoh, his war chariots and his cavalrymen began going in after them, into the midst of the sea. [24] And it came about during the morning watch that Jehovah began to look out upon the camp of the Egyptians from within the pillar of fire and cloud, and he went throwing the camp of the Egyptians into confusion. [25] And he kept taking wheels off their chariots so that they were driving them with difficulty; and the Egyptians began to say: “Let us flee from any contact with Israel, because Jehovah certainly fights for them against the Egyptians.”

[26] Finally Jehovah said to Moses: “Stretch your hand out over the sea, that the waters may come back over the Egyptians, their war chariots and their cavalrymen.” [27] Moses at once stretched his hand out over the sea, and the sea began to come back to its normal condition at the approaching of morning. All the while the Egyptians were fleeing from encountering it, but Jehovah shook the Egyptians off into the midst of the sea. [28] And the waters kept coming back. Finally they covered the war chariots and the cavalrymen belonging to all of Pharʹaoh’s military forces and who had gone into the sea after them. Not so much as one among them was let remain.

[29] As for the sons of Israel, they walked on dry land in the midst of the seabed, and the waters were for them a wall on their right hand and on their left. [30] Thus on that day Jehovah saved Israel from the hand of the Egyptians, and Israel got to see the Egyptians dead on the seashore. [31] Israel also got to see the great hand that Jehovah put in action against the Egyptians; and the people began to fear Jehovah and to put faith in Jehovah and in Moses his servant.

15 At that time Moses and the sons of Israel proceeded to sing this song to Jehovah and to say the following:
“Let me sing to Jehovah, for he has become highly exalted.
The horse and its rider he has pitched into the sea.

2 My strength and my might is Jah, since he serves for my salvation.
This is my God, and I shall laud him; my father’s God, and I shall raise him on high.

3 Jehovah is a manly person of war. Jehovah is his name.

4 Phar′aoh’s chariots and his military forces he has cast into the sea,
And the choice of his warriors have been sunk in the Red Sea.

5 The surging waters proceeded to cover them; down they went into the depths like a stone.

6 Your right hand, O Jehovah, is proving itself powerful in ability,
Your right hand, O Jehovah, can shatter an enemy.

7 And in the abundance of your superiority you can throw down those who rise up against you;
You send out your burning anger, it eats them up like stubble.

8 And by a breath from your nostrils waters were heaped up;
They stood still like a dam of floods;
The surging waters were congealed in the heart of the sea.

9 The enemy said, ‘I shall pursue! I shall overtake!
I shall divide spoil! My soul will be filled with them!
I shall draw my sword! My hand will drive them away!’

10 You blew with your breath, the sea covered them;
They sank like lead in majestic waters.

11 Who among the gods is like you, O Jehovah?
Who is like you, proving yourself mighty in holiness?
The One to be feared with songs of praise, the One doing marvels.

12 You stretched out your right hand, the earth proceeded to swallow them up.

13 You in your loving-kindness have led the people whom you have recovered;
You in your strength will certainly conduct them to your holy abiding place.

14 Peoples must hear, they will be agitated;
Birth pangs must take hold on the inhabitants of Phi·lis′ti·a.

15 At that time the sheiks of E′dom will indeed be disturbed;
As for the despots of Mo′ab, trembling will take hold on them.
All the inhabitants of Ca′naan will indeed be disheartened.

16 Fright and dread will fall upon them.
Because of the greatness of your arm they will be motionless like a stone,

Until your people pass by, O Jehovah,
Until the people whom you have produced pass by.
17 You will bring them and plant them in the mountain of your inheritance,
An established place that you have made ready for you to inhabit, O Jehovah,
A sanctuary, O Jehovah, that your hands have established.
18 Jehovah will rule as king to time indefinite, even forever.
19 When Phar′aoh’s horses with his war chariots and his cavalrymen went into the sea,
Then Jehovah brought back the waters of the sea upon them,
While the sons of Israel walked on dry land through the midst of the sea.”

20 And Mir′i·am the prophetess, Aaron’s sister, proceeded to take a tambourine in her hand; and all the women began going out with her with tambourines and in dances. 21 And Mir′i·am kept responding to the men:

“Sing to Jehovah, for he has become highly exalted.
The horse and its rider he has pitched into the sea.”

22 Later Moses caused Israel to depart from the Red Sea and they went out to the wilderness of Shur and marched on for three days in the wilderness, but they did not find water. 23 In time they came to Ma′rah, but they were not able to drink the water from Ma′rah because it was bitter. That is why he called its name Ma′rah. 24 And the people began to murmur against Moses, saying: “What are we to drink?” 25 Then he cried out to Jehovah. So Jehovah directed him to a tree, and he threw it into the water and the water became sweet.

There He established for them a regulation and a case for judgment and there he put them to the test. 26 And he went on to say: “If you will strictly listen to the voice of Jehovah your God and will do what is right in his eyes and will indeed give ear to his commandments and keep all his regulations, I shall put none of the maladies upon you that I put upon the Egyptians; because I am Jehovah who is healing you.”

27 After that they came to E′lim, where there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees. So they went camping there by the water.

16 Later they departed from E′lim, and the entire assembly of the sons of Israel finally came to the wilderness of Sin, which is between E′lim and Si′nai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their coming out of the land of Egypt.

[2] And the entire assembly of the sons of Israel began to murmur against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness. [3] And the sons of Israel kept saying to them: “If only we had died by Jehovah’s hand in the land of Egypt while we were sitting by the pots of meat, while we were eating bread to satisfaction, because YOU have brought us out into this wilderness to put this whole congregation to death by famine.”

[4] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Here I am raining down bread for YOU from the heavens; and the people must go out and pick up each his amount day for day, in order that I may put them to the test as to whether they will walk in my law or not. [5] And it must occur on the sixth day that they must prepare what they will bring in, and it must prove double what they keep picking up day by day.”

[6] So Moses and Aaron said to all the sons of Israel: “At evening YOU will certainly know that it is Jehovah who has brought YOU out from the land of Egypt. [7] And in the morning YOU will indeed see Jehovah’s glory, because he has heard YOUR murmurings against Jehovah. And what are we that YOU should murmur against us?” [8] And Moses continued: “It will be when Jehovah gives YOU in the evening meat to eat and in the morning bread to satisfaction, because Jehovah has heard YOUR murmurings that YOU are murmuring against him. And what are we? YOUR murmurings are not against us, but against Jehovah.”

[9] And Moses went on to say to Aaron: “Say to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, ‘Come near before Jehovah, because he has heard YOUR murmurings.’” [10] Then it occurred that as soon as Aaron had spoken to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, they turned and faced toward the wilderness, and, look! Jehovah’s glory appeared in the cloud.

[11] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [12] “I have heard the murmurings of the sons of Israel. Speak to them, saying, ‘Between the two evenings YOU will eat meat and in the morning YOU will be satisfied with bread; and YOU will certainly know that I am Jehovah YOUR God.’”

[13] Accordingly it occurred that in the evening the quails began to come up and cover the camp, and in the morning there had developed a layer of dew round about the camp. [14] In time the layer of dew evaporated and here upon the surface of the wilderness there was a fine flaky thing, fine like hoarfrost upon the earth. [15] When the sons of Israel got to see it, they began to say to one another: “What is it?” For they did not know what it was. Hence Moses said to them: “It is the bread that Jehovah has given YOU for food. [16] This is the word that Jehovah has commanded, ‘Pick up some of it, each one in proportion to his eating. YOU are to take an omer measure for each individual according to the number of the souls that each of YOU has in his tent.’” [17] And the sons of Israel began to do so; and they went picking it up, some gathering much and some gathering little. [18] When they would measure it by the omer, he that had gathered much had no surplus and he that had gathered little had no shortage. They picked it up each one in proportion to his eating.

[19] Then Moses said to them: “Let nobody leave any of it until the morning.” [20] But they did not listen to Moses. When some men would leave some of it until the morning, it would breed worms and stink; so that Moses became indignant at them. [21] And they would pick it up morning by morning, each one in proportion to his eating. When the sun got hot, it melted.

[22] And it came about on the sixth day that they picked up twice as much bread, two omer measures for one person. So all the chieftains of the assembly came and reported it to Moses. [23] At that he said to them: “It is what Jehovah has spoken. Tomorrow there will be a sabbath observance of a holy sabbath to Jehovah. What YOU can bake, bake, and what YOU can boil, boil, and all the surplus that there is save it up for YOU as something to be kept until the morning.” [24] Accordingly they saved it up until the morning, just as Moses had commanded; and it did not stink nor did maggots develop in it. [25] Then Moses said: “Eat it today, because today is a sabbath to Jehovah. Today YOU will not find it in the field. [26] Six days YOU will pick it up, but on the seventh day is a sabbath. On it none will form.” [27] However, it came about on the seventh day that some of the people did go out to pick it up, but they found none.

[28] Consequently Jehovah said to Moses: “How long must YOU people refuse to keep my commandments and my laws? [29] Mark the fact that Jehovah has given YOU the sabbath. That is why he is giving YOU on the sixth day the bread of two days. Keep sitting each one in his own place. Let nobody go out from his locality on the seventh day.” [30] And the people proceeded to observe the sabbath on the seventh day.

[31] And the house of Israel began to call its name “manna.” And it was white like coriander seed, and its taste was like that of flat cakes with honey. [32] Then Moses said: “This is the word that Jehovah has commanded, ‘Fill an omer measure of it as something to be kept throughout YOUR generations, in order that they may see the bread that I made YOU eat in the wilderness when I was bringing YOU out of the land of Egypt.’” [33] So Moses said to Aaron: “Take a jar and put in it an omerful of manna and deposit it before Jehovah as something to be kept throughout YOUR generations.” [34] Just as Jehovah had commanded Moses, Aaron proceeded to deposit it before the Testimony as something to be kept. [35] And the sons of Israel ate the manna forty years, until their coming to a land inhabited. The manna was what they ate until their coming to the frontier of the land of Ca′naan. [36] Now an omer is a tenth of an e′phah measure.

17 And the entire assembly of the sons of Israel proceeded to depart from the wilderness of Sin by stages, which they took according to the order of Jehovah, and went camping at Rephʹi·dim. But there was no water for the people to drink.

[2] And the people fell to quarreling with Moses and saying: “Give us water that we may drink.” But Moses said to them: “Why are YOU quarreling with me? Why do YOU keep putting Jehovah to the test?” [3] And the people went on thirsting there for water, and the people kept murmuring against Moses and saying: “Why is it that you have brought us up out of Egypt to put us and our sons and our livestock to death by thirst?” [4] Finally Moses cried out to Jehovah, saying: “What shall I do with this people? A little longer and they will stone me!”

[5] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Pass in front of the people and take with you some of the older men of Israel and your rod with which you struck the Nile River. Take it in your hand and you must walk on. [6] Look! I am standing before you there on the rock in Hoʹreb. And you must strike on the rock, and water must come out of it, and the people must drink it.” Subsequently Moses did so under the eyes of the older men of Israel. [7] So he called the name of the place Masʹsah and Merʹi·bah, because of the quarreling of the sons of Israel and because of their putting Jehovah to the test, saying: “Is Jehovah in our midst or not?”

[8] And the A·malʹek·ites proceeded to come and fight against Israel in Rephʹi·dim. [9] At this Moses said to Joshua: “Choose men for us and go out, fight against the A·malʹek·ites. Tomorrow I am stationing myself upon the top of the hill, with the rod of the true God in my hand.” [10] Then Joshua did just as Moses had said to him, in order to fight against the A·malʹek·ites; and Moses, Aaron and Hur went up to the top of the hill.

[11] And it occurred that as soon as Moses would lift his hand up, the Israelites proved superior; but as soon as he would let down his hand, the A·malʹek·ites proved superior. [12] When the hands of Moses were heavy, then they took a stone and put it under him, and he sat upon it; and Aaron and Hur supported his hands, one on this side and the other on that side, so that his hands held steady until the sun set. [13] Hence Joshua vanquished Amʹa·lek and his people with the edge of the sword.

[14] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Write this as a memorial in the book and propound it in Joshua’s ears, ‘I shall completely wipe out the remembrance of Amʹa·lek from under the heavens.’” [15] And Moses proceeded to build an altar and to call its name Je·hoʹvah-nisʹsi, [16] saying: “Because a hand is against the throne of Jah, Jehovah will have war with Amʹa·lek from generation to generation.”

18 Now Jeth′ro the priest of Mid′i·an, Moses’ father-in-law, got to hear about all that God had done for Moses and for Israel his people, how Jehovah had brought Israel out of Egypt. [2] So Jeth′ro, Moses’ father-in-law, took Zip·po′rah, Moses’ wife, after the sending of her away, [3] and her two sons, the name of one of whom was Ger′shom, “because,” he said, “an alien resident I have come to be in a foreign land”; [4] and the name of the other was E·li·e′zer, “because,” to quote him, “the God of my father is my helper in that he delivered me from Phar′aoh’s sword.”

[5] So Jeth′ro, Moses’ father-in-law, and his sons and his wife came to Moses into the wilderness where he was camping, at the mountain of the true God. [6] Then he sent word to Moses: “I, your father-in-law, Jeth′ro, am come to you, and also your wife and her two sons with her.” [7] At once Moses went on out to meet his father-in-law, and he proceeded to prostrate himself and to kiss him; and they each one began asking how the other was getting along. After that they went into the tent.

[8] And Moses went to relating to his father-in-law all that Jehovah had done to Phar′aoh and Egypt on account of Israel, and all the hardship that had befallen them in the way, and yet Jehovah was delivering them. [9] Then Jeth′ro felt glad over all the good that Jehovah had done for Israel in that he had delivered them from the hand of Egypt. [10] Consequently Jeth′ro said: “Blessed be Jehovah, who has delivered YOU from the hand of Egypt and from the hand of Phar′aoh, and who has delivered the people from under the hand of Egypt. [11] Now I do know that Jehovah is greater than all the other gods by reason of this affair in which they acted presumptuously against them.” [12] Then Jeth′ro, Moses’ father-in-law, took a burnt offering and sacrifices for God; and Aaron and all the older men of Israel came to eat bread with Moses’ father-in-law, before the true God.

[13] And it came about on the next day that Moses sat down as usual to serve as judge for the people, and the people kept standing before Moses from the morning till the evening. [14] And Moses’ father-in-law got to see all that he was doing for the people. So he said: “What kind of business is this that you are doing for the people? Why do you alone continue sitting and all the people continue taking their stand before you from morning till evening?” [15] Then Moses said to his father-in-law: “Because the people keep coming to me to inquire of God. [16] In the event that they have a case arise, it must come to me and I must judge between the one party and the other, and I must make known the decisions of the true God and his laws.”

[17] At this Moses’ father-in-law said to him: “It is not good the way you are doing. [18] You will surely wear out, both you and this people who are with you, because this business is too big a load for you. You are unable to do it by yourself. [19] Now listen to my voice. I shall advise you, and God will prove to be with you. You yourself serve as representative for the people before the true God, and you yourself must bring the cases to the true God. [20] And you must warn them of what the regulations and the laws are, and you must make known to them the way in which they should walk and the work that they should do. [21] But you yourself should select out of all the people capable men, fearing God, trustworthy men, hating unjust profit; and you must set these over them as chiefs over thousands, chiefs over hundreds, chiefs over fifties and chiefs over tens. [22] And they must judge the people on every proper occasion; and it must occur that every big case they will bring to you, but every small case they themselves will handle as judges. So make it lighter for yourself, and they must carry the load with you. [23] If you do this very thing, and God has commanded you, you will then certainly be able to stand it and, besides, this people will all come to their own place in peace.”

[24] Immediately Moses listened to the voice of his father-in-law and did all that he had said. [25] And Moses proceeded to choose capable men out of all Israel and to give them positions as heads over the people, as chiefs of thousands, chiefs of hundreds, chiefs of fifties and chiefs of tens. [26] And they judged the people on every proper occasion. A hard case they would bring to Moses, but every small case they themselves would handle as judges. [27] After that Moses saw his father-in-law off, and he went his way to his land.

19 In the third month after the sons of Israel came out of the land of Egypt, on the same day, they came into the wilderness of Si′nai. [2] And they proceeded to pull away from Reph′i·dim and to come into the wilderness of Si′nai and to encamp in the wilderness; and Israel went camping there in front of the mountain.

[3] And Moses went up to the true God, and Jehovah began to call to him out of the mountain, saying: “This is what you are to say to the house of Jacob and to tell the sons of Israel, [4] ‘YOU yourselves have seen what I did to the Egyptians, that I might carry YOU on wings of eagles and bring YOU to myself. [5] And now if YOU will strictly obey my voice and will indeed keep my covenant, then YOU will certainly become my special property out of all other peoples, because the whole earth belongs to me. [6] And YOU yourselves will become to me a kingdom of priests and a holy nation.’ These are the words that you are to say to the sons of Israel.”

[7] So Moses came and called the older men of the people and set before them all these words that Jehovah had commanded him. [8] After that all the people answered unanimously and said: “All that Jehovah has spoken we are willing to do.” Immediately Moses took back the words of the people to Jehovah. [9] At this Jehovah said to Moses: “Look! I am coming to you in a dark cloud, in order that the people may hear when I speak with you, and that in you also they may put faith to time indefinite.” Then Moses reported the words of the people to Jehovah.

[10] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “Go to the people, and you must sanctify them today and tomorrow, and they must wash their mantles. [11] And they must prove ready for the third day, because on the third day Jehovah will come down before the eyes of all the people upon Mount Si′nai. [12] And you must set bounds for the people round about, saying, ‘Guard yourselves against going up into the mountain, and do not touch the edge of it. Anybody touching the mountain will positively be put to death. [13] No hand is to touch him, because he will positively be stoned or will positively be shot through. Whether beast or man, he will not live.’ At the blowing of the ram’s horn they themselves may come up to the mountain.”

[14] Then Moses went down from the mountain to the people, and he set about sanctifying the people; and they engaged in washing their mantles. [15] Accordingly he said to the people: “Get ready during the three days. Do not YOU men come near a woman.”

[16] And on the third day when it became morning it came about that thunders and lightnings began occurring, and a heavy cloud upon the mountain and a very loud sound of a horn, so that all the people who were in the camp began to tremble. [17] Moses now brought the people out of the camp to meet the true God, and they went taking their stand at the base of the mountain. [18] And Mount Si′nai smoked all over, due to the fact that Jehovah came down upon it in fire; and its smoke kept ascending like the smoke of a kiln, and the whole mountain was trembling very much. [19] When the sound of the horn became continually louder and louder, Moses began to speak, and the true God began to answer him with a voice.

[20] So Jehovah came down upon Mount Si′nai to the top of the mountain. Then Jehovah called Moses to the top of the mountain, and Moses went on up. [21] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Go down, warn the people, that they do not try to break through to Jehovah to take a look and many of them have to fall. [22] And let the priests also who regularly come near to Jehovah sanctify themselves, that Jehovah may not break out upon them.” [23] At this Moses said to Jehovah: “The people are not able to come up to Mount Si′nai, because you yourself already warned us, saying, ‘Set bounds for the mountain and make it sacred.’” [24] However, Jehovah said to him: “Go, descend, and you must come up, you and Aaron with you; but let not the priests and the people break through to come up to Jehovah, that he may not break out upon them.” [25] Accordingly Moses descended to the people and told them.

20 And God proceeded to speak all these words, saying:

[2] “I am Jehovah your God, who have brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves. [3] You must not have any other gods against my face.

[4] “You must not make for yourself a carved image or a form like anything that is in the heavens above or that is on the earth underneath or that is in the waters under the earth. [5] You must not bow down to them nor be induced to serve them, because I Jehovah your God am a God exacting exclusive devotion, bringing punishment for the error of fathers upon sons, upon the third generation and upon the fourth generation, in the case of those who hate me; [6] but exercising loving-kindness toward the thousandth generation in the case of those who love me and keep my commandments.

[7] “You must not take up the name of Jehovah your God in a worthless way, for Jehovah will not leave the one unpunished who takes up his name in a worthless way.

[8] “Remembering the sabbath day to hold it sacred, [9] you are to render service and you must do all your work six days. [10] But the seventh day is a sabbath to Jehovah your God. You must not do any work, you nor your son nor your daughter, your slave man nor your slave girl nor your domestic animal nor your alien resident who is inside your gates. [11] For in six days Jehovah made the heavens and the earth, the sea and everything that is in them, and he proceeded to rest on the seventh day. That is why Jehovah blessed the sabbath day and proceeded to make it sacred.

12 “Honor your father and your mother in order that your days may prove long upon the ground that Jehovah your God is giving you.

13 “You must not murder.

14 “You must not commit adultery.

15 “You must not steal.

17 “You must not desire your fellowman’s house. You must not desire your fellowman’s wife, nor his slave man nor his slave girl nor his bull nor his ass nor anything that belongs to your fellowman.”

18 Now all the people were seeing the thunders and the lightning flashes and the sound of the horn and the mountain smoking. When the people got to see it, then they quivered and stood at a distance. 19 And they began to say to Moses: “You speak with us, and let us listen; but let not God speak with us for fear we may die.” 20 So Moses said to the people: “Do not be afraid, because for the sake of putting YOU to the test the true God has come, and in order that the fear of him may continue before YOUR faces that YOU may not sin.” 21 And the people kept standing at a distance, but Moses went near to the dark cloud mass where the true God was.

22 And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “This is what you are to say to the sons of Israel, ‘YOU yourselves have seen that it was from the heavens I spoke with YOU. 23 YOU must not make along with me gods of silver, and YOU must not make gods of gold for yourselves. 24 An altar of ground you are to make for me, and you must sacrifice upon it your burnt offerings and your communion sacrifices, your flock and your herd. In every place where I shall cause my name to be remembered I shall come to you and shall certainly bless you. [25] And if you should make an altar of stones for me, you must not build them as hewn stones. In the event that you do wield your chisel upon it, then you will profane it. [26] And you must not go up by steps to my altar, that your private parts may not be exposed upon it.’

[2] “In case you should buy a Hebrew slave, he will be a slave six years, but in the seventh he will go out as one set free without charge. [3] If he should come in by himself, by himself he will go out. If he is the owner of a wife, then his wife must go out with him. [4] If his master should give him a wife and she does bear him sons or daughters, the wife and her children will become her master’s and he will go out by himself. [5] But if the slave should insistently say, ‘I really love my master, my wife and my sons; I do not want to go out as one set free,’ [6] then his master must bring him near to the true God and must bring him up against the door or the doorpost; and his master must pierce his ear through with an awl, and he must be his slave to time indefinite.

[7] “And in case a man should sell his daughter as a slave girl, she will not go out in the way that the slave men go out. [8] If she is displeasing in the eyes of her master so that he does not designate her as a concubine but causes her to be redeemed, he will not be entitled to sell her to a foreign people in his treacherously dealing with her. [9] And if it should be to his son that he designates her, he is to do to her according to the due right of daughters. [10] If he should take another wife for himself, her sustenance, her clothing and her marriage due are not to be diminished. [11] If he will not render these three things to her, then she must go out for nothing, without money.

[12] “One who strikes a man so that he actually dies is to be put to death without fail. [13] But where one does not lie in wait and the true God lets it occur at his hand, then I must fix for you a place where he can flee. [14] And in case a man becomes heated against his fellow to the point of killing him with craftiness, you are to take him even from being at my altar to die. [15] And one who strikes his father and his mother is to be put to death without fail.

[16] “And one who kidnaps a man and who actually sells him or in whose hand he has been found is to be put to death without fail.

[17] “And one who calls down evil upon his father and his mother is to be put to death without fail.

[18] “And in case men should get into a quarrel and one does strike his fellow with a stone or a hoe and he does not die but must keep to his bed; [19] if he gets up and does walk about out of doors upon some support of his, then the one who struck him must be free from punishment; he will make compensation only for the time lost from that one’s work until he gets him completely healed.

[20] “And in case a man strikes his slave man or his slave girl with a stick and that one actually dies under his hand, that one is to be avenged without fail. [21] However, if he lingers for a day or two days, he is not to be avenged, because he is his money.

[22] “And in case men should struggle with each other and they really hurt a pregnant woman and her children do come out but no fatal accident occurs, he is to have damages imposed upon him without fail according to what the owner of the woman may lay upon him; and he must give it through the justices. [23] But if a fatal accident should occur, then you must give soul for soul, [24] eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, [25] branding for branding, wound for wound, blow for blow.

[26] “And in case a man should strike the eye of his slave man or the eye of his slave girl and he really ruins it, he is to send him away as one set free in compensation for his eye. [27] And if it should be the tooth of his slave man or the tooth of his slave girl that he knocks out, he is to send him away as one set free in compensation for his tooth.

[28] “And in case a bull should gore a man or a woman and that one actually dies, the bull is to be stoned without fail, but its flesh is not to be eaten; and the owner of the bull is free from punishment. [29] But if a bull was formerly in the habit of goring and warning was served on its owner but he would not keep it under guard, and it did put a man or a woman to death, the bull is to be stoned and also its owner is to be put to death. [30] If a ransom should be imposed upon him, then he must give the redemption price for his soul according to all that may be imposed upon him. [31] Whether it gored a son or gored a daughter, it is to be done to him according to this judicial decision. [32] If it was a slave man or a slave girl that the bull gored, he will give the price of thirty shekels to that one’s master, and the bull will be stoned.

[33] “And in case a man should open a pit, or in case a man should excavate a pit and should not cover it, and a bull or an ass does fall into it, [34] the owner of the pit is to make compensation. The price he is to return to its owner, and the dead animal will become his own. [35] And in case a man’s bull should hurt another’s bull and it does die, then they must sell the live bull and divide the price paid for it; and also the dead one they should divide. [36] Or if it was known that a bull was in the habit of goring formerly but its owner would not keep it under guard, he should without fail make compensation with bull for bull, and the dead one will become his own.

22 “In case a man should steal a bull or a sheep and he does slaughter it or sell it, he is to compensate with five of the herd for the bull and four of the flock for the sheep.

[2] (“If a thief should be found in the act of breaking in and he does get struck and die, there is no bloodguilt for him. [3] If the sun has shone forth upon him, there is bloodguilt for him.)

“He is to make compensation without fail. If he has nothing, then he must be sold for the things he stole. [4] If there should be unmistakably found in his hand what was stolen, from bull to ass and to sheep, alive, he is to make double compensation.

[5] “If a man causes a field or a vineyard to be grazed over and he does send out his beasts of burden and cause a consuming in another field, he is to make compensation with the best of his own field or with the best of his own vineyard.

[6] “In case a fire should spread out and it does catch thorns, and sheaves or standing grain or a field gets consumed, the one who started the fire is to make compensation without fail for what was burned.

[7] “In case a man should give his fellow money or articles to keep, and it gets stolen from the man’s house, if the thief should be found, he is to make double compensation. [8] If the thief should not be found, then the owner of the house must be brought near to the true God to see whether he did not put his hand upon the goods of his fellow. [9] As regards any case of transgression, concerning a bull, an ass, a sheep, a garment, anything lost of which he may say, ‘This is it!’ the case of them both is to come to the true God. The one whom

God will pronounce wicked is to make double compensation to his fellow.

[10] “In case a man should give his fellow an ass or bull or sheep or any domestic animal to keep, and it does die or get maimed or gets led off while nobody is looking, [11] an oath by Jehovah is to take place between them both that he did not put his hand on the goods of his fellow; and their owner must accept it, and the other is not to make compensation. [12] But if they should for a fact be stolen from him, he is to make compensation to their owner. [13] If it should for a fact be torn by a wild beast, he is to bring it as evidence. For something torn by a wild beast he is not to make compensation.

[14] “But in case anybody should ask for something of his fellow, and it does get maimed or die while its owner is not with it, he is to make compensation without fail. [15] If its owner is with it, he is not to make compensation. If it is hired, it must come in its hire.

[16] “Now in case a man seduces a virgin who is not engaged, and he actually lies down with her, he is to obtain her without fail as his wife for the purchase price. [17] If her father flatly refuses to give her to him, he is to pay over the money at the rate of purchase money for virgins.

[20] “One who sacrifices to any gods but Jehovah alone is to be devoted to destruction.

[21] “And you must not maltreat an alien resident or oppress him, for YOU people became alien residents in the land of

[22] “YOU people must not afflict any widow or fatherless boy. [23] If you should afflict him at all, then if he cries out to me at all, I shall unfailingly hear his outcry; [24] and my anger will indeed blaze, and I shall certainly kill YOU with the sword, and YOUR wives must become widows and YOUR sons fatherless boys.

[25] “If you should lend money to my people, to the afflicted alongside you, you must not become like a usurer to him. YOU must not lay interest upon him.

[26] “If you should at all seize the garment of your fellow as a pledge, you are to return it to him at the setting of the sun. [27] For it is his only covering. It is his mantle for his skin. In what will he lie down? And it must occur that he will cry out to me, and I shall certainly hear, because I am gracious.

[28] “You must not call down evil upon God nor curse a chieftain among your people.

[29] “Your full produce and the overflow of your press you must not give hesitantly. The firstborn of your sons you are to give to me. [30] The way you are to do with your bull and your sheep is this: Seven days it will continue with its mother. On the eighth day you are to give it to me.

[31] “And YOU should prove yourselves holy men to me; and YOU must not eat flesh in the field that is something torn by a wild beast. YOU should throw it to the dogs.

23 “You must not take up an untrue report. Do not cooperate with a wicked one by becoming a witness who schemes violence. [2] You must not follow after the crowd for evil ends; and you must not testify over a controversy so as to turn aside with the crowd in order to pervert justice. [3] As for the lowly one, you must not show preference in a controversy of his.

[4] “Should you come upon your enemy’s bull or his ass going astray, you are to return it without fail to him. [5] Should you see the ass of someone who hates you lying down under its load, then you must refrain from leaving him. With him you are without fail to get it loose.

[6] “You are not to pervert the judicial decision of your poor man in his controversy.

[7] “You are to keep far from a false word. And do not kill the innocent and the righteous, for I shall not declare the wicked one righteous.

[8] “You are not to accept a bribe, for the bribe blinds clear-sighted men and can distort the words of righteous men.

[9] “And you must not oppress an alien resident, as YOU yourselves have known the soul of the alien resident, because YOU became alien residents in the land of Egypt.

[10] “And for six years you are to sow your land with seed and you must gather its produce. [11] But the seventh year you are to leave it uncultivated and you must let it lie fallow, and the poor ones of your people must eat of it; and what is left over by them the wild beasts of the field are to eat. That is the way you are to do with your vineyard and your olive grove.

[12] “Six days you are to do your work; but on the seventh day you are to desist, in order that your bull and your ass may rest and the son of your slave girl and the alien resident may refresh themselves.

[13] “And YOU are to be on YOUR guard respecting all that I have said to YOU; and YOU must not mention the name of other gods. It should not be heard upon your mouth.

[14] “Three times in the year you are to celebrate a festival to me. [15] You will keep the festival of unfermented cakes. You will eat unfermented cakes seven days, just as I have commanded you, at the appointed time in the month of A′bib, because in it you came out of Egypt. And they must not appear before me empty-handed. [16] Also, the festival of harvest of the first ripe fruits of your labors, of what you sow in the field; and the festival of ingathering at the outgoing of the year, when you gather in your labors from the field. [17] On three occasions in the year every male of yours will appear before the face of the true Lord, Jehovah.

[18] “You must not sacrifice along with what is leavened the blood of my sacrifice. And the fat of my festival should not stay overnight until morning.

[19] “The best of the first ripe fruits of your ground you are to bring to the house of Jehovah your God.

[20] “Here I am sending an angel ahead of you to keep you on the road and to bring you into the place that I have prepared. [21] Watch yourself because of him and obey his voice. Do not behave rebelliously against him, for he will not pardon YOUR transgression; because my name is within him. [22] However, if you strictly obey his voice and really do all that I shall speak, then I shall certainly be hostile to your enemies and harass those who harass you. [23] For my angel will go ahead of you and will indeed bring you to the Am′or·ites and the Hit′tites and the Per′iz·zites and the Ca′naan·ites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, and I shall certainly efface them. [24] You must not bow down to their gods or be induced to serve them, and you must not make anything like their works, but you will without fail throw them down and you will without fail break down their sacred pillars. [25] And YOU must serve Jehovah YOUR God, and he will certainly bless your bread and your water; and I shall indeed turn malady away from your midst. [26] Neither a woman suffering an abortion nor a barren woman will exist in your land. I shall make the number of your days full.

[27] “And I shall send the fright of me ahead of you, and I shall certainly throw into confusion all the people among whom you come, and I shall indeed give the back of the neck of all your enemies to you. [28] And I will send the feeling of dejection ahead of you, and it will simply drive the Hi′vites, the Ca′naan·ites and the Hit′tites out from before you. [29] I shall not drive them out from before you in one year, that the land may not become a desolate waste and the wild beasts of the field really multiply against you. [30] Little by little I shall drive them out from before you, until you become fruitful and really take possession of the land.

[31] “And I will fix your boundary from the Red Sea to the sea of the Phi·lis′tines and from the wilderness to the River; because I shall give into YOUR hand the inhabitants of the land, and you will certainly drive them out from before yourself. [32] You are not to conclude a covenant with them or their gods. [33] They should not dwell in your land, that they may not cause you to sin against me. In case you should serve their gods, it would become a snare to you.”

24 And to Moses he said: “Go up to Jehovah, you and Aaron, Na′dab and A·bi′hu and seventy of the older men of Israel, and YOU must bow down from a distance. [2] And Moses by himself must approach Jehovah; but they should not approach, and the people should not go up with him.”

[3] Then Moses came and related to the people all the words of Jehovah and all the judicial decisions, and all the people answered with one voice and said: “All the words that Jehovah has spoken we are willing to do.” [4] Accordingly Moses wrote down all the words of Jehovah. Then he got up early in the morning and built at the foot of the mountain an altar and twelve pillars corresponding with the twelve tribes of Israel. [5] After that he sent young men of the sons of Israel and they offered up burnt offerings and sacrificed bulls as sacrifices, as communion sacrifices to Jehovah. [6] Then Moses took half the blood and put it in bowls, and half the blood he sprinkled upon the altar. [7] Finally he took the book of the covenant and read it in the ears of the people. Then they said: “All that Jehovah has spoken we are willing to do and be obedient.” [8] So Moses took the blood and sprinkled it upon the people and said: “Here is the blood of the covenant that Jehovah has concluded with YOU as respects all these words.”

[9] And Moses and Aaron, Na′dab and A·bi′hu and seventy of the older men of Israel proceeded to go up, [10] and they got to see the God of Israel. And under his feet there was what seemed like a work of sapphire flagstones and like the very heavens for purity. [11] And he did not put out his hand against the distinguished men of the sons of Israel, but they got a vision of the true God and ate and drank.

[12] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Come up to me in the mountain and stay there, as I want to give you the stone tablets and the law and the commandment that I must write in order to teach them.” [13] So Moses and Joshua his minister got up and Moses went up into the mountain of the true God. [14] But to the older men he had said: “YOU wait for us in this place until we return to YOU. And, look! Aaron and Hur are with YOU. Whoever has a case at law, let him approach them.” [15] Thus Moses went up into the mountain while the cloud was covering the mountain.

[16] And Jehovah’s glory continued to reside upon Mount Si′nai, and the cloud continued to cover it for six days. At length on the seventh day he called to Moses from the midst of the cloud. [17] And to the eyes of the sons of Israel the sight of Jehovah’s glory was like a devouring fire on the mountaintop. [18] Then Moses entered into the midst of the cloud and went on up the mountain. And Moses continued in the mountain forty days and forty nights.

25 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, that they may take up a contribution for me: From every man whose heart incites him YOU people are to take up the contribution of mine. [3] And this is the contribution that YOU are to take up from them: gold and silver and copper, [4] and blue thread, and wool dyed reddish purple, and coccus scarlet material, and fine linen, and goat’s hair, [5] and ram skins dyed red, and sealskins, and acacia wood; [6] oil for the luminary, balsam oil for the anointing oil and for perfumed incense; [7] and onyx stones and setting stones for the eph′od and for the breastpiece. [8] And they must make a sanctuary for me, as I must tabernacle in the midst of them. [9] According to all that I am showing you as the pattern of the tabernacle and pattern of all its furnishings, that is the way YOU are to make it.

[10] “And they must make an Ark of acacia wood, two and a half cubits its length and a cubit and a half its width and a cubit and a half its height. [11] And you must overlay it with pure gold. Inside and outside you are to overlay it, and you must make a border of gold round about upon it. [12] And you must cast four rings of gold for it and put them above its four feet, with two rings upon the one side of it and two rings upon its other side. [13] And you must make poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. [14] And you must put the poles through the rings upon the sides of the Ark in order to carry the Ark with them. [15] In the rings of the Ark the poles are to stay. They are not to be removed from it. [16] And you must place in the Ark the testimony that I shall give you.

17 “And you must make a cover of pure gold, two and a half cubits its length and a cubit and a half its width. 18 And you must make two cherubs of gold. Of hammered work you are to make them on both ends of the cover. 19 And make one cherub on this end and one cherub on that end. On the cover YOU are to make the cherubs at its two ends. 20 And the cherubs must be spreading out their two wings upward, screening over the cover with their wings, with their faces one toward the other. Toward the cover the faces of the cherubs should be. 21 And you must place the cover above upon the Ark, and in the Ark you will place the testimony that I shall give you. 22 And I will present myself to you there and speak with you from above the cover, from between the two cherubs that are upon the ark of the testimony, even all that I shall command you for the sons of Israel.

23 “And you must make a table of acacia wood, two cubits its length and a cubit its width and a cubit and a half its height. 24 And you must overlay it with pure gold, and you must make for it a border of gold round about. 25 And you must make for it a rim of a handbreadth round about, and you must make the border of gold for its rim round about. 26 And you must make for it four rings of gold and place the rings on the four corners that are for the four feet. 27 The rings should be close by the rim as supports for the poles to carry the table. 28 And you must make the poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold, and they must carry the table with them.

29 “And you must make its dishes and its cups and its pitchers and its bowls with which they will pour libations. You are to make them out of pure gold. 30 And you must put the showbread upon the table before me constantly.

[31] “And you must make a lampstand of pure gold. Of hammered work the lampstand is to be made. Its base, its branches, its cups, its knobs and its blossoms are to proceed out from it. [32] And six branches are running out from its sides, three branches of the lampstand from its one side and three branches of the lampstand from its other side. [33] Three cups shaped like flowers of almond are on the one set of branches, with knobs and blossoms alternating, and three cups shaped like flowers of almond on the other set of branches, with knobs and blossoms alternating. This is the way it is with the six branches running out from the lampstand. [34] And on the lampstand are four cups shaped like flowers of almond, with its knobs and its blossoms alternating. [35] And the knob under two branches is out of it and the knob under the two other branches is out of it and the knob under two more branches is out of it, for the six branches running out from the lampstand. [36] Their knobs and their branches are to proceed out from it. All of it is one piece of hammered work, of pure gold. [37] And you must make seven lamps for it; and the lamps must be lit up, and they must shine upon the area in front of it. [38] And its snuffers and its fire holders are of pure gold. [39] Of a talent of pure gold he should make it with all these utensils of it. [40] And see that you make them after their pattern that was shown to you in the mountain.

26 “And the tabernacle you are to make of ten tent cloths, of fine twisted linen and blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material. With cherubs, the work of an embroiderer, you will make them. [2] The length of each tent cloth is twenty-eight cubits and the width of each tent cloth is four cubits. There is one measure for all the tent cloths. [3] Five tent cloths are to form a series with the one joined to the other, and five tent cloths a series with the one joined to the other. [4] And you must make loops of blue thread upon the edge of the one tent cloth at the end of the series; and you are to do the same upon the edge of the outermost tent cloth at the other place of junction. [5] You will make fifty loops on the one tent cloth, and fifty loops you will make on the extremity of the tent cloth that is at the other place of junction, the loops being opposite one to the other. [6] And you must make fifty hooks of gold and join the tent cloths one to the other by means of the hooks, and it must become one tabernacle.

[7] “And you must make cloths of goat’s hair for the tent upon the tabernacle. You will make eleven tent cloths. [8] The length of each tent cloth is thirty cubits, and the width of each tent cloth is four cubits. There is one measure for the eleven tent cloths. [9] And you must join five tent cloths by themselves and six tent cloths by themselves, and you must fold double the sixth tent cloth at the forefront of the tent. [10] And you must make fifty loops upon the edge of the one tent cloth, the outermost one in the series, and fifty loops upon the edge of the tent cloth at the other place of junction. [11] And you must make fifty hooks of copper and put the hooks in the loops and join the tent together, and it must become one. [12] And what remains over of the cloths of the tent is an overhanging. Half of the tent cloth that remains over is to hang over the back of the tabernacle. [13] And the cubit on this side and the cubit on that side in what remains over in the length of the cloths of the tent will serve as an overhanging on the sides of the tabernacle, to cover it on this side and on that.

[15] “And you must make the panel frames for the tabernacle of acacia wood, standing on end. [16] Ten cubits is the length of a panel frame, and a cubit and a half is the width of each panel frame. [17] Each panel frame has two tenons joined one to the other. That is the way you will do with all the panel frames of the tabernacle. [18] And you must make the panel frames for the tabernacle, twenty panel frames for the side toward the Neg′eb, to the south.

[19] “And you will make forty socket pedestals of silver under the twenty panel frames; two socket pedestals under the one panel frame with its two tenons, and two socket pedestals under the other panel frame with its two tenons. [20] And for the other side of the tabernacle, the northern side, twenty panel frames, [21] and their forty socket pedestals of silver, two socket pedestals under the one panel frame and two socket pedestals under the other panel frame. [22] And for the rear sections of the tabernacle to the west you will make six panel frames. [23] And you will make two panel frames as corner posts of the tabernacle on its two rear sections. [24] And they should be duplicates at the bottom, and together they should be duplicates up to the top of each one at the first ring. That is the way it should be for the two of them. They will serve as two corner posts. [25] And there must be eight panel frames and their socket pedestals of silver, sixteen pedestals, two socket pedestals under the one panel frame and two socket pedestals under the other panel frame.

[26] “And you must make bars of acacia wood, five for the panel frames of the one side of the tabernacle, [27] and five bars for the panel frames of the other side of the tabernacle and five bars for the panel frames of the side of the tabernacle for the two rear sections to the west. [28] And the middle bar at the center of the panel frames is running through from end to end.

[29] “And you will overlay the panel frames with gold, and their rings you will make of gold as supports for the bars; and you must overlay the bars with gold. [30] And you must set up the tabernacle according to the plan of it that you have been shown in the mountain.

[31] “And you must make a curtain of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen. He will make it with cherubs, the work of an embroiderer. [32] And you must put it upon four pillars of acacia overlaid with gold. Their pegs are of gold. They are upon four socket pedestals of silver. [33] And you must put the curtain under the hooks and bring the ark of the testimony there within the curtain; and the curtain must make a division for YOU between the Holy and the Most Holy. [34] And you must put the cover upon the ark of the testimony in the Most Holy.

[35] “And you must set the table outside the curtain, and the lampstand opposite the table on the side of the tabernacle toward the south; and the table you will put on the north side. [36] And you must make a screen for the entrance of the tent of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen, the work of a weaver. [37] And you must make for the screen five pillars of acacia and overlay them with gold. Their pegs are of gold. And you must cast for them five socket pedestals of copper.

27 “And you must make the altar of acacia wood, five cubits its length and five cubits its width. The altar should be foursquare, and its height three cubits. [2] And you must make its horns upon its four corners. Its horns will proceed out of it, and you must overlay it with copper. [3] And you must make its cans for clearing away its fatty ashes, and its shovels, and its bowls, and its forks, and its fire holders; and you will make all its utensils of copper. [4] And you must make a grating for it, a network of copper; and you must make upon the net four rings of copper at its four extremities. [5] And you must put it under the altar’s rim down within, and the net must be toward the center of the altar. [6] And you must make poles for the altar, its poles being of acacia wood, and you must overlay them with copper. [7] And its poles must be put into the rings, and the poles must be upon the two sides of the altar when carrying it. [8] A hollow chest of planks you will make it. Just as he showed you in the mountain, so they will make it.

[9] “And you must make the courtyard of the tabernacle. For the side toward the Negʹeb, to the south, the courtyard has hangings of fine twisted linen, a hundred cubits being the length for the one side. [10] And its twenty pillars and their twenty socket pedestals are of copper. The pegs of the pillars and their joints are of silver. [11] So, too, it is for the north side in length, the hangings being for a hundred cubits of length, and its twenty pillars and their twenty socket pedestals being of copper, the pegs of the pillars and their joints being of silver. [12] As for the width of the courtyard, on the west side the hangings are of fifty cubits, their pillars being ten and their socket pedestals ten. [13] And the width of the courtyard on the east side toward the sunrising is fifty cubits. 14 And there are fifteen cubits of hangings to one side, their pillars being three and their socket pedestals three. 15 And for the other side there are fifteen cubits of hangings, their pillars being three and their socket pedestals three.

16 “And for the gate of the courtyard there is a screen twenty cubits long, of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen, the work of a weaver, their pillars being four and their socket pedestals four. 17 All the pillars of the courtyard round about have fastenings of silver, and their pegs are of silver but their socket pedestals of copper. 18 The length of the courtyard is a hundred cubits, and the width fifty cubits, and the height five cubits, of fine twisted linen, and their socket pedestals being of copper. 19 And all the utensils of the tabernacle in all its service, and all its tent pins, and all the pins of the courtyard are of copper.

20 “As for you, you are to command the sons of Israel that they get for you pure, beaten olive oil for the luminary, in order to light up the lamps constantly. 21 In the tent of meeting, outside the curtain that is by the Testimony, Aaron and his sons will set it in order from evening till morning before Jehovah. It is a statute to time indefinite for their generations, to be performed by the sons of Israel.

28 “And as for you, bring near to yourself Aaron your brother and his sons with him from the midst of the sons of Israel that he may act as priest to me, Aaron, Na′dab and A·bi′hu, El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar, the sons of Aaron. [2] And you must make holy garments for Aaron your brother, for glory and beauty. [3] And you yourself are to speak to all the ones wise with a heart that I have filled with the spirit of wisdom, and they must make Aaron’s garments for sanctifying him, that he may act as priest to me.

[4] “And these are the garments that they will make: a breastpiece, and an eph′od and a sleeveless coat and a robe of checkerwork, a turban and a sash; and they must make the holy garments for Aaron your brother and his sons, that he may act as priest to me. [5] And they themselves will take the gold and the blue thread and the wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and the fine linen.

[6] “And they must make the eph′od of gold, blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple, coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen, the work of an embroiderer. [7] And it is to have two shoulder pieces to be joined at its two extremities, and it must be joined. [8] And the girdle, which is upon it for tying it close, according to its workmanship should be of its materials, of gold, blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen.

[9] “And you must take two onyx stones and engrave upon them the names of the sons of Israel, [10] six of their names upon the one stone and the names of the six remaining ones upon the other stone in the order of their births. [11] With the work of a craftsman in stones, with the engravings of a seal, you are to engrave the two stones with the names of the sons of Israel. Set in settings of gold is how you will make them. [12] And you must put the two stones upon the shoulder pieces of the eph′od as memorial stones for the sons of Israel; and Aaron must carry their names before Jehovah upon his two shoulder pieces as a memorial. [13] And you must make settings of gold, [14] and two chains of pure gold. As cords you will make them, with the workmanship of a rope; and you must attach the ropelike chains to the settings.

[15] “And you must make the breastpiece of judgment with the workmanship of an embroiderer. Like the workmanship of the eph′od you will make it. Of gold, blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen you will make it. [16] It should be foursquare when doubled, a span of the hand being its length and a span of the hand its width. [17] And you must fill it with a filling of stones, there being four rows of stones. A row of ruby, topaz and emerald is the first row. [18] And the second row is turquoise, sapphire and jasper. [19] And the third row is lesh′em stone, agate and amethyst. [20] And the fourth row is chrys′o·lite and onyx and jade. Sockets of gold should be in their fillings. [21] And the stones should be according to the names of the sons of Israel, the twelve according to their names. With the engravings of a seal they should be, each one according to its name, for the twelve tribes.

[22] “And you must make upon the breastpiece wreathed chains, in ropework, of pure gold. [23] And you must make upon the breastpiece two rings of gold, and you must put the two rings upon the two extremities of the breastpiece. [24] And you must put the two ropes of gold through the two rings at the extremities of the breastpiece. [25] And you will put the two ends of the two ropes through the two settings, and you must put them upon the shoulder pieces of the

eph′od, at the forefront of it. [26] And you must make two rings of gold and set them at the two extremities of the breastpiece upon its edge that is on the side toward the eph′od inward. [27] And you must make two rings of gold and put them upon the two shoulder pieces of the eph′od from below, on its forefront, near its place of joining, above the girdle of the eph′od. [28] And they will bind the breastpiece by its rings to the rings of the eph′od with a blue string, that it may continue above the girdle of the eph′od and the breastpiece may not get displaced from on top the eph′od.

[29] “And Aaron must carry the names of the sons of Israel on the breastpiece of judgment over his heart when he comes into the Holy as a memorial before Jehovah constantly. [30] And you must put the U′rim and the Thum′mim into the breastpiece of judgment, and they must prove to be over Aaron’s heart when he comes in before Jehovah; and Aaron must carry the judgments of the sons of Israel over his heart before Jehovah constantly.

[31] “And you must make the sleeveless coat of the eph′od completely of blue thread. [32] And there must be an opening at its top in the middle of it. Its opening should have a border round about, the product of a loom worker. Like the opening of a coat of mail it should be for it, that it may not be torn. [33] And you must make upon the hem of it pomegranates of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material, upon its hem round about, and bells of gold in between them round about; [34] a bell of gold and a pomegranate, a bell of gold and a pomegranate upon the hem of the sleeveless coat round about. [35] And it must be upon Aaron that he may minister, and the sound from him must be heard when he goes into the sanctuary before Jehovah and when he comes out, that he may not die.

[36] “And you must make a shining plate of pure gold and engrave upon it with the engravings of a seal, ‘Holiness belongs to Jehovah.’ [37] And you must fasten it with a blue string, and it must come to be upon the turban. On the forefront of the turban it should come to be. [38] And it must come to be upon Aaron’s forehead, and Aaron must answer for the error committed against the holy objects, which the sons of Israel will sanctify, that is to say, all their holy gifts; and it must stay upon his forehead constantly, to gain approval for them before Jehovah.

[39] “And you must weave in checkerwork the robe of fine linen and make a turban of fine linen, and you will make a sash, the work of a weaver.

[40] “And for Aaron’s sons you will make robes, and you must make sashes for them, and you will make headgears for them for glory and beauty. [41] And with them you must clothe Aaron your brother and his sons with him, and you must anoint them and fill their hand with power and sanctify them, and they must act as priests to me. [42] And make drawers of linen for them to cover the naked flesh. From the hips and to the thighs they are to extend. [43] And they must be upon Aaron and his sons when they come into the tent of meeting or when they go near to the altar to minister in the holy place, that they may not incur error and certainly die. It is a statute to time indefinite for him and his offspring after him.

29 “And this is the thing that you are to do to them to sanctify them for acting as priests to me: Take a young bull, and two rams, sound ones, [2] and unfermented bread and unfermented ring-shaped cakes moistened with oil and unfermented wafers smeared with oil. Out of fine wheat flour you will make them. [3] And you must put them upon a basket and present them in the basket, and also the bull and the two rams.

[4] “And you will present Aaron and his sons at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and you must wash them with water. [5] Then you must take the garments and clothe Aaron with the robe and the sleeveless coat of the ephʹod and with the ephʹod and the breastpiece, and you must tie it closely to him with the girdle of the ephʹod. [6] And you must set the turban upon his head and put the holy sign of dedication upon the turban. [7] And you must take the anointing oil and pour it upon his head and anoint him.

[8] “Then you will bring his sons near and you must clothe them with the robes. [9] And you must gird them with the sashes, Aaron as well as his sons, and you must wrap the headgear upon them; and the priesthood must become theirs as a statute to time indefinite. So you must fill the hand of Aaron and the hand of his sons with power.

[10] “You must now present the bull before the tent of meeting, and Aaron and his sons must lay their hands upon the bull’s head. [11] And you must slaughter the bull before Jehovah, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [12] And you must take some of the bull’s blood and put it with your finger upon the horns of the altar, and all the rest of the blood you will pour out at the base of the altar. [13] And you must take all the fat that covers the intestines, and the appendage upon the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, and you must make them smoke upon the altar. [14] But the bull’s flesh and its skin and its dung you will burn with fire outside the camp. It is a sin offering.

[15] “Then you will take the one ram, and Aaron and his sons must lay their hands upon the ram’s head. [16] And you must slaughter the ram and take its blood and sprinkle it round about upon the altar. [17] And you will cut up the ram into its pieces, and you must wash its intestines and its shanks and put its pieces to one another and up to its head. [18] And you must make the entire ram smoke upon the altar. It is a burnt offering to Jehovah, a restful odor. It is an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

[19] “Next you must take the other ram, and Aaron and his sons must lay their hands upon the ram’s head. [20] And you must slaughter the ram and take some of its blood and put it upon the lobe of Aaron’s right ear and upon the lobe of his sons’ right ear and upon the thumb of their right hand and the big toe of their right foot, and you must sprinkle the blood round about upon the altar. [21] And you must take some of the blood that is upon the altar and some of the anointing oil, and you must spatter it upon Aaron and his garments and upon his sons and the garments of his sons with him, that he and his garments and his sons and the garments of his sons with him may indeed be holy.

[22] “And you must take from the ram the fat and the fat tail and the fat that covers the intestines, and the appendage of the liver, and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, and the right leg, for it is a ram of installation; [23] also a round loaf of bread and a ring-shaped cake of oiled bread and a wafer out of the basket of unfermented cakes that is before Jehovah. [24] And you must place them all upon the palms of Aaron and upon the palms of his sons, and you must wave them to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. [25] And you must take them off their hands and make them smoke upon the altar upon the burnt offering as a restful odor before Jehovah. It is an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

[26] “And you must take the breast of the ram of installation, which is for Aaron, and wave it to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah, and it must become your portion. [27] And you must sanctify the breast of the wave offering and the leg of the sacred portion that was waved and that was contributed from the ram of installation, from what was for Aaron and from what was for his sons. [28] And it must become Aaron’s and his sons’ by a regulation to time indefinite to be performed by the sons of Israel, because it is a sacred portion; and it will become a sacred portion to be rendered by the sons of Israel. From their communion sacrifices it is their sacred portion for Jehovah.

[29] “And the holy garments that are Aaron’s will serve for his sons after him to anoint them in them and to fill their hand with power in them. [30] Seven days the priest who succeeds him from among his sons and who comes into the tent of meeting to minister in the holy place will wear them.

[31] “And you will take the ram of installation, and you must boil its flesh in a holy place. [32] And Aaron and his sons must eat the flesh of the ram and the bread that is in the basket at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [33] And they must eat the things with which atonement has been made to fill their hand with power, in order to sanctify them. But a stranger may not eat them, because they are something holy. [34] And if any of the flesh of the installation sacrifice and of the bread should be left over until the morning, then you must burn what is left over with fire. It must not be eaten, because it is something holy.

[35] “And you must do this way to Aaron and his sons according to all that I have commanded you. You will take seven days to fill their hand with power. [36] And you will offer the bull of the sin offering daily for an atonement, and you must purify the altar from sin by your making atonement over it, and you must anoint it to sanctify it. [37] You will take seven days to make atonement over the altar, and you must sanctify it that it may indeed become a most holy altar. Anyone who touches the altar is to be holy.

[38] “And this is what you will offer upon the altar: young rams each a year old, two a day constantly. [39] And you will offer the one young ram in the morning, and you will offer the other young ram between the two evenings. [40] And a tenth part of an e′phah measure of fine flour moistened with the fourth of a hin of beaten oil, and a drink offering of the fourth of a hin of wine, will go for the first young ram. [41] And you will offer the second young ram between the two evenings. With a grain offering like that of the morning and with a drink offering like its, you will render it as a restful odor, an offering made by fire to Jehovah. [42] It is a constant burnt offering throughout YOUR generations at the entrance of the tent of meeting before Jehovah, where I shall present myself to YOU people to speak to you there.

[43] “And I will present myself there to the sons of Israel, and it will certainly be sanctified by my glory. [44] And I will sanctify the tent of meeting and the altar; and I shall sanctify Aaron and his sons for them to act as priests to me. [45] And I will tabernacle in the midst of the sons of Israel, and I will prove to be their God. [46] And they will certainly know that I am Jehovah their God, who brought them out of the land of Egypt that I may tabernacle in the midst of them. I am Jehovah their God.

30 “And you must make an altar as a place for burning incense; out of acacia wood you will make it. [2] A cubit in length and a cubit in width, it should be foursquare, and its height two cubits. Its horns extend out of it. [3] And you must overlay it with pure gold, its top surface and its sides round about and its horns; and you must make a border of gold round about for it. [4] You will also make for it two rings of gold. Down below its border upon two of its sides you will make them, upon two opposite sides of it, as they must serve as supports for the poles with which to carry it. [5] And you must make the poles of acacia wood and overlay them with gold. [6] And you must put it before the curtain that is near the ark of the testimony, before the cover that is over the Testimony, where I shall present myself to you.

[7] “And Aaron must make perfumed incense smoke upon it. Morning by morning, when he dresses the lamps, he will make it smoke. [8] And when Aaron lights up the lamps between the two evenings, he will make it smoke. It is an incense constantly before Jehovah during YOUR generations. [9] YOU must not offer upon it illegitimate incense or a burnt offering or a grain offering; and YOU must not pour a drink offering upon it. [10] And Aaron must make atonement upon its horns once a year. With some of the blood of the sin offering of the atonement he will make atonement for it once a year during YOUR generations. It is most holy to Jehovah.”

[11] And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [12] “Whenever you take the sum of the sons of Israel as a census of them, then they must each give a ransom for his soul to Jehovah when taking a census of them, that there may come to be no plague upon them when taking a census of them. [13] This is what all those will give who pass over to those numbered: a half shekel by the shekel of the holy place. Twenty geʹrahs equal a shekel. A half shekel is the contribution to Jehovah. 14 Everyone passing over to those registered from twenty years old and upward will give Jehovah’s contribution. 15 The rich should not give more, and the lowly must not give less than the half shekel, in order to give Jehovah’s contribution so as to make atonement for YOUR souls. 16 And you must take the silver money of the atonement from the sons of Israel and give it in behalf of the service of the tent of meeting, that it may indeed serve as a memorial before Jehovah for the sons of Israel, to make atonement for YOUR souls.”

17 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: 18 “You must make a basin of copper and its stand of copper for washing, and you must put it between the tent of meeting and the altar and put water into it. 19 And Aaron and his sons must wash their hands and their feet at it. 20 When they go into the tent of meeting they will wash with water that they may not die, or when they go near the altar to minister in order to make an offering made by fire smoke to Jehovah. 21 And they must wash their hands and their feet that they may not die, and it must serve as a regulation to time indefinite for them, for him and his offspring throughout their generations.”

22 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: 23 “As for you, take to yourself the choicest perfumes: myrrh in congealed drops five hundred units, and sweet cinnamon in half that amount, two hundred and fifty units, and sweet calamus two hundred and fifty units, 24 and cassia five hundred units by the shekel of the holy place, and olive oil a hin. 25 Then you must make out of it a holy anointing oil, an ointment, a mixture that is the work of an ointment maker. It is to be a holy anointing oil.

[26] “And you must anoint with it the tent of meeting and the ark of the testimony, [27] and the table and all its utensils and the lampstand and its utensils and the altar of incense, [28] and the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils and the basin and its stand. [29] And you must sanctify them that they may indeed become most holy. Anyone touching them is to be holy. [30] And you will anoint Aaron and his sons, and you must sanctify them for acting as priests to me.

[31] “And you will speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘This is to continue as a holy anointing oil to me during YOUR generations. [32] It is not to be rubbed in the flesh of mankind, and with its composition YOU must not make any like it. It is something holy. It is to continue as something holy for YOU. [33] Anyone who makes an ointment like it and who puts some of it upon a stranger must be cut off from his people.’”

[34] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “Take to yourself perfumes: stacte drops and onycha and perfumed galbanum and pure frankincense. There should be the same portion of each. [35] And you must make it into an incense, a spice mixture, the work of an ointment maker, salted, pure, something holy. [36] And you must pound some of it into fine powder and put some of it before the Testimony in the tent of meeting, where I shall present myself to you. It should be most holy to YOU people. [37] And the incense that you will make with this composition, YOU must not make for yourselves. For you it is to continue as something holy to Jehovah. [38] Whoever makes any like it to enjoy its smell must be cut off from his people.”

31 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “See, I do call by name Bez′al·el the son of U′ri the son of Hur of the tribe of Judah. [3] And I shall fill him with the spirit of God in wisdom and in understanding and in knowledge and in every kind of craftsmanship, [4] for designing devices, for working in gold and silver and copper, [5] and in working of stones to set them and in working of wood to make products of every kind. [6] As for me, look! I do put with him O·ho′li·ab the son of A·his′a·mach of the tribe of Dan, and in the heart of everyone wise of heart I do put wisdom, that they may indeed make everything I have commanded you: [7] the tent of meeting and the Ark for the testimony and the cover that is upon it, and all the utensils of the tent, [8] and the table and its utensils, and the lampstand of pure gold and all its utensils, and the altar of incense, [9] and the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils, and the basin and its stand, [10] and the garments of knitted work and the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons for acting as priests; [11] and the anointing oil and the perfumed incense for the sanctuary. According to everything I have commanded you they will do.”

[12] And Jehovah said further to Moses: [13] “As for you, speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘Especially my sabbaths YOU are to keep, for it is a sign between me and YOU during YOUR generations that YOU may know that I Jehovah am sanctifying YOU. [14] And YOU must keep the sabbath, for it is something holy to YOU. A profaner of it will positively be put to death. In case there is anyone doing work on it, then that soul must be cut off from the midst of his people. [15] Six days may work be done, but on the seventh day is a sabbath of complete rest. It is something holy to Jehovah. Anyone doing work on the sabbath day will positively be put to death. [16] And the sons of Israel must keep the sabbath, so as to carry out the sabbath during their generations. It is a covenant to time indefinite. [17] Between me and the sons of Israel it is a sign to time indefinite, because in six days Jehovah made the heavens and the earth and on the seventh day he rested and proceeded to refresh himself.’”

[18] Now as soon as he had finished speaking with him on Mount Si′nai he proceeded to give Moses two tablets of the Testimony, tablets of stone written on by God’s finger.

32 Meanwhile the people got to see that Moses was taking a long time about coming down from the mountain. So the people congregated themselves about Aaron and said to him: “Get up, make for us a god who will go ahead of us, because as regards this Moses, the man who led us up out of the land of Egypt, we certainly do not know what has happened to him.” [2] At this Aaron said to them: “Tear off the gold earrings that are in the ears of YOUR wives, of YOUR sons and of YOUR daughters and bring them to me.” [3] And all the people began tearing off the gold earrings that were in their ears and bringing them to Aaron. [4] Then he took the gold from their hands, and he formed it with a graving tool and proceeded to make it into a molten statue of a calf. And they began to say: “This is your God, O Israel, who led you up out of the land of Egypt.”

[5] When Aaron got to see this, he went to building an altar before it. Finally Aaron called out and said: “There is a festival to Jehovah tomorrow.” [6] So on the next day they were early in rising, and they began offering up burnt offerings and presenting communion sacrifices. After that the people sat down to eat and drink. Then they got up to have a good time.

[7] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Go, descend, because your people whom you led up out of the land of Egypt have acted ruinously. [8] They have turned aside in a hurry from the way I have commanded them to go. They have made a molten statue of a calf for themselves and keep bowing down to it and sacrificing to it and saying, ‘This is your God, O Israel, who led you up out of the land of Egypt.’” [9] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “I have looked at this people and here it is a stiff-necked people. [10] So now let me be, that my anger may blaze against them and I may exterminate them, and let me make you into a great nation.”

[11] And Moses proceeded to soften the face of Jehovah his God and to say: “Why, O Jehovah, should your anger blaze against your people whom you brought out of the land of Egypt with great power and with a strong hand? [12] Why should the Egyptians say, ‘With evil intent he brought them out in order to kill them among the mountains and to exterminate them from the surface of the ground’? Turn from your burning anger and feel regret over the evil against your people. [13] Remember Abraham, Isaac and Israel your servants, to whom you swore by yourself, in that you said to them, ‘I shall multiply YOUR seed like the stars of the heavens, and all this land that I have designated I shall give to YOUR seed, that they may indeed take possession of it to time indefinite.’”

[14] And Jehovah began to feel regret over the evil that he had spoken of doing to his people.

[15] After that Moses turned and went down from the mountain with the two tablets of the Testimony in his hand, tablets written upon on both their sides. On this side and on that they were written upon. [16] And the tablets were the workmanship of God, and the writing was the writing of God engraved upon the tablets. [17] And Joshua began to hear the noise of the people because of their shouting, and he proceeded to say to Moses: “There is a noise of battle in the camp.” [18] But he said:

“It is not the sound of the singing over mighty performance,
And it is not the sound of the singing of defeat;
It is the sound of other singing that I am hearing.”

[19] So it came about that as soon as he got near the camp and could see the calf and the dances, Moses’ anger began to blaze, and he at once threw the tablets from his hands and shattered them at the foot of the mountain. [20] Then he took the calf that they had made and he burnt it with fire and crushed it till it was fine, after which he scattered it upon the surface of the waters and made the sons of Israel drink it. [21] After that Moses said to Aaron: “What did this people do to you that you have brought a great sin upon it?” [22] To this Aaron said: “Do not let the anger of my lord blaze. You yourself well know the people, that they are evil-inclined. [23] So they said to me, ‘Make for us a god who will go ahead of us, because as regards this Moses, the man who led us up out of the land of Egypt, we certainly do not know what has happened to him.’ [24] Hence I said to them, ‘Who have any gold? They must tear it off themselves that they may give it to me.’ And I proceeded to throw it into the fire and this calf came on out.”

[25] And Moses got to see that the people went unrestrained, because Aaron had let them go unrestrained for a disgrace among their opposers. [26] Then Moses took his stand in the gate of the camp and said: “Who is on Jehovah’s side? To me! ” And all the sons of Le′vi began gathering themselves to him. [27] He now said to them: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘Put each one of YOU his sword on his side. Pass through and return from gate to gate in the camp and kill each one his brother and each one his fellow and each one his intimate acquaintance.’” [28] And the sons of Le′vi proceeded to do as Moses had said, so that there fell of the people on that day about three thousand men. [29] And Moses went on to say: “Fill YOUR hand today with power for Jehovah, because each one of YOU is against his own son and his own brother, and that he may confer a blessing upon YOU today.”

[30] And it came about on the very next day that Moses proceeded to say to the people: “YOU—YOU have sinned with a great sin, and now I shall go up to Jehovah. Perhaps I can make amends for YOUR sin.” [31] So Moses returned to Jehovah and said: “Ah, but this people has sinned with a great sin, in that they made a god of gold for themselves! [32] But now if you will pardon their sin,—and if not, wipe me out, please, from your book that you have written.” [33] However, Jehovah said to Moses: “Whoever has sinned against me, I shall wipe him out of my book. [34] And now, come, lead the people to where I have spoken to you of. Look! My angel will go ahead of you, and on the day of my bringing punishment I shall certainly bring punishment upon them for their sin.” [35] And Jehovah began plaguing the people because they had made the calf, which Aaron had made.

33 And Jehovah said further to Moses: “Go, move up from here, you and the people whom you led up out of the land of Egypt, to the land about which I swore to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, saying, ‘To your seed I shall give it.’ [2] And I will send an angel ahead of you and drive out the Ca′naan·ites, the Am′or·ites, and the Hit′tites and the Per′iz·zites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites; [3] to a land flowing with milk and honey, for I shall not go up in the midst of you, because you are a stiff-necked people, that I may not exterminate you on the way.”

[4] When the people got to hear this evil word, they began to mourn; and none of them put his ornaments on himself. [5] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “Say to the sons of Israel, ‘YOU are a stiff-necked people. In one moment I could go up into the midst of you and certainly exterminate you. So now put down your ornaments off yourself, as I want to know what I am going to do to you.’” [6] And the sons of Israel went stripping their ornaments off themselves from Mount Ho′reb onward.

[7] As for Moses, he proceeded to take his tent away and he pitched it outside the camp, far away from the camp; and he called it a tent of meeting. And it occurred that everyone inquiring of Jehovah would go out to the tent of meeting, which was outside the camp. [8] And it occurred that as soon as Moses went out to the tent, all the people would rise, and they stationed themselves each one at the entrance of his own tent, and they gazed after Moses until he went into the tent. [9] It also occurred that as soon as Moses had gone into the tent, the pillar of cloud would come down, and it stood at the entrance of the tent and he spoke with Moses. [10] And all the people saw the pillar of cloud standing at the entrance of the tent, and all the people rose and bowed down each one at the entrance of his own tent. [11] And Jehovah spoke to Moses face to face, just as a man would speak to his fellow. When he returned to the camp, his minister Joshua, the son of Nun, as attendant, would not withdraw from the midst of the tent.

[12] Now Moses said to Jehovah: “See, you are saying to me, ‘Lead this people up,’ but you yourself have not let me know whom you will send with me. Moreover, you yourself have said, ‘I do know you by name and, besides, you have found favor in my eyes.’ [13] And now, if, please, I have found favor in your eyes, make me know, please, your ways, that I may know you, in order that I may find favor in your eyes. And consider that this nation is your people.” [14] So he said: “My own person will go along and I shall certainly give you rest.” [15] At this he said to him: “If your own person is not going along, do not lead us up from here. [16] And by what, now, will it be known that I have found favor in your eyes, I and your people? Is it not by your going along with us, in that I and your people have been made distinct from all the other people who are upon the surface of the ground?”

[17] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “This thing, too, of which you have spoken, I shall do, because you have found favor in my eyes and I know you by name.” [18] At this he said: “Cause me to see, please, your glory.” [19] But he said: “I myself shall cause all my goodness to pass before your face, and I will declare the name of Jehovah before you; and I will favor the one whom I may favor, and I will show mercy to the one to whom I may show mercy.” [20] And he added: “You are not able to see my face, because no man may see me and yet live.”

occur that while my glory is passing by I must place you in a hole in the rock, and I must put my palm over you as a screen until I have passed by. [23] After that I must take my palm away, and you will indeed see my back. But my face may not be seen.”

34 Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Carve out for yourself two tablets of stone like the first ones, and I must write upon the tablets the words that appeared on the first tablets, which you shattered. [2] And get ready for the morning, as you must go up in the morning into Mount Si′nai and station yourself by me there on the top of the mountain. [3] But nobody may go up with you and, too, let nobody else be seen in all the mountain. What is more, no flock or herd should be pasturing in front of that mountain.”

[4] Accordingly Moses carved out two tablets of stone like the first ones and got up early in the morning and went on up into Mount Si′nai, just as Jehovah had commanded him, and he was taking the two tablets of stone in his hand. [5] And Jehovah proceeded to come down in the cloud and station himself with him there and declare the name of Jehovah. [6] And Jehovah went passing by before his face and declaring: “Jehovah, Jehovah, a God merciful and gracious, slow to anger and abundant in loving-kindness and truth, [7] preserving loving-kindness for thousands, pardoning error and transgression and sin, but by no means will he give exemption from punishment, bringing punishment for the error of fathers upon sons and upon grandsons, upon the third generation and upon the fourth generation.”

[8] Moses at once hurried to bow low to the earth and prostrate himself. [9] Then he said: “If, now, I have found favor in your eyes, O Jehovah, let Jehovah, please, go along in the midst of us, because it is a stiff-necked people, and you have to forgive our error and our sin, and you must take us as your possession.” [10] In turn he said: “Here I am concluding a covenant: Before all your people I shall do wonderful things that have never been created in all the earth or among all the nations; and all the people in the midst of whom you are will indeed see the work of Jehovah, because it is a fear-inspiring thing that I am doing with you.

[11] “For your part keep what I am commanding you today. Here I am driving out from before you the Am′or·ites and the Ca′naan·ites and the Hit′tites and the Per′iz·zites and the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites. [12] Watch yourself that you do not conclude a covenant with the inhabitants of the land to which you are going, for fear it may prove itself a snare in your midst. [13] But their altars YOU people are to pull down, and their sacred pillars YOU are to shatter, and their sacred poles YOU are to cut down. [14] For you must not prostrate yourself to another god, because Jehovah, whose name is Jealous, he is a jealous God; [15] for fear that you may conclude a covenant with the inhabitants of the land, as they will certainly have immoral intercourse with their gods and sacrifice to their gods, and someone will be certain to invite you, and you will certainly eat some of his sacrifice. [16] Then you will have to take some of their daughters for your sons, and their daughters will be certain to have immoral intercourse with their gods and make your sons have immoral intercourse with their gods.

[18] “The festival of unfermented cakes you are to keep. You will eat unfermented cakes, just as I have commanded you, seven days at the appointed time in the month of A′bib, because it was in the month of A′bib that you came out of Egypt.

[19] “Everything that first opens the womb is mine, and, as regards all your livestock, the male firstling of bull and of sheep. [20] And the firstling of an ass you are to redeem with a sheep. But if you will not redeem it, then you must break its neck. Every firstborn of your sons you are to redeem. And they must not appear before me empty-handed.

[21] “Six days you are to labor, but on the seventh day you will keep sabbath. In plowing time and in harvest you will keep sabbath.

[22] “And you will carry on your festival of weeks with the first ripe fruits of the wheat harvest, and the festival of ingathering at the turn of the year.

[23] “Three times in the year every male of yours is to appear before the true Lord, Jehovah, the God of Israel. [24] For I shall drive the nations away from before you, and I will make your territory spacious; and nobody will desire your land while you are going up to see the face of Jehovah your God three times in the year.

[25] “You must not slaughter along with what is leavened the blood of my sacrifice. And the sacrifice of the festival of the passover should not stay overnight until the morning.

[26] “The best of the first ripe fruits of your soil you are to bring to the house of Jehovah your God.

[27] And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “Write down for yourself these words, because it is in accordance with these words that I do conclude a covenant with you and Israel.” [28] And he continued there with Jehovah forty days and forty nights. He ate no bread and he drank no water. And he proceeded to write upon the tablets the words of the covenant, the Ten Words.

[29] Now it came about when Moses came down from Mount Si′nai that the two tablets of the Testimony were in the hand of Moses when he came down from the mountain, and Moses did not know that the skin of his face emitted rays because of his having spoken with him. [30] When Aaron and all the sons of Israel got to see Moses, why, look! the skin of his face emitted rays and they grew afraid of coming near to him.

[31] And Moses proceeded to call them. So Aaron and all the chieftains among the assembly came back to him, and Moses began to speak to them. [32] First after that all the sons of Israel came near to him, and he began commanding them all that Jehovah had spoken with him on Mount Si′nai. [33] When Moses would finish speaking with them, he would put a veil over his face. [34] But when Moses would go in before Jehovah to speak with him, he would take away the veil until his going out. And he went out and spoke to the sons of Israel what he would be commanded. [35] And the sons of Israel saw Moses’ face, that the skin of Moses’ face emitted rays; and Moses put the veil back over his face until he went in to speak with him.

35 Later Moses called the entire assembly of the sons of Israel together and said to them: “These are the words that Jehovah has commanded, to do them: [2] Six days may work be done, but on the seventh day it will become something holy to YOU, a sabbath of complete rest to Jehovah. Anybody doing work on it will be put to death. [3] YOU must not light a fire in any of YOUR dwelling places on the sabbath day.”

[4] And Moses went on to say to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel: “This is the word that Jehovah has commanded, saying, [5] ‘From among yourselves take up a contribution for Jehovah. Let every willing-hearted one bring it as Jehovah’s contribution, namely, gold and silver and copper [6] and blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine linen and goat’s hair [7] and ram skins dyed red and sealskins and acacia wood [8] and oil for the luminary and balsam oil for the anointing oil and for the perfumed incense [9] and onyx stones and setting stones for the eph′od and for the breastpiece.

[10] “‘And let all the wise-hearted ones among YOU come and make all that Jehovah has commanded, [11] namely, the tabernacle with its tent and its covering, its hooks and its panel frames, its bars, its pillars and its socket pedestals; [12] the Ark and its poles, the cover and the curtain of the screen; [13] the table and its poles and all its utensils and the showbread; [14] and the lampstand of illumination and its utensils and its lamps and the oil for illumination; [15] and the altar of incense and its poles; and the anointing oil and the perfumed incense; and the screen of the entrance for the tabernacle’s entrance; [16] the altar of burnt offering and the copper grating that is for it, its poles and all its utensils; the basin and its stand; [17] the hangings of the courtyard, its pillars and its socket pedestals; and the screen of the gate of the courtyard; [18] the tent pins of the tabernacle and the tent pins of the courtyard and their cords; [19] the garments of knitted work for ministering in the sanctuary, the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons for acting as priests.’”

[20] Accordingly all the assembly of the sons of Israel went out from before Moses. [21] Then they came, everyone whose heart impelled him, and they brought, everyone whose spirit incited him, Jehovah’s contribution for the work of the tent of meeting and for all its service and for the holy garments. [22] And they kept coming, the men along with the women, every willing-hearted one. They brought brooches and earrings and rings and female ornaments, all sorts of articles of gold, that is, everyone who presented the wave offering of gold to Jehovah. [23] And all those with whom there were found blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine linen and goat’s hair and ram skins dyed red and sealskins, brought them. [24] All those contributing the contribution of silver and copper brought Jehovah’s contribution, and all those with whom there was found acacia wood for all the work of the service brought it.

[25] And all the women who were wise of heart spun with their hands, and they kept bringing as yarn the blue thread and the wool dyed reddish purple, the coccus scarlet material and the fine linen. [26] And all the women whose hearts impelled them with wisdom spun the goat’s hair.

[27] And the chieftains brought onyx stones and setting stones for the ephʹod and the breastpiece, [28] and the balsam oil and the oil for illumination and for the anointing oil and for the perfumed incense. [29] Every man and woman whose hearts incited them to bring something for all the work that

Jehovah had commanded to make by means of Moses did so; the sons of Israel brought a voluntary offering to Jehovah.

[30] Then Moses said to the sons of Israel: “See, Jehovah has called by name Bez′al·el the son of U′ri the son of Hur of the tribe of Judah. [31] And he proceeded to fill him with the spirit of God in wisdom, in understanding and in knowledge and in every sort of craftsmanship [32] and for designing devices, for working in gold and silver and copper, [33] and in working of stones to set them and in working of wood to make ingenious products of every sort. [34] And he has put it into his heart that he should teach, he and O·ho′li·ab the son of A·his′a·mach of the tribe of Dan. [35] He has filled them with wisdom of heart to do all the work of a craftsman and an embroiderer and of a weaver in blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple, in coccus scarlet material and fine linen, and of a loom worker, men doing every sort of work and designing devices.

36 “And Bez′al·el must work, also O·ho′li·ab and every wise-hearted man to whom Jehovah has given wisdom and understanding in these things in order to know how to do all the work of the holy service according to all that Jehovah has commanded.”

[2] And Moses proceeded to call Bez′al·el and O·ho′li·ab and every wise-hearted man into whose heart Jehovah had put wisdom, everyone whose heart impelled him to approach the work in order to do it. [3] Then they took from before Moses all the contribution that the sons of Israel had brought for the work of the holy service so as to do it, and, as for the latter, they still brought to him a voluntary offering morning after morning.

[4] And all the wise ones who were doing all the holy work began to come, one man after another, from their work that they were doing, [5] and to say to Moses: “The people are bringing much more than what the service needs for the work that Jehovah has commanded to be done.” [6] So Moses commanded that they should cause an announcement to pass through the camp, saying: “Men and women, do not produce any more stuff for the holy contribution.” With that the people were restrained from bringing it in. [7] And the stuff proved to be enough for all the work to be done, and more than enough.

[8] And all the wise-hearted among those doing the work went making the tabernacle, the ten tent cloths of fine twisted linen and blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material; with cherubs, the work of an embroiderer, he made them. [9] The length of each tent cloth was twenty-eight cubits, and the width of each tent cloth four cubits. There was one measure for all the tent cloths. [10] Then he joined five tent cloths one to another, and the five other tent cloths he joined one to another. [11] After that he made loops of blue thread upon the edge of the one tent cloth at the junction end. He did the same on the edge of the outermost tent cloth at the other place of junction. [12] He made fifty loops on the one tent cloth, and he made fifty loops on the extremity of the tent cloth that was at the other place of junction, the loops being opposite one another. [13] Finally he made fifty hooks of gold and joined the tent cloths to one another by the hooks, so that it became one tabernacle.

[14] And he went on to make tent cloths of goat's hair for the tent upon the tabernacle. Eleven tent cloths were what he made. [15] The length of each tent cloth was thirty cubits, and the width of each tent cloth four cubits. There was one measure for the eleven tent cloths. [16] Then he joined five tent cloths together by themselves and the six other tent cloths by themselves. [17] Next he made fifty loops upon the edge of the outermost tent cloth at the place of junction, and he made fifty loops upon the edge of the other tent cloth that joined with it. [18] After that he made fifty hooks of copper for joining the tent together to become one piece.

[20] Then he made the panel frames for the tabernacle out of acacia wood, standing on end. [21] Ten cubits was the length of a panel frame, and one cubit and a half the width of each panel frame. [22] Each panel frame had two tenons fitted one to the other. That is the way he did to all the panel frames of the tabernacle. [23] So he made the panel frames for the tabernacle, twenty panel frames for the side toward the Neg′eb, to the south. [24] And he made forty socket pedestals of silver for beneath the twenty panel frames, two socket pedestals beneath the one panel frame with its two tenons and two socket pedestals beneath the other panel frame with its two tenons. [25] And for the other side of the tabernacle, the northern side, he made twenty panel frames [26] and their forty socket pedestals of silver, two socket pedestals beneath the one panel frame and two socket pedestals beneath the other panel frame.

[27] And for the rear sections of the tabernacle to the west he made six panel frames. [28] And he made two panel frames as corner posts of the tabernacle on its two rear sections. [29] And they proved to be duplicates at the bottom and together they came to be twins to the top of each one at the first ring. That is what he did to them both, to the two corner posts. [30] So they amounted to eight panel frames and their socket pedestals of silver to sixteen, two socket pedestals next to two socket pedestals beneath each panel frame.

[31] And he went on to make bars of acacia wood, five for the panel frames of the one side of the tabernacle [32] and five bars for the panel frames of the other side of the tabernacle and five bars for the panel frames of the tabernacle for the two rear sections to the west. [33] Then he made the middle bar to run through at the middle of the panel frames from one end to the other. [34] And he overlaid the panel frames with gold, and he made their rings of gold as supports for the bars, and he went on to overlay the bars with gold.

[35] And he proceeded to make a curtain of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen. With the work of an embroiderer he made it with cherubs. [36] Then he made for it four acacia pillars and overlaid them with gold, their pegs being of gold, and cast four socket pedestals of silver for them. [37] And he went on to make a screen for the entrance of the tent out of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen, the work of a weaver, [38] and its five pillars and their pegs. And he overlaid their tops and their joints with gold, but their five socket pedestals were of copper.

37 Bez′al·el now made the Ark of acacia wood. Two cubits and a half was its length, and a cubit and a half its width, and a cubit and a half its height. [2] Then he overlaid it with pure gold inside and outside and made a border of gold round about for it. [3] After that he cast four rings of gold for it, for above its four feet, with two rings on its one side and two rings on its other side. [4] He next made poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold. [5] Then he put the poles through the rings on the sides of the Ark for carrying the Ark.

[6] And he went on to make the cover of pure gold. Two cubits and a half was its length, and a cubit and a half its width. [7] He further made two cherubs of gold. Of hammered work he made them on both ends of the cover. [8] One cherub was on the end over there, and the other cherub on the end over here. He made the cherubs on the cover on both of its ends. [9] And they came to be cherubs spreading out two wings upward, screening over the cover with their wings, and their faces were one to the other. The faces of the cherubs proved to be toward the cover.

[10] And he proceeded to make the table of acacia wood. Two cubits was its length, and a cubit its width, and a cubit and a half its height. [11] Then he overlaid it with pure gold and made a border of gold round about for it. [12] Next he made for it a rim of a handbreadth round about and made a border of gold for its rim round about. [13] Further, he cast four rings of gold for it and put the rings upon the four corners that were for the four feet. [14] The rings proved to be near the rim, as supports for the poles for carrying the table. [15] Then he made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold for carrying the table. [16] After that he made the utensils that are upon the table, its dishes and its cups and its bowls and its pitchers with which libations would be poured, out of pure gold.

[17] Then he made the lampstand of pure gold. Of hammered work he made the lampstand. Its sides and its branches, its cups, its knobs and its blossoms proceeded out of it. [18] And six branches were running out from its sides, three branches of the lampstand out from its one side and three branches of the lampstand out from its other side. [19] Three cups shaped like flowers of almond were on the one set of branches, with knobs and blossoms alternating; and three cups shaped like flowers of almond were on the other set of branches, with knobs and blossoms alternating. That is the way it was for the six branches running out from the lampstand. [20] And on the lampstand there were four cups shaped like flowers of almond, with its knobs and its blossoms alternating. [21] And the knob under two branches was out of it, and the knob under two other branches was out of it, and the knob under two more branches was out of it, for the six branches running out from the lampstand. [22] Their knobs and their branches proceeded out from it. All of it was one piece of hammered work, of pure gold. [23] Then he made its seven lamps and its snuffers and its fire holders out of pure gold. [24] Of a talent of pure gold he made it and all its utensils.

[25] He now made the altar of incense out of acacia wood. A cubit was its length and a cubit its width, it being foursquare, and two cubits was its height. Its horns proceeded out of it. [26] Then he overlaid it with pure gold, its top surface and its sides round about and its horns, and he made a border of gold round about for it. [27] And he made for it two rings of gold down below its border upon two of its sides, upon two opposite sides of it, as supports for the poles with which to carry it. [28] After that he made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with gold. [29] He made additionally the holy anointing oil and the pure, perfumed incense, the work of an ointment maker.

38 And he went on to make the altar of burnt offering out of acacia wood. Five cubits was its length, and five cubits its width, it being foursquare, and three cubits was its height. [2] Then he made its horns upon its four corners. Its horns proceeded out of it. Next he overlaid it with copper. [3] After that he made all the utensils of the altar, the cans and the shovels and the bowls, the forks and the fire holders. All its utensils he made of copper. [4] He further made for the altar a grating, a network of copper, under its rim, down toward its center. [5] Then he cast four rings on the four extremities near the grating of copper, as supports for the poles. [6] After that he made the poles of acacia wood and overlaid them with copper. [7] Then he put the poles into the rings on the sides of the altar for carrying it with them. He made it a hollow chest of planks.

[8] Then he made the basin of copper and its stand of copper, by the use of the mirrors of the women servants who did organized service at the entrance of the tent of meeting.

[9] And he proceeded to make the courtyard. For the side toward the Neg′eb, to the south, the hangings of the courtyard were of fine twisted linen, for a hundred cubits. [10] Their twenty pillars and their twenty socket pedestals were of copper. The pegs of the pillars and their joints were of silver. [11] Also, for the north side there were a hundred cubits. Their twenty pillars and their twenty socket pedestals were of copper. The pegs of the pillars and their joints were of silver. [12] But for the west side the hangings were for fifty cubits. Their pillars were ten and their socket pedestals ten. The pegs of the pillars and their joints were of silver. [13] And for the east side toward the sunrising there were fifty cubits. [14] The hangings were for fifteen cubits to the one wing. Their pillars were three and their socket pedestals three. [15] And for the other wing, on this as well as that side, of the gate of the courtyard, the hangings were for fifteen cubits. Their pillars were three and their socket pedestals three. [16] All the hangings of the courtyard round about were of fine twisted linen. [17] And the socket pedestals for the pillars were of copper. The pegs of the pillars and their joints were of silver and the overlaying of their tops was of silver, and there were silver joinings for all the pillars of the courtyard.

[18] And the screen of the gate of the courtyard was the work of a weaver, of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen, and twenty cubits was the length, and the height throughout its extent was five cubits equally with the hangings of the courtyard. [19] And their four pillars and their four socket pedestals were of copper. Their pegs were of silver and the overlaying of their heads and their joints were of silver. [20] And all the tent pins for the tabernacle and for the courtyard round about were of copper.

[21] The following are the things inventoried of the tabernacle, the tabernacle of the Testimony, which was inventoried at the command of Moses, as the service of the Levites under the guidance of Ith′a·mar the son of Aaron the priest. [22] And Bez′al·el the son of U′ri the son of Hur of the tribe of Judah did all that Jehovah had commanded Moses. [23] And with him was O·ho′li·ab the son of A·his′a·mach of the tribe of Dan, a craftsman and embroiderer and weaver in the blue thread and the wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine linen.

[24] All the gold that was used for the work in all the work of the holy place came to the amount of the gold of the wave offering, twenty-nine talents and seven hundred and thirty shekels by the shekel of the holy place. [25] And the silver of the ones registered of the assembly was a hundred talents and one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels by the shekel of the holy place. 26 The half shekel for an individual was the half of a shekel by the shekel of the holy place, for every man who was passing over to those who were registered from twenty years of age and upward, amounting to six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.

27 And a hundred talents of silver went into the casting of the socket pedestals of the holy place and the socket pedestals of the curtain. A hundred socket pedestals equaled a hundred talents, a talent to a socket pedestal. 28 And out of the thousand seven hundred and seventy-five shekels he made pegs for the pillars and overlaid their tops and joined them together.

29 And the copper of the wave offering was seventy talents and two thousand four hundred shekels. 30 And with this he proceeded to make the socket pedestals of the entrance of the tent of meeting and the copper altar and the copper grating that belonged to it, and all the utensils of the altar, 31 and the socket pedestals of the courtyard round about, and the socket pedestals of the gate of the courtyard, and all the tent pins of the tabernacle and all the tent pins of the courtyard round about.

39 And out of the blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material they made garments of knitted work for ministering in the holy place. So they made the holy garments that were for Aaron, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[2] Accordingly he made the ephʹod of gold, blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen. [3] Then they beat plates of gold to thin sheets, and he cut out threads to work in among the blue thread and the wool dyed reddish purple and the coccus scarlet material and the fine linen, as the work of an embroiderer. [4] They made shoulder pieces for it that were joined. It was joined at its two extremities. [5] And the girdle, which was upon it for tying it close, was of the same material according to its workmanship, of gold, blue thread, and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[6] Then they made the onyx stones set with settings of gold, engraved with the engravings of a seal according to the names of the sons of Israel. [7] So he placed them upon the shoulder pieces of the ephʹod as memorial stones for the sons of Israel, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses. [8] Then he made the breastpiece with the workmanship of an embroiderer, like the workmanship of the ephʹod, out of gold, blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material and fine twisted linen. [9] It proved to be foursquare when doubled. They made the breastpiece, when doubled, a span of the hand in its length and a span in its width. [10] Then they filled it with four rows of stones. A row of ruby, topaz and emerald was the first row. [11] And the second row was turquoise, sapphire and jasper. [12] And the third row was leshʹem stone, agate and amethyst. [13] And the fourth row was chrysʹo·lite and onyx and jade. They were set with settings of gold in their fillings. [14] And the stones were according to the names of the sons of Israel. They were twelve according to their names, with the engravings of a seal, each according to its name for the twelve tribes.

[15] And they proceeded to make upon the breastpiece wreathed chains, in ropework, of pure gold. [16] Then they made two settings of gold and two rings of gold and put the two rings upon the two extremities of the breastpiece. [17] After that they put the two ropes of gold through the two rings at the extremities of the breastpiece. [18] And they put the two ends of the two ropes through the two settings. Then they put them upon the shoulder pieces of the ephʹod, at the forefront of it. [19] Next they made two rings of gold and set them at the two extremities of the breastpiece upon its edge that is on the side toward the ephʹod inward. [20] Then they made two rings of gold and put them upon the two shoulder pieces of the ephʹod from below, on its forefront, near its place of joining, above the girdle of the ephʹod. [21] Finally they bound the breastpiece by its rings to the rings of the ephʹod with a blue string, that it might continue above the girdle of the ephʹod and the breastpiece might not get displaced from on top the ephʹod, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[22] Then he made the sleeveless coat of the ephʹod, the workmanship of a loom worker, all of blue thread. [23] And the opening of the sleeveless coat was in the middle of it, like the opening of a coat of mail. Its opening had a border round about that it might not be torn. [24] Then they made upon the hem of the sleeveless coat pomegranates of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material, twisted together. [25] Further, they made bells of pure gold and put the bells in between the pomegranates upon the hem of the sleeveless coat round about, in between the pomegranates; [26] a bell and a pomegranate, a bell and a pomegranate upon the hem of the sleeveless coat round about, for ministering, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[27] Next they made the robes of fine linen, the workmanship of a loom worker, for Aaron and his sons, [28] and the turban of fine linen and the ornamental headgears of fine linen and the linen drawers of fine twisted linen, [29] and the sash of fine twisted linen and blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and coccus scarlet material, the work of a weaver, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[30] Finally they made the shining plate, the holy sign of dedication, out of pure gold and inscribed upon it an inscription with the engravings of a seal: “Holiness belongs to Jehovah.” [31] Then they put a string of blue thread to it in order to put it upon the turban up above, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[32] So the work for the tabernacle of the tent of meeting all came to its completion, in that the sons of Israel kept doing according to all that Jehovah had commanded Moses. They did just so.

[33] And they proceeded to bring the tabernacle to Moses, the tent and all its utensils, its hooks, its panel frames, its bars and its pillars and its socket pedestals, [34] and its covering of ram skins dyed red and its covering of sealskins and the curtain of the screen, [35] and the ark of the testimony and its poles and the cover, [36] the table, all its utensils and the showbread, [37] the lampstand of pure gold, its lamps, the row of lamps, and all its utensils and the oil of illumination, [38] and the altar of gold and the anointing oil and the perfumed incense and the screen for the entrance of the tent, [39] the altar of copper and the grating of copper that belonged to it, its poles and all its utensils, the basin and its stand, [40] the hangings of the courtyard, its pillars and its socket pedestals and the screen for the gate of the courtyard, its tent cords and its tent pins and all the utensils for the service of the tabernacle, for the tent of meeting, [41] the garments of knitted work for ministering in the sanctuary, the holy garments for Aaron the priest and the garments of his sons for acting as priests.

[42] According to all that Jehovah had commanded Moses, that was the way the sons of Israel did all the service. [43] And Moses got to see all the work, and, look! they had done it just as Jehovah had commanded. That was the way they had done. Consequently Moses blessed them.

40 Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [2] “On the day of the first month, on the first of the month, you are to set up the tabernacle of the tent of meeting. [3] And you must place the ark of the testimony in it and shut off approach to the Ark with the curtain. [4] And you must bring the table in and set its arrangement in order, and you must bring in the lampstand and light up its lamps. [5] And you must put the golden altar for incense before the ark of the testimony and put the screen of the entrance for the tabernacle in place.

[6] “And you must put the altar of burnt offering before the entrance of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, [7] and you must put the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar and put water in it. [8] And you must place the courtyard round about and put up the screen of the gate of the courtyard. [9] And you must take the anointing oil and anoint the tabernacle and all that is in it, and you must sanctify it and all its utensils, and so it must become something holy. [10] And you must anoint the altar of burnt offering and all its utensils and sanctify the altar, and so it must become a most holy altar. [11] And you must anoint the basin and its stand and sanctify it.

[12] “Then you must bring Aaron and his sons near to the entrance of the tent of meeting and wash them with water. [13] And you must clothe Aaron with the holy garments and anoint him and sanctify him, and so he must act as priest to me. [14] After that you will bring his sons near and you must clothe them with robes. [15] And you must anoint them just as you anointed their father, and so they must act as priests to me, and their anointing must serve continually for them as a priesthood to time indefinite during their generations.”

[16] And Moses proceeded to do according to all that Jehovah had commanded him. He did just so.

[17] Accordingly it came about that in the first month, in the second year, on the first day of the month, the tabernacle was set up. [18] When Moses proceeded to set up the tabernacle, he went putting its socket pedestals down and placing its panel frames and putting its bars in and setting up its pillars. [19] Then he spread out the tent over the tabernacle and placed the covering of the tent above upon it, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[20] After that he took the Testimony and put it into the Ark and placed the poles on the Ark and put the cover above upon the Ark. [21] Then he brought the Ark into the tabernacle and put the curtain of the screen in place and shut off approach to the ark of the testimony, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[22] Next he put the table in the tent of meeting on the side of the tabernacle to the north outside the curtain, [23] and he arranged the row of bread upon it before Jehovah, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[24] Then he placed the lampstand in the tent of meeting in front of the table, on the side of the tabernacle to the south. [25] He then lit up the lamps before Jehovah, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[26] He next placed the golden altar in the tent of meeting before the curtain, [27] that he might make perfumed incense smoke upon it, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[28] Finally he put the screen of the entrance of the tabernacle in place.

[29] And he placed the altar of burnt offering at the entrance of the tabernacle of the tent of meeting, that he might offer up the burnt offering and the grain offering upon it, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[30] Then he placed the basin between the tent of meeting and the altar and put water in it for washing. [31] And Moses and Aaron and his sons washed their hands and their feet at it. [32] When they went into the tent of meeting and when they went near to the altar they would wash, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[33] Finally he set up the courtyard round about the tabernacle and the altar and put up the screen of the gate of the courtyard.

So Moses finished the work. [34] And the cloud began to cover the tent of meeting, and Jehovah's glory filled the tabernacle. [35] And Moses was not able to go into the tent of meeting, because the cloud resided over it and Jehovah's glory filled the tabernacle.

[36] And when the cloud lifted itself up from over the tabernacle the sons of Israel would break camp during all their stages of journey. [37] However, if the cloud did not lift itself up, then they would not break camp until the day when it lifted itself up. [38] For Jehovah's cloud was over the tabernacle by day, and a fire continued upon it by night in the sight of all the house of Israel during all their stages of journey.

LEVITICUS

1 And Jehovah proceeded to call Moses and speak to him out of the tent of meeting, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘In case some man of YOU would present an offering to Jehovah from the domestic animals, YOU should present YOUR offering from the herd and from the flock.

[3] “‘If his offering is a burnt offering from the herd, a male, a sound one, is what he should present. At the entrance of the tent of meeting he should present it of his own free will before Jehovah. [4] And he must lay his hand upon the head of the burnt offering, and it must be graciously accepted for him to make atonement for him.

[5] “‘Then the young bull must be slaughtered before Jehovah; and the sons of Aaron, the priests, must present the blood and sprinkle the blood round about upon the altar, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [6] And the burnt offering must be skinned and cut up into its parts. [7] And the sons of Aaron, the priests, must put fire on the altar and set wood in order on the fire. [8] And the sons of Aaron, the priests, must set the pieces in order with the head and the suet over the wood that is on the fire that is on the altar. [9] And its intestines and its shanks will be washed with water; and the priest must make all of it smoke on the altar as a burnt offering, an offering made by fire of a restful odor to Jehovah.

[10] “‘And if his offering for a burnt offering is from the flock, from the young rams or the goats, a male, a sound one, is what he will present. [11] And it must be slaughtered at the side of the altar to the north before Jehovah, and the sons of

Aaron, the priests, must sprinkle its blood round about upon the altar. [12] And he must cut it up into its parts and its head and its suet, and the priest must set them in order over the wood that is on the fire that is on the altar. [13] And he will wash the intestines and the shanks with water; and the priest must present all of it and make it smoke on the altar. It is a burnt offering, an offering made by fire of a restful odor to Jehovah.

[14] "'However, if his offering as a burnt offering to Jehovah is from the fowls, then he must present his offering from the turtledoves or the young pigeons. [15] And the priest must present it at the altar and nip off its head and make it smoke upon the altar, but its blood must be drained out upon the side of the altar. [16] And he must remove its crop with its feathers and throw it beside the altar, to the east, to the place for the fatty ashes. [17] And he must cleave it at its wings. He must not divide it. Then the priest must make it smoke on the altar over the wood that is on the fire. It is a burnt offering, an offering made by fire of a restful odor to Jehovah.

2 “‘Now in case some soul would present as an offering a grain offering to Jehovah, his offering should prove to be fine flour; and he must pour oil over it and put frankincense upon it. [2] And he must bring it to the sons of Aaron, the priests, and the priest must grasp from it his handful of its fine flour and its oil along with all its frankincense; and he must make it smoke as a remembrancer of it upon the altar, as an offering made by fire of a restful odor to Jehovah. [3] And what is left of the grain offering belongs to Aaron and his sons, as something most holy from Jehovah’s offerings made by fire.

[4] “‘And in case you would present as an offering a grain offering in the way of something baked in the oven, it should be of fine flour, unfermented ring-shaped cakes moistened with oil or unfermented wafers smeared with oil.

[5] “‘And if your offering is a grain offering from off the griddle, it should prove to be of fine flour moistened with oil, unfermented. [6] There should be a breaking of it up into pieces, and you must pour oil upon it. It is a grain offering.

[7] “‘And if your offering is a grain offering out of the deep-fat kettle, it should be made of fine flour with oil. [8] And you must bring the grain offering that was made of these to Jehovah; and it must be presented to the priest and he must bring it near to the altar. [9] And the priest must lift off some of the grain offering as a remembrancer of it and must make it smoke on the altar, as an offering made by fire of a restful odor to Jehovah. [10] And what is left of the grain offering belongs to Aaron and his sons, as something most holy of Jehovah’s offerings by fire.

11 “‘No grain offering that YOU will present to Jehovah should be made a leavened thing, because YOU must make no sourdough and no honey at all smoke as an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

12 “‘As an offering of the firstfruits, YOU will present them to Jehovah, and they must not come up onto the altar for a restful odor.

13 “‘And every offering of your grain offering you will season with salt; and you must not allow the salt of the covenant of your God to be missing upon your grain offering. Along with every offering of yours you will present salt.

14 “‘And if you would present the grain offering of the first ripe fruits to Jehovah, you should present green ears roasted with fire, the grits of new grain, as the grain offering of your first ripe fruits. 15 And you must put oil upon it and place frankincense upon it. It is a grain offering. 16 And the priest must make the remembrancer of it smoke, that is, some of its grits and oil, along with all its frankincense, as an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

3 “‘And if his offering is a communion sacrifice, if he is presenting it from the herd, whether a male or a female, a sound one is what he will present before Jehovah. [2] And he must lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and it must be slaughtered at the entrance of the tent of meeting; and Aaron’s sons, the priests, must sprinkle the blood round about upon the altar. [3] And he must present some of the communion sacrifice as an offering made by fire to Jehovah, namely, the fat that covers the intestines, even all the fat that is over the intestines, [4] and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, the same as that upon the loins. And as for the appendage upon the liver, he will remove it along with the kidneys. [5] And Aaron’s sons must make it smoke on the altar, upon the burnt offering that is over the wood that is on the fire, as an offering made by fire of a restful odor to Jehovah.

[6] “‘And if his offering is from the flock for a communion sacrifice to Jehovah, a male or a female, a sound one is what he will present. [7] If he is presenting a young ram as his offering, then he must present it before Jehovah. [8] And he must lay his hand upon the head of his offering, and it must be slaughtered before the tent of meeting; and Aaron’s sons must sprinkle its blood round about upon the altar. [9] And from the communion sacrifice he must present its fat as an offering made by fire to Jehovah. The entire fatty tail is what he will remove near the backbone, and the fat that covers the intestines, even all the fat that is upon the intestines, [10] and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, the same as that upon the loins. And as for the appendage upon the liver, he will remove it along with the kidneys. [11] And the priest must make it smoke on the altar as food, an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

[12] "'And if his offering is a goat, then he must present it before Jehovah. [13] And he must lay his hand upon its head, and it must be slaughtered before the tent of meeting; and Aaron's sons must sprinkle its blood round about upon the altar. [14] And from it he must present as his offering, as an offering made by fire to Jehovah, the fat that covers the intestines, even all the fat that is upon the intestines, [15] and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, the same as that upon the loins. And as for the appendage upon the liver, he will remove it along with the kidneys. [16] And the priest must make them smoke upon the altar as food, an offering made by fire for a restful odor. All the fat belongs to Jehovah.

[17] "'It is a statute to time indefinite for YOUR generations, in all YOUR dwelling places: YOU must not eat any fat or any blood at all.'"

4 And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘In case a soul sins by mistake in any of the things that Jehovah commands should not be done, and he actually does one of them:

[3] “‘If the priest, the anointed one, sins so as to bring guiltiness upon the people, then he must present for his sin that he has committed a sound young bull to Jehovah as a sin offering. [4] And he must bring the bull to the entrance of the tent of meeting before Jehovah and must lay his hand upon the bull’s head, and he must slaughter the bull before Jehovah. [5] And the priest, the anointed one, must take some of the bull’s blood and bring it into the tent of meeting; [6] and the priest must dip his finger in the blood and spatter some of the blood seven times before Jehovah in front of the curtain of the holy place. [7] And the priest must put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar of perfumed incense before Jehovah, which is in the tent of meeting, and all the rest of the bull’s blood he will pour at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting.

[8] “‘As to all the fat of the bull of the sin offering, he will lift up from it the fat that covers over the intestines, even all the fat that is over the intestines, [9] and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them, the same as that upon the loins. And as for the appendage upon the liver, he will remove it along with the kidneys. [10] It will be the same as what is lifted up of a bull of the communion sacrifice. And the priest must make them smoke upon the altar of burnt offering.

[11] “‘But as for the skin of the bull and all its flesh along with its head and its shanks and its intestines and its dung, [12] he must have the entire bull taken out to the outskirts of the camp to a clean place where the fatty ashes are poured out, and he must burn it upon wood in the fire. Where the fatty ashes are poured out it should be burned.

13 “‘Now if the entire assembly of Israel makes a mistake and the matter has been hidden from the eyes of the congregation in that they have done one of all the things that Jehovah commands should not be done and so have become guilty, 14 and the sin that they have committed against it has become known, then the congregation must present a young bull for a sin offering and must bring it before the tent of meeting. 15 And the older men of the assembly must lay their hands upon the bull’s head before Jehovah, and the bull must be slaughtered before Jehovah.

16 “‘Then the priest, the anointed one, must bring some of the bull’s blood into the tent of meeting. 17 And the priest must dip his finger into some of the blood and spatter it seven times before Jehovah in front of the curtain. 18 And he will put some of the blood upon the horns of the altar that is before Jehovah, which is in the tent of meeting; and all the rest of the blood he will pour at the base of the altar of burnt offering, which is at the entrance of the tent of meeting. 19 And he will lift up all its fat from it, and he must make it smoke on the altar. 20 And he must do to the bull just as he did to the other bull of the sin offering. That is the way he will do to it; and the priest must make an atonement for them, and so it must be forgiven them. 21 And he must have the bull taken out to the outskirts of the camp and must burn it, just as he burned the first bull. It is a sin offering for the congregation.

or his sin that he has committed against the commandment has been made known to him, then he must bring as his offering a male kid of the goats, a sound one. [24] And he must lay his hand upon the head of the young goat and slaughter it in the place where the burnt offering is regularly slaughtered before Jehovah. It is a sin offering. [25] And the priest must take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and he will pour the rest of its blood at the base of the altar of burnt offering. [26] And he will make all its fat smoke on the altar like the fat of the communion sacrifice; and the priest must make an atonement for him for his sin, and so it must be forgiven him.

[27] "'And if any soul of the people of the land sins unintentionally by his doing one of the things that Jehovah commands should not be done and he does become guilty, [28] or his sin that he has committed has been made known to him, then he must bring as his offering a female kid of the goats, a sound one, for his sin that he has committed. [29] And he must lay his hand upon the head of the sin offering and slaughter the sin offering in the same place as the burnt offering. [30] And the priest must take some of its blood with his finger and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and he will pour all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. [31] And he will remove all its fat, just as the fat was removed from off the communion sacrifice; and the priest must make it smoke on the altar as a restful odor to Jehovah; and the priest must make an atonement for him, and so it must be forgiven him.

[32] "'But if he would bring a lamb as his offering for a sin offering, a sound female lamb is what he should bring. [33] And he must lay his hand upon the head of the sin offering and slaughter it as a sin offering in the place where the burnt offering is regularly slaughtered. [34] And the priest must take some of the blood of the sin offering with his finger and put it upon the horns of the altar of burnt offering, and he will pour all the rest of its blood at the base of the altar. [35] And he will remove all its fat the same as the fat of the young ram of the communion sacrifice is regularly removed, and the priest must make them smoke on the altar upon Jehovah’s offerings made by fire; and the priest must make an atonement for him for his sin that he has committed, and so it must be forgiven him.

5 “‘Now in case a soul sins in that he has heard public cursing and he is a witness or he has seen it or has come to know of it, if he does not report it, then he must answer for his error.

[2] “‘Or when a soul touches some unclean thing, whether the dead body of an unclean wild beast or the dead body of an unclean domestic animal or the dead body of an unclean swarming creature, although it has been hidden from him, still he is unclean and has become guilty. [3] Or in case he touches the uncleanness of a man as respects any uncleanness of his with which he may become unclean, although it had been hidden from him, and yet he himself has come to know it, then he has become guilty.

[4] “‘Or in case a soul swears to the extent of speaking thoughtlessly with his lips to do evil or to do good as respects anything at all that the man might speak thoughtlessly in a sworn statement, although it had been hidden from him, and yet he himself has come to know it, then he has become guilty as respects one of these things.

[5] “‘And it must occur that in case he becomes guilty as respects one of these things, then he must confess in what way he has sinned. [6] And he must bring his guilt offering to Jehovah for his sin that he has committed, namely, a female from the flock, a female lamb or a female kid of the goats, for a sin offering; and the priest must make an atonement for him for his sin.

[7] “‘If, though, he cannot afford enough for a sheep, then he must bring as his guilt offering for the sin that he has committed two turtledoves or two young pigeons to Jehovah, one for a sin offering and one for a burnt offering. [8] And he must bring them to the priest, who must present first the one for the sin offering and nip off its head at the front of its neck, but he should not sever it. [9] And he must spatter some of the blood of the sin offering upon the side of the altar, but the remainder of the blood will be drained out at the base of the altar. It is a sin offering. [10] And the other one he will handle as a burnt offering according to the regular procedure; and the priest must make an atonement for him for his sin that he has committed, and so it must be forgiven him.

[11] "'Now if he does not have the means for two turtledoves or two young pigeons, then he must bring as his offering for the sin he has committed the tenth of an e′phah of fine flour for a sin offering. He must not put oil upon it and he must not place frankincense upon it, for it is a sin offering. [12] And he must bring it to the priest, and the priest must grasp from it his handful as a remembrancer of it and must make it smoke on the altar upon Jehovah's offerings made by fire. It is a sin offering. [13] And the priest must make an atonement for him for his sin that he has committed, any one of these sins, and so it must be forgiven him; and it must become the priest's the same as a grain offering.'"

[14] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [15] "In case a soul behaves unfaithfully in that he actually sins by mistake against the holy things of Jehovah, then he must bring as his guilt offering to Jehovah a sound ram from the flock, according to the estimated value in silver shekels, by the shekel of the holy place, as a guilt offering. [16] And he will make compensation for the sin he has committed against the holy place and he will add to it a fifth of it, and he must give it to the priest, that the priest may make an atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering, and so it must be forgiven him.

[17] “And if a soul sins in that he does do one of all the things that Jehovah commands should not be done, although he did not know it, yet he has become guilty and must answer for his error. [18] And he must bring a sound ram from the flock according to the estimated value, for a guilt offering, to the priest; and the priest must make an atonement for him for his mistake that he committed unintentionally, although he himself did not know it, and so it must be forgiven him. [19] It is a guilt offering. He has positively become guilty against Jehovah.”

6 And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “In case a soul sins in that he does behave unfaithfully toward Jehovah and does deceive his associate about something in his charge or a deposit in hand or a robbery or he does defraud his associate, [3] or he does find something lost and is actually deceptive about it and does swear falsely over any of all the things that the man might do to sin by them; [4] then it must occur that in case he sins and indeed becomes guilty, he must return the robbed thing which he has robbed or the extorted thing which he has taken by fraud or the thing in his charge which was put in his charge or the thing lost that he has found, [5] or anything at all over which he might swear falsely, and he must make compensation for it in its full amount, and he will add to it a fifth of it. To the one whose it is he will give it on the day his guilt is proved. [6] And as his guilt offering he will bring to Jehovah a sound ram from the flock according to the estimated value, for a guilt offering, to the priest. [7] And the priest must make an atonement for him before Jehovah, and so it must be forgiven him regarding any of all the things that he might do resulting in guiltiness by it.”

[8] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [9] “Command Aaron and his sons, saying, ‘This is the law of the burnt offering: The burnt offering will be on the hearth upon the altar all night long until the morning, and the fire of the altar will be kindled in it. [10] And the priest must clothe himself with his official dress of linen, and he will put the linen drawers on over his flesh. Then he must lift up the fatty ashes of the burnt offering that the fire regularly consumes upon the altar, and he must place them beside the altar. [11] And he must strip off his garments and put on other garments, and he must take the fatty ashes out to a clean place outside the camp. [12] And the fire on the altar will be kept burning on it. It must not go out. And the priest must burn wood on it morning by morning and set the burnt offering in order over it, and he must make the fatty pieces of the communion sacrifices smoke over it. [13] Fire will be kept constantly burning on the altar. It must not go out.

[14] "'Now this is the law of the grain offering: YOU sons of Aaron, present it before Jehovah in front of the altar. [15] And one of them must lift up by his handful some of the fine flour of the grain offering and some of its oil and all the frankincense that is upon the grain offering, and he must make it smoke upon the altar as a restful odor for a remembrancer of it to Jehovah. [16] And what is left of it Aaron and his sons will eat. It will be eaten as unfermented cakes in a holy place. They will eat it in the courtyard of the tent of meeting. [17] It should not be baked with anything leavened. I have given it as their share out of my offerings made by fire. It is something most holy, like the sin offering and like the guilt offering. [18] Every male among the sons of Aaron will eat it. It is an allowance to time indefinite throughout YOUR generations from Jehovah's offerings made by fire. Everything that may touch them will become holy.'"

[19] And Jehovah went on speaking to Moses, saying: [20] "This is the offering of Aaron and his sons that they will present to Jehovah on the day of his being anointed: the tenth of an e′phah of fine flour as a grain offering constantly, half of it in the morning and half of it in the evening. [21] It will be made with oil upon a griddle. You will bring it well mixed. You will present the pastries of the grain offering in pieces as a restful odor to Jehovah. [22] And the priest, the one anointed in place of him from among his sons, will make it. It is a regulation to time indefinite: As a whole offering it will be made to smoke to Jehovah. [23] And every grain offering of a priest should prove to be a whole offering. It must not be eaten.”

[24] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [25] “Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, ‘This is the law of the sin offering: In the place where the burnt offering is regularly slaughtered the sin offering will be slaughtered before Jehovah. It is a most holy thing. [26] The priest who offers it for sin will eat it. In a holy place it will be eaten in the courtyard of the tent of meeting.

[27] “‘Everything that may touch its flesh will become holy, and when anyone spatters some of its blood upon the garment, you will wash what he spatters blood upon in a holy place. [28] And the earthenware vessel in which it may be boiled is to be shattered. But if it was boiled in a copper vessel, then it must be scoured and rinsed with water.

[29] “‘Every male among the priests will eat it. It is something most holy. [30] However, no sin offering of which some of the blood will be brought into the tent of meeting to make atonement in the holy place must be eaten. It is to be burned with fire.

7 “‘And this is the law of the guilt offering: It is something most holy. [2] In the place where they regularly slaughter the burnt offering they will slaughter the guilt offering, and its blood one will sprinkle round about upon the altar. [3] As for all its fat, he will present of it the fatty tail and the fat that covers the intestines, [4] and the two kidneys and the fat that is upon them the same as that upon the loins. And as for the appendage upon the liver, he will remove it along with the kidneys. [5] And the priest must make them smoke on the altar as an offering made by fire to Jehovah. It is a guilt offering. [6] Every male among the priests will eat it. In a holy place it will be eaten. It is something most holy. [7] Like the sin offering, so is the guilt offering. There is one law for them. The priest who will make atonement with it, his it will become.

[8] “‘As for the priest who presents the burnt offering of any man, the skin of the burnt offering that he has presented to the priest will become his.

[9] “‘And every grain offering that may be baked in the oven and every one made in the deep-fat kettle and upon the griddle belongs to the priest who presents it. It will become his. [10] But every grain offering that is moistened with oil or dry will come to be for all of Aaron’s sons, for the one the same as for the other.

[11] “‘Now this is the law of the communion sacrifice that anyone will present to Jehovah: [12] If he would present it in expression of thanksgiving, then he must present along with the sacrifice of thanksgiving unfermented ring-shaped cakes moistened with oil and unfermented wafers smeared with oil and well-mixed fine flour as ring-shaped cakes moistened with oil. [13] Along with ring-shaped cakes of leavened bread he will present his offering together with the thanksgiving sacrifice of his communion sacrifices. [14] And out of it he must present one of each offering as a sacred portion to Jehovah; as for the priest who sprinkles the blood of the communion sacrifices, it will become his. [15] And the flesh of the thanksgiving sacrifice of his communion sacrifices is to be eaten on the day of his offering. He must not save up any of it until morning.

[16] "'And if the sacrifice of his offering is a vow or a voluntary offering, it is to be eaten on the day of his presenting his sacrifice, and on the next day what is left of it also may be eaten. [17] But what is left of the flesh of the sacrifice on the third day is to be burned with fire. [18] However, if any of the flesh of his communion sacrifice should at all be eaten on the third day, the one presenting it will not be accepted with approval. It will not be put to his account. It will become a foul thing, and the soul that eats some of it will answer for his error. [19] And the flesh that may touch anything unclean is not to be eaten. It is to be burned with fire. As for the flesh, everybody clean may eat the flesh.

[20] "'And the soul who eats the flesh of the communion sacrifice, which is for Jehovah, while his uncleanness is upon him, that soul must be cut off from his people. [21] And in case a soul touches anything unclean, the uncleanness of a man or an unclean beast or any unclean loathsome thing, and actually eats some of the flesh of the communion sacrifice, which is for Jehovah, that soul must be cut off from his people.'"

[22] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [23] "Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, 'YOU must not eat any fat of a bull or a young ram or a goat. [24] Now the fat of a body already dead and the fat of an animal torn to pieces may be used for anything else conceivable, but YOU must not eat it at all. [25] For anyone eating fat from the beast from which he presents it as an offering made by fire to Jehovah, the soul that eats must be cut off from his people.

[26] “‘And YOU must not eat any blood in any places where YOU dwell, whether that of fowl or that of beast. [27] Any soul who eats any blood, that soul must be cut off from his people.’”

[28] And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [29] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘He who presents his communion sacrifice to Jehovah will bring his offering to Jehovah from his communion sacrifice. [30] His hands will bring as Jehovah’s offerings made by fire the fat upon the breast. He will bring it with the breast to wave it to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. [31] And the priest must make the fat smoke upon the altar, but the breast must become Aaron’s and his sons’.

[32] “‘And YOU will give the right leg as a sacred portion to the priest from YOUR communion sacrifices. [33] That one of Aaron’s sons who presents the blood of the communion sacrifices and the fat, the right leg will become his as a portion. [34] For the breast of the wave offering and the leg of the sacred portion I do take from the sons of Israel from their communion sacrifices, and I shall give them to Aaron the priest and his sons, as a regulation to time indefinite, from the sons of Israel.

[35] “‘This was the priestly share of Aaron and the priestly share of his sons from Jehovah’s offerings made by fire, on the day that he presented them to act as priests to Jehovah, [36] just as Jehovah had commanded to give it to them on the day of his anointing them from among the sons of Israel. It is a statute to time indefinite for their generations.’”

[37] This is the law concerning the burnt offering, the grain offering and the sin offering and the guilt offering and the installation sacrifice and the communion sacrifice, [38] just as Jehovah had commanded Moses in Mount Si′nai in the day of his commanding the sons of Israel to present their offerings to Jehovah in the wilderness of Si′nai.

8 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Take Aaron and his sons with him and the garments and the anointing oil and the bull of the sin offering and the two rams and the basket of unfermented cakes, [3] and make all the assembly congregate at the entrance of the tent of meeting.”

[4] Then Moses did just as Jehovah had commanded him, and the assembly congregated at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [5] Moses now said to the assembly: “This is the thing that Jehovah has given command to do.” [6] So Moses brought Aaron and his sons near and washed them with water. [7] After that he put the robe upon him and girded him with the sash and clothed him with the sleeveless coat and put the eph′od upon him and girded him with the girdle of the eph′od and bound it closely to him with it. [8] Next he placed the breastpiece upon him and put in the breastpiece the U′rim and the Thum′mim. [9] Then he placed the turban upon his head and placed upon the turban at the forefront of it the shining plate of gold, the holy sign of dedication, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[10] Moses now took the anointing oil and anointed the tabernacle and all that was in it and sanctified them. [11] After that he spattered some of it seven times upon the altar and anointed the altar and all its utensils and the basin and its stand so as to sanctify them. [12] Finally he poured some of the anointing oil upon Aaron’s head and anointed him so as to sanctify him.

headgear upon them, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[14] Then he led up the bull of the sin offering and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the head of the bull of the sin offering. [15] And Moses proceeded to slaughter it and take the blood and put it with his finger upon the horns of the altar round about and purify the altar from sin, but the rest of the blood he poured at the base of the altar, that he might sanctify it to make atonement upon it. [16] After that he took all the fat that was upon the intestines, and the appendage of the liver and the two kidneys and their fat and Moses made them smoke upon the altar. [17] And he had the bull and its skin and its flesh and its dung burned with fire outside the camp, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[18] He now brought the ram of the burnt offering near, and Aaron and his sons then laid their hands upon the head of the ram. [19] After that Moses slaughtered it and sprinkled the blood round about upon the altar. [20] And he cut up the ram into its pieces, and Moses proceeded to make the head and the pieces and the suet smoke. [21] And the intestines and the shanks he washed with water, and Moses then made the entire ram smoke upon the altar. It was a burnt offering for a restful odor. It was an offering made by fire to Jehovah, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[22] Then he brought the second ram, the ram of the installation, near, and Aaron and his sons laid their hands upon the ram’s head. [23] After that Moses slaughtered it and took some of its blood and put it upon the lobe of Aaron’s right ear and upon the thumb of his right hand and upon the big toe of his right foot. [24] Next Moses brought Aaron’s sons near and put some of the blood upon the lobe of their right ear and upon the thumb of their right hand and upon the big toe of their right foot; but Moses sprinkled the rest of the blood round about upon the altar.

[25] Then he took the fat and the fat tail and all the fat that was upon the intestines, and the appendage of the liver and the two kidneys and their fat and the right leg. [26] And out of the basket of unfermented cakes that was before Jehovah he took one unfermented ring-shaped cake and one ring-shaped cake of oiled bread and one wafer. He then placed them upon the fatty pieces and the right leg. [27] After that he put all of them upon the palms of Aaron and the palms of his sons and began to wave them to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. [28] Then Moses took them off their palms and made them smoke upon the altar on top of the burnt offering. They were an installation sacrifice for a restful odor. It was an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

[29] And Moses proceeded to take the breast and to wave it to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. From the installation ram it became the portion for Moses, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[30] After that Moses took some of the anointing oil and some of the blood that was upon the altar and spattered it upon Aaron and his garments and upon his sons and the garments of his sons with him. Thus he sanctified Aaron and his garments and his sons and the garments of his sons with him.

[31] Then Moses said to Aaron and his sons: “Boil the flesh at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and there is where YOU will eat it and the bread that is in the installation basket, just as I was given the command, saying, ‘Aaron and his sons will eat it.’ [32] And what is left over of the flesh and the bread YOU will burn with fire. [33] And YOU must not go out from the entrance of the tent of meeting for seven days, until the day of fulfilling the days of YOUR installation, because it will take seven days to fill YOUR hand with power. [34] Just as it has been done this day, Jehovah has commanded to be done so as to make atonement for YOU. [35] And YOU will stay at the entrance of the tent of meeting day and night for seven days, and YOU must keep the obligatory watch of Jehovah, that YOU may not die; for so I have been commanded.”

9 And it came about on the eighth day that Moses called Aaron and his sons and the older men of Israel. [2] Then he said to Aaron: “Take for yourself a young calf for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering, sound ones, and present them before Jehovah. [3] But to the sons of Israel you will speak, saying, ‘Take a male goat for a sin offering and a calf and a young ram, each a year old, sound ones, for a burnt offering, [4] and a bull and a ram for communion sacrifices to sacrifice them before Jehovah, and a grain offering moistened with oil, because today is when Jehovah will certainly appear to YOU.’”

[5] Accordingly they took what Moses had commanded before the tent of meeting. Then the whole assembly came near and stood before Jehovah. [6] And Moses went on to say: “This is the thing that Jehovah has commanded YOU should do, that the glory of Jehovah may appear to YOU.” [7] Then Moses said to Aaron: “Go near to the altar and render up your sin offering and your burnt offering, and make atonement in your own behalf and in behalf of your house; and render up the offering of the people and make atonement in their behalf, just as Jehovah has commanded.”

[8] Aaron immediately went near to the altar and slaughtered the calf of the sin offering that was for him. [9] Then Aaron’s sons presented the blood to him and he dipped his finger in the blood and put it upon the horns of the altar, and the rest of the blood he poured at the base of the altar. [10] And he made the fat and the kidneys and the appendage of the liver from the sin offering smoke upon the altar, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses. [11] And he burned the flesh and the skin with fire outside the camp.

[12] Then he slaughtered the burnt offering and Aaron's sons handed him the blood and he sprinkled it round about upon the altar. [13] And they handed him the burnt offering in its pieces and the head, and he proceeded to make them smoke upon the altar. [14] Further, he washed the intestines and the shanks and made them smoke upon the burnt offering on the altar.

[15] He now went presenting the offering of the people and took the goat of the sin offering that was for the people and slaughtered it and made an offering for sin with it as with the first. [16] Then he presented the burnt offering and handled it according to the regular procedure.

[17] He next presented the grain offering and filled his hand with some of it and made it smoke upon the altar, apart from the burnt offering of the morning.

[18] After that he slaughtered the bull and the ram of the communion sacrifice that was for the people. Then Aaron's sons handed him the blood and he sprinkled it round about upon the altar. [19] As for the fatty pieces of the bull and the fat tail of the ram and the fat covering and the kidneys and the appendage of the liver, [20] they now placed the fatty pieces upon the breasts, after which he made the fatty pieces smoke upon the altar. [21] But the breasts and the right leg Aaron waved to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah, just as Moses had commanded.

[22] Then Aaron raised his hands toward the people and blessed them and came down from rendering the sin offering and the burnt offering and the communion sacrifices. [23] Finally Moses and Aaron went into the tent of meeting and came out and blessed the people.

Then Jehovah’s glory appeared to all the people, 24 and fire came out from before Jehovah and began consuming the burnt offering and the fatty pieces upon the altar. When all the people got to see it, they broke out into shouting and went falling upon their faces.

10 Later on Aaron’s sons Na′dab and A·bi′hu took up and brought each one his fire holder and put fire in them and placed incense upon it, and they began offering before Jehovah illegitimate fire, which he had not prescribed for them. [2] At this a fire came out from before Jehovah and consumed them, so that they died before Jehovah. [3] Then Moses said to Aaron: “This is what Jehovah has spoken, saying, ‘Among those near to me let me be sanctified, and before the face of all the people let me be glorified.’” And Aaron kept silent.

[4] So Moses called Mish′a·el and El·za′phan, the sons of Uz′zi·el, Aaron’s uncle, and said to them: “Come near, carry YOUR brothers from in front of the holy place to outside the camp.” [5] They accordingly came near and carried them in their robes to outside the camp, just as Moses had spoken.

[6] Subsequently Moses said to Aaron and to El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar his other sons: “Do not let YOUR heads go ungroomed, and YOU must not tear YOUR garments, that YOU may not die and that he may not become indignant against all the assembly; but YOUR brothers of the whole house of Israel will do the weeping over the burning, which Jehovah has made burn. [7] And from the entrance of the tent of meeting YOU must not go out for fear YOU may die, because Jehovah’s anointing oil is upon YOU.” So they did according to Moses’ word.

[8] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Aaron, saying: [9] “Do not drink wine or intoxicating liquor, you and your sons with you, when YOU come into the tent of meeting, that YOU may not die. It is a statute to time indefinite for YOUR generations, [10] both in order to make a distinction between the holy thing and the profane and between the unclean thing and the clean, [11] and in order to teach the sons of Israel all the regulations that Jehovah has spoken to them by means of Moses.”

[12] Then Moses spoke to Aaron and to El·e·aʹzar and Ithʹa·mar, his sons that were left: “Take the grain offering that was left over from Jehovah’s offerings made by fire and eat it unfermented near the altar, because it is something most holy. [13] And YOU must eat it in a holy place, because it is your allowance and the allowance of your sons from Jehovah’s offerings made by fire; for so I have been commanded. [14] And YOU will eat the breast of the wave offering and the leg of the sacred portion in a clean place, you and your sons and your daughters with you, because they have been given as your allowance and the allowance of your sons from the communion sacrifices of the sons of Israel. [15] They will bring the leg of the sacred portion and the breast of the wave offering along with the offerings made by fire, of the fatty pieces, in order to wave the wave offering to and fro before Jehovah; and it must serve as an allowance to time indefinite for you and your sons with you, just as Jehovah has commanded.”

[16] And Moses searched thoroughly for the goat of the sin offering, and, look! it had been burned up. So he grew indignant at El·e·aʹzar and Ithʹa·mar, Aaron’s sons that were left, saying: [17] “Why did YOU not eat the sin offering in the place that is holy, since it is something most holy and he has given it to YOU that YOU may answer for the error of the assembly so as to make atonement for them before Jehovah? [18] Look! Its blood has not been brought into the holy place within. YOU should have eaten it without fail in the holy place, just as I had been commanded.” [19] At this Aaron spoke to Moses: “Look! Today they have presented their sin offering and their burnt offering before Jehovah, while such things as these began to befall me; and had I eaten the sin offering today, would it prove satisfactory in Jehovah’s eyes?” 20 When Moses got to hear that, then it proved satisfactory in his eyes.

11 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses and Aaron, saying to them: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘This is the living creature that YOU may eat of all the beasts that are upon the earth: [3] Every creature that splits the hoof and forms a cleft in the hoofs and chews the cud among the beasts, that is what YOU may eat.

[4] “‘Only this is what YOU must not eat among the chewers of the cud and the splitters of the hoof: the camel, because it is a chewer of the cud but is no splitter of the hoof. It is unclean for YOU. [5] Also the rock badger, because it is a chewer of the cud but does not split the hoof. It is unclean for YOU. [6] Also the hare, because it is a chewer of the cud but it does not have the hoof split. It is unclean for YOU. [7] Also the pig, because it is a splitter of the hoof and a former of a cleft in the hoof, but it itself does not chew the cud. It is unclean for YOU. [8] YOU must not eat any of their flesh, and YOU must not touch their dead body. They are unclean for YOU.

[9] “‘This is what YOU may eat of everything that is in the waters: Everything that has fins and scales in the waters, in the seas and in the torrents, those YOU may eat. [10] And everything in the seas and the torrents that has no fins and scales, out of every swarming creature of the waters and out of every living soul that is in the waters, they are a loathsome thing for YOU. [11] Yes, they will become a loathsome thing to YOU. YOU must not eat any of their flesh, and YOU are to loathe their dead body. [12] Everything in the waters that has no fins and scales is a loathsome thing to YOU.

[13] “‘And these are what YOU will loathe among the flying creatures. They should not be eaten. They are a loathsome thing: the eagle and the osprey and the black vulture, [14] and the red kite and the black kite according to its kind, [15] and every raven according to its kind, [16] and the ostrich and the owl and the gull and the falcon according to its kind, [17] and the little owl and the cormorant and the long-eared owl, [18] and the swan and the pelican and the vulture, [19] and the stork, the heron according to its kind, and the hoopoe and the bat. [20] Every winged swarming creature that goes on all fours is a loathsome thing to YOU.

[21] “‘Only this is what YOU may eat of all the winged swarming creatures that go upon all fours, those that have leaper legs above their feet with which to leap upon the earth. [22] These are the ones of them YOU may eat of: the migratory locust according to its kind, and the edible locust after its kind, and the cricket according to its kind, and the grasshopper according to its kind. [23] And every other winged swarming creature that does have four legs is a loathsome thing to YOU. [24] So by these YOU would make yourselves unclean. Everyone touching their dead bodies will be unclean until the evening. [25] And everyone carrying any of their dead bodies will wash his garments, and he must be unclean until the evening.

[26] “‘As for any beast that is a splitter of the hoof but is not a former of a cleft and is not a chewer of the cud, they are unclean for YOU. Everyone touching them will be unclean. [27] As for every creature going upon its paws among all the living creatures that go on all fours, they are unclean to YOU. Everyone touching their dead bodies will be unclean until the evening. [28] And he who carries their dead bodies will wash his garments, and he must be unclean until the evening. They are unclean to YOU.

[29] “‘And this is what is unclean to YOU among the swarming creatures that swarm upon the earth: the mole rat and the jerboa and the lizard according to its kind, [30] and the gecko fanfoot and the large lizard and the newt and the sand lizard and the chameleon. [31] These are unclean to YOU among all the swarming creatures. Everyone touching them in their death state will be unclean until the evening.

[32] “‘Now anything upon which any of them should fall in its death state will be unclean, whether it be some wooden vessel or a garment or a skin or sackcloth. Any vessel of which some use is made will be put in water, and it must be unclean until the evening and then be clean. [33] As for any earthenware vessel into which any of them should fall, anything that is within it will be unclean, and YOU will smash it. [34] Any sort of food that may be eaten upon which water may come from it will be unclean, and any drink that may be drunk in any vessel will be unclean. [35] And everything upon which any of their dead bodies may fall will be unclean. Whether oven or jar stand, it is to be broken down. They are unclean, and they will become unclean to YOU. [36] Only a spring and a pit of impounded waters will continue clean, but anyone touching their dead bodies will be unclean. [37] And should any of their dead bodies fall upon any seed of a plant that is to be sown, it is clean. [38] But in case water should be put upon seed and something of their dead bodies had fallen upon it, it is unclean to YOU.

[39] “‘Now in case any beast that is YOURS for food should die, he who touches its dead body will be unclean until the evening. [40] And he who eats any of its dead body will wash his garments, and he must be unclean until the evening; and he who carries off its dead body will wash his garments, and he must be unclean until the evening. [41] And every swarming creature that swarms upon the earth is a loathsome thing. It must not be eaten. [42] As for any creature that goes upon the belly and any creature that goes on all fours or any great number of feet of all the swarming creatures that swarm upon the earth, YOU must not eat them, because they are a loathsome thing. [43] Do not make YOUR souls loathsome with any swarming creature that swarms, and YOU must not make yourselves unclean by them and actually get unclean by them. [44] For I am Jehovah YOUR God; and YOU must sanctify yourselves and YOU must prove yourselves holy, because I am holy. So YOU must not make YOUR souls unclean by any swarming creature that moves upon the earth. [45] For I am Jehovah who is leading YOU up out of the land of Egypt to prove myself God to YOU; and YOU must prove yourselves holy, because I am holy.

[46] “‘This is the law about the beast and the flying creature and every living soul that moves about in the waters and concerning every soul that swarms upon the earth, [47] in order to make a distinction between the unclean and the clean and between the living creature that is eatable and the living creature that may not be eaten.’”

12 And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘In case a woman conceives seed and does bear a male, she must be unclean seven days; as in the days of the impurity when she is menstruating she will be unclean. [3] And on the eighth day the flesh of his foreskin will be circumcised. [4] For thirty-three days more she will stay in the blood of purification. She should not touch any holy thing, and she should not come into the holy place until the fulfilling of the days of her purification.

[5] “‘Now if she should bear a female, she must then be unclean fourteen days, as during her menstruation. For sixty-six days more she will stay with the blood of purification. [6] Then at the fulfilling of the days of her purification for a son or for a daughter she will bring a young ram in its first year for a burnt offering and a young pigeon or a turtledove for a sin offering to the entrance of the tent of meeting to the priest. [7] And he must present it before Jehovah and make atonement for her, and she must be clean from the source of her blood. This is the law about her who bears either a male or a female. [8] But if she cannot afford enough for a sheep, she must then take two turtledoves or two young pigeons, one for a burnt offering and one for a sin offering, and the priest must make atonement for her, and she must be clean.’”

13 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses and Aaron, saying: [2] “In case a man develops in the skin of his flesh an eruption or a scab or a blotch and it does develop in the skin of his flesh into the plague of leprosy, he must then be brought to Aaron the priest or to one of his sons the priests. [3] And the priest must look at the plague in the skin of the flesh. When the hair in the plague has turned white and the appearance of the plague is deeper than the skin of his flesh, it is the plague of leprosy. And the priest must look at it, and he must declare him unclean. [4] But if the blotch is white in the skin of his flesh and its appearance is not deeper than the skin and its hair has not turned white, the priest must then quarantine the plague seven days. [5] And the priest must look at him on the seventh day, and if in the way it looks the plague has stopped, the plague has not spread in the skin, the priest must also quarantine him another seven days.

[6] “And the priest must look at him on the seventh day the second time, and if the plague has grown dull and the plague has not spread in the skin, the priest must also pronounce him clean. It was a scab. And he must wash his garments and be clean. [7] But if the scab has unquestionably spread in the skin after his appearing before the priest for the establishment of his purification, he must then appear the second time before the priest, [8] and the priest must take a look; and if the scab has spread in the skin, the priest must then declare him unclean. It is leprosy.

[9] “In case the plague of leprosy develops in a man, he must then be brought to the priest. [10] And the priest must take a look; and if there is a white eruption in the skin and it has turned the hair white and the raw of the living flesh is in the eruption, [11] it is chronic leprosy in the skin of his flesh; and the priest must declare him unclean. He should not quarantine him, for he is unclean. [12] Now if the leprosy unquestionably breaks out in the skin, and the leprosy does cover all the skin of the one with the plague from his head to his feet to the full sight of the priest’s eyes; [13] and the priest has looked and there the leprosy has covered all his flesh, he must then pronounce the plague clean. All of it has turned white. He is clean. [14] But on the day the living flesh appears in it, he will be unclean. [15] And the priest must see the living flesh, and he must declare him unclean. The living flesh is unclean. It is leprosy. [16] Or in case the living flesh goes back and it does change to white, he must then come to the priest. [17] And the priest must look at him, and if the plague has been changed to white, the priest must then pronounce the plague clean. He is clean.

[18] “As for the flesh, in case a boil develops in its skin and it does get healed, [19] and in the place of the boil a white eruption has developed or a reddish-white blotch, he must then show himself to the priest. [20] And the priest must look, and if its appearance is lower than the skin and its hair has turned white, the priest must then declare him unclean. It is the plague of leprosy. It has broken out in the boil. [21] But if the priest looks at it, and, there now, there is no white hair in it and it is not deeper than the skin and it is dull, the priest must then quarantine him seven days. [22] And if it unmistakably spreads in the skin, the priest must then declare him unclean. It is a plague. [23] But if in its place the blotch should stand, it has not spread, it is the inflammation of the boil; and the priest must pronounce him clean.

must then look at it; and if the hair has been changed white in the blotch and its appearance is deeper than the skin, it is leprosy. It has broken out in the scar, and the priest must declare him unclean. It is the plague of leprosy. [26] But if the priest looks at it, and, there now, there is no white hair in the blotch and it is not lower than the skin and it is dull, the priest must then quarantine him seven days. [27] And the priest must look at him on the seventh day. If it unmistakably spreads in the skin, the priest must then declare him unclean. It is the plague of leprosy. [28] But if the blotch stands in its place, it has not spread in the skin and it is dull, it is an eruption of the scar; and the priest must pronounce him clean, because it is an inflammation of the scar.

[29] “As for a man or a woman, in case a plague develops in such one on the head or on the chin, [30] the priest must then see the plague; and if its appearance is deeper than the skin, and the hair is yellow and scarce in it, the priest must then declare such one unclean. It is an abnormal falling off of hair. It is leprosy of the head or of the chin. [31] But in case the priest sees the plague of abnormal falling off of hair, and, look! its appearance is not deeper than the skin and there is no black hair in it, the priest must then quarantine the plague of abnormal falling off of hair seven days. [32] And the priest must look at the plague on the seventh day; and if the abnormal falling off of hair has not spread, and no yellow hair has developed in it and the appearance of the abnormal falling off of hair is not deeper than the skin, [33] he must then have himself shaved, but he will not have the abnormal falling off of hair shaved; and the priest must quarantine the abnormal falling off of hair seven days again.

[34] “And the priest must look at the abnormal falling off of hair on the seventh day; and if the abnormal falling off of hair has not spread in the skin, and its appearance is not deeper than the skin, the priest must then pronounce him clean, and he must wash his garments and be clean. [35] But if the abnormal falling off of hair unmistakably spreads in the skin after the establishment of his purification, [36] the priest must then see him; and if the abnormal falling off of hair has spread in the skin, the priest need not make examination for yellow hair; he is unclean. [37] But if in its look the abnormal falling off of hair has stood and black hair has grown in it, the abnormal falling off of hair has been healed. He is clean, and the priest must pronounce him clean.

[38] “As for a man or a woman, in case blotches develop in the skin of their flesh, white blotches, [39] the priest must then take a look; and if the blotches in the skin of their flesh are dull white, it is a harmless eruption. It has broken out in the skin. He is clean.

[40] “As for a man, in case his head grows bald, it is baldness. He is clean. [41] And if his head grows bald up in front, it is forehead baldness. He is clean. [42] But in case a reddish-white plague develops in the baldness of the crown or of the forehead, it is leprosy breaking out in the baldness of his crown or of his forehead. [43] And the priest must look at him; and if there is an eruption of the reddish-white plague in the baldness of his crown or of his forehead like the appearance of leprosy in the skin of the flesh, [44] he is a leper. He is unclean. Unclean is what the priest should declare him. His plague is on his head. [45] As for the leprous one in whom the plague is, his garments should be torn, and his head should become ungroomed, and he should cover over the mustache and call out, ‘Unclean, unclean!’ [46] All the days that the plague is in him he will be unclean. He is unclean. He should dwell isolated. Outside the camp is his dwelling place.

[47] “As for a garment, in case the plague of leprosy develops in it, whether in a woolen garment or in a linen garment, [48] or in the warp or in the woof of the linen and of the wool, or in a skin or in anything made of skin, [49] and the yellowish-green or reddish plague does develop in the garment or in the skin or in the warp or in the woof or in any article of skin, it is the plague of leprosy, and it must be shown to the priest. [50] And the priest must see the plague, and he must quarantine the plague seven days. [51] When he has seen the plague on the seventh day, that the plague has spread in the garment or in the warp or in the woof or in the skin for any use for which the skin may be made, the plague is malignant leprosy. It is unclean. [52] And he must burn the garment or the warp or the woof in the wool or in the linen, or any article of skin in which the plague may develop, because it is malignant leprosy. It should be burned in the fire.

[53] “But if the priest takes a look, and, there now, the plague has not spread in the garment or in the warp or in the woof or in any article of skin, [54] the priest must also command that they should wash that in which the plague is, and he must quarantine it a second seven days. [55] And the priest must look at the plague after it has been washed out, and if the plague has not changed its look and yet the plague has not spread, it is unclean. You should burn it in the fire. It is a low spot in a threadbare patch on either its underside or its outside.

[56] “But if the priest has taken a look, and, there now, the plague is dull after it has been washed out, he must then tear it out of the garment or the skin or the warp or the woof. [57] However, if it still appears in the garment or in the warp or in the woof or in any article of skin, it is breaking out. You should burn in the fire whatever it is in which the plague is.

58 As for the garment or the warp or the woof or any article of skin that you may wash, when the plague has disappeared from them, it must then be washed a second time; and it must be clean.

59 “This is the law of the plague of leprosy in a garment of wool or of linen, or in the warp or in the woof, or in any article of skin, in order to pronounce it clean or to declare it unclean.”

14 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “This will become the law of the leper in the day for establishing his purification, when he must be brought to the priest. [3] And the priest must go forth outside the camp, and the priest must look; and if the plague of leprosy has been cured in the leprous one, [4] the priest must then give command; and he must take for cleansing himself two live clean birds and cedarwood and coccus scarlet material and hyssop. [5] And the priest must give command, and the one bird must be killed in an earthenware vessel over running water. [6] As for the living bird, he should take it and the cedarwood and the coccus scarlet material and the hyssop, and he must dip them and the living bird in the blood of the bird that was killed over the running water. [7] Then he must spatter it seven times upon the one cleansing himself from the leprosy and he must pronounce him clean, and he must send away the living bird over the open field.

[8] “And the one cleansing himself must wash his garments and shave off all his hair and bathe in water and must be clean, and afterward he may come into the camp. And he must dwell outside his tent seven days. [9] And it must occur on the seventh day that he should shave off all his hair on his head and his chin and his eyebrows. Yes, he should shave off all his hair, and he must wash his garments and bathe his flesh in water; and he must be clean.

[10] “And on the eighth day he will take two sound young rams and one sound female lamb, in its first year, and three tenths of an e′phah of fine flour as a grain offering moistened with oil and one log measure of oil; [11] and the priest who pronounces him clean must present the man who is cleansing himself, and the things, before Jehovah at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [12] And the priest must take the one young ram and offer it for a guilt offering together with the log measure of oil and must wave them to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. [13] And he must slaughter the young ram in the place where the sin offering and the burnt offering are regularly slaughtered, in a holy place, because, like the sin offering, the guilt offering belongs to the priest. It is something most holy.

[14] “And the priest must take some of the blood of the guilt offering, and the priest must put it upon the lobe of the right ear of the one cleansing himself and upon the thumb of his right hand and upon the big toe of his right foot. [15] And the priest must take some of the log measure of oil and pour it upon the priest’s left palm. [16] And the priest must dip his right finger into the oil that is upon his left palm and must spatter some of the oil with his finger seven times before Jehovah. [17] And of the rest of the oil that is upon his palm the priest will put some upon the lobe of the right ear of the one cleansing himself and upon the thumb of his right hand and upon the big toe of his right foot over the blood of the guilt offering. [18] And what is left over of the oil that is upon the priest’s palm he will put upon the head of the one cleansing himself, and the priest must make atonement for him before Jehovah.

[19] “And the priest must render up the sin offering and make atonement for the one cleansing himself from his impurity, and afterward he will slaughter the burnt offering. [20] And the priest must offer up the burnt offering and the grain offering upon the altar, and the priest must make atonement for him; and he must be clean.

[21] “However, if he is lowly and does not have enough means, he must then take one young ram as a guilt offering for a wave offering in order to make atonement for him and one tenth of an e′phah of fine flour moistened with oil as a grain offering and a log measure of oil, [22] and two turtledoves or two young pigeons, according as he may have the means, and the one must serve as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering. [23] And on the eighth day he must bring them for establishing his purification to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting before Jehovah.

[24] “And the priest must take the young ram of the guilt offering and the log measure of oil, and the priest must wave them to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. [25] And he must slaughter the young ram of the guilt offering, and the priest must take some of the blood of the guilt offering and put it upon the lobe of the right ear of the one cleansing himself and upon the thumb of his right hand and upon the big toe of his right foot. [26] And the priest will pour some of the oil upon the priest’s left palm. [27] And the priest must spatter with his right finger some of the oil that is upon his left palm seven times before Jehovah. [28] And the priest must put some of the oil that is on his palm upon the lobe of the right ear of the one cleansing himself and upon the thumb of his right hand and upon the big toe of his right foot over the place of the blood of the guilt offering. [29] And what is left over of the oil that is on the priest’s palm he will put upon the head of the one cleansing himself in order to make atonement for him before Jehovah.

[30] “And he must render up the one of the turtledoves or of the young pigeons for which he may have the means, [31] the one of them for which he may have the means as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering along with the grain offering; and the priest must make atonement for the one cleansing himself before Jehovah.

[32] “This is the law for the one in whom the plague of leprosy was who may not have the means when establishing his purification.”

[33] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses and Aaron, saying: [34] “When YOU come into the land of Caʹnaan, which I am giving YOU as a possession, and I do put the plague of leprosy in a house of the land of YOUR possession, [35] the one to whom the house belongs must then come and tell the priest, saying, ‘Something like a plague has appeared to me in the house.’ [36] And the priest must give orders, and they must clear out the house before the priest may come in to see the plague, that he may not declare unclean everything that is in the house; and after that the priest will come in to see the house. [37] When he has seen the plague, then if the plague is in the walls of the house, with yellowish-green or reddish depressions, and their appearance is lower than the wall surface, [38] the priest must then go out of the house to the entrance of the house and he must quarantine the house seven days.

[39] “And the priest must return on the seventh day and must take a look; and if the plague has spread in the walls of the house, [40] the priest must then give orders, and they must tear out the stones in which the plague is, and they must throw them outside the city into an unclean place. [41] And he will have the house scraped off all around inside, and they must pour the clay mortar that they cut off outside the city into an unclean place. [42] And they must take other stones and insert them in the place of the former stones; and he will have different clay mortar taken, and he must have the house plastered.

[43] “If, though, the plague returns and it does break out in the house after having torn out the stones and after having cut off the house and plastered it, [44] the priest must then come in and take a look; and if the plague has spread in the house, it is malignant leprosy in the house. It is unclean. [45]

And he must have the house pulled down with its stones and its timbers and all the clay mortar of the house and must have it carried forth outside the city to an unclean place. [46] But whoever comes into the house any of the days of quarantining it will be unclean until the evening; [47] and whoever lies down in the house should wash his garments, and whoever eats in the house should wash his garments.

[48] “However, if the priest comes at all and he does take a look, and, there now, the plague has not spread in the house after having plastered the house, the priest must then pronounce the house clean, because the plague has been healed. [49] And to purify the house from sin he must take two birds and cedarwood and coccus scarlet material and hyssop. [50] And he must kill the one bird in an earthenware vessel over running water. [51] And he must take the cedarwood and the hyssop and the coccus scarlet material and the live bird and dip them in the blood of the bird that was killed and in the running water, and he must spatter it toward the house seven times. [52] And he must purify the house from sin with the blood of the bird and the running water and the live bird and the cedarwood and the hyssop and the coccus scarlet material. [53] And he must send the live bird away outside the city into the open field and must make atonement for the house; and it must be clean.

[54] “This is the law respecting any plague of leprosy and respecting the abnormal falling off of hair [55] and respecting the leprosy of the garment and in the house, [56] and respecting the eruption and the scab and the blotch, [57] in order to give instructions when something is unclean and when something is clean. This is the law about leprosy.”

15 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses and Aaron, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and YOU must say to them, ‘In case any man has a running discharge occur from his genital organ, his discharge is unclean. [3] And this will become his uncleanness by his discharge: Whether his genital organ has flowed with a running discharge or his genital organ is obstructed from his running discharge, it is his uncleanness.

[4] “‘Any bed upon which the one having a running discharge may lie down will be unclean, and any article upon which he may sit will be unclean. [5] And a man who may touch his bed should wash his garments, and he must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [6] And whoever sits upon the article upon which the one having a running discharge was sitting should wash his garments, and he must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [7] And whoever touches the flesh of the one having a running discharge should wash his garments, and he must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [8] And in the case of the one who has a running discharge spitting upon someone clean, he must in that case wash his garments and bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [9] And any saddle upon which the one having a running discharge was riding will be unclean. [10] And anyone touching anything that happens to be under him will be unclean until the evening; and he who carries them will wash his garments, and he must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [11] And anyone whom the one having a running discharge might touch when he has not rinsed his hands in water must then wash his garments and bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [12] And an earthenware vessel that the one having a running discharge might touch should be smashed; and any wooden vessel should be rinsed with water.

[13] “‘Now in case the one having a running discharge would become clean from his running discharge, he must then count for himself seven days for his purification, and he must wash his garments and bathe his flesh in running water; and he must be clean. [14] And on the eighth day he should take for himself two turtledoves or two young pigeons, and he must come before Jehovah to the entrance of the tent of meeting and give them to the priest. [15] And the priest must offer them, the one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering; and the priest must make atonement for him before Jehovah concerning his running discharge.

[16] “‘Now in case a man has an emission of semen go out from him, he must then bathe all his flesh in water and be unclean until the evening. [17] And any garment and any skin upon which the emission of semen gets to be must be washed with water and be unclean until the evening.

[18] “‘As for a woman with whom a man may lie down with an emission of semen, they must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening.

[19] “‘And in case a woman is having a running discharge, and her running discharge in her flesh proves to be blood, she should continue seven days in her menstrual impurity, and anyone touching her will be unclean until the evening. [20] And anything upon which she may lie down in her menstrual impurity will be unclean, and everything upon which she may sit will be unclean. [21] And anyone touching her bed should wash his garments, and he must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [22] And anyone touching any article upon which she was sitting should wash his garments, and he must bathe in water and be unclean until the evening. [23] And if it was upon the bed or upon another article that she was sitting, by his touching it he will be unclean until the evening. [24] And if a man lies down with her at all and her menstrual impurity comes to be upon him, he must then be unclean seven days, and any bed upon which he might lie down will be unclean.

[25] "'As for a woman, in case the running discharge of her blood should be flowing many days when it is not the regular time of her menstrual impurity, or in case she should have a flow longer than her menstrual impurity, all the days of her unclean running discharge will prove as in the days of her menstrual impurity. She is unclean. [26] Any bed upon which she may lie any of the days of her running discharge will become for her as the bed of her menstrual impurity, and any article upon which she may sit will become unclean like the uncleanness of her menstrual impurity. [27] And anyone touching them will be unclean, and he must wash his garments and bathe in water and be unclean until the evening.

[28] "'However, if she has become clean from her running discharge, she must also count for herself seven days, and afterward she will be clean. [29] And on the eighth day she should take for herself two turtledoves or two young pigeons, and she must bring them to the priest at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [30] And the priest must make the one a sin offering and the other a burnt offering; and the priest must make atonement for her before Jehovah concerning her unclean running discharge.

[31] "'And YOU must keep the sons of Israel separate from their uncleanness, that they may not die in their uncleanness for their defiling of my tabernacle, which is in their midst.

[32] “‘This is the law about the man having a running discharge and the man from whom an emission of semen may go out so that he becomes unclean by it; [33] and the menstruating woman in her uncleanness, and anyone who has a flow of his running discharge, whether a male or a female, and whether a man who lies down with an unclean woman.’”

16 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses after the death of Aaron’s two sons for their approaching before Jehovah so that they died. [2] And Jehovah proceeded to say to Moses: “Speak to Aaron your brother, that he should not at all times come into the holy place inside the curtain, in front of the cover which is upon the Ark, that he may not die; because in a cloud I shall appear over the cover.

[3] “With the following Aaron should come into the holy place: with a young bull for a sin offering and a ram for a burnt offering. [4] He should put on the holy linen robe, and the linen drawers should come upon his flesh, and he should gird himself with the linen sash and wrap himself with the linen turban. They are holy garments. And he must bathe his flesh in water and put them on.

[5] “And from the assembly of the sons of Israel he should take two male kids of the goats for a sin offering and one ram for a burnt offering.

[6] “And Aaron must present the bull of the sin offering, which is for himself, and he must make atonement in behalf of himself and his house.

[7] “And he must take the two goats and make them stand before Jehovah at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [8] And Aaron must draw lots over the two goats, the one lot for Jehovah and the other lot for A·za′zel. [9] And Aaron must present the goat over which the lot came up for Jehovah, and he must make it a sin offering. [10] But the goat over which the lot came up for A·za′zel should be stood alive before Jehovah to make atonement for it, so as to send it away for A·za′zel into the wilderness.

11 “And Aaron must present the bull of the sin offering, which is for himself, and make an atonement in behalf of himself and his house; and he must slaughter the bull of the sin offering, which is for himself.

12 “And he must take the fire holder full of burning coals of fire from off the altar before Jehovah, and the hollows of both his hands full of fine perfumed incense, and he must bring them inside the curtain. 13 He must also put the incense upon the fire before Jehovah, and the cloud of the incense must overspread the Ark cover, which is upon the Testimony, that he may not die.

14 “And he must take some of the bull’s blood and spatter it with his finger in front of the cover on the east side, and he will spatter some of the blood with his finger seven times before the cover.

15 “And he must slaughter the goat of the sin offering, which is for the people, and he must bring its blood inside the curtain and do with its blood the same as he did with the bull’s blood; and he must spatter it toward the cover and before the cover.

16 “And he must make atonement for the holy place concerning the uncleannesses of the sons of Israel and concerning their revolts in all their sins; and that is the way he should do for the tent of meeting, which is residing with them in the midst of their uncleannesses.

17 “And no other man should happen to be in the tent of meeting from when he goes in to make atonement in the holy place until he comes out; and he must make atonement in behalf of himself and in behalf of his house and in behalf of the entire congregation of Israel.

[18] “And he must come out to the altar, which is before Jehovah, and make atonement for it, and he must take some of the bull’s blood and some of the goat’s blood and put it upon the horns of the altar round about. [19] He must also spatter some of the blood upon it with his finger seven times and cleanse it and sanctify it from the uncleannesses of the sons of Israel.

[20] “When he has finished making atonement for the holy place and the tent of meeting and the altar, he must also present the live goat. [21] And Aaron must lay both his hands upon the head of the live goat and confess over it all the errors of the sons of Israel and all their revolts in all their sins, and he must put them upon the head of the goat and send it away by the hand of a ready man into the wilderness. [22] And the goat must carry upon itself all their errors into a desert land, and he must send the goat away into the wilderness.

[23] “And Aaron must come into the tent of meeting and strip off the linen garments that he put on when he went into the holy place, and he must lay them down there. [24] And he must bathe his flesh in water in a holy place and put on his garments and come out and render up his burnt offering and the people’s burnt offering and make atonement in his own behalf and in behalf of the people. [25] And he will make the fat of the sin offering smoke upon the altar.

[26] “As for the one who sent the goat away for A·za′zel, he should wash his garments, and he must bathe his flesh in water, and after that he may come into the camp.

[27] “However, he will have the bull of the sin offering and the goat of the sin offering, the blood of both of which was brought in to make atonement in the holy place, taken forth outside the camp; and they must burn their skins and their flesh and their dung in the fire. [28] And the one who burned them should wash his garments, and he must bathe his flesh in water, and after that he may come into the camp.

[29] “And it must serve as a statute to time indefinite for YOU people: In the seventh month on the tenth of the month YOU should afflict YOUR souls, and YOU must not do any work, either the native or the alien resident who is residing as an alien in YOUR midst. [30] For on this day atonement will be made for YOU to pronounce YOU clean. YOU will be clean from all YOUR sins before Jehovah. [31] It is a sabbath of complete rest for YOU, and YOU must afflict YOUR souls. It is a statute to time indefinite.

[32] “And the priest who will be anointed and whose hand will be filled with power to act as priest as successor of his father must make an atonement and must put on the linen garments. They are holy garments. [33] And he must make atonement for the holy sanctuary, and for the tent of meeting and for the altar he will make atonement; and for the priests and for all the people of the congregation he will make atonement. [34] And this must serve as a statute to time indefinite for YOU, in order to make atonement for the sons of Israel concerning all their sins once in the year.”

Accordingly he did just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

17 And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to Aaron and his sons and all the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘This is the thing that Jehovah has commanded, saying:

[3] “‘“As for any man of the house of Israel who slaughters a bull or a young ram or a goat in the camp or who slaughters it outside the camp [4] and does not actually bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to present it as an offering to Jehovah before the tabernacle of Jehovah, bloodguilt will be counted to that man. He has shed blood, and that man must be cut off from among his people, [5] in order that the sons of Israel may bring their sacrifices, which they are sacrificing in the open field, and they must bring them to Jehovah to the entrance of the tent of meeting to the priest, and they must sacrifice these as communion sacrifices to Jehovah. [6] And the priest must sprinkle the blood upon Jehovah’s altar at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and he must make the fat smoke as a restful odor to Jehovah. [7] So they should no longer sacrifice their sacrifices to the goat-shaped demons with which they are having immoral intercourse. This will serve as a statute to time indefinite for YOU, throughout YOUR generations.”’

[8] “And you should say to them, ‘As for any man of the house of Israel or some alien resident who may be residing as an alien in YOUR midst who offers up a burnt offering or a sacrifice [9] and does not bring it to the entrance of the tent of meeting to render it to Jehovah, that man must be cut off from his people.

[10] “‘As for any man of the house of Israel or some alien resident who is residing as an alien in YOUR midst who eats any sort of blood, I shall certainly set my face against the soul that is eating the blood, and I shall indeed cut him off from among his people. [11] For the soul of the flesh is in the blood, and I myself have put it upon the altar for YOU to make atonement for YOUR souls, because it is the blood that makes atonement by the soul in it. [12] That is why I have said to the sons of Israel: “No soul of YOU must eat blood and no alien resident who is residing as an alien in YOUR midst should eat blood.”

[13] “‘As for any man of the sons of Israel or some alien resident who is residing as an alien in YOUR midst who in hunting catches a wild beast or a fowl that may be eaten, he must in that case pour its blood out and cover it with dust. [14] For the soul of every sort of flesh is its blood by the soul in it. Consequently I said to the sons of Israel: “YOU must not eat the blood of any sort of flesh, because the soul of every sort of flesh is its blood. Anyone eating it will be cut off.” [15] As for any soul that eats a body already dead or something torn by a wild beast, whether a native or an alien resident, he must in that case wash his garments and bathe in water and be unclean until the evening; and he must be clean. [16] But if he will not wash them and will not bathe his flesh, he must then answer for his error.’”

18 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘I am Jehovah YOUR God. [3] The way the land of Egypt does, in which YOU dwelt, YOU must not do; and the way the land of Caʹnaan does, into which I am bringing YOU, YOU must not do; and in their statutes YOU must not walk. [4] My judicial decisions YOU should carry out, and my statutes YOU should keep so as to walk in them. I am Jehovah YOUR God. [5] And YOU must keep my statutes and my judicial decisions, which if a man will do, he must also live by means of them. I am Jehovah.

[6] “‘YOU people must not come near, any man of YOU, to any close fleshly relative of his to lay bare nakedness. I am Jehovah. [7] The nakedness of your father and the nakedness of your mother you must not lay bare. She is your mother. You must not lay bare her nakedness.

[8] “‘The nakedness of your father’s wife you must not lay bare. It is your father’s nakedness.

[9] “‘As for the nakedness of your sister, the daughter of your father or the daughter of your mother, whether born in the same household or born outside it, you must not lay bare their nakedness.

[10] “‘As for the nakedness of the daughter of your son or the daughter of your daughter, you must not lay bare their nakedness, because they are your nakedness.

[11] “‘As for the nakedness of the daughter of your father’s wife, the offspring of your father, she being your sister, you must not lay bare her nakedness.

[12] “‘The nakedness of your father’s sister you must not lay bare. She is the blood relation of your father.

[13] “‘The nakedness of your mother’s sister you must not lay bare, because she is a blood relation of your mother.

[14] “‘The nakedness of your father’s brother you must not lay bare. You must not come near his wife. She is your aunt.

[15] “‘The nakedness of your daughter-in-law you must not lay bare. She is your son’s wife. You must not lay her nakedness bare.

[16] “‘The nakedness of your brother’s wife you must not lay bare. It is your brother’s nakedness.

[17] “‘The nakedness of a woman and her daughter you must not lay bare. The daughter of her son and the daughter of her daughter you must not take in order to lay her nakedness bare. They are cases of blood relationship. It is loose conduct.

[18] “‘And you must not take a woman in addition to her sister as a rival to uncover her nakedness, that is, besides her during her lifetime.

[19] “‘And you must not come near a woman during the menstruation of her impurity to lay her nakedness bare.

[20] “‘And you must not give your emission as semen to the wife of your associate to become unclean by it.

[21] “‘And you must not allow the devoting of any of your offspring to Moʹlech. You must not profane the name of your God that way. I am Jehovah.

[22] “‘And you must not lie down with a male the same as you lie down with a woman. It is a detestable thing.

[23] “‘And you must not give your emission to any beast to become unclean by it, and a woman should not stand before a beast to have connection with it. It is a violation of what is natural.

[24] “‘Do not make yourselves unclean by any of these things, because by all these things the nations whom I am sending out from before YOU have made themselves unclean. [25] Consequently the land is unclean, and I shall bring punishment for its error upon it, and the land will vomit its inhabitants out. [26] And YOU yourselves must keep my statutes and my judicial decisions, and YOU must not do any of all these detestable things, whether a native or an alien resident who is residing as an alien in YOUR midst. [27] For all these detestable things the men of the land who were before YOU have done, so that the land is unclean. [28] Then the land will not vomit YOU out for YOUR defiling it the same way as it will certainly vomit the nations out who were before YOU. [29] In case anyone does any of all these detestable things, then the souls doing them must be cut off from among their people. [30] And YOU must keep YOUR obligation to me not to carry on any of the detestable customs that have been carried on before YOU, that YOU may not make yourselves unclean by them. I am Jehovah YOUR God.’”

19 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the entire assembly of the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘YOU should prove yourselves holy, because I Jehovah YOUR God am holy.

[3] “‘YOU should fear each one his mother and his father, and my sabbaths YOU should keep. I am Jehovah YOUR God. [4] Do not turn yourselves to valueless gods, and YOU must not make molten gods for yourselves. I am Jehovah YOUR God.

[5] “‘Now in case YOU should sacrifice a communion sacrifice to Jehovah, YOU should sacrifice it to gain approval for yourselves. [6] On the day of YOUR sacrifice and directly the next day it should be eaten, but what is left over till the third day should be burned in the fire. [7] If, though, it should at all be eaten on the third day, it is a foul thing. It will not be accepted with approval. [8] And the one eating it will answer for his error, because he has profaned a holy thing of Jehovah; and that soul must be cut off from his people.

[9] “‘And when YOU people reap the harvest of YOUR land, you must not reap the edge of your field completely, and the gleaning of your harvest you must not pick up. [10] Also, you must not gather the leftovers of your vineyard, and you must not pick up the scattered grapes of your vineyard. For the afflicted one and the alien resident you should leave them. I am Jehovah YOUR God.

[11] “‘YOU people must not steal, and YOU must not deceive, and YOU must not deal falsely anyone with his associate. [12] And YOU must not swear in my name to a lie, so that you do profane the name of your God. I am Jehovah. [13] You must not defraud your fellow, and you must not rob. The wages of a hired laborer should not stay all night with you until morning.

14 “‘You must not call down evil upon a deaf man, and before a blind man you must not put an obstacle; and you must be in fear of your God. I am Jehovah.

15 “‘YOU people must not do injustice in the judgment. You must not treat the lowly with partiality, and you must not prefer the person of a great one. With justice you should judge your associate.

16 “‘You must not go around among your people for the sake of slandering. You must not stand up against your fellow’s blood. I am Jehovah.

17 “‘You must not hate your brother in your heart. You should by all means reprove your associate, that you may not bear sin along with him.

18 “‘You must not take vengeance nor have a grudge against the sons of your people; and you must love your fellow as yourself. I am Jehovah.

19 “‘YOU people should keep my statutes: You must not interbreed your domestic animals of two sorts. You must not sow your field with seeds of two sorts, and you must not put upon yourself a garment of two sorts of thread, mixed together.

20 “‘Now in case a man lies down with a woman and has an emission of semen, when she is a maidservant designated for another man, and she has not in any way been redeemed nor has freedom been given her, punishment should take place. They should not be put to death, because she was not set free. 21 And he must bring his guilt offering to Jehovah to the entrance of the tent of meeting, a ram of guilt offering.

22 And the priest must make atonement for him with the ram of the guilt offering before Jehovah for his sin that he committed; and his sin that he committed must be forgiven him.

23 “‘And in case YOU people come into the land, and YOU must plant any tree for food, YOU must also consider its fruitage impure as its “foreskin.” For three years it will continue uncircumcised for YOU. It should not be eaten. 24 But in the fourth year all its fruit will become a holy thing of festal exultation to Jehovah. 25 And in the fifth year YOU may eat its fruit in order to add its produce to yourselves. I am Jehovah YOUR God.

26 “‘YOU must eat nothing along with blood.

“‘YOU must not look for omens, and YOU must not practice magic.

27 “‘YOU must not cut YOUR sidelocks short around, and you must not destroy the extremity of your beard.

28 “‘And YOU must not make cuts in YOUR flesh for a deceased soul, and YOU must not put tattoo marking upon yourselves. I am Jehovah.

29 “‘Do not profane your daughter by making her a prostitute, in order that the land may not commit prostitution and the land actually be filled with loose morals.

30 “‘My sabbaths YOU should keep, and YOU should stand in awe of my sanctuary. I am Jehovah.

31 “‘Do not turn yourselves to the spirit mediums, and do not consult professional foretellers of events, so as to become unclean by them. I am Jehovah YOUR God.

[32] “‘Before gray hair you should rise up, and you must show consideration for the person of an old man, and you must be in fear of your God. I am Jehovah.

[33] “‘And in case an alien resident resides with you as an alien in YOUR land, YOU must not mistreat him. [34] The alien resident who resides as an alien with YOU should become to YOU like a native of YOURS; and you must love him as yourself, for YOU became alien residents in the land of Egypt. I am Jehovah YOUR God.

[35] “‘YOU must not commit injustice in judging, in measuring, in weighing or in measuring liquids. [36] YOU should prove to have accurate scales, accurate weights, an accurate e′phah and an accurate hin. Jehovah YOUR God I am, who have brought YOU out of the land of Egypt. [37] So YOU must keep all my statutes and all my judicial decisions, and YOU must do them. I am Jehovah.’”

20 And Jehovah went on speaking to Moses, saying: [2] “You are to say to the sons of Israel, ‘Any man of the sons of Israel, and any alien resident who resides as an alien in Israel, who gives any of his offspring to Mo′lech, should be put to death without fail. The people of the land should pelt him to death with stones. [3] And as for me, I shall set my face against that man, and I will cut him off from among his people, because he has given some of his offspring to Mo′lech for the purpose of defiling my holy place and to profane my holy name. [4] And if the people of the land should deliberately hide their eyes from that man when he gives any of his offspring to Mo′lech by not putting him to death, [5] then I, for my part, shall certainly fix my face against that man and his family, and I shall indeed cut him and all those who have immoral intercourse along with him in having immoral intercourse with Mo′lech off from among their people.

[6] “‘As for the soul who turns himself to the spirit mediums and the professional foretellers of events so as to have immoral intercourse with them, I shall certainly set my face against that soul and cut him off from among his people.

[7] “‘And YOU must sanctify yourselves and prove yourselves holy, because I am Jehovah YOUR God. [8] And YOU must keep my statutes and do them. I am Jehovah who is sanctifying YOU.

[9] “‘In case there should be any man who calls down evil upon his father and his mother, he should be put to death without fail. It is his father and his mother upon whom he has called down evil. His own blood is upon him.

10 “‘Now a man who commits adultery with another man’s wife is one who commits adultery with the wife of his fellowman. He should be put to death without fail, the adulterer and the adulteress as well. 11 And a man who lies down with his father’s wife has laid bare the nakedness of his father. Both of them should be put to death without fail. Their own blood is upon them. 12 And where a man lies down with his daughter-in-law, both of them should be put to death without fail. They have committed a violation of what is natural. Their own blood is upon them.

13 “‘And when a man lies down with a male the same as one lies down with a woman, both of them have done a detestable thing. They should be put to death without fail. Their own blood is upon them.

14 “‘And where a man takes a woman and her mother, it is loose conduct. They should burn him and them in the fire, in order that loose conduct may not continue in YOUR midst.

15 “‘And where a man gives his seminal emission to a beast, he should be put to death without fail, and YOU should kill the beast. 16 And where a woman approaches any beast to have a connection with it, you must kill the woman and the beast. They should be put to death without fail. Their own blood is upon them.

17 “‘And where a man takes his sister, the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother, and he does see her nakedness, and she herself sees his nakedness, it is shame. So they must be cut off before the eyes of the sons of their people. It is the nakedness of his sister that he has laid bare. He should answer for his error.

18 “‘And where a man lies down with a menstruating woman and does lay bare her nakedness, he has exposed her source, and she herself has laid bare the source of her blood. So both of them must be cut off from among their people.

[19] “‘And the nakedness of your mother’s sister and of your father’s sister you must not lay bare, because it is his blood relation that one has exposed. They should answer for their error. [20] And a man who lies down with his uncle’s wife has laid bare the nakedness of his uncle. They should answer for their sin. They should die childless. [21] And where a man takes his brother’s wife, it is something abhorrent. It is the nakedness of his brother that he has laid bare. They should become childless.

[22] “‘And YOU people must keep all my statutes and all my judicial decisions and do them, that the land to which I am bringing YOU to dwell in it may not vomit YOU out. [23] And YOU must not walk in the statutes of the nations whom I am sending out from before YOU, because they have done all these things and I abhor them. [24] Hence I said to YOU: “YOU, for YOUR part, will take possession of their ground, and I, for my part, shall give it to YOU to take possession of it, a land flowing with milk and honey. Jehovah YOUR God I am, who have divided YOU off from the peoples.” [25] And YOU must make a distinction between the clean beast and the unclean and between the unclean fowl and the clean; and YOU must not make YOUR souls loathsome with the beast and the fowl and anything that moves on the ground that I have divided off for YOU in declaring them unclean. [26] And YOU must prove yourselves holy to me, because I Jehovah am holy; and I am proceeding to divide YOU off from the peoples to become mine.

[27] “‘And as for a man or woman in whom there proves to be a mediumistic spirit or spirit of prediction, they should be put to death without fail. They should pelt them to death with stones. Their own blood is upon them.’”

21 And Jehovah went on to say to Moses: “Talk to the priests, Aaron’s sons, and you must say to them, ‘For a deceased soul no one may defile himself among his people. [2] But for a blood relation of his who is close to him, for his mother and for his father and for his son and for his daughter and for his brother [3] and for his sister, a virgin who is close to him, who has not become a man’s, for her he may defile himself. [4] He may not defile himself for a woman possessed by an owner among his people so as to make himself profane. [5] They should not produce baldness upon their heads, and the extremity of their beard they should not shave, and on their flesh they should not make an incision. [6] They should prove themselves holy to their God, and they should not profane the name of their God, because they are those presenting Jehovah’s offerings made by fire, the bread of their God; and they must prove themselves holy. [7] A prostitute or a violated woman they should not take; and a woman divorced from her husband they should not take, because he is holy to his God. [8] So you must sanctify him, because he is one presenting the bread of your God. He should prove to be holy to you, because I Jehovah, who am sanctifying YOU, am holy.

[9] “‘Now in case the daughter of a priest should make herself profane by committing prostitution, it is her father that she is profaning. She should be burned in the fire.

[10] “‘And as for the high priest of his brothers upon whose head the anointing oil would be poured and whose hand was filled with power to wear the garments, he should not let his head go ungroomed, and he should not tear his garments. [11] And he should not come to any dead soul. For his father and his mother he may not defile himself. [12] He should also not go out from the sanctuary and not profane the sanctuary of his God, because the sign of dedication, the anointing oil of his God, is upon him. I am Jehovah.

13 “‘And for his part, he should take a woman in her virginity. 14 As for a widow or a divorced woman and one violated, a prostitute, none of these may he take, but he should take a virgin from his people as a wife. 15 And he should not profane his seed among his people, because I am Jehovah who is sanctifying him.’”

16 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: 17 “Speak to Aaron, saying, ‘No man of your seed throughout their generations in whom there proves to be a defect may come near to present the bread of his God. 18 In case there is any man in whom there is a defect, he may not come near: a man blind or lame or with his nose slit or with one member too long, 19 or a man in whom there proves to be a fracture of the foot or a fracture of the hand, 20 or hunchback or thin or diseased in his eyes or scabby or having ringworms or having his testicles broken. 21 Any man of the seed of Aaron the priest in whom there is a defect may not approach to present Jehovah’s offerings made by fire. There is a defect in him. He may not approach to present the bread of his God. 22 He may eat the bread of his God from the most holy things and from the holy things. 23 However, he may not come in near the curtain, and he may not approach the altar, because there is a defect in him; and he should not profane my sanctuary, for I am Jehovah who is sanctifying them.’”

24 Accordingly Moses spoke to Aaron and his sons and all the sons of Israel.

22 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to Aaron and his sons, that they may keep themselves separate from the holy things of the sons of Israel and not profane my holy name in the things they are sanctifying to me. I am Jehovah. [3] Say to them, ‘Throughout YOUR generations any man of all YOUR offspring who comes near to the holy things, which the sons of Israel will sanctify to Jehovah, while his uncleanness is upon him, that soul must be cut off from before me. I am Jehovah. [4] No man of Aaron’s offspring when he is leprous or has a running discharge may eat of the holy things until he becomes clean, neither he who touches anyone unclean by a deceased soul or a man from whom there goes out a seminal emission, [5] nor a man who touches any swarming thing that is unclean for him or touches a man who is unclean for him as respects any uncleanness of his. [6] The soul who touches any such must be unclean until the evening and may not eat any of the holy things, but he must bathe his flesh in water. [7] When the sun has set, he must also be clean, and afterward he may eat some of the holy things, because it is his bread. [8] He should also not eat any body already dead or anything torn by wild beasts so as to become unclean by it. I am Jehovah.

[9] “‘And they must keep their obligation to me, that they may not carry sin because of it and have to die for it because they were profaning it. I am Jehovah who is sanctifying them.

[10] “‘And no stranger at all may eat anything holy. No settler with a priest nor a hired laborer may eat anything holy. [11] But in case a priest should purchase a soul, as a purchase with his money, he as such may share in eating it. As for slaves born in his house, they as such may share in eating his bread. [12] And in case the daughter of a priest should become a man’s who is a stranger, she as such may not eat of the contribution of the holy things. [13] But in case the daughter of a priest should become a widow or divorced when she has no offspring, and she must return to her father’s house as in her youth, she may eat some of her father’s bread; but no stranger at all may feed on it.

[14] “‘Now in case a man eats a holy thing by mistake, he must then add the fifth of it to it and must give the holy thing to the priest. [15] So they should not profane the holy things of the sons of Israel, which they may contribute to Jehovah, [16] and actually cause them to bear the punishment of guiltiness because of their eating their holy things; for I am Jehovah who is sanctifying them.’”

[17] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [18] “Speak to Aaron and his sons and all the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘As for any man of the house of Israel or some alien resident in Israel who presents his offering, for any of their vows or for any of their voluntary offerings, which they may present to Jehovah for a burnt offering, [19] to gain approval for YOU it must be sound, a male among the herd, among the young rams or among the goats. [20] Anything in which there is a defect YOU must not present, because it will not serve to gain approval for YOU.

[21] “‘And in case a man should present a communion sacrifice to Jehovah in order to pay a vow or as a voluntary offering, it should prove to be a sound one among the herd or the flock, in order to gain approval. No defect at all should prove to be in it. [22] No case of blindness or fracture or having a cut or wart or scabbiness or ringworm, none of these must YOU present to Jehovah, and no offering made by fire from them must YOU put upon the altar for Jehovah. [23] As for a bull or a sheep having a member too long or too short, you may make it a voluntary offering; but for a vow it will not be accepted with approval. [24] But one having the testicles squeezed or crushed or pulled off or cut off YOU must not present to Jehovah, and in YOUR land YOU should not render them up. [25] And any of all these from the hand of a foreigner YOU must not present as the bread of YOUR God, because their corruption is in them. There is a defect in them. They will not be accepted with approval of YOU.'"

[26] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [27] "Should a bull or a young ram or a goat be born, then it must continue under its mother seven days, but from the eighth day and forward it will be accepted with approval as an offering, an offering made by fire to Jehovah. [28] As for a bull and a sheep, YOU must not slaughter it and its young one on the one day.

[29] "And in case YOU should sacrifice a thanksgiving sacrifice to Jehovah, YOU should sacrifice it to gain approval for YOU. [30] On that day it should be eaten. YOU must not leave any of it until morning. I am Jehovah.

[31] "And YOU must keep my commandments and do them. I am Jehovah. [32] And YOU must not profane my holy name, and I must be sanctified in the midst of the sons of Israel. I am Jehovah who is sanctifying YOU, [33] the One bringing YOU out of the land of Egypt to prove myself God to YOU. I am Jehovah."

23 And Jehovah went on speaking to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘The seasonal festivals of Jehovah that YOU should proclaim are holy conventions. These are my seasonal festivals:

[3] “‘Six days may work be done, but on the seventh day is a sabbath of complete rest, a holy convention. YOU may do no sort of work. It is a sabbath to Jehovah in all places where YOU dwell.

[4] “‘These are the seasonal festivals of Jehovah, holy conventions, which YOU should proclaim at their appointed times: [5] In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, between the two evenings is the passover to Jehovah.

[6] “‘And on the fifteenth day of this month is the festival of unfermented cakes to Jehovah. Seven days YOU should eat unfermented cakes. [7] On the first day YOU will have a holy convention occur. No sort of laborious work may YOU do. [8] But YOU must present an offering made by fire to Jehovah seven days. On the seventh day there will be a holy convention. No sort of laborious work may YOU do.’”

[9] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [10] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘When YOU eventually come into the land that I am giving YOU, and YOU have reaped its harvest, YOU must also bring a sheaf of the firstfruits of YOUR harvest to the priest. [11] And he must wave the sheaf to and fro before Jehovah to gain approval for YOU. Directly the day after the sabbath the priest should wave it to and fro. [12] And on the day of YOUR having the sheaf waved to and fro YOU must render up a sound young ram, in its first year, for a burnt offering to Jehovah; [13] and as its grain offering two tenths of an eʹphah of fine flour moistened with oil, as an offering made by fire to Jehovah, a restful odor; and as its drink offering a fourth of a hin of wine. [14] And YOU must eat no bread nor roasted grain nor new grain until this very day, until YOUR bringing the offering of YOUR God. It is a statute to time indefinite for YOUR generations in all places where YOU dwell.

[15] “‘And YOU must count for yourselves from the day after the sabbath, from the day of YOUR bringing the sheaf of the wave offering, seven sabbaths. They should prove to be complete. [16] To the day after the seventh sabbath YOU should count, fifty days, and YOU must present a new grain offering to Jehovah. [17] Out of YOUR dwelling places YOU should bring two loaves as a wave offering. Of two tenths of an eʹphah of fine flour they should prove to be. They should be baked leavened, as first ripe fruits to Jehovah. [18] And YOU must present along with the loaves seven sound male lambs, each a year old, and one young bull and two rams. They should serve as a burnt offering to Jehovah along with their grain offering and their drink offerings as an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah. [19] And YOU must render up one kid of the goats as a sin offering and two male lambs, each a year old, as a communion sacrifice. [20] And the priest must wave them to and fro along with the loaves of the first ripe fruits, as a wave offering before Jehovah, along with the two male lambs. They should serve as something holy to Jehovah for the priest. [21] And YOU must make a proclamation on this very day; there will be a holy convention for yourselves. No sort of laborious work may YOU do. It is a statute to time indefinite in all YOUR dwelling places for YOUR generations.

[22] “‘And when YOU people reap the harvest of YOUR land, you must not do completely the edge of your field when you are reaping, and the gleaning of your harvest you must not pick up. You should leave them for the afflicted one and the alien resident. I am Jehovah YOUR God.’”

[23] And Jehovah went on speaking to Moses, saying: [24] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘In the seventh month, on the first of the month, there should occur for YOU a complete rest, a memorial by the trumpet blast, a holy convention. [25] No sort of laborious work may YOU do, and YOU must present an offering made by fire to Jehovah.’”

[26] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [27] “However, on the tenth of this seventh month is the day of atonement. A holy convention should take place for YOU, and YOU must afflict YOUR souls and present an offering made by fire to Jehovah. [28] And YOU must do no sort of work on this very day, because it is a day of atonement to make atonement for YOU before Jehovah YOUR God; [29] because every soul that will not be afflicted on this very day must be cut off from his people. [30] As for any soul that will do any sort of work on this very day, I must destroy that soul from among his people. [31] YOU must do no sort of work. It is a statute to time indefinite for YOUR generations in all places where YOU dwell. [32] It is a sabbath of complete rest for YOU, and YOU must afflict YOUR souls on the ninth of the month in the evening. From evening to evening YOU should observe YOUR sabbath.”

[33] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [34] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘On the fifteenth day of this seventh month is the festival of booths for seven days to Jehovah. [35] On the first day is a holy convention. No sort of laborious work may YOU do. [36] Seven days YOU should present an offering made by fire to Jehovah. On the eighth day there should occur a holy convention for YOU, and YOU must present an offering made by fire to Jehovah. It is a solemn assembly. No sort of laborious work may YOU do.

[37] "'These are the seasonal festivals of Jehovah that YOU should proclaim as holy conventions, for presenting an offering made by fire to Jehovah: the burnt offering and the grain offering of the sacrifice and the drink offerings according to the daily schedule, [38] besides the sabbaths of Jehovah and besides YOUR gifts and besides all YOUR vow offerings and besides all YOUR voluntary offerings, which YOU should give to Jehovah. [39] However, on the fifteenth day of the seventh month, when YOU have gathered the produce of the land, YOU should celebrate the festival of Jehovah seven days. On the first day is a complete rest and on the eighth day is a complete rest. [40] And YOU must take for yourselves on the first day the fruit of splendid trees, the fronds of palm trees and the boughs of branchy trees and poplars of the torrent valley, and YOU must rejoice before Jehovah YOUR God seven days. [41] And YOU must celebrate it as a festival to Jehovah seven days in the year. As a statute to time indefinite during YOUR generations, YOU should celebrate it in the seventh month. [42] It is in the booths YOU should dwell seven days. All the natives in Israel should dwell in the booths, [43] in order that YOUR generations may know that it was in the booths that I made the sons of Israel to dwell when I was bringing them out of the land of Egypt. I am Jehovah YOUR God.'"

24 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Command the sons of Israel that they get for you pure, beaten olive oil for the luminary, to light up the lamp constantly. [3] Outside the curtain of the Testimony in the tent of meeting Aaron should set it in order from evening to morning before Jehovah constantly. It is a statute to time indefinite during YOUR generations. [4] Upon the lampstand of pure gold he should set the lamps in order before Jehovah constantly.

[5] “And you must take fine flour and bake it up into twelve ring-shaped cakes. Two tenths of an e′phah should go to each ring-shaped cake. [6] And you must place them in two sets of layers, six to the layer set, upon the table of pure gold before Jehovah. [7] And you must put pure frankincense upon each layer set, and it must serve as the bread for a remembrancer, an offering made by fire to Jehovah. [8] On one sabbath day after another he should set it in order before Jehovah constantly. It is a covenant to time indefinite with the sons of Israel. [9] And it must become Aaron’s and his sons’, and they must eat it in a holy place, because it is something most holy for him from Jehovah’s offerings made by fire, as a regulation to time indefinite.”

[10] Now a son of an Israelite woman, who, however, was the son of an Egyptian man, went out into the midst of the sons of Israel, and the son of the Israelitess and an Israelite man began to struggle with each other in the camp. [11] And the son of the Israelite woman began to abuse the Name and to call down evil upon it. So they brought him to Moses. Incidentally, his mother’s name was She·lo′mith, the daughter of Dib′ri of the tribe of Dan. [12] Then they committed him into custody till there should be a distinct declaration to them according to the saying of Jehovah.

[13] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [14] “Bring forth the one who called down evil to the outside of the camp; and all those who heard him must lay their hands upon his head, and the entire assembly must pelt him with stones. [15] And you should speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘In case any man calls down evil upon his God, he must then answer for his sin. [16] So the abuser of Jehovah’s name should be put to death without fail. The entire assembly should without fail pelt him with stones. The alien resident the same as the native should be put to death for his abusing the Name.

[17] “‘And in case a man strikes any soul of mankind fatally, he should be put to death without fail. [18] And the fatal striker of the soul of a domestic animal should make compensation for it, soul for soul. [19] And in case a man should cause a defect in his associate, then just as he has done, so it should be done to him. [20] Fracture for fracture, eye for eye, tooth for tooth; the same sort of defect he may cause in the man, that is what should be caused in him. [21] And the fatal striker of a beast should make compensation for it, but the fatal striker of a man should be put to death.

[22] “‘One judicial decision should hold good for YOU. The alien resident should prove to be the same as the native, because I am Jehovah YOUR God.’”

[23] After that Moses spoke to the sons of Israel, and they brought forth the one who had called down evil to the outside of the camp, and they pelted him with stones. Thus the sons of Israel did just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

25 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses in Mount Si′nai, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘When YOU eventually come into the land that I am giving YOU, then the land must observe a sabbath to Jehovah. [3] Six years you should sow your field with seed, and six years you should prune your vineyard, and you must gather the land’s produce. [4] But in the seventh year there should occur a sabbath of complete rest for the land, a sabbath to Jehovah. Your field you must not sow with seed, and your vineyard you must not prune. [5] The growth from spilled kernels of your harvest you must not reap, and the grapes of your unpruned vine you must not gather. There should occur a year of complete rest for the land. [6] And the sabbath of the land must serve YOU people for food, for you and your slave man and your slave girl and your hired laborer and the settler with you, those who are residing as aliens with you, [7] and for your domestic animal and for the wild beast that is in your land. All its produce should serve for eating.

[8] “‘And you must count for yourself seven sabbaths of years, seven times seven years, and the days of the seven sabbaths of years must amount to forty-nine years for you. [9]
And you must cause the horn of loud tone to sound in the seventh month on the tenth of the month; on the day of atonement YOU people should cause the horn to sound in all YOUR land. [10] And YOU must sanctify the fiftieth year and proclaim liberty in the land to all its inhabitants. It will become a Jubilee for YOU, and YOU must return each one to his possession and YOU should return each one to his family.
[11] A Jubilee is what that fiftieth year will become for YOU.
YOU must not sow seed nor reap the land’s growth from spilled kernels nor gather the grapes of its unpruned vines. 12 For it is a Jubilee. It should become something holy to YOU. From the field YOU may eat what the land produces.

13 “‘In this year of the Jubilee YOU should return each one to his possession. 14 Now in case YOU should sell merchandise to your associate or be buying from your associate’s hand, do not YOU wrong one another. 15 By the number of the years after the Jubilee you should buy from your associate; by the number of the years of the crops he should sell to you. 16 In proportion to the great number of years he should increase its purchase value, and in proportion to the fewness of years he should reduce its purchase value, because the number of the crops is what he is selling to you. 17 And YOU must not wrong anyone his associate, and you must be in fear of your God, because I am Jehovah YOUR God. 18 So YOU must carry out my statutes and YOU should keep my judicial decisions and YOU must carry them out. Then YOU will certainly dwell on the land in security. 19 And the land will indeed give its fruitage, and YOU will certainly eat to satisfaction and dwell in security on it.

20 “‘But in case YOU should say: “What are we going to eat in the seventh year seeing that we may not sow seed or gather our crops?” 21 in that case I shall certainly command my blessing for YOU in the sixth year, and it must yield its crop for three years. 22 And YOU must sow seed the eighth year and YOU must eat from the old crop until the ninth year. Until the coming of its crop YOU will eat the old.

23 “‘So the land should not be sold in perpetuity, because the land is mine. For YOU are alien residents and settlers from my standpoint. 24 And in all the land of YOUR possession YOU should grant to the land the right of buying back.

[25] “‘In case your brother grows poor and has to sell some of his possession, a repurchaser closely related to him must also come and buy back what his brother sold. [26] And in case anyone proves to have no repurchaser and his own hand does make gain and he does find enough for its repurchase, [27] he must also calculate the years from when he sold it and he must return what money remains over to the man to whom he made the sale, and he must return to his possession.

[28] “‘But if his hand does not find enough to give back to him, what he sold must also continue in the hand of its purchaser until the Jubilee year; and it must go out in the Jubilee, and he must return to his possession.

[29] “‘Now in case a man should sell a dwelling house in a walled city, his right of repurchase must also continue till the year from the time of his sale finishes out; his right of repurchase should continue a whole year. [30] But if it should not be bought back before the complete year has come to the full for him, the house that is in the city that has a wall must also stand in perpetuity as the property of its purchaser during his generations. It should not go out in the Jubilee. [31] However, the houses of settlements that have no wall about them should be accounted as part of the field of the country. Right of repurchase should continue for it, and in the Jubilee it should go out.

[32] “‘As for cities of the Levites with the houses of the cities of their possession, the right of repurchase should continue to time indefinite for the Levites. [33] And where property of the Levites is not bought back, the house sold in the city of his possession must also go out in the Jubilee; because the houses of the cities of the Levites are their possession in the midst of the sons of Israel. [34] Moreover, the field of pasture

[35] “‘And in case your brother grows poor and so he is financially weak alongside you, you must also sustain him. As an alien resident and a settler, he must keep alive with you. [36] Do not take interest and usury from him, but you must be in fear of your God; and your brother must keep alive with you. [37] You must not give him your money on interest, and you must not give your food out on usury. [38] I am Jehovah YOUR God, who brought YOU out of the land of Egypt to give YOU the land of Caʹnaan, to prove myself YOUR God.

[39] “‘And in case your brother grows poor alongside you and he has to sell himself to you, you must not use him as a worker in slavish service. [40] He should prove to be with you like a hired laborer, like a settler. He should serve with you till the Jubilee year. [41] And he must go out from you, he and his sons with him, and he must return to his family, and he should return to the possession of his forefathers. [42] For they are my slaves whom I brought out of the land of Egypt. They must not sell themselves the way a slave is sold. [43] You must not tread down upon him with tyranny, and you must be in fear of your God. [44] As for your slave man and your slave girl who become yours from the nations that are round about YOU people, from them YOU may buy a slave man and a slave girl. [45] And also from the sons of the settlers who are residing as aliens with YOU, from them YOU may buy, and from their families that are with YOU whom they had born to them in YOUR land; and they must become YOUR possession. [46] And YOU must pass them on as an inheritance to YOUR sons after YOU to inherit as a possession to time indefinite. YOU may use them as workers, but upon YOUR brothers the sons of Israel, you must not tread, the one upon the other, with tyranny.

[47] “‘But in case the hand of the alien resident or the settler with you becomes wealthy, and your brother has become poor alongside him and must sell himself to the alien resident or the settler with you, or to a member of the family of the alien resident, [48] after he has sold himself, the right of repurchase will continue in his case. One of his brothers may buy him back. [49] Or his uncle or the son of his uncle may buy him back, or any blood relative of his flesh, one of his family, may buy him back.

“‘Or if his own hand has become wealthy, he must also buy himself back. [50] And he must reckon with his purchaser from the year he sold himself to him till the Jubilee year, and the money of his sale must correspond with the number of years. The way workdays of a hired laborer are reckoned he should continue with him. [51] If there are yet many years, he should in proportion to them pay his repurchase price over from the money of his purchase. [52] But if only a few remain of the years until the Jubilee year, he must then make a calculation for himself. In proportion to the years of his he should pay over his repurchase price. [53] He should continue with him like a hired laborer from year to year. He may not tread him down with tyranny before your eyes. [54] However, if he cannot buy himself back on these terms, he must then go out in the year of Jubilee, he and his sons with him.

[55] “‘For to me the sons of Israel are slaves. They are my slaves whom I brought out of the land of Egypt. I am Jehovah YOUR God.

26 “‘YOU must not make valueless gods for yourselves, and YOU must not set up a carved image or a sacred pillar for yourselves, and YOU must not put a stone as a showpiece in YOUR land in order to bow down toward it; for I am Jehovah YOUR God. [2] YOU should keep my sabbaths and stand in awe of my sanctuary. I am Jehovah.

[3] “‘If YOU continue walking in my statutes and keeping my commandments and YOU do carry them out, [4] I shall also certainly give YOUR showers of rain at their proper time, and the land will indeed give its yield, and the tree of the field will give its fruit. [5] And YOUR threshing will certainly reach to YOUR grape gathering, and the grape gathering will reach to the sowing of seed; and YOU will indeed eat YOUR bread to satisfaction and dwell in security in YOUR land. [6] And I will put peace in the land, and YOU will indeed lie down, with no one making YOU tremble; and I will make the injurious wild beast cease out of the land, and a sword will not pass through YOUR land. [7] And YOU will certainly chase YOUR enemies, and they will indeed fall before YOU by the sword. [8] And five of YOU will certainly chase a hundred, and a hundred of YOU will chase ten thousand, and YOUR enemies will indeed fall before YOU by the sword.

[9] “‘And I will turn myself to YOU and make YOU fruitful and multiply YOU, and I will carry out my covenant with YOU. [10] And YOU will certainly eat the old of the preceding year, and YOU will bring out the old ahead of the new. [11] And I shall certainly put my tabernacle in the midst of YOU, and my soul will not abhor YOU. [12] And I shall indeed walk in the midst of YOU and prove myself YOUR God, and YOU, on YOUR part, will prove yourselves my people. [13] I am Jehovah YOUR God, who brought YOU out of the land of Egypt from acting as slaves to them, and I proceeded to break the bars of YOUR yoke and make YOU walk erect.

14 "'However, if YOU will not listen to me nor do all these commandments, 15 and if YOU will reject my statutes, and if YOUR souls will abhor my judicial decisions so as not to do all my commandments, to the extent of YOUR violating my covenant, 16 then I, for my part, shall do the following to YOU, and in punishment I shall certainly bring upon YOU disturbance with tuberculosis and burning fever, causing the eyes to fail and making the soul pine away. And YOU will simply sow YOUR seed for nothing, as YOUR enemies will certainly eat it up. 17 And I shall indeed set my face against YOU, and YOU will certainly be defeated before YOUR enemies; and those who hate YOU will just tread down upon YOU, and YOU will actually flee when no one is pursuing YOU.

18 "'If, though, despite these things, YOU will not listen to me, I shall then have to chastise YOU seven times as much for YOUR sins. 19 And I shall have to break the pride of YOUR strength and make YOUR heavens like iron and YOUR earth like copper. 20 And YOUR power will simply be expended for nothing, as YOUR earth will not give its yield, and the tree of the earth will not give its fruit.

21 "'But if YOU keep walking in opposition to me and not wishing to listen to me, I shall then have to inflict seven times more blows upon YOU according to YOUR sins. 22 And I will send the wild beasts of the field among YOU, and they will certainly bereave YOU of children and cut off YOUR domestic animals and reduce the number of YOU, and YOUR roads will actually be desolated.

23 "'Nevertheless, if with these things YOU do not let yourselves be corrected by me and YOU just have to walk in opposition to me, [24] I, yes, I, shall then have to walk in opposition to YOU; and I, even I, shall have to strike YOU seven times for YOUR sins. [25] And I shall certainly bring upon YOU a sword wreaking vengeance for the covenant; and YOU will indeed gather yourselves into YOUR cities, and I shall certainly send pestilence into the midst of YOU, and YOU must be given into the hand of an enemy. [26] When I have broken for YOU the rods around which ring-shaped loaves are suspended, ten women will then actually bake YOUR bread in but one oven and give back YOUR bread by weight; and YOU must eat but YOU will not be satisfied.

[27] "'If, however, with this YOU will not listen to me and YOU just must walk in opposition to me, [28] I shall then have to walk in heated opposition to YOU, and I, yes, I, shall have to chastise YOU seven times for YOUR sins. [29] So YOU will have to eat the flesh of YOUR sons, and YOU will eat the flesh of YOUR daughters. [30] And I shall certainly annihilate YOUR sacred high places and cut off YOUR incense stands and lay YOUR own carcasses upon the carcasses of YOUR dungy idols; and my soul will simply abhor YOU. [31] And I shall indeed give YOUR cities to the sword and lay YOUR sanctuaries desolate, and I shall not smell YOUR restful odors. [32] And I, for my part, will lay the land desolate, and YOUR enemies who are dwelling in it will simply stare in amazement over it. [33] And YOU I shall scatter among the nations, and I will unsheathe a sword after YOU; and YOUR land must become a desolation, and YOUR cities will become a desolate ruin.

[34] "'At that time the land will pay off its sabbaths all the days of its lying desolated, while YOU are in the land of YOUR enemies. At that time the land will keep sabbath, as it must repay its sabbaths. [35] All the days of its lying desolated it will keep sabbath, for the reason that it did not keep sabbath during YOUR sabbaths when YOU were dwelling upon it.

36 “‘As for those remaining among YOU, I shall certainly bring timidity into their hearts in the lands of their enemies; and the sound of a leaf driven about will indeed chase them away, and they will actually flee as in flight from a sword and fall without anyone chasing. 37 And they will certainly stumble against one another as if from before a sword without anyone chasing, and for YOU there will prove to be no ability to stand in resistance before YOUR enemies. 38 And YOU must perish among the nations, and the land of YOUR enemies must eat YOU up. 39 As for those remaining among YOU, they will rot away because of their error in the lands of YOUR enemies. Yes, even because of the errors of their fathers, with them they will rot away. 40 And they will certainly confess their own error and the error of their fathers in their unfaithfulness when they behaved unfaithfully toward me, yes, even when they walked in opposition to me. 41 Yet I, for my part, proceeded to walk in opposition to them, and I had to bring them into the land of their enemies.

“‘Perhaps at that time their uncircumcised heart will be humbled, and at that time they will pay off their error. 42 And I shall indeed remember my covenant with Jacob; and even my covenant with Isaac and even my covenant with Abraham I shall remember, and the land I shall remember. 43 All the while the land was left abandoned by them and was paying off its sabbaths while it was lying desolated without them and they themselves were paying for their error, because, even because, they had rejected my judicial decisions, and their souls had abhorred my statutes. 44 And yet for all this, while they continue in the land of their enemies, I shall certainly not reject them nor abhor them so as to exterminate them, to violate my covenant with them; for I am Jehovah their God. [45] And I will remember in their behalf the covenant of the ancestors whom I brought forth out of the land of Egypt under the eyes of the nations, in order to prove myself their God. I am Jehovah.’”

[46] These are the regulations and the judicial decisions and the laws that Jehovah set between himself and the sons of Israel in Mount Si′nai by means of Moses.

27 And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘In case a man makes a special vow offering of souls to Jehovah according to the estimated value, [3] and the estimated value has to be of a male from twenty years old up to sixty years old, the estimated value must then become fifty shekels of silver by the shekel of the holy place. [4] But if it is a female, the estimated value must then become thirty shekels. [5] And if the age is from five years old up to twenty years old, the estimated value of the male must then become twenty shekels and for the female ten shekels. [6] And if the age is from a month old up to five years old, the estimated value of the male must then become five shekels of silver and for the female the estimated value must be three shekels of silver.

[7] “‘Now if the age is from sixty years old upward, if it is a male, the estimated value must then become fifteen shekels and for the female ten shekels. [8] But if he has become too poor for the estimated value, he must then stand the person before the priest, and the priest must put a valuation upon him. According to what the vower can afford, the priest will put a valuation upon him.

[9] “‘And if it is a beast such as one presents in offering to Jehovah, everything of what he may give to Jehovah will become something holy. [10] He may not replace it, and he may not exchange it with good for bad or with bad for good. But if he should exchange it at all with beast for beast, it itself must then become and what is exchanged for it should become something holy. [11] And if it is any unclean beast such as one may not present in offering to Jehovah, he must then stand the beast before the priest. [12] And the priest must put a valuation upon it whether it is good or bad.

According to the value estimated by the priest, so it should become. 13 But if he wants to buy it back at all, he must then give a fifth of it in addition to the estimated value.

14 “‘Now in case a man should sanctify his house as something holy to Jehovah, the priest must then make a valuation of it whether it is good or bad. According to what valuation the priest makes of it, so much it should cost. 15 But if the sanctifier wants to buy his house back, he must then give a fifth of the money of the estimated value in addition to it; and it must become his.

16 “‘And if it is some of the field of his possession that a man would sanctify to Jehovah, the value must then be estimated in proportion to its seed: if a hoʹmer of barley seed, then at fifty shekels of silver. 17 If he should sanctify his field from the year of Jubilee on, it should cost according to the estimated value. 18 And if it is after the Jubilee that he sanctifies his field, the priest must then calculate for him the price in proportion to the years that are left over until the next year of Jubilee, and a deduction should be made from the estimated value. 19 But if the sanctifier of it would at all buy the field back, he must then give a fifth of the money of the estimated value in addition to it, and it must stand fast as his. 20 Now if he should not buy the field back but if the field is sold to another man, it may not be bought back again. 21 And the field when it goes out in the Jubilee must become something holy to Jehovah, as a field that is devoted. The possession of it will become the priest’s.

22 “‘And if he sanctifies to Jehovah a field purchased by him that is no part of the field of his possession, 23 the priest must then calculate for him the amount of the valuation up till the year of Jubilee, and he must give the estimated value on that day. It is something holy to Jehovah. 24 In the year of Jubilee the field will return to the one from whom he bought it, to the one to whom the possession of the land belongs.

25 “‘Now every value should be estimated in the shekel of the holy place. The shekel should amount to twenty ge′rahs.

26 “‘Only the firstborn among beasts, which is born as the firstborn for Jehovah, no man should sanctify it. Whether bull or sheep, it belongs to Jehovah. 27 And if it is among the unclean beasts and he must redeem it according to the estimated value, he must then give a fifth of it in addition to it. But if it should not be bought back, it must then be sold according to the estimated value.

28 “‘Only no sort of devoted thing that a man might devote to Jehovah for destruction out of all that is his, whether from mankind or beasts or from the field of his possession, may be sold, and no sort of devoted thing may be bought back. It is something most holy to Jehovah. 29 No devoted person who might be devoted to destruction from among mankind may be redeemed. He should be put to death without fail.

30 “‘And every tenth part of the land, out of the seed of the land and the fruit of the tree, belongs to Jehovah. It is something holy to Jehovah. 31 And if a man wants to buy any of his tenth part back at all, he should give a fifth of it in addition to it. 32 As for every tenth part of the herd and flock, everything that passes under the crook, the tenth head should become something holy to Jehovah. 33 He should not examine whether it is good or bad, neither should he exchange it. But if he would exchange it at all, it itself must then become and what is exchanged for it should become something holy. It may not be bought back.’”

NUMBERS

1 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses in the wilderness of Si′nai, in the tent of meeting, on the first day of the second month in the second year of their coming out of the land of Egypt, and he said: [2] “TAKE the sum of the whole assembly of the sons of Israel according to their families, according to the house of their fathers, by the number of names, all the males, head by head of them, [3] from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army in Israel. YOU should register them according to their armies, you and Aaron.

[4] “And some men should be with YOU, one man to a tribe; each is a head to the house of his fathers. [5] And these are the names of the men who will stand with YOU: Of Reu′ben, E·li′zur the son of Shed′e·ur; [6] of Sim′e·on, She·lu′mi·el the son of Zu·ri·shad′dai; [7] of Judah, Nah′shon the son of Am·min′a·dab; [8] of Is′sa·char, Ne·than′el the son of Zu′ar; [9] of Zeb′u·lun, E·li′ab the son of He′lon; [10] of the sons of Joseph: of E′phra·im, E·lish′a·ma the son of Am·mi′hud; of Ma·nas′seh, Ga·ma′li·el the son of Pe·dah′zur; [11] of Benjamin, Ab′i·dan the son of Gid·e·o′ni; [12] of Dan, A·hi·e′zer the son of Am·mi·shad′dai; [13] of Ash′er, Pa′gi·el the son of Och′ran; [14] of Gad, E·li′a·saph the son of Deu′el; [15] of Naph′ta·li, A·hi′ra the son of E′nan. [16] These are the ones called of the assembly, the chieftains of the tribes of their fathers. They are the heads of the thousands of Israel.”

[17] So Moses and Aaron took these men who had been designated by names. [18] And they congregated all the assembly on the first day of the second month, that they might have their descent acknowledged as regards their families in the house of their fathers, by the number of the names, from twenty years old upward, head by head of them, [19] just as Jehovah had commanded Moses; and he proceeded to register them in the wilderness of Si′nai.

[20] And the sons of Reu′ben, Israel’s firstborn, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers, came to be by the number of names, head by head of them, all the males from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [21] those registered of them of the tribe of Reu′ben, forty-six thousand five hundred.

[24] Of the sons of Gad, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [25] those registered of them of the tribe of Gad were forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty.

[26] Of the sons of Judah, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [27] those registered of them of the tribe of Judah were seventy-four thousand six hundred.

[28] Of the sons of Is′sa·char, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [29] those registered of them of the tribe of Is′sa·char were fifty-four thousand four hundred.

[30] Of the sons of Zeb′u·lun, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [31] those registered of them of the tribe of Zeb′u·lun were fifty-seven thousand four hundred.

[32] Of the sons of Joseph: of the sons of E′phra·im, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [33] those registered of them of the tribe of E′phra·im were forty thousand five hundred.

[34] Of the sons of Ma·nas′seh, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [35] those registered of them of the tribe of Ma·nas′seh were thirty-two thousand two hundred.

[36] Of the sons of Benjamin, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [37] those registered of them of the tribe of Benjamin were thirty-five thousand four hundred.

[38] Of the sons of Dan, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [39] those registered of them of the tribe of Dan were sixty-two thousand seven hundred.

[40] Of the sons of Ash′er, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [41] those registered of them of the tribe of Ash′er were forty-one thousand five hundred.

[42] Of the sons of Naph′ta·li, their births according to their families in the house of their fathers by the number of names from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army, [43] those registered of them of the tribe of Naph′ta·li were fifty-three thousand four hundred.

[44] These are the ones registered, whom Moses registered, together with Aaron and the chieftains of Israel, twelve men. They represented one each the house of his fathers. [45] And all those registered of the sons of Israel according to the house of their fathers from twenty years old upward, everyone going out to the army in Israel, came to be, [46] yes, all those registered came to be six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty.

[47] However, the Levites according to the tribe of their fathers did not get registered in among them. [48] Accordingly Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [49] “Only the tribe of Le′vi you must not register, and the sum of them you must not take in among the sons of Israel. [50] And you yourself appoint the Levites over the tabernacle of the Testimony and over all its utensils and over everything that belongs to it. They themselves will carry the tabernacle and all its utensils, and they themselves will minister at it; and around the tabernacle they are to camp. [51] And whenever the tabernacle is setting out, the Levites should take it down; and when the tabernacle encamps, the Levites should set it up; and any stranger coming near should be put to death.

[52] “And the sons of Israel must encamp each with reference to his camp, and each man by his three-tribe division by their armies. [53] And the Levites should encamp around the tabernacle of the Testimony, that no indignation may arise against the assembly of the sons of Israel; and the Levites must keep the service due to the tabernacle of the Testimony.”

54 And the sons of Israel proceeded to do according to all that Jehovah had commanded Moses. They did just so.

2 Jehovah now spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: [2] “The sons of Israel should encamp, each man by his three-tribe division, by the signs for the house of their fathers. Round about in front of the tent of meeting they should encamp.

[3] “And those camping eastward toward the sunrising will be the three-tribe division of the camp of Judah in their armies, and the chieftain for the sons of Judah is Nah′shon the son of Am·min′a·dab. [4] And his army and the ones registered of them are seventy-four thousand six hundred. [5] And those camping alongside him will be the tribe of Is′sa·char, and the chieftain for the sons of Is′sa·char is Ne·than′el the son of Zu′ar. [6] And his army and his registered ones are fifty-four thousand four hundred. [7] And the tribe of Zeb′u·lun; and the chieftain for the sons of Zeb′u·lun is E·li′ab the son of He′lon. [8] And his army and his registered ones are fifty-seven thousand four hundred.

[10] “The three-tribe division of the camp of Reu′ben will be toward the south in their armies, and the chieftain for the sons of Reu′ben is E·li′zur the son of Shed′e·ur. [11] And his army and his registered ones are forty-six thousand five hundred. [12] And those camping alongside him will be the tribe of Sim′e·on, and the chieftain for the sons of Sim′e·on is She·lu′mi·el the son of Zu·ri·shad′dai. [13] And his army and the ones registered of them are fifty-nine thousand three hundred. [14] And the tribe of Gad; and the chieftain for the sons of Gad is E·li′a·saph the son of Reu′el. [15] And his army and the ones registered of them are forty-five thousand six hundred and fifty.

16 “All the registered ones of the camp of Reu′ben are one hundred and fifty-one thousand four hundred and fifty in their armies, and they should set out second.

17 “When the tent of meeting must set out, the camp of the Levites will be in the middle of the camps.

“Just as they should encamp, so they should set out, each one at his place, according to their three-tribe divisions.

18 “The three-tribe division of the camp of E′phra·im in their armies will be toward the west, and the chieftain for the sons of E′phra·im is E·lish′a·ma the son of Am·mi′hud. 19 And his army and the ones registered of them are forty thousand five hundred. 20 And alongside him will be the tribe of Ma·nas′seh, and the chieftain for the sons of Ma·nas′seh is Ga·ma′li·el the son of Pe·dah′zur. 21 And his army and the ones registered of them are thirty-two thousand two hundred. 22 And the tribe of Benjamin; and the chieftain for the sons of Benjamin is Ab′i·dan the son of Gid·e·o′ni. 23 And his army and the ones registered of them are thirty-five thousand four hundred.

24 “All the registered ones of the camp of E′phra·im are one hundred and eight thousand one hundred in their armies, and they should set out third.

25 “The three-tribe division of the camp of Dan will be toward the north in their armies, and the chieftain for the sons of Dan is A·hi·e′zer the son of Am·mi·shad′dai. 26 And his army and the ones registered of them are sixty-two thousand seven hundred. 27 And the ones camping alongside him will be the tribe of Ash′er, and the chieftain for the sons of Ash′er is Pa′gi·el the son of Och′ran. 28 And his army and the ones registered of them are forty-one thousand five hundred. [29] And the tribe of Naph′ta·li; and the chieftain for the sons of Naph′ta·li is A·hi′ra the son of E′nan. [30] And his army and the ones registered of them are fifty-three thousand four hundred.

[32] These were the registered ones of the sons of Israel according to the house of their fathers; all the registered ones of the camps in their armies were six hundred and three thousand five hundred and fifty. [33] But the Levites did not get registered in among the sons of Israel, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses. [34] And the sons of Israel proceeded to do according to all that Jehovah had commanded Moses. That is the way they encamped in their three-tribe divisions, and that is the way they set out, each one in his families with regard to the house of his fathers.

3 Now these were the generations of Aaron and Moses in the day that Jehovah spoke with Moses in Mount Si′nai. [2] And these were the names of Aaron’s sons: the firstborn Na′dab and A·bi′hu, El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar. [3] These were the names of Aaron’s sons, the anointed priests whose hands had been filled with power to act as priests. [4] However, Na′dab and A·bi′hu died before Jehovah when they offered illegitimate fire before Jehovah in the wilderness of Si′nai; and they did not come to have any sons. But El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar continued to act as priests along with Aaron their father.

[5] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [6] “Bring the tribe of Le′vi near, and you must stand them before Aaron the priest, and they must minister to him. [7] And they must keep their obligation to him and their obligation to all the assembly before the tent of meeting in discharging the service of the tabernacle. [8] And they must take care of all the utensils of the tent of meeting, even the obligation of the sons of Israel in discharging the service of the tabernacle. [9] And you must give the Levites to Aaron and his sons. They are given ones, given to him from the sons of Israel. [10] And you should appoint Aaron and his sons, and they must take care of their priesthood; and any stranger coming near should be put to death.”

[11] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [12] “As for me, look! I do take the Levites from among the sons of Israel in place of all the firstborn opening the womb of the sons of Israel; and the Levites must become mine. [13] For every firstborn is mine. In the day that I struck every firstborn in the land of Egypt I sanctified to myself every firstborn in Israel from man to beast. They should become mine. I am Jehovah.”

[14] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses in the wilderness of Si′nai, saying: [15] “Register the sons of Le′vi according to the house of their fathers by their families. Every male from a month old upward you should register.” [16] And Moses began to register them at the order of Jehovah, just as he had been commanded. [17] And these came to be the sons of Le′vi by their names: Ger′shon and Ko′hath and Me·rar′i.

[18] Now these were the names of the sons of Ger′shon by their families: Lib′ni and Shim′e·i.

[19] And the sons of Ko′hath by their families were Am′ram and Iz′har, He′bron and Uz′zi·el.

[20] And the sons of Me·rar′i by their families were Mah′li and Mu′shi.

These were the families of the Levites according to the house of their fathers.

[21] Of Ger′shon there were the family of the Lib′nites and the family of the Shim′e·ites. These were the families of the Ger′shon·ites. [22] Their registered ones were by number of all males from a month old upward. Their registered ones were seven thousand five hundred. [23] The families of the Ger′shon·ites were behind the tabernacle. They were encamped to the west. [24] And the chieftain of the paternal house for the Ger′shon·ites was E·li′a·saph the son of La′el. [25] And the obligation of the sons of Ger′shon in the tent of meeting was the tabernacle and the tent, its covering and the screen of the entrance of the tent of meeting, [26] and the hangings of the courtyard and the screen of the entrance of the courtyard that is round about the tabernacle and the altar, and its tent cords, for all its service.

[27] And of Koʹhath there were the family of the Amʹram·ites and the family of the Izʹhar·ites and the family of the Heʹbron·ites and the family of the Uz·ziʹel·ites. These were the families of the Koʹhath·ites. [28] Among the number of all the males from a month old upward there were eight thousand six hundred, taking care of the obligation to the holy place. [29] The families of the sons of Koʹhath were encamped on the side of the tabernacle to the south. [30] And the chieftain of the paternal house for the families of the Koʹhath·ites was E·li·zaʹphan the son of Uzʹzi·el. [31] And their obligation was the Ark and the table and the lampstand and the altars and the utensils of the holy place with which they would minister and the screen, and all its service.

[32] And the chieftain of the chieftains of the Levites was El·e·aʹzar the son of Aaron the priest, who had the oversight of those taking care of the obligation to the holy place.

[33] Of Me·rarʹi there were the family of the Mahʹlites and the family of the Muʹshites. These were the families of Me·rarʹi. [34] And their registered ones by the number of all the males from a month old upward were six thousand two hundred. [35] And the chieftain of the paternal house for the families of Me·rarʹi was Zuʹri·el the son of Abʹi·ha·il. They were encamped on the side of the tabernacle toward the north. [36] And the oversight for which the sons of Me·rarʹi were obligated was over the panel frames of the tabernacle and its bars and its pillars and its socket pedestals and all its utensils and all its service, [37] and the pillars of the courtyard round about and their socket pedestals and their tent pins and their tent cords.

[38] And those camping before the tabernacle toward the east, before the tent of meeting toward the sunrising, were Moses and Aaron and his sons, those taking care of the obligation to the sanctuary, as the obligation for the sons of Israel. And any stranger coming near would be put to death.

[39] All the registered ones of the Levites whom Moses and Aaron registered at the order of Jehovah by their families, all the males from a month old upward, were twenty-two thousand.

[40] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Register all the firstborn males of the sons of Israel from a month old upward, and take the number of their names. [41] And you must take the Levites for me—I am Jehovah—in place of all the firstborn among the sons of Israel, and the domestic animals of the Levites in place of all the firstborn among the domestic animals of the sons of Israel.” [42] And Moses proceeded, just as Jehovah had commanded him, to register all the firstborn among the sons of Israel. [43] And all the firstborn males by the number of the names from a month old upward of their registered ones came to be twenty-two thousand two hundred and seventy-three.

[44] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [45] “Take the Levites in place of all the firstborn among the sons of Israel, and the domestic animals of the Levites in place of their domestic animals; and the Levites must become mine. I am Jehovah. [46] And as the ransom price of the two hundred and seventy-three from the firstborn of the sons of Israel, who are in excess of the Levites, [47] you must take five shekels for each individual. In the shekel of the holy place you should take it. A shekel is twenty ge′rahs. [48] And you must give the money to Aaron and his sons as the ransom price of those who are in excess of them.” [49] So Moses took the money of the redemption price from those who were in excess of the ransom price of the Levites. [50] From the firstborn of the sons of Israel he took the money, a thousand three hundred and sixty-five shekels, in the shekel of the holy place. [51] Then Moses gave the money of the ransom price to Aaron and his sons according to the order of Jehovah, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

4 Jehovah now spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: [2] “There will be a taking of the sum of the sons of Ko′hath from among the sons of Le′vi, according to their families in the house of their fathers, [3] from thirty years old upward to fifty years old, all those going into the service group to do the work in the tent of meeting.

[4] “This is the service of the sons of Ko′hath in the tent of meeting. It is something most holy: [5] And Aaron and his sons must come in when the camp is departing, and they must take down the screening curtain and must cover the ark of the testimony with it. [6] And they must put a covering of sealskins over it and spread out an entire cloth of blue on top and put in its poles.

[7] “And they will spread out a cloth of blue over the table of showbread, and they must put upon it the dishes and the cups and the bowls and the pitchers of the drink offering; and the constant bread should continue on it. [8] And they must spread out a cloth of coccus scarlet over them, and they must cover it with a covering of sealskins and put in its poles. [9] And they must take a cloth of blue and cover the lampstand of the luminary and its lamps and its snuffers and its fire holders and all its vessels for oil with which they regularly minister to it. [10] And they must put it and all its utensils into a covering of sealskins and put it upon a bar. [11] And over the golden altar they will spread out a cloth of blue, and they must cover it with a covering of sealskins and put in its poles. [12] And they must take all the utensils of the ministry with which they regularly minister in the holy place, and they must put them in a cloth of blue and cover them with a covering of sealskins and put them upon a bar.

13 “And they must clear away the fatty ashes of the altar and spread out a cloth of wool dyed reddish purple over it. 14 And they must put upon it all its utensils with which they regularly minister at it, the fire holders, the forks and the shovels and the bowls, all the utensils of the altar; and they must spread out over it a covering of sealskins and put in its poles.

15 “And Aaron and his sons must finish covering the holy place and all the utensils of the holy place when the camp is departing, and after that the sons of Koʹhath will come in to carry them, but they must not touch the holy place so that they have to die. These things are the load of the sons of Koʹhath in the tent of meeting.

16 “And the oversight of El·e·aʹzar the son of Aaron the priest is over the oil of the luminary and the perfumed incense and the constant grain offering and the anointing oil, the oversight of all the tabernacle and all that is in it, namely, the holy place and its utensils.”

17 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses and Aaron, saying: 18 “Do not let the tribe of the families of the Koʹhath·ites be cut off from among the Levites. 19 But do this for them that they may indeed keep alive and may not die for their approaching the most holy things. Aaron and his sons will come in, and they must assign them each one to his service and to his load. 20 And they must not come in to see the holy things for the least moment of time, and so they have to die.”

21 Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: 22 “There will be a taking of the sum of the sons of Gerʹshon, yes, them by the house of their fathers according to their families. 23 From thirty years old upward to fifty years you will register them, all who come to enter into the service group to render service in the tent of meeting. [24] This is the service of the families of the Ger′shon·ites as to serving and as to carrying. [25] And they must carry the tent cloths of the tabernacle and the tent of meeting, its covering and the sealskin covering that is on top over it, and the screen of the entrance of the tent of meeting, [26] and the hangings of the courtyard and the entrance screen of the gate of the courtyard that is round about the tabernacle and the altar, and their tent cords and all their service utensils, and all things with which work is regularly done. Thus they must serve. [27] At the order of Aaron and his sons all the service of the sons of the Ger′shon·ites should take place as regards all their loads and all their service, and YOU must assign all their loads to them by obligation. [28] This is the service of the families of the sons of the Ger′shon·ites in the tent of meeting, and their obligatory service is under the hand of Ith′a·mar the son of Aaron the priest.

[29] “As for the sons of Me·rar′i, you will register them by their families in the house of their fathers. [30] From thirty years old upward to fifty years you will register them, all who enter into the service group to render the service of the tent of meeting. [31] And this is their obligation, their load, according to all their service in the tent of meeting: the panel frames of the tabernacle and its bars and its pillars and its socket pedestals, [32] and the pillars of the courtyard round about and their socket pedestals and their tent pins and their tent cords together with all their equipment and all their service. And by their names YOU will assign the equipment for which they are obligated, as their load. [33] This is the service of the families of the sons of Me·rar′i according to all their service in the tent of meeting, under the hand of Ith′a·mar the son of Aaron the priest.”

[34] And Moses and Aaron and the chieftains of the assembly proceeded to register the sons of the Koʹhath·ites by their families and by the house of their fathers, [35] from thirty years old upward to fifty years, all who entered into the service group for the service in the tent of meeting. [36] And the ones registered of them by their families came to be two thousand seven hundred and fifty. [37] These are the registered ones of the families of the Koʹhath·ites, all those serving in the tent of meeting, whom Moses and Aaron registered at the order of Jehovah by means of Moses.

[38] As for the registered ones of the sons of Gerʹshon by their families and by the house of their fathers, [39] from thirty years old upward to fifty years, all who entered into the service group for the service in the tent of meeting, [40] the ones registered of them by their families, by the house of their fathers, came to be two thousand six hundred and thirty. [41] These were the registered ones of the families of the sons of Gerʹshon, all those serving in the tent of meeting, whom Moses and Aaron registered at the order of Jehovah.

[42] As for the registered ones of the families of the sons of Me·rarʹi by their families, by the house of their fathers, [43] from thirty years old upward to fifty years old, all those entering into the service group for the service in the tent of meeting, [44] the ones registered of them by their families came to be three thousand two hundred. [45] These were the registered ones of the families of the sons of Me·rarʹi, whom Moses and Aaron registered at the order of Jehovah by means of Moses.

[46] All the registered ones whom Moses and Aaron and the chieftains of Israel registered as Levites by their families and by the house of their fathers, [47] from thirty years old upward to fifty years old, all those coming to render the laborious service and the service of carrying loads in the tent of meeting, 48 their registered ones came to be eight thousand five hundred and eighty. 49 At the order of Jehovah they were registered by means of Moses, each one according to his service and his load; and they were registered just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

5 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Command the sons of Israel that they send out of the camp every leprous person and everyone having a running discharge and everyone unclean by a deceased soul. [3] Whether a male or a female YOU should send them out. YOU should send them outside the camp, that they may not contaminate the camps of those in the midst of whom I am tabernacling.” [4] And the sons of Israel proceeded to do so, even to send them outside the camp. Just as Jehovah had spoken to Moses, so the sons of Israel did.

[5] And Jehovah continued speaking to Moses, saying: [6] “Speak to the sons of Israel, ‘As for a man or a woman, in case they do any of all the sins of mankind in committing an act of unfaithfulness against Jehovah, that soul has also become guilty. [7] And they must confess their sin that they have done, and he must return the amount of his guilt in its principal, also adding a fifth of it to it, and he must give it to the one against whom he did wrong. [8] But if the latter has no near relative to whom to return the amount of the guilt, the amount of the guilt that is being returned to Jehovah belongs to the priest, except the ram of atonement with which he will make atonement for him.

[9] “‘And every contribution of all the holy things of the sons of Israel, which they will present to the priest, should become his. [10] And the holy things of each one will remain his own. Whatever each one may give to the priest, that will become his.’”

[11] And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [12] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘In case any man’s wife turns aside in that she does commit an act of unfaithfulness against him, 13 and another man actually lies down with her and has an emission of semen, and it has been hidden from the eyes of her husband and has remained undiscovered, and she, on her part, has defiled herself but there is no witness against her, and she herself has not been caught; 14 and the spirit of jealousy has passed upon him, and he has become suspicious of his wife’s faithfulness, and she in fact has defiled herself, or the spirit of jealousy has passed upon him, and he has become suspicious of his wife’s faithfulness, but she in fact has not defiled herself; 15 then the man must bring his wife to the priest and bring her offering along with her, a tenth of an e′phah of barley flour. He must not pour oil upon it nor put frankincense upon it, because it is a grain offering of jealousy, a memorial grain offering bringing error to remembrance.

16 “‘And the priest must bring her forward and make her stand before Jehovah. 17 And the priest must take holy water in an earthenware vessel, and the priest will take some of the dust that happens to be on the floor of the tabernacle, and he must put it in the water. 18 And the priest must make the woman stand before Jehovah and loosen the hair of the woman’s head and put upon her palms the memorial grain offering, that is, the grain offering of jealousy, and in the hand of the priest there should be the bitter water that brings a curse.

19 “‘And the priest must make her swear, and he must say to the woman: “If no man has lain down with you and if while under your husband you have not turned aside in any uncleanness, be free of the effect of this bitter water that brings a curse. 20 But you, in case you have turned aside while under your husband and in case you have defiled yourself and some man has put in you his seminal emission, besides your husband,—” 21 The priest must now make the woman swear with an oath involving cursing, and the priest must say to the woman: “May Jehovah set you for a cursing and an oath in the midst of your people by Jehovah’s letting your thigh fall away, and your belly swell. 22 And this water that brings a curse must enter into your intestines to cause your belly to swell and the thigh to fall away.” To this the woman must say: “Amen! Amen!”

23 “‘And the priest must write these cursings in the book and must wipe them out into the bitter water. 24 And he must make the woman drink the bitter water that brings a curse, and the water that brings a curse must enter into her as something bitter. 25 And the priest must take the grain offering of jealousy from the woman’s hand and wave the grain offering to and fro before Jehovah, and he must bring it near the altar. 26 And the priest must grasp some of the grain offering as a remembrancer of it and must make it smoke upon the altar, and afterward he will make the woman drink the water. 27 When he has made her drink the water, it must also occur that if she has defiled herself in that she committed an act of unfaithfulness toward her husband, the water that brings a curse must then enter into her as something bitter, and her belly must swell, and her thigh must fall away, and the woman must become a cursing in among her people. 28 However, if the woman has not defiled herself but she is clean, she must then be free from such punishment; and she must be made pregnant with semen.

29 “‘This is the law about jealousy, where a woman may turn aside while under her husband, and she does defile herself, 30 or in the case of a man where the spirit of jealousy may pass upon him, and he does suspect his wife of unfaithfulness; and he must make the wife stand before Jehovah, and the priest must carry out toward her all this law. [31] And the man must be innocent of error, but that wife will answer for her error.’”

6 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel and you must say to them, ‘In case a man or a woman takes a special vow to live as a Nazʹi·rite to Jehovah, [3] he should keep away from wine and intoxicating liquor. He should not drink the vinegar of wine or the vinegar of intoxicating liquor, nor drink any liquid made from grapes, nor eat grapes either fresh or dried. [4] All the days of his Naziriteship he should not eat anything at all that is made from the wine vine, from the unripe grapes to the skins.

[5] “‘All the days of the vow of his Naziriteship no razor should pass over his head; until the days that he should be separated to Jehovah come to the full, he should prove holy by letting the locks of the hair of his head grow. [6] All the days of his keeping separate to Jehovah he may not come toward any dead soul. [7] Not even for his father or his mother or his brother or his sister may he defile himself when they die, because the sign of his Naziriteship to his God is upon his head.

[8] “‘All the days of his Naziriteship he is holy to Jehovah. [9] But in case anyone dying should die quite suddenly alongside him so that he has defiled the head of his Naziriteship, he must then shave his head in the day of establishing his purification. On the seventh day he should shave it. [10] And on the eighth day he should bring two turtledoves or two young pigeons to the priest to the entrance of the tent of meeting. [11] And the priest must handle one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering and make atonement for him, since he has sinned because of the dead soul. Then he must sanctify his head on that day. [12] And he must live as a Nazʹi·rite to Jehovah for the days of his Naziriteship, and he must bring a young ram in its first year as a guilt offering; and the former days will go uncounted because he defiled his Naziriteship.

[13] “‘Now this is the law about the Naz′i·rite: On the day that the days of his Naziriteship come to the full, he will be brought to the entrance of the tent of meeting. [14] And he must present as his offering to Jehovah one sound young ram in its first year as a burnt offering and one sound female lamb in its first year as a sin offering and one sound ram as a communion sacrifice, [15] and a basket of unfermented ring-shaped cakes of fine flour, moistened with oil, and unfermented wafers smeared with oil, and their grain offering and their drink offerings. [16] And the priest must present them before Jehovah and render up his sin offering and his burnt offering. [17] And he will render up the ram as a communion sacrifice to Jehovah along with the basket of unfermented cakes; and the priest must render up its grain offering and its drink offering.

[18] “‘And the Naz′i·rite must shave the head of his Naziriteship at the entrance of the tent of meeting, and he must take the hair of the head of his Naziriteship and put it upon the fire that is under the communion sacrifice. [19] And the priest must take a boiled shoulder from the ram and one unfermented ring-shaped cake out of the basket, and one unfermented wafer, and put them upon the palms of the Naz′i·rite after he has had the sign of his Naziriteship shaved off. [20] And the priest must wave them to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. It is something holy for the priest, along with the breast of the wave offering and the leg of the contribution. And afterward the Naz′i·rite may drink wine.

[21] “‘This is the law about the Naz′i·rite who vows—his offering to Jehovah over his Naziriteship, besides that which he can afford. According to his vow that he may make, so he should do because of the law of his Naziriteship.’”

[22] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [23] “Speak to Aaron and his sons, saying, ‘This is the way YOU should bless the sons of Israel, saying to them:

[24] “May Jehovah bless you and keep you.
[25] May Jehovah make his face shine toward you, and may he favor you.
[26] May Jehovah lift up his face toward you and assign peace to you.”’

[27] And they must place my name upon the sons of Israel, that I myself may bless them.”

7 Now it came about on the day that Moses finished setting up the tabernacle that he proceeded to anoint it and to sanctify it and all its furnishings and the altar and all its utensils. Thus he anointed them and sanctified them. [2] Then the chieftains of Israel, the heads of the house of their fathers, made a presentation, they being the chieftains of the tribes and standing over the ones registered, [3] and they brought their offering before Jehovah, six covered wagons and twelve cattle, a wagon for two chieftains and a bull for each one; and they presented them before the tabernacle. [4]
At this Jehovah said to Moses: [5] “Accept them from them, as they must serve for carrying on the service of the tent of meeting, and you must give them to the Levites, each one in proportion to his own service.”

[6] So Moses accepted the wagons and the cattle and gave them to the Levites. [7] Two wagons and four cattle he gave to the sons of Ger′shon in proportion to their service, [8] and four wagons and eight cattle he gave to the sons of Me·rar′i in proportion to their service, under the hand of Ith′a·mar the son of Aaron the priest. [9] But to the sons of Ko′hath he gave none, because the service of the holy place was upon them.
They did their carrying on the shoulder.

[10] Now the chieftains made their presentation at the inauguration of the altar on the day of its being anointed, and the chieftains proceeded with presenting their offering before the altar. [11] So Jehovah said to Moses: “One chieftain on one day and another chieftain on another day is the way they will present their offering for the inauguration of the altar.”

12 Now the one presenting his offering on the first day proved to be Nah′shon the son of Am·min′a·dab of the tribe of Judah. 13 And his offering was one silver dish, its weight being a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels by the shekel of the holy place, both of them full of fine flour moistened with oil for a grain offering; 14 one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense; 15 one young bull, one ram, one male lamb in its first year, for a burnt offering; 16 one kid of the goats for a sin offering; 17 and for a communion sacrifice two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, five male lambs each a year old. This was the offering of Nah′shon the son of Am·min′a·dab.

18 On the second day Ne·than′el the son of Zu′ar, the chieftain of Is′sa·char, made a presentation. 19 He presented as his offering one silver dish, its weight being a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels by the shekel of the holy place, both of them full of fine flour moistened with oil for a grain offering; 20 one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense; 21 one young bull, one ram, one male lamb in its first year, for a burnt offering; 22 one kid of the goats for a sin offering; 23 and for a communion sacrifice two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, five male lambs each a year old. This was the offering of E·liʹab the son of Heʹlon.

[30] On the fourth day there was the chieftain for the sons of Reuʹben, E·liʹzur the son of Shedʹe·ur. [31] His offering was one silver dish, its weight being a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels by the shekel of the holy place, both of them full of fine flour moistened with oil for a grain offering; [32] one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense; [33] one young bull, one ram, one male lamb in its first year, for a burnt offering; [34] one kid of the goats for a sin offering; [35] and for a communion sacrifice two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, five male lambs each a year old. This was the offering of E·liʹzur the son of Shedʹe·ur.

[36] On the fifth day there was the chieftain for the sons of Simʹe·on, She·luʹmi·el the son of Zu·ri·shadʹdai. [37] His offering was one silver dish, its weight being a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels by the shekel of the holy place, both of them full of fine flour moistened with oil for a grain offering; [38] one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense; [39] one young bull, one ram, one male lamb in its first year, for a burnt offering; [40] one kid of the goats for a sin offering; [41] and for a communion sacrifice two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, five male lambs each a year old. for a burnt offering; [46] one kid of the goats for a sin offering; [47] and for a communion sacrifice two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, five male lambs each a year old. This was the offering of E·li′a·saph the son of Deu′el.

[48] On the seventh day there was the chieftain for the sons of E′phra·im, E·lish′a·ma the son of Am·mi′hud. [54] On the eighth day there was the chieftain for the sons of Ma·nas′seh, Ga·ma′li·el the son of Pe·dah′zur. [55] His offering was one silver dish, its weight being a hundred and thirty shekels, one silver bowl of seventy shekels by the shekel of the holy place, both of them full of fine flour moistened with oil for a grain offering; [56] one gold cup of ten shekels, full of incense; [57] one young bull, one ram, one male lamb in its first year, for a burnt offering; [58] one kid of the goats for a sin offering; [59] and for a communion sacrifice two cattle, five rams, five he-goats, five male lambs each a year old. This was the inauguration offering of the altar after its being anointed.

[89] Now whenever Moses went into the tent of meeting to speak with him, then he would hear the voice conversing with him from above the cover that was upon the ark of the testimony, from between the two cherubs; and he would speak to him.

8 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to Aaron, and you must say to him, ‘Whenever you light up the lamps, the seven lamps should shine on the area in front of the lampstand.’” [3] And Aaron began to do so. He lit up its lamps for the area in front of the lampstand, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses. [4] Now this was the workmanship of the lampstand. It was hammered work of gold. Up to its sides and up to its blossoms it was hammered work. According to the vision that Jehovah had shown Moses, so he had made the lampstand.

[5] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [6] “Take the Levites from among the sons of Israel, and you must cleanse them. [7] And this is what you should do to them to cleanse them: Spatter sin-cleansing water upon them, and they must have a razor pass over all their flesh and must wash their garments and cleanse themselves. [8] Then they must take a young bull and its grain offering of fine flour moistened with oil, and you will take another young bull for a sin offering. [9] And you must present the Levites before the tent of meeting and congregate all the assembly of the sons of Israel. [10] And you must present the Levites before Jehovah, and the sons of Israel must lay their hands upon the Levites. [11] And Aaron must cause the Levites to move to and fro before Jehovah as a wave offering from the sons of Israel, and they must serve for carrying on the service of Jehovah.

[12] “Then the Levites will lay their hands upon the heads of the bulls. After that, render up the one as a sin offering and the other as a burnt offering to Jehovah to make atonement for the Levites. [13] And you must have the Levites stand before Aaron and his sons and must cause them to move to and fro as a wave offering to Jehovah. [14] And you must separate the Levites from among the sons of Israel, and the Levites must become mine. [15] And afterward the Levites will come in to serve at the tent of meeting. So you must cleanse them and cause them to move to and fro as a wave offering. [16] For they are given ones, given to me from among the sons of Israel. In place of those opening all wombs, all the firstborn of the sons of Israel, I must take them for myself. [17] For every firstborn among the sons of Israel is mine, among man and among beast. On the day of my striking every firstborn in the land of Egypt I sanctified them to myself. [18] And I shall take the Levites in place of all the firstborn among the sons of Israel. [19] And I shall give the Levites as given ones to Aaron and his sons from among the sons of Israel, to carry on the service of the sons of Israel in the tent of meeting and to make atonement for the sons of Israel, that no plague may occur among the sons of Israel because the sons of Israel approach the holy place."

[20] And Moses and Aaron and all the assembly of the sons of Israel proceeded to do so to the Levites. In accord with all that Jehovah had commanded Moses as regards the Levites, that is the way the sons of Israel did to them. [21] So the Levites purified themselves and washed their garments, after which Aaron caused them to move to and fro as a wave offering before Jehovah. Then Aaron made an atonement for them to cleanse them. [22] First after that the Levites came in to carry on their service in the tent of meeting before Aaron and his sons. Just as Jehovah had commanded Moses respecting the Levites, so they did to them.

[23] Jehovah now spoke to Moses, saying: [24] "This is what applies to the Levites: From twenty-five years old upward he will come to enter into the company in the service of the tent of meeting. [25] But after the age of fifty years he will retire from the service company and serve no longer. [26] And he must minister to his brothers in the tent of meeting in taking care of the obligation, but he must render no service. In accord with this you will do to the Levites in their obligations.”

9 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses in the wilderness of Si′nai in the second year of their coming out of the land of Egypt, in the first month, saying: [2] “Now the sons of Israel should prepare the passover sacrifice at its appointed time. [3] On the fourteenth day in this month between the two evenings YOU should prepare it at its appointed time. According to all its statutes and all its regular procedures YOU should prepare it.”

[4] So Moses spoke to the sons of Israel to prepare the passover sacrifice. [5] Then they prepared the passover sacrifice in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month between the two evenings, in the wilderness of Si′nai. According to all that Jehovah had commanded Moses, so the sons of Israel did.

[6] Now there happened to be men who had become unclean by a human soul so that they were not able to prepare the passover sacrifice on that day. Hence they presented themselves before Moses and Aaron on that day. [7] Then those men said to him: “We are unclean by a human soul. Why should we be restrained from presenting the offering to Jehovah at its appointed time in the midst of the sons of Israel?” [8] At this Moses said to them: “Stand there, and let me hear what Jehovah may command regarding YOU.”

[9] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [10] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘Although any man of YOU or of YOUR generations should happen to be unclean by a soul or off on a distant journey, he too must prepare the passover sacrifice to Jehovah. [11] In the second month, on the fourteenth day between the two evenings, they should prepare it. Together with unfermented cakes and bitter greens they should eat it.

12 They must not let any of it remain until morning, and they should break no bone in it. According to the whole statute of the passover they should prepare it. 13 But when the man was clean or did not happen to be off on a journey and neglected to prepare the passover sacrifice, that soul must then be cut off from his people, because the offering of Jehovah he did not present at its appointed time. For his sin that man will answer.

14 "'And in case an alien resident should be residing with YOU as an alien, he also must prepare the passover sacrifice to Jehovah. According to the statute of the passover and according to its regular procedure is the way he should do. There should exist one statute for YOU people, both for the alien resident and for the native of the land.'"

15 Now on the day of setting up the tabernacle the cloud covered the tabernacle of the tent of the Testimony, but in the evening what appeared to be fire continued over the tabernacle until morning. 16 That is the way it went on constantly: The cloud would cover it by day, and the appearance of fire by night. 17 And whenever the cloud would go up from over the tent, the sons of Israel would pull away right afterward, and in the place where the cloud would reside, there is where the sons of Israel would encamp. 18 At the order of Jehovah the sons of Israel would pull away, and at the order of Jehovah they would encamp. All the days that the cloud would reside over the tabernacle, they would remain encamped. 19 And when the cloud prolonged its stay over the tabernacle many days, the sons of Israel also kept their obligation to Jehovah that they should not pull away. 20 And sometimes the cloud would continue a few days over the tabernacle. At the order of Jehovah they would remain encamped, and at the order of Jehovah they would pull away. 21 And sometimes the cloud would continue from evening to morning; and the cloud lifted itself in the morning, and they pulled away. Whether it was by day or by night that the cloud lifted itself, they also pulled away. [22] Whether it was two days or a month or more days during which the cloud prolonged its stay over the tabernacle by residing over it, the sons of Israel remained encamped and would not pull away, but when it lifted itself they would pull away. [23] At the order of Jehovah they would encamp, and at the order of Jehovah they would pull away. They kept their obligation to Jehovah at the order of Jehovah by means of Moses.

10 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses, saying: [2] “Make for yourself two trumpets of silver. You will make them of hammered work, and they must be at your service for convening the assembly and for breaking up the camps. [3] And they must blow on them both, and the whole assembly must keep their appointment with you at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [4] And if they should blow on just one, the chieftains as heads of the thousands of Israel must also keep their appointment with you.

[5] “And YOU men must blow a fluctuating blast, and the camps of those camping to the east must pull away. [6] And YOU must blow a fluctuating blast a second time, and the camps of those camping to the south must pull away. They should blow a fluctuating blast for each time one of them pulls away.

[7] “Now when calling the congregation together, YOU should blow, but YOU must not sound a fluctuating blast. [8] And Aaron’s sons, the priests, should blow on the trumpets, and the use of them must serve as a statute for YOU men to time indefinite during YOUR generations.

[9] “And in case YOU should enter into war in YOUR land against the oppressor who is harassing YOU, YOU must also sound a war call on the trumpets, and YOU will certainly be remembered before Jehovah YOUR God and be saved from YOUR enemies.

[10] “And in the day of YOUR rejoicing and in YOUR festal seasons and at the commencements of YOUR months, YOU must blow on the trumpets over YOUR burnt offerings and YOUR communion sacrifices; and their use must serve as a memorial for YOU before YOUR God. I am Jehovah YOUR God.”

11 Now it came about that in the second year, in the second month, on the twentieth day in the month, the cloud lifted itself from over the tabernacle of the Testimony. 12 And the sons of Israel began to pull away in the manner of their departures from the wilderness of Si′nai, and the cloud proceeded to reside in the wilderness of Pa′ran. 13 And they began pulling away for the first time, according to the order of Jehovah by means of Moses.

14 So the three-tribe division of the camp of the sons of Judah pulled away first of all in their armies, and Nah′shon the son of Am·min′a·dab was over its army. 15 And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Is′sa·char there was Ne·than′el the son of Zu′ar. 16 And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Zeb′u·lun there was E·li′ab the son of He′lon.

17 And the tabernacle was taken down, and the sons of Ger′shon and the sons of Me·rar′i as carriers of the tabernacle pulled away.

18 And the three-tribe division of the camp of Reu′ben pulled away in their armies, and E·li′zur the son of Shed′e·ur was over its army. 19 And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Sim′e·on there was She·lu′mi·el the son of Zu·ri·shad′dai. 20 And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Gad there was E·li′a·saph the son of Deu′el.

21 And the Ko′hath·ites as carriers of the sanctuary pulled away, as they will have set up the tabernacle by the time of their coming.

22 And the three-tribe division of the camp of the sons of E′phra·im pulled away in their armies, and E·lish′a·ma the son of Am·mi′hud was over its army. 23 And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Ma·nas′seh there was Ga·ma′li·el the son of Pe·dah′zur. [24] And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin there was Ab′i·dan the son of Gid·e·o′ni.

[25] And the three-tribe division of the camp of the sons of Dan pulled away as forming the rear guard for all the camps in their armies, and A·hi·e′zer the son of Am·mi·shad′dai was over its army. [26] And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Ash′er there was Pa′gi·el the son of Och′ran. [27] And over the army of the tribe of the sons of Naph′ta·li there was A·hi′ra the son of E′nan. [28] In this manner were the departures of the sons of Israel in their armies when they would pull away.

[29] Then Moses said to Ho′bab the son of Reu′el the Mid′i·an·ite, the father-in-law of Moses: “We are pulling away for the place about which Jehovah said, ‘I shall give it to YOU.’ Do come with us, and we shall certainly do good to you, because Jehovah has spoken good concerning Israel.” [30] But he said to him: “I shall not go along, but I shall go to my own country and to my relatives.” [31] At this he said: “Please, do not leave us, because, for the reason that you well know where we may encamp in the wilderness, you must serve as eyes for us. [32] And it must occur that in case you should come with us, yes, it must occur that with what goodness Jehovah will do good with us, we, in turn, will do good to you.”

[33] So they went marching from the mountain of Jehovah for a journey of three days, and the ark of Jehovah’s covenant was marching before them for a journey of three days to search out a resting-place for them. [34] And Jehovah’s cloud was over them by day at their marching out from the encampment.

[35] And it would occur that when the Ark would set out, Moses would say: “Do arise, O Jehovah, and let your enemies be scattered; and let those who intensely hate you flee from before you.” 36 And when it would rest, he would say: “Do return, O Jehovah, to the myriads of thousands of Israel.”

11 Now the people became as men having something evil to complain about in the ears of Jehovah. When Jehovah got to hear it, then his anger grew hot, and a fire of Jehovah began to blaze against them and to consume some in the extremity of the camp. [2] When the people began to cry out to Moses, then he made supplication to Jehovah, and the fire sank down. [3] And the name of that place got to be called Tab′e·rah, because a fire of Jehovah had blazed against them.

[4] And the mixed crowd that was in the midst of them expressed selfish longing, and the sons of Israel too began to weep again and say: “Who will give us meat to eat? [5] How we remember the fish that we used to eat in Egypt for nothing, the cucumbers and the watermelons and the leeks and the onions and the garlic! [6] But now our soul is dried away. Our eyes are on nothing at all except the manna.”

[7] Incidentally, the manna was like coriander seed, and its look was like the look of bdellium gum. [8] The people spread out and picked it up and ground it in hand mills or pounded it in a mortar, and they boiled it in cooking pots or made it into round cakes, and its taste proved to be like the taste of an oiled sweet cake. [9] And when the dew descended upon the camp by night, the manna would descend upon it.

[10] And Moses got to hear the people weeping in their families, each man at the entrance of his tent. And Jehovah’s anger began growing very hot, and in the eyes of Moses it was bad. [11] Then Moses said to Jehovah: “Why have you caused evil to your servant, and why have I not found favor in your eyes, in placing the load of all this people upon me? [12] Have I myself conceived all this people? Is it I who have given them birth, so that you should say to me, ‘Carry them in your bosom, just as the male nurse carries the suckling,’ to the soil about which you swore to their forefathers? 13 From where do I have meat to give to all this people? For they keep weeping toward me, saying, ‘Do give us meat, and let us eat!’ 14 I am not able, I by myself, to carry all this people, because they are too heavy for me. 15 So if this is the way you are doing to me, please kill me off altogether, if I have found favor in your eyes, and let me not look upon my calamity.”

16 In turn Jehovah said to Moses: “Gather for me seventy men of the older men of Israel, whom you do know that they are older men of the people and officers of theirs, and you must take them to the tent of meeting, and they must station themselves there with you. 17 And I shall have to come down and speak with you there; and I shall have to take away some of the spirit that is upon you and place it upon them, and they will have to help you in carrying the load of the people that you may not carry it, just you alone. 18 And to the people you should say, ‘Sanctify yourselves for tomorrow, as YOU will certainly eat meat, because YOU have wept in the ears of Jehovah, saying: “Who will give us meat to eat, for it was well with us in Egypt?” And Jehovah will certainly give YOU meat, and YOU will indeed eat. 19 YOU will eat, not one day nor two days nor five days nor ten days nor twenty days, 20 but up to a month of days, until it comes out of YOUR nostrils and it has become a loathing to YOU, just because YOU rejected Jehovah, who is in YOUR midst, and YOU went weeping before him, saying: “Why is it that we have come out of Egypt?”’”

21 Then Moses said: “The people in the midst of whom I am are six hundred thousand men on foot, and yet you—you have said, ‘Meat I shall give them, and they will certainly eat for a month of days’! [22] Will flocks and herds be slaughtered for them, for it to be adequate for them? Or will all the fish of the sea be caught for them, for it to be adequate for them?”

[23] At this Jehovah said to Moses: “The hand of Jehovah is cut short, is it? Now you will see whether what I say befalls you or not.”

[24] After that Moses went out and spoke to the people the words of Jehovah. And he went gathering seventy men from the older men of the people and proceeded to have them stand round about the tent. [25] Then Jehovah came down in a cloud and spoke to him and took away some of the spirit that was upon him and put it upon each of the seventy older men. And it came about that as soon as the spirit settled down upon them, then they proceeded to act as prophets; but they did not do it again.

[26] Now there were two of the men remaining in the camp. The name of the one was El′dad, and the name of the other was Me′dad. And the spirit began to settle down upon them, as they were among those written down, but they had not gone out to the tent. So they proceeded to act as prophets in the camp. [27] And a young man went running and reporting to Moses and saying: “El′dad and Me′dad are acting as prophets in the camp!” [28] Then Joshua the son of Nun, the minister of Moses from his young manhood on, responded and said: “My lord Moses, restrain them!” [29] However, Moses said to him: “Are you feeling jealous for me? No, I wish that all of Jehovah’s people were prophets, because Jehovah would put his spirit upon them!” [30] Later Moses withdrew to the camp, he and the older men of Israel.

that way, all around the camp, and about two cubits above the surface of the earth. [32] Then the people got up all that day and all night and all the next day and kept gathering the quail. The one collecting least gathered ten hoʹmers, and they kept spreading them extensively all around the camp for themselves. [33] The meat was yet between their teeth, before it could be chewed, when Jehovah’s anger blazed against the people, and Jehovah began striking at the people with a very great slaughter.

[34] The name of that place came to be called Kibʹroth-hat·taʹa·vah, because there they buried the people who showed selfish craving. [35] From Kibʹroth-hat·taʹa·vah the people pulled away for Ha·zeʹroth, and they continued in Ha·zeʹroth.

12 Now Mir′i·am and Aaron began to speak against Moses on account of the Cush′ite wife whom he had taken, because it was a Cush′ite wife he had taken. [2] And they kept saying: “Is it just by Moses alone that Jehovah has spoken? Is it not by us also that he has spoken?” And Jehovah was listening. [3] And the man Moses was by far the meekest of all the men who were upon the surface of the ground.

[4] Then Jehovah suddenly said to Moses and Aaron and Mir′i·am: “Go out, the three of YOU, to the tent of meeting.” So the three of them went out. [5] After that Jehovah came down in the pillar of cloud and stood at the entrance of the tent and called Aaron and Mir′i·am. At this both of them went out. [6] And he went on to say: “Hear my words, please. If there came to be a prophet of YOURS for Jehovah, it would be in a vision I would make myself known to him. In a dream I would speak to him. [7] Not so my servant Moses! He is being entrusted with all my house. [8] Mouth to mouth I speak to him, thus showing him, and not by riddles; and the appearance of Jehovah is what he beholds. Why, then, did YOU not fear to speak against my servant, against Moses?”

[9] And Jehovah’s anger got to be hot against them, and he went his way. [10] And the cloud turned away from over the tent, and, look! Mir′i·am was struck with leprosy as white as snow. Then Aaron turned toward Mir′i·am, and, look! she was struck with leprosy. [11] Immediately Aaron said to Moses: “Excuse me, my lord! Do not, please, attribute to us the sin in which we have acted foolishly and which we have committed! [12] Please, do not let her continue like someone dead, whose flesh at the time of his coming out of his mother’s womb is half eaten off!” [13] And Moses began to cry out to Jehovah, saying: “O God, please! Heal her, please!”

[14] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Were her father to spit directly in her face, would she not be humiliated seven days? Let her be quarantined seven days outside the camp, and afterward let her be received in.” [15] Accordingly Mir′i·am was quarantined outside the camp seven days, and the people did not pull away until Mir′i·am was received in. [16] And afterward the people pulled away from Ha·ze′roth and took up camping in the wilderness of Pa′ran.

13 Jehovah now spoke to Moses, saying: [2] “Send out for yourself men that they may spy out the land of Ca′naan, which I am giving to the sons of Israel. YOU will send out one man for each tribe of his fathers, each one a chieftain among them.”

[3] So Moses sent them out from the wilderness of Pa′ran at the order of Jehovah. All the men were heads of the sons of Israel. [4] And these are their names: Of the tribe of Reu′ben, Sham·mu′a the son of Zac′cur; [5] of the tribe of Sim′e·on, Sha′phat the son of Ho′ri; [6] of the tribe of Judah, Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh; [7] of the tribe of Is′sa·char, I′gal the son of Joseph; [8] of the tribe of E′phra·im, Ho·she′a the son of Nun; [9] of the tribe of Benjamin, Pal′ti the son of Ra′phu; [10] of the tribe of Zeb′u·lun, Gad′di·el the son of So′di; [11] of the tribe of Joseph, for the tribe of Ma·nas′seh, Gad′di the son of Su′si; [12] of the tribe of Dan, Am′mi·el the son of Ge·mal′li; [13] of the tribe of Ash′er, Se′thur the son of Mi′cha·el; [14] of the tribe of Naph′ta·li, Nah′bi the son of Voph′si; [15] of the tribe of Gad, Geu′el the son of Ma′chi. [16] These are the names of the men whom Moses sent to spy out the land. And Moses continued to call Ho·she′a the son of Nun Je·hosh′u·a.

[17] When Moses was sending them to spy out the land of Ca′naan, he proceeded to say to them: “Go up here into the Neg′eb, and YOU must go up into the mountainous region. [18]
And YOU must see what the land is and the people who are dwelling on it, whether they are strong or weak, whether they are few or many; [19] and what the land is in which they are dwelling, whether it is good or bad, and what the cities are in which they are dwelling, whether it is in encampments or in fortifications; [20] and what the land is, whether it is fat or lean, whether there are trees in it or not. And YOU must show yourselves courageous and take some of the fruitage of the land.” Now the days were the days of the first ripe fruits of the grapes.

[21] So they went up and spied out the land from the wilderness of Zin to Re′hob to the entering in of Ha′math. [22] When they went up into the Neg′eb, they then came to He′bron. Now A·hi′man, She′shai and Tal′mai, those born of A′nak, were there. Incidentally, He′bron had been built seven years before Zo′an of Egypt. [23] When they came to the torrent valley of Esh′col, they then proceeded to cut down from there a shoot with one cluster of grapes. And they went carrying it with a bar on two of the men, and also some of the pomegranates and some of the figs. [24] They called that place the torrent valley of Esh′col, on account of the cluster that the sons of Israel cut down from there.

[25] Finally at the end of forty days they returned from spying out the land. [26] So they walked and came to Moses and Aaron and all the assembly of the sons of Israel in the wilderness of Pa′ran, at Ka′desh. And they came bringing back word to them and all the assembly and showing them the fruitage of the land. [27] And they went on to report to him and say: “We entered into the land to which you sent us out, and it is indeed flowing with milk and honey, and this is its fruitage. [28] Nevertheless, the facts are that the people who dwell in the land are strong, and the fortified cities are very great; and, too, those born of A′nak we saw there. [29] The A·mal′ek·ites are dwelling in the land of the Neg′eb, and the Hit′tites and the Jeb′u·sites and the Am′or·ites are dwelling in the mountainous region, and the Ca′naan·ites are dwelling by the sea and by the side of the Jordan.”

[30] Then Ca′leb tried to still the people toward Moses and went on to say: “Let us go up directly, and we are bound to take possession of it, because we can surely prevail over it.” [31] But the men who went up with him said: “We are not able to go up against the people, because they are stronger than we are.” [32] And they kept on bringing forth to the sons of Israel a bad report of the land that they had spied out, saying: “The land, which we passed through to spy it out, is a land that eats up its inhabitants; and all the people whom we saw in the midst of it are men of extraordinary size. [33] And there we saw the Neph′i·lim, the sons of A′nak, who are from the Neph′i·lim; so that we became in our own eyes like grasshoppers, and the same way we became in their eyes.”

14 Then all the assembly raised their voice, and the people continued giving vent to their voice and weeping all through that night. [2] And all the sons of Israel began to murmur against Moses and Aaron, and all the assembly began to say against them: “If only we had died in the land of Egypt, or if only we had died in this wilderness! [3] And why is Jehovah bringing us to this land to fall by the sword? Our wives and our little ones will become plunder. Is it not better for us to return to Egypt?” [4] They even went to saying to one another: “Let us appoint a head, and let us return to Egypt!”

[5] At this Moses and Aaron fell upon their faces before all the congregation of the assembly of the sons of Israel. [6] And Joshua the son of Nun and Caʹleb the son of Je·phunʹneh, who were of those who spied out the land, ripped their garments apart, [7] and they proceeded to say this to all the assembly of the sons of Israel: “The land that we passed through to spy it out is a very, very good land. [8] If Jehovah has found delight in us, then he will certainly bring us into this land and give it to us, a land that is flowing with milk and honey. [9] Only against Jehovah do not rebel; and YOU, do not YOU fear the people of the land, for they are bread to us. Their shelter has turned away from over them, and Jehovah is with us. Do not fear them.”

[10] However, all the assembly talked of pelting them with stones. And Jehovah’s glory appeared on the tent of meeting to all the sons of Israel.

[11] Finally Jehovah said to Moses: “How long will this people treat me without respect, and how long will they not put faith in me for all the signs that I performed in among them? [12] Let me strike them with pestilence and drive them away, and let me make you a nation greater and mightier than they are.”

[13] But Moses said to Jehovah: “Then the Egyptians will be bound to hear that you by your power have led this people up out of their midst. [14] And they will be bound to tell it to the inhabitants of this land. They have heard that you are Jehovah in among this people, who has appeared face to face. You are Jehovah, and your cloud is standing over them, and you are going before them in the pillar of cloud by day and in the pillar of fire by night. [15] Were you to put this people to death as one man, then the nations who have heard of your fame would certainly say this, [16] ‘Because of Jehovah’s not being able to bring this people into the land about which he swore to them he proceeded to slaughter them in the wilderness.’ [17] And now, please, let your power become great, O Jehovah, just as you have spoken, saying, [18] ‘Jehovah, slow to anger and abundant in loving-kindness, pardoning error and transgression, but by no means will he give exemption from punishment, bringing punishment for the error of the fathers upon sons, upon the third generation and upon the fourth generation.’ [19] Forgive, please, the error of this people according to the greatness of your loving-kindness, and just as you have pardoned this people from Egypt onward until now.”

[20] Then Jehovah said: “I do forgive according to your word. [21] And, on the other hand, as I live, all the earth will be filled with the glory of Jehovah. [22] But all the men who have been seeing my glory and my signs that I have performed in Egypt and in the wilderness and yet kept testing me these ten times, and have not listened to my voice, [23] will never see the land about which I swore to their fathers, yes, all those treating me without respect will not see it. [24] As for my servant Ca′leb, because a different spirit has proved to be with him and he kept following wholly after me, I shall certainly bring him into the land where he has gone, and his offspring will take possession of it. [25] While the A·malʹek·ites and the Caʹnaan·ites are dwelling in the low plain, YOU people make a turn tomorrow and pull away to march to the wilderness by way of the Red Sea.”

[26] And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses and Aaron, saying: [27] “How long will this evil assembly have this murmuring that they are carrying on against me? I have heard the murmurings of the sons of Israel that they are murmuring against me. [28] Say to them, ‘“As I live,” is the utterance of Jehovah, “if I shall not do to YOU just that way as YOU have spoken in my ears! [29] In this wilderness YOUR carcasses will fall, yes, all YOUR registered ones of all YOUR number from twenty years old upward, YOU who have murmured against me. [30] As for YOU, YOU will not enter into the land in which I lifted up my hand in oath to reside with YOU, except Caʹleb the son of Je·phunʹneh and Joshua the son of Nun.

[31] “‘“And YOUR little ones who YOU said would become plunder, these also I shall certainly bring in, and they will indeed know the land that YOU have rejected. [32] But the carcasses of YOU yourselves will fall in this wilderness. [33] And YOUR sons will become shepherds in the wilderness forty years, and they will have to answer for YOUR acts of fornication, until YOUR carcasses come to their end in the wilderness. [34] By the number of the days that YOU spied out the land, forty days, a day for a year, a day for a year, YOU will answer for YOUR errors forty years, as YOU must know what my being estranged means.

[35] “‘“I Jehovah have spoken if this is not what I shall do to all this evil assembly, those who have gathered together against me: In this wilderness they will come to their end, and there they will die. [36] And the men whom Moses sent to spy out the land and who, when they returned, began making the whole assembly murmur against him, by bringing forth a bad report against the land, [37] yes, the men bringing forth the bad report about the land will die by the scourge before Jehovah. [38] But Joshua the son of Nun and Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh will certainly live on, of those men who went to spy out the land.”’”

[39] When Moses proceeded to speak these words to all the sons of Israel, then the people began to mourn a great deal. [40] Moreover, they got up early in the morning and tried to go up to the top of the mountain, saying: “Here we are, and we have to go up to the place that Jehovah mentioned. For we have sinned.” [41] But Moses said: “Why is it that YOU are passing beyond the order of Jehovah? But that will not succeed. [42] Do not go up, because Jehovah is not in YOUR midst, that YOU may not be defeated before YOUR enemies. [43] For the A·mal′ek·ites and the Ca′naan·ites are there before YOU; and YOU are certain to fall by the sword, because, for the reason that YOU turned back from following Jehovah, Jehovah will not continue with YOU.”

[44] However, they presumed to go up to the top of the mountain, but the ark of Jehovah’s covenant and Moses did not move away from the midst of the camp. [45] Then the A·mal′ek·ites and the Ca′naan·ites who were dwelling in that mountain came on down and began striking them and went scattering them as far as Hor′mah.

15 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘When YOU eventually come into the land of YOUR dwelling places, which I am giving YOU, [3] and YOU must render up an offering made by fire to Jehovah, a burnt offering or a sacrifice to perform a special vow or voluntarily or during YOUR seasonal festivals, in order to make a restful odor to Jehovah, from the herd or from the flock; [4] the one presenting his offering must also present to Jehovah a grain offering of fine flour, a tenth of an e′phah, moistened with a fourth of a hin of oil. [5] And you should render up wine as a drink offering, the fourth of a hin, together with the burnt offering or for the sacrifice of each male lamb. [6] Or for a ram you should render up a grain offering of two tenths of fine flour, moistened with a third of a hin of oil. [7] And you should present wine as a drink offering, a third of a hin, as a restful odor to Jehovah.

[8] “‘But in case you should render up a male of the herd as a burnt offering or a sacrifice to perform a special vow or communion sacrifices to Jehovah, [9] one must also present together with the male of the herd a grain offering of three tenths of fine flour, moistened with half a hin of oil. [10] And you should present wine as a drink offering, half a hin, as an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah. [11] This is the way it should be done for each bull or for each ram or for one head among the male lambs or among the goats. [12] Whatever may be the number that YOU may render up, that is the way YOU should do for each one according to the number of them. [13] Every native should render up these in this way in presenting an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah.

[14] “‘And in case there should be residing as an alien with YOU an alien resident or one who is in YOUR midst for generations of YOU, and he must render up an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah, just as YOU should do, so he should do. [15] YOU who are of the congregation and the alien resident who is residing as an alien will have one statute. It will be a statute to time indefinite for YOUR generations. The alien resident should prove to be the same as YOU before Jehovah. [16] There should prove to be one law and one judicial decision for YOU and for the alien resident who is residing as an alien with YOU.’”

[17] And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses, saying: [18] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘On YOUR coming into the land where I am bringing YOU, [19] it must also occur that when YOU eat any of the bread of the land, YOU should make a contribution to Jehovah. [20] YOU should make a contribution of the firstfruits of YOUR coarse meal as ring-shaped cakes. Like the contribution of a threshing floor is the way YOU should contribute it. [21] Some of the firstfruits of YOUR coarse meal YOU should give as a contribution to Jehovah throughout YOUR generations.

[22] “‘Now in case YOU should make a mistake and not do all these commandments, which Jehovah has spoken to Moses, [23] all that Jehovah has commanded YOU by means of Moses from the day that Jehovah commanded and onward for YOUR generations, [24] it must then occur that if it has been done far from the eyes of the assembly by mistake, the whole assembly must then render up one young bull as a burnt offering for a restful odor to Jehovah, and its grain offering and its drink offering according to the regular procedure, and one kid of the goats as a sin offering. [25] And the priest must make atonement for the whole assembly of the sons of Israel, and it must be forgiven them; because it was a mistake, and they, for their part, brought as their offering an offering made by fire to Jehovah and their sin offering before Jehovah for their mistake. [26] And it must be forgiven the whole assembly of the sons of Israel and the alien resident who is residing as an alien in their midst, because it was by mistake on the part of all the people.

[27] "'And if any soul should sin by mistake, then he must present a female goat in its first year for a sin offering. [28] And the priest must make atonement for the soul who made a mistake by a sin unintentionally before Jehovah, so as to make atonement for it, and it must be forgiven him. [29] As to the native among the sons of Israel and the alien resident who is residing as an alien in their midst, there should prove to be one law for YOU as respects doing something unintentionally.

[30] "'But the soul that does something deliberately, whether he is a native or an alien resident, he speaking abusively of Jehovah, in that case that soul must be cut off from among his people. [31] Because it is Jehovah's word that he has despised and his commandment that he has broken, that soul should be cut off without fail. His own error is upon him.'"

[32] While the sons of Israel were continuing in the wilderness, they once found a man collecting pieces of wood on the sabbath day. [33] Then those who found him collecting pieces of wood brought him up to Moses and Aaron and the whole assembly. [34] So they committed him into custody, because it had not been distinctly stated what should be done to him.

[35] In time Jehovah said to Moses: "Without fail the man should be put to death, the whole assembly pelting him with stones outside the camp." [36] Accordingly the whole assembly brought him forth outside the camp and pelted him with stones so that he died, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[37] And Jehovah went on to say this to Moses: [38] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them that they must make for themselves fringed edges upon the skirts of their garments throughout their generations, and they must put a blue string above the fringed edge of the skirt, [39] ‘And it must serve as a fringed edge for YOU, and YOU must see it and remember all the commandments of Jehovah and do them, and YOU must not go about following YOUR hearts and YOUR eyes, which YOU are following in immoral intercourse. [40] The purpose is that YOU may remember and may certainly do all my commandments and indeed prove to be holy to YOUR God. [41] I am Jehovah YOUR God, who have brought YOU out of the land of Egypt in order to prove myself YOUR God. I am Jehovah YOUR God.’”

16 And Ko′rah the son of Iz′har, the son of Ko′hath, the son of Le′vi, proceeded to get up, together with Da′than and A·bi′ram the sons of E·li′ab, and On the son of Pe′leth, the sons of Reu′ben. [2] And they proceeded to rise up before Moses, they and two hundred and fifty men of the sons of Israel, chieftains of the assembly, summoned ones of the meeting, men of fame. [3] So they congregated themselves against Moses and Aaron and said to them: “That is enough of YOU, because the whole assembly are all of them holy and Jehovah is in their midst. Why, then, should YOU lift yourselves up above the congregation of Jehovah?”

[4] When Moses got to hear it he at once fell upon his face. [5] Then he spoke to Ko′rah and to his entire assembly, saying: “In the morning Jehovah will make known who belongs to him and who is holy and who must come near to him, and whoever he may choose will come near to him. [6] Do this: Take fire holders for yourselves, Ko′rah and his entire assembly, [7] and put fire in them and place incense upon them before Jehovah tomorrow, and it must occur that the man whom Jehovah will choose, he is the holy one. That is enough of YOU, YOU sons of Le′vi! ”

[8] And Moses went on to say to Ko′rah: “Listen, please, YOU sons of Le′vi. [9] Is it such a little thing for YOU men that the God of Israel has separated YOU men from the assembly of Israel to present YOU to himself to carry on the service of Jehovah’s tabernacle and to stand before the assembly to minister to them, [10] and that he should bring you and all your brothers the sons of Le′vi with you near? So must YOU men also try to secure the priesthood? [11] For that reason you and all your assembly who are gathering together are against Jehovah. As for Aaron, what is he that YOU men should murmur against him?”

[12] Later Moses sent to call Da′than and A·bi′ram the sons of E·li′ab, but they said: “We are not going to come up! [13] Is it so little a thing that you have brought us up out of a land flowing with milk and honey to put us to death in the wilderness, that you should also try to play the prince over us to the limit? [14] As it is, you have not brought us into any land flowing with milk and honey, that you may give us an inheritance of field and vineyard. Is it the eyes of those men that you want to bore out? We are not going to come up! ”

[15] At this Moses became very angry and said to Jehovah: “Do not turn to look at their grain offering. Not one male ass have I taken away from them, nor have I harmed one of them.”

[16] Then Moses said to Ko′rah: “You and all your assembly, be present before Jehovah, you and they and Aaron, tomorrow. [17] And take each one his fire holder, and YOU men must put incense upon them and present each one his fire holder before Jehovah, two hundred and fifty fire holders, and you and Aaron each his fire holder.” [18] So they took each one his fire holder and put fire upon them and placed incense upon them and stood at the entrance of the tent of meeting together with Moses and Aaron. [19] When Ko′rah got all the assembly together against them at the entrance of the tent of meeting, then Jehovah’s glory appeared to all the assembly.

[20] Jehovah now spoke to Moses and Aaron, saying: [21] “Separate yourselves from the midst of this assembly, that I may exterminate them in an instant.” [22] At this they fell upon their faces and said: “O God, the God of the spirits of every sort of flesh, will just one man sin and you become indignant against the entire assembly?”

25 After that Moses got up and went to Daʹthan and A·biʹram, and the older men of Israel went with him. 26 Then he spoke to the assembly, saying: “Turn aside, please, from before the tents of these wicked men and do not touch anything that belongs to them, that YOU may not be swept away in all their sin.” 27 Immediately they got away from before the tabernacle of Koʹrah, Daʹthan and A·biʹram, from every side, and Daʹthan and A·biʹram came out, taking their stand at the entrance of their tents, together with their wives, and their sons and their little ones.

28 Then Moses said: “By this YOU will know that Jehovah has sent me to do all these deeds, that it is not of my own heart: 29 If it is according to the death of all mankind that these people will die and with the punishment of all mankind that punishment will be brought upon them, then it is not Jehovah that has sent me. 30 But if it is something created that Jehovah will create, and the ground has to open its mouth and swallow up them and everything that belongs to them and they have to go down alive into Sheʹol, YOU will then know for certain that these men have treated Jehovah disrespectfully.”

31 And it came about that as soon as he had finished speaking all these words, the ground that was under them began to be split apart. 32 And the earth proceeded to open its mouth and to swallow up them and their households and all humankind that belonged to Koʹrah and all the goods. 33 So down they went, and all who belonged to them, alive into

She′ol, and the earth went covering them over, so that they perished from the midst of the congregation. [34] And all the Israelites who were round about them fled at the screaming of them, for they began to say: “We are afraid that the earth may swallow us up!” [35] And a fire came out from Jehovah and proceeded to consume the two hundred and fifty men offering the incense.

[36] Jehovah now spoke to Moses, saying: [37] “Say to El·e·a′zar the son of Aaron the priest that he should take up the fire holders from within the conflagration, ‘And you scatter the fire over there; for they are holy, [38] even the fire holders of these men who sinned against their own souls. And they must make them into thin metal plates as an overlaying for the altar, because they presented them before Jehovah, so that they became holy; and they should serve as a sign to the sons of Israel.’” [39] Accordingly El·e·a′zar the priest took the copper fire holders, which those who had been burned up had presented, and they proceeded to beat them out into an overlaying for the altar, [40] as a memorial for the sons of Israel, to the end that no strange man who is not of the offspring of Aaron should come near to make incense smoke before Jehovah, and no one might become like Ko′rah and his assembly, just as Jehovah had spoken to him by means of Moses.

[41] And directly the next day the whole assembly of the sons of Israel began to murmur against Moses and Aaron, saying: “YOU men, YOU have put Jehovah’s people to death.” [42] And it came about that when the assembly had congregated themselves together against Moses and Aaron, they then turned toward the tent of meeting; and, look! the cloud covered it, and Jehovah’s glory began to appear.

[43] And Moses and Aaron proceeded to come before the tent of meeting. [44] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [45] “YOU men, rise up from the midst of this assembly, that I may exterminate them in an instant.” At this they fell upon their faces. [46] After that Moses said to Aaron: “Take the fire holder and put fire from upon the altar in it and put on incense and go to the assembly in a hurry and make atonement for them, because the indignation has gone out from the face of Jehovah. The plague has started! ” [47] Aaron at once took it, just as Moses had spoken, and went running into the midst of the congregation; and, look! the plague had started among the people. So he put the incense on and began making atonement for the people. [48] And he kept standing between the dead and the living. Eventually the scourge was stopped. [49] And those dead from the scourge amounted to fourteen thousand seven hundred, aside from those dead on account of Ko′rah. [50] When at last Aaron returned to Moses at the entrance of the tent of meeting, the scourge had been stopped.

17 Jehovah now spoke to Moses, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel and take from them one rod for each paternal house from all their chieftains, by the house of their fathers, twelve rods. You will write the name of each one upon his rod. [3] And Aaron’s name you will write upon Le′vi’s rod, because there is one rod for the head of the house of their fathers. [4] And you must deposit them in the tent of meeting before the Testimony, where I regularly present myself to YOU. [5] And what must occur is that the man whom I shall choose, his rod will bud, and I shall certainly make subside from against me the murmurings of the sons of Israel, which they are murmuring against YOU.”

[6] So Moses spoke to the sons of Israel, and all their chieftains went giving him a rod for each chieftain, a rod for each chieftain, by the house of their fathers, twelve rods; and Aaron’s rod was in among their rods. [7] Then Moses deposited the rods before Jehovah in the tent of the Testimony.

[8] And it came about the next day that when Moses went into the tent of the Testimony, look! Aaron’s rod for the house of Le′vi had budded, and it was bringing forth buds and blossoming flowers and was bearing ripe almonds. [9] Moses then brought out all the rods from before Jehovah to all the sons of Israel, and they went looking and taking each man his own rod.

[10] Subsequently Jehovah said to Moses: “Put Aaron’s rod back before the Testimony as something to be kept for a sign to the sons of rebelliousness, that their murmurings may cease from against me, that they may not die.” [11] At once Moses did just as Jehovah had commanded him. He did just so.

[12] And the sons of Israel began to say this to Moses: “Now we are bound to expire, we are bound to perish, we are all of us bound to perish. [13] Anyone approaching, coming near to Jehovah’s tabernacle, will die! Must we end up in expiring that way?”

18 And Jehovah proceeded to say to Aaron: “You and your sons and the house of your father with you will answer for error against the sanctuary, and you and your sons with you will answer for error against YOUR priesthood. [2] And bring near, also, your brothers of the tribe of Le′vi, the clan of your father, with you, that they may be joined to you and may minister to you, to both you and your sons with you, before the tent of the Testimony. [3] And they must keep their obligation to you and their obligation to the entire tent. Only to the utensils of the holy place and to the altar they must not come near that they may not die, neither they nor YOU men. [4] And they must be joined to you and must keep their obligation to the tent of meeting as respects all the service of the tent, and no stranger may come near to YOU men. [5] And YOU must keep YOUR obligation to the holy place and YOUR obligation to the altar, that no further indignation may occur against the sons of Israel. [6] And I, look! I have taken YOUR brothers, the Levites, from among the sons of Israel, as a gift for YOU, as those given to Jehovah to carry on the service of the tent of meeting. [7] And you and your sons with you should safeguard YOUR priesthood as regards every concern of the altar and as regards what is inside the curtain; and YOU men must render service. As a service of gift I shall give YOUR priesthood, and the stranger drawing near should be put to death.”

[8] And Jehovah spoke further to Aaron: “As for me, look! I have given you the custody of the contributions made to me. Of all the holy things of the sons of Israel I have given them to you and to your sons as a portion, as an allowance to time indefinite. [9] This should become yours out of the most holy things, out of the offering made by fire, every offering of theirs together with every grain offering of theirs and every sin offering of theirs and every guilt offering of theirs, which they will return to me. It is something most holy for you and for your sons. 10 In a most holy place you should eat it. Every male should eat it. It should become something holy to you. 11 And this belongs to you: the contribution of their gift together with all the wave offerings of the sons of Israel. I have given them to you and your sons and your daughters with you, as an allowance to time indefinite. Everyone clean in your house may eat it.

12 “All the best of the oil and all the best of the new wine and the grain, their firstfruits, which they will give to Jehovah, I have given them to you. 13 The first ripe fruits of all that is on their land, which they will bring to Jehovah, yours it should become. Everyone clean in your house may eat it.

14 “Every devoted thing in Israel should become yours.

15 “Everything opening the womb, of every sort of flesh, which they will present to Jehovah, among man and among beast, should become yours. However, you should without fail redeem the firstborn of mankind; and the firstborn of the unclean beast you should redeem. 16 And with a redemption price for it from a month old onward you should redeem it, by the estimated value, five silver shekels by the shekel of the holy place. It is twenty ge′rahs. 17 Only the firstborn bull or firstborn male lamb or firstborn goat you should not redeem. They are something holy. Their blood you should sprinkle upon the altar, and their fat you should make smoke as an offering made by fire for a restful odor to Jehovah. 18 And their flesh should become yours. Like the breast of the wave offering and like the right leg, it should become yours. 19 All the holy contributions, which the sons of Israel will contribute to Jehovah, I have given to you and your sons and your daughters with you, as an allowance to time indefinite.

It is a covenant of salt to time indefinite before Jehovah for you and your offspring with you.”

[20] And Jehovah went on to say to Aaron: “In their land you will not have an inheritance, and no share will become yours in their midst. I am your share and your inheritance in the midst of the sons of Israel.

[21] “And to the sons of Le′vi, look! I have given every tenth part in Israel as an inheritance in return for their service that they are carrying on, the service of the tent of meeting. [22] And the sons of Israel should no more come near to the tent of meeting to incur sin so as to die. [23] And the Levites themselves must carry on the service of the tent of meeting, and they are the ones who should answer for their error. It is a statute to time indefinite during YOUR generations that in the midst of the sons of Israel they should not get possession of an inheritance. [24] For the tenth part of the sons of Israel, which they will contribute to Jehovah as a contribution, I have given to the Levites as an inheritance. That is why I have said to them, ‘In the midst of the sons of Israel they should not get possession of an inheritance.’”

[25] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [26] “And you should speak to the Levites, and you must say to them, ‘YOU will receive from the sons of Israel the tenth part that I have given to YOU from them for YOUR inheritance, and YOU must contribute from it as a contribution to Jehovah a tenth part of the tenth part. [27] And it must be reckoned to YOU as YOUR contribution, like the grain of the threshing floor and like the full produce of the wine or oil press. [28] In this way YOU yourselves also will contribute a contribution to Jehovah from all YOUR tenth parts that YOU will receive from the sons of Israel, and from them YOU must give the contribution to Jehovah to Aaron the priest. [29] From all the gifts to YOU, YOU will contribute every sort of contribution to Jehovah, of the very best of it, as some holy thing from them.’

[30] “And you must say to them, ‘When YOU contribute the best of them, then it will certainly be reckoned to the Levites as the produce of the threshing floor and as the produce of the wine or oil press. [31] And YOU must eat it in every place, YOU and YOUR household, because it is YOUR wages in return for YOUR service in the tent of meeting. [32] And YOU must not incur sin for it when YOU contribute the best from them, and YOU must not profane the holy things of the sons of Israel, that YOU may not die.’”

19 And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses and Aaron, saying: [2] “This is a statute of the law that Jehovah has commanded, saying, ‘Speak to the sons of Israel that they should take for you a sound red cow in which there is no defect and upon which no yoke has come. [3] And YOU must give it to El·e·aʹzar the priest, and he must lead it forth outside the camp, and it must be slaughtered before him. [4] Then El·e·aʹzar the priest must take some of its blood with his finger and spatter some of its blood straight toward the front of the tent of meeting seven times. [5] And the cow must be burned under his eyes. Its skin and its flesh and its blood together with its dung will be burned. [6] And the priest must take cedarwood and hyssop and coccus scarlet material and throw it into the midst of the burning of the cow. [7] And the priest must wash his garments and bathe his flesh in water, and afterward he may come into the camp; but the priest must be unclean until the evening.

[8] “‘And the one who burned it will wash his garments in water and must bathe his flesh in water, and he must be unclean until the evening.

[9] “‘And a clean man must gather up the ashes of the cow and deposit them outside the camp in a clean place; and they must serve the assembly of the sons of Israel as something to be kept for the water for cleansing. It is a sin offering. [10] And the one gathering the ashes of the cow must wash his garments and be unclean until the evening.

“‘And it must serve the sons of Israel and the alien resident who is residing as an alien in their midst as a statute to time indefinite. [11] Anyone touching the corpse of any human soul must also be unclean seven days. [12] Such one should purify himself with it on the third day, and on the seventh day he will be clean. But if he will not purify himself on the third day, then on the seventh day he will not be clean. [13] Everyone touching a corpse, the soul of whatever man may die, and who will not purify himself, has defiled Jehovah’s tabernacle, and that soul must be cut off from Israel. Because the water for cleansing has not been sprinkled upon him, he continues unclean. His uncleanness is still upon him.

[14] “‘This is the law in case a man should die in a tent: Everyone coming into the tent, and everyone who is in the tent, will be unclean seven days. [15] And every opened vessel upon which there is no lid tied down is unclean. [16] And everyone who on the open field may touch someone slain with the sword or a corpse or a bone of a man or a burial place will be unclean seven days. [17] And they must take for the unclean one some of the dust of the burning of the sin offering and put running water upon it in a vessel. [18] Then a clean man must take hyssop and dip it into the water and spatter it upon the tent and all the vessels and the souls that happened to be there and upon the one who touched the bone or the slain one or the corpse or the burial place. [19] And the clean person must spatter it upon the unclean one on the third day and on the seventh day and must purify him from sin on the seventh day; and he must wash his garments and bathe in water, and he must be clean in the evening.

[20] “‘But the man who may be unclean and who will not purify himself, well, that soul must be cut off from the midst of the congregation, because it is Jehovah’s sanctuary that he has defiled. The water for cleansing was not sprinkled upon him. He is unclean.

[21] “‘And it must serve as a statute to time indefinite for them, that the one spattering the water for cleansing should wash his garments, also the one touching the water for cleansing. He will be unclean until the evening. [22] And anything the unclean one may touch will be unclean, and the soul who touches it will be unclean until the evening.’”

20 And the sons of Israel, the entire assembly, proceeded to come into the wilderness of Zin in the first month, and the people took up dwelling in Ka′desh. It was there that Mir′i·am died and there that she was buried.

[2] Now there proved to be no water for the assembly, and they began to congregate themselves against Moses and Aaron. [3] And the people went quarreling with Moses and saying: “If only we had expired when our brothers expired before Jehovah! [4] And why have YOU men brought Jehovah’s congregation into this wilderness for us and our beasts of burden to die there? [5] And why have YOU conducted us up out of Egypt to bring us into this evil place? It is no place of seed and figs and vines and pomegranates, and there is no water to drink.” [6] Then Moses and Aaron came from before the congregation to the entrance of the tent of meeting and fell upon their faces, and Jehovah’s glory began to appear to them.

[7] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [8] “Take the rod and call the assembly together, you and Aaron your brother, and YOU must speak to the crag before their eyes that it may indeed give its water; and you must bring out water for them from the crag and give the assembly and their beasts of burden drink.”

[9] So Moses took the rod from before Jehovah, just as he had commanded him. [10] After that Moses and Aaron called the congregation together before the crag, and he proceeded to say to them: “Hear, now, YOU rebels! Is it from this crag that we shall bring out water for YOU?” [11] With that Moses lifted his hand up and struck the crag with his rod twice; and much water began to come out, and the assembly and their beasts of burden began to drink.

[12] Later Jehovah said to Moses and Aaron: “Because YOU did not show faith in me to sanctify me before the eyes of the sons of Israel, therefore YOU will not bring this congregation into the land that I shall certainly give them.” [13] These are the waters of Merʹi·bah, because the sons of Israel quarreled with Jehovah, so that he was sanctified among them.

[14] Subsequently Moses sent messengers from Kaʹdesh to the king of Eʹdom: “This is what your brother Israel has said, ‘You yourself well know all the hardship that has overtaken us. [15] And our fathers proceeded to go down to Egypt, and we continued to dwell in Egypt many days; and the Egyptians began doing harm to us and our fathers. [16] Finally we cried out to Jehovah and he heard our voice and sent an angel and brought us out of Egypt; and here we are in Kaʹdesh, a city at the extremity of your territory. [17] Let us pass, please, through your land. We shall not pass through a field or a vineyard, and we shall not drink the water of a well. On the king’s road we shall march. We shall not bend toward the right or the left, until we shall pass through your territory.’”

[18] However, Eʹdom said to him: “You must not pass through me, for fear I may come out with the sword to meet you.” [19] In turn the sons of Israel said to him: “By the highway we shall go up; and if I and my livestock should drink your water, I shall also certainly give the value of it. I want nothing more than to pass through on my feet.” [20] Still he said: “You must not pass through.” With that Eʹdom came on out to encounter him with a great many people and a strong hand. [21] So Eʹdom refused to grant Israel to pass through his territory. Hence Israel turned away from him.

[22] And the sons of Israel, the entire assembly, proceeded to pull away from Ka′desh and come to Mount Hor. [23] Then Jehovah said this to Moses and Aaron in Mount Hor by the border of the land of E′dom: [24] “Aaron will be gathered to his people, for he will not enter into the land that I shall certainly give to the sons of Israel, on the ground that YOU men rebelled against my order respecting the waters of Mer′i·bah. [25] Take Aaron and El·e·a′zar his son and bring them up into Mount Hor. [26] And strip Aaron of his garments, and you must clothe with them El·e·a′zar his son; and Aaron will be gathered and must die there.”

[27] So Moses did just as Jehovah had commanded; and before the eyes of all the assembly they went climbing Mount Hor. [28] Then Moses stripped Aaron of his garments and clothed El·e·a′zar his son with them, after which Aaron died there on the top of the mountain. And Moses and El·e·a′zar came on down from the mountain. [29] And all the assembly got to see that Aaron had expired, and all the house of Israel continued weeping for Aaron thirty days.

21 Now the Ca′naan·ite the king of A′rad, who dwelt in the Neg′eb, got to hear that Israel had come by the way of Ath′a·rim, and he began to fight with Israel and carry away some of them as captives. [2] Consequently Israel made a vow to Jehovah and said: “If you will without fail give this people into my hand, I shall also certainly devote their cities to destruction.” [3] So Jehovah listened to Israel’s voice and gave the Ca′naan·ites over; and they devoted them and their cities to destruction. Hence they called the name of the place Hor′mah.

[4] While they continued trekking from Mount Hor by the way of the Red Sea to go around the land of E′dom, the soul of the people began tiring out because of the way. [5] And the people kept speaking against God and Moses: “Why have YOU brought us up out of Egypt to die in the wilderness? For there is no bread and no water, and our soul has come to abhor the contemptible bread.” [6] So Jehovah sent poisonous serpents among the people, and they kept biting the people, so that many people of Israel died.

[7] Finally the people came to Moses and said: “We have sinned, because we have spoken against Jehovah and against you. Intercede with Jehovah that he may remove the serpents from upon us.” And Moses went interceding in behalf of the people. [8] Then Jehovah said to Moses: “Make for yourself a fiery snake and place it upon a signal pole. And it must occur that when anyone has been bitten, he then has to look at it and so must keep alive.” [9] Moses at once made a serpent of copper and placed it upon the signal pole; and it did occur that if a serpent had bitten a man and he gazed at the copper serpent, he then kept alive.

[10] After that the sons of Israel pulled away and encamped in O′both. [11] Then they pulled away from O′both and encamped in I′ye-ab′a·rim, in the wilderness that is toward the front of Mo′ab, toward the rising of the sun. [12] From there they pulled away and took up camping by the torrent valley of Ze′red. [13] From there they pulled away and went camping in the region of the Ar′non, which is in the wilderness that extends from the border of the Am′or·ites; for the Ar′non is the boundary of Mo′ab, between Mo′ab and the Am′or·ites. [14] That is why it is said in the book of the Wars of Jehovah:

“Va′heb in Su′phah and the torrent valleys of Ar′non, [15] and the mouth of the torrent valleys, which has bent itself toward the seat of Ar and has leaned against the border of Mo′ab.”

[16] Next from there on to Be′er. This is the well about which Jehovah said to Moses: “Gather the people, and let me give them water.”

[17] At that time Israel proceeded to sing this song:
“Spring up, O well! Respond to it, YOU people!
[18] A well, princes dug it. The nobles of the people excavated it,
With a commander’s staff, with their own staffs.”

Then from the wilderness on to Mat′ta·nah. [19] And from Mat′ta·nah on to Na·hal′i·el, and from Na·hal′i·el on to Ba′moth. [20] And from Ba′moth on to the valley that is in the field of Mo′ab, at the head of Pis′gah, and it projects over toward the face of Je·shi′mon.

[21] Israel now sent messengers to Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, saying: [22] “Let me pass through your land. We shall not turn off into a field or a vineyard. We shall drink water of no well. On the king’s road we shall march until we pass through your territory.” [23] And Si′hon did not allow Israel to pass through his territory, but Si′hon gathered all his people and went out to meet Israel in the wilderness, and came to Ja′haz and began fighting with Israel. [24] At that Israel struck him with the edge of the sword and took possession of his land from the Ar′non to the Jab′bok, near the sons of Am′mon; because Ja′zer is the border of the sons of Am′mon.

[25] So Israel took all these cities, and Israel began dwelling in all the cities of the Am′or·ites, in Hesh′bon and all its dependent towns. [26] For Hesh′bon was the city of Si′hon. He was the king of the Am′or·ites, and it was he who fought with the king of Mo′ab formerly and went taking all his land out of his hand as far as the Ar′non. [27] That is why the sayers of mock verses would say:

“Come to Hesh′bon.
Let the city of Si′hon be built and be proved firmly set up.

[28] For a fire has come out of Hesh′bon, a flame from the town of Si′hon.
It has consumed Ar of Mo′ab, the owners of the high places of the Ar′non.

[29] Woe to you, Mo′ab! You will certainly perish, O people of Che′mosh!
He will certainly give his sons as escaped ones and his daughters in the captivity to the king of the Am′or·ites, Si′hon.

[30] So let us shoot at them.
Hesh′bon will certainly perish up to Di′bon,
And the women up to No′phah, the men up to Med′e·ba.”

[31] And Israel began to dwell in the land of the Am′or·ites. [32] Then Moses sent some to spy on Ja′zer. So they captured its dependent towns and dispossessed the Am′or·ites who were there. [33] After that they turned and went up by the way of Ba′shan. At this Og the king of Ba′shan came out to meet them, he and all his people, to the battle of Ed′re·i. [34] Jehovah now said to Moses: “Do not be afraid of him, for into your hand I shall certainly give him and all his people and his land; and you must do to him just as you did to Si′hon, the king of the Am′or·ites, who used to dwell in Hesh′bon.” [35] So they went striking him and his sons and all his people, until there was no survivor remaining to him; and they went taking possession of his land.

22 Then the sons of Israel pulled away and encamped on the desert plains of Moʹab across the Jordan from Jerʹi·cho. [2] And Baʹlak the son of Zipʹpor got to see all that Israel had done to the Amʹor·ites. [3] And Moʹab became very frightened at the people, because they were many; and Moʹab began to feel a sickening dread of the sons of Israel. [4] And Moʹab proceeded to say to the older men of Midʹi·an: “Now this congregation will lick up all our surroundings like the bull licking up the green growth of the field.”

And Baʹlak the son of Zipʹpor was king of Moʹab at that particular time. [5] He now sent messengers to Baʹlaam the son of Beʹor at Peʹthor, which is by the River of the land of the sons of his people, to call him, saying: “Look! A people has come out of Egypt. Look! They have covered the earth as far as one can see, and they are dwelling right in front of me. [6] And now do come, please; do curse this people for me, for they are mightier than I am. Perhaps I may be able to strike them and I may drive them out of the land; for I well know that the one whom you bless is a blessed one and the one whom you curse is cursed.”

[7] So the older men of Moʹab and the older men of Midʹi·an traveled with the payments for divination in their hands and went to Baʹlaam and spoke to him Baʹlak’s words. [8] At that he said to them: “Lodge here tonight, and I shall certainly return YOU word just as Jehovah may speak to me.” Accordingly the princes of Moʹab stayed with Baʹlaam.

[9] Then God came to Baʹlaam and said: “Who are these men with you?” [10] So Baʹlaam said to the true God: “Baʹlak the son of Zipʹpor, the king of Moʹab, has sent to me, saying, [11] ‘Look! The people who are coming out of Egypt, and they go covering the earth as far as the eye can see. Now do come, do execrate them for me. Perhaps I may be able to fight against them and I shall actually drive them out.’” [12] But God said to Ba′laam: “You must not go with them. You must not curse the people, for they are blessed.”

[13] After that Ba′laam got up in the morning and said to the princes of Ba′lak: “Go to YOUR country, because Jehovah has refused to let me go with YOU.” [14] So the princes of Mo′ab got up and came to Ba′lak and said: “Ba′laam has refused to come with us.”

[15] However, Ba′lak sent again other princes in greater number and more honorable than the former. [16] In turn they came to Ba′laam and said to him: “This is what Ba′lak the son of Zip′por has said, ‘Do not be detained, please, from coming to me. [17] For I shall without fail honor you greatly, and everything you may say to me I shall do. So do come, please. Do execrate this people for me.’” [18] But Ba′laam answered and said to the servants of Ba′lak: “If Ba′lak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I should not be able to pass beyond the order of Jehovah my God, so as to do something small or great. [19] And now YOU men also stay here, please, tonight that I may know what further Jehovah will speak with me.”

[20] Then God came to Ba′laam by night and said to him: “If it is to call you that the men have come, get up, go with them. But only the word that I shall speak to you is what you may speak.” [21] After that Ba′laam got up in the morning and saddled his she-ass and went with the princes of Mo′ab.

[22] And the anger of God began to blaze because he was going; and Jehovah’s angel proceeded to station himself in the road to resist him. And he was riding upon his she-ass, and two attendants of his were with him. [23] And the ass got to see Jehovah’s angel stationed in the road with his drawn sword in his hand; and the ass tried to turn aside from the road that she might go into the field, but Baʹlaam began to strike the ass in order to turn her aside to the road. 24 And Jehovah’s angel kept standing in the narrow way between the vineyards, with a stone wall on this side and a stone wall on that side. 25 And the she-ass kept seeing Jehovah’s angel and began to squeeze herself against the wall and so to squeeze Baʹlaam’s foot against the wall; and he went beating her some more.

26 Jehovah’s angel now passed by again and stood in a narrow place, where there was no way to turn aside to the right or the left. 27 When the ass got to see Jehovah’s angel she now lay down under Baʹlaam; so that Baʹlaam’s anger blazed, and he kept beating the ass with his staff. 28 Finally Jehovah opened the mouth of the ass and she said to Baʹlaam: “What have I done to you so that you have beaten me these three times?” 29 At this Baʹlaam said to the ass: “It is because you have dealt ruthlessly with me. If only there were a sword in my hand, for now I should have killed you! ” 30 Then the she-ass said to Baʹlaam: “Am I not your she-ass that you have ridden upon all your life long until this day? Have I ever been used to do to you this way?” To which he said: “No! ” 31 And Jehovah proceeded to uncover Baʹlaam’s eyes, so that he saw Jehovah’s angel stationed in the road with his drawn sword in his hand. At once he bowed low and prostrated himself on his face.

32 Then Jehovah’s angel said to him: “Why have you beaten your she-ass these three times? Look! I—I have come out to offer resistance, because your way has been headlong against my will. 33 And the she-ass got to see me and tried to turn aside before me these three times. Supposing she had not turned aside from before me! For by now even you I should have killed, but her I should have preserved alive.” [34] At this Baʹlaam said to Jehovah’s angel: “I have sinned, because I did not know that it was you stationed in the road to meet me. And now, if it is bad in your eyes, let me go my way back.” [35] But Jehovah’s angel said to Baʹlaam: “Go with the men; and nothing but the word that I shall speak to you is what you may speak.” And Baʹlaam continued going with the princes of Baʹlak.

[36] When Baʹlak got to hear that Baʹlaam had come, he at once went out to meet him at the city of Moʹab, which is on the bank of the Arʹnon, which is on the extremity of the territory. [37] Then Baʹlak said to Baʹlaam: “Have I not for a fact sent to you to call you? Why did you not come to me? Am I not really and truly able to honor you?” [38] At this Baʹlaam said to Baʹlak: “Here I have come to you now. Shall I be able at all to speak something? The word that God will place in my mouth is what I shall speak.”

[39] So Baʹlaam went with Baʹlak and they came to Kirʹi·ath-huʹzoth. [40] And Baʹlak proceeded to sacrifice cattle and sheep and to send some to Baʹlaam and the princes who were with him. [41] And it came about in the morning that Baʹlak went taking Baʹlaam and bringing him up to Baʹmoth-baʹal, that he might see from there the whole of the people.

23 Then Ba′laam said to Ba′lak: “Build for me on this spot seven altars and make ready for me on this spot seven bulls and seven rams.” [2] Ba′lak immediately did just as Ba′laam had spoken. After that Ba′lak and Ba′laam offered up a bull and a ram on each altar. [3] And Ba′laam went on to say to Ba′lak: “Station yourself by your burnt offering, and let me go. Perhaps Jehovah will get in touch and meet with me. In that case whatever he will show me, I shall certainly tell you.” So he went to a bare hill.

[4] When God got in touch with Ba′laam, he then said to Him: “I set the seven altars in rows, and I proceeded to offer up a bull and a ram on each altar.” [5] Accordingly Jehovah put a word in the mouth of Ba′laam and said: “Return to Ba′lak, and this is what you will speak.” [6] So he returned to him, and, look! he and all the princes of Mo′ab were stationed by his burnt offering. [7] Then he took up his proverbial utterance and said:

“From A′ram Ba′lak the king of Mo′ab tried to conduct me,
From the mountains of the east:
‘Do come, do curse Jacob for me.
Yes, do come, do denounce Israel.’

[8] How could I execrate those whom God has not execrated?
And how could I denounce those whom Jehovah has not denounced?

[9] For from the top of the rocks I see them,
And from the hills I behold them.
There as a people they keep tabernacling isolated,
And among the nations they do not reckon themselves.

[10] Who has numbered the dust particles of Jacob,
And who has counted the fourth part of Israel?
Let my soul die the death of the upright ones,
And let my end turn out afterward like theirs.”

[11] At this Ba′lak said to Ba′laam: “What have you done to me? It was in order to execrate my enemies that I took you, and here you have blessed them to the limit.” [12] In turn he answered and said: “Is it not whatever Jehovah may put in my mouth that I should take care to speak?”

[13] Then Baʹlak said to him: “Do come, please, with me to another place from which you can see them. Only the extremity of them you will see, and you will not see all of them. And execrate them for me from there.” [14] So he took him to the field of Zoʹphim, to the top of Pisʹgah, and proceeded to build seven altars and to offer up a bull and a ram on each altar. [15] After that he said to Baʹlak: “Station yourself here by your burnt offering, and, as for me, let me get in touch with him there.” [16] Subsequently Jehovah got in touch with Baʹlaam and put a word in his mouth and said: “Return to Baʹlak, and this is what you will speak.” [17] So he came to him, and, look! he was stationed by his burnt offering, and the princes of Moʹab with him. Then Baʹlak said to him: “What has Jehovah spoken?” [18] At this he took up his proverbial utterance and said:

“Get up, Baʹlak, and listen.
Do give ear to me, O son of Zipʹpor.

[19] God is not a man that he should tell lies,
Neither a son of mankind that he should feel regret.
Has he himself said it and will he not do it,
And has he spoken and will he not carry it out?

[20] Look! I have been taken to bless,
And He has blessed, and I shall not reverse it.

[21] He has not looked upon any uncanny power against Jacob,
And no trouble has he seen against Israel.
Jehovah his God is with him,
And the loud hailing of a king is in his midst.

[22] God is bringing them out of Egypt.
The swift course like that of a wild bull is his.

[23] For there is no unlucky spell against Jacob,
Nor any divination against Israel.
At this time it may be said respecting Jacob and Israel,
‘What has God worked out!’

[24] Behold, a people will get up like a lion,
And like the lion it will lift itself up.
It will not lie down until it may eat prey,

And the blood of slain ones it will drink.”

[25] At this Ba′lak said to Ba′laam: “If, on the one hand, you cannot execrate him at all, then, on the other hand, you should not bless him at all.” [26] In turn Ba′laam answered and said to Ba′lak: “Did I not speak to you, saying, ‘All that Jehovah will speak is what I shall do’?”

[27] Then Ba′lak said to Ba′laam: “O come, please. Let me take you to still another place. Perhaps it will be right in the eyes of the true God so that you will certainly execrate him for me from there.” [28] With that Ba′lak took Ba′laam to the top of Pe′or, which looks toward Je·shi′mon. [29] Then Ba′laam said to Ba′lak: “Build for me on this spot seven altars and make ready for me on this spot seven bulls and seven rams.” [30] So Ba′lak did just as Ba′laam had said, and he went offering up a bull and a ram on each altar.

24 When Ba′laam got to see that it was good in the eyes of Jehovah to bless Israel, he did not go away as at the other times to come upon any unlucky omens, but he directed his face to the wilderness. [2] When Ba′laam raised his eyes and saw Israel tabernacling by his tribes, then the spirit of God came to be upon him. [3] Hence he took up his proverbial utterance and said:

“The utterance of Ba′laam the son of Be′or,
And the utterance of the able-bodied man with the eye unsealed,

[4] The utterance of the one hearing the sayings of God,
Who got to see a vision of the Almighty
While falling down with the eyes uncovered:

[5] How good-looking are your tents, O Jacob, your tabernacles, O Israel!

[6] Like torrent valleys they have extended a long way,
Like gardens by the river.
Like aloe plants that Jehovah has planted,
Like cedars by the waters.

[7] Water keeps trickling from his two leather buckets,
And his seed is by many waters.
His king also will be higher than A′gag,
And his kingdom will be lifted up.

[8] God is bringing him out of Egypt;
The swift course of a wild bull is his.
He will consume the nations, his oppressors,
And their bones he will gnaw, and he will break them to pieces with his arrows.

[9] He bowed down, he lay down like the lion,
And, like a lion, who dares rouse him?
Those blessing you are the ones blessed,
And those cursing you are the ones cursed.”

[10] At that Ba′lak’s anger blazed against Ba′laam and he clapped his hands, and Ba′lak went on to say to Ba′laam: “It was to execrate my enemies that I called you, and, look! you have blessed them to the limit these three times. [11] And now run your way off to your place. I had said to myself I was without fail going to honor you, but, look! Jehovah has held you back from honor.”

12 In turn Ba′laam said to Ba′lak: “Was it not also to your messengers whom you sent to me that I spoke, saying, 13 ‘If Ba′lak were to give me his house full of silver and gold, I should not be able to pass beyond the order of Jehovah so as to do something good or bad out of my own heart. Whatever Jehovah may speak is what I shall speak’? 14 And now here I am going away to my people. Do come, let me advise you what this people will do to your people afterward in the end of the days.” 15 So he took up his proverbial utterance and said:

“The utterance of Ba′laam the son of Be′or,
And the utterance of the able-bodied man with the eye unsealed,

16 The utterance of the one hearing the sayings of God,
And the one knowing the knowledge of the Most High—
A vision of the Almighty he got to see
While falling down with the eyes uncovered:

17 I shall see him, but not now;
I shall behold him, but not near.
A star will certainly step forth out of Jacob,
And a scepter will indeed rise out of Israel.
And he will certainly break apart the temples of Mo′ab’s head
And the cranium of all the sons of tumult of war.

18 And E′dom must become a possession,
Yes, Se′ir must become the possession of his enemies,
While Israel is displaying his courage.

19 And out of Jacob one will go subduing,
And he must destroy any survivor from the city.”

20 When he got to see Am′a·lek, he carried further his proverbial utterance and went on to say:

“Am′a·lek was the first one of the nations,
But his end afterward will be even his perishing.”

21 When he got to see the Ken′ites, he carried further his proverbial utterance and went on to say:

“Durable is your dwelling, and set on the crag is your abode.

22 But there will come to be one to burn Ka′in down.

How long will it be till As·syr′i·a will carry you away captive?”

23 And he carried further his proverbial utterance and went on to say:

“Woe! Who will survive when God causes it?
24 And there will be ships from the coast of Kit′tim,
And they will certainly afflict As·syr′i·a,
And they will indeed afflict E′ber.
But he too will eventually perish.”

25 After that Ba′laam got up and went and returned to his place. And Ba′lak also went his own way.

25 Now Israel was dwelling in Shit′tim. Then the people started to have immoral relations with the daughters of Mo′ab. [2] And the women came calling the people to the sacrifices of their gods, and the people began to eat and to bow down to their gods. [3] So Israel attached itself to the Ba′al of Pe′or; and the anger of Jehovah began to blaze against Israel. [4] Hence Jehovah said to Moses: “Take all the head ones of the people and expose them to Jehovah toward the sun, that the burning anger of Jehovah may turn back from Israel.” [5] Then Moses said to the judges of Israel: “Each one of YOU kill his men who have an attachment with the Ba′al of Pe′or.”

[6] But, look! a man of the sons of Israel came, and he was bringing near to his brothers a Mid′i·an·ite woman before Moses’ eyes and before the eyes of all the assembly of the sons of Israel, while they were weeping at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [7] When Phin′e·has the son of El·e·a′zar the son of Aaron the priest caught sight of it, he at once got up from the midst of the assembly and took a lance in his hand. [8] Then he went after the man of Israel into the vaulted tent and pierced both of them through, the man of Israel and the woman through her genital parts. At that the scourge was halted from upon the sons of Israel. [9] And those who died from the scourge amounted to twenty-four thousand.

[10] Then Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [11] “Phin′e·has the son of El·e·a′zar the son of Aaron the priest has turned back my wrath from upon the sons of Israel by his tolerating no rivalry at all toward me in the midst of them, so that I have not exterminated the sons of Israel in my insistence on exclusive devotion. [12] For that reason say, ‘Here I am giving him my covenant of peace. [13] And it must serve as the covenant of a priesthood to time indefinite for him and his offspring after him, due to the fact that he tolerated no rivalry toward his God and proceeded to make atonement for the sons of Israel.'"

[14] Incidentally the name of the fatally struck Israelite man who was fatally struck with the Mid′i·an·i·tess was Zim′ri the son of Sa′lu, a chieftain of a paternal house of the Sim′e·on·ites. [15] And the name of the Mid′i·an·ite woman fatally struck was Coz′bi the daughter of Zur; he was a head one of the clans of a paternal house in Mid′i·an.

[16] Later Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [17] "Let there be a harassing of the Mid′i·an·ites, and YOU men must strike them, [18] because they are harassing YOU with their deeds of cunning that they committed against YOU cunningly in the affair of Pe′or and in the affair of Coz′bi the daughter of a chieftain of Mid′i·an, their sister who was fatally struck in the day of the scourge over the affair of Pe′or."

26 And it came about after the scourge, that Jehovah went on to say this to Moses and El·e·aʹzar the son of Aaron the priest: [2] “TAKE the sum of the whole assembly of the sons of Israel from twenty years of age and upward, according to the house of their fathers, all those going out to the army in Israel.” [3] And Moses and El·e·aʹzar the priest proceeded to speak with them in the desert plains of Moʹab by the Jordan at Jerʹi·cho, saying: [4] “Take the sum of them from the age of twenty years and upward, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.”

Now the sons of Israel who went out of the land of Egypt were: [5] Reuʹben, Israel’s firstborn; Reuʹben’s sons: Of Haʹnoch the family of the Haʹnoch·ites; of Palʹlu the family of the Palʹlu·ites; [6] of Hezʹron the family of the Hezʹron·ites; of Carʹmi the family of the Carʹmites. [7] These were the families of the Reuʹben·ites, and their registered ones amounted to forty-three thousand seven hundred and thirty.

[8] And the son of Palʹlu was E·liʹab. [9] And the sons of E·liʹab: Nemʹu·el and Daʹthan and A·biʹram. This Daʹthan and A·biʹram were summoned ones of the assembly, who engaged in a struggle against Moses and Aaron in the assembly of Koʹrah, when they engaged in a struggle against Jehovah.

[10] Then the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up. As for Koʹrah, he died at the death of the assembly when the fire consumed two hundred and fifty men. And they came to be a symbol. [11] However, the sons of Koʹrah did not die.

[12] The sons of Simʹe·on by their families: Of Nemʹu·el the family of the Nemʹu·el·ites; of Jaʹmin the family of the Jaʹmin·ites; of Jaʹchin the family of the Jaʹchin·ites; [13] of Ze′rah the family of the Ze′rah·ites; of Sha′ul the family of the Sha·u′lites. [14] These were the families of the Sim′e·on·ites: twenty-two thousand two hundred.

[15] The sons of Gad by their families: Of Ze′phon the family of the Ze′phon·ites; of Hag′gi the family of the Hag′gites; of Shu′ni the family of the Shu′nites; [16] of Oz′ni the family of the Oz′nites; of E′ri the family of the E′rites; [17] of Ar′od the family of the Ar′od·ites; of A·re′li the family of the A·re′lites. [18] These were the families of the sons of Gad, of their registered ones: forty thousand five hundred.

[19] The sons of Judah were Er and O′nan. However, Er and O′nan died in the land of Ca′naan. [20] And the sons of Judah came to be, by their families: Of She′lah the family of the She·la′nites; of Pe′rez the family of the Per′e·zites; of Ze′rah the family of the Ze′rah·ites. [21] And the sons of Pe′rez came to be: Of Hez′ron the family of the Hez′ron·ites; of Ha′mul the family of the Ha·mu′lites. [22] These were the families of Judah, of their registered ones: seventy-six thousand five hundred.

[23] The sons of Is′sa·char by their families were: Of To′la the family of the To′la·ites; of Pu′vah the family of the Pu′nites; [24] of Ja′shub the family of the Jash′u·bites; of Shim′ron the family of the Shim′ron·ites. [25] These were the families of Is′sa·char, of their registered ones: sixty-four thousand three hundred.

[26] The sons of Zeb′u·lun by their families were: Of Se′red the family of the Ser′e·dites; of E′lon the family of the E′lon·ites; of Jah′le·el the family of the Jah′le·el·ites. [27] These were the families of the Ze·bu′lu·nites, of their registered ones: sixty thousand five hundred.

[28] The sons of Joseph by their families were Ma·nas′seh and E′phra·im. [29] The sons of Ma·nas′seh were: Of Ma′chir the family of the Ma′chir·ites. And Ma′chir became father to Gil′e·ad. Of Gil′e·ad the family of the Gil′e·ad·ites. [30] These were the sons of Gil′e·ad: Of Ie′zer the family of the Ie′zer·ites; of He′lek the family of the He′lek·ites; [31] of As′ri·el the family of the As′ri·el·ites; of She′chem the family of the She′chem·ites; [32] of She·mi′da the family of the She·mi′da·ites; of He′pher the family of the He′pher·ites. [33] Now Ze·lo′phe·had the son of He′pher proved to have no sons, but daughters, and the names of the daughters of Ze·lo′phe·had were Mah′lah and Noah, Hog′lah, Mil′cah and Tir′zah. [34] These were the families of Ma·nas′seh, and their registered ones were fifty-two thousand seven hundred.

[35] These were the sons of E′phra·im by their families: Of Shu′the·lah the family of the Shu′thel·a′hites; of Be′cher the family of the Be′cher·ites; of Ta′han the family of the Ta′han·ites. [36] And these were the sons of Shu′the·lah: Of E′ran the family of the E′ran·ites. [37] These were the families of the sons of E′phra·im, of their registered ones: thirty-two thousand five hundred. These were the sons of Joseph by their families.

[38] The sons of Benjamin by their families were: Of Be′la the family of the Be′la·ites; of Ash′bel the family of the Ash′bel·ites; of A·hi′ram the family of the A·hi′ram·ites; [39] of She·phu′pham the family of the Shu′pham·ites; of Hu′pham the family of the Hu′pham·ites. [40] The sons of Be′la came to be Ard and Na′a·man: Of Ard the family of the Ard′ites; of Na′a·man the family of the Na′a·mites. [41] These were the sons of Benjamin by their families, and their registered ones were forty-five thousand six hundred.

[42] These were the sons of Dan by their families: Of Shu′ham the family of the Shu′ham·ites. These were the families of Dan by their families. [43] All the families of the Shu′ham·ites, of their registered ones, were sixty-four thousand four hundred.

[44] The sons of Ash′er by their families were: Of Im′nah the family of the Im′nites; of Ish′vi the family of the Ish′vites; of Be·ri′ah the family of the Be·ri′ites; [45] of the sons of Be·ri′ah: Of He′ber the family of the He′ber·ites; of Mal′chi·el the family of the Mal′chi·el·ites. [46] And the name of Ash′er’s daughter was Se′rah. [47] These were the families of the sons of Ash′er, of their registered ones: fifty-three thousand four hundred.

[48] The sons of Naph′ta·li by their families were: Of Jah′ze·el the family of the Jah′ze·el·ites; of Gu′ni the family of the Gu′nites; [49] of Je′zer the family of the Je′zer·ites; of Shil′lem the family of the Shil′lem·ites. [50] These were the families of Naph′ta·li by their families, and their registered ones were forty-five thousand four hundred.

[51] These were the registered ones of the sons of Israel: six hundred and one thousand seven hundred and thirty.

[52] After that Jehovah spoke to Moses, saying: [53] “To these the land should be apportioned for an inheritance by the number of the names. [54] According to the great number you should increase one’s inheritance, and according to the fewness you should reduce one’s inheritance. Each one’s inheritance should be given in proportion to his registered ones. [55] Only by the lot should the land be apportioned. According to the names of the tribes of their fathers they should get an inheritance. [56] By the determination of the lot one’s inheritance should be apportioned between the many and the few.”

[57] Now these were the registered ones of the Levites by their families: Of Ger′shon the family of the Ger′shon·ites; of Koʹhath the family of the Koʹhath·ites; of Me·rarʹi the family of the Me·rarʹites. [58] These were the families of the Levites: the family of the Libʹnites, the family of the Heʹbron·ites, the family of the Mahʹlites, the family of the Muʹshites, the family of the Koʹrah·ites.

And Koʹhath became father to Amʹram. [59] And the name of Amʹram's wife was Jochʹe·bed, Leʹvi's daughter, whom his wife bore to Leʹvi in Egypt. In time she bore to Amʹram Aaron and Moses and Mirʹi·am their sister. [60] Then there were born to Aaron Naʹdab and A·biʹhu, El·e·aʹzar and Ithʹa·mar. [61] But Naʹdab and A·biʹhu died for their presenting illegitimate fire before Jehovah.

[62] And their registered ones amounted to twenty-three thousand, all males from a month old and upward. For they did not get registered in among the sons of Israel, because no inheritance was to be given to them in among the sons of Israel.

[63] These were the ones registered by Moses and El·e·aʹzar the priest when they registered the sons of Israel in the desert plains of Moʹab by the Jordan at Jerʹi·cho. [64] But among these there did not prove to be a man of those registered by Moses and Aaron the priest when they registered the sons of Israel in the wilderness of Siʹnai. [65] For Jehovah had said concerning them: "They will die without fail in the wilderness." So there was not left of them a man except Caʹleb the son of Je·phunʹneh and Joshua the son of Nun.

27 Then the daughters of Ze·loʹphe·had the son of Heʹpher the son of Gilʹe·ad the son of Maʹchir the son of Ma·nasʹseh, of the families of Ma·nasʹseh the son of Joseph, came near. And these were the names of his daughters: Mahʹlah, Noah and Hogʹlah and Milʹcah and Tirʹzah. [2] And they proceeded to stand before Moses and before El·e·aʹzar the priest and before the chieftains and all the assembly at the entrance of the tent of meeting, saying: [3] “Our father has died in the wilderness, and yet he did not prove to be in among the assembly, that is, those who ranged themselves against Jehovah in the assembly of Koʹrah, but for his own sin he has died; and he did not get to have any sons. [4] Why should the name of our father be taken away from the midst of his family because he had no son? O give us a possession in the midst of our father’s brothers.” [5] At that Moses presented their case before Jehovah.

[6] Jehovah then said this to Moses: [7] “The daughters of Ze·loʹphe·had are speaking right. By all means you should give them the possession of an inheritance in the midst of their father’s brothers, and you must cause their father’s inheritance to pass to them. [8] And to the sons of Israel you should speak, saying, ‘In case any man should die without his having a son, YOU must then cause his inheritance to pass to his daughter. [9] And if he has no daughter, YOU must then give his inheritance to his brothers. [10] And if he has no brothers, YOU must then give his inheritance to his father’s brothers. [11] And if his father has no brothers, YOU must then give his inheritance to his blood relation who is closest to him of his family, and he must take possession of it. And it must serve as a statute by judicial decision for the sons of Israel, just as Jehovah has commanded Moses.’”

[12] Subsequently Jehovah said to Moses: “Go up into this mountain of Ab′a·rim and see the land that I shall certainly give the sons of Israel. [13] When you have seen it, then you must be gathered to your people, yes, you, just as Aaron your brother was gathered, [14] inasmuch as YOU men rebelled against my order in the wilderness of Zin at the quarreling of the assembly, in relation to sanctifying me by the waters before their eyes. These are the waters of Mer′i·bah at Ka′desh in the wilderness of Zin.”

[15] Then Moses spoke to Jehovah, saying: [16] “Let Jehovah the God of the spirits of all sorts of flesh appoint over the assembly a man [17] who will go out before them and who will come in before them and who will bring them out and who will bring them in, that Jehovah’s assembly may not become like sheep that have no shepherd.” [18] So Jehovah said to Moses: “Take for yourself Joshua the son of Nun, a man in whom there is spirit, and you must lay your hand upon him; [19] and you must stand him before El·e·a′zar the priest and before all the assembly, and you must commission him before their eyes. [20] And you must put some of your dignity upon him, in order that all the assembly of the sons of Israel may listen to him. [21] And it is before El·e·a′zar the priest that he will stand, and he must inquire in his behalf by the judgment of the U′rim before Jehovah. At his order they will go out and at his order they will come in, he and all the sons of Israel with him and all the assembly.”

[22] And Moses proceeded to do just as Jehovah had commanded him. Accordingly he took Joshua and stood him before El·e·a′zar the priest and before all the assembly [23] and laid his hands upon him and commissioned him, just as Jehovah had spoken by means of Moses.

28 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Command the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘YOU should take care to present to me my offering, my bread, for my offerings made by fire as a restful odor to me, at their appointed times.’

[3] “And you must say to them, ‘This is the offering made by fire that YOU will present to Jehovah: two sound year-old male lambs a day as a burnt offering constantly. [4] The one male lamb you will render up in the morning, and the other male lamb you will render up between the two evenings, [5] together with the tenth of an e′phah of fine flour as a grain offering moistened with the fourth of a hin of beaten oil; [6] the constant burnt offering, which was rendered up at Mount Si′nai as a restful odor, an offering made by fire to Jehovah, [7] along with its drink offering, the fourth of a hin to each male lamb. Pour out in the holy place the drink offering of intoxicating liquor to Jehovah. [8] And you will render up the other male lamb between the two evenings. With the same grain offering as of the morning and with its same drink offering you will render it up as an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah.

[9] “‘However, on the sabbath day there will be two sound year-old male lambs and two tenth measures of fine flour as a grain offering moistened with oil, together with its drink offering, [10] as a sabbath burnt offering on its sabbath, along with the constant burnt offering and its drink offering.

[11] “‘And at the commencements of YOUR months YOU people will present as a burnt offering to Jehovah two young bulls and one ram, seven sound male lambs each a year old, [12] and three tenth measures of fine flour as a grain offering moistened with oil for each bull and two tenth measures of fine flour as a grain offering moistened with oil for the one ram, [13] and a tenth measure of fine flour respectively as a grain offering moistened with oil for each male lamb, as a burnt offering, a restful odor, an offering made by fire to Jehovah. [14] And as their drink offerings there should go half a hin of wine for a bull and a third of a hin for the ram and a fourth of a hin for a male lamb. This is the monthly burnt offering in its month for the months of the year. [15] Also, one kid of the goats should be rendered up as a sin offering to Jehovah in addition to the constant burnt offering together with its drink offering.

[16] “‘And in the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, will be Jehovah’s passover. [17] And on the fifteenth day of this month will be a festival. Seven days unfermented cakes will be eaten. [18] On the first day there will be a holy convention. No sort of laborious work must YOU do. [19] And YOU must present as an offering made by fire, a burnt offering to Jehovah, two young bulls and one ram and seven male lambs each a year old. They should prove to be sound ones for YOU. [20] And as their grain offerings of fine flour moistened with oil YOU will render up three tenth measures for a bull and two tenth measures for the ram. [21] You will render up a tenth measure respectively for each male lamb of the seven male lambs; [22] and one goat of sin offering to make atonement for YOU. [23] Aside from the morning burnt offering, which is for the constant burnt offering, YOU will render these up. [24] The same as these YOU will render up daily for the seven days as bread, an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah. Along with the constant burnt offering it should be rendered, and its drink offering. [25] And on the seventh day YOU should hold a holy convention. No sort of laborious work must YOU do.

[26] "'And on the day of the first ripe fruits, when YOU present a new grain offering to Jehovah, in YOUR feast of weeks YOU should hold a holy convention. No sort of laborious work must YOU do. [27] And YOU must present as a burnt offering for a restful odor to Jehovah two young bulls, one ram, seven male lambs each a year old; [28] and as their grain offering of fine flour moistened with oil three tenth measures for each bull, two tenth measures for the one ram, [29] a tenth measure respectively for each male lamb of the seven male lambs; [30] one kid of the goats to make atonement for YOU. [31] Aside from the constant burnt offering and its grain offering YOU will render them up. They should prove to be sound ones for YOU, together with their drink offerings.

29 “‘And in the seventh month, on the first of the month, YOU should hold a holy convention. No sort of laborious work must YOU do. It should prove to be a day of the trumpet blast for YOU. [2] And YOU must render up as a burnt offering for a restful odor to Jehovah one young bull, one ram, seven male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [3] and their grain offering of fine flour moistened with oil, three tenth measures for the bull, two tenth measures for the ram, [4] and one tenth measure for each male lamb of the seven male lambs; [5] and one male kid of the goats as a sin offering to make atonement for YOU; [6] aside from the monthly burnt offering and its grain offering and the constant burnt offering and its grain offering, together with their drink offerings, according to the regular procedure for them, as a restful odor, an offering made by fire to Jehovah.

[7] “‘And on the tenth of this seventh month YOU should hold a holy convention, and YOU must afflict YOUR souls. No sort of work must YOU do. [8] And YOU must present as a burnt offering to Jehovah, as a restful odor, one young bull, one ram, seven male lambs each a year old. They should prove to be sound ones for YOU. [9] And as their grain offering of fine flour moistened with oil three tenth measures for the bull, two tenth measures for the one ram, [10] a tenth measure respectively for each male lamb of the seven male lambs; [11] one kid of the goats as a sin offering, aside from the sin offering of atonement and the constant burnt offering and its grain offering, together with their drink offerings.

[12] “‘And on the fifteenth day of the seventh month YOU should hold a holy convention. No sort of laborious work must YOU do, and YOU must celebrate a festival to Jehovah seven days. [13] And YOU must present as a burnt offering, an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah, thirteen young bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old. They should prove to be sound ones. [14] And as their grain offering of fine flour moistened with oil three tenth measures for each bull of the thirteen bulls, two tenth measures for each ram of the two rams, [15] and a tenth measure for each male lamb of the fourteen male lambs; [16] and one kid of the goats as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering, its grain offering and its drink offering.

[17] “‘And on the second day twelve young bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [18] and their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, the rams and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure; [19] and one kid of the goats as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering and its grain offering, together with their drink offerings.

[20] “‘And on the third day eleven bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [21] and their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, the rams and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure; [22] and one goat as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering and its grain offering and its drink offering.

[23] “‘And on the fourth day ten bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [24] their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, the rams and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure; [25] and one kid of the goats as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering, its grain offering and its drink offering.

[26] “‘And on the fifth day nine bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [27] and their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, the rams and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure; [28] and one goat as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering and its grain offering and its drink offering.

[29] “‘And on the sixth day eight bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [30] and their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, the rams and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure; [31] and one goat as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering, its grain offering and its drink offerings.

[32] “‘And on the seventh day seven bulls, two rams, fourteen male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [33] and their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bulls, the rams and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure for them; [34] and one goat as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering, its grain offering and its drink offering.

[35] “‘And on the eighth day YOU should hold a solemn assembly. No sort of laborious work must YOU do. [36] And YOU must present as a burnt offering, an offering made by fire, of a restful odor to Jehovah, one bull, one ram, seven male lambs each a year old, sound ones; [37] and their grain offering and their drink offerings for the bull, the ram and the male lambs by their number according to the regular procedure; [38] and one goat as a sin offering, aside from the constant burnt offering and its grain offering and its drink offering.

[39] “‘These YOU will render up to Jehovah at YOUR seasonal festivals, besides YOUR vow offerings and YOUR voluntary offerings as YOUR burnt offerings and YOUR grain offerings and YOUR drink offerings and YOUR communion sacrifices.’”

40 And Moses proceeded to talk to the sons of Israel according to everything that Jehovah had commanded Moses.

30 Then Moses spoke to the heads of the tribes of the sons of Israel, saying: “This is the word that Jehovah has commanded: [2] In case a man makes a vow to Jehovah or swears an oath to bind a vow of abstinence upon his soul, he must not violate his word. According to all that has gone out of his mouth he should do.

[3] “And in case a woman makes a vow to Jehovah or she does bind herself with a vow of abstinence in the house of her father in her youth, [4] and her father actually hears her vow or her abstinence vow that she has bound upon her soul and her father does keep silent toward her, all her vows must also stand, and every abstinence vow that she has bound upon her soul will stand. [5] But if her father has forbidden her on the day of his hearing all her vows or her abstinence vows that she has bound upon her soul, it will not stand, but Jehovah will forgive her, because her father forbade her.

[6] “However, if she at all happens to belong to a husband, and her vow is upon her or the thoughtless promise of her lips that she has bound upon her soul, [7] and her husband actually hears it and keeps silent toward her on the day of his hearing it, her vows must also stand or her abstinence vows that she has bound upon her soul will stand. [8] But if her husband on the day of hearing it forbids her, he has also annulled her vow that was upon her or the thoughtless promise of her lips that she bound upon her soul, and Jehovah will forgive her.

[10] “However, if it is in the house of her husband that she has vowed or has bound an abstinence vow upon her soul by an oath, [11] and her husband has heard it and has kept silent toward her, he has not forbidden her; and all her vows must stand or any abstinence vow that she has bound upon her soul will stand. [12] But if her husband has totally annulled them on the day of his hearing any expression of her lips as her vows or as an abstinence vow of her soul, they will not stand. Her husband has annulled them, and Jehovah will forgive her. [13] Any vow or any oath of an abstinence vow to afflict the soul, her husband should establish it or her husband should annul it. [14] But if her husband absolutely keeps silent toward her from day to day, he has also established all her vows or all her abstinence vows that are upon her. He has established them because he kept silent toward her on the day of his hearing them. [15] And if he totally annuls them after his hearing them, he also actually bears her error.

31 Jehovah then spoke to Moses, saying: [2] “Take vengeance for the sons of Israel upon the Mid′i·an·ites. Afterward you will be gathered to your people.”

[3] So Moses spoke to the people, saying: “Equip men from among YOU for the army, that they may serve against Mid′i·an to execute Jehovah’s vengeance upon Mid′i·an. [4] A thousand of each tribe of all the tribes of Israel YOU will send into the army.” [5] Accordingly from the thousands of Israel a thousand were assigned of a tribe, twelve thousand equipped for the army.

[6] Then Moses sent them out, a thousand of each tribe, to the army, them and Phin′e·has the son of El·e·a′zar the priest to the army, and the holy utensils and the trumpets for blowing calls were in his hand. [7] And they went waging war against Mid′i·an, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses, and they proceeded to kill every male. [8] And they killed the kings of Mid′i·an along with the others slain, namely, E′vi and Re′kem and Zur and Hur and Re′ba, the five kings of Mid′i·an; and they killed Ba′laam the son of Be′or with the sword. [9] But the sons of Israel carried off the women of Mid′i·an and their little ones captive; and all their domestic animals and all their livestock and all their means of maintenance they plundered. [10] And all their cities in which they had settled and all their walled camps they burned with fire. [11] And they went taking all the spoil and all the booty in the way of humans and domestic animals. [12] And they came bringing to Moses and El·e·a′zar the priest and to the assembly of the sons of Israel the captives and the booty and the spoil, to the camp, to the desert plains of Mo′ab, which are by the Jordan at Jer′i·cho.

[13] Then Moses and El·e·aʹzar the priest and all the chieftains of the assembly went out to meet them outside the camp. [14] And Moses grew indignant at the appointed men of the combat forces, the chiefs of the thousands and the chiefs of the hundreds who were coming in from the military expedition. [15] So Moses said to them: “Have YOU preserved alive every female? [16] Look! They are the ones who, by Baʹlaam’s word, served to induce the sons of Israel to commit unfaithfulness toward Jehovah over the affair of Peʹor, so that the scourge came upon the assembly of Jehovah. [17] And now kill every male among the little ones, and kill every woman who has had intercourse with man by lying with a male. [18] And preserve alive for yourselves all the little ones among the women who have not known the act of lying with a male. [19] As for YOU yourselves, camp outside the camp seven days. Everyone who has killed a soul and everyone who has touched someone slain, YOU should purify yourselves on the third day and on the seventh day, YOU and YOUR captives. [20] And every garment and every article of skin and everything made of goat’s hair and every article of wood YOU should purify for yourselves from sin.”

[21] El·e·aʹzar the priest then said to the men of the army who had gone into the battle: “This is the statute of the law that Jehovah commanded Moses, [22] ‘Only the gold and the silver, the copper, the iron, the tin and the lead, [23] everything that is processed with fire, YOU should pass through the fire, and it must be clean. Only it should be purified by the water for cleansing. And everything that is not processed with fire YOU should pass through the water. [24] And YOU must wash YOUR garments on the seventh day and be clean, and afterward YOU may come into the camp.’”

[25] And Jehovah proceeded to say this to Moses: [26] “Take the sum of the booty, the captives both of humankind and of domestic animals, you and El·e·aʹzar the priest and the heads of the fathers of the assembly. [27] And you must divide the booty in two between those taking part in the battle who went out on the expedition and all the rest of the assembly. [28] And as a tax for Jehovah you must take away from the men of war who went out on the expedition one soul out of five hundred, of humankind and of the herd and of the asses and of the flock. [29] From their half YOU should take it and you must give it to El·e·aʹzar the priest as Jehovah’s contribution. [30] And from the half of the sons of Israel you should take one out of fifty, of humankind, of the herd, of the asses and of the flock, of every sort of domestic animal, and you must give them to the Levites, the keepers of the obligation of Jehovah’s tabernacle.”

[31] And Moses and El·e·aʹzar the priest went doing just as Jehovah had commanded Moses. [32] And the booty, the rest of the plunder that the people of the expedition had taken as plunder, amounted to six hundred and seventy-five thousand of the flock, [33] and seventy-two thousand of the herd, [34] and sixty-one thousand asses. [35] As for human souls from the women who had not known the act of lying with a male, all the souls were thirty-two thousand. [36] And the half that was the share of those who went out on the expedition amounted in number to three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred of the flock. [37] And the tax for Jehovah from the flock amounted to six hundred and seventy-five. [38] And of the herd there were thirty-six thousand, and the tax on them for Jehovah was seventy-two. [39] And the asses were thirty thousand five hundred, and the tax on them for Jehovah was sixty-one. [40] And the human souls were sixteen thousand, and the tax on them for Jehovah was thirty-two souls. [41] Then Moses gave the tax as Jehovah’s contribution to El·e·aʹzar the priest, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[42] And from the half belonging to the sons of Israel, which Moses divided from that belonging to the men who waged war: [43] Now the half of the assembly from the flock amounted to three hundred and thirty-seven thousand five hundred, [44] and of the herd, thirty-six thousand, [45] and the asses, thirty thousand five hundred, [46] and human souls, sixteen thousand. [47] Then Moses took from the half belonging to the sons of Israel the one to be taken out of fifty, of humankind and of domestic animals, and gave them to the Levites, the keepers of the obligation of Jehovah’s tabernacle, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[48] And the appointed men who were of the thousands of the army, the chiefs of the thousands and the chiefs of the hundreds, proceeded to approach Moses, [49] and to say to Moses: “Your servants have taken the sum of the men of war who are in our charge and not one has been reported missing from us. [50] So let us present each one what he has found as Jehovah’s offering, articles of gold, ankle chainlets, and bracelets, signet rings, earrings, and female ornaments, in order to make atonement for our souls before Jehovah.”

32 Now the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad had come to have numerous livestock, very many, in fact. And they began to see the land of Ja′zer and the land of Gil′e·ad, and, look! the place was a place for livestock. [2] Hence the sons of Gad and the sons of Reu′ben came and said this to Moses and El·e·a′zar the priest and to the chieftains of the assembly: [3] “At′a·roth and Di′bon and Ja′zer and Nim′rah and Hesh′bon and E·le·a′leh and Se′bam and Ne′bo and Be′on, [4] the land that Jehovah defeated before the assembly of Israel, is a land for livestock, and your servants have livestock.” [5] And they went on to say: “If we have found favor in your eyes, let this land be given to your servants as a possession. Do not make us cross the Jordan.”

[6] Then Moses said to the sons of Gad and the sons of Reu′ben: “Are YOUR brothers to go to war while YOU yourselves keep dwelling here? [7] And why should YOU dishearten the sons of Israel from crossing into the land that Jehovah will certainly give them? [8] That is the way YOUR fathers did when I sent them from Ka′desh-bar′ne·a to see the land. [9] When they went up to the torrent valley of Esh′col and saw the land, then they disheartened the sons of Israel, so as not to go into the land that Jehovah was certain to give them. [10] Consequently Jehovah’s anger blazed on that day so that he swore, saying, [11] ‘The men who came up out of Egypt from twenty years old upward will not see the soil of which I have sworn to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, because they have not followed me wholly, [12] except Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh the Ken′iz·zite and Joshua the son of Nun, because they have followed Jehovah wholly.’ [13] So Jehovah’s anger blazed against Israel and he made them wander about in the wilderness forty years, until all the generation that was doing evil in the eyes of Jehovah came to their end. [14] And here YOU have risen in the place of YOUR fathers as the brood of sinful men in order to add further to the burning anger of Jehovah against Israel. [15] In case YOU should turn back from following him, he also would certainly once again let them stay longer in the wilderness, and YOU would have acted ruinously toward all this people."

[16] Later they approached him and said: "Let us build here stone flock pens for our livestock and cities for our little ones. [17] But we ourselves shall go equipped in battle formation before the sons of Israel until whenever we have brought them to their place, while our little ones must dwell in the cities with fortifications away from the face of the inhabitants of the land. [18] We shall not return to our houses until the sons of Israel have provided themselves with landed property, each with his own inheritance. [19] For we shall not get an inheritance with them from the side of the Jordan and beyond, because our inheritance has come to us from the side of the Jordan toward the sunrising."

[20] At this Moses said to them: "If YOU will do this thing, if YOU will equip yourselves before Jehovah for the war, [21] and every equipped one of YOURS will actually pass over the Jordan before Jehovah, until he drives away his enemies from before him, [22] and the land is actually subdued before Jehovah, and afterward YOU return, YOU also will indeed prove yourselves free from guilt against Jehovah and against Israel; and this land must become YOURS as a possession before Jehovah. [23] But if YOU will not do this way, YOU will also certainly sin against Jehovah. In that case know that YOUR sin will catch up with YOU. [24] Build for yourselves cities for YOUR little ones and stone pens for YOUR flocks, and what has gone forth from YOUR mouth YOU should do."

25 Then the sons of Gad and the sons of Reu′ben said this to Moses: “Your servants will do just as my lord is commanding. 26 Our little ones, our wives, our livestock and all our domestic animals will stay there in the cities of Gil′e·ad, 27 but your servants will pass over, everyone equipped for the army, before Jehovah for the war, just as my lord is speaking.”

28 Accordingly Moses gave a command respecting them to El·e·a′zar the priest and to Joshua the son of Nun and to the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel. 29 So Moses said to them: “If the sons of Gad and the sons of Reu′ben pass with YOU over the Jordan, everyone equipped for the war, before Jehovah, and the land is actually subdued before YOU, YOU must then give them the land of Gil′e·ad as a possession. 30 But if they do not pass over equipped with YOU, they must then be settled in YOUR midst in the land of Ca′naan.”

31 To this the sons of Gad and the sons of Reu′ben answered, saying: “What Jehovah has spoken to your servants is the way we shall do. 32 We ourselves will pass over equipped before Jehovah to the land of Ca′naan, and the possession of our inheritance will be with us on this side of the Jordan.” 33 At this Moses gave to them, that is, to the sons of Gad and to the sons of Reu′ben and to half the tribe of Ma·nas′seh the son of Joseph, the kingdom of Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites and the kingdom of Og the king of Ba′shan, the land belonging to its cities in the territories, and the cities of the land round about.

34 And the sons of Gad proceeded to build Di′bon and At′a·roth and A·ro′er, 35 and At′roth-sho′phan and Ja′zer and Jog′be·hah, 36 and Beth-nim′rah and Beth-ha′ran, cities with fortifications, and stone flock pens. 37 And the sons of Reu′ben built Hesh′bon and E·le·a′leh and Kir·i·a·tha′im, [38] and Ne′bo and Ba′al-me′on—their names being changed—and Sib′mah; and they began to call by their own names the names of the cities that they built.

[39] And the sons of Ma′chir the son of Ma·nas′seh proceeded to march to Gil′e·ad and to capture it and to drive away the Am′or·ites who were in it. [40] So Moses gave Gil′e·ad to Ma′chir the son of Ma·nas′seh, and he took up dwelling in it. [41] And Ja′ir the son of Ma·nas′seh marched and went capturing their tent villages, and he began to call them Hav′voth-ja′ir. [42] And No′bah marched and went capturing Ke′nath and its dependent towns; and he began to call it No′bah by his own name.

33 These were the stages of the sons of Israel who went out of the land of Egypt in their armies by the hand of Moses and Aaron. [2] And Moses kept recording the departure places by their stages at the order of Jehovah; and these were their stages from one departure place to another: [3] And they proceeded to pull away from Ram′e·ses in the first month, on the fifteenth day of the first month. Directly the day after the passover the sons of Israel went out with uplifted hand before the eyes of all the Egyptians. [4] All the while the Egyptians were burying those whom Jehovah had struck among them, that is, all the firstborn; and upon their gods
Jehovah had executed judgments.

[5] So the sons of Israel pulled away from Ram′e·ses and went camping in Suc′coth. [6] Then they pulled away from Suc′coth and went camping in E′tham, which is on the edge of the wilderness. [7] Next they pulled away from E′tham and turned back toward Pi·ha·hi′roth, which is in view of Ba′al-ze′phon; and they went camping before Mig′dol. [8] After that they pulled away from Pi·ha·hi′roth and went passing through the midst of the sea to the wilderness and kept marching a three-day journey in the wilderness of E′tham and took up camping at Ma′rah.

[9] Then they pulled away from Ma′rah and came to E′lim. Now in E′lim there were twelve springs of water and seventy palm trees. So they camped there. [10] Next they pulled away from E′lim and went camping by the Red Sea. [11] After that they pulled away from the Red Sea and took up camping in the wilderness of Sin. [12] Then they pulled away from the wilderness of Sin and went camping at Doph′kah. [13] Later they pulled away from Doph′kah and went camping at A′lush. [14] They next pulled away from A′lush and went camping in Reph′i·dim. And there proved to be no water there for the people to drink. [15] After that they pulled away from Reph′i·dim and went camping in the wilderness of Si′nai.

[16] Subsequently they pulled away from the wilderness of Si′nai and went camping at Kib′roth-hat·ta′a·vah. [17] Then they pulled away from Kib′roth-hat·ta′a·vah and went camping in Ha·ze′roth. [18] After that they pulled away from Ha·ze′roth and went camping in Rith′mah. [19] Next they pulled away from Rith′mah and took up camping in Rim′mon-pe′rez. [20] Then they pulled away from Rim′mon-pe′rez and went camping in Lib′nah. [21] Later they pulled away from Lib′nah and went camping in Ris′sah. [22] Next they pulled away from Ris′sah and went camping in Ke·he·la′thah. [23] Then they pulled away from Ke·he·la′thah and went camping in Mount She′pher.

[24] After that they pulled away from Mount She′pher and went camping in Har·a′dah. [25] Then they pulled away from Har·a′dah and went camping in Mak·he′loth. [26] Next they pulled away from Mak·he′loth and went camping in Ta′hath. [27] After that they pulled away from Ta′hath and went camping in Te′rah. [28] Then they pulled away from Te′rah and went camping in Mith′kah. [29] Later they pulled away from Mith′kah and went camping in Hash·mo′nah. [30] Next they pulled away from Hash·mo′nah and went camping in Mo·se′roth. [31] Then they pulled away from Mo·se′roth and went camping in Ben′e-ja′a·kan. [32] After that they pulled away from Ben′e-ja′a·kan and went camping in Hor-hag·gid′gad. [33] Next they pulled away from Hor-hag·gid′gad and went camping in Jot′ba·thah. [34] Later they pulled away from Jot′ba·thah and went camping in A·bro′nah. [35] Then they pulled away from A·bro′nah and went camping in

E′zi·on-ge′ber. [36] After that they pulled away from E′zi·on-ge′ber and went camping in the wilderness of Zin, that is to say, Ka′desh.

[37] Later they pulled away from Ka′desh and went camping in Mount Hor, on the frontier of the land of E′dom. [38] And Aaron the priest proceeded to go up into Mount Hor at the order of Jehovah and to die there in the fortieth year of the going out of the sons of Israel from the land of Egypt, in the fifth month, on the first of the month. [39] And Aaron was a hundred and twenty-three years old at his death on Mount Hor.

[40] Now the Ca′naan·ite, the king of A′rad, as he was dwelling in the Neg′eb, in the land of Ca′naan, got to hear about the coming of the sons of Israel.

[41] In time they pulled away from Mount Hor and went camping in Zal·mo′nah. [42] After that they pulled away from Zal·mo′nah and went camping in Pu′non. [43] Next they pulled away from Pu′non and went camping in O′both. [44] Then they pulled away from O′both and went camping in I′ye-ab′a·rim on the border of Mo′ab. [45] Later they pulled away from I′yim and went camping in Di′bon-gad. [46] After that they pulled away from Di′bon-gad and went camping in Al′mon-dib·la·tha′im. [47] Then they pulled away from Al′mon-dib·la·tha′im and went camping in the mountains of Ab′a·rim before Ne′bo. [48] Finally they pulled away from the mountains of Ab′a·rim and took up camping on the desert plains of Mo′ab by the Jordan at Jer′i·cho. [49] And they continued camping by the Jordan from Beth-jesh′i·moth to A′bel-shit′tim on the desert plains of Mo′ab.

[50] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses on the desert plains of Mo′ab by the Jordan at Jer′i·cho, saying: [51] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘YOU are crossing the Jordan into the land of Caʹnaan. [52] And YOU must drive away all the inhabitants of the land from before YOU and destroy all their stone figures, and all their images of molten metal YOU should destroy, and all their sacred high places YOU should annihilate. [53] And YOU must take possession of the land and dwell in it, because to YOU I shall certainly give the land to take possession of it. [54] And YOU must apportion the land to yourselves as a possession by lot according to YOUR families. To the populous one YOU should increase his inheritance, and to the sparse one YOU should reduce his inheritance. To where the lot will come out for him, there it will become his. By the tribes of YOUR fathers YOU should provide yourselves with landed property.

[55] "'If, though, YOU will not drive the inhabitants of the land away from before YOU, then those whom YOU leave of them will certainly become as pricks in YOUR eyes and as thorns in YOUR sides, and they will indeed harass YOU on the land in which YOU will be dwelling. [56] And it must occur that just as I had figured doing to them I shall do to YOU.'"

34 And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [2] “Command the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘YOU are going into the land of Ca′naan. This is the land that will fall to YOU by inheritance, the land of Ca′naan according to its boundaries.

[3] “‘And YOUR south side must prove to be from the wilderness of Zin alongside E′dom, and YOUR south boundary must prove to be from the extremity of the Salt Sea on the east. [4] And YOUR boundary must change direction from the south of the ascent of A·krab′bim and cross over to Zin, and its termination must prove to be on the south of Ka′desh-bar′ne·a; and it must go out to Ha′zar-ad′dar and pass over to Az′mon. [5] And the boundary must change direction at Az′mon to the torrent valley of Egypt, and its termination must prove to be at the Sea.

[6] “‘As for a west boundary, it must prove to be for YOU the Great Sea and the shoreland. This will become YOUR west boundary.

[7] “‘Now this will become YOUR north boundary: From the Great Sea YOU will mark out to Mount Hor as a boundary for yourselves. [8] From Mount Hor YOU will mark out the boundary to the entering in of Ha′math, and the termination of the boundary must prove to be at Ze′dad. [9] And the boundary must go out to Ziph′ron, and its termination must prove to be Ha′zar-e′nan. This will become YOUR north boundary.

[10] “‘Then YOU must mark for yourselves as YOUR boundary on the east from Ha′zar-e′nan to She′pham. [11] And the boundary must go down from She′pham to Rib′lah on the east of A′in, and the border must go down and strike upon the eastern slope of the sea of Chin′ne·reth. [12] And the border must go down to the Jordan, and its termination must prove to be the Salt Sea. This will become YOUR land according to its boundaries all around.’”

[13] So Moses commanded the sons of Israel, saying: “This is the land that YOU will apportion to yourselves as a possession by lot, just as Jehovah has commanded to give to the nine and a half tribes. [14] For the tribe of the sons of the Reu′ben·ites by the house of their fathers and the tribe of the sons of the Gad′ites by the house of their fathers have already taken, and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh have already taken their inheritance. [15] The two and a half tribes have already taken their inheritance from the region of the Jordan by Jer′i·cho eastward toward the sunrising.”

[16] And Jehovah spoke further to Moses, saying: [17] “These are the names of the men who will divide the land to YOU people for a possession, El·e·a′zar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun. [18] And YOU will take one chieftain out of each tribe to divide the land for a possession. [19] And these are the names of the men: Of the tribe of Judah, Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh; [20] and of the tribe of the sons of Sim′e·on, She·mu′el the son of Am·mi′hud; [21] of the tribe of Benjamin, E·li′dad the son of Chis′lon; [22] and of the tribe of the sons of Dan a chieftain, Buk′ki the son of Jog′li; [23] of the sons of Joseph, of the tribe of the sons of Ma·nas′seh a chieftain, Han′ni·el the son of E′phod; [24] and of the tribe of the sons of E′phra·im a chieftain, Kem·u′el the son of Shiph′tan; [25] and of the tribe of the sons of Zeb′u·lun a chieftain, E·li·za′phan the son of Par′nach; [26] and of the tribe of the sons of Is′sa·char a chieftain, Pal′ti·el the son of Az′zan; [27] and of the tribe of the sons of Ash′er a chieftain, A·hi′hud the son of She·lo′mi; [28] and of the tribe of the sons of Naph′ta·li a chieftain, Ped·ah′el the son of Am·mi′hud.” [29] These are the ones whom Jehovah commanded to make the sons of Israel landholders in the land of Caʹnaan.

35 And Jehovah went on to speak to Moses on the desert plains of Moʹab by the Jordan at Jerʹi·cho, saying: [2] “Give the sons of Israel the command that they must give the Levites cities to inhabit out of the inheritance of their possession, and they should give the Levites the pasture ground of the cities all around them. [3] And the cities must serve for them to inhabit, while their pasture grounds will serve for their domestic animals and their goods and for all their wild beasts. [4] And the pasture grounds of the cities, which YOU will give the Levites, will be from the wall of the city and out for a thousand cubits all around. [5] And YOU must measure outside the city on the east side two thousand cubits and on the south side two thousand cubits and on the west side two thousand cubits and on the north side two thousand cubits, with the city in the middle. This will serve them as pasture grounds of the cities.

[6] “These are the cities that YOU will give to the Levites: six cities of refuge, which YOU will give for the manslayer to flee there, and besides them YOU will give forty-two other cities. [7] All the cities that YOU will give to the Levites will be forty-eight cities, they together with their pasture grounds. [8] The cities that YOU will give will be from the possession of the sons of Israel. From the many YOU will take many, and from the few YOU will take few. Each one, in proportion to his inheritance that he will take as a possession, will give some of his cities to the Levites.”

[9] And Jehovah continued to speak to Moses, saying: [10] “Speak to the sons of Israel, and you must say to them, ‘YOU are crossing the Jordan to the land of Caʹnaan. [11] And YOU must choose cities convenient for yourselves. As cities of refuge they will serve for YOU, and the manslayer must flee

there who fatally strikes a soul unintentionally. [12] And the cities must serve YOU as a refuge from the blood avenger, that the manslayer may not die until he stands before the assembly for judgment. [13] And the cities that YOU will give, the six cities of refuge, will be at YOUR service. [14] Three cities YOU will give on this side of the Jordan, and three cities YOU will give in the land of Ca′naan. As cities of refuge they will serve. [15] For the sons of Israel and for the alien resident and for the settler in the midst of them these six cities will serve as a refuge, for anyone to flee there that fatally strikes a soul unintentionally.

[16] “‘Now if it was with an instrument of iron that he has struck him so that he dies, he is a murderer. Without fail the murderer should be put to death. [17] And if it was with a small stone by which he could die that he has struck him so that he dies, he is a murderer. Without fail the murderer should be put to death. [18] And if it was with a small instrument of wood by which he could die that he has struck him so that he dies, he is a murderer. Without fail the murderer should be put to death.

[19] “‘The avenger of blood is the one who will put the murderer to death. When he chances upon him he himself will put him to death. [20] And if in hatred he was pushing him or he has thrown at him while lying in wait that he might die, [21] or in enmity he has struck him with his hand that he might die, without fail the striker should be put to death. He is a murderer. The avenger of blood will put the murderer to death when he chances upon him.

[22] “‘But if it was unexpectedly without enmity that he has pushed him or has thrown any article toward him without lying in wait, [23] or any stone by which he could die without seeing him or he should cause it to fall upon him, so that he died, while he was not at enmity with him and was not seeking his injury, [24] the assembly must then judge between the striker and the avenger of blood according to these judgments. [25] And the assembly must deliver the manslayer out of the hand of the avenger of blood, and the assembly must return him to his city of refuge to which he had fled, and he must dwell in it until the death of the high priest who was anointed with the holy oil.

[26] "'But if the manslayer without fail goes out of the boundary of his city of refuge to which he may flee, [27] and the avenger of blood does find him outside the boundary of his city of refuge, and the avenger of blood does slay the manslayer, he has no bloodguilt. [28] For he ought to dwell in his city of refuge until the high priest's death, and after the high priest's death the manslayer may return to the land of his possession. [29] And these must serve as a statute of judgment for YOU throughout YOUR generations in all YOUR dwelling places.

[30] "'Every fatal striker of a soul should be slain as a murderer at the mouth of witnesses, and one witness may not testify against a soul for him to die. [31] And YOU must take no ransom for the soul of a murderer who is deserving to die, for without fail he should be put to death. [32] And YOU must not take a ransom for one who has fled to his city of refuge, to resume dwelling in the land before the death of the high priest.

[33] "'And YOU must not pollute the land in which YOU are; because it is blood that pollutes the land, and for the land there may be no atonement respecting the blood that has been spilled upon it except by the blood of the one spilling it. [34] And you must not defile the land in which YOU are dwelling, in the midst of which I am residing; for I Jehovah am residing in the midst of the sons of Israel.'"

36 And the heads of the fathers of the family of the sons of Gil′e·ad the son of Ma′chir the son of Ma·nas′seh of the families of the sons of Joseph proceeded to come near and speak before Moses and the chieftains, the heads of the fathers of the sons of Israel, [2] and say: “Jehovah commanded my lord to give the land in inheritance by lot to the sons of Israel; and my lord was commanded by Jehovah to give the inheritance of Ze·lo′phe·had our brother to his daughters. [3] If any of the sons of the other tribes of the sons of Israel happened to get them as wives, the women’s inheritance must also be withdrawn from the inheritance of our fathers and must be added to the inheritance of the tribe to which they may come to belong, so that it would be withdrawn from the lot of our inheritance. [4] Now if the Jubilee takes place for the sons of Israel, the women’s inheritance must also be added to the inheritance of the tribe to which they may come to belong; so that their inheritance would be withdrawn from the inheritance of the tribe of our fathers.”

[5] Then Moses commanded the sons of Israel at the order of Jehovah, saying: “The tribe of the sons of Joseph is speaking right. [6] This is the word that Jehovah has commanded for the daughters of Ze·lo′phe·had, saying, ‘To whom it is good in their eyes they may become wives. Only it is to the family of the tribe of their fathers that they should become wives. [7] And no inheritance of the sons of Israel should circulate from tribe to tribe, because the sons of Israel should cleave each one to the inheritance of the tribe of his forefathers. [8] And every daughter getting possession of an inheritance out of the tribes of the sons of Israel, to one of the family of the tribe of her father she should become a wife, in order that the sons of Israel may get possession each one of the inheritance of his forefathers. [9] And no inheritance should circulate from one tribe to another tribe, because the tribes of the sons of Israel should cleave each to its own inheritance.’”

10 Just as Jehovah had commanded Moses, that is the way the daughters of Ze·loʹphe·had did. 11 Accordingly Mahʹlah, Tirʹzah and Hogʹlah and Milʹcah and Noah, the daughters of Ze·loʹphe·had, became the wives of the sons of their father’s brothers. 12 To some of the families of the sons of Ma·nasʹseh the son of Joseph they became wives, that their inheritance might continue together with the tribe of the family of their father.

13 These are the commandments and the judicial decisions that Jehovah commanded by means of Moses to the sons of Israel on the desert plains of Moʹab by the Jordan at Jerʹi·cho.

DEUTERONOMY

1 These are the words that Moses spoke to all Israel in the region of the Jordan in the wilderness, on the desert plains in front of Suph, between Pa′ran and To′phel and La′ban and Ha·ze′roth and Di′za·hab, [2] it being eleven days from Ho′reb by the way of Mount Se′ir to Ka′desh-bar′ne·a. [3] And it came about that in the fortieth year, in the eleventh month, on the first of the month, Moses spoke to the sons of Israel according to all that Jehovah had commanded him for them, [4] after his defeating Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, who was dwelling in Hesh′bon, and Og the king of Ba′shan, who was dwelling in Ash′ta·roth, in Ed′re·i. [5] In the region of the Jordan in the land of Mo′ab Moses undertook to explain this law, saying:

[6] “Jehovah our God spoke to us in Ho′reb, saying, ‘YOU have dwelt long enough in this mountainous region. [7] Turn and set out on YOUR way and go into the mountainous region of the Am′or·ites and to all their neighbors in the Ar′a·bah, the mountainous region and the She·phe′lah and the Neg′eb and the seacoast, the land of the Ca′naan·ites, and Leb′a·non, up to the great river, the river Eu·phra′tes. [8] See, I do put the land before YOU people. Go in and take possession of the land about which Jehovah swore to YOUR fathers, to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, to give it to them and their seed after them.’

[9] “And I proceeded to say this to YOU at that particular time, ‘I am not able by myself to carry YOU. [10] Jehovah YOUR God has multiplied YOU, and here YOU are today like the stars of the heavens for multitude. [11] May Jehovah the God of YOUR forefathers increase YOU a thousand times as many as YOU are, and may he bless YOU just as he has promised YOU. [12]

How can I carry by myself the burden of YOU and the load of YOU and YOUR quarreling? [13] Get wise and discreet and experienced men of YOUR tribes, that I may set them as heads over YOU.’ [14] At that YOU answered me and said, ‘The thing you have spoken for us to do is good.’ [15] So I took the heads of YOUR tribes, men wise and experienced, and put them as heads over YOU, chiefs of thousands and chiefs of hundreds and chiefs of fifties and chiefs of tens and officers of YOUR tribes.

[16] “And I went on to command YOUR judges at that particular time, saying, ‘When having a hearing between YOUR brothers, YOU must judge with righteousness between a man and his brother or his alien resident. [17] YOU must not be partial in judgment. YOU should hear the little one the same as the great one. YOU must not become frightened because of a man, for the judgment belongs to God; and the case that is too hard for YOU, YOU should present to me, and I must hear it.’ [18] And I proceeded to command YOU at that particular time all the things that YOU should do.

[19] “Then we pulled away from Ho′reb and went marching through all that great and fear-inspiring wilderness, which YOU have seen, by the way of the mountainous region of the Am′or·ites, just as Jehovah our God had commanded us; and we eventually came to Ka′desh-bar′ne·a. [20] I now said to YOU, ‘YOU have come to the mountainous region of the Am′or·ites, which Jehovah our God is giving to us. [21] See, Jehovah your God has abandoned the land to you. Go up, take possession, just as Jehovah the God of your forefathers has spoken to you. Do not be afraid, nor be terrified.’

[22] “However, all of YOU came near to me and said, ‘Do let us send men ahead of us that they may search out the land for us and bring us back word concerning the way by which we should go up and the cities to which we will come.’ [23] Well, the thing proved to be good in my eyes, so that I took twelve men of YOURS, one for each tribe. [24] Then they turned and went up into the mountainous region and got as far as the torrent valley of Esh′col and went spying on it. [25] And they proceeded to take some of the fruitage of the land in their hand and to bring it down to us, and they came bringing us back word and saying, ‘The land that Jehovah our God is giving us is good.’ [26] But YOU did not wish to go up, and YOU began to behave rebelliously against the order of Jehovah YOUR God. [27] And YOU kept grumbling in YOUR tents and saying, ‘It was because Jehovah hated us that he brought us out of the land of Egypt to give us into the hand of the Am′or·ites, to annihilate us. [28] Where are we going up? Our brothers have caused our heart to melt, saying: “A people greater and taller than we are, cities great and fortified to the heavens and also the sons of the An′a·kim we saw there.”’

[29] “So I said to YOU, ‘YOU must not suffer a shock or be afraid because of them. [30] Jehovah YOUR God is the one going before YOU. He will fight for YOU according to all that he did with YOU in Egypt under YOUR own eyes, [31] and in the wilderness, where you saw how Jehovah your God carried you just as a man carries his son, in all the way that YOU walked until YOUR coming to this place.’ [32] But despite this word YOU were not putting faith in Jehovah YOUR God, [33] who was going before YOU in the way to spy out for YOU a place for YOU to camp, by fire at night for YOU to see by what way YOU should walk and by a cloud in daytime.

[34] “All the while Jehovah heard the voice of YOUR words. So he became indignant and swore, saying, [35] ‘Not one among these men of this evil generation will see the good land that I swore to give to YOUR fathers, [36] except Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh. He will see it, and to him and to his sons I shall give the land upon which he trod, by reason of the fact that he has followed Jehovah fully. 37 (Even against me Jehovah got incensed on YOUR account, saying, ‘You too will not go in there. 38 Joshua the son of Nun, who is standing before you, is the one who will go in there.’ Him he has made strong, because he will cause Israel to inherit it.) 39 As for YOUR little ones of whom YOU said: “Plunder they will become!” and YOUR sons who today do not know good or bad, these will go in there, and to them I shall give it, and they will take possession of it. 40 As for YOU yourselves, change YOUR direction and pull away for the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea.’

41 “At this YOU answered and said to me, ‘We have sinned against Jehovah. We—we shall go up and fight in accord with all that Jehovah our God has commanded us!’ So YOU girded on, each one, his weapons of war and regarded it as easy to go up into the mountain. 42 But Jehovah said to me, ‘Say to them: “YOU must not go up and fight, because I am not in YOUR midst; that YOU may not be defeated before YOUR enemies.”’ 43 So I spoke to YOU, and YOU did not listen but began to behave rebelliously against Jehovah’s order and to get all heated up, and YOU tried to go up into the mountain. 44 Then the Am′or·ites who were dwelling in that mountain came out to meet YOU and went chasing YOU, just as bees do, and scattering YOU in Se′ir as far as Hor′mah. 45 After that YOU returned and began to weep before Jehovah, but Jehovah did not listen to YOUR voice, neither did he give ear to YOU. 46 So YOU kept dwelling in Ka′desh many days, as many days as YOU did dwell there.

2 “Then we turned and pulled away for the wilderness by the way of the Red Sea, just as Jehovah had spoken to me; and we were many days in going around Mount Se′ir. [2] Finally Jehovah said this to me, [3] ‘YOU have gone around this mountain long enough. Change YOUR direction to the north. [4] And command the people, saying: “YOU are passing along by the border of YOUR brothers, the sons of E′sau, who are dwelling in Se′ir; and they will be afraid because of YOU, and YOU must be very careful. [5] Do not engage in strife with them, because I shall not give YOU of their land so much as the width of the sole of the foot; because I have given Mount Se′ir to E′sau as a holding. [6] What food YOU may buy from them for money, YOU must eat; and also what water YOU may purchase from them for money, YOU must drink. [7] For Jehovah your God has blessed you in every deed of your hand. He well knows of your walking through this great wilderness. These forty years Jehovah your God has been with you. You have not lacked a thing.”’ [8] So we passed on away from our brothers, the sons of E′sau, who are dwelling in Se′ir, from the way of the Ar′a·bah, from E′lath and from E′zi·on-ge′ber.

“Next we turned and passed on by the way of the wilderness of Mo′ab. [9] Jehovah then said to me, ‘Do not molest Mo′ab or engage in war with them, because I shall not give you any of his land as a holding, for to the sons of Lot I have given Ar as a holding. [10] (The E′mim dwelt in it in former times, a people great and numerous and tall like the An′a·kim. [11] As for the Reph′a·im, they also were considered like the An′a·kim, and the Mo′ab·ites used to call them E′mim. [12] And the Hor′ites dwelt in Se′ir in former times, and the sons of E′sau proceeded to dispossess them and to annihilate them from before them and to dwell in their place, just the same as Israel must do to the land that is his holding, which Jehovah will certainly give to them.) [13] At this time rise and make YOUR way across the torrent valley of Ze′red.’ Accordingly we went crossing the torrent valley of Ze′red. [14] And the days that we walked from Ka′desh-bar′ne·a until we crossed the torrent valley of Ze′red were thirty-eight years, until all the generation of the men of war had come to their end from the midst of the camp, just as Jehovah had sworn to them. [15] And the hand of Jehovah also proved to be upon them to disquiet them out of the midst of the camp, until they came to their end.

[16] “And it came about that as soon as all the men of war had finished dying off from the midst of the people, [17] Jehovah spoke further to me, saying, [18] ‘You are passing today by the territory of Mo′ab, that is, Ar, [19] and you must get close in front of the sons of Am′mon. Do not molest them or engage in strife with them, because I shall not give you any of the land of the sons of Am′mon as a holding, for it is to the sons of Lot that I have given it as a holding. [20] As the land of the Reph′a·im it also used to be considered. (The Reph′a·im dwelt in it in former times, and the Am′mon·ites used to call them Zam·zum′mim. [21] They were a great and numerous and tall people like the An′a·kim; and Jehovah went annihilating them from before them, that they might dispossess them and dwell in their place; [22] just the same as he did for the sons of E′sau, who are dwelling in Se′ir, when he annihilated the Hor′ites from before them, that they might dispossess them and dwell in their place until this day. [23] As for the Av′vim, who were dwelling in settlements as far as Ga′za, the Caph′to·rim, who came out from Caph′tor, annihilated them, that they might dwell in their place.)

[24] “‘GET up, pull away and cross the torrent valley of Arʹnon. See, I have given into your hand Siʹhon the king of Heshʹbon, the Amʹor·ite. So start to take possession of his land, and engage in war with him. [25] This day I shall start to put the dread of you and the fear of you before the peoples beneath all the heavens, who will hear the report about you; and they will indeed be agitated and have pains like those of childbirth because of you.’

[26] “Then I sent messengers from the wilderness of Kedʹe·moth to Siʹhon the king of Heshʹbon with words of peace, saying, [27] ‘Let me pass through your land. Only on the road I shall walk. I shall not turn to the right or to the left. [28] What food you will sell me for money, I must eat; and what water you will give me for money, I must drink. Only let me pass through on my feet, [29] just the same as the sons of Eʹsau dwelling in Seʹir and the Moʹab·ites dwelling in Ar did to me, until I shall pass over the Jordan into the land that Jehovah our God is giving to us.’ [30] And Siʹhon the king of Heshʹbon did not let us pass through him, because Jehovah your God had let his spirit become obstinate and his heart become hard, in order to give him into your hand just as at this day.

[31] “At this Jehovah said to me, ‘See, I have started to abandon Siʹhon and his land to you. Start to take possession of his land.’ [32] When Siʹhon came on out, he and all his people, to meet us in battle at Jaʹhaz, [33] then Jehovah our God abandoned him to us, so that we defeated him and his sons and all his people. [34] And we went capturing all his cities at that particular time and devoting every city to destruction, men and women and little children. We left no survivor. [35] Only the domestic animals did we take as plunder for ourselves, together with the spoil of the cities that we had captured. [36] From A·roʹer, which is by the bank of the torrent valley of Arʹnon, and the city that is in the torrent valley, as far as Gilʹe·ad, there proved to be no town that was too high up for us. Jehovah our God abandoned them all to us. 37 Only you did not go near the land of the sons of Amʹmon, the whole bank of the torrent valley of Jabʹbok, nor the cities of the mountainous region, nor anything about which Jehovah our God had given command.

3 “Then we turned and went up by the way of Ba′shan. At this Og the king of Ba′shan came on out, he and all his people, to meet us in battle at Ed′re·i. 2 So Jehovah said to me, ‘Do not be afraid of him, for I shall certainly give him and all his people and his land into your hand; and you must do to him just as you did to Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, who was dwelling in Hesh′bon.’ 3 Accordingly Jehovah our God gave into our hand also Og the king of Ba′shan and all his people, and we kept striking him until he had no survivor remaining. 4 And we went capturing all his cities at that particular time. There proved to be no town that we did not take from them, sixty cities, all the region of Ar′gob, the kingdom of Og in Ba′shan. 5 All these were cities fortified with a high wall, doors and bar, aside from very many rural towns. 6 However, we devoted them to destruction, just as we had done to Si′hon the king of Hesh′bon, in devoting every city to destruction, men, women and little children. 7 And all the domestic animals and the spoil of the cities we took as plunder for ourselves.

8 “And we proceeded to take at that particular time the land from the hand of the two kings of the Am′or·ites who were in the region of the Jordan, from the torrent valley of Ar′non as far as Mount Her′mon; 9 (the Si·do′ni·ans used to call Her′mon Sir′i·on, and the Am′or·ites used to call it Se′nir,) 10 all the cities of the tableland and all Gil′e·ad and all Ba′shan as far as Sal′e·cah and Ed′re·i, the cities of the kingdom of Og in Ba′shan. 11 For only Og the king of Ba′shan remained of what was left of the Reph′a·im. Look! His bier was a bier of iron. Is it not in Rab′bah of the sons of Am′mon? Nine cubits is its length, and four cubits its width, by the cubit of a man. 12 And we took possession of this land at that particular time; from A·ro′er, which is by the torrent valley of Ar′non, and half of the mountainous region of Gil′e·ad, and its cities I have given to the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites. [13] And the rest of Gil′e·ad and all Ba′shan of the kingdom of Og I have given to the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh. All the region of Ar′gob of all Ba′shan, is it not called the land of the Reph′a·im?

[14] “Ja′ir the son of Ma·nas′seh took all the region of Ar′gob as far as the boundary of the Gesh′ur·ites and the Ma·ac′a·thites, and he proceeded to call those villages of Ba′shan by his own name, Hav′voth-ja′ir, to this day. [15] And to Ma′chir I have given Gil′e·ad. [16] And to the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites I have given from Gil′e·ad to the torrent valley of Ar′non, the middle of the torrent valley being a boundary, and as far as Jab′bok, the torrent valley that is the boundary of the sons of Am′mon; [17] and the Ar′a·bah and the Jordan and the border, from Chin′ne·reth to the sea of the Ar′a·bah, the Salt Sea, at the base of the slopes of Pis′gah toward the sunrising.

[18] “So I commanded YOU men at that particular time, saying, ‘Jehovah YOUR God has given YOU this land to take possession of it. YOU will pass over, equipped, before YOUR brothers, the sons of Israel, all the valiant men. [19] Only YOUR wives and YOUR little ones and YOUR livestock (I well know that YOU have a great deal of livestock) will continue dwelling in YOUR cities that I have given YOU, [20] until Jehovah gives YOUR brothers rest, as well as YOU, and they also have taken possession of the land that Jehovah YOUR God is giving them across the Jordan; after which YOU must come back, each one to his holding that I have given YOU.’

[21] “And I commanded Joshua at that particular time, saying, ‘Your eyes are seeing all that Jehovah YOUR God has done to these two kings. The same way Jehovah will do to all the kingdoms to which you are passing over there. [22] YOU men must not be afraid of them, for Jehovah YOUR God is the One fighting for YOU.’

[23] “And I proceeded to implore favor from Jehovah at that particular time, saying, [24] ‘O Sovereign Lord Jehovah, you yourself have started to make your servant see your greatness and your strong arm, for who is a god in the heavens or on the earth that does deeds like yours and mighty performances like yours? [25] Let me pass over, please, and see the good land that is across the Jordan, this good mountainous region and Leb′a·non.’ [26] And Jehovah continued to be furious against me on YOUR account and did not listen to me; but Jehovah said to me, ‘That is enough of you! Never speak to me further on this matter. [27] Go up to the top of Pis′gah and raise your eyes to the west and north and south and east and see with your eyes, for you will not pass over this Jordan. [28] And commission Joshua and encourage him and strengthen him, because he is the one to pass over before this people and he is the one to cause them to inherit the land that you will see.’ [29] All this while we were dwelling in the valley in front of Beth-pe′or.

4 “And now, O Israel, listen to the regulations and the judicial decisions that I am teaching YOU to do, in order that YOU may live and may indeed go in and take possession of the land that Jehovah the God of YOUR forefathers is giving
YOU. [2] YOU must not add to the word that I am commanding
YOU, neither must YOU take away from it, so as to keep the commandments of Jehovah YOUR God that I am commanding YOU.

[3] “YOUR own eyes are the ones that saw what Jehovah did in the case of the Ba′al of Pe′or, that every man who walked after the Ba′al of Pe′or was the one whom Jehovah your God annihilated from your midst. [4] But YOU who are cleaving to Jehovah YOUR God are all of YOU alive today. [5] See, I have taught YOU regulations and judicial decisions, just as Jehovah my God has commanded me, for YOU to do that way in the midst of the land to which YOU are going to take possession of it. [6] And YOU must keep and do them, because this is wisdom on YOUR part and understanding on YOUR part before the eyes of the peoples who will hear of all these regulations, and they will certainly say, ‘This great nation is undoubtedly a wise and understanding people.’ [7] For what great nation is there that has gods near to it the way Jehovah our God is in all our calling upon him? [8] And what great nation is there that has righteous regulations and judicial decisions like all this law that I am putting before YOU today?

[9] “Only watch out for yourself and take good care of your soul, that you may not forget the things that your eyes have seen and that they may not depart from your heart all the days of your life; and you must make them known to your sons and to your grandsons, [10] the day that you stood before

Jehovah your God in Ho′reb, when Jehovah said to me, ‘Congregate the people together to me that I may let them hear my words, that they may learn to fear me all the days that they are alive on the soil and that they may teach their sons.’

11 “So YOU people came near and stood at the base of the mountain, and the mountain was burning with fire up to midheaven; there was darkness, cloud and thick gloom. 12 And Jehovah began to speak to YOU out of the middle of the fire. The sound of words was what YOU were hearing, but no form were YOU seeing—nothing but a voice. 13 And he proceeded to state to YOU his covenant, which he commanded YOU to perform—the Ten Words, after which he wrote them upon two tablets of stone. 14 And it was I whom Jehovah commanded at that particular time to teach YOU regulations and judicial decisions, for YOU to do them in the land to which YOU are passing over to take possession of it.

15 “And YOU must take good care of YOUR souls, because YOU did not see any form on the day of Jehovah’s speaking to YOU in Ho′reb out of the middle of the fire, 16 that YOU may not act ruinously and may not really make for yourselves a carved image, the form of any symbol, the representation of male or female, 17 the representation of any beast that is in the earth, the representation of any winged bird that flies in the heavens, 18 the representation of anything moving on the ground, the representation of any fish that is in the waters under the earth; 19 and that you may not raise your eyes to the heavens and indeed see the sun and the moon and the stars, all the army of the heavens, and actually get seduced and bow down to them and serve them, which Jehovah your God has apportioned to all the peoples under the whole heavens. 20 But YOU are the ones Jehovah took that he might bring YOU out of the iron furnace, out of Egypt, to become a people of private ownership to him as at this day.

[21] “And Jehovah got incensed at me on YOUR account, so that he swore that I should not cross the Jordan or go into the good land that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance. [22] For I am dying in this land. I am not crossing the Jordan, but YOU are crossing, and YOU must take possession of this good land. [23] Watch out for yourselves that YOU may not forget the covenant of Jehovah YOUR God that he concluded with YOU and that YOU do not make for yourselves a carved image, the form of anything about which Jehovah your God has commanded you. [24] For Jehovah your God is a consuming fire, a God exacting exclusive devotion.

[25] “In case you become father to sons and grandsons and YOU have resided a long time in the land and do act ruinously and do make a carved image, a form of anything, and do commit evil in the eyes of Jehovah your God so as to offend him, [26] I do take as witnesses against YOU today the heavens and the earth, that YOU will positively perish in a hurry from off the land to which YOU are crossing the Jordan to take possession of it. YOU will not lengthen YOUR days on it, because YOU will positively be annihilated. [27] And Jehovah will certainly scatter YOU among the peoples, and YOU will indeed be let remain few in number among the nations to which Jehovah will drive YOU away. [28] And there YOU will have to serve gods, the product of the hands of man, wood and stone, which cannot see or hear or eat or smell.

[29] “If YOU do look for Jehovah your God from there, you will also certainly find him, because you will inquire for him with all your heart and with all your soul. [30] When you are in sore straits and all these words have found you out at the close of the days, then you will have to return to Jehovah your God and to listen to his voice. [31] For Jehovah your God is a merciful God. He will not desert you or bring you to ruin or forget the covenant of your forefathers that he swore to them.

[32] “Now ask, please, concerning the former days that occurred before you, from the day that God created man on the earth and from one end of the heavens clear to the other end of the heavens, Was any great thing brought about like this or was anything heard like it? [33] Has any other people heard the voice of God speaking out of the middle of the fire the way you yourself have heard it, and kept on living? [34] Or did God attempt to come to take a nation to himself out of the midst of another nation with provings, with signs and with miracles and with war and with a strong hand and with an outstretched arm and with great fearsomeness like all that Jehovah YOUR God has done for YOU in Egypt before your eyes? [35] You—you have been shown, so as to know that Jehovah is the true God; there is no other besides him. [36] Out of the heavens he made you hear his voice so as to correct you; and upon the earth he made you see his great fire, and his words you heard from the middle of the fire.

[37] “And yet you continue to live, because he loved your forefathers so that he chose their seed after them and brought you out of Egypt in his sight with his great power, [38] to drive away nations greater and mightier than you from before you, so as to bring you in, to give you their land as an inheritance as at this day. [39] And you well know today, and you must call back to your heart that Jehovah is the true God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath. There is no other. [40] And you must keep his regulations and his commandments that I am commanding you today, that it may go well with you and your sons after you, and in order that you may lengthen your days on the soil that Jehovah your God is giving you, always.”

[41] At that time Moses proceeded to set apart three cities on the side of the Jordan toward the rising of the sun, [42] for the manslayer to flee there who slays his fellow without knowing it, while he was not hating him formerly; and he must flee to one of these cities and live, [43] namely, Be′zer in the wilderness on the tableland for the Reu′ben·ites, and Ra′moth in Gil′e·ad for the Gad′ites, and Go′lan in Ba′shan for the Ma·nas′sites.

[44] Now this is the law that Moses set before the sons of Israel. [45] These are the testimonies and the regulations and the judicial decisions that Moses spoke to the sons of Israel on their coming out of Egypt, [46] in the region of the Jordan in the valley in front of Beth-pe′or, in the land of Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, who was dwelling in Hesh′bon, whom Moses and the sons of Israel defeated on their coming out of Egypt. [47] And they went taking possession of his land and of the land of Og the king of Ba′shan, the two kings of the Am′or·ites who were in the region of the Jordan toward the rising of the sun, [48] from A·ro′er, which is on the bank of the torrent valley of Ar′non, up to Mount Si′on, that is to say, Her′mon, [49] and all the Ar′a·bah in the region of the Jordan toward the east, and as far as the sea of the Ar′a·bah at the base of the slopes of Pis′gah.

5 And Moses proceeded to call all Israel and to say to them: “Hear, O Israel, the regulations and the judicial decisions that I am speaking in YOUR ears today, and YOU must learn them and be careful to do them. [2] Jehovah our God concluded a covenant with us in Ho′reb. [3] It was not with our forefathers that Jehovah concluded this covenant, but with us, all those of us alive here today. [4] Face to face Jehovah spoke with YOU in the mountain out of the middle of the fire. [5] I was standing between Jehovah and YOU at that particular time to tell YOU the word of Jehovah, (for YOU were afraid because of the fire and did not go up into the mountain,) saying,

[6] “‘I am Jehovah your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves. [7] You must never have any other gods against my face.

[8] “‘You must not make for yourself a carved image, any form like anything that is in the heavens above or that is on the earth underneath or that is in the waters under the earth. [9] You must not bow down to them or be led to serve them, because I Jehovah your God am a God exacting exclusive devotion, bringing punishment for the error of fathers upon sons and upon the third generation and upon the fourth generation, in the case of those who hate me; [10] but exercising loving-kindness toward the thousandth generation in the case of those who love me and keep my commandments.

[11] “‘You must not take up the name of Jehovah your God in a worthless way, for Jehovah will not leave anyone unpunished who takes up his name in a worthless way.

[12] “‘Keeping the sabbath day to hold it sacred, just as Jehovah your God commanded you, [13] you are to render service and you must do all your work six days. [14] But the seventh day is a sabbath to Jehovah your God. You must not do any work, you nor your son nor your daughter nor your slave man nor your slave girl nor your bull nor your ass nor any domestic animal of yours nor your alien resident who is inside your gates, in order that your slave man and your slave girl may rest the same as you. [15] And you must remember that you became a slave in the land of Egypt and Jehovah your God proceeded to bring you out from there with a strong hand and an outstretched arm. That is why Jehovah your God commanded you to carry on the sabbath day.

[16] “‘Honor your father and your mother, just as Jehovah your God has commanded you; in order that your days may prove long and it may go well with you on the ground that Jehovah your God is giving you.

[17] “‘You must not murder.

[18] “‘Neither must you commit adultery.

[19] “‘Neither must you steal.

[20] “‘Neither must you testify to a falsehood against your fellowman.

[21] “‘Neither must you desire your fellowman’s wife. Neither must you selfishly crave your fellowman’s house, his field or his slave man or his slave girl, his bull or his ass or anything that belongs to your fellowman.’

[22] “These Words Jehovah spoke to all YOUR congregation in the mountain out of the middle of the fire, the cloud and the thick gloom, with a loud voice, and he added nothing; after which he wrote them upon two tablets of stone and gave me them.

[23] “And it came about that as soon as YOU had heard the voice out of the middle of the darkness, while the mountain was burning with fire, YOU proceeded to come near to me, all the heads of YOUR tribes and YOUR older men. [24] Then YOU said, ‘Here Jehovah our God has shown us his glory and his greatness, and we have heard his voice out of the middle of the fire. This day we have seen that God may speak with man and he may actually keep living. [25] And now why should we die, for this great fire may consume us? If we are again hearing the voice of Jehovah our God any further, we are also certain to die. [26] For who is there of all flesh that has heard the voice of the living God speaking out of the middle of the fire as we did and yet goes on living? [27] You yourself go near and hear all that Jehovah our God will say; and you will be the one to speak to us all that Jehovah our God will speak to you, and we shall certainly listen and do.’

[28] “So Jehovah heard the voice of YOUR words when YOU spoke to me, and Jehovah went on to say to me, ‘I have heard the voice of the words of this people, which they have spoken to you. They have done well in all they have spoken. [29] If only they would develop this heart of theirs to fear me and to keep all my commandments always, in order that it might go well with them and their sons to time indefinite! [30] Go say to them: “Return home to YOUR tents.” [31] And you stand here with me, and let me speak to you all the commandment and the regulations and the judicial decisions that you should teach to them and that they must do in the land that I am giving them to take possession of it.’ [32] And YOU people must take care to do just as Jehovah YOUR God has commanded YOU. YOU must not turn to the right or to the left. [33] In all the way that Jehovah YOUR God has commanded YOU, YOU should walk, in order that YOU may live and it may be well with YOU and YOU may indeed lengthen YOUR days in the land of which YOU will take possession.

6 “Now these are the commandment, the regulations and the judicial decisions that Jehovah YOUR God has commanded to teach YOU, so as to do them in the land to which YOU are passing over there to take possession of it; [2] in order that you may fear Jehovah your God so as to keep all his statutes and his commandments that I am commanding you, you and your son and your grandson, all the days of your life, and in order that your days may prove long. [3] And you must listen, O Israel, and take care to do them, that it may go well with you and that YOU may become very many, just as Jehovah the God of your forefathers has promised you, as respects the land flowing with milk and honey.

[4] “Listen, O Israel: Jehovah our God is one Jehovah. [5] And you must love Jehovah your God with all your heart and all your soul and all your vital force. [6] And these words that I am commanding you today must prove to be on your heart; [7] and you must inculcate them in your son and speak of them when you sit in your house and when you walk on the road and when you lie down and when you get up. [8] And you must tie them as a sign upon your hand, and they must serve as a frontlet band between your eyes; [9] and you must write them upon the doorposts of your house and on your gates.

[10] “And it must occur that when Jehovah your God will bring you into the land that he swore to your forefathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob to give you, great and good-looking cities that you did not build, [11] and houses full of all good things and that you did not fill, and cisterns hewn out that you did not hew out, vineyards and olive trees that you did not plant, and you shall have eaten and become satisfied, [12]

watch out for yourself that you may not forget Jehovah, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves. [13] Jehovah your God you should fear, and him you should serve, and by his name you should swear. [14] YOU must not walk after other gods, any gods of the peoples who are all around YOU, [15] (for Jehovah your God in your midst is a God exacting exclusive devotion,) for fear the anger of Jehovah your God may blaze against you and he must annihilate you from off the surface of the ground.

[16] “YOU must not put Jehovah YOUR God to the test, the way YOU put him to the test at Mas′sah. [17] YOU should by all means keep the commandments of Jehovah YOUR God and his testimonies and his regulations that he has commanded you. [18] And you must do what is right and good in Jehovah’s eyes, in order that it may go well with you and you may indeed enter and take possession of the good land about which Jehovah has sworn to your forefathers, [19] by pushing away all your enemies from before you, just as Jehovah has promised.

[20] “In case your son should ask you in a future day, saying, ‘What do the testimonies and the regulations and the judicial decisions mean that Jehovah our God has commanded YOU?’ [21] then you must say to your son, ‘We became slaves to Phar′aoh in Egypt, but Jehovah proceeded to bring us out of Egypt with a strong hand. [22] So Jehovah kept putting signs and miracles, great and calamitous, upon Egypt, upon Phar′aoh and upon all his household before our eyes. [23] And he brought us out from there in order that he might bring us here to give us the land about which he had sworn to our forefathers. [24] Hence Jehovah commanded us to carry out all these regulations, to fear Jehovah our God for our good always, that we might keep alive as at this day. [25] And it will mean righteousness for us, that we take care to

7 “When Jehovah your God at last brings you into the land to which you are going so as to take possession of it, he must also clear away populous nations from before you, the Hit′tites and the Gir′ga·shites and the Am′or·ites and the Ca′naan·ites and the Per′iz·zites and the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, seven nations more populous and mighty than you are. [2] And Jehovah your God will certainly abandon them to you, and you must defeat them. You should without fail devote them to destruction. You must conclude no covenant with them nor show them any favor. [3] And you must form no marriage alliance with them. Your daughter you must not give to his son, and his daughter you must not take for your son. [4] For he will turn your son from following me, and they will certainly serve other gods; and Jehovah’s anger will indeed blaze against YOU, and he will certainly annihilate you in a hurry.

[5] “On the other hand, this is what YOU should do to them: Their altars YOU should pull down, and their sacred pillars YOU should break down, and their sacred poles YOU should cut down, and their graven images YOU should burn with fire. [6] For you are a holy people to Jehovah your God. It is you Jehovah your God has chosen to become his people, a special property, out of all the peoples that are on the surface of the ground.

[7] “It was not because of YOUR being the most populous of all the peoples that Jehovah showed affection for YOU so that he chose YOU, for YOU were the least of all the peoples. [8] But it was because of Jehovah’s loving YOU, and because of his keeping the sworn statement that he had sworn to YOUR forefathers, that Jehovah brought YOU out with a strong hand, that he might redeem you from the house of slaves, from the hand of Phar′aoh the king of Egypt. [9] And you well know that Jehovah your God is the true God, the faithful God, keeping covenant and loving-kindness in the case of those who love him and those who keep his commandments to a thousand generations, [10] but repaying to his face the one who hates him by destroying him. He will not hesitate toward the one who hates him; he will repay him to his face. [11] And you must keep the commandment and the regulations and the judicial decisions that I am commanding you today by doing them.

[12] “And it must occur that, because YOU continue listening to these judicial decisions and YOU do keep them and do carry them out, Jehovah your God must keep toward you the covenant and the loving-kindness about which he swore to your forefathers. [13] And he will certainly love you and bless you and multiply you and bless the fruit of your belly and the fruit of your soil, your grain and your new wine and your oil, the young of your cows and the progeny of your flock, on the soil that he swore to your forefathers to give to you. [14] The most blessed of all the peoples you will become. There will not prove to be in you a male or a female without offspring, nor among your domestic animals. [15] And Jehovah will certainly remove from you every sickness; and as for all the evil diseases of Egypt that you have known, he will not place them upon you, and he will indeed put them upon all those who hate you. [16] And you must consume all the peoples whom Jehovah your God is giving to you. Your eye must not feel sorry for them; and you must not serve their gods, because that will be a snare to you.

[17] “In case you say in your heart, ‘These nations are too populous for me. How shall I be able to drive them away?’ [18] you must not be afraid of them. You should by all means remember what Jehovah your God did to Phar′aoh and all

Egypt, [19] the great provings that your eyes saw, and the signs and the miracles and the strong hand and the outstretched arm with which Jehovah your God brought you out. That is the way Jehovah your God will do to all the peoples before whom you are afraid. [20] And Jehovah your God will also send the feeling of dejection upon them, until those perish who were let remain and who were concealing themselves from before you. [21] You must not suffer a shock because of them, for Jehovah your God is in your midst, a great and fear-inspiring God.

[22] “And Jehovah your God will certainly push these nations away from before you little by little. You will not be allowed to finish them off quickly, for fear the wild beasts of the field may multiply against you. [23] And Jehovah your God will indeed abandon them to you and rout them with a great rout, until they are annihilated. [24] And he will certainly give their kings into your hand, and you must destroy their names from under the heavens. Nobody will take a firm stand against you, until you have exterminated them. [25] The graven images of their gods YOU should burn in the fire. You must not desire the silver and the gold upon them, nor indeed take it for yourself, for fear you may be ensnared by it; for it is a thing detestable to Jehovah your God. [26] And you must not bring a detestable thing into your house and actually become a thing devoted to destruction like it. You should thoroughly loathe it and absolutely detest it, because it is something devoted to destruction.

8 “Every commandment that I am commanding you today YOU should be careful to keep, in order that YOU may continue living and indeed multiply and go in and take possession of the land about which Jehovah swore to YOUR forefathers. [2] And you must remember all the way that Jehovah your God made you walk these forty years in the wilderness, in order to humble you, to put you to the test so as to know what was in your heart, as to whether you would keep his commandments or not. [3] So he humbled you and let you go hungry and fed you with the manna, which neither you had known nor your fathers had known; in order to make you know that not by bread alone does man live but by every expression of Jehovah’s mouth does man live. [4] Your mantle did not wear out upon you, nor did your foot become swollen these forty years. [5] And you well know with your own heart that just as a man corrects his son, Jehovah your God was correcting you.

[6] “And you must keep the commandments of Jehovah your God by walking in his ways and by fearing him. [7] For Jehovah your God is bringing you into a good land, a land of torrent valleys of water, springs and watery deeps issuing forth in the valley plain and in the mountainous region, [8] a land of wheat and barley and vines and figs and pomegranates, a land of oil olives and honey, [9] a land in which you will not eat bread with scarcity, in which you will lack nothing, a land the stones of which are iron and out of the mountains of which you will mine copper.

[10] “When you have eaten and satisfied yourself, you must also bless Jehovah your God for the good land that he has given you. [11] Watch out for yourself that you may not forget Jehovah your God so as not to keep his commandments and his judicial decisions and his statutes that I am commanding you today; [12] for fear that you may eat and indeed satisfy yourself, and you may build good houses and indeed dwell in them, [13] and your herd and your flock may increase, and silver and gold may increase for you, and all that is yours may increase; [14] and your heart may indeed be lifted up and you may indeed forget Jehovah your God, who brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves; [15] who caused you to walk through the great and fear-inspiring wilderness, with poisonous serpents and scorpions and with thirsty ground that has no water; who brought forth water for you out of the flinty rock; [16] who fed you with manna in the wilderness, which your fathers had not known, in order to humble you and in order to put you to the test so as to do you good in your afterdays; [17] and you do say in your heart, ‘My own power and the full might of my own hand have made this wealth for me.’ [18] And you must remember Jehovah your God, because he is the giver of power to you to make wealth; in order to carry out his covenant that he swore to your forefathers, as at this day.

[19] “And it must occur that if you should at all forget Jehovah your God and you should actually walk after other gods and serve them and bow down to them, I do bear witness against YOU today that YOU people will absolutely perish. [20] Like the nations that Jehovah is destroying from before YOU, that is the way YOU will perish, because YOU will not listen to the voice of Jehovah YOUR God.

9 “Hear, O Israel, you are today crossing the Jordan to go in and dispossess nations greater and mightier than you, cities great and fortified to the heavens, [2] a people great and tall, the sons of An′a·kim, about whom you yourself have known and you yourself have heard it said, ‘Who can make a firm stand before the sons of A′nak?’ [3] And you well know today that Jehovah your God is crossing before you. A consuming fire he is. He will annihilate them, and he himself will subdue them before you; and you must dispossess them and destroy them speedily, just as Jehovah has spoken to you.

[4] “Do not say in your heart when Jehovah your God pushes them away from before you this, ‘It was for my own righteousness that Jehovah has brought me in to take possession of this land,’ whereas it is for the wickedness of these nations that Jehovah is driving them away from before you. [5] It is not for your righteousness or for the uprightness of your heart that you are going in to take possession of their land; in fact, it is for the wickedness of these nations that Jehovah your God is driving them away from before you, and in order to carry out the word that Jehovah swore to your forefathers, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. [6] And you must know that it is not for your righteousness that Jehovah your God is giving you this good land to take possession of it; for you are a stiff-necked people.

[7] “Remember: Do not forget how you have provoked Jehovah your God in the wilderness. From the day that you went out of the land of Egypt until YOUR coming to this place YOU people have proved rebellious in YOUR behavior with Jehovah. [8] Even in Ho′reb YOU provoked Jehovah to anger so that Jehovah got incensed at YOU to the point of annihilating YOU. [9] When I went up the mountain to receive the stone tablets, the tablets of the covenant that Jehovah had concluded with YOU, and I kept dwelling in the mountain forty days and forty nights, (I neither ate bread nor drank water,) [10] then Jehovah gave me the two tablets of stone written upon with God’s finger; and upon them were all the words that Jehovah had spoken with YOU in the mountain out of the middle of the fire in the day of the congregation. [11] And it came about that at the end of the forty days and forty nights Jehovah gave me the two tablets of stone, the tablets of the covenant; [12] and Jehovah proceeded to say to me, ‘Get up, go down quickly from here, because your people whom you brought out of Egypt have acted ruinously. They have turned aside quickly from the way about which I commanded them. They have made themselves a molten image.’ [13] And Jehovah went on to say this to me, ‘I have seen this people, and, look! it is a stiff-necked people. [14] Let me alone that I may annihilate them and wipe out their name from under the heavens, and let me make you a nation mightier and more populous than they are.’

[15] “After that I turned and went down from the mountain, while the mountain was burning with fire; and the two tablets of the covenant were in both my hands. [16] Then I looked, and there YOU had sinned against Jehovah YOUR God! YOU had made yourselves a molten calf. YOU had turned aside quickly from the way about which Jehovah had commanded YOU. [17] At that I took hold of the two tablets and flung them down from both my hands and shattered them before YOUR eyes. [18] And I proceeded to prostrate myself before Jehovah, as at first, forty days and forty nights. I neither ate bread nor drank water, because of all YOUR sin that YOU had committed in doing evil in the eyes of Jehovah so as to offend him. [19] For I was scared because of the hot anger with which Jehovah had got indignant at YOU to the point of annihilating YOU. However, Jehovah listened to me also that time.

[20] “At Aaron, too, Jehovah got very incensed to the point of annihilating him; but I made supplication also in behalf of Aaron at that particular time. [21] And YOUR sin that YOU had made, the calf, I took, and I proceeded to burn it in the fire and to crush it, grinding it thoroughly until it had become fine like dust; after which I threw its dust into the torrent that was descending from the mountain.

[22] “Further, at Tab′e·rah and at Mas′sah and at Kib′roth-hat·ta′a·vah YOU proved yourselves provokers of Jehovah to anger. [23] And when Jehovah sent YOU out of Ka′desh-bar′ne·a, saying, ‘Go up and take possession of the land that I shall certainly give YOU! ’ then YOU behaved rebelliously against the order of Jehovah YOUR God, and YOU did not exercise faith toward him and did not listen to his voice. [24] YOU have proved yourselves rebellious in behavior with Jehovah from the day of my knowing YOU.

[25] “So I kept prostrating myself before Jehovah forty days and forty nights, for I prostrated myself thus because Jehovah talked of annihilating YOU. [26] And I began to make supplication to Jehovah and to say, ‘O Sovereign Lord Jehovah, do not bring to ruin your people, even your private property, whom you redeemed with your greatness, whom you brought out of Egypt with a strong hand. [27] Remember your servants Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Do not turn your face to the hardness of this people and their wickedness and their sin, [28] for fear the land out of which you brought us may say: “Because Jehovah was unable to bring them into the land that he had promised them, and because he hated them he brought them out to put them to death in the wilderness.” [29] They are, too, your people and your private property whom you brought out with your great power and your outstretched arm.’

10 “At that particular time Jehovah said to me, ‘Carve for yourself two tablets of stone like the first ones, and come up to me into the mountain, and you must make an ark of wood for yourself. [2] And I shall write upon the tablets the words that appeared on the first tablets, which you shattered, and you must place them in the ark.’ [3] So I made an ark of acacia wood and carved two tablets of stone like the first ones and went up into the mountain, and the two tablets were in my hand. [4] Then he wrote upon the tablets the same writing as the first, the Ten Words, which Jehovah had spoken to YOU in the mountain out of the middle of the fire in the day of the congregation; after which Jehovah gave them to me. [5] Then I turned and went down from the mountain and placed the tablets in the ark that I had made, that they might continue there, just as Jehovah had commanded me.

[6] “And the sons of Israel pulled away from Be·er′oth Ben′e-ja′a·kan for Mo·se′rah. There Aaron died, and he got to be buried there; and El·e·a′zar his son began to act as priest instead of him. [7] From there they pulled away for Gud′go·dah, and from Gud′go·dah for Jot′ba·thah, a land of torrent valleys running with water.

[8] “At that particular time Jehovah separated the tribe of Le′vi to carry the ark of Jehovah’s covenant, to stand before Jehovah for ministering to him and to bless in his name until this day. [9] That is why Le′vi has come to have no share and inheritance with his brothers. Jehovah is his inheritance, just as Jehovah your God had said to him. [10] And I—I stayed in the mountain the same as the first days, forty days and forty nights, and Jehovah proceeded to listen to me also on that occasion. Jehovah did not want to bring you to ruin. [11] Then Jehovah said to me, ‘Get up, go before the people for a pulling away, that they may go in and take possession of the land that I have sworn to their forefathers to give to them.’

[12] “And now, O Israel, what is Jehovah your God asking of you but to fear Jehovah your God, so as to walk in all his ways and to love him and to serve Jehovah your God with all your heart and all your soul; [13] to keep the commandments of Jehovah and his statutes that I am commanding you today, for your good? [14] Behold, to Jehovah your God belong the heavens, even the heavens of the heavens, the earth and all that is in it. [15] Only to your forefathers did Jehovah get attached so as to love them, so that he chose their offspring after them, even YOU, out of all the peoples, as at this day. [16] And YOU must circumcise the foreskin of YOUR hearts and not harden YOUR necks any longer. [17] For Jehovah YOUR God is the God of gods and the Lord of lords, the God great, mighty and fear-inspiring, who treats none with partiality nor accepts a bribe, [18] executing judgment for the fatherless boy and the widow and loving the alien resident so as to give him bread and a mantle. [19] YOU too must love the alien resident, for YOU became alien residents in the land of Egypt.

[20] “Jehovah your God you should fear. Him you should serve, and to him you should cling, and by his name you should make sworn statements. [21] He is the One for you to praise, and he is your God, who has done with you these great and fear-inspiring things that your eyes have seen. [22] With seventy souls your forefathers went down into Egypt, and now Jehovah your God has constituted you like the stars of the heavens for multitude.

11 “And you must love Jehovah your God and keep your obligation to him and his statutes and his judicial decisions and his commandments always. [2] And YOU well know today (for I do not address YOUR sons who have not known and who have not seen the discipline of Jehovah YOUR God, his greatness, his strong hand and his outstretched arm, [3] nor his signs and his deeds that he did in the midst of Egypt to Pharʹaoh the king of Egypt and to all his land; [4] nor what he did to the military forces of Egypt, to his horses and his war chariots against the faces of which he made the waters of the Red Sea overflow when they were chasing after them, and Jehovah proceeded to destroy them till this day; [5] nor what he has done to YOU in the wilderness until YOUR coming to this place; [6] nor what he did to Daʹthan and A·biʹram the sons of E·liʹab the son of Reuʹben, when the earth opened its mouth and proceeded to swallow them up and their households and their tents and every existing thing that stepped after them in the midst of all Israel); [7] for YOUR eyes were the ones seeing all the great deeds of Jehovah that he did.

[8] “And YOU must keep the whole commandment that I am commanding you today, in order that YOU may grow strong and may indeed enter in and take possession of the land to which YOU are crossing to take possession of it, [9] and in order that YOU may lengthen YOUR days on the soil that Jehovah swore to YOUR forefathers to give to them and their seed, a land flowing with milk and honey.

[10] “For the land to which you are going to take possession of it is not like the land of Egypt out of which YOU came, where you used to sow your seed and you had to do irrigating with your foot, like a garden of vegetables. [11] But the land to which YOU are crossing to take possession of it is a land of mountains and valley plains. Of the rain of the heavens it drinks water; [12] a land that Jehovah your God is caring for. The eyes of Jehovah your God are constantly upon it, from the beginning of the year to the close of the year.

[13] “And it must occur that if YOU will without fail obey my commandments that I am commanding YOU today so as to love Jehovah YOUR God and to serve him with all YOUR heart and all YOUR soul, [14] I also shall certainly give rain for YOUR land at its appointed time, autumn rain and spring rain, and you will indeed gather your grain and your sweet wine and your oil. [15] And I shall certainly give vegetation in your field for your domestic animals, and you will indeed eat and be satisfied. [16] Watch out for yourselves for fear YOUR heart may be enticed, and YOU do turn aside and worship other gods and bow down to them, [17] and Jehovah’s anger does blaze against YOU, and he does shut up the heavens so that no rain will occur and the ground will not give its produce and YOU have to perish speedily from off the good land that Jehovah is giving YOU.

[18] “And YOU must apply these words of mine to YOUR heart and YOUR soul and bind them as a sign upon YOUR hand, and they must serve as a frontlet band between YOUR eyes. [19] YOU must also teach them to YOUR sons, so as to speak of them when you sit in your house and when you walk on the road and when you lie down and when you get up. [20] And you must write them upon the doorposts of your house and on your gates, [21] in order that YOUR days and the days of YOUR sons may be many on the soil that Jehovah swore to YOUR forefathers to give to them, as the days of the heavens over the earth.

[22] “For if YOU strictly keep all this commandment that I am commanding YOU so as to do it, to love Jehovah YOUR God, to walk in all his ways and to cling to him, [23] Jehovah also must drive away all these nations on account of YOU, and YOU will certainly dispossess nations greater and more numerous than YOU are. [24] Every place on which the sole of YOUR foot will tread will become YOURS. From the wilderness up to Leb′a·non, from the River, the river Eu·phra′tes, to the western sea YOUR boundary will become. [25] No man will make a firm stand against YOU. The dread of YOU and the fear of YOU Jehovah YOUR God will put before the face of all the land on which YOU will tread, just as he has promised YOU.

[26] “See, I am putting before YOU today blessing and malediction: [27] the blessing, provided YOU will obey the commandments of Jehovah YOUR God that I am commanding YOU today; [28] and the malediction, if YOU will not obey the commandments of Jehovah YOUR God and YOU do turn aside from the way about which I am commanding YOU today, so as to walk after other gods whom YOU have not known.

[29] “And it must occur that when Jehovah your God brings you into the land to which you are going to take possession of it, you must also give the blessing upon Mount Ger′i·zim and the malediction upon Mount E′bal. [30] Are they not on the side of the Jordan toward the direction of the sunset, in the land of the Ca′naan·ites dwelling in the Ar′a·bah, in front of Gil′gal, beside the big trees of Mo′reh? [31] For YOU are crossing the Jordan to go in and take possession of the land that Jehovah YOUR God is giving YOU, and YOU must take possession of it and dwell in it. [32] And YOU must be careful to carry out all the regulations and the judicial decisions that I am putting before YOU today.

12 “These are the regulations and the judicial decisions that YOU should be careful to carry out in the land that Jehovah the God of your forefathers will certainly allow you to take possession of, all the days that YOU are alive on the soil. [2] YOU should absolutely destroy all the places where the nations whom YOU are dispossessing have served their gods, on the tall mountains and the hills and under every luxuriant tree. [3] And YOU must pull down their altars and shatter their sacred pillars, and YOU should burn their sacred poles in the fire and cut down the graven images of their gods, and YOU must destroy their names from that place.

[4] “YOU must not do that way to Jehovah YOUR God, [5] but to the place that Jehovah YOUR God will choose out of all YOUR tribes to place his name there, to have it reside, YOU will seek, and there you must come. [6] And there YOU must bring YOUR burnt offerings and YOUR sacrifices and YOUR tenth parts and the contribution of YOUR hand and YOUR vow offerings and YOUR voluntary offerings and the firstborn ones of YOUR herd and of YOUR flock. [7] And there YOU must eat before Jehovah YOUR God and rejoice in every undertaking of YOURS, YOU and YOUR households, because Jehovah your God has blessed you.

[8] “YOU must not do according to all that we are doing here today, each one whatever is right in his own eyes, [9] because YOU have not yet come into the resting-place and the inheritance that Jehovah your God is giving you. [10] And YOU must cross the Jordan and dwell in the land that Jehovah YOUR God is giving YOU as a possession, and he will certainly give YOU rest from all YOUR enemies round about, and YOU will indeed dwell in security. [11] And it must occur that the place that Jehovah YOUR God will choose to have his name reside there is where YOU will bring all about which I am commanding YOU, YOUR burnt offerings and YOUR sacrifices, YOUR tenth parts and the contribution of YOUR hand and every choice of YOUR vow offerings that YOU will vow to Jehovah. 12 And YOU must rejoice before Jehovah YOUR God, YOU and YOUR sons and YOUR daughters and YOUR man slaves and YOUR slave girls and the Levite who is inside YOUR gates, because he has no share or inheritance with YOU. 13 Watch out for yourself for fear you may offer up your burnt offerings in any other place you may see. 14 But in the place that Jehovah will choose in one of your tribes is where you should offer up your burnt offerings, and there you should do all that I am commanding you.

15 “Only whenever your soul craves it you may slaughter, and you must eat meat according to the blessing of Jehovah your God that he has given you, inside all your gates. The unclean one and the clean one may eat it, like the gazelle and like the stag. 16 Only the blood YOU must not eat. On the earth you should pour it out as water. 17 You will not be allowed to eat inside your gates the tenth part of your grain or of your new wine or of your oil or the firstborn ones of your herd and of your flock or any of your vow offerings that you will vow or your voluntary offerings or the contribution of your hand. 18 But before Jehovah your God you will eat it, in the place that Jehovah your God will choose, you and your son and your daughter and your man slave and your slave girl and the Levite who is inside your gates; and you must rejoice before Jehovah your God in every undertaking of yours. 19 Watch out for yourself that you may not abandon the Levite all your days on your soil.

20 “When Jehovah your God will widen out your territory, just as he has promised you, and you will be certain to say, ‘Let me eat meat,’ because your soul craves to eat meat, whenever your soul craves it you may eat meat. [21] In case the place that Jehovah your God will choose to put his name there should be far away from you, you must then slaughter some of your herd or some of your flock that Jehovah has given you, just as I have commanded you, and you must eat inside your gates whenever your soul craves it. [22] Only in the way that the gazelle and the stag may be eaten, so you may eat it: the unclean one and the clean one together may eat it. [23] Simply be firmly resolved not to eat the blood, because the blood is the soul and you must not eat the soul with the flesh. [24] You must not eat it. You should pour it out upon the ground as water. [25] You must not eat it, in order that it may go well with you and your sons after you, because you will do what is right in Jehovah's eyes. [26] Merely your holy things that will become yours, and your vow offerings you should carry, and you must come to the place that Jehovah will choose. [27] And you must render up your burnt offerings, the flesh and the blood, upon the altar of Jehovah your God; and the blood of your sacrifices should be poured out against the altar of Jehovah your God, but the flesh you may eat.

[28] "Watch, and you must obey all these words that I am commanding you, in order that it may go well with you and your sons after you to time indefinite, because you will do what is good and right in the eyes of Jehovah your God.

[29] "When Jehovah your God will cut off from before you the nations to whom you are going to dispossess them, you must also dispossess them and dwell in their land. [30] Watch out for yourself for fear you may be entrapped after them, after they have been annihilated from before you, and for fear you may inquire respecting their gods, saying, 'How was it these nations used to serve their gods? And I, yes, I, will do the same way.' [31] You must not do that way to Jehovah your God, for everything detestable to Jehovah that he does hate they have done to their gods, for even their sons and their daughters they regularly burn in the fire to their gods. 32 Every word that I am commanding YOU is what YOU should be careful to do. YOU must not add to it nor take away from it.

13 “In case a prophet or a dreamer of a dream arises in your midst and does give you a sign or a portent, [2] and the sign or the portent does come true of which he spoke to you, saying, ‘Let us walk after other gods, whom you have not known, and let us serve them,’ [3] you must not listen to the words of that prophet or to the dreamer of that dream, because Jehovah YOUR God is testing YOU to know whether YOU are loving Jehovah YOUR God with all YOUR heart and all YOUR soul. [4] After Jehovah YOUR God YOU should walk, and him YOU should fear, and his commandments YOU should keep, and to his voice YOU should listen, and him YOU should serve, and to him YOU should cling. [5] And that prophet or that dreamer of the dream should be put to death, because he has spoken of revolt against Jehovah YOUR God, who has brought YOU out of the land of Egypt and has redeemed you from the house of slaves, to turn you from the way in which Jehovah your God has commanded you to walk; and you must clear out what is evil from your midst.

[6] “In case your brother, the son of your mother, or your son or your daughter or your cherished wife or your companion who is like your own soul, should try to allure you in secrecy, saying, ‘Let us go and serve other gods,’ whom you have not known, neither you nor your forefathers, [7] some of the gods of the peoples who are all around YOU, the ones near you or those far away from you, from one end of the land to the other end of the land, [8] you must not accede to his wish or listen to him, nor should your eye feel sorry for him, nor must you feel compassion, nor cover him protectively; [9] but you should kill him without fail. Your hand first of all should come upon him to put him to death, and the hand of all the people afterward. [10] And you must stone him with stones, and he must die, because he has sought to turn you away from Jehovah your God, who has brought you out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves. [11] Then all Israel will hear and become afraid, and they will not do anything like this bad thing again in your midst.

[12] “In case you hear it said in one of your cities, which Jehovah your God is giving you to dwell there, [13] ‘Good-for-nothing men have gone out from your midst that they may try to turn away the inhabitants of their city, saying: “Let us go and serve other gods,” whom YOU have not known,’ [14] you must also search and investigate and inquire thoroughly; and if the thing is established as the truth, this detestable thing has been done in your midst, [15] you should without fail strike the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword. Devote it and everything that is in it, and its domestic animals, to destruction at the edge of the sword. [16] And all its spoil you should collect into the middle of its public square, and you must burn in the fire the city and all its spoil as a whole offering to Jehovah your God, and it must become a heap of ruins to time indefinite. It should never be rebuilt. [17] And nothing at all should stick to your hand of the thing made sacred by ban, in order that Jehovah may turn from his burning anger and may indeed give you mercy and he may certainly show you mercy and multiply you, just as he has sworn to your forefathers. [18] For you should listen to the voice of Jehovah your God by keeping all his commandments that I am commanding you today, so as to do what is right in the eyes of Jehovah your God.

14 “Sons YOU are of Jehovah YOUR God. YOU must not make cuttings upon yourselves or impose baldness on YOUR foreheads for a dead person. [2] For you are a holy people to Jehovah your God, and Jehovah has chosen you to become his people, a special property, out of all the peoples who are on the surface of the ground.

[3] “You must eat no detestable thing of any sort. [4] This is the sort of beast that YOU may eat: the bull, the sheep and the goat, [5] the stag and gazelle and roebuck and wild goat and antelope and wild sheep and chamois; [6] and every beast that splits the hoof and that forms a cleft into two hoofs, chewing the cud among the beasts. It YOU may eat. [7] Only this sort YOU must not eat out of those that chew the cud or that split the hoof, cloven: the camel and the hare and the rock badger, because they are chewers of the cud but do not split the hoof. They are unclean for YOU. [8] The pig also, because it is a splitter of the hoof but there is no cud. It is unclean for YOU. None of their flesh must YOU eat, and their carcasses YOU must not touch.

[9] “This sort out of everything that is in the waters YOU may eat: Everything that has fins and scales YOU may eat. [10] And everything that has no fins and scales YOU must not eat. It is unclean for YOU.

[11] “Any clean bird YOU may eat. [12] But these are the ones of which YOU must not eat: the eagle and the osprey and the black vulture, [13] and the red kite and the black kite and the glede according to its kind; [14] and every raven according to its kind; [15] and the ostrich and the owl and the gull and the falcon according to its kind; [16] the little owl and the long-eared owl and the swan, [17] and the pelican and the vulture and the cormorant, [18] and the stork and the heron according to its kind, and the hoopoe and the bat. [19] And every winged swarming creature is unclean for YOU. They should not be eaten. [20] Any clean flying creature YOU may eat.

[21] “YOU must not eat any body already dead. To the alien resident who is inside your gates you may give it, and he must eat it; or there may be a selling of it to a foreigner, because you are a holy people to Jehovah your God.

“You must not boil a kid in its mother’s milk.

[22] “Without fail you should give a tenth of all the produce of your seed, that which comes forth of the field year by year. [23] And before Jehovah your God, in the place that he will choose to have his name reside there, you must eat the tenth part of your grain, your new wine and your oil and the firstborn ones of your herd and of your flock; in order that you may learn to fear Jehovah your God always.

[24] “Now in case the journey should be too long for you, because you will not be able to carry it, since the place that Jehovah your God will choose to place his name there will be too far away for you, (because Jehovah your God will bless you,) [25] you must then turn it into money, and you must wrap the money up in your hand and travel to the place that Jehovah your God will choose. [26] You must also give the money for whatever your soul may crave in the way of cattle and sheep and goats and wine and intoxicating liquor and anything that your soul may ask of you; and you must eat there before Jehovah your God and rejoice, you and your household. [27] And the Levite who is inside your gates, you must not abandon him, for he has no share or inheritance with you.

[28] “At the end of three years you will bring out the entire tenth part of your produce in that year, and you must deposit it inside your gates. [29] And the Levite, because he has no share or inheritance with you, and the alien resident and the fatherless boy and the widow, who are inside your gates, must come, and they must eat and satisfy themselves; in order that Jehovah your God may bless you in every deed of your hand that you will do.

15 “At the end of every seven years you should make a release. [2] And this is the manner of the release: there will be a releasing by every creditor of the debt that he may let his fellow incur. He should not press his fellow or his brother for payment, because a release to Jehovah must be called. [3] The foreigner you may press for payment; but whatever of yours may prove to be with your brother let your hand release. [4] However, no one should come to be poor among you, because Jehovah will without fail bless you in the land that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance to take possession of it, [5] only if you will without fail listen to the voice of Jehovah your God so as to be careful to do all this commandment that I am commanding you today. [6] For Jehovah your God will indeed bless you just as he has promised you, and you will certainly lend on pledge to many nations, whereas you yourself will not borrow; and you must dominate over many nations, whereas over you they will not dominate.

[7] “In case some one of your brothers becomes poor among you in one of your cities, in your land that Jehovah your God is giving you, you must not harden your heart or be closefisted toward your poor brother. [8] For you should generously open your hand to him and by all means lend him on pledge as much as he needs, which he is in want of. [9] Watch out for yourself for fear a base word should come to be in your heart, saying, ‘The seventh year, the year of the release, has come close,’ and your eye should indeed become ungenerous toward your poor brother, and you should give him nothing, and he has to call out to Jehovah against you, and it has become a sin on your part. [10] You should by all means give to him, and your heart should not be stingy in your giving to him, because on this account

Jehovah your God will bless you in every deed of yours and in every undertaking of yours. [11] For someone poor will never cease to be in the midst of the land. That is why I am commanding you, saying, ‘You should generously open up your hand to your afflicted and poor brother in your land.’

[12] “In case there should be sold to you your brother, a Hebrew or a Hebrewess, and he has served you six years, then in the seventh year you should send him out from you as one set free. [13] And in case you should send him out from you as one set free, you must not send him out empty-handed. [14] You should surely equip him with something from your flock and your threshing floor and your oil and winepress. Just as Jehovah your God has blessed you, you should give to him. [15] And you must remember that you became a slave in the land of Egypt and Jehovah your God proceeded to redeem you. That is why I am commanding you this thing today.

[16] “And it must occur that in case he says to you, ‘I shall not go out from your company! ’ because he does love you and your household, since it was well with him while with you, [17] you must also take an awl and put it through his ear and to the door, and he must become your slave to time indefinite. And to your slave girl you should also do this way. [18] It should not be something hard in your eyes when you send him out from your company as one set free; because for double the value of a hired laborer he served you six years, and Jehovah your God has blessed you in everything that you would do.

[19] “Every male firstborn that will be born in your herd and in your flock you should sanctify to Jehovah your God. You must do no service with the firstborn of your bull, nor shear the firstborn of your flock. [20] Before Jehovah your God you should eat it year by year in the place that Jehovah will choose, you and your household. [21] And in case there should prove to be in it a defect, being lame or blind, any bad defect, you must not sacrifice it to Jehovah your God. [22] Inside your gates you should eat it, the unclean one and the clean one together, like the gazelle and like the stag. [23] Only its blood you must not eat. Upon the earth you should pour it out as water.

16 “Let there be an observing of the month of A′bib, and you must celebrate the passover to Jehovah your God, because in the month of A′bib Jehovah your God brought you out of Egypt by night. [2] And you must sacrifice the passover to Jehovah your God, of the flock and of the herd, in the place that Jehovah will choose to have his name reside there. [3] You must eat nothing leavened along with it for seven days. You should eat along with it unfermented cakes, the bread of affliction, because it was in haste that you came out of the land of Egypt, that you may remember the day of your coming out of the land of Egypt all the days of your life. [4] And no sourdough should be seen with you in all your territory seven days, neither should any of the flesh, which you will sacrifice in the evening on the first day, stay all night until the morning. [5] You will not be allowed to sacrifice the passover in any one of your cities that Jehovah your God is giving you. [6] But at the place that Jehovah your God will choose to have his name reside there, you should sacrifice the passover in the evening as soon as the sun sets, at the appointed time of your coming out of Egypt. [7] And you must do the cooking and the eating in the place that Jehovah your God will choose, and in the morning you must turn around and go to your own tents. [8] Six days you should eat unfermented cakes; and on the seventh day there will be a solemn assembly to Jehovah your God. You must do no work.

[9] “Seven weeks you should count for yourself. From when the sickle is first put to the standing grain you will start to count seven weeks. [10] Then you must celebrate the festival of weeks to Jehovah your God, according to the voluntary offering of your hand that you will give, just as Jehovah your God may bless you. [11] And you must rejoice before Jehovah your God, you and your son and your daughter and your man slave and your slave girl and the Levite who is inside your gates and the alien resident and the fatherless boy and the widow, who are in your midst, in the place that Jehovah your God will choose to have his name reside there. [12] And you must remember that you became a slave in Egypt, and you must observe and carry out these regulations.

[13] “The festival of booths you should celebrate for yourself seven days when you make an ingathering from your threshing floor and your oil and winepress. [14] And you must rejoice during your festival, you and your son and your daughter and your man slave and your slave girl and the Levite and the alien resident and the fatherless boy and the widow, who are inside your gates. [15] Seven days you will celebrate the festival to Jehovah your God in the place that Jehovah will choose, because Jehovah your God will bless you in all your produce and in every deed of your hand, and you must become nothing but joyful.

[16] “Three times in the year every male of yours should appear before Jehovah your God in the place that he will choose: in the festival of the unfermented cakes and in the festival of weeks and in the festival of booths, and none should appear before Jehovah empty-handed. [17] The gift of each one’s hand should be in proportion to the blessing of Jehovah your God that he has given you.

[18] “You should set judges and officers for yourself inside all your gates that Jehovah your God is giving you by your tribes, and they must judge the people with righteous judgment. [19] You must not pervert judgment. You must not be partial or accept a bribe, for the bribe blinds the eyes of wise ones and distorts the words of righteous ones. [20] Justice —justice you should pursue, in order that you may keep alive and may indeed take possession of the land that Jehovah your God is giving you.

21 “You must not plant for yourself any sort of tree as a sacred pole near the altar of Jehovah your God that you will make for yourself.

22 “Neither should you set up for yourself a sacred pillar, a thing Jehovah your God hates indeed.

17 “You must not sacrifice to Jehovah your God a bull or a sheep in which there proves to be a defect, anything bad; because it is a thing detestable to Jehovah your God.

[2] “In case there should be found in your midst in one of your cities that Jehovah your God is giving you a man or a woman who should practice what is bad in the eyes of Jehovah your God so as to overstep his covenant, [3] and he should go and worship other gods and bow down to them or to the sun or the moon or all the army of the heavens, a thing that I have not commanded, [4] and it has been told you and you have heard it and have searched thoroughly, and, look! the thing is established as the truth, this detestable thing has been done in Israel! [5] you must also bring that man or that woman who has done this bad thing out to your gates, yes, the man or the woman, and you must stone such one with stones, and such one must die. [6] At the mouth of two witnesses or of three witnesses the one dying should be put to death. He will not be put to death at the mouth of one witness. [7] The hand of the witnesses first of all should come upon him to put him to death, and the hand of all the people afterward; and you must clear out what is bad from your midst.

[8] “In case a matter for judicial decision should be too extraordinary for you, one in which blood has been shed, in which a legal claim has been raised, or a violent deed has been committed, matters of dispute, inside your gates, you must also rise and go up to the place that Jehovah your God will choose, [9] and you must go to the priests, the Levites, and to the judge who will be acting in those days, and you must make inquiry, and they must hand down to you the word of the judicial decision. [10] Then you must do in accordance with the word that they will hand down to you from that place which Jehovah will choose; and you must be careful to do according to all that they instruct you. [11] In accordance with the law that they will point out to you, and according to the judicial decision that they will say to you, you should do. You must not turn aside from the word that they will hand down to you, to the right or to the left. [12] And the man who will behave with presumptuousness in not listening to the priest who is standing to minister there to Jehovah your God or to the judge, that man must die; and you must clear out what is bad from Israel. [13] And all the people will hear and become afraid, and they will not act presumptuously anymore.

[14] “When you eventually come into the land that Jehovah your God is giving you, and you have taken possession of it and have dwelt in it, and you have said, ‘Let me set a king over myself like all the nations who are round about me’; [15] you should without fail set over yourself a king whom Jehovah your God will choose. From among your brothers you should set a king over yourself. You will not be allowed to put over yourself a foreigner who is not your brother. [16] Only he should not increase horses for himself, nor make the people go back to Egypt in order to increase horses; whereas Jehovah has said to YOU, ‘YOU must never go back again by this way.’ [17] He should also not multiply wives for himself, that his heart may not turn aside; nor should he increase silver and gold for himself very much. [18] And it must occur that when he takes his seat on the throne of his kingdom, he must write in a book for himself a copy of this law from that which is in the charge of the priests, the Levites.

[19] “And it must continue with him, and he must read in it all the days of his life, in order that he may learn to fear Jehovah his God so as to keep all the words of this law and these regulations by doing them; [20] that his heart may not exalt itself above his brothers and that he may not turn aside from the commandment to the right or to the left, in order that he may lengthen his days upon his kingdom, he and his sons in the midst of Israel.

18 “No share or inheritance with Israel should come to belong to the priests, the Levites, the entire tribe of Le′vi. The offerings made by fire of Jehovah, even his inheritance, they should eat. [2] So no inheritance should come to belong to him in the midst of his brothers. Jehovah is his inheritance, just as he has spoken to him.

[3] “Now this should continue as the due right of the priests from the people, from the ones who sacrifice a victim, whether a bull or a sheep: One must give to the priest the shoulder blade and the jaws and the stomach. [4] The first of your grain, your new wine and your oil and the first of the shorn wool of your flock you should give him. [5] For he is the one whom Jehovah your God has chosen out of all your tribes to stand to minister in the name of Jehovah, he and his sons, always.

[6] “And in case the Levite goes out of one of your cities of all Israel, where he had resided for a while, and he does come because of any craving of his soul to the place that Jehovah will choose, [7] he must also minister in the name of Jehovah his God the same as all his brothers, the Levites, who are standing there before Jehovah. [8] An equal share he should eat, besides what he gets from things he sells of his ancestral goods.

[9] “When you are entered into the land that Jehovah your God is giving you, you must not learn to do according to the detestable things of those nations. [10] There should not be found in you anyone who makes his son or his daughter pass through the fire, anyone who employs divination, a practicer of magic or anyone who looks for omens or a sorcerer, [11] or one who binds others with a spell or anyone who consults a spirit medium or a professional foreteller of events or anyone who inquires of the dead. [12] For everybody doing these things is something detestable to Jehovah, and on account of these detestable things Jehovah your God is driving them away from before you. [13] You should prove yourself faultless with Jehovah your God.

[14] “For these nations whom you are dispossessing used to listen to those practicing magic and to those who divine; but as for you, Jehovah your God has not given you anything like this. [15] A prophet from your own midst, from your brothers, like me, is what Jehovah your God will raise up for you—to him YOU people should listen— [16] in response to all that you asked of Jehovah your God in Ho′reb on the day of the congregation, saying, ‘Do not let me hear again the voice of Jehovah my God, and this great fire do not let me see anymore, that I may not die.’ [17] At that Jehovah said to me, ‘They have done well in speaking what they did. [18] A prophet I shall raise up for them from the midst of their brothers, like you; and I shall indeed put my words in his mouth, and he will certainly speak to them all that I shall command him. [19] And it must occur that the man who will not listen to my words that he will speak in my name, I shall myself require an account from him.

[20] “‘However, the prophet who presumes to speak in my name a word that I have not commanded him to speak or who speaks in the name of other gods, that prophet must die. [21] And in case you should say in your heart: “How shall we know the word that Jehovah has not spoken?” [22] when the prophet speaks in the name of Jehovah and the word does not occur or come true, that is the word that Jehovah did not speak. With presumptuousness the prophet spoke it. You must not get frightened at him.’

19 “When Jehovah your God cuts off the nations whose land Jehovah your God is giving you, and you have dispossessed them and have dwelt in their cities and their houses, [2] you will set apart three cities for yourself in the midst of your land that Jehovah your God is giving you to take possession of it. [3] You will prepare for yourself the way, and you must divide up the territory of your land that Jehovah your God proceeded to give you as a possession into three parts, and it must be for any manslayer to flee there.

[4] “Now this is the case of the manslayer who may flee there and has to live: When he strikes his fellowman without knowing it and he was no hater of him formerly; [5] or when he goes with his fellowman into the woods to gather wood, and his hand has been raised to strike with the ax to cut the tree, and the iron has slipped off from the wooden handle, and it has hit his fellowman and he has died, he himself should flee to one of these cities and must live. [6] Otherwise, the avenger of blood may, because his heart is hot, chase after the manslayer and actually overtake him, since the way is great; and he may indeed strike his soul fatally, whereas there is no sentence of death for him, because he was no hater of him formerly. [7] That is why I am commanding you, saying, ‘Three cities you will set apart for yourself.’

[8] “And if Jehovah your God widens out your territory according to what he swore to your forefathers, and he has given you all the land that he promised to give to your forefathers, [9] because you will keep all this commandment that I am commanding you today by doing it, to love Jehovah your God and to walk in his ways always, you must then add three other cities for yourself to these three, [10] that no innocent blood may be spilled in the midst of your land that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance, and no bloodguilt has to be upon you.

11 “But in case there should happen to be a man hating his fellowman, and he has lain in wait for him and has risen up against him and struck his soul fatally and he has died, and the man has fled to one of these cities, 12 the older men of his city must then send and take him from there, and they must deliver him into the hand of the avenger of blood, and he must die. 13 Your eye should not feel sorry for him, and you must clear away the guilt of innocent blood out of Israel, that you may have good.

14 “You must not move back the boundary marks of your fellowman, when the ancestors will have set the boundaries in your inheritance that you will inherit in the land that Jehovah your God is giving you to take possession of it.

15 “No single witness should rise up against a man respecting any error or any sin, in the case of any sin that he may commit. At the mouth of two witnesses or at the mouth of three witnesses the matter should stand good. 16 In case a witness scheming violence should rise up against a man to bring a charge of revolt against him, 17 the two men who have the dispute must also stand before Jehovah, before the priests and the judges who will be acting in those days. 18 And the judges must search thoroughly, and if the witness is a false witness and has brought a false charge against his brother, 19 YOU must also do to him just as he had schemed to do to his brother, and you must clear away what is bad from your midst. 20 So those who remain will hear and be afraid, and they will never again do anything bad like this in your midst. 21 And your eye should not feel sorry: soul will be for soul, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot.

20 “In case you go out to the battle against your enemies and you actually see horses and war chariots, a people more numerous than you, you must not be afraid of them; for Jehovah your God is with you, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt. [2] And it must occur that when YOU have drawn near to the battle, the priest must also approach and speak to the people. [3] And he must say to them, ‘Hear, O Israel, YOU are drawing near today to the battle against YOUR enemies. Do not let YOUR hearts be timid. Do not be afraid and run in panic or shudder because of them, [4] for Jehovah YOUR God is marching with YOU to fight for YOU against YOUR enemies so as to save YOU.’

[5] “The officers too must speak to the people, saying, ‘Who is the man that has built a new house and has not inaugurated it? Let him go and return to his house, for fear he may die in the battle and another man should inaugurate it. [6] And who is the man that has planted a vineyard and not begun to use it? Let him go and return to his house, for fear he may die in the battle and another man should begin to use it. [7] And who is the man that has become engaged to a woman and has not taken her? Let him go and return to his house, for fear he may die in the battle and another man should take her.’ [8] And the officers must speak further to the people and say, ‘Who is the man that is fearful and fainthearted? Let him go and return to his house, that he may not cause the hearts of his brothers to melt as his own heart.’ [9] And it must occur that when the officers have finished speaking to the people, they must also appoint chiefs of the armies at the head of the people.

[10] “In case you draw near to a city to fight against it, you must also announce to it terms of peace. [11] And it must occur that if it gives a peaceful answer to you and it has opened up to you, it must even occur that all the people found in it should become yours for forced labor, and they must serve you. 12 But if it does not make peace with you, and it actually makes war with you and you have to besiege it, 13 Jehovah your God also will certainly give it into your hand, and you must strike every male in it with the edge of the sword. 14 Only the women and the little children and the domestic animals and everything that happens to be in the city, all its spoil you will plunder for yourself; and you must eat the spoil of your enemies, whom Jehovah your God has given to you.

15 “That is the way you will do to all the cities very far away from you that are not of the cities of these nations. 16 It is only of the cities of these peoples that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance that you must not preserve any breathing thing alive, 17 because you should without fail devote them to destruction, the Hit′tites and the Am′or·ites, the Ca′naan·ites and the Per′iz·zites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, just as Jehovah your God has commanded you; 18 in order that they may not teach YOU to do according to all their detestable things, which they have done to their gods, and YOU may indeed sin against Jehovah YOUR God.

19 “In case you lay siege to a city many days by fighting against it so as to capture it, you must not ruin its trees by wielding an ax against them; for you should eat from them, and you must not cut them down, for is the tree of the field a man to be besieged by you? 20 Only a tree that you know is not a tree for food, it is the one you should ruin, and you must cut it down and build siegeworks against the city that is making war with you, until it falls.

21 “In case someone is found slain on the ground that Jehovah your God is giving you to take possession of it, fallen on the field, and it has not become known who struck him fatally, [2] your older men and your judges must also go out and measure to the cities that are all around the slain one; [3] and it must prove to be the city nearest to the slain one. And the older men of that city must take a young cow of the herd that has not been worked with, that has not pulled in a yoke; [4] and the older men of that city must lead the young cow down to a torrent valley running with water in which there was customarily no tilling or sowing of seed, and they must break the neck of the young cow there in the torrent valley.

[5] “And the priests the sons of Le′vi must approach, because they are the ones Jehovah your God has chosen to minister to him and to bless in the name of Jehovah and at whose mouth every dispute over every violent deed should be disposed of. [6] Then all the older men of that city who are nearest to the slain one should wash their hands over the young cow, the neck of which was broken in the torrent valley; [7] and they must answer and say, ‘Our hands did not shed this blood, neither did our eyes see it shed. [8] Do not set it to the account of your people Israel, whom you redeemed, O Jehovah, and do not put the guilt of innocent blood in the midst of your people Israel.’ And the bloodguilt must not be set to their account. [9] And you—you will clear away the guilt of innocent blood from your midst, because you will do what is right in Jehovah’s eyes.

[10] “In case you go out to the battle against your enemies and Jehovah your God has given them into your hand and you have carried them away captive; [11] and you have seen among the captives a woman beautiful in form, and you have got attached to her and taken her for your wife, [12] you must then bring her into the midst of your house. She must now shave her head and attend to her nails, [13] and remove the mantle of her captivity from off her and dwell in your house and weep for her father and her mother a whole lunar month; and after that you should have relations with her, and you must take possession of her as your bride, and she must become your wife. [14] And it must occur that if you have found no delight in her, you must then send her away, agreeably to her own soul; but you must by no means sell her for money. You must not deal tyrannically with her after you have humiliated her.

[15] “In case a man comes to have two wives, the one loved and the other hated, and they, the loved one and the hated one, have borne sons to him, and the firstborn son has come to be of the hated one, [16] it must also occur that in the day that he gives as an inheritance to his sons what he happens to have, he will not be allowed to constitute the son of the loved one his firstborn at the expense of the hated one’s son, the firstborn. [17] For he should recognize as the firstborn the hated one’s son by giving him two parts in everything he is found to have, because that one is the beginning of his generative power. The right of the firstborn’s position belongs to him.

[18] “In case a man happens to have a son who is stubborn and rebellious, he not listening to the voice of his father or the voice of his mother, and they have corrected him but he will not listen to them, [19] his father and his mother must also take hold of him and bring him out to the older men of his city and to the gate of his place, [20] and they must say to the older men of his city, ‘This son of ours is stubborn and rebellious; he is not listening to our voice, being a glutton and a drunkard.’ [21] Then all the men of his city must pelt him with stones, and he must die. So you must clear away what is bad from your midst, and all Israel will hear and indeed become afraid.

[22] “And in case there comes to be in a man a sin deserving the sentence of death, and he has been put to death, and you have hung him upon a stake, [23] his dead body should not stay all night on the stake; but you should by all means bury him on that day, because something accursed of God is the one hung up; and you must not defile your soil, which Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance.

22 “You must not see the bull of your brother or his sheep straying about and deliberately withdraw from them. You should by all means lead them back to your brother. [2] And if your brother is not near you and you have not got to know him, you must also bring it home into the midst of your house, and it must continue with you until your brother has searched for it. And you must return it to him. [3] That is the way too that you will do with his ass, and that is the way you will do with his mantle, and that is the way you will do with anything lost of your brother’s, which gets lost from him and which you have found. You will not be allowed to withdraw yourself.

[4] “You must not see the ass of your brother or his bull fall down on the road and deliberately withdraw from them. You should by all means help him raise them up.

[5] “No garb of an able-bodied man should be put upon a woman, neither should an able-bodied man wear the mantle of a woman; for anybody doing these things is something detestable to Jehovah your God.

[6] “In case a bird’s nest happens to be before you in the way, in any tree or on the earth with young ones or eggs, and the mother is sitting upon the young ones or the eggs, you must not take the mother along with the offspring. [7] You should by all means send the mother away, but you may take the offspring for yourself; in order that it may go well with you, and you may indeed lengthen your days.

[8] “In case you build a new house, you must also make a parapet for your roof, that you may not place bloodguilt upon your house because someone falling might fall from it.

[9] “You must not sow your vineyard with two sorts of seed, for fear that the full produce of the seed that you might sow and the product of the vineyard may be forfeited to the sanctuary.

[10] “You must not plow with a bull and an ass together.

[11] “You must not wear mixed stuff of wool and linen together.

[12] “You should make tassels for yourself on the four extremities of your clothing with which you cover yourself.

[13] “In case a man takes a wife and actually has relations with her and has come to hate her, [14] and he has charged her with notorious deeds and brought forth a bad name upon her and has said, ‘This is the woman I have taken, and I proceeded to go near her, and I did not find evidence of virginity in her’; [15] the father of the girl and her mother must also take and bring forth the evidence of the girl’s virginity to the older men of the city at the gate of it; [16] and the girl’s father must say to the older men, ‘I gave my daughter to this man as a wife, and he went hating her. [17] And here he is charging her with notorious deeds, saying: “I have found your daughter does not have evidence of virginity.” Now this is the evidence of my daughter’s virginity.’ And they must spread out the mantle before the older men of the city. [18] And the older men of that city must take the man and discipline him. [19] And they must fine him a hundred silver shekels and give them to the girl’s father, because he brought forth a bad name upon a virgin of Israel; and she will continue to be his wife. He will not be allowed to divorce her all his days.

[20] “If, though, this thing has proved to be the truth, evidence of virginity was not found in the girl, [21] they must also bring the girl out to the entrance of her father’s house, and the men of her city must pelt her with stones, and she must die, because she has committed a disgraceful folly in Israel by committing prostitution in the house of her father. So you must clear away what is bad from your midst.

22 “In case a man is found lying down with a woman owned by an owner, both of them must then die together, the man lying down with the woman and the woman. So you must clear away what is bad out of Israel.

23 “In case there happened to be a virgin girl engaged to a man, and a man actually found her in the city and lay down with her, 24 YOU must also bring them both out to the gate of that city and pelt them with stones, and they must die, the girl for the reason that she did not scream in the city, and the man for the reason that he humiliated the wife of his fellowman. So you must clear away what is evil from your midst.

25 “If, however, it is in the field that the man found the girl who was engaged, and the man grabbed hold of her and lay down with her, the man who lay down with her must also die by himself, 26 and to the girl you must do nothing. The girl has no sin deserving of death, because just as when a man rises up against his fellowman and indeed murders him, even a soul, so it is with this case. 27 For it was in the field that he found her. The girl who was engaged screamed, but there was no one to rescue her.

28 “In case a man finds a girl, a virgin who has not been engaged, and he actually seizes her and lies down with her, and they have been found out, 29 the man who lay down with her must also give the girl’s father fifty silver shekels, and she will become his wife due to the fact that he humiliated her. He will not be allowed to divorce her all his days.

[30] “No man should take his father’s wife, that he may not uncover the skirt of his father.

23 “No man castrated by crushing the testicles or having his male member cut off may come into the congregation of Jehovah.

[2] “No illegitimate son may come into the congregation of Jehovah. Even to the tenth generation none of his may come into the congregation of Jehovah.

[3] “No Am′mon·ite or Mo′ab·ite may come into the congregation of Jehovah. Even to the tenth generation none of theirs may come into the congregation of Jehovah to time indefinite, [4] for the reason that they did not come to YOUR aid with bread and water in the way when YOU were going out of Egypt, and because they hired against you Ba′laam the son of Be′or from Pe′thor of Mes·o·po·ta′mi·a to call down evil upon you. [5] And Jehovah your God did not want to listen to Ba′laam; but Jehovah your God in your behalf changed the malediction into a blessing, because Jehovah your God loved you. [6] You must not work for their peace and their prosperity all your days to time indefinite.

[7] “You must not detest an E′dom·ite, for he is your brother.

“You must not detest an Egyptian, for you became an alien resident in his country. [8] The sons that may be born to them as the third generation may come for themselves into the congregation of Jehovah.

[9] “In case you go out into camp against your enemies, you must also keep yourself from every bad thing. [10] In case there happens to be in you a man who does not continue clean, because of a pollution that occurs at night, he must also go outside the camp. He may not come into the midst of the camp. [11] And it must occur that at the falling of evening he should wash with water, and at the setting of the sun he may come into the midst of the camp. [12] And a private place should be at your service outside the camp, and you must go out there. [13] And a peg should be at your service along with your implements, and it must occur that when you squat outside, you must also dig a hole with it and turn and cover your excrement. [14] For Jehovah your God is walking about within your camp to deliver you and to abandon your enemies to you; and your camp must prove to be holy, that he may see nothing indecent in you and certainly turn away from accompanying you.

[15] “You must not hand over a slave to his master when he escapes from his master to you. [16] With you he will keep on dwelling in among you in whatever place he may choose in one of your cities, wherever he likes. You must not maltreat him.

[17] “None of the daughters of Israel may become a temple prostitute, neither may anyone of the sons of Israel become a temple prostitute. [18] You must not bring the hire of a harlot or the price of a dog into the house of Jehovah your God for any vow, because they are something detestable to Jehovah your God, even both of them.

[19] “You must not make your brother pay interest, interest on money, interest on food, interest on anything on which one may claim interest. [20] You may make a foreigner pay interest, but your brother you must not make pay interest; in order that Jehovah your God may bless you in every undertaking of yours on the land to which you are going so as to take possession of it.

[21] “In case you vow a vow to Jehovah your God, you must not be slow about paying it, because Jehovah your God will without fail require it of you, and it would indeed become a sin on your part. [22] But in case you omit making a vow, it will not become a sin on your part. [23] The utterance of your lips you should keep, and you must do just as you have vowed to Jehovah your God as a voluntary offering that you spoke of with your mouth.

[24] “In case you go into the vineyard of your fellowman, you must eat only enough grapes for you to satisfy your soul, but you must not put any into a receptacle of yours.

[25] “In case you go into the standing grain of your fellowman, you must pluck off only the ripe ears with your hand, but the sickle you must not swing to and fro upon the standing grain of your fellowman.

24 “In case a man takes a woman and does make her his possession as a wife, it must also occur that if she should find no favor in his eyes because he has found something indecent on her part, he must also write out a certificate of divorce for her and put it in her hand and dismiss her from his house. [2] And she must go out of his house and go and become another man’s. [3] If the latter man has come to hate her and has written out a certificate of divorce for her and put it in her hand and dismissed her from his house, or in case the latter man who took her as his wife should die, [4] the first owner of her who dismissed her will not be allowed to take her back again to become his wife after she has been defiled; for that is something detestable before Jehovah, and you must not lead the land that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance into sin.

[5] “In case a man takes a new wife, he should not go out into the army, nor should anything else be imposed onto him. He should continue exempt at his house for one year, and he must make his wife whom he has taken rejoice.

[6] “No one should seize a hand mill or its upper grindstone as a pledge, because it is a soul that he is seizing as a pledge.

[7] “In case a man is found kidnapping a soul of his brothers of the sons of Israel, and he has dealt tyrannically with him and sold him, that kidnapper must also die. And you must clear away what is bad from your midst.

[8] “Be on your guard in the plague of leprosy to take good care and do according to all that the priests, the Levites, will instruct YOU. Just as I have commanded them, YOU should be careful to do. [9] There should be a remembering of what Jehovah your God did to Mir′i·am in the way when YOU were coming out of Egypt.

10 “In case you lend your fellowman a loan of any sort, you must not enter into his house to take from him what he has pledged. 11 You should stand on the outside, and the man to whom you are making a loan should bring the pledge outside to you. 12 And if the man is in trouble, you must not go to bed with his pledge. 13 You should by all means return the pledge to him as soon as the sun sets, and he must go to bed in his garment, and he must bless you; and it will mean righteousness for you before Jehovah your God.

14 “You must not defraud a hired laborer who is in trouble and poor, whether of your brothers or of your alien residents who are in your land, within your gates. 15 In his day you should give him his wages, and the sun should not set upon them, because he is in trouble and is lifting up his soul to his wages; that he may not cry out to Jehovah against you, and it must become sin on your part.

16 “Fathers should not be put to death on account of children, and children should not be put to death on account of fathers. Each one should be put to death for his own sin.

17 “You must not pervert the judgment of the alien resident or of the fatherless boy, and you must not seize the garment of a widow as a pledge. 18 And you must remember that you became a slave in Egypt, and Jehovah your God proceeded to redeem you from there. That is why I am commanding you to do this thing.

19 “In case you reap your harvest in your field, and you have forgotten a sheaf in the field, you must not go back to get it. It should stay for the alien resident, for the fatherless boy and for the widow; in order that Jehovah your God may bless you in every deed of your hand.

20 “In case you beat your olive tree, you must not go over its boughs following up yourself. It should stay for the alien resident, for the fatherless boy and for the widow.

21 “In case you gather the grapes of your vineyard, you must not gather the leftovers following up yourself. They should stay for the alien resident, for the fatherless boy and for the widow. 22 And you must remember that you became a slave in the land of Egypt. That is why I am commanding you to do this thing.

25 “In case a dispute arises between men, and they have presented themselves for the judgment, they must also judge them and pronounce the righteous one righteous and pronounce the wicked one wicked. [2] And it must occur that if the wicked one deserves to be beaten, the judge must also have him laid prostrate and given strokes before him by number to correspond with his wicked deed. [3] With forty strokes he may beat him. He should add none, for fear he should continue to beat him with many strokes in addition to these and your brother is actually disgraced in your eyes.

[5] “In case brothers dwell together and one of them has died without his having a son, the wife of the dead one should not become a strange man’s outside. Her brother-in-law should go to her, and he must take her as his wife and perform brother-in-law marriage with her. [6] And it must occur that the firstborn whom she will bear should succeed to the name of his dead brother, that his name may not be wiped out of Israel.

[7] “Now if the man finds no delight in taking his brother’s widow, his brother’s widow must then go up to the gate to the older men and say, ‘My husband’s brother has refused to preserve his brother’s name in Israel. He has not consented to perform brother-in-law marriage with me.’ [8] And the older men of his city must call him and speak to him, and he must stand and say, ‘I have found no delight in taking her.’ [9] At that his brother’s widow must approach him before the eyes of the older men and draw his sandal off his foot and spit in his face and answer and say, ‘That is the way it should be done to the man who will not build up his brother’s household.’ [10] And his name must be called in Israel ‘The house of the one who had his sandal drawn off.’

[11] “In case men struggle together with one another, and the wife of the one has come near to deliver her husband out of the hand of the one striking him, and she has thrust out her hand and grabbed hold of him by his privates, [12] you must then amputate her hand. Your eye must feel no sorrow.

[13] “You must not come to have in your bag two sorts of weights, a great one and a small one. [14] You must not come to have in your house two sorts of e′phahs, a great one and a small one. [15] A weight accurate and just you should continue to have. An e′phah accurate and just you should continue to have, in order that your days may become long on the soil that Jehovah your God is giving you. [16] For everyone doing these things, every doer of injustice, is something detestable to Jehovah your God.

[17] “There should be a remembering of what Am′a·lek did to you in the way when YOU were coming out of Egypt, [18] how he met you in the way and proceeded to strike in the rear of you all those straggling after you, while you were exhausted and weary; and he did not fear God. [19] And it must occur that when Jehovah your God has given you rest from all your enemies round about in the land that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance to take possession of it, you should wipe out the mention of Am′a·lek from under the heavens. You must not forget.

26 “And it must occur that when at last you enter into the land that Jehovah your God is giving you as an inheritance, and you have taken possession of it and dwelt in it, [2] you must also take some of the firstfruits of all the fruitage of the soil, which you will bring in from the land of yours that Jehovah your God is giving you, and you must put them in a basket and go to the place that Jehovah your God will choose to have his name reside there. [3] And you must come to the priest who will be acting in those days and say to him, ‘I must report today to Jehovah your God that I have come into the land that Jehovah swore to our forefathers to give to us.’

[4] “And the priest must take the basket out of your hand and deposit it before the altar of Jehovah your God. [5] And you must answer and say before Jehovah your God, ‘My father was a perishing Syrian; and he proceeded to go down to Egypt and to reside there as an alien with very few in number; but there he became a great nation, mighty and numerous. [6] And the Egyptians went treating us badly and afflicting us and putting hard slavery upon us. [7] And we began to cry out to Jehovah the God of our forefathers, and Jehovah proceeded to hear our voice and to look on our affliction and our trouble and our oppression. [8] Finally Jehovah brought us out of Egypt with a strong hand and an outstretched arm and with great fearsomeness and with signs and miracles. [9] Then he brought us to this place and gave us this land, a land flowing with milk and honey. [10] And now here I have brought the firstfruits of the fruitage of the ground that Jehovah has given me.’

“You must also deposit it before Jehovah your God and bow down before Jehovah your God. [11] And you must rejoice over all the good that Jehovah your God has given you and your household, you and the Levite and the alien resident who is in your midst.

12 “When you finish with tithing the entire tenth of your produce in the third year, the year of the tenth, you must also give it to the Levite, the alien resident, the fatherless boy and the widow, and they must eat it within your gates and satisfy themselves. 13 And you must say before Jehovah your God, ‘I have cleared away what is holy from the house and I have also given it to the Levite and the alien resident, the fatherless boy and the widow, in accord with all your commandment that you have commanded me. I have not overstepped your commandments, nor have I forgotten. 14 I have not eaten of it during my mourning, nor have I removed any of it while unclean, nor have I given any of it for anyone dead. I have listened to the voice of Jehovah my God. I have done in accord with all that you have commanded me. 15 Do look down from your holy dwelling, the heavens, and bless your people Israel and the soil that you have given us, just as you swore to our forefathers, the land flowing with milk and honey.’

16 “This day Jehovah your God is commanding you to carry out these regulations and judicial decisions; and you must observe and carry them out with all your heart and all your soul. 17 Jehovah you have induced to say today that he will become your God while you walk in his ways and observe his regulations and his commandments and his judicial decisions and listen to his voice. 18 As for Jehovah, he has induced you to say today that you will become his people, a special property, just as he has promised you, and that you will observe all his commandments, 19 and that he will put you high above all the other nations that he has made, resulting in praise and reputation and beauty, while you prove yourself a people holy to Jehovah your God, just as he has promised.”

27 And Moses together with the older men of Israel went on to command the people, saying: “There should be an observing of every commandment that I am commanding YOU today. [2] And it must occur that in the day when YOU will cross the Jordan into the land that Jehovah your God is giving you, you must also set up for yourself great stones and whitewash them with lime. [3] And you must write upon them all the words of this law when you have crossed, in order that you may enter into the land that Jehovah your God is giving you, a land flowing with milk and honey, according to what Jehovah the God of your forefathers has spoken to you. [4] And it must occur that when YOU have crossed the Jordan, YOU should set up these stones, just as I am commanding YOU today, in Mount E′bal, and you must whitewash them with lime. [5] You must also build an altar there to Jehovah your God, an altar of stones. You must not wield an iron tool upon them. [6] With whole stones you should build the altar of Jehovah your God, and you must offer burnt offerings to Jehovah your God on it. [7] And you must sacrifice communion sacrifices and eat them there, and you must rejoice before Jehovah your God. [8] And you must write on the stones all the words of this law, making them quite clear.”

[9] Then Moses and the priests, the Levites, spoke to all Israel, saying: “Keep silent and listen, O Israel. This day you have become the people of Jehovah your God. [10] And you must listen to the voice of Jehovah your God and carry out his commandments and his regulations, which I am commanding you today.”

[11] And Moses went on to command the people on that day, saying: [12] “The following are the ones who will stand to bless the people on Mount Ger′i·zim when YOU have crossed the Jordan: Sim′e·on and Le′vi and Judah and Is′sa·char and Joseph and Benjamin. 13 And the following are the ones who will stand for the malediction on Mount E′bal: Reu′ben, Gad and Ash′er and Zeb′u·lun, Dan and Naph′ta·li. 14 And the Levites must answer and say with raised voice to every man of Israel:

15 "'Cursed is the man who makes a carved image or a molten statue, a thing detestable to Jehovah, the manufacture of the hands of a wood-and-metal worker, and who has put it in a hiding place.' (And all the people must answer and say, 'Amen!')

16 "'Cursed is the one who treats his father or his mother with contempt.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

17 "'Cursed is the one who moves back the boundary mark of his fellowman.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

18 "'Cursed is the one who causes the blind to go astray in the way.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

19 "'Cursed is the one who perverts the judgment of an alien resident, a fatherless boy and a widow.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

20 "'Cursed is the one who lies down with his father's wife, because he has uncovered the skirt of his father.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

21 "'Cursed is the one who lies down with any beast.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

22 "'Cursed is the one who lies down with his sister, the daughter of his father or the daughter of his mother.' (And all the people must say, 'Amen!')

[23] “‘Cursed is the one who lies down with his mother-in-law.’ (And all the people must say, ‘Amen!’)

[24] “‘Cursed is the one who fatally strikes his fellowman from a hiding place.’ (And all the people must say, ‘Amen!’)

[25] “‘Cursed is the one who accepts a bribe to strike a soul fatally, when it is innocent blood.’ (And all the people must say, ‘Amen!’)

[26] “‘Cursed is the one who will not put the words of this law in force by doing them.’ (And all the people must say, ‘Amen!’)

28 “And it must occur that if you will without fail listen to the voice of Jehovah your God by being careful to do all his commandments that I am commanding you today, Jehovah your God also will certainly put you high above all other nations of the earth. [2] And all these blessings must come upon you and overtake you, because you keep listening to the voice of Jehovah your God:

[3] “Blessed will you be in the city, and blessed will you be in the field.

[4] “Blessed will be the fruit of your belly and the fruit of your ground and the fruit of your domestic beast, the young of your cattle and the progeny of your flock.

[5] “Blessed will be your basket and your kneading trough.

[6] “Blessed will you be when you come in, and blessed will you be when you go out.

[7] “Jehovah will cause your enemies who rise up against you to be defeated before you. By one way they will come out against you, but by seven ways they will flee before you. [8] Jehovah will decree for you the blessing on your stores of supply and every undertaking of yours, and he will certainly bless you in the land that Jehovah your God is giving you. [9] Jehovah will establish you as a holy people to himself, just as he swore to you, because you continue to keep the commandments of Jehovah your God, and you have walked in his ways. [10] And all the peoples of the earth will have to see that Jehovah’s name has been called upon you, and they will indeed be afraid of you.

[11] “Jehovah will also make you overflow indeed with prosperity in the fruit of your belly and the fruit of your domestic animals and the fruitage of your ground, on the ground that Jehovah swore to your forefathers to give you. [12] Jehovah will open up to you his good storehouse, the heavens, to give the rain on your land in its season and to bless every deed of your hand; and you will certainly lend to many nations, while you yourself will not borrow. [13] And Jehovah will indeed put you at the head and not at the tail; and you must come to be only on top, and you will not come to be on the bottom, because you keep obeying the commandments of Jehovah your God, which I am commanding you today to observe and to do. [14] And you must not turn aside from all the words that I am commanding YOU today, to the right or to the left, to walk after other gods to serve them.

[15] “And it must occur that if you will not listen to the voice of Jehovah your God by taking care to do all his commandments and his statutes that I am commanding you today, all these maledictions must also come upon you and overtake you:

[16] “Cursed will you be in the city, and cursed will you be in the field.

[17] “Cursed will be your basket and your kneading trough.

[18] “Cursed will be the fruit of your belly and the fruitage of your ground, the young of your cattle and the progeny of your flock.

[19] “Cursed will you be when you come in, and cursed will you be when you go out.

[20] “Jehovah will send upon you the curse, confusion and rebuke in every undertaking of yours that you try to carry out, until you have been annihilated and have perished in a hurry, because of the badness of your practices in that you have forsaken me. [21] Jehovah will cause the pestilence to cling to you until he has exterminated you from off the ground to which you are going to take possession of it. [22] Jehovah will strike you with tuberculosis and burning fever and inflammation and feverish heat and the sword and scorching and mildew, and they will certainly pursue you until you have perished. [23] Your skies that are over your head must also become copper, and the earth that is beneath you iron. [24] Jehovah will give powder and dust as the rain of your land. From the heavens it will come down upon you until you have been annihilated. [25] Jehovah will cause you to be defeated before your enemies. By one way you will go out against them, but by seven ways you will flee before them; and you must become a frightful object to all the earth’s kingdoms. [26] And your dead body must become food for every flying creature of the heavens and to the beast of the field, with no one to make them tremble.

[27] “Jehovah will strike you with the boil of Egypt and piles and eczema and skin eruption, from which you will not be able to be healed. [28] Jehovah will strike you with madness and loss of sight and bewilderment of heart. [29] And you will indeed become one who gropes about at midday, just as a blind man gropes about in the gloom, and you will not make your ways successful; and you must become only one who is always defrauded and robbed, with no one to save you. [30] You will become engaged to a woman, but another man will rape her. You will build a house, but you will not dwell in it. You will plant a vineyard, but you will not begin to use it. [31] Your bull slaughtered there before your eyes—but you will not eat any of it. Your ass taken in robbery from before your face—but it will not return to you. Your sheep given to your enemies—but you will have no savior. [32] Your sons and your daughters given to another people and your eyes looking on and yearning for them always—but your hands will be without power. [33] The fruitage of your ground and all your production a people will eat whom you have not known; and you must become one who is only defrauded and crushed always. [34] And you will certainly become maddened at the sight of your eyes that you will see.

[35] “Jehovah will strike you with a malignant boil upon both knees and both legs, from which you will not be able to be healed, from the sole of your foot to the crown of your head. [36] Jehovah will march you and your king whom you will set up over you to a nation whom you have not known, neither you nor your forefathers; and there you will have to serve other gods, of wood and of stone. [37] And you must become an object of astonishment, a proverbial saying and a taunt among all the peoples to whom Jehovah will lead you away.

[38] “A lot of seed you will take out to the field, but little will you gather, because the locust will devour it. [39] Vineyards you will plant and certainly cultivate, but you will drink no wine and gather nothing in, because the worm will eat it up. [40] You will come to have olive trees in all your territory, but you will rub yourself with no oil, because your olives will drop off. [41] Sons and daughters you will bring forth, but they will not continue yours, because they will go off into captivity. [42] All your trees and the fruitage of your ground whirring insects will take in possession. [43] The alien resident who is in your midst will keep ascending higher and higher above you, while you—you will keep descending lower and lower. [44] He will be the one to lend to you, while you—you will not lend to him. He will become the head, while you—you will become the tail.

[45] “And all these maledictions will certainly come upon you and pursue you and overtake you until you have been annihilated, because you did not listen to the voice of Jehovah your God by keeping his commandments and his statutes that he commanded you. [46] And they must continue on you and your offspring as a sign and a portent to time indefinite, [47] due to the fact that you did not serve Jehovah your God with rejoicing and joy of heart for the abundance of everything. [48] And you will have to serve your enemies whom Jehovah will send against you with hunger and thirst and nakedness and the want of everything; and he will certainly put an iron yoke upon your neck until he has annihilated you.

[49] “Jehovah will raise up against you a nation far away, from the end of the earth, just as an eagle pounces, a nation whose tongue you will not understand, [50] a nation fierce in countenance, who will not be partial to an old man or show favor to a young man. [51] And they will certainly eat the fruit of your domestic animals and the fruitage of your ground until you have been annihilated, and they will let no grain, new wine or oil, no young of your cattle or progeny of your flock, remain for you until they have destroyed you. [52] And they will indeed besiege you within all your gates until your high and fortified walls in which you are trusting fall in all your land, yes, they will certainly besiege you within all your gates in all your land, which Jehovah your God has given you. [53] Then you will have to eat the fruit of your belly, the flesh of your sons and your daughters, whom Jehovah your God has given you, because of the tightness and stress with which your enemy will hem you in.

[54] “As for the very delicate and dainty man among you, his eye will be evil-inclined toward his brother and his cherished wife and the remainder of his sons whom he has remaining, [55] so as not to give one of them any of the flesh of his sons that he will eat, because he has nothing at all remaining to him because of the tightness and stress with which your enemy will hem you in within all your gates. [56] As for the delicate and dainty woman among you who never attempted to set the sole of her foot upon the earth for being of dainty habit and for delicateness, her eye will be evil-inclined toward her cherished husband and her son and her daughter, [57] even toward her afterbirth that comes out from between her legs and toward her sons whom she proceeded to bear, because she will eat them in secrecy for the want of everything because of the tightness and stress with which your enemy will hem you in within your gates.

[58] “If you will not take care to carry out all the words of this law that are written in this book so as to fear this glorious and fear-inspiring name, even Jehovah, your God, [59] Jehovah also will certainly make your plagues and the plagues of your offspring especially severe, great and long-lasting plagues, and malignant and long-lasting sicknesses. [60] And he will indeed bring back upon you all the diseases of Egypt before which you got scared, and they will certainly hang onto you. [61] Also, any sickness and any plague that is not written in the book of this law, Jehovah will bring them upon you until you have been annihilated. [62] And YOU will indeed be left with very few in number, although YOU have become like the stars of the heavens for multitude, because you did not listen to the voice of Jehovah your God.

[63] “And it must occur that just as Jehovah exulted over YOU to do YOU good and to multiply YOU, so Jehovah will exult over YOU to destroy YOU and to annihilate YOU; and YOU will simply be torn away from off the soil to which you are going to take possession of it.

[64] “And Jehovah will certainly scatter you among all the peoples from the one end of the earth to the other end of the earth, and there you will have to serve other gods whom you have not known, neither you nor your forefathers, wood and stone. [65] And among those nations you will have no ease, nor will there prove to be any resting-place for the sole of your foot; and Jehovah will indeed give you there a trembling heart and a failing of the eyes and despair of soul. [66] And you will certainly be in the greatest peril for your life and be in dread night and day, and you will not be sure of your life. [67] In the morning you will say, ‘If it only were evening!’ and in the evening you will say, ‘If it only were morning!’ because of the dread of your heart with which you will be in dread and because of the sight of your eyes that you will see. [68] And Jehovah will certainly bring you back to Egypt by ships by the way about which I have said to you, ‘You will never see it again,’ and YOU will have to sell yourselves there to your enemies as slave men and maidservants, but there will be no buyer.”

29 These are the words of the covenant that Jehovah commanded Moses to conclude with the sons of Israel in the land of Mo′ab aside from the covenant that he had concluded with them in Ho′reb.

[2] And Moses proceeded to call all Israel and to say to them: “YOU were the ones seeing all that Jehovah did before YOUR eyes in the land of Egypt to Phar′aoh and all his servants and all his land, [3] the great provings that your eyes saw, those great signs and miracles. [4] And yet Jehovah has not given YOU a heart to know and eyes to see and ears to hear down to this day. [5] ‘While I kept guiding YOU forty years in the wilderness, YOUR garments did not wear out upon YOU, and your sandal did not wear out upon your foot. [6] Bread YOU did not eat, and wine and intoxicating liquor YOU did not drink, in order that YOU might know that I am Jehovah YOUR God.’ [7] Eventually YOU came to this place, and Si′hon the king of Hesh′bon and Og the king of Ba′shan proceeded to come out to meet us in battle, but we defeated them. [8] After that we took their land and gave it as an inheritance to the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites and half the tribe of the Ma·nas′sites. [9] So YOU must keep the words of this covenant and do them, in order that YOU may make everything YOU will do turn out well.

[10] “YOU are all of YOU stationed today before Jehovah YOUR God, the heads of YOUR tribes, YOUR older men and YOUR officers, every man of Israel, [11] YOUR little ones, YOUR wives, and your alien resident who is in the midst of your camp, from the gatherer of your wood to the drawer of your water, [12] in order for you to enter into the covenant of Jehovah your God and his oath, which Jehovah your God is concluding with you today; [13] for the purpose of establishing you today as his people and that he may prove himself your God, just as he has promised you and just as he has sworn to your forefathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

14 “Now it is not with YOU alone that I am concluding this covenant and this oath, 15 but it is with him who is here standing with us today before Jehovah our God and with those who are not here with us today; 16 (for YOU yourselves well know how we dwelt in the land of Egypt and how we passed through the midst of the nations through whom YOU passed. 17 And YOU used to see their disgusting things and their dungy idols, wood and stone, silver and gold, that were with them;) 18 that there may not be among YOU a man or a woman or a family or a tribe whose heart is turning today away from Jehovah our God to go and serve the gods of those nations; that there may not be among YOU a root bearing the fruit of a poisonous plant and wormwood.

19 “And it must occur that when someone has heard the words of this oath, and he has blessed himself in his heart, saying, ‘I shall come to have peace, although I shall walk in the stubbornness of my heart,’ with the intention of sweeping away the well-watered one along with the thirsty one, 20 Jehovah will not want to forgive him, but then Jehovah’s anger and his ardor will smoke against that man, and all the oath written in this book will certainly settle down on him, and Jehovah will indeed wipe out his name from under the heavens. 21 So Jehovah will have to separate him for calamity from all the tribes of Israel in accord with all the oath of the covenant that is written in this book of the law.

22 “And the future generation, YOUR sons who will rise up after YOU, will be bound to say, also the foreigner who will come from a distant land, even when they have seen the plagues of that land and its maladies with which Jehovah has sickened it, [23] sulphur and salt and burning, so that its whole land will not be sown, nor sprout, nor will any vegetation spring up in it, like the overthrow of Sod′om and Go·mor′rah, Ad′mah and Ze·boi′im, which Jehovah overthrew in his anger and in his wrath; [24] yes, all the nations will be bound to say, ‘Why did Jehovah do like this to this land? Why the heat of this great anger?’ [25] Then they will have to say, ‘It was because they abandoned the covenant of Jehovah the God of their forefathers, which he concluded with them when he brought them out of the land of Egypt. [26] And they proceeded to go and serve other gods and to bow down to them, gods that they had not known and he had not apportioned to them. [27] Then Jehovah’s anger blazed against that land by bringing upon it the whole malediction written in this book. [28] Hence Jehovah uprooted them from off their soil in anger and rage and great indignation and threw them into another land as at this day.’

[29] “The things concealed belong to Jehovah our God, but the things revealed belong to us and to our sons to time indefinite, that we may carry out all the words of this law.

30 “And it must occur that when all these words will come upon you, the blessing and the malediction, which I have put before you, and you have brought them back to your heart among all the nations where Jehovah your God has dispersed you, [2] and you have returned to Jehovah your God and listened to his voice according to all that I am commanding you today, you and your sons, with all your heart and all your soul, [3] Jehovah your God must also bring back your captives and show you mercy and collect you again from all the peoples where Jehovah your God has scattered you. [4] If your dispersed people should be at the end of the heavens, from there Jehovah your God will collect you and from there he will take you. [5] Jehovah your God will indeed bring you into the land of which your fathers took possession, and you will certainly take possession of it; and he will indeed do you good and multiply you more than your fathers. [6] And Jehovah your God will have to circumcise your heart and the heart of your offspring, that you may love Jehovah your God with all your heart and all your soul for the sake of your life. [7] And Jehovah your God will certainly put all these oaths upon your enemies and those who hate you, who have persecuted you.

[8] “As for you, you will turn and certainly listen to the voice of Jehovah and do all his commandments that I am commanding you today. [9] And Jehovah your God will indeed make you have more than enough in every work of your hand, in the fruit of your belly and the fruit of your domestic animals and the fruitage of your soil, resulting in prosperity; because Jehovah will again exult over you for good, just as he exulted over your forefathers; [10] for you will listen to the voice of Jehovah your God so as to keep his commandments and his statutes written in this book of the law, because you will return to Jehovah your God with all your heart and all your soul.

[11] “For this commandment that I am commanding you today is not too difficult for you, nor is it far away. [12] It is not in the heavens, so as to result in saying, ‘Who will ascend for us into the heavens and get it for us, that he may let us hear it that we may do it?’ [13] Neither is it on the other side of the sea, so as to result in saying, ‘Who will pass over for us to the other side of the sea and get it for us, that he may let us hear it that we may do it?’ [14] For the word is very near you, in your own mouth and in your own heart, that you may do it.

[15] “See, I do put before you today life and good, and death and bad. [16] If you will listen to the commandments of Jehovah your God, which I am commanding you today, so as to love Jehovah your God, to walk in his ways and to keep his commandments and his statutes and his judicial decisions, then you will be bound to keep alive and to multiply, and Jehovah your God must bless you in the land to which you are going to take possession of it.

[17] “But if your heart turns away and you do not listen, and you are actually seduced and bow down to other gods and serve them, [18] I do tell YOU today that YOU will positively perish. YOU will not lengthen YOUR days on the ground to which you are crossing the Jordan to go to take possession of it. [19] I do take the heavens and the earth as witnesses against YOU today, that I have put life and death before you, the blessing and the malediction; and you must choose life in order that you may keep alive, you and your offspring, [20] by loving Jehovah your God, by listening to his voice and by sticking to him; for he is your life and the length of your days, that you may dwell upon the ground that Jehovah swore to your forefathers Abraham, Isaac and Jacob to give to them.”

31 Then Moses went and spoke these words to all Israel [2] and said to them: “A hundred and twenty years old I am today. I shall no more be allowed to go out and come in, as Jehovah has said to me, ‘You will not cross this Jordan.’ [3] Jehovah your God is the one crossing before you. He himself will annihilate these nations from before you, and you must drive them away. Joshua is the one crossing before you, just as Jehovah has spoken. [4] And Jehovah will certainly do to them just as he has done to Si′hon and to Og, the kings of the Am′or·ites, and to their land, when he annihilated them. [5] And Jehovah has abandoned them to YOU, and YOU must do to them according to all the commandment that I have commanded YOU. [6] BE courageous and strong. Do not be afraid or suffer a shock before them, because Jehovah your God is the one marching with you. He will neither desert you nor leave you entirely.”

[7] And Moses proceeded to call Joshua and say to him before the eyes of all Israel: “Be courageous and strong, because you—you will bring this people into the land that Jehovah swore to their forefathers to give to them, and you yourself will give it to them as an inheritance. [8] And Jehovah is the one marching before you. He himself will continue with you. He will neither desert you nor leave you entirely. Do not be afraid or be terrified.”

[9] Then Moses wrote this law and gave it to the priests the sons of Le′vi, the carriers of the ark of Jehovah’s covenant, and to all the older men of Israel. [10] And Moses went on to command them, saying: “At the end of every seven years, in the appointed time of the year of the release, in the festival of booths, [11] when all Israel comes to see the face of Jehovah your God in the place that he will choose, you will read this law in front of all Israel in their hearing. 12 Congregate the people, the men and the women and the little ones and your alien resident who is within your gates, in order that they may listen and in order that they may learn, as they must fear Jehovah YOUR God and take care to carry out all the words of this law. 13 And their sons who have not known should listen, and they must learn to fear Jehovah YOUR God all the days that YOU are living upon the soil to which YOU are crossing the Jordan to take possession of it.”

14 After that Jehovah said to Moses: “Look! The days have drawn near for you to die. Call Joshua, and station yourselves in the tent of meeting, that I may commission him.” So Moses and Joshua went and stationed themselves in the tent of meeting. 15 Then Jehovah appeared at the tent in the pillar of cloud, and the pillar of cloud began to stand by the entrance of the tent.

16 Jehovah now said to Moses: “Look! You are lying down with your forefathers; and this people will certainly get up and have immoral intercourse with foreign gods of the land to which they are going, in their very midst, and they will certainly forsake me and break my covenant that I have concluded with them. 17 At that my anger will indeed blaze against them in that day, and I shall certainly forsake them and conceal my face from them, and they must become something to be consumed; and many calamities and distresses must come upon them, and they will be bound to say in that day, ‘Is it not because our God is not in our midst that these calamities have come upon us?’ 18 As for me, I shall absolutely conceal my face in that day because of all the badness that they have done, because they have turned to other gods.

19 “And now WRITE for yourselves this song and teach it to the sons of Israel. Place it in their mouths in order that this song may serve as my witness against the sons of Israel. [20] For I shall bring them to the ground that I have sworn about to their forefathers, which flows with milk and honey, and they will certainly eat and be satisfied and grow fat and turn to other gods, and they will indeed serve them and treat me with disrespect and break my covenant. [21] And it must occur that when many calamities and distresses will come upon them, this song must also answer before them as a witness, because it should not be forgotten out of the mouth of their offspring, for I well know their inclination that they are developing today before I bring them into the land about which I have sworn."

[22] So Moses wrote this song in that day, that he might teach it to the sons of Israel.

[23] And he proceeded to commission Joshua the son of Nun and to say: "Be courageous and strong, because you—you will bring the sons of Israel into the land about which I have sworn to them, and I myself shall continue with you."

[24] And it came about that as soon as Moses had finished writing the words of this law in a book until their completion, [25] Moses began to command the Levites, the carriers of the ark of Jehovah's covenant, saying: [26] "Taking this book of the law, YOU must place it at the side of the ark of the covenant of Jehovah YOUR God, and it must serve as a witness there against you. [27] For I—I well know your rebelliousness and your stiff neck. If while I am yet alive with YOU today, YOU have proved rebellious in behavior toward Jehovah, then how much more so after my death! [28] Congregate to me all the older men of YOUR tribes and YOUR officers, and let me speak in their hearing these words, and let me take the heavens and the earth as witnesses against them. [29] For I well know that after my death YOU will without fail act ruinously, and YOU will certainly turn aside from the way about which I have commanded YOU; and calamity will be bound to befall YOU at the close of the days, because YOU will do what is bad in the eyes of Jehovah so as to offend him by the works of YOUR hands.”

30 And Moses proceeded to speak in the hearing of all the congregation of Israel the words of this song until their completion:

32 “Give ear, O heavens, and let me speak;
And let the earth hear the sayings of my mouth.

2 My instruction will drip as the rain,
My saying will trickle as the dew,
As gentle rains upon grass
And as copious showers upon vegetation.

3 For I shall declare the name of Jehovah.
Do YOU attribute greatness to our God!

4 The Rock, perfect is his activity,
For all his ways are justice.
A God of faithfulness, with whom there is no injustice;
Righteous and upright is he.

5 They have acted ruinously on their own part;
They are not his children, the defect is their own.
A generation crooked and twisted!

6 Is it to Jehovah that YOU keep doing this way,
O people stupid and not wise?
Is he not your Father who has produced you,
He who made you and proceeded to give you stability?

7 Remember the days of old,
CONSIDER the years back from generation to generation;
Ask your father, and he can tell you;
Your old men, and they can say it to you.

8 When the Most High gave the nations an inheritance,
When he parted the sons of Adam from one another,
He proceeded to fix the boundary of the peoples
With regard for the number of the sons of Israel.

9 For Jehovah’s share is his people;
Jacob is the allotment that he inherits.

10 He came to find him in a wilderness land,
And in an empty, howling desert.
He began to encircle him, to take care of him,
To safeguard him as the pupil of his eye.

11 Just as an eagle stirs up its nest,
Hovers over its fledglings,
Spreads out its wings, takes them,
Carries them on its pinions,

12 Jehovah alone kept leading him,
And there was no foreign god along with him.

13 He kept making him ride upon earth’s high places,

So that he ate the produce of the field.
And he kept making him suck honey out of a crag,
And oil out of a flinty rock;

14 Butter of the herd and milk of the flock
Together with the fat of rams,
And male sheep, the breed of Ba′shan, and he-goats
Together with the kidney fat of wheat;
And the blood of the grape you kept drinking as wine.

15 When Jesh′u·run began to grow fat, then he kicked.
You have grown fat, you have become thick, you have become gorged.
So he forsook God, who made him,
And despised the Rock of his salvation.

16 They began inciting him to jealousy with strange gods;
With detestable things they kept offending him.

17 They went sacrificing to demons, not to God,
Gods whom they had not known,
New ones who recently came in,
With whom YOUR forefathers were not acquainted.

18 The Rock who fathered you, you proceeded to forget,
And you began to leave God out of memory, the One bringing you forth with childbirth pains.

19 When Jehovah saw it, then he came to disrespect them, Because of the vexation his sons and his daughters gave.

20 So he said, ‘Let me conceal my face from them,
Let me see what their end will be afterward.
For they are a generation of perverseness,
Sons in whom there is no faithfulness.

21 They, for their part, have incited me to jealousy with what is no god;
They have vexed me with their vain idols;
And I, for my part, shall incite them to jealousy with what is no people;
With a stupid nation I shall offend them.

22 For a fire has been ignited in my anger
And it will burn down to She′ol, the lowest place,
And it will consume the earth and its produce
And will set ablaze the foundations of mountains.

23 I shall increase calamities upon them;
My arrows I shall spend upon them.

24 Exhausted from hunger they will be and eaten up by burning fever
And bitter destruction.
And the teeth of beasts I shall send upon them,
With the venom of reptiles of the dust.

25 Outdoors a sword will bereave them,
And indoors fright,
Of both young man and virgin,

Suckling together with gray-haired man.
26 I should have said: “I shall disperse them,
I will make the mention of them cease from mortal men,”
27 Were it not that I was afraid of vexation from the enemy,
That their adversaries might misconstrue it,
That they might say: “Our hand has proved superior,
And it was not Jehovah who worked all this out.”
28 For they are a nation on whom counsel perishes,
And among them there is no understanding.
29 O that they were wise! Then they would ponder over this.
They would consider their end afterward.
30 How could one pursue a thousand,
And two put ten thousand to flight?
Not unless their Rock had sold them
And Jehovah had surrendered them.
31 For their rock is not like our Rock,
Even our enemies being the ones to decide.
32 For their vine is from the vine of Sod′om
And from the terraces of Go·mor′rah.
Their grapes are grapes of poison,
Their clusters are bitter.
33 Their wine is the venom of big snakes
And the cruel poison of cobras.
34 Is it not laid up with me,
With a seal affixed to it in my storehouse?
35 Vengeance is mine, and retribution.
At the appointed time their foot will move unsteadily,
For the day of their disaster is near,
And the events in readiness for them do make haste.’
36 For Jehovah will judge his people
And he will feel regret over his servants,
Because he will see that support has disappeared
And there is only a helpless and worthless one.
37 And he will certainly say, ‘Where are their gods,
The rock in whom they sought refuge,
38 Who used to eat the fat of their sacrifices,
To drink the wine of their drink offerings?
Let them get up and help YOU.
Let them become a concealment place for YOU.
39 SEE now that I—I am he
And there are no gods together with me.
I put to death, and I make alive.
I have severely wounded, and I—I will heal,

And there is no one snatching out of my hand.
[40] For I raise my hand to heaven in an oath,
And I do say: “As I am alive to time indefinite,” [41] If I do indeed sharpen my glittering sword,
And my hand takes hold on judgment,
I will pay back vengeance to my adversaries
And render retribution to those who intensely hate me.
[42] I shall intoxicate my arrows with blood,
While my sword will eat flesh,
With the blood of the slain and the captives,
With the heads of the leaders of the enemy.’
[43] Be glad, YOU nations, with his people,
For he will avenge the blood of his servants,
And he will pay back vengeance to his adversaries
And will indeed make atonement for the ground of his people.”

[44] Thus Moses came and spoke all the words of this song in the hearing of the people, he and Ho·she′a the son of Nun. [45] After Moses finished speaking all these words to all Israel, [46] he went on to say to them: “Apply YOUR hearts to all the words that I am speaking in warning to YOU today, that YOU may command YOUR sons to take care to do all the words of this law. [47] For it is no valueless word for YOU, but it means YOUR life, and by this word YOU may lengthen YOUR days upon the soil to which YOU are crossing the Jordan to take possession of it.”

[48] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Moses on this same day, saying: [49] “Go up into this mountain of Ab′a·rim, Mount Ne′bo, which is in the land of Mo′ab, which fronts toward Jer′i·cho, and see the land of Ca′naan, which I am giving to the sons of Israel as a possession. [50] Then die on the mountain into which you are going up, and be gathered to your people, just as Aaron your brother died on Mount Hor and got to be gathered to his people; [51] for the reason that YOU men acted undutifully toward me in the middle of the sons of Israel at the waters of Mer′i·bah of Ka′desh in the wilderness of Zin; for the reason that YOU men did not sanctify me in the middle of the sons of Israel. [52] For from a distance you will see the land, but you will not go there into the land that I am giving to the sons of Israel.”

33 Now this is the blessing with which Moses the man of the true God blessed the sons of Israel before his death. [2] And he proceeded to say:

“Jehovah—from Si′nai he came,
And he flashed forth from Se′ir upon them.
He beamed forth from the mountainous region of Pa′ran,
And with him were holy myriads,
At his right hand warriors belonging to them.

[3] He was also cherishing his people;
All their holy ones are in your hand.
And they—they reclined at your feet;
They began to receive some of your words.

[4] (Moses laid as a command upon us a law,
A possession of the congregation of Jacob.)

[5] And he came to be king in Jesh′u·run,
When the heads of the people gathered themselves,
The entire number of the tribes of Israel.

[6] Let Reu′ben live and not die off,
And let his men not become few.”

[7] And this was Judah’s blessing, as he went on to say:

“Hear, O Jehovah, the voice of Judah,
And may you bring him to his people.
His arms have contended for what is his;
And may you prove yourself a helper from his adversaries.”

[8] And as to Le′vi he said:

“Your Thum′mim and your U′rim belong to the man loyal to you,
Whom you put to the test at Mas′sah.
You began to contend with him by the waters of Mer′i·bah,

[9] The man who said to his father and his mother, ‘I have not seen him.’
Even his brothers he did not acknowledge,
And his sons he did not know.
For they kept your saying,
And your covenant they continued to observe.

[10] Let them instruct Jacob in your judicial decisions
And Israel in your law.
Let them render up incense before your nostrils
And a whole offering on your altar.

[11] Bless, O Jehovah, his vital energy,

And may you show pleasure in the activity of his hands.
Wound severely in their hips those who rise up against him,
And those who intensely hate him, that they may not rise up.”

12 As to Benjamin he said:

“Let the beloved one of Jehovah reside in security by him,
While he shelters him the whole day,
And he must reside between his shoulders.”

13 And as to Joseph he said:

“May his land be continually blessed from Jehovah
With the choice things of heaven, with dew,
And with the watery deep lying down below,
14 And with the choice things, the products of the sun,
And with the choice things, the yield of the lunar months, 15 And with the choicest from the mountains of the east,
And with the choice things of the indefinitely lasting hills,
16 And with the choice things of the earth and its fullness,
And with the approval of the One residing in the thornbush.
May they come upon the head of Joseph
And upon the crown of the head of the one singled out from his brothers.
17 As the firstborn of a bull his splendor is,
And his horns are the horns of a wild bull.
With them he will push peoples
All together to the ends of the earth,
And they are the tens of thousands of Eʹphra·im,
And they are the thousands of Ma·nasʹseh.”

18 And as to Zebʹu·lun he said:

“Rejoice, O Zebʹu·lun, in your going out,
And, Isʹsa·char, in your tents.
19 Peoples to the mountain they will call.
There they will sacrifice the sacrifices of righteousness.
For they will suck the abounding wealth of the seas
And the hidden hoards of the sand.”

20 And as to Gad he said:

“Blessed is the one widening the borders of Gad.
As a lion he must reside,
And he must tear the arm, yes, the crown of the head.
21 And he will pick out the first part for himself,
For there the allotment of a statute-giver is reserved.
And the heads of the people will gather themselves together.
The righteousness of Jehovah will he certainly execute

And his judicial decisions with Israel.”

22 And as to Dan he said:

“Dan is a lion cub.
He will leap out from Ba′shan.”

23 And as to Naph′ta·li he said:

“Naph′ta·li is satisfied with the approval
And full of the blessing of Jehovah.
Do take possession of the west and south.”

24 And as to Ash′er he said:

“Blessed with sons is Ash′er.
Let him become one approved by his brothers,
And one dipping his foot in oil.
25 Iron and copper are your gate locks,
And in proportion to your days is your leisurely walk.
26 There is none like the true God of Jesh′u·run,
Who rides upon heaven in help of you
And upon cloudy skies in his eminence.
27 A hiding place is the God of ancient time,
And underneath are the indefinitely lasting arms.
And he will drive away from before you the enemy,
And he will say, ‘Annihilate them!’
28 And Israel will reside in security,
The fountain of Jacob by itself,
Upon a land of grain and new wine.
Yes, his heavens will let the dew drip down.
29 Happy you are, O Israel!
Who is there like you,
A people enjoying salvation in Jehovah,
The shield of your help,
And the One who is your eminent sword?
So your enemies will cringe before you,
And you—upon their high places you will tread.”

34 Then Moses proceeded to go up from the desert plains of Mo′ab into Mount Ne′bo, to the top of Pis′gah, which fronts toward Jer′i·cho. And Jehovah went showing him all the land, Gil′e·ad as far as Dan, [2] and all Naph′ta·li and the land of E′phra·im and Ma·nas′seh and all the land of Judah as far as the western sea, [3] and the Neg′eb and the District, the valley plain of Jer′i·cho, the city of the palm trees, as far as Zo′ar.

[4] And Jehovah went on to say to him: “This is the land about which I have sworn to Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, saying, ‘To your seed I shall give it.’ I have caused you to see it with your own eyes, as you will not cross over there.”

[5] After that Moses the servant of Jehovah died there in the land of Mo′ab at the order of Jehovah. [6] And he proceeded to bury him in the valley in the land of Mo′ab in front of Beth-pe′or, and nobody has come to know his grave down to this day. [7] And Moses was a hundred and twenty years old at his death. His eye had not grown dim, and his vital strength had not fled. [8] And the sons of Israel proceeded to weep for Moses on the desert plains of Mo′ab thirty days. At length the days of weeping of the mourning period for Moses were completed.

[9] And Joshua the son of Nun was full of the spirit of wisdom, for Moses had laid his hand upon him; and the sons of Israel began to listen to him and they went doing just as Jehovah had commanded Moses. [10] But there has never yet risen up a prophet in Israel like Moses, whom Jehovah knew face to face, [11] as respects all the signs and the miracles that Jehovah sent him to do in the land of Egypt to Phar′aoh and all his servants and all his land, [12] and as regards all the strong hand and all the great awesomeness that Moses exercised before the eyes of all Israel.

JOSHUA

1 And it came about after the death of Moses the servant of Jehovah that Jehovah proceeded to say to Joshua the son of Nun, the minister of Moses: [2] “Moses my servant is dead; and now get up, cross this Jordan, you and all this people, into the land that I am giving to them, to the sons of Israel. [3] Every place upon which the sole of YOUR foot will tread, to YOU people I shall certainly give it, just as I promised to Moses. [4] From the wilderness and this Leb′a·non to the great river, the river Eu·phra′tes, that is, all the land of the Hit′tites, and to the Great Sea toward the setting of the sun YOUR territory will prove to be. [5] Nobody will take a firm stand before you all the days of your life. Just as I proved to be with Moses I shall prove to be with you. I shall neither desert you nor leave you entirely. [6] Be courageous and strong, for you are the one who will cause this people to inherit the land that I swore to their forefathers to give to them.

[7] “Only be courageous and very strong to take care to do according to all the law that Moses my servant commanded you. Do not turn aside from it to the right or to the left, in order that you may act wisely everywhere you go. [8] This book of the law should not depart from your mouth, and you must in an undertone read in it day and night, in order that you may take care to do according to all that is written in it; for then you will make your way successful and then you will act wisely. [9] Have I not commanded you? Be courageous and strong. Do not suffer shock or be terrified, for Jehovah your God is with you wherever you go.”

[10] And Joshua proceeded to command the officers of the people, saying: [11] “Pass through the midst of the camp and command the people, saying, ‘Get provisions ready for yourselves, because three days from now YOU are crossing this Jordan to go in and take possession of the land that Jehovah YOUR God is giving YOU to take possession of it.’”

[12] And to the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh Joshua said: [13] “Let there be a remembering of the word that Moses the servant of Jehovah commanded YOU, saying, ‘Jehovah YOUR God is giving YOU rest and has given YOU this land. [14] YOUR wives, YOUR little ones and YOUR livestock will dwell in the land that Moses has given YOU on this side of the Jordan; but YOU men will pass over in battle formation before YOUR brothers, all the valiant mighty men, and YOU must help them. [15] First when Jehovah gives rest to YOUR brothers the same as to YOU and they also have taken possession of the land that Jehovah YOUR God is giving them, YOU must also return to the land of YOUR holding and take possession of it, the one that Moses the servant of Jehovah has given YOU on the side of the Jordan toward the rising of the sun.’”

[16] Accordingly they answered Joshua, saying: “All that you have commanded us we shall do, and wherever you may send us we shall go. [17] As we listened to Moses in everything, so we shall listen to you. Only may Jehovah your God prove to be with you just as he proved to be with Moses. [18] Any man that behaves rebelliously against your order and does not listen to your words in all that you may command him will be put to death. Only be courageous and strong.”

2 Then Joshua the son of Nun sent two men out secretly from Shit′tim as spies, saying: “Go, take a look at the land and Jer′i·cho.” So they went and came to the house of a prostitute woman whose name was Ra′hab, and they took up lodging there. [2] In time it was said to the king of Jer′i·cho: “Look! Men from the sons of Israel have come in here tonight to search out the land.” [3] At that the king of Jer′i·cho sent to Ra′hab, saying: “Bring out the men that came to you, that have come into your house, for it is to search out all the land that they have come.”

[4] Meantime the woman took the two men and concealed them. And she proceeded to say: “Yes, the men did come to me, and I did not know from where they were. [5] And it came about at the closing of the gate by dark that the men went out. I just do not know where the men have gone. Chase after them quickly, for YOU will overtake them.” [6] (She, though, had taken them up to the roof, and she kept them out of sight among stalks of flax laid in rows for her upon the roof.) [7] And the men chased after them in the direction of the Jordan at the fords, and they shut the gate immediately after those chasing after them had gone out.

[8] As for these, before they could lie down, she herself came up to them on the roof. [9] And she went on to say to the men: “I do know that Jehovah will certainly give YOU the land, and that the fright of YOU has fallen upon us, and that all the inhabitants of the land have become disheartened because of YOU. [10] For we have heard how Jehovah dried up the waters of the Red Sea from before YOU when YOU came out of Egypt, and what YOU did to the two kings of the Am′or·ites who were on the other side of the Jordan, namely, Si′hon and Og, whom YOU devoted to destruction. [11] When we got to hear it, then our hearts began to melt, and no spirit has arisen yet in anybody because of YOU, for Jehovah YOUR God is God in the heavens above and on the earth beneath. 12 And now, please, swear to me by Jehovah that, because I have exercised loving-kindness toward YOU, YOU also will certainly exercise loving-kindness toward the household of my father, and YOU must give me a trustworthy sign. 13 And YOU must preserve alive my father and my mother and my brothers and my sisters and all who belong to them, and YOU must deliver our souls from death."

14 At that the men said to her: "Our souls are to die instead of YOU people! If YOU will not tell about this matter of ours, it must also occur that when Jehovah gives us the land, we also shall certainly exercise loving-kindness and trustworthiness toward you." 15 After that she had them descend by a rope through the window, for her house was on a side of the wall, and it was on the wall that she was dwelling. 16 And she proceeded to say to them: "Go to the mountainous region, that those in pursuit may not come in contact with YOU; and YOU must keep hid there three days, until those in pursuit have come back, and afterward YOU may go in YOUR own direction."

17 In turn the men said to her: "We are free from guilt respecting this oath of yours that you have made us swear. 18 Look! We are coming into the land. This cord of scarlet thread you should tie in the window by which you have had us descend, and your father and your mother and your brothers and all the household of your father you should gather to yourself into the house. 19 And it must occur that anyone who goes out of the doors of your house into the open, his blood will be upon his own head, and we shall be free from guilt; and everyone who continues with you in the house, his blood will be on our heads if a hand should come upon him. 20 And if you should report this matter of ours, we shall also have become free from guilt respecting this oath of yours that you have made us swear.” [21] To this she said: “According to YOUR words so let it be.”

With that she sent them off, and they went their way. After that she tied the scarlet cord in the window. [22] So they went and came to the mountainous region and kept dwelling there three days, until the pursuers had come back. Now the pursuers were looking for them on every road, and they did not find them. [23] And the two men proceeded to descend again from the mountainous region and to cross over and come to Joshua the son of Nun, and they began to relate to him all the things that had happened to them. [24] And they went on to say to Joshua: “Jehovah has given all the land into our hand. Consequently all the inhabitants of the land have also grown disheartened because of us.”

3 Then Joshua got up early in the morning, and he and all the sons of Israel proceeded to pull away from Shit′tim and to come as far as the Jordan; and they went spending the night there before they would cross.

[2] So it came about at the end of the three days that the officers proceeded to pass through the midst of the camp [3] and to command the people, saying: “As soon as YOU see the ark of the covenant of Jehovah YOUR God, and the priests, the Levites, carrying it, then YOU yourselves will pull away from YOUR place, and YOU must follow it, [4] —only let there prove to be a distance between YOU and it of about two thousand cubits by measure; do not get near to it—in order that YOU may know the way by which YOU should go, for YOU have not passed over on that way before.”

[5] Joshua now said to the people: “Sanctify yourselves, for tomorrow Jehovah will do wonderful things in YOUR midst.”

[6] Then Joshua said to the priests: “Take up the ark of the covenant and pass before the people.” So they took up the ark of the covenant and went before the people.

[7] And Jehovah proceeded to say to Joshua: “This day I shall start to make you great in the eyes of all Israel, that they may know that just as I proved to be with Moses I shall prove to be with you. [8] And you—you should command the priests carrying the ark of the covenant, saying, ‘As soon as YOU have come as far as the edge of the waters of the Jordan, YOU should stand still in the Jordan.’”

[9] And Joshua went on to say to the sons of Israel: “Approach here and listen to the words of Jehovah YOUR God.” [10] After that Joshua said: “By this YOU will know that a living God is in YOUR midst, and that he will without fail drive away from before YOU the Ca′naan·ites and the Hit′tites and the Hi′vites and the Per′iz·zites and the Gir′ga·shites and the Am′or·ites and the Jeb′u·sites. 11 Look! The ark of the covenant of the Lord of the whole earth is passing before YOU into the Jordan. 12 And now take for yourselves twelve men from the tribes of Israel, one man for each tribe. 13 And it must occur that at the instant that the soles of the feet of the priests carrying the ark of Jehovah, the Lord of the whole earth, rest in the waters of the Jordan, the waters of the Jordan will be cut off, the waters descending from above, and they will stand still as one dam.”

14 And it came about that when the people pulled away from their tents just before passing over the Jordan, with the priests carrying the ark of the covenant before the people, 15 and at the instant that the carriers of the Ark came as far as the Jordan and the feet of the priests carrying the Ark were dipped in the edge of the waters (now the Jordan overflows all its banks all the days of harvest), 16 then the waters descending from above began to stand still. They rose up as one dam very far away at Adam, the city at the side of Zar′e·than, while those descending toward the sea of the Ar′a·bah, the Salt Sea, were exhausted. They were cut off, and the people passed over in front of Jer′i·cho. 17 Meanwhile the priests carrying the ark of Jehovah’s covenant kept standing immovable on dry ground in the middle of the Jordan as all Israel were passing over on dry ground, until the whole nation had completed passing over the Jordan.

4 And it came about that as soon as the whole nation had completed passing over the Jordan, Jehovah proceeded to say to Joshua: [2] “Take for yourselves twelve men from the people, one man from each tribe, [3] and command them, saying, ‘Take up for yourselves from the very middle of the Jordan, from the place where the priests’ feet stood motionless, twelve stones, and YOU must carry them over with YOU and deposit them in the lodging place in which YOU will lodge tonight.’”

[4] So Joshua called twelve men whom he had appointed from the sons of Israel, one man from each tribe; [5] and Joshua went on to say to them: “Pass ahead of the ark of Jehovah YOUR God to the middle of the Jordan, and lift up for yourselves each one a stone upon his shoulder, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Israel, [6] in order that this may serve as a sign in YOUR midst. In case YOUR sons should ask in time to come, saying, ‘Why do YOU have these stones?’ [7] YOU must also say to them, ‘Because the waters of the Jordan were cut off from before the ark of Jehovah’s covenant. When it passed through the Jordan the waters of the Jordan were cut off, and these stones must serve as a memorial to the sons of Israel to time indefinite.’”

[8] Accordingly the sons of Israel did so, just as Joshua had commanded, and they took up twelve stones from the middle of the Jordan, just as Jehovah had stated to Joshua, to correspond with the number of the tribes of the sons of Israel; and they went taking them over with them to the lodging place and depositing them there.

[9] There were also twelve stones that Joshua set up in the middle of the Jordan on the standing place of the feet of the priests carrying the ark of the covenant, and they continue there until this day.

[10] And the priests carrying the Ark were standing in the middle of the Jordan until the whole matter had been completed that Jehovah had commanded Joshua to speak to the people, according to all that Moses had commanded Joshua. All the while the people hurried up and passed over. [11] And it came about that as soon as all the people had completed passing over, then the ark of Jehovah passed over, and the priests, before the people. [12] And the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh proceeded to pass over in battle formation in the sight of the sons of Israel, just as Moses had stated to them. [13] About forty thousand equipped for the army passed over before Jehovah for the war onto the desert plains of Jer′i·cho.

[14] On that day Jehovah made Joshua great in the eyes of all Israel, and they began to fear him just as they had feared Moses all the days of his life.

[15] Then Jehovah said to Joshua: [16] “Command the priests carrying the ark of the testimony that they go up out of the Jordan.” [17] So Joshua commanded the priests, saying: “Go up out of the Jordan.” [18] And it came about that when the priests carrying the ark of the covenant of Jehovah came up out of the middle of the Jordan and the soles of the feet of the priests were drawn out onto the dry ground, then the waters of the Jordan began returning to their place and went overflowing all its banks as formerly.

[19] And the people came up out of the Jordan on the tenth of the first month and took up camping at Gil′gal on the eastern border of Jer′i·cho.

[20] As for the twelve stones that they had taken out of the Jordan, Joshua set these up at Gil′gal. [21] And he went on to say to the sons of Israel: “When YOUR sons ask their fathers in time to come, saying, ‘What do these stones mean?’ [22] YOU must then let YOUR sons know, saying, ‘On the dry land it was that Israel passed over this Jordan, [23] when Jehovah YOUR God dried up the waters of the Jordan from before them until they had passed over, just as Jehovah YOUR God had done to the Red Sea when he dried it up from before us until we had passed over; [24] in order that all the peoples of the earth may know Jehovah’s hand, that it is strong; in order that YOU may indeed fear Jehovah YOUR God always.’”

5 And it came about that as soon as all the kings of the Am′or·ites, who were on the side of the Jordan to the west, and all the kings of the Ca′naan·ites, who were by the sea, heard that Jehovah had dried up the waters of the Jordan from before the sons of Israel until they had passed over, then their hearts began to melt, and there proved to be no spiritedness in them anymore because of the sons of Israel.

[2] At that particular time Jehovah said to Joshua: “Make for yourself flint knives and circumcise the sons of Israel again, the second time.” [3] Accordingly Joshua made flint knives for himself and circumcised the sons of Israel at Gib′e·ath-ha·ar′a·loth. [4] And this was the reason why Joshua did the circumcising: all the people that came out of Egypt, the males, all the men of war, had died in the wilderness on the road when they were coming out of Egypt. [5] For all the people who came out proved to be circumcised, but all the people born in the wilderness on the road when they were coming out of Egypt they had not circumcised. [6] For the sons of Israel had walked forty years in the wilderness, until all the nation of the men of war who came out of Egypt that did not listen to the voice of Jehovah had come to its finish, to whom Jehovah swore that he would never let them see the land that Jehovah had sworn to their forefathers to give to us, a land flowing with milk and honey. [7] And their sons he raised up instead of them. These Joshua circumcised, because they proved to be uncircumcised, for they had not circumcised them on the road.

[8] And it came about that when they had completed circumcising all the nation, they kept sitting in their place in the camp until they revived.

[9] Then Jehovah said to Joshua: “Today I have rolled away the reproach of Egypt from off YOU.” So the name of that place came to be called Gil′gal until this day.

[10] And the sons of Israel continued to camp in Gil′gal, and they proceeded to carry out the passover on the fourteenth day of the month, in the evening, on the desert plains of Jer′i·cho. [11] And they began to eat some of the yield of the land the day after the passover, unfermented cakes and roasted grains, on this same day. [12] Then the manna ceased on the following day when they had eaten some of the yield of the land, and manna did not occur anymore for the sons of Israel, and they began to eat some of the produce of the land of Ca′naan in that year.

[13] And it came about when Joshua happened to be by Jer′i·cho that he proceeded to raise his eyes and look, and there there was a man standing in front of him with his drawn sword in his hand. So Joshua walked up to him and said to him: “Are you for us or for our adversaries?” [14] To this he said: “No, but I—as prince of the army of Jehovah I have now come.” With that Joshua fell on his face to the earth and prostrated himself and said to him: “What is my lord saying to his servant?” [15] In turn the prince of the army of Jehovah said to Joshua: “Draw your sandals from off your feet, because the place on which you are standing is holy.” At once Joshua did so.

6 Now Jerʹi·cho was tightly shut up because of the sons of Israel, no one going out and no one entering.

[2] And Jehovah went on to say to Joshua: “See, I have given Jerʹi·cho and its king, the valiant mighty men, into your hand. [3] And all YOU men of war must march round the city, going round the city once. That is the way you should do for six days. [4] And seven priests should carry seven rams’ horns, before the Ark, and on the seventh day YOU should march round the city seven times and the priests should blow the horns. [5] And it must occur that when they sound with the horn of the ram, when YOU hear the sound of the horn, all the people should shout a great war cry; and the wall of the city must fall down flat, and the people must go up, each one straight before him.”

[6] Accordingly Joshua the son of Nun called the priests and said to them: “Take up the ark of the covenant, and seven priests should carry seven rams’ horns before the ark of Jehovah.” [7] And he went on to say to the people: “Pass on and march round the city, and the war-equipped force should pass on ahead of the ark of Jehovah.” [8] So it came about just as Joshua said to the people; and seven priests carrying seven rams’ horns before Jehovah passed on and blew the horns, and the ark of the covenant of Jehovah was following them. [9] And the war-equipped force was going ahead of the priests blowing the horns, while the rear guard was following the Ark with a continual blowing on the horns.

[10] Now Joshua had commanded the people, saying: “YOU must neither shout nor let YOUR voices be heard, and no word should come out of YOUR mouths until the day when I say to YOU, ‘Shout!’ Then YOU must shout.” [11] And he had the ark of Jehovah go marching round the city, going round once, after which they went to the camp and stayed overnight in the camp.

12 Then Joshua got up early in the morning, and the priests went carrying the ark of Jehovah, 13 and seven priests carrying seven rams' horns before the ark of Jehovah were walking, continually blowing the horns, and the war-equipped force was walking ahead of them, while the rear guard was following the ark of Jehovah with a continual blowing on the horns. 14 And they went marching round the city on the second day once, after which they returned to the camp. That was the way they did for six days.

15 And it came about on the seventh day that they proceeded to get up early, as soon as the dawn ascended, and they went marching round the city in this manner seven times. Just on that day they marched round the city seven times. 16 And it came about on the seventh time that the priests blew the horns, and Joshua proceeded to say to the people: "Shout; for Jehovah has given YOU the city. 17 And the city must become a thing devoted to destruction; it with everything that is in it belongs to Jehovah. Only Ra′hab the prostitute may keep on living, she and all who are with her in the house, because she hid the messengers whom we sent out. 18 As for YOU people, only keep away from the thing devoted to destruction, for fear YOU may get a desire and YOU do take some of the thing devoted to destruction and do constitute the camp of Israel a thing devoted to destruction and bring ostracism upon it. 19 But all the silver and the gold and the articles of copper and iron are something holy to Jehovah. Into the treasure of Jehovah it should go."

20 Then the people shouted, when they proceeded to blow the horns. And it came about that as soon as the people heard the sound of the horn and the people began to shout a great war cry, then the wall began to fall down flat. After that the people went up into the city, each one straight before him, and captured the city. 21 And they went devoting all that was in the city, from man to woman, from young man to old man and to bull and sheep and ass, to destruction by the edge of the sword.

22 And to the two men who had done the spying on the land, Joshua said: “Go into the house of the woman, the prostitute, and bring out of there the woman and all who belong to her, just as YOU have sworn to her.” 23 So the young men who had done the spying went in and brought out Ra′hab and her father and her mother and her brothers and all who belonged to her, yes, all her family relationship they brought out; and they proceeded to set them down outside the camp of Israel.

24 And they burned the city with fire and everything that was in it. Only the silver and the gold and the articles of copper and iron they gave to the treasure of Jehovah’s house. 25 And Ra′hab the prostitute and the household of her father and all who belonged to her, Joshua preserved alive; and she dwells in the midst of Israel down to this day, because she hid the messengers whom Joshua sent out to spy on Jer′i·cho.

26 Then Joshua had an oath pronounced at that particular time, saying: “Cursed may the man be before Jehovah who gets up and does build this city, even Jer′i·cho. At the forfeit of his firstborn let him lay the foundation of it, and at the forfeit of his youngest let him put up its doors.”

27 So Jehovah proved to be with Joshua, and his fame came to be in all the earth.

7 And the sons of Israel went committing an act of unfaithfulness respecting the thing devoted to destruction in that A′chan the son of Car′mi, the son of Zab′di, the son of Ze′rah, of the tribe of Judah, took some of the thing devoted to destruction. At this Jehovah’s anger grew hot against the sons of Israel.

[2] Then Joshua sent men out from Jer′i·cho to A′i, which is close by Beth-a′ven, to the east of Beth′el, and said to them: “Go up and spy on the land.” Accordingly the men went up and spied on A′i. [3] After that they returned to Joshua and said to him: “Let not all the people go up. Let about two thousand men or about three thousand men go up and strike A′i. Do not weary all the people with going there, for they are few.”

[4] So about three thousand men of the people went up there, but they took to flight before the men of A′i. [5] And the men of A′i got to strike down about thirty-six men of them, and they went pursuing them from before the gate as far as Sheb′a·rim and continued striking them down on the descent. Consequently the heart of the people began to melt and became as water.

[6] At this Joshua ripped his mantles and fell upon his face to the earth before the ark of Jehovah until the evening, he and the older men of Israel, and they kept putting dust upon their heads. [7] And Joshua went on to say: “Alas, Sovereign Lord Jehovah, why did you bring this people all the way across the Jordan, just to give us into the hand of the Am′or·ites for them to destroy us? And if only we had taken it upon ourselves and continued dwelling on the other side of the Jordan! [8] Excuse me, O Jehovah, but what can I say after Israel has turned his back before his enemies? [9] And the Ca′naan·ites and all the inhabitants of the land will hear of it, and they will certainly surround us and cut our name off from the earth; and what will you do for your great name?”

[10] In turn Jehovah said to Joshua: “Get up, you! Why is it that you are falling upon your face? [11] Israel has sinned, and they have also overstepped my covenant that I laid as a command upon them; and they have also taken some of the thing devoted to destruction and have also stolen and also kept it secret and have also put it among their own articles. [12] And the sons of Israel will not be able to rise up against their enemies. The back is what they will turn before their enemies, because they have become a thing devoted to destruction. I shall not prove to be with YOU again unless YOU annihilate the thing devoted to destruction out of YOUR midst. [13] Get up! Sanctify the people, and you must say, ‘Sanctify yourselves tomorrow, for this is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said: “A thing devoted to destruction is in your midst, O Israel. You will not be able to rise up against your enemies until YOU people have removed the thing devoted to destruction from YOUR midst. [14] And YOU must present yourselves in the morning, tribe by tribe, and it must occur that the tribe that Jehovah will pick will come near, family by family, and the family that Jehovah will pick will come near, household by household, and the household that Jehovah will pick will come near, able-bodied man by able-bodied man. [15] And it must occur that the one picked with the thing devoted to destruction will be burned with fire, he and all that belongs to him, because he has overstepped the covenant of Jehovah and because he has committed a disgraceful folly in Israel.”’”

[16] Then Joshua rose early in the morning and had Israel come near, tribe by tribe of it, and the tribe of Judah got to be picked. [17] Next he had the families of Judah come near and picked the family of the Zeʹrah·ites, after which he had the family of the Zeʹrah·ites come near, able-bodied man by able-bodied man, and Zabʹdi got to be picked. [18] Finally he had his household come near, able-bodied man by able-bodied man, and Aʹchan the son of Carʹmi, the son of Zabʹdi, the son of Zeʹrah, of the tribe of Judah, got to be picked. [19] Then Joshua said to Aʹchan: “My son, render, please, glory to Jehovah the God of Israel and make confession to him, and tell me, please, What have you done? Do not hide it from me.”

[20] At this Aʹchan answered Joshua and said: “For a fact I—I have sinned against Jehovah the God of Israel, and this way and that way I have done. [21] When I got to see among the spoil an official garment from Shiʹnar, a good-looking one, and two hundred shekels of silver and one gold bar, fifty shekels being its weight, then I wanted them, and I took them; and, look! they are hidden in the earth in the midst of my tent with the money underneath it.”

[22] At once Joshua sent messengers, and they went running to the tent, and, look! it was hidden in his tent with the money underneath it. [23] So they took them from the midst of the tent and brought them to Joshua and all the sons of Israel and poured them out before Jehovah. [24] Joshua, and all Israel with him, now took Aʹchan the son of Zeʹrah and the silver and the official garment and the bar of gold and his sons and his daughters and his bull and his ass and his flock and his tent and everything that was his and they brought them up to the low plain of Aʹchor. [25] Then Joshua said: “Why have you brought ostracism upon us? Jehovah will bring ostracism upon you on this day.” With that all Israel went pelting him with stones, after which they burned them with fire. Thus they stoned them with stones. [26] And they proceeded to raise up over him a big pile of stones, down to this day. At this Jehovah turned away from his hot anger. That is why the name of that place has been called Low Plain of A′chor, down to this day.

8 Then Jehovah said to Joshua: “Do not be afraid or be terrified. Take with you all the people of war and get up, go up to A′i. See, I have given into your hand the king of A′i and his people and his city and his land. [2] And you must do to A′i and to its king just as you did to Jer′i·cho and its king. Only YOU people may plunder its spoil and its domestic animals for yourselves. Set an ambush of yours against the city at its rear.”

[3] Accordingly Joshua and all the people of war rose to go up to A′i, and Joshua proceeded to choose thirty thousand men, valiant mighty ones, and to send them off by night. [4] And he went on to command them, saying: “See, YOU are lying in ambush against the city to the rear of the city. Do not go very far away from the city, and YOU must all of YOU hold yourselves in readiness. [5] As for me and all the people who are with me, we shall go close to the city. And it must occur that, in case they should come out to meet us just as at the first, we must then flee before them. [6] And they must come out after us until we have drawn them away from the city, for they will say, ‘They are fleeing before us just as at the first.’ And we must flee before them. [7] Then YOU—YOU will rise up from the ambush, and YOU must take possession of the city; and Jehovah YOUR God will certainly give it into YOUR hands. [8] And it must occur that as soon as YOU have seized the city, YOU should set the city on fire. According to Jehovah’s word YOU should do. See, I have commanded YOU.”

[9] After that Joshua sent them out and they marched to the place of ambush and took up quarters between Beth′el and A′i to the west of A′i, while Joshua kept lodging on that night in the midst of the people.

[10] Then Joshua rose up early in the morning and reviewed the people and went up, he and the older men of Israel, before the people to A′i. [11] And all the people of war who were with him went up, that they might approach and get in front of the city, and they proceeded to camp to the north of A′i, with the valley between them and A′i. [12] In the meantime he took about five thousand men and set them as an ambush between Beth′el and A′i, to the west of the city. [13] So the people set the main camp that was to the north of the city and the extreme rear of it that was to the west of the city, and Joshua proceeded to go during that night into the middle of the low plain.

[14] And it came about that, as soon as the king of A′i saw it, then the men of the city got in a hurry and rose up early and went out to meet Israel in battle, he and all his people, at the appointed time, before the desert plain. As for him, he did not know that there was an ambush against him to the rear of the city. [15] When Joshua and all Israel suffered a blow before them, then they took to flight by the way of the wilderness. [16] At that all the people who were in the city were called out to chase after them, and they went chasing after Joshua and got to be drawn away from the city. [17] And there was not a man remaining in A′i and Beth′el that did not go out after Israel, so that they left the city wide open and went chasing after Israel.

[18] Jehovah now said to Joshua: “Stretch out the javelin that is in your hand toward A′i, for into your hand I shall give it.” Accordingly Joshua stretched out the javelin that was in his hand toward the city. [19] And the ambush rose up quickly from its place, and they began to run at the instant that he stretched out his hand, and they proceeded to enter the city and capture it. Then they hurried and set the city on fire.

[20] And the men of A′i began to turn back and look, and there the smoke of the city ascended to the heavens, and there proved to be no ability in them to flee this way or that. And the people that were fleeing to the wilderness turned upon the pursuers. [21] And Joshua and all Israel saw that the ambush had captured the city, and that the smoke of the city ascended, and so they turned around and went striking the men of A′i down. [22] And these others came out of the city to meet them, so that they got to be in between Israel, these on this side and those on that, and they went striking them down until there did not remain of them either a survivor or an escapee. [23] And the king of A′i they caught alive and proceeded to bring him near to Joshua.

[24] And it came about that while Israel was finishing the killing of all the inhabitants of A′i in the field, in the wilderness in which they had pursued them, they kept falling, all of them, by the edge of the sword until they came to their end. After that all Israel returned to A′i and struck it with the edge of the sword. [25] And all those who fell on that day, from man to woman, amounted to twelve thousand, all the people of A′i. [26] And Joshua did not draw back his hand with which he stretched out the javelin until he had devoted all the inhabitants of A′i to destruction. [27] Only the domestic animals and the spoil of that city Israel plundered for themselves, according to Jehovah’s word that he had laid in command upon Joshua.

[28] Then Joshua burned A′i and reduced it to an indefinitely lasting mound, as a desolation down to this day. [29] And he hanged the king of A′i upon a stake until the evening time; and as the sun was about to set Joshua gave the command, and then they took his dead body down from the stake and pitched it at the entrance of the gate of the city and raised up a great pile of stones over him, down to this day.

[30] It was then that Joshua proceeded to build an altar to Jehovah the God of Israel, in Mount E′bal, [31] just as Moses the servant of Jehovah had commanded the sons of Israel, as it is written in the book of the law of Moses: “An altar of whole stones, upon which no iron tool has been wielded”; and they went offering up burnt offerings upon it to Jehovah and sacrificing communion sacrifices.

[32] Then he wrote there upon the stones a copy of the law of Moses that he had written before the sons of Israel. [33] And all Israel and their older men and the officers and their judges were standing on this side and on that side of the Ark in front of the priests, the Levites, carrying the ark of the covenant of Jehovah, the alien resident as well as the native, one half of them in front of Mount Ger′i·zim and the other half of them in front of Mount E′bal, (just as Moses the servant of Jehovah had commanded,) to bless the people of Israel first of all. [34] And after this he read aloud all the words of the law, the blessing and the malediction, according to all that is written in the book of the law. [35] There proved to be not a word of all that Moses had commanded that Joshua did not read aloud in front of all the congregation of Israel, together with the women and the little ones and the alien residents who walked in their midst.

9 And it came about that as soon as all the kings who were on the side of the Jordan in the mountainous region and in the She·phe′lah and along the whole coast of the Great Sea and in front of Leb′a·non, the Hit′tites and the Am′or·ites, the Ca′naan·ites, the Per′iz·zites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, heard of it, [2] they began to assemble themselves all together to make war against Joshua and Israel unanimously.

[3] And the inhabitants of Gib′e·on heard what Joshua had done to Jer′i·cho and A′i. [4] So they, even of their own accord, acted with shrewdness and went and stocked themselves with provisions and took worn-out sacks for their asses, and wine skin-bottles worn out and burst and tied up, [5] and worn-out and patched sandals on their feet, and worn-out garments upon themselves, and all the bread of their provisions proved to be dry and crumby. [6] Then they went to Joshua at the camp at Gil′gal and said to him and the men of Israel: “It is from a distant land that we have come. And now CONCLUDE a covenant with us.” [7] At this the men of Israel said to the Hi′vites: “Perhaps it is in our vicinity that you are dwelling. So how could we conclude a covenant with you?” [8] In turn they said to Joshua: “We are your servants.”

Then Joshua said to them: “Who are YOU, and where do YOU come from?” [9] At this they said to him: “It is from a very distant land that your servants have come in regard to the name of Jehovah your God, because we have heard of his fame and of all that he did in Egypt, [10] and of all that he did to the two kings of the Am′or·ites who were on the other side of the Jordan, namely, Si′hon the king of Hesh′bon and Og the king of Ba′shan, who was in Ash′ta·roth. [11] Hence our older men and all the inhabitants of our land said this to us, ‘Take provisions in YOUR hands for the journey and go to meet them, and YOU must say to them: “We are YOUR servants. And now conclude a covenant with us.”’ [12] This bread of ours, it was hot when we took it as our provisions out of our houses on the day of our going out to come here to YOU, and now, look! it is dry and has become crumby. [13] And these are the wine skin-bottles that we filled new, and, look! they have burst, and these garments and sandals of ours, they have worn out because of the great length of the journey.”

[14] Upon that the men took some of their provisions, and at the mouth of Jehovah they did not inquire. [15] And Joshua went making peace with them and concluding a covenant with them to let them live, and so the chieftains of the assembly swore to them.

[16] And it came about that at the end of three days, after they had concluded a covenant with them, they got to hear that they were near to them and it was in their vicinity they were dwelling. [17] Then the sons of Israel pulled out and came to their cities on the third day, and their cities were Gib′e·on and Che·phi′rah and Be·er′oth and Kir′i·ath-je′a·rim. [18] And the sons of Israel did not strike them, because the chieftains of the assembly had sworn to them by Jehovah the God of Israel. And all the assembly began to murmur against the chieftains. [19] At this all the chieftains said to all the assembly: “We, for our part, have sworn to them by Jehovah the God of Israel, and now we are not allowed to hurt them. [20] This is what we shall do to them while letting them live, that no indignation may come upon us over the oath that we have sworn to them.” [21] So the chieftains said to them: “Let them live and let them become gatherers of wood and drawers of water for all the assembly, just as the chieftains have promised them.”

[22] Joshua now called them and spoke to them, saying: “Why did YOU trick us, saying, ‘We are very far away from YOU,’ whereas YOU are dwelling in our very midst? [23] And now YOU are cursed people, and a slave’s position and being gatherers of wood and drawers of water for the house of my God will never be cut off from YOU.” [24] Then they answered Joshua and said: “It was because your servants were plainly told that Jehovah your God had commanded Moses his servant to give YOU all the land and to annihilate all the inhabitants of the land from before YOU, and we became very much afraid for our souls because of YOU. So we did this thing. [25] And now here we are, in your hand. Just as it is good and right in your eyes to do to us, do.” [26] And he proceeded to do so to them and to deliver them from the hand of the sons of Israel, and they did not kill them. [27] Accordingly Joshua constituted them on that day gatherers of wood and drawers of water for the assembly and for Jehovah’s altar, down to this day, at the place that he should choose.

10 And it came about that as soon as A·do′ni-ze′dek the king of Jerusalem heard that Joshua had captured A′i and then devoted it to destruction, that just as he had done to Jer′i·cho and its king, so he had done to A′i and its king, and that the inhabitants of Gib′e·on had made peace with Israel and were continuing in their midst, [2] he became very much afraid, because Gib′e·on was a great city, like one of the royal cities, and because it was greater than A′i, and all its men were mighty ones. [3] Consequently A·do′ni-ze′dek the king of Jerusalem sent to Ho′ham the king of He′bron and to Pi′ram the king of Jar′muth and to Ja·phi′a the king of La′chish and to De′bir the king of Eg′lon, saying, [4] “Come up to me and help me and let us strike Gib′e·on, because it has made peace with Joshua and the sons of Israel.” [5] At this they gathered together and went on up, five kings of the Am′or·ites, the king of Jerusalem, the king of He′bron, the king of Jar′muth, the king of La′chish, the king of Eg′lon, these and all their camps, and they proceeded to camp against Gib′e·on and to war against it.

[6] Upon that the men of Gib′e·on sent to Joshua at the camp at Gil′gal, saying: “Do not let your hand relax from your slaves. Come up to us quickly and do save us and help us, for all the kings of the Am′or·ites inhabiting the mountainous region have collected together against us.” [7] So Joshua went on up from Gil′gal, he and all the people of war with him and all the valiant mighty men.

[8] Then Jehovah said to Joshua: “Do not be afraid of them, for into your hand I have given them. Not a man of them will stand against you.” [9] And Joshua proceeded to come against them by surprise. All night long he had gone up from Gil′gal. [10] And Jehovah went throwing them into confusion before

Israel, and they began to slay them with a great slaughter at Gib′e·on and went pursuing them by way of the ascent of Beth-ho′ron and slaying them as far as A·ze′kah and Mak·ke′dah. [11] And it came about that while they were fleeing from before Israel and were on the descent of Beth-ho′ron, Jehovah hurled great stones from the heavens upon them as far as A·ze′kah, so that they died. There were more who died from the hailstones than those whom the sons of Israel killed with the sword.

[12] It was then that Joshua proceeded to speak to Jehovah on the day of Jehovah's abandoning the Am′or·ites to the sons of Israel, and he went on to say before the eyes of Israel:

> "Sun, be motionless over Gib′e·on,
> And, moon, over the low plain of Ai′ja·lon."

[13] Accordingly the sun kept motionless, and the moon did stand still, until the nation could take vengeance on its enemies. Is it not written in the book of Ja′shar? And the sun kept standing still in the middle of the heavens and did not hasten to set for about a whole day. [14] And no day has proved to be like that one, either before it or after it, in that Jehovah listened to the voice of a man, for Jehovah himself was fighting for Israel.

[16] Meantime these five kings fled and went hiding themselves in the cave at Mak·ke′dah. [17] Then the report was made to Joshua, saying: "The five kings have been found hidden in the cave at Mak·ke′dah." [18] At that Joshua said: "ROLL great stones up to the mouth of the cave and assign men over it to guard them. [19] As for YOU men, do not stand still. Chase after YOUR enemies, and YOU must strike them in the rear. Do not allow them to enter into their cities, for Jehovah YOUR God has given them into YOUR hands."

[20] And it came about that as soon as Joshua and the sons of Israel had finished slaying them with a very great slaughter, until these came to their end, and those who did survive of them escaped and went entering into the fortified cities, [21] all the people then began to return to the camp, to Joshua, at Mak·keʹdah in peace. Not a man moved his tongue eagerly against the sons of Israel. [22] Then Joshua said: “OPEN the mouth of the cave and bring out these five kings from the cave to me.” [23] At that they did so and brought out to him from the cave these five kings, the king of Jerusalem, the king of Heʹbron, the king of Jarʹmuth, the king of Laʹchish, the king of Egʹlon. [24] And it came about that as soon as they had brought out these kings to Joshua, Joshua proceeded to call all the men of Israel and to say to the commanders of the men of war that had gone with him: “Come forward. Place YOUR feet on the back of the necks of these kings.” So they came forward and placed their feet on the back of their necks. [25] And Joshua went on to say to them: “Do not be afraid or be terrified. Be courageous and strong, for it is like this that Jehovah will do to all YOUR enemies against whom YOU are warring.”

[26] And after that Joshua proceeded to strike them and put them to death and hang them upon five stakes, and they continued hanging upon the stakes until the evening. [27] And it came about that at the time of the setting of the sun Joshua commanded, and they went taking them down off the stakes and throwing them into the cave where they had hid themselves. Then they placed big stones at the mouth of the cave—until this very day.

[28] And Joshua captured Mak·keʹdah on that day and went striking it with the edge of the sword. As for its king, he devoted him and every soul that was in it to destruction. He let no survivor remain. So he did to the king of Mak·ke′dah just as he had done to the king of Jer′i·cho.

[29] Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Mak·ke′dah to Lib′nah and warred against Lib′nah. [30] Accordingly Jehovah gave it also and its king into Israel’s hand, and they went striking it and every soul that was in it with the edge of the sword. They did not let a survivor remain in it. So they did to its king just as they had done to the king of Jer′i·cho.

[31] Next Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from Lib′nah to La′chish and went camping against it and warring upon it. [32] Accordingly Jehovah gave La′chish into Israel’s hand so that they captured it on the second day, and they went striking it and every soul that was in it with the edge of the sword, according to all that they had done to Lib′nah.

[33] It was then that Ho′ram the king of Ge′zer went up to help La′chish. So Joshua struck him and his people until he had let not a survivor of his remain.

[34] Then Joshua and all Israel with him passed on from La′chish to Eg′lon and went camping against it and warring against it. [35] And they got to capture it on that day and began to smite it with the edge of the sword, and they devoted every soul that was in it to destruction on that day, according to all that they had done to La′chish.

[36] Then Joshua and all Israel with him went up from Eg′lon to He′bron and began to war against it. [37] And they got to capture it and went striking it and its king and all its towns and every soul that was in it with the edge of the sword. He did not let a survivor remain, according to all that he had done to Eg′lon. So he devoted it and every soul that was in it to destruction.

[38] Finally Joshua and all Israel with him came back to De′bir and began to war against it. [39] And he got to capture it and its king and all its towns, and they went striking them with the edge of the sword and devoting every soul that was in it to destruction. He did not let a survivor remain. Just as he had done to He′bron, so he did to De′bir and its king, and just as he had done to Lib′nah and its king.

[40] And Joshua proceeded to strike all the land of the mountainous region and the Neg′eb and the She·phe′lah and the slopes and all their kings. He did not let a survivor remain, and everything that breathed he devoted to destruction, just as Jehovah the God of Israel had commanded. [41] And Joshua went striking them from Ka′desh-bar′ne·a to Ga′za and all the land of Go′shen and up to Gib′e·on. [42] And Joshua captured all these kings and their land at one time, because it was Jehovah the God of Israel who was fighting for Israel. [43] After that Joshua and all Israel with him returned to the camp at Gil′gal.

11 And it came about that as soon as Ja′bin the king of Ha′zor heard of it, he went sending to Jo′bab the king of Ma′don and to the king of Shim′ron and the king of Ach′shaph, [2] and to the kings that were to the north in the mountainous region and in the desert plains south of Chin′ne·reth and in the She·phe′lah and on the mountain ridges of Dor to the west, [3] the Ca′naan·ites to the east and the west, and the Am′or·ites and the Hit′tites and the Per′iz·zites and the Jeb′u·sites in the mountainous region and the Hi′vites at the base of Her′mon in the land of Miz′pah. [4] So they went out, they and all their camps with them, a people as numerous as the grains of sand that are on the seashore for multitude, and very many horses and war chariots. [5] Then all these kings met together by appointment and came and encamped together at the waters of Mer′om to fight against Israel.

[6] At this Jehovah said to Joshua: “Do not be afraid because of them, for tomorrow about this time I am abandoning all of them slain to Israel. Their horses you will hamstring, and their chariots you will burn in the fire.” [7] And Joshua and all the people of war with him proceeded to come against them along the waters of Mer′om by surprise and to fall upon them. [8] Then Jehovah gave them into Israel’s hand, and they went striking them and pursuing them as far as populous Si′don and Mis′re·photh-ma′im and the valley plain of Miz′peh to the east; and they kept striking them until they had not let a survivor of theirs remain. [9] After that Joshua did to them just as Jehovah had said to him: their horses he hamstrung, and their chariots he burned in the fire.

[10] More than that, Joshua turned about at that time and captured Ha′zor; and its king he struck down with the sword, because Ha′zor was before that the head of all these kingdoms. [11] And they went striking every soul that was in it with the edge of the sword, devoting them to destruction. No breathing thing at all was left over, and he burned Ha′zor in the fire. [12] And all the cities of these kings and all their kings Joshua captured and went striking them with the edge of the sword. He devoted them to destruction, just as Moses the servant of Jehovah had commanded. [13] It was only all the cities standing on their own mounds that Israel did not burn, except that Joshua did burn Ha′zor by itself. [14] And all the spoil of these cities and the domestic animals the sons of Israel plundered for themselves. It was only all humankind that they struck with the edge of the sword until they had annihilated them. They did not let anyone that breathed remain. [15] Just as Jehovah had commanded Moses his servant, so Moses commanded Joshua, and so Joshua did. He did not remove a word from all that Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[16] And Joshua proceeded to take all this land, the mountainous region and all the Neg′eb and all the land of Go′shen and the She·phe′lah and the Ar′a·bah and the mountainous region of Israel and its She·phe′lah, [17] from Mount Ha′lak, which goes up to Se′ir, and as far as Ba′al-gad in the valley plain of Leb′a·non at the base of Mount Her′mon, and he captured all their kings and went striking them and putting them to death. [18] Many days it was that Joshua waged war with all these kings. [19] There proved to be no city that made peace with the sons of Israel but the Hi′vites inhabiting Gib′e·on. All the others they took by war. [20] For it proved to be Jehovah’s course to let their hearts become stubborn so as to declare war against Israel, in order that he might devote them to destruction, that they might come to have no favorable consideration, but in order that he might annihilate them, just as Jehovah had commanded Moses.

[21] Furthermore, at that particular time Joshua went and cut off the An′a·kim from the mountainous region, from He′bron, from De′bir, from A′nab and from all the mountainous region of Judah and from all the mountainous region of Israel. Along with their cities Joshua devoted them to destruction. [22] No An′a·kim were left in the land of the sons of Israel. It was only in Ga′za, in Gath and in Ash′dod that they remained. [23] So Joshua took all the land, according to all that Jehovah had promised Moses, and Joshua then gave it as an inheritance to Israel by their shares, according to their tribes. And the land had no disturbance from war.

12 Now these are the kings of the land whom the sons of Israel defeated and whose land they then took possession of on the side of the Jordan toward the rising of the sun, from the torrent valley of Ar′non up to Mount Her′mon and all the Ar′a·bah toward the sunrise: [2] Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, who dwelt in Hesh′bon, ruling from A·ro′er, which was on the bank of the torrent valley of Ar′non, and the middle of the torrent valley, and half of Gil′e·ad as far as Jab′bok the torrent valley, the boundary of the sons of Am′mon, [3] and the Ar′a·bah as far as the sea of Chin′ne·reth toward the east and as far as the sea of the Ar′a·bah, the Salt Sea, to the east in the direction of Beth-jesh′i·moth, and toward the south under the slopes of Pis′gah.

[4] And the territory of Og the king of Ba′shan, of what was left over of the Reph′a·im, who dwelt in Ash′ta·roth and Ed′re·i, [5] and who ruled in Mount Her′mon and in Sal′e·cah and in all Ba′shan, as far as the boundary of the Gesh′ur·ites and the Ma·ac′a·thites, and half of Gil′e·ad, to the territory of Si′hon the king of Hesh′bon.

[6] It was Moses the servant of Jehovah and the sons of Israel who defeated them, after which Moses the servant of Jehovah gave it as a holding to the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites and half of the tribe of Ma·nas′seh.

[7] And these are the kings of the land whom Joshua and the sons of Israel defeated on the side of the Jordan toward the west, from Ba′al-gad in the valley plain of Leb′a·non and as far as Mount Ha′lak, which goes up to Se′ir, after which Joshua gave it to the tribes of Israel as a holding by their shares, [8] in the mountainous region and in the She·phe′lah and in the Ar′a·bah and on the slopes and in the wilderness and in the Neg′eb—the Hit′tites, the Am′or·ites and the Ca′naan·ites, the Per′iz·zites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites:

9 The king of Jer′i·cho, one; the king of A′i, which was beside Beth′el, one;

10 the king of Jerusalem, one; the king of He′bron, one;

11 the king of Jar′muth, one; the king of La′chish, one;

12 the king of Eg′lon, one; the king of Ge′zer, one;

13 the king of De′bir, one; the king of Ge′der, one;

14 the king of Hor′mah, one; the king of A′rad, one;

15 the king of Lib′nah, one; the king of A·dul′lam, one;

16 the king of Mak·ke′dah, one; the king of Beth′el, one;

17 the king of Tap′pu·ah, one; the king of He′pher, one;

18 the king of A′phek, one; the king of Las·shar′on, one;

19 the king of Ma′don, one; the king of Ha′zor, one;

20 the king of Shim′ron-me′ron, one; the king of Ach′shaph, one;

21 the king of Ta′a·nach, one; the king of Me·gid′do, one;

22 the king of Ke′desh, one; the king of Jok′ne·am in Car′mel, one;

23 the king of Dor on the mountain ridge of Dor, one; the king of Goi′im in Gil′gal, one;

24 the king of Tir′zah, one; all the kings being thirty-one.

13 Now Joshua was old, being advanced in years. So Jehovah said to him: “You yourself have grown old and have advanced in years, and to a very great extent the land yet remains to be taken in possession. [2] This is the land yet remaining: all the regions of the Phi·lis′tines and all the Gesh′ur·ites [3] (from the branch of the Nile that is in front of Egypt and up to the border of Ek′ron to the north, it used to be reckoned as belonging to the Ca′naan·ites); five axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines, the Ga′zites and the Ash′dod·ites, the Ash′ke·lon·ites, the Git′tites and the Ek′ron·ites; and the Av′vim. [4] To the south all the land of the Ca′naan·ites; and Me·ar′ah, which belongs to the Si·do′ni·ans, as far as A′phek, as far as the border of the Am′or·ites; [5] and the land of the Ge′bal·ites and all of Leb′a·non toward the rising of the sun, from Ba′al-gad at the base of Mount Her′mon as far as to the entering in of Ha′math; [6] all the inhabitants of the mountainous region, from Leb′a·non to Mis′re·photh-ma′im, all the Si·do′ni·ans; I myself shall dispossess them from before the sons of Israel. Only make it fall to Israel as an inheritance, just as I have commanded you. [7] And now apportion this land as an inheritance to the nine tribes and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh.”

[8] With the other half tribe the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites took their inheritance that Moses gave them on the side of the Jordan toward the east, just as Moses the servant of Jehovah had given them, [9] from A·ro′er, which is on the bank of the torrent valley of Ar′non, and the city that is in the middle of the torrent valley, and all the tableland of Med′e·ba as far as Di′bon; [10] and all the cities of Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, who reigned in Hesh′bon, up to the border of the sons of Am′mon; [11] and Gil′e·ad and the territory of the Gesh′ur·ites and the Ma·ac′a·thites and all of Mount Her′mon and all Ba′shan as far as Sal′e·cah; [12] all the royal realm of Og in Ba′shan, who reigned in Ash′ta·roth and in Ed′re·i—he it was who remained of what was left of the Reph′a·im—and Moses went striking them and dispossessing them. [13] And the sons of Israel did not dispossess the Gesh′ur·ites and the Ma·ac′a·thites, but Gesh′ur and Ma′a·cath keep dwelling in the midst of Israel down to this day.

[14] It was only to the tribe of the Levites that he did not give an inheritance. The offerings made by fire of Jehovah the God of Israel are their inheritance, just as he has promised them.

[15] Then Moses made a gift to the tribe of the sons of Reu′ben by their families, [16] and the territory came to be theirs from A·ro′er, which is on the bank of the torrent valley of Ar′non, and the city that is in the middle of the torrent valley, and all the tableland by Med′e·ba; [17] Hesh′bon and all its towns that are on the tableland, Di′bon and Ba′moth-ba′al and Beth-ba′al-me′on, [18] and Ja′haz and Ked′e·moth and Meph′a·ath, [19] and Kir·i·a·tha′im and Sib′mah and Ze′reth-sha′har in the mountain of the low plain, [20] and Beth-pe′or and the slopes of Pis′gah and Beth-jesh′i·moth, [21] and all the cities of the tableland and all the royal realm of Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, who reigned in Hesh′bon, and whom Moses struck, together with the chieftains of Mid′i·an, E′vi and Re′kem and Zur and Hur and Re′ba, the dukes of Si′hon, who were dwelling in the land. [22] And Ba′laam the son of Be′or, the diviner, was one whom the sons of Israel killed with the sword along with their slain ones. [23] And the boundary of the sons of Reu′ben came to be the Jordan; and this as a territory was the inheritance of the sons of Reu′ben by their families, with the cities and their settlements.

[24] Furthermore, Moses made a gift to the tribe of Gad, the sons of Gad by their families, [25] and their territory came to be Ja′zer and all the cities of Gil′e·ad and half of the land of the sons of Am′mon as far as A·ro′er, which is in front of Rab′bah; [26] and from Hesh′bon to Ra′math-miz′peh and Bet′o·nim and from Ma·ha·na′im to the border of De′bir; [27] and in the low plain Beth-ha′ram and Beth-nim′rah and Suc′coth and Za′phon, the rest of the royal realm of Si′hon the king of Hesh′bon, the Jordan being the border as far as the extremity of the sea of Chin′ne·reth on the side of Jordan toward the east. [28] This was the inheritance of the sons of Gad by their families, with the cities and their settlements.

[29] Further, Moses made a gift to the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh, and it came to be that of the half tribe of the sons of Ma·nas′seh by their families. [30] And their territory came to be from Ma·ha·na′im all of Ba′shan, all the royal realm of Og the king of Ba′shan, and all the tent villages of Ja′ir that are in Ba′shan, sixty towns. [31] And half of Gil′e·ad, and Ash′ta·roth and Ed′re·i, the cities of the royal realm of Og in Ba′shan, went to the sons of Ma′chir the son of Ma·nas′seh, to half of the sons of Ma′chir by their families.

[32] These were what Moses caused them to inherit, on the desert plains of Mo′ab on the side of the Jordan, at Jer′i·cho, toward the east.

[33] And to the tribe of the Levites Moses did not give an inheritance. Jehovah the God of Israel is their inheritance, just as he has promised them.

14 Now this is what the sons of Israel took as a hereditary possession in the land of Ca′naan, which El·e·a′zar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel caused them to inherit. [2] Their inheritance was by lot, just as Jehovah had commanded by means of Moses for the nine tribes and the half tribe. [3] For Moses had given the inheritance of the two other tribes and the other half tribe on the other side of the Jordan; and to the Levites he did not give an inheritance in their midst. [4] For the sons of Joseph had become two tribes, Ma·nas′seh and E′phra·im; and they had not given a share in the land to the Levites, except cities to dwell in and their pasture grounds for their livestock and their property. [5] Just as Jehovah had commanded Moses, so the sons of Israel did; and they proceeded to apportion the land.

[6] Then the sons of Judah approached Joshua in Gil′gal, and Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh the Ken′iz·zite said to him: “You yourself well know the word that Jehovah spoke to Moses the man of the true God with regard to me and with regard to you at Ka′desh-bar′ne·a. [7] Forty years old I was when Moses the servant of Jehovah sent me out of Ka′desh-bar′ne·a to spy out the land, and I came bringing him back word just as it was in my heart. [8] And my brothers who went up with me caused the heart of the people to melt; but as for me, I followed Jehovah my God fully. [9] Consequently Moses swore on that day, saying, ‘The land upon which your foot has trod will become yours and your sons’ as an inheritance to time indefinite, because you have followed Jehovah my God fully.’ [10] And now here Jehovah has preserved me alive, just as he promised, these forty-five years since Jehovah made this promise to Moses when Israel walked in the wilderness, and now here I am today eighty-five years old. [11] Yet I am today as strong as on the day of Moses’ sending me out. As my power was then, so my power is now for the war, both to go out and to come in. [12] And now do give me this mountainous region that Jehovah promised on that day, for you yourself heard on that day that there were An′a·kim there and great fortified cities. Likely Jehovah will be with me, and I shall certainly dispossess them, just as Jehovah promised.”

[13] At that Joshua blessed him and gave He′bron to Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh as an inheritance. [14] That is why He′bron has come to belong to Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh the Ken′iz·zite as an inheritance down to this day, for the reason that he followed Jehovah the God of Israel fully. [15] The name of He′bron before that was Kir′i·ath-ar′ba (said Ar′ba was the great man among the An′a·kim). And the land had no disturbance from war.

15 And the lot of the tribe of the sons of Judah by their families came to be to the boundary of E′dom, the wilderness of Zin, to the Neg′eb at its southern end. [2] And their southern boundary came to be from the extremity of the Salt Sea, from the bay that faces southward. [3] And it went out southward to the ascent of A·krab′bim and passed over to Zin and went up from the south to Ka′desh-bar′ne·a and passed over to Hez′ron and went up to Ad′dar and went around to Kar′ka. [4] And it passed on to Az′mon and went out to the torrent valley of Egypt; and the boundary's termination proved to be at the sea. This came to be their southern boundary.

[5] And the eastern boundary was the Salt Sea up to the end of the Jordan, and the boundary at the northern corner was at the bay of the sea, at the end of the Jordan. [6] And the boundary went up to Beth-hog′lah and passed over at the north of Beth-ar′a·bah, and the boundary went up to the stone of Bo′han the son of Reu′ben. [7] And the boundary went up to De′bir at the low plain of A′chor and turning northward to Gil′gal, which is in front of the ascent of A·dum′mim, which is south of the torrent valley; and the boundary passed over to the waters of En-she′mesh, and its termination proved to be En-ro′gel. [8] And the boundary went up to the valley of the son of Hin′nom to the slope of the Jeb′u·site at the south, that is to say, Jerusalem; and the boundary went up to the top of the mountain that faces the valley of Hin′nom to the west, which is at the extremity of the low plain of Reph′a·im to the north. [9] And the boundary was marked out from the top of the mountain to the spring of the waters of Neph·to′ah, and went out to the cities of Mount E′phron; and the boundary was marked out to Ba′al·ah, that is to say, Kir′i·ath-je′a·rim. [10] And the boundary went around from Ba′al·ah westward to Mount Se′ir and passed over to the slope of Mount Je′a·rim at the north, that is to say, Ches′a·lon; and it went down to Beth-she′mesh and passed over to Tim′nah. [11] And the boundary went out to the slope of Ek′ron to the north, and the boundary was marked out to Shik′ke·ron and passed over to Mount Ba′al·ah and went out to Jab′ne·el; and the boundary's termination proved to be at the sea.

[12] And the western boundary was at the Great Sea and its shoreland. This was the boundary all around, of the sons of Judah by their families.

[13] And to Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh he gave a share in the midst of the sons of Judah at the order of Jehovah to Joshua, namely, Kir′i·ath-ar′ba (said Ar′ba being the father of A′nak), that is to say, He′bron. [14] So Ca′leb drove away from there the three sons of A′nak, namely, She′shai and A·hi′man and Tal′mai, those born of A′nak. [15] Then he went up from there to the inhabitants of De′bir. (Now the name of De′bir before that was Kir′i·ath-se′pher.) [16] And Ca′leb proceeded to say: "Whoever strikes Kir′i·ath-se′pher and does capture it, I shall certainly give him Ach′sah my daughter as a wife." [17] At that Oth′ni·el the son of Ke′naz, Ca′leb's brother, captured it. Accordingly he gave him Ach′sah his daughter as a wife. [18] And it came about that when she was going home, she kept inciting him to ask a field from her father. Then she clapped her hands while upon the ass. At this Ca′leb said to her: "What do you want?" [19] So she said: "Do give me a blessing, for it is a piece of land to the south you have given me, and you must give me Gul′loth-ma′im." Accordingly he gave her Upper Gul′loth and Lower Gul′loth.

[20] This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Judah by their families.

[21] And the cities at the extremity of the tribe of the sons of Judah toward the boundary of E′dom in the south came to be Kab′ze·el and E′der and Ja′gur, [22] and Ki′nah and Di·mo′nah and A·da′dah, [23] and Ke′desh and Ha′zor and Ith′nan, [24] Ziph and Te′lem and Be·a′loth, [25] and Ha′zor-ha·dat′tah and Ke′ri·oth-hez′ron, that is to say, Ha′zor, [26] A′mam and She′ma and Mo·la′dah, [27] and Ha′zar-gad′dah and Hesh′mon and Beth-pel′et, [28] and Ha′zar-shu′al and Be′er-she′ba and Biz·i·o·thi′ah, [29] Ba′al·ah and I′im and E′zem, [30] and El·to′lad and Che′sil and Hor′mah, [31] and Zik′lag and Mad·man′nah and San·san′nah, [32] and Le·ba′oth and Shil′him and A′in and Rim′mon; all the cities being twenty-nine, together with their settlements.

[33] In the She·phe′lah there were Esh′ta·ol and Zo′rah and Ash′nah, [34] and Za·no′ah and En-gan′nim, Tap′pu·ah and E′nam, [35] Jar′muth and A·dul′lam, So′coh and A·ze′kah, [36] and Sha′a·ra′im and Ad·i·tha′im and Ge·de′rah and Ged·e·ro·tha′im; fourteen cities and their settlements.

[37] Ze′nan and Ha·dash′ah and Mig′dal-gad, [38] and Di′le·an and Miz′peh and Jok′the·el, [39] La′chish and Boz′kath and Eg′lon, [40] and Cab′bon and Lah′mam and Chit′lish, [41] and Ge·de′roth, Beth-da′gon and Na′a·mah and Mak·ke′dah; sixteen cities and their settlements.

[42] Lib′nah and E′ther and A′shan, [43] and Iph′tah and Ash′nah and Ne′zib, [44] and Kei′lah and Ach′zib and Ma·re′shah; nine cities and their settlements.

[45] Ek′ron and its dependent towns and its settlements. [46] From Ek′ron westward all that is alongside Ash′dod and their settlements.

[47] Ash′dod, its dependent towns and its settlements; Ga′za, its dependent towns and its settlements, down to the torrent valley of Egypt, and the Great Sea and the adjacent region.

[48] And in the mountainous region Sha′mir and Jat′tir and So′coh, [49] and Dan′nah and Kir′i·ath-san′nah, that is to say, De′bir, [50] and A′nab and Esh′te·moh and A′nim, [51] and Go′shen and Ho′lon and Gi′loh; eleven cities and their settlements.

[52] Arab and Du′mah and E′shan, [53] and Ja′nim and Beth-tap′pu·ah and A·phe′kah, [54] and Hum′tah and Kir′i·ath-ar′ba, that is to say, He′bron, and Zi′or; nine cities and their settlements.

[55] Ma′on, Car′mel and Ziph and Jut′tah, [56] and Jez′re·el and Jok′de·am and Za·no′ah, [57] Ka′in, Gib′e·ah and Tim′nah; ten cities and their settlements.

[58] Hal′hul, Beth-zur and Ge′dor, [59] and Ma′a·rath and Beth-a′noth and El′te·kon; six cities and their settlements.

[60] Kir′i·ath-ba′al, that is to say, Kir′i·ath-je′a·rim, and Rab′bah; two cities and their settlements.

[61] In the wilderness Beth-ar′a·bah, Mid′din and Se·ca′cah, [62] and Nib′shan and the City of Salt and En-ge′di; six cities and their settlements.

[63] As for the Jeb′u·sites who were dwelling in Jerusalem, the sons of Judah were not able to drive them away; and the Jeb′u·sites continue dwelling with the sons of Judah in Jerusalem down to this day.

16 And the lot came out for the sons of Joseph from the Jordan at Jer′i·cho to the waters of Jer′i·cho eastward, the wilderness going up from Jer′i·cho into the mountainous region of Beth′el. [2] And it went out from Beth′el belonging to Luz and passed over to the boundary of the Ar′chites at At′a·roth, [3] and it went down westward to the boundary of the Japh′le·tites as far as the boundary of Lower Beth-ho′ron and Ge′zer, and its termination proved to be at the sea.

[4] And the sons of Joseph, Ma·nas′seh and E′phra·im, proceeded to take possession of land. [5] And the boundary of the sons of E′phra·im by their families came to be, yes, the boundary of their inheritance toward the east came to be At′a·roth-ad′dar, as far as Upper Beth-ho′ron; [6] and the boundary went out to the sea. Mich·me′thath was on the north, and the boundary went around eastward to Ta′a·nath-shi′loh, and passed over eastward to Ja·no′ah. [7] And it went down from Ja·no′ah to At′a·roth and Na′a·rah and reached to Jer′i·cho and went out to the Jordan. [8] From Tap′pu·ah the boundary moved on westward to the torrent valley of Ka′nah, and its termination proved to be at the sea. This is the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of E′phra·im by their families. [9] And the sons of E′phra·im had enclave cities in the midst of the inheritance of the sons of Ma·nas′seh, all the cities and their settlements.

[10] And they did not drive away the Ca′naan·ites who were dwelling in Ge′zer, and the Ca′naan·ites continue dwelling in among E′phra·im down to this day and came to be subject to slavish forced labor.

17 And the lot came to be for the tribe of Ma·nas′seh, because he was Joseph’s firstborn, for Ma′chir the firstborn of Ma·nas′seh, the father of Gil′e·ad, because he was one who proved to be a man of war; and Gil′e·ad and Ba′shan came to belong to him. [2] And there came to be a lot for the sons of Ma·nas′seh who were left over according to their families, for the sons of Abi-e′zer and the sons of He′lek and the sons of As′ri·el and the sons of She′chem and the sons of He′pher and the sons of She·mi′da. These were the sons of Ma·nas′seh the son of Joseph, the males according to their families. [3] As for Ze·lo′phe·had the son of He′pher, the son of Gil′e·ad, the son of Ma′chir, the son of Ma·nas′seh, he proved to have, not sons, but daughters, and these were the names of his daughters: Mah′lah and Noah, Hog′lah, Mil′cah and Tir′zah. [4] So they presented themselves before El·e·a′zar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the chieftains, saying: “Jehovah it was who commanded Moses to give us an inheritance in the midst of our brothers.” Accordingly he gave them, at the order of Jehovah, an inheritance in the midst of the brothers of their father.

[5] And there were ten allotments falling to Ma·nas′seh apart from the land of Gil′e·ad and Ba′shan, which were on the other side of the Jordan; [6] for the daughters of Ma·nas′seh came into an inheritance in the midst of his sons; and the land of Gil′e·ad became the property of the sons of Ma·nas′seh who were left over.

[7] And the boundary of Ma·nas′seh came to be from Ash′er to Mich·me′thath, which is in front of She′chem, and the boundary moved to the right to the inhabitants of En-Tap′pu·ah. [8] The land of Tap′pu·ah became Ma·nas′seh’s, but Tap′pu·ah at the boundary of Ma·nas′seh belonged to the sons of E′phra·im. 9 And the boundary went down to the torrent valley of Ka′nah, southward to the torrent valley of these cities of E′phra·im in the midst of the cities of Ma·nas′seh, and the boundary of Ma·nas′seh was on the north of the torrent valley, and its termination came to be at the sea. 10 To the south it was E′phra·im’s and to the north, Ma·nas′seh’s, and the sea came to be his boundary; and on the north they reach to Ash′er and on the east, to Is′sa·char.

11 And there came to belong to Ma·nas′seh in Is′sa·char and in Ash′er Beth-she′an and its dependent towns and Ib′le·am and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of Dor and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of En-dor and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of Ta′a·nach and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of Me·gid′do and its dependent towns, three of the heights.

12 And the sons of Ma·nas′seh did not prove able to take possession of these cities, but the Ca′naan·ites persisted in dwelling in this land. 13 And it turned out that when the sons of Israel had grown strong, they went putting the Ca′naan·ites at forced labor, and they did not dispossess them entirely.

14 And the sons of Joseph proceeded to speak with Joshua, saying: “Why is it that you have given me as an inheritance one lot and one allotment, whereas I am a numerous people for the reason that Jehovah has blessed me until now?” 15 At this Joshua said to them: “If you are a numerous people, go your way up to the forest, and you must cut it down for yourself there in the land of the Per′iz·zites and the Reph′a·im, because the mountainous region of E′phra·im has become too narrow for you.” 16 Then the sons of Joseph said: “The mountainous region is not enough for us, and there are war chariots with iron scythes among all the Ca′naan·ites dwelling in the land of the low plain, both those who are in Beth-she′an and its dependent towns and those who are in the low plain of Jez′re·el.” [17] So Joshua said this to the house of Joseph, to E′phra·im and Ma·nas′seh: “A numerous people you are, and great power is yours. You ought not to get one lot, [18] but the mountainous region should become yours. Because it is a forest, you must cut it down, and it must become the termination point for you. For you should drive away the Ca′naan·ites, although they have war chariots with iron scythes and they are strong.”

18 Then all the assembly of the sons of Israel were congregated at Shi′loh, and they proceeded to locate the tent of meeting there, as the land was now subdued before them. [2] But there were still left among the sons of Israel those whose inheritance they had not apportioned out, namely, seven tribes. [3] So Joshua said to the sons of Israel: “How long are YOU going to be delinquent about going in to take possession of the land that Jehovah the God of YOUR forefathers has given YOU? [4] Furnish for yourselves three men of each tribe and let me send them out, that they may get up and walk about in the land and map it out in accord with their inheritance, and let them come to me. [5] And they must apportion it among themselves into seven shares. Judah will keep standing on his territory to the south, and the house of Joseph will keep standing on their territory to the north. [6] As for YOU people, YOU will map out the land into seven shares, and YOU must bring them here to me, and I must cast lots here for YOU before Jehovah our God. [7] For the Levites have no share in among YOU, because the priesthood of Jehovah is their inheritance; and Gad and Reu′ben and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh have taken their inheritance on the side of the Jordan toward the east, which Moses the servant of Jehovah has given them.”

[8] So the men got up that they might go, and Joshua proceeded to command those who were going to map out the land, saying: “Go and walk about in the land and map it out and return to me, and here is where I shall draw lots for YOU before Jehovah in Shi′loh.” [9] With that the men went and passed through the land and mapped it out by cities in seven shares, in a book. After that they came to Joshua at the camp in Shi′loh, [10] and Joshua went drawing lots for them in Shiʹloh before Jehovah. Thus Joshua there apportioned the land to the sons of Israel in their shares.

[11] Then the lot came up of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin by their families, and the territory of their lot went out between the sons of Judah and the sons of Joseph. [12] And their boundary came to be at the northern corner from the Jordan, and the boundary went up to the slope of Jerʹi·cho on the north and went up on the mountain westward, and its termination proved to be at the wilderness of Beth-aʹven. [13] And the boundary passed over from there to Luz, at the southern slope of Luz, that is to say, Bethʹel; and the boundary went down to Atʹa·roth-adʹdar upon the mountain that is on the south of Lower Beth-hoʹron. [14] And the boundary was marked out and went around at the western side to the south from the mountain that faces Beth-hoʹron to the south; and its termination proved to be at Kirʹi·ath-baʹal, that is to say, Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim, a city of the sons of Judah. This is the western side.

[15] And the side to the south was from the extremity of Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim, and the boundary went out westward and went out to the spring of the waters of Neph·toʹah. [16] And the boundary went down to the extremity of the mountain that faces the valley of the son of Hinʹnom, which is in the low plain of Rephʹa·im to the north, and it went down to the valley of Hinʹnom, to the slope of the Jebʹu·site on the south, and went down to En-roʹgel. [17] And it was marked out northward and went out to En-sheʹmesh and went out to Gel·iʹloth, which is in front of the ascent of A·dumʹmim; and it went down to the stone of Boʹhan the son of Reuʹben. [18] And it passed over to the northern slope in front of the Arʹa·bah and went down to the Arʹa·bah. [19] And the boundary passed over to the northern slope of Beth-hogʹlah, and the termination of it (the border) proved to be at the northern bay of the Salt Sea at the southern end of the Jordan. This was the southern boundary. [20] And the Jordan served as its boundary on the eastern side. This was the inheritance of the sons of Benjamin by their families, by its boundaries all around.

[21] And the cities of the tribe of the sons of Benjamin by their families proved to be Jer′i·cho and Beth-hog′lah and E′mek-ke′ziz, [22] and Beth-ar′a·bah and Zem·a·ra′im and Beth′el, [23] and Av′vim and Pa′rah and Oph′rah, [24] and Che′phar-am′mo·ni and Oph′ni and Ge′ba; twelve cities and their settlements.

[25] Gib′e·on and Ra′mah and Be·er′oth, [26] and Miz′peh and Che·phi′rah and Mo′zah, [27] and Re′kem and Ir′pe·el and Tar′a·lah, [28] and Ze′lah, Ha-e′leph and Je·bu′si, that is to say, Jerusalem, Gib′e·ah and Kir′i·ath; fourteen cities and their settlements.

This was the inheritance of the sons of Benjamin by their families.

19 Then the second lot came out for Sim′e·on, for the tribe of the sons of Sim′e·on by their families. And their inheritance came to be in the midst of the inheritance of the sons of Judah. [2] And they came to have in their inheritance Be′er-she′ba with She′ba, and Mo·la′dah, [3] and Ha′zar-shu′al and Ba′lah and E′zem, [4] and El·to′lad and Be′thul and Hor′mah, [5] and Zik′lag and Beth-mar′ca·both and Ha′zar-su′sah, [6] and Beth-le·ba′oth and Sha·ru′hen; thirteen cities and their settlements. [7] A′in, Rim′mon and E′ther and A′shan; four cities and their settlements, [8] and all the settlements that were all around these cities as far as Ba′al·ath-be′er, Ra′mah of the south. This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Sim′e·on by their families. [9] The inheritance of the sons of Sim′e·on was out of the allotment of the sons of Judah, because the share of the sons of Judah proved to be too large for them. So the sons of Sim′e·on got a possession in the midst of their inheritance.

[10] Next the third lot came up for the sons of Zeb′u·lun by their families, and the boundary of their inheritance came to be as far as Sa′rid. [11] And their boundary went up westward also to Mar′e·al and reached to Dab′be·sheth and reached to the torrent valley that is in front of Jok′ne·am. [12] And it went back from Sa′rid eastward toward the rising of the sun to the border of Chis′loth-ta′bor and went out to Dab′e·rath and went up to Ja·phi′a. [13] And from there it passed over eastward toward the sunrise to Gath-he′pher, to Eth-ka′zin, and went out to Rim′mon and was marked out to Ne′ah. [14] And the boundary went around it on the north to Han′na·thon, and its terminations proved to be at the valley of Iph′tah-el, [15] and Kat′tath and Na·hal′al and Shim′ron and I′da·lah and Beth′le·hem; twelve cities and their settlements.

[16] This was the inheritance of the sons of Zeb′u·lun by their families. These were the cities and their settlements.

[17] It was for Is′sa·char that the fourth lot came out, for the sons of Is′sa·char by their families. [18] And their boundary came to be to Jez′re·el and Che·sul′loth and Shu′nem, [19] and Haph′a·ra′im and Shi′on and An·a·ha′rath, [20] and Rab′bith and Kish′i·on and E′bez, [21] and Re′meth and En-gan′nim and En-had′dah and Beth-paz′zez. [22] And the boundary reached to Ta′bor and Sha·ha·zu′mah and Beth-she′mesh, and the terminations of their border proved to be at the Jordan; sixteen cities and their settlements. [23] This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Is′sa·char by their families, the cities and their settlements.

[24] Then the fifth lot came out for the tribe of the sons of Ash′er by their families. [25] And their boundary came to be Hel′kath and Ha′li and Be′ten and Ach′shaph, [26] and Al·lam′me·lech and A′mad and Mi′shal. And it reached westward to Car′mel and to Shi′hor-lib′nath, [27] and it went back toward the rising of the sun to Beth-da′gon and reached to Zeb′u·lun and the valley of Iph′tah-el to the north, to Beth-e′mek and Ne·i′el, and it went out to Ca′bul on the left, [28] and to E′bron and Re′hob and Ham′mon and Ka′nah as far as populous Si′don. [29] And the boundary went back to Ra′mah and as far as the fortified city of Tyre. And the boundary went back to Ho′sah, and its terminations came to be at the sea in the region of Ach′zib, [30] and Um′mah and A′phek and Re′hob; twenty-two cities and their settlements. [31] This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Ash′er by their families. These were the cities and their settlements.

[32] It was for the sons of Naph′ta·li that the sixth lot came out, for the sons of Naph′ta·li by their families. [33] And their boundary came to be from He′leph, from the big tree in Za·a·nan′nim, and Ad′a·mi-ne′keb and Jab′ne·el as far as Lak′kum; and its terminations came to be at the Jordan. [34] And the boundary went back westward to Az′noth-ta′bor and went out from there to Huk′kok and reached to Zeb′u·lun on the south, and to Ash′er it reached on the west and to Judah at the Jordan toward the rising of the sun. [35] And the fortified cities were Zid′dim, Zer and Ham′math, Rak′kath and Chin′ne·reth, [36] and Ad′a·mah and Ra′mah and Ha′zor, [37] and Ke′desh and Ed′re·i and En-ha′zor, [38] and Yi′ron and Mig′dal-el, Ho′rem and Beth-a′nath and Beth-she′mesh; nineteen cities and their settlements. [39] This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Naph′ta·li by their families, the cities and their settlements.

[40] It was for the tribe of the sons of Dan by their families that the seventh lot came out. [41] And the border of their inheritance came to be Zo′rah and Esh′ta·ol and Ir-she′mesh, [42] and Sha·al·ab′bin and Ai′ja·lon and Ith′lah, [43] and E′lon and Tim′nah and Ek′ron, [44] and El′te·keh and Gib′be·thon and Ba′al·ath, [45] and Je′hud and Ben′e-be′rak and Gath-rim′mon, [46] and Me-jar′kon and Rak′kon, with the border in front of Jop′pa. [47] And the territory of the sons of Dan was too cramped for them. And the sons of Dan proceeded to go up and war against Le′shem and to capture it and strike it with the edge of the sword. Then they took possession of it and went dwelling in it, and they began to call Le′shem Dan, according to the name of Dan their forefather. [48] This was the inheritance of the tribe of the sons of Dan by their families. These were the cities and their settlements.

[49] Thus they finished dividing the land for a possession by its territories. Then the sons of Israel gave an inheritance to Joshua the son of Nun in their midst. [50] At the order of Jehovah they gave him the city for which he asked, namely,

Timʹnath-seʹrah, in the mountainous region of Eʹphra·im; and he began to build up the city and dwell in it.

51 These were the inheritances that El·e·aʹzar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel distributed as a possession by lot in Shiʹloh before Jehovah, at the entrance of the tent of meeting. So they left off from apportioning the land.

20 Then Jehovah spoke to Joshua, saying: [2] “Speak to the sons of Israel, saying, ‘Give for yourselves the cities of refuge of which I spoke to YOU by means of Moses, [3] for the manslayer who fatally strikes a soul unintentionally without knowing it to flee there; and they must serve YOU as a refuge from the avenger of blood. [4] And he must flee to one of these cities and stand at the entrance of the gate of the city and speak his words in the hearing of the older men of that city; and they must receive him into the city to themselves and give him a place and he must dwell with them. [5] And in case the avenger of blood chases after him, then they should not surrender the manslayer into his hand; for it was without knowing it that he struck his fellowman fatally, and he was not hating him formerly. [6] And he must dwell in that city until his standing before the assembly for judgment, until the death of the high priest who happens to be in those days. It is then that the manslayer may return, and he must enter into his city and into his house, into the city from which he had fled.’”

[7] Accordingly they gave a sacred status to Ke′desh in Gal′i·lee in the mountainous region of Naph′ta·li, and She′chem in the mountainous region of E′phra·im, and Kir′i·ath-ar′ba, that is to say, He′bron, in the mountainous region of Judah. [8] And in the region of the Jordan, at Jer′i·cho, toward the east they gave Be′zer in the wilderness on the tableland out of the tribe of Reu′ben, and Ra′moth in Gil′e·ad out of the tribe of Gad, and Go′lan in Ba′shan out of the tribe of Ma·nas′seh.

[9] These became the cities appointed for all the sons of Israel and for the alien resident who resides as an alien in their midst, for anyone to flee there who fatally strikes a soul unintentionally, that he may not die by the hand of the avenger of blood until his standing before the assembly.

21 The heads of the fathers of the Levites now approached El·e·aʹzar the priest and Joshua the son of Nun and the heads of the fathers of the tribes of the sons of Israel, [2] and they proceeded to speak to them in Shiʹloh in the land of Caʹnaan, saying: “Jehovah by means of Moses commanded cities to be given us in which to dwell, together with their pasture grounds for our domestic animals.” [3] So the sons of Israel gave the Levites, at the order of Jehovah, these cities and their pasture grounds out of their inheritance.

[4] Then the lot came out for the families of the Koʹhath·ites, and thirteen cities came to belong to the sons of Aaron the priest, of the Levites, by lot, out of the tribe of Judah and out of the tribe of the Simʹe·on·ites and out of the tribe of Benjamin.

[5] And for the sons of Koʹhath that were left over there were by lot ten cities out of the families of the tribe of Eʹphra·im and out of the tribe of Dan and out of the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh.

[6] And for the sons of Gerʹshon there were by lot thirteen cities out of the families of the tribe of Isʹsa·char and out of the tribe of Ashʹer and out of the tribe of Naphʹta·li and out of the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh in Baʹshan.

[7] For the sons of Me·rarʹi by their families there were twelve cities out of the tribe of Reuʹben and out of the tribe of Gad and out of the tribe of Zebʹu·lun.

[8] Thus the sons of Israel gave the Levites these cities and their pasture grounds by lot, just as Jehovah had commanded by means of Moses.

[9] So out of the tribe of the sons of Judah and out of the tribe of the sons of Sim′e·on they gave these cities that were called by name, [10] and they came to belong to the sons of Aaron out of the families of the Ko′hath·ites of the sons of Le′vi, because the first lot became theirs. [11] Thus they gave them Kir′i·ath-ar′ba (said Ar′ba being the father of A′nak), that is to say, He′bron, in the mountainous region of Judah, and its pasture ground all around it; [12] and the field of the city and its settlements they gave to Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh as his possession.

[13] And to the sons of Aaron the priest they gave the city of refuge for the manslayer, namely, He′bron, and its pasture ground, also Lib′nah and its pasture ground, [14] and Jat′tir and its pasture ground, and Esh·te·mo′a and its pasture ground, [15] and Ho′lon and its pasture ground, and De′bir and its pasture ground, [16] and A′in and its pasture ground, and Jut′tah and its pasture ground, Beth-she′mesh and its pasture ground; nine cities out of these two tribes.

[17] And out of the tribe of Benjamin, Gib′e·on and its pasture ground, Ge′ba and its pasture ground, [18] An′a·thoth and its pasture ground, and Al′mon and its pasture ground; four cities.

[19] All the cities of the sons of Aaron, the priests, were thirteen cities and their pasture grounds.

[20] And for the families of the sons of Ko′hath, the Levites who were left over of the sons of Ko′hath, there came to be by their lot cities out of the tribe of E′phra·im. [21] Accordingly they gave them the city of refuge for the manslayer, namely, She′chem, and its pasture ground in the mountainous region of E′phra·im, and Ge′zer and its pasture ground, [22] and Kib′za·im and its pasture ground, and Beth-ho′ron and its pasture ground; four cities.

23 And from the tribe of Dan, El′te·ke and its pasture ground, Gib′be·thon and its pasture ground, 24 Ai′ja·lon and its pasture ground, Gath-rim′mon and its pasture ground; four cities.

25 And from the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh, Ta′a·nach and its pasture ground, and Gath-rim′mon and its pasture ground; two cities.

26 All the cities together with their pasture grounds that the families of the sons of Ko′hath who were left over had were ten.

27 And for the sons of Ger′shon, of the families of the Levites, there was out of the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh the city of refuge for the manslayer, namely, Go′lan, in Ba′shan, and its pasture ground, and Be·esh′te·rah and its pasture ground; two cities.

28 And out of the tribe of Is′sa·char, Kish′i·on and its pasture ground, Dab′e·rath and its pasture ground, 29 Jar′muth and its pasture ground, En-gan′nim and its pasture ground; four cities.

30 And out of the tribe of Ash′er, Mi′shal and its pasture ground, Ab′don and its pasture ground, 31 Hel′kath and its pasture ground, and Re′hob and its pasture ground; four cities.

32 And out of the tribe of Naph′ta·li, the city of refuge for the manslayer, namely, Ke′desh in Gal′i·lee, and its pasture ground, and Ham′moth-dor and its pasture ground, and Kar′tan and its pasture ground; three cities.

[33] All the cities of the Ger′shon·ites by their families were thirteen cities and their pasture grounds.

[34] And the families of the sons of Me·rar′i, the Levites who were left over, had out of the tribe of Zeb′u·lun Jok′ne·am and its pasture ground, Kar′tah and its pasture ground, [35] Dim′nah and its pasture ground, Na·hal′al and its pasture ground; four cities.

[36] And out of the tribe of Reu′ben, Be′zer and its pasture ground, and Ja′haz and its pasture ground, [37] Ked′e·moth and its pasture ground, and Meph′a·ath and its pasture ground; four cities.

[38] And out of the tribe of Gad, the city of refuge for the manslayer, namely, Ra′moth in Gil′e·ad, and its pasture ground, and Ma·ha·na′im and its pasture ground, [39] Hesh′bon and its pasture ground, Ja′zer and its pasture ground; all the cities being four.

[40] All the cities that came to belong to the sons of Me·rar′i by their families, who were left over from the families of the Levites, were, as their lot, twelve cities.

[41] All the cities of the Levites in the midst of the possession of the sons of Israel were forty-eight cities together with their pasture grounds. [42] These cities came to be each a city together with its pasture ground all around it—thus as to all these cities.

[43] So Jehovah gave Israel all the land that he had sworn to give to their forefathers, and they proceeded to take possession of it and to dwell in it. [44] Furthermore, Jehovah gave them rest all around, according to everything that he had sworn to their forefathers, and not one of all their enemies stood before them. All their enemies Jehovah gave into their hand. [45] Not a promise failed out of all the good promise that Jehovah had made to the house of Israel; it all came true.

22 At that time Joshua proceeded to call the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh [2] and to say to them: “For YOUR part, YOU have kept all that Moses the servant of Jehovah commanded YOU, and YOU were obedient to my voice in all that I have commanded YOU. [3] YOU have not left YOUR brothers these many days down to this day, and YOU have kept the obligation of the commandment of Jehovah YOUR God. [4] And now Jehovah YOUR God has given YOUR brothers rest, just as he promised them. So now turn and go YOUR way to YOUR tents in the land of YOUR possession, which Moses the servant of Jehovah gave YOU on the other side of the Jordan. [5] Only be very careful to carry out the commandment and the law that Moses the servant of Jehovah commanded YOU by loving Jehovah YOUR God and by walking in all his ways and by keeping his commandments and by cleaving to him and by serving him with all YOUR heart and with all YOUR soul.”

[6] With that Joshua blessed them and sent them away that they might go to their tents. [7] And to the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh Moses had made a gift in Ba′shan, and to the other half of it Joshua made a gift with their brothers on the side of the Jordan to the west. So, too, when Joshua sent them away to their tents, he proceeded to bless them. [8] And he went on to say to them: “Return to YOUR tents with many riches and with very much livestock, with silver and gold and copper and iron and garments in very great quantity. Take YOUR share of the spoil of YOUR enemies together with YOUR brothers.”

[9] After that the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh returned and went away from the other sons of Israel, from Shi′loh, which is in the land of Caʹnaan, so as to go to the land of Gilʹe·ad, to the land of their possession in which they had been settled at the order of Jehovah by means of Moses. [10] When they came to the regions of the Jordan that were in the land of Caʹnaan, then the sons of Reuʹben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh built there an altar by the Jordan, an altar great in conspicuousness. [11] Later on the other sons of Israel heard it said: “Look! The sons of Reuʹben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh have built an altar on the frontier of the land of Caʹnaan in the regions of the Jordan on the side belonging to the sons of Israel.” [12] When the sons of Israel got to hear of it, the whole assembly of the sons of Israel were then congregated at Shiʹloh to go up for military action against them.

[13] Then the sons of Israel sent to the sons of Reuʹben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh in the land of Gilʹe·ad Phinʹe·has the son of El·e·aʹzar the priest, [14] and ten chieftains with him, one chieftain of each paternal house of all the tribes of Israel, and they were each a head of the house of their fathers of the thousands of Israel. [15] In time they came to the sons of Reuʹben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh in the land of Gilʹe·ad and began to speak with them, saying:

[16] “This is what all the assembly of Jehovah have said, ‘What is this act of unfaithfulness that YOU have perpetrated against the God of Israel in turning back today from following Jehovah by YOUR building for yourselves an altar, that YOU may rebel today against Jehovah? [17] Was the error of Peʹor too small for us, from which we have not cleansed ourselves down to this day, although the plague came to be upon the assembly of Jehovah? [18] And YOU—YOU would turn back today from following Jehovah; and it must occur that should YOU, for YOUR part, rebel today against Jehovah, then tomorrow it will be against the entire assembly of Israel that he will be indignant. [19] Now if it is indeed that the land of YOUR possession is unclean, make YOUR way across to the land of Jehovah’s possession where the tabernacle of Jehovah has resided, and get settled in our midst; and against Jehovah do not YOU rebel and do not make us the ones to rebel by YOUR building for yourselves an altar in addition to the altar of Jehovah our God. [20] Was it not A′chan the son of Ze′rah that perpetrated an act of unfaithfulness in the thing devoted to destruction, and was it not against all the assembly of Israel that there came indignation? And he was not the only man to expire in his error.’”

[21] At this the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh answered and spoke with the heads of the thousands of Israel: [22] “Divine One, God, Jehovah, Divine One, God, Jehovah, he is knowing, and Israel, he too will know. If it is in rebellion and if it is in unfaithfulness against Jehovah, do not save us this day. [23] If it was to build for ourselves an altar so as to turn back from following Jehovah, and if it was to offer up burnt offerings and grain offerings on it, and if it was to render up communion sacrifices on it, Jehovah himself will search out; [24] or if it was not rather out of anxious care for something else that we did this, saying, ‘In a future day YOUR sons will say to our sons: “What do YOU have to do with Jehovah the God of Israel? [25] And there is a boundary that Jehovah has put between us and YOU, the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad, namely, the Jordan. YOU have no share in Jehovah.” And YOUR sons will certainly make our sons desist from fearing Jehovah.’

[26] “Hence we said, ‘Let us take action in our behalf, please, by building the altar, not for burnt offering nor for sacrifice, [27] but that it may be a witness between us and YOU and our generations after us that we shall render the service of Jehovah before him with our burnt offerings and our sacrifices and our communion sacrifices, that YOUR sons may not say in a future day to our sons: “YOU have no share in Jehovah.”’ [28] So we said, ‘And it must occur that in case they should say that to us and to our generations in a future day, we must also say: “See the representation of Jehovah’s altar that our fathers made, not for burnt offering nor for sacrifice, but it is a witness between us and YOU.”’ [29] It is unthinkable, on our part, to rebel of our own accord against Jehovah and to turn back today from following Jehovah by building an altar for burnt offering, grain offering and sacrifice besides the altar of Jehovah our God that is before his tabernacle! ”

[30] Now when Phin′e·has the priest and the chieftains of the assembly and the heads of the thousands of Israel who were with him heard the words that the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad and the sons of Ma·nas′seh spoke, it came to be good in their eyes. [31] So Phin′e·has the son of El·e·a′zar the priest said to the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad and the sons of Ma·nas′seh: “Today we do know that Jehovah is in our midst, because YOU have not perpetrated against Jehovah this act of unfaithfulness. Now YOU have delivered the sons of Israel out of the hand of Jehovah.”

[32] With that Phin′e·has the son of El·e·a′zar the priest and the chieftains returned from the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad in the land of Gil′e·ad to the land of Ca′naan to the other sons of Israel and brought back word to them. [33] And the word came to be good in the eyes of the sons of Israel; and the sons of Israel proceeded to bless God, and they did not talk of going up for army service against them to ruin the land in which the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad were dwelling.

[34] And the sons of Reu′ben and the sons of Gad began to name the altar, because “it is a witness between us that Jehovah is the true God.”

23 And it came about many days after Jehovah had given Israel rest from all their enemies all around, when Joshua was old and advanced in days, [2] that Joshua proceeded to call all Israel, its older men and its heads and its judges and its officers, and to say to them: “As for me, I have grown old, I have advanced in days. [3] And as for YOU, YOU have seen all that Jehovah YOUR God did to all these nations on YOUR account, because Jehovah YOUR God was the one who was fighting for YOU. [4] See, I assigned to YOU by lot these nations that remain as an inheritance for YOUR tribes, and all the nations that I cut off, from the Jordan to the Great Sea at the setting of the sun. [5] And Jehovah YOUR God was the one who kept pushing them away from before YOU, and he dispossessed them on YOUR account, and YOU took possession of their land, just as Jehovah YOUR God had promised YOU.

[6] “And YOU must be very courageous to keep and to do all that is written in the book of the law of Moses by never turning away from it to the right or to the left, [7] by never going in among these nations, these that remain with YOU. And YOU must not mention the names of their gods nor swear by them, neither must YOU serve them nor bow down to them. [8] But it is to Jehovah YOUR God that YOU should cleave, just as YOU have done down to this day. [9] And Jehovah will drive away great and mighty nations from before YOU. (As for YOU, not a man has stood before YOU down to this day.) [10] Just one man of YOU will chase a thousand, because Jehovah YOUR God is the one who is fighting for YOU, just as he has promised YOU. [11] And YOU must be on constant guard for YOUR souls by loving Jehovah YOUR God.

[12] “But if YOU should turn back at all and YOU do cleave to what is left of these nations, these that remain with YOU, and YOU do form marriage alliances with them and go in among them, and they among YOU, [13] YOU should positively know that Jehovah YOUR God will not continue to dispossess these nations on YOUR account; and they must become to YOU as a trap and as a snare and as a scourge on YOUR flanks and as thorns in YOUR eyes until YOU have perished off this good ground that Jehovah YOUR God has given YOU.

[14] “Now, look! I am going today in the way of all the earth, and YOU well know with all YOUR hearts and with all YOUR souls that not one word out of all the good words that Jehovah YOUR God has spoken to YOU has failed. They have all come true for YOU. Not one word of them has failed. [15] And it must occur that, just as all the good word that Jehovah YOUR God has spoken to YOU has come upon YOU, so Jehovah will bring upon YOU all the evil word until he has annihilated YOU from off this good ground that Jehovah YOUR God has given YOU, [16] because of YOUR overstepping the covenant of Jehovah YOUR God that he commanded YOU, and because YOU have gone and served other gods and bowed down to them. And Jehovah’s anger will certainly blaze against YOU, and YOU will certainly perish in a hurry from off the good land that he has given YOU.”

24 And Joshua proceeded to assemble all the tribes of Israel together at She′chem and to call the older men of Israel and its heads and its judges and its officers, and they went taking their stand before the true God. [2] And Joshua went on to say to all the people: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘It was on the other side of the River that YOUR forefathers dwelt a long time ago, Te′rah the father of Abraham and the father of Na′hor, and they used to serve other gods.

[3] “‘In time I took YOUR forefather Abraham from the other side of the River and had him walk through all the land of Ca′naan and made his seed many. So I gave him Isaac. [4] Then to Isaac I gave Jacob and E′sau. Later to E′sau I gave Mount Se′ir to take possession of it; and Jacob and his sons went down to Egypt. [5] Later on I sent Moses and Aaron, and I went plaguing Egypt with what I did in its midst; and afterward I brought YOU out. [6] When I was bringing YOUR fathers out of Egypt and YOU came to the sea, then the Egyptians went chasing after YOUR fathers with war chariots and cavalrymen to the Red Sea. [7] And they began to cry out to Jehovah. So he placed a darkness between YOU and the Egyptians and brought the sea upon them and covered them, and YOUR eyes got to see what I did in Egypt; and YOU took up dwelling in the wilderness many days.

[8] “‘Eventually I brought YOU to the land of the Am′or·ites who were dwelling on the other side of the Jordan, and they went fighting against YOU. At that I gave them into YOUR hand that YOU might take possession of their land, and I annihilated them from before YOU. [9] Then Ba′lak the son of Zip′por, the king of Mo′ab, got up and went fighting against Israel. So he sent and summoned Ba′laam the son of Be′or to call down evil upon YOU. [10] And I did not want to listen to Ba′laam. Consequently he blessed YOU repeatedly. Thus I delivered YOU out of his hand.

[11] “‘Then YOU went crossing the Jordan and came to Jer′i·cho. And the landowners of Jer′i·cho, the Am′or·ites and the Per′iz·zites and the Ca′naan·ites and the Hit′tites and the Gir′ga·shites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites began fighting against YOU; but I gave them into YOUR hand. [12] So I sent the feeling of dejection ahead of YOU, and it gradually drove them out before YOU—two kings of the Am′or·ites—not with your sword and not with your bow. [13] Thus I gave YOU a land for which YOU had not toiled and cities that YOU had not built, and YOU took up dwelling in them. Vineyards and olive groves that YOU did not plant are what YOU are eating.’

[14] “And now fear Jehovah and serve him in faultlessness and in truth, and remove the gods that YOUR forefathers served on the other side of the River and in Egypt, and serve Jehovah. [15] Now if it is bad in YOUR eyes to serve Jehovah, choose for yourselves today whom YOU will serve, whether the gods that YOUR forefathers who were on the other side of the River served or the gods of the Am′or·ites in whose land YOU are dwelling. But as for me and my household, we shall serve Jehovah.”

[16] At this the people answered and said: “It is unthinkable, on our part, to leave Jehovah so as to serve other gods. [17] For it is Jehovah our God who brought us and our fathers up out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of slaves, and who performed these great signs before our eyes and who kept guarding us in all the way in which we walked and among all the peoples through the midst of whom we passed. [18] And Jehovah proceeded to drive out all the peoples, even the Am′or·ites, dwelling in the land from before us. As for us, too, we shall serve Jehovah, because he is our God.”

[19] Then Joshua said to the people: “YOU are not able to serve Jehovah, for he is a holy God; he is a God exacting exclusive devotion. He will not pardon YOUR revolting and YOUR sins. [20] In case YOU should leave Jehovah and YOU do serve foreign gods, he also will certainly turn back and do YOU injury and exterminate YOU after he has done YOU good.”

[21] In turn the people said to Joshua: “No, but Jehovah we shall serve!” [22] At this Joshua said to the people: “YOU are witnesses against yourselves that YOU of YOUR own accord have chosen Jehovah for yourselves, to serve him.” To this they said: “We are witnesses.”

[23] “And now remove the foreign gods that are among YOU, and incline YOUR hearts to Jehovah the God of Israel.” [24] In turn the people said to Joshua: “Jehovah our God we shall serve, and to his voice we shall listen!”

[25] And Joshua proceeded to conclude a covenant with the people on that day and to constitute for them a regulation and judicial decision in She′chem. [26] Then Joshua wrote these words in the book of God’s law and took a great stone and set it up there under the massive tree that is by the sanctuary of Jehovah.

[27] And Joshua went on to say to all the people: “Look! This stone is what will serve as a witness against us, because it has itself heard all the sayings of Jehovah that he has spoken with us, and it must serve as a witness against YOU, that YOU may not deny YOUR God.” [28] With that Joshua sent the people away, each one to his inheritance.

[29] And it came about that after these things Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of Jehovah, gradually died at the age of a hundred and ten years. [30] So they buried him in the territory of his inheritance in Tim′nath-se′rah, which is in the mountainous region of E′phra·im, north of Mount Ga′ash. [31] And Israel continued to serve Jehovah all the days of Joshua and all the days of the older men who extended their days after Joshua and who had known all the work of Jehovah that he did for Israel.

[32] And Joseph’s bones, which the sons of Israel had brought up out of Egypt, they buried in She′chem in the tract of the field that Jacob had acquired from the sons of Ha′mor, She′chem’s father, for a hundred pieces of money; and it came to belong to the sons of Joseph as an inheritance.

[33] Also, El·e·a′zar the son of Aaron died. So they buried him in the Hill of Phin′e·has his son, which he had given him in the mountainous region of E′phra·im.

JUDGES

1 And after the death of Joshua it came about that the sons of Israel proceeded to inquire of Jehovah, saying: “Who of us will go up first to the Ca′naan·ites to fight against them?” [2] To this Jehovah said: “Judah will go up. Look! I shall certainly give the land into his hand.” [3] Then Judah said to Sim′e·on his brother: “Come up with me into my lot and let us fight against the Ca′naan·ites, and I myself in turn will go with you into your lot.” Accordingly Sim′e·on went with him.

[4] With that Judah went on up and Jehovah gave the Ca′naan·ites and the Per′iz·zites into their hands, so that they defeated them in Be′zek, ten thousand men. [5] When they found A·do′ni-be′zek in Be′zek, then they fought against him and defeated the Ca′naan·ites and the Per′iz·zites. [6] When A·do′ni-be′zek took to flight, then they went chasing after him and got hold of him and cut off the thumbs of his hands and the great toes of his feet. [7] At this A·do′ni-be′zek said: “There have been seventy kings with the thumbs of their hands and the great toes of their feet cut off picking up food under my table. Just the way I have done, so God has repaid me.” After that they brought him to Jerusalem and he died there.

[8] Furthermore, the sons of Judah carried on war against Jerusalem and got to capture it, and they went striking it with the edge of the sword, and the city they consigned to the fire. [9] And afterward the sons of Judah went down to fight against the Ca′naan·ites inhabiting the mountainous region and the Neg′eb and the She·phe′lah. [10] So Judah marched against the Ca′naan·ites who were dwelling in He′bron (now the name of He′bron before that was Kir′i·ath-ar′ba), and they went striking down She′shai and A·hi′man and Tal′mai.

[11] And they marched on from there against the inhabitants of De′bir. (Now the name of De′bir before that was Kir′i·ath-se′pher.) [12] Then Ca′leb said: “Whoever strikes Kir′i·ath-se′pher and does capture it, why, I will give him Ach′sah my daughter as a wife.” [13] And Oth′ni·el the son of Ke′naz, Ca′leb’s younger brother, got to capture it. For that he gave him Ach′sah his daughter as a wife. [14] And it came about that while she was going home, she kept inciting him to ask a field from her father. Then she clapped her hands while upon the ass. At this Ca′leb said to her: “What do you want?” [15] So she said to him: “Do grant me a blessing, for it is a southern piece of land you have given me, and you must give me Gul′loth-ma′im.” Accordingly Ca′leb gave her Upper Gul′loth and Lower Gul′loth.

[16] And the sons of the Ken′ite, whose son-in-law Moses was, came up out of the city of palm trees with the sons of Judah to the wilderness of Judah, which is to the south of A′rad. Then they went and took up dwelling with the people. [17] But Judah marched on with Sim′e·on his brother, and they proceeded to strike the Ca′naan·ites inhabiting Ze′phath and to devote it to destruction. Hence the name of the city was called Hor′mah. [18] After that Judah captured Ga′za and its territory and Ash′ke·lon and its territory and Ek′ron and its territory. [19] And Jehovah continued with Judah, so that he took possession of the mountainous region, but he could not dispossess the inhabitants of the low plain, because they had war chariots with iron scythes. [20] When they gave Ca′leb He′bron, just as Moses had promised, then he drove out from there the three sons of A′nak.

[21] And the sons of Benjamin did not drive out the Jeb′u·sites inhabiting Jerusalem; but the Jeb′u·sites keep on dwelling with the sons of Benjamin in Jerusalem down to this day.

[22] Meantime the house of Joseph itself also went up against Beth′el, and Jehovah was with them. [23] And the house of Joseph began to spy on Beth′el (incidentally, the name of the city before that was Luz), [24] and the watchers got to see a man going out of the city. So they said to him: “Show us, please, the way to get into the city, and we shall certainly exercise kindness toward you.” [25] Accordingly the man showed them the way to get into the city; and they went striking the city with the edge of the sword, but the man and all his family they let go. [26] Upon that the man went to the land of the Hit′tites and built a city and called its name Luz. That is its name down to this day.

[27] And Ma·nas′seh did not take possession of Beth-she′an and its dependent towns and Ta′a·nach and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of Dor and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of Ib′le·am and its dependent towns and the inhabitants of Me·gid′do and its dependent towns, but the Ca′naan·ites persisted in dwelling in this land. [28] And it came about that Israel grew strong and proceeded to set the Ca′naan·ites to forced labor, and they did not drive them out completely.

[29] Neither did E′phra·im drive out the Ca′naan·ites who were dwelling in Ge′zer, but the Ca′naan·ites continued to dwell in among them in Ge′zer.

[30] Zeb′u·lun did not drive out the inhabitants of Kit′ron and the inhabitants of Na′ha·lol, but the Ca′naan·ites continued to dwell in among them and came to be subject to forced labor.

[31] Ash′er did not drive out the inhabitants of Ac′co and the inhabitants of Si′don and Ah′lab and Ach′zib and Hel′bah and A′phik and Re′hob. [32] And the Ash′er·ites continued to dwell in among the Ca′naan·ites inhabiting the land, because they did not drive them out.

[33] Naph′ta·li did not drive out the inhabitants of Beth-she′mesh and the inhabitants of Beth-a′nath, but they continued to dwell in among the Ca′naan·ites inhabiting the land; and the inhabitants of Beth-she′mesh and of Beth-a′nath became theirs for forced labor.

[34] And the Am′or·ites kept pressing the sons of Dan into the mountainous region, for they did not allow them to come down into the low plain. [35] So the Am′or·ites persisted in dwelling in Mount He′res and in Ai′ja·lon and Sha·al′bim. But the hand of the house of Joseph got to be so heavy that they were forced into task work. [36] And the territory of the Am′or·ites was from the ascent of A·krab′bim, from Se′la upward.

2 Then Jehovah’s angel went up from Gil′gal to Bo′chim and said: “I proceeded to bring YOU up out of Egypt and to bring YOU into the land about which I swore to YOUR forefathers. Furthermore, I said, ‘Never shall I break my covenant with YOU. [2] And for YOUR part, YOU must not conclude a covenant with the inhabitants of this land. Their altars YOU should pull down.’ But YOU have not listened to my voice. Why have YOU done this? [3] So I, in turn, have said, ‘I shall not drive them away from before YOU, and they must become snares to YOU, and their gods will serve as a lure to YOU.’”

[4] And it came about that as soon as Jehovah’s angel had spoken these words to all the sons of Israel, the people began to raise their voices and weep. [5] Hence they called the name of that place Bo′chim. And they proceeded to sacrifice there to Jehovah.

[6] When Joshua sent the people away, then the sons of Israel went their way, each to his inheritance, to take possession of the land. [7] And the people continued to serve Jehovah all the days of Joshua and all the days of the older men who extended their days after Joshua and who had seen all of Jehovah’s great work that he did for Israel. [8] Then Joshua the son of Nun, the servant of Jehovah, died at the age of a hundred and ten years. [9] So they buried him in the territory of his inheritance in Tim′nath-he′res in the mountainous region of E′phra·im, on the north of Mount Ga′ash. [10] And all that generation too were gathered to their fathers, and another generation began to rise after them that did not know Jehovah or the work that he had done for Israel.

[11] And the sons of Israel fell to doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah and serving the Baʹals. [12] Thus they abandoned Jehovah the God of their fathers who had brought them out of the land of Egypt and went following other gods from among the gods of the peoples who were all around them and they began bowing down to them, so that they offended Jehovah. [13] Thus they abandoned Jehovah and took up serving Baʹal and the Ashʹto·reth images. [14] At this Jehovah’s anger blazed against Israel, so that he gave them into the hands of the pillagers, and they began to pillage them; and he proceeded to sell them into the hand of their enemies round about, and they were no longer able to stand before their enemies. [15] Everywhere that they went out, the hand of Jehovah proved to be against them for calamity, just as Jehovah had spoken and just as Jehovah had sworn to them; and they got to be in very sore straits. [16] So Jehovah would raise up judges, and they would save them out of the hand of their pillagers.

[17] And even to their judges they did not listen, but they had immoral intercourse with other gods and went bowing down to them. They quickly turned aside from the way in which their forefathers had walked by obeying the commandments of Jehovah. They did not do like that. [18] And when Jehovah did raise up judges for them, Jehovah proved to be with the judge, and he saved them out of the hand of their enemies all the days of the judge; for Jehovah would feel regret over their groaning because of their oppressors and those who were shoving them around.

[19] And it occurred that when the judge died they would turn around and act more ruinously than their fathers by walking after other gods to serve them and bow down to them. They did not refrain from their practices and their stubborn behavior. [20] Finally Jehovah’s anger blazed against Israel and he said: “For the reason that this nation have overstepped my covenant that I commanded their forefathers and have not listened to my voice, [21] I too, for my part, shall not drive out again from before them a single one of the nations that Joshua left behind when he died, [22] in order by them to test Israel, whether they will be keepers of Jehovah’s way by walking in it just as their fathers kept it, or not.” [23] Accordingly Jehovah let these nations stay by not driving them out quickly, and he did not give them into Joshua’s hand.

3 Now these are the nations that Jehovah let stay so as by them to test Israel, that is, all those who had not experienced any of the wars of Ca′naan; [2] it was only in order for the generations of the sons of Israel to have the experience, so as to teach them war, that is, only those who before that had not experienced such things: [3] The five axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines, and all the Ca′naan·ites, even the Si·do′ni·ans and the Hi′vites inhabiting Mount Leb′a·non from Mount Ba′al-her′mon as far as to the entering in of Ha′math. [4] And they kept serving as agents to test Israel so as to know whether they would obey Jehovah's commandments that he had commanded their fathers by means of Moses. [5] And the sons of Israel dwelt in among the Ca′naan·ites, the Hit′tites and the Am′or·ites and the Per′iz·zites and the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites. [6] And they proceeded to take their daughters as wives for themselves, and their own daughters they gave to their sons, and they took up serving their gods.

[7] So the sons of Israel did what was bad in Jehovah's eyes, and they were forgetful of Jehovah their God and went serving the Ba′als and the sacred poles. [8] At this Jehovah's anger blazed against Israel, so that he sold them into the hand of Cu′shan-rish·a·tha′im the king of Mes·o·po·ta′mi·a; and the sons of Israel continued to serve Cu′shan-rish·a·tha′im eight years. [9] And the sons of Israel began to call to Jehovah for aid. Then Jehovah raised a savior up for the sons of Israel that he might save them, Oth′ni·el the son of Ke′naz, the younger brother of Ca′leb. [10] The spirit of Jehovah now came upon him, and he became the judge of Israel. When he went out to battle, then Jehovah gave Cu′shan-rish·a·tha′im the king of Syria into his hand so that his hand overpowered Cu′shan-rish·a·tha′im. [11] After that the land had no disturbance for forty years. Eventually Othʹni·el the son of Keʹnaz died.

[12] And once again the sons of Israel went doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. At that Jehovah let Egʹlon the king of Moʹab grow strong against Israel, because they did what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. [13] Furthermore, he gathered against them the sons of Amʹmon and Amʹa·lek. Then they went and struck Israel and took possession of the city of palm trees. [14] And the sons of Israel continued to serve Egʹlon the king of Moʹab eighteen years. [15] And the sons of Israel began to call to Jehovah for aid. So Jehovah raised up for them a savior, Eʹhud the son of Geʹra, a Benʹja·mite, a left-handed man. In time the sons of Israel sent tribute by his hand to Egʹlon the king of Moʹab. [16] Meanwhile Eʹhud made a sword for himself, and it had two edges, its length being a cubit. Then he girded it underneath his garment upon his right thigh. [17] And he proceeded to present the tribute to Egʹlon the king of Moʹab. Now Egʹlon was a very fat man.

[18] And it came about that when he had finished presenting the tribute, he at once sent the people away, the bearers of the tribute. [19] And he himself turned back at the quarries that were at Gilʹgal, and he proceeded to say: “I have a secret word for you, O king.” So he said: “Keep silence!” With that all those who were standing by him went on out from him. [20] And Eʹhud came to him as he was sitting in his cool roof chamber that he had to himself. And Eʹhud went on to say: “A word of God I have for you.” At that he rose up from his throne. [21] Then Eʹhud thrust in his left hand and took the sword off his right thigh and plunged it into his belly. [22] And the handle kept going in also after the blade so that the fat closed in over the blade, for he did not draw the sword out of his belly, and the fecal matter began to come out. [23] And Eʹhud proceeded to go out through the air hole, but he closed the doors of the roof chamber behind him and locked them. [24] And he himself went out.

And his servants came and began looking, and there the doors of the roof chamber were locked. So they said: “He is just easing nature in the cool interior room.” [25] And they kept waiting until they were ashamed, and, look! there was no one opening the doors of the roof chamber. At this they took the key and opened them, and, look! their lord was fallen to the earth dead!

[26] As for E′hud, he escaped while they were lingering, and he himself passed by the quarries and made his escape to Se·i′rah. [27] And it came about that when he got there he began blowing the horn in the mountainous region of E′phra·im; and the sons of Israel began going down with him out of the mountainous region, he being at their head. [28] Then he said to them: “Follow me, because Jehovah has given YOUR enemies, the Mo′ab·ites, into YOUR hand.” And they went following him and got to capture the fords of the Jordan against the Mo′ab·ites, and they did not allow anybody to pass over. [29] And at that time they went striking down Mo′ab, about ten thousand men, every one robust and every one a valiant man; and not a single one escaped. [30] And Mo′ab came to be subdued on that day under Israel’s hand; and the land had no further disturbance for eighty years.

[31] And after him there proved to be Sham′gar the son of A′nath, and he went striking down the Phi·lis′tines, six hundred men, with a cattle goad; and he too got to save Israel.

4 Then the sons of Israel again began to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes now that E′hud was dead. [2] So Jehovah sold them into the hand of Ja′bin the king of Ca′naan, who reigned in Ha′zor; and the chief of his army was Sis′e·ra, and he was dwelling in Ha·ro′sheth of the nations. [3] And the sons of Israel began to cry out to Jehovah, because he had nine hundred war chariots with iron scythes, and he himself oppressed the sons of Israel with harshness twenty years.

[4] Now Deb′o·rah, a prophetess, the wife of Lap′pi·doth, was judging Israel at that particular time. [5] And she was dwelling under Deb′o·rah’s palm tree between Ra′mah and Beth′el in the mountainous region of E′phra·im; and the sons of Israel would go up to her for judgment. [6] And she proceeded to send and call Ba′rak the son of A·bin′o·am out of Ke′desh-naph′ta·li and to say to him: “Has not Jehovah the God of Israel given the command? ‘Go and you must spread yourself out on Mount Ta′bor, and you must take with you ten thousand men out of the sons of Naph′ta·li and out of the sons of Zeb′u·lun. [7] And I shall certainly draw to you at the torrent valley of Ki′shon Sis′e·ra the chief of Ja′bin’s army and his war chariots and his crowd, and I shall indeed give him into your hand.’”

[8] At this Ba′rak said to her: “If you will go with me, I also shall certainly go; but if you will not go with me, I shall not go.” [9] To this she said: “Without fail I shall go with you. Just the same, the beautifying thing will not become yours on the way that you are going, for it will be into the hand of a woman that Jehovah will sell Sis′e·ra.” With that Deb′o·rah got up and went with Ba′rak to Ke′desh. [10] And Ba′rak began to call Zeb′u·lun and Naph′ta·li together to Ke′desh, and ten thousand men went on up following his steps; and Debʹo·rah went on up with him.

[11] Incidentally Heʹber the Kenʹite had separated from the Kenʹites, the sons of Hoʹbab, whose son-in-law Moses was, and he had his tent pitched near the big tree in Za·a·nanʹnim, which is at Keʹdesh.

[12] Then they reported to Sisʹe·ra that Baʹrak the son of A·binʹo·am had gone up to Mount Taʹbor. [13] At once Sisʹe·ra called together all his war chariots, the nine hundred war chariots with iron scythes, and all the people that were with him, out of Ha·roʹsheth of the nations to the torrent valley of Kiʹshon. [14] Debʹo·rah now said to Baʹrak: “Get up, for this is the day that Jehovah will certainly give Sisʹe·ra into your hand. Is it not Jehovah that has gone out before you?” And Baʹrak went descending from Mount Taʹbor with ten thousand men behind him. [15] And Jehovah began to throw Sisʹe·ra and all his war chariots and all the camp into confusion by the edge of the sword before Baʹrak. Finally Sisʹe·ra got down off the chariot and took to flight on foot. [16] And Baʹrak chased after the war chariots and the camp as far as Ha·roʹsheth of the nations, so that all the camp of Sisʹe·ra fell by the edge of the sword. Not as much as one remained.

[17] As for Sisʹe·ra, he fled on foot to the tent of Jaʹel the wife of Heʹber the Kenʹite, for there was peace between Jaʹbin the king of Haʹzor and the household of Heʹber the Kenʹite. [18] Then Jaʹel came on out to meet Sisʹe·ra and said to him: “Turn this way, my lord, turn this way to me. Do not be afraid.” So he turned aside to her into the tent. Later she covered him with a blanket. [19] In time he said to her: “Give me, please, a little water to drink, for I am thirsty.” Accordingly she opened a skin bottle of milk and gave him a drink, after which she covered him. [20] And he went on to say to her: “Stand at the entrance of the tent, and it must occur that if anybody comes and does ask you and says, ‘Is there a man here?’ you must then say, ‘No!’ ”

21 And Ja′el the wife of He′ber proceeded to take a pin of the tent and to put the hammer into her hand. Then she went to him stealthily and drove the pin into his temples and beat it into the earth, while he was fast asleep and weary. So he died.

22 And, look! there was Ba′rak pursuing Sis′e·ra. Ja′el now came on out to meet him and said to him: “Come and I shall show you the man you are looking for.” So in he went to her, and, look! there was Sis′e·ra fallen dead, with the pin in his temples.

23 Thus God subdued Ja′bin the king of Ca′naan before the sons of Israel on that day. 24 And the hand of the sons of Israel went on getting harder and harder against Ja′bin the king of Ca′naan, until they had cut off Ja′bin the king of Ca′naan.

5 And on that day Debʹo·rah along with Baʹrak the son of A·binʹo·am broke out in song, saying:

2 “For letting the hair hang loose in Israel for war,
For the people’s volunteering,
BLESS Jehovah.

3 Listen, YOU kings; give ear, YOU high officials:
I to Jehovah, yes, I, will sing.
I shall make melody to Jehovah, Israel’s God.

4 Jehovah, at your going forth from Seʹir,
At your marching out of the field of Eʹdom,
Earth rocked, heavens also dripped,
Clouds also dripped with water.

5 Mountains flowed away from the face of Jehovah,
This Siʹnai away from the face of Jehovah, Israel’s God.

6 In the days of Shamʹgar the son of Aʹnath,
In the days of Jaʹel, pathways had no traffic,
And the travelers of roadways would travel by roundabout pathways.

7 The dwellers in open country ceased, in Israel they ceased, Until I, Debʹo·rah, rose up,
Until I rose up as a mother in Israel.

8 They proceeded to choose new gods.
It was then there was war in the gates.
A shield could not be seen, nor a lance,
Among forty thousand in Israel.

9 My heart is for the commanders of Israel,
Who were volunteers among the people.
BLESS Jehovah.

10 YOU riders on yellowish-red she-asses,
YOU who sit on rich carpets,
And YOU who walk on the road,
Consider!

11 Some of the voices of the water distributors among the places of drawing water,
There they began to recount the righteous acts of Jehovah,
The righteous acts of his dwellers in open country in Israel.
It was then Jehovah’s people made their way down to the gates.

12 Awake, awake, O Debʹo·rah;
Awake, awake, utter a song!
Rise up, Baʹrak, and lead your captives away, you son of A·binʹo·am!

13 It was then the survivors came down to the majestic ones;
Jehovah’s people came down to me against the mighty ones.

14 Out of E′phra·im was their origin in the low plain,
With you, O Benjamin, among your peoples.
Out of Ma′chir the commanders went down,
And out of Zeb′u·lun those handling the equipment of a scribe.

15 And the princes in Is′sa·char were with Deb′o·rah,
And as Is′sa·char, so was Ba′rak.
Into the low plain he was sent on foot.
Among the divisions of Reu′ben great were the searchings of the heart.

16 Why did you sit down between the two saddlebags,
To listen to the pipings for the flocks?
For the divisions of Reu′ben there were great searchings of the heart.

17 Gil′e·ad kept to his residence on the other side of the Jordan;
And Dan, why did he continue to dwell for the time in ships?
Ash′er sat idle at the seashore,
And by his landing places he kept residing.

18 Zeb′u·lun was a people that scorned their souls to the point of death;
Naph′ta·li also, on the heights of the field.

19 Kings came, they fought;
It was then that the kings of Ca′naan fought
In Ta′a·nach by the waters of Me·gid′do.
No gain of silver did they take.

20 From heaven did the stars fight,
From their orbits they fought against Sis′e·ra.

21 The torrent of Ki′shon washed them away,
The torrent of ancient days, the torrent of Ki′shon.
You went treading down strength, O my soul.

22 It was then that the hoofs of horses pawed
Because of dashings upon dashings of his stallions.

23 ‘CURSE Me′roz,’ said the angel of Jehovah,
‘CURSE its inhabitants incessantly,
For they did not come to the assistance of Jehovah,
To the assistance of Jehovah with the mighty ones.’

24 Ja′el the wife of He′ber the Ken′ite will be most blessed among women, Among women in the tent she will be most blessed.

25 Water he asked, milk she gave;
In the large banquet bowl of majestic ones she presented curdled milk.

26 Her hand to the tent pin she then thrust out,
And her right hand to the mallet of hard workers.
And she hammered Sis′e·ra, she pierced his head through,
And she broke apart and cut up his temples.

27 Between her feet he collapsed, he fell, he lay down;

Between her feet he collapsed, he fell;
Where he collapsed, there he fell overcome.

28 From the window a woman looked out and kept watching for him,
The mother of Sis′e·ra from the lattice,
‘Why has his war chariot delayed in coming?
Why must the hoofbeats of his chariots be so late?’

29 The wise ones of her noble ladies would answer her,
Yes, she too would talk back to herself with her own sayings,

30 ‘Ought they not to find, ought they not to distribute spoil,
A womb—two wombs to every able-bodied man,
Spoil of dyed stuffs for Sis′e·ra, spoil of dyed stuffs,
An embroidered garment, dyed stuff, two embroidered garments
For the necks of men of spoil?’

31 Thus let all your enemies perish, O Jehovah,
And let your lovers be as when the sun goes forth in its mightiness.”

And the land had no further disturbance for forty years.

6 Then the sons of Israel began to do what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah. So Jehovah gave them into the hand of Midʹi·an for seven years. [2] And the hand of Midʹi·an came to prevail over Israel. Due to Midʹi·an the sons of Israel made for themselves the underground store places that were in the mountains, and the caves and the places difficult to approach. [3] And it occurred that, if Israel sowed seed, Midʹi·an and Amʹa·lek and the Easterners came up, yes, they came up against them. [4] And they would camp against them and would ruin the yield of the earth all the way to Gaʹza, and they would not let any sustenance or sheep or bull or ass remain in Israel. [5] For they and their livestock would come up with their tents. They would come as numerous as the locusts, and they and their camels were without number; and they would come into the land to ruin it. [6] And Israel became greatly impoverished due to Midʹi·an; and the sons of Israel began to call to Jehovah for aid.

[7] And it came about that because the sons of Israel called to Jehovah for aid on account of Midʹi·an, [8] Jehovah proceeded to send a man, a prophet, to the sons of Israel and to say to them: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘It was I who brought YOU up from Egypt and thus brought YOU out of the house of slaves. [9] So I delivered YOU out of the hand of Egypt and out of the hand of all YOUR oppressors and drove them out from before YOU and gave YOU their land. [10] Furthermore, I said to YOU: “I am Jehovah YOUR God. YOU must not fear the gods of the Amʹor·ites in whose land YOU are dwelling.” And YOU did not listen to my voice.’”

[11] Later Jehovah’s angel came and sat under the big tree that was in Ophʹrah, which belonged to Joʹash the Abi-ezʹrite, while Gidʹe·on his son was beating out wheat in the winepress so as to get it quickly out of the sight of Midʹi·an. 12 Then Jehovah's angel appeared to him and said to him: "Jehovah is with you, you valiant, mighty one." 13 At this Gidʹe·on said to him: "Excuse me, my lord, but if Jehovah is with us, then why has all this come upon us, and where are all his wonderful acts that our fathers related to us, saying, 'Was it not out of Egypt that Jehovah brought us up?' And now Jehovah has deserted us, and he gives us into the palm of Midʹi·an." 14 Upon that Jehovah faced him and said: "Go in this power of yours, and you will certainly save Israel out of Midʹi·an's palm. Do I not send you?" 15 In turn he said to him: "Excuse me, Jehovah. With what shall I save Israel? Look! My thousand is the least in Ma·nasʹseh, and I am the smallest in my father's house." 16 But Jehovah said to him: "Because I shall prove to be with you, and you will certainly strike down Midʹi·an as if one man."

17 At this he said to him: "If, now, I have found favor in your eyes, you must also perform a sign for me that you are the one speaking with me. 18 Do not, please, move away from here until I come to you and I have brought out my gift and set it before you." Accordingly he said: "I, for my part, shall keep sitting here until you return." 19 And Gidʹe·on went in and proceeded to make ready a kid of the goats and an eʹphah of flour as unfermented cakes. The meat he put in the basket, and the broth he put in the cooking pot, after which he brought it out to him under the big tree and served it.

20 The angel of the true God now said to him: "Take the meat and the unfermented cakes and set them on the big rock there, and pour out the broth." At that he did so. 21 Then Jehovah's angel thrust out the tip of the staff that was in his hand and touched the meat and the unfermented cakes, and fire began to ascend out of the rock and to consume the meat and the unfermented cakes. As for Jehovah’s angel, he vanished from his sight. 22 Consequently Gid′e·on realized that it was Jehovah’s angel.

At once Gid′e·on said: “Alas, Sovereign Lord Jehovah, for the reason that I have seen Jehovah’s angel face to face! ” 23 But Jehovah said to him: “Peace be yours. Do not fear. You will not die.” 24 So Gid′e·on built an altar there to Jehovah, and it continues to be called Je·ho′vah-sha′lom down to this day. It is yet in Oph′rah of the Abi-ez′rites.

25 And it came about during that night that Jehovah went on to say to him: “Take the young bull, the bull that belongs to your father, that is, the second young bull of seven years, and you must tear down the altar of Ba′al that is your father’s, and the sacred pole that is by it you should cut down. 26 And you must build an altar to Jehovah your God at the head of this stronghold, with the row of stones, and you must take the second young bull and offer it up as a burnt offering on the pieces of wood of the sacred pole that you will cut down.” 27 Accordingly Gid′e·on took ten men of his servants and went doing just as Jehovah had spoken to him; but it came about that, as he feared the household of his father and the men of the city too much to do it by day, he went doing it by night.

28 When the men of the city got up early in the morning as usual, why, look! the altar of Ba′al had been pulled down and the sacred pole that was beside it had been cut down, and the second young bull had been offered up on the altar that had been built. 29 And they began to say one to another: “Who has done this thing?” And they went inquiring and seeking. Finally they said: “Gid′e·on the son of Jo′ash is the one that has done this thing.” 30 So the men of the city said to Jo′ash: “Bring your son out that he may die, because he has pulled down the altar of Ba′al, and because he has cut down the sacred pole that was by it.” [31] At this Jo′ash said to all those who stood against him: “Will YOU be the ones to make a legal defense for Ba′al to see whether YOU yourselves may save him? Whoever makes a legal defense for him ought to be put to death even this morning. If he is God, let him make a legal defense for himself, because someone has pulled down his altar.” [32] And he began to call him Jer·ub·ba′al on that day, saying: “Let Ba′al make a legal defense in his own behalf, because someone has pulled down his altar.”

[33] And all Mid′i·an and Am′a·lek and the Easterners gathered together as one and proceeded to cross over and camp in the low plain of Jez′re·el. [34] And Jehovah’s spirit enveloped Gid′e·on so that he went blowing the horn, and the Abi-ez′rites got to be called together after him. [35] And he sent out messengers through all of Ma·nas′seh, and they too got to be called together after him. He also sent out messengers through Ash′er and Zeb′u·lun and Naph′ta·li, and they came on up to meet him.

[36] Then Gid′e·on said to the true God: “If you are saving Israel by means of me, just as you have promised, [37] here I am keeping a fleece of wool exposed on the threshing floor. If dew comes to be on the fleece alone but on all the earth there is dryness, then I must know that you will save Israel by means of me, just as you have promised.” [38] And it turned out to be that way. When he rose up early the next day and wrung the fleece, he got to drain off enough dew from the fleece to fill a large banquet bowl with water. [39] However, Gid′e·on said to the true God: “Do not let your anger blaze against me, but let me speak just once more. Let me, please, make a test only once more with the fleece. Let, please, dryness occur to the fleece alone, and upon all the earth let there come to be dew.” [40] So God did that way on that night; and dryness came to be on the fleece alone, and upon all the earth dew occurred.

7 Then Jer·ub·baʹal, that is to say, Gidʹe·on, and all the people who were with him, rose early and took up camping at the well of Haʹrod; and the camp of Midʹi·an happened to be on the north of him, at the hill of Moʹreh, in the low plain. [2] Jehovah now said to Gidʹe·on: “The people who are with you are too many for me to give Midʹi·an into their hand. Perhaps Israel would brag about itself against me, saying, ‘My hand it was that saved me.’ [3] And now call out, please, in the hearing of the people, saying, ‘Who is there afraid and trembling? Let him retire.’” So Gidʹe·on put them to the proof. With that, twenty-two thousand of the people retired, and there were ten thousand that remained.

[4] Still Jehovah said to Gidʹe·on: “There are yet too many people. Have them go down to the water that I may put them to the proof for you there. And it must occur that of whomever I say to you, ‘This one will go with you,’ he is one that will go with you, but every one of whom I say to you, ‘This one will not go along with you,’ he is one that will not go along.” [5] So he had the people go down to the water.

Then Jehovah said to Gidʹe·on: “Every one that laps up some of the water with his tongue just as a dog laps, you will set him by himself, also every one that bends down upon his knees to drink.” [6] And the number of those lapping with their hand to their mouth turned out to be three hundred men. As for all the rest of the people, they bent down upon their knees to drink water.

[7] Jehovah now said to Gidʹe·on: “By the three hundred men who did the lapping I shall save YOU people, and I will give Midʹi·an into your hand. As for all the other people, let them go each one to his place.” [8] So they took the provisions of the people in their hand, and their horns, and all the men of Israel he sent away each one to his home; and he kept hold of the three hundred men. As for the camp of Mid′i·an, it happened to be down below him in the low plain.

9 And it came about during that night that Jehovah proceeded to say to him: “Rise up, descend upon the camp, for I have given it into your hand. 10 But if you are afraid to descend, descend, you with Pu′rah your attendant, to the camp. 11 And you must listen to what they will speak, and afterward your hands will certainly grow strong, and you will be certain to descend upon the camp.” At that he and Pu′rah his attendant made their descent to the edge of those in battle formation who were in the camp.

12 Now Mid′i·an and Am′a·lek and all the Easterners were plumped in the low plain as numerous as locusts; and their camels were without number, as numerous as the grains of sand that are on the seashore. 13 Gid′e·on now came, and, look! there was a man relating a dream to his companion, and he went on to say: “Here is a dream that I have dreamed. And, look! there was a round cake of barley bread turning over and over into the camp of Mid′i·an. Then it came to a tent and struck it so that it fell, and it went turning it upside down, and the tent fell flat.” 14 At this his companion answered and said: “This is nothing else but the sword of Gid′e·on the son of Jo′ash, a man of Israel. The true God has given Mid′i·an and all the camp into his hand.”

15 And it came about that as soon as Gid′e·on heard the relating of the dream and its explanation, he began to worship. After that he returned to the camp of Israel and said: “Get up, for Jehovah has given the camp of Mid′i·an into YOUR hand.” 16 Then he divided the three hundred men up into three bands and put horns in the hands of all of them and large empty jars, and torches inside the large jars.

[17] And he went on to say to them: “YOU should learn from watching me, and that is how YOU should do. And when I am come to the edge of the camp, it must also occur that just as I shall do, so YOU will do. [18] When I have blown the horn, I and all who are with me, YOU also must blow the horns, YOU too, round about all the camp, and YOU must say, ‘Jehovah’s and Gid′e·on’s!’”

[19] In time Gid′e·on came with the hundred men who were with him to the edge of the camp at the start of the middle night watch. They had just got through posting the sentries. And they proceeded to blow the horns, and there was a dashing to pieces of the large water jars that were in their hands. [20] At that the three bands blew the horns and shattered the large jars and took fresh hold on the torches with their left hand and with their right hand on the horns to blow them, and they began calling out: “Jehovah’s sword and Gid′e·on’s!” [21] All the while they kept standing each one in his place all around the camp, and the whole camp got on the run and broke out into shouting and went fleeing. [22] And the three hundred continued to blow the horns, and Jehovah proceeded to set the sword of each one against the other in all the camp; and the camp kept up their flight as far as Beth-shit′tah, on to Zer′e·rah, as far as the outskirts of A′bel-me·ho′lah by Tab′bath.

[23] Meantime the men of Israel were called together from Naph′ta·li and Ash′er and all of Ma·nas′seh, and they went chasing after Mid′i·an. [24] And Gid′e·on sent messengers into all the mountainous region of E′phra·im, saying: “Go down to meet Mid′i·an and capture ahead of them the waters as far as Beth-bar′ah and the Jordan.” So all the men of E′phra·im were called together, and they got to capture the waters as far as Beth-bar′ah and the Jordan. [25] They also got to capture the two princes of Mid′i·an, namely, O′reb and Ze′eb; and they proceeded to kill O′reb on the rock of O′reb, and they killed Zeʹeb at the wine vat of Zeʹeb. And they kept on pursuing Midʹi·an, and they brought the head of Oʹreb and that of Zeʹeb to Gidʹe·on in the region of the Jordan.

8 Then the men of E′phra·im said to him: “What sort of thing is this that you have done to us in not calling us when you went to fight against Mid′i·an?” And they vehemently tried to pick a quarrel with him. [2] Finally he said to them: “What now have I done in comparison with YOU? Are not the gleanings of E′phra·im better than the grape gathering of Abi-e′zer? [3] It was into YOUR hand that God gave Mid′i·an’s princes O′reb and Ze′eb, and what have I been able to do in comparison with YOU?” It was then that their spirit calmed down toward him when he spoke this word.

[4] Eventually Gid′e·on came to the Jordan, crossing it, he and the three hundred men that were with him, tired but keeping up the pursuit. [5] Later he said to the men of Suc′coth: “Please give round loaves of bread to the people that are following my steps, for they are tired and I am chasing after Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na, the kings of Mid′i·an.” [6] But the princes of Suc′coth said: “Are the palms of Ze′bah and of Zal·mun′na already in your hand so that bread has to be given to your army?” [7] At this Gid′e·on said: “That is why when Jehovah gives Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na into my hand, I shall certainly give YOUR flesh a threshing with the thorns of the wilderness and the briers.” [8] And he continued on his way up from there to Pe·nu′el and went speaking to them in this same manner, but the men of Pe·nu′el answered him just as the men of Suc′coth had answered. [9] Hence he said also to the men of Pe·nu′el: “When I return in peace, I shall pull down this tower.”

[10] Now Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na were in Kar′kor, and their camps with them, about fifteen thousand being all who were left over out of the entire camp of the Easterners; and those already fallen were a hundred and twenty thousand men who used to draw the sword. [11] And Gid′e·on continued on up by the way of those residing in tents to the east of No′bah and Jog′be·hah and began to strike the camp while the camp happened to be off guard. [12] When Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na took to flight, he at once went in pursuit of them and got to capture Mid′i·an's two kings, Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na; and he drove all the camp into trembling.

[13] And Gid′e·on the son of Jo′ash began his return from the war by the pass that goes up to He′res. [14] En route he captured a young man of the men of Suc′coth and made inquiries of him. So he wrote out for him the names of the princes of Suc′coth and its older men, seventy-seven men. [15] With that he went to the men of Suc′coth and said: "Here are Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na respecting whom YOU taunted me, saying, 'Are the palms of Ze′bah and of Zal·mun′na already in your hand so that bread has to be given to your tired-out men?'" [16] Then he took the older men of the city and thorns of the wilderness and briers, and with them he put the men of Suc′coth through an experience. [17] And the tower of Pe·nu′el he pulled down, and he proceeded to kill the men of the city.

[18] He now said to Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na: "What sort of men were they whom YOU killed in Ta′bor?" To this they said: "As you are, so were they, each one, like the sons of a king in form." [19] At that he said: "They were my brothers, the sons of my mother. As Jehovah lives, if YOU had preserved them alive, I would not have to kill YOU." [20] Then he said to Je′ther his firstborn: "Get up, kill them." And the young man did not draw his sword, because he was afraid, for he was yet a young man. [21] So Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na said: "Get up yourself and assault us, for as a man is, so is his mightiness." Accordingly Gid′e·on got up and killed Ze′bah and Zal·mun′na and took the moon-shaped ornaments that were on the necks of their camels.

22 Later the men of Israel said to Gid′e·on: “Rule over us, you and your son and your grandson as well, for you have saved us out of the hand of Mid′i·an.” 23 But Gid′e·on said to them: “I myself shall not rule over YOU, nor will my son rule over YOU. Jehovah is the one who will rule over YOU.” 24 And Gid′e·on went on to say to them: “Let me make a request of YOU: Give me, each one of YOU, the nose ring of his booty.” (For they had nose rings of gold, because they were Ish′ma·el·ites.) 25 Then they said: “We shall surely give them.” With that they spread out a mantle and went throwing each one the nose ring of his booty into it. 26 And the weight of the nose rings of gold that he had requested amounted to one thousand seven hundred gold shekels, besides the moon-shaped ornaments and the eardrops and the garments of wool dyed reddish purple that were upon the kings of Mid′i·an and besides the necklaces that were on the necks of the camels.

27 And Gid′e·on proceeded to make it into an eph′od and to exhibit it in his city Oph′rah; and all Israel began to have immoral intercourse with it there, so that it served as a snare to Gid′e·on and to his household.

28 Thus Mid′i·an was subdued before the sons of Israel, and they did not lift up their head anymore; and the land had no further disturbance for forty years in the days of Gid′e·on.

29 And Jer·ub·ba′al the son of Jo′ash went his way and continued to dwell in his house.

30 And Gid′e·on came to have seventy sons that issued out of his upper thigh, for he came to have many wives. 31 As for the concubine of his that was in She′chem, she too bore him a son. So he named him A·bim′e·lech. 32 Eventually Gid′e·on the son of Jo′ash died at a good old age and was buried in the burial place of Jo′ash his father in Oph′rah of the Abi-ez′rites.

33 And it came about that as soon as Gid′e·on had died the sons of Israel again took up having immoral intercourse with the Ba′als, so that they appointed Ba′al-be′rith as their god. 34 And the sons of Israel did not remember Jehovah their God, who had delivered them out of the hand of all their enemies round about; 35 and they did not exercise loving-kindness toward the household of Jer·ub·ba′al, Gid′e·on, in return for all the goodness that he had exercised toward Israel.

9 In time A·bim′e·lech the son of Jer·ub·ba′al went to She′chem to the brothers of his mother and began speaking to them and to all the family of the house of his mother’s father, saying: [2] “Speak, please, in the hearing of all the landowners of She′chem, ‘Which is better for YOU, for seventy men, all the sons of Jer·ub·ba′al, to rule over YOU or for one man to rule over YOU? And YOU must remember that YOUR bone and YOUR flesh I am.’”

[3] So the brothers of his mother began speaking all these words about him in the hearing of all the landowners of She′chem so that their heart inclined toward A·bim′e·lech, for they said: “He is our own brother.” [4] Then they gave him seventy pieces of silver from the house of Ba′al-be′rith, and with them A·bim′e·lech proceeded to hire idle and insolent men, that they might accompany him. [5] After that he went to the house of his father at Oph′rah and killed his brothers, the sons of Jer·ub·ba′al, seventy men, upon one stone, but Jo′tham the youngest son of Jer·ub·ba′al was left over, because he had hid.

[6] Subsequently all the landowners of She′chem and all the house of Mil′lo gathered together and went and made A·bim′e·lech reign as king, close by the big tree, the pillar that was in She′chem.

[7] When they reported it to Jo′tham he at once went and stood on the top of Mount Ger′i·zim and raised his voice and called out and said to them: “Listen to me, YOU landowners of She′chem, and let God listen to YOU:

[8] “Once upon a time the trees went to anoint a king over them. So they said to the olive tree, ‘Do be king over us.’ [9] But the olive tree said to them, ‘Must I give up my fatness with which they glorify God and men, and must I go to wave over the other trees?’ 10 Then the trees said to the fig tree, ‘You come, be queen over us.’ 11 But the fig tree said to them, ‘Must I give up my sweetness and my good produce, and must I go to wave over the other trees?’ 12 Next the trees said to the vine, ‘You come, be queen over us.’ 13 In turn the vine said to them, ‘Must I give up my new wine that makes God and men rejoice, and must I go to wave over the trees?’ 14 Finally all the other trees said to the bramble, ‘You come, be king over us.’ 15 At this the bramble said to the trees, ‘If it is in truth that YOU are anointing me as king over YOU, come, seek refuge under my shadow. But if not, let fire come out of the bramble and consume the cedars of Leb′a·non.’

16 “And now if it is in truth and in faultlessness that YOU have acted and that YOU went making A·bim′e·lech king, and if it is goodness that YOU have exercised toward Jer·ub·ba′al and his household, and if YOU have done to him as the doing of his hands deserved, 17 when my father fought for YOU and went risking his soul that he might deliver YOU out of Mid′i·an’s hand; 18 and YOU, for YOUR part, have risen up against the household of my father today that YOU might kill his sons, seventy men, upon one stone, and that YOU might make A·bim′e·lech, the son of his slave girl, king over the landowners of She′chem just because he is YOUR own brother; 19 yes, if it is in truth and in faultlessness that YOU have acted toward Jer·ub·ba′al and his household this day, rejoice over A·bim′e·lech and let him too rejoice over YOU. 20 But if not, let fire come out of A·bim′e·lech and consume the landowners of She′chem and the house of Mil′lo, and let fire come out of the landowners of She′chem and the house of Mil′lo and consume A·bim′e·lech.”

[21] Then Joʹtham took to flight and went running off and made his way to Beʹer, and he took up dwelling there because of A·bimʹe·lech his brother.

[22] And A·bimʹe·lech kept playing the prince over Israel three years. [23] Then God let develop a bad spirit between A·bimʹe·lech and the landowners of Sheʹchem, and the landowners of Sheʹchem proceeded to deal treacherously with A·bimʹe·lech, [24] that the violence done to the seventy sons of Jer·ub·baʹal might come and that he might put their blood upon A·bimʹe·lech their brother because he killed them, and upon the landowners of Sheʹchem because they strengthened his hands to kill his brothers. [25] So the landowners of Sheʹchem set ambush men for him upon the tops of the mountains, and they would rob everyone that would pass by them on the road. In time it was reported to A·bimʹe·lech.

[26] Then Gaʹal the son of Eʹbed and his brothers came and crossed over into Sheʹchem, and the landowners of Sheʹchem began to trust in him. [27] And they went out as usual into the field and engaged in gathering the grapes of their vineyards and in treading them and in carrying on a festal exultation, after which they went into the house of their god and ate and drank and called down evil upon A·bimʹe·lech. [28] And Gaʹal the son of Eʹbed went on to say: “Who is A·bimʹe·lech, and who is Sheʹchem that we should serve him? Is he not the son of Jer·ub·baʹal, and is not Zeʹbul a commissioner of his? Serve the men of Haʹmor, Sheʹchem’s father, YOU others, but why should we ourselves serve him? [29] And if only this people were in my hand! Then I would remove A·bimʹe·lech.” And he went on to say to A·bimʹe·lech: “Make your army numerous and come on out.”

[30] And Ze′bul the prince of the city got to hear the words of Ga′al the son of E′bed. Then his anger blazed. [31] So he sent messengers by subterfuge to A·bim′e·lech, saying: “Look! Ga′al the son of E′bed and his brothers are now come to She′chem, and here they are massing the city against you. [32] And now rise up by night, you and the people that are with you, and lie in wait in the field. [33] And it must occur in the morning that as soon as the sun shines forth you should get up early, and you must make a dash against the city; and when he and the people that are with him are going out against you, you must also do to him just as your hand finds it possible.”

[34] Accordingly A·bim′e·lech and all the people that were with him rose up by night, and they began to lie in wait against She′chem in four bands. [35] Later Ga′al the son of E′bed went out and stood at the entrance of the city gate. Then A·bim′e·lech and the people that were with him rose up from the place of ambush. [36] When Ga′al caught sight of the people, he at once said to Ze′bul: “Look! People coming down from the tops of the mountains.” But Ze′bul said to him: “The shadows of the mountains are what you are seeing as though they were men.”

[37] Later Ga′al spoke once more and said: “Look! People coming down out of the center of the land, and one band is coming by the way of the big tree of Me·on′e·nim.” [38] At this Ze′bul said to him: “Where now is that saying of yours that you mouthed, ‘Who is A·bim′e·lech that we should serve him?’ Is not this the people whom you rejected? Go out now, please, and fight against them.”

[39] So Ga′al went on out at the head of the landowners of She′chem and took up the fight against A·bim′e·lech. [40] And A·bim′e·lech set out after him, and he went fleeing before him; and the slain kept falling in numbers as far as the entrance of the gate.

[41] And A·bimʹe·lech continued to dwell in A·ruʹmah, and Zeʹbul proceeded to drive Gaʹal and his brothers out from dwelling in Sheʹchem. [42] And it came about on the next day that the people began to go out into the field. So they told A·bimʹe·lech. [43] Hence he took the people and divided them up into three bands and began to lie in wait in the field. Then he looked, and there the people were going out of the city. He now rose up against them and struck them down. [44] And A·bimʹe·lech and the bands that were with him made a dash that they might stand at the entrance of the city gate, while two bands made a dash against all who were in the field, and they went striking them down. [45] And A·bimʹe·lech fought against the city all that day and got to capture the city; and he killed the people that were in it, after which he pulled the city down and sowed it with salt.

[46] When all the landowners of the tower of Sheʹchem heard of it, they immediately went to the vault of the house of El-beʹrith. [47] Then it was reported to A·bimʹe·lech that all the landowners of the tower of Sheʹchem had collected together. [48] At that A·bimʹe·lech went up Mount Zalʹmon, he and all the people that were with him. A·bimʹe·lech now took an ax in his hand and cut down a branch of the trees and lifted it up and put it on his shoulder and said to the people that were with him: “What YOU have seen me do—hurry up, do like me!” [49] So all the people cut down also each one a branch for himself and went following A·bimʹe·lech. Then they put them against the vault, and over them they set the vault on fire, so that all the men of the tower of Sheʹchem died too, about a thousand men and women.

[50] And A·bimʹe·lech proceeded to go to Theʹbez and to camp against Theʹbez and capture it. [51] As a strong tower happened to be in the middle of the city, there was where all the men and women and all the landowners of the city went fleeing, after which they shut it behind them and climbed onto the roof of the tower. 52 And A·bim′e·lech made his way to the tower and began fighting against it, and he went on up close to the entrance of the tower to burn it with fire. 53 Then a certain woman pitched an upper millstone upon A·bim′e·lech’s head and broke his skull in pieces. 54 So he quickly called the attendant bearing his weapons and said to him: “Draw your sword and put me to death, for fear they should say about me, ‘It was a woman that killed him.’” Immediately his attendant ran him through, so that he died.

55 When the men of Israel got to see that A·bim′e·lech had died, they now went each one to his place. 56 Thus God made the evil of A·bim′e·lech that he had done to his father by killing his seventy brothers come back. 57 And all the evil of the men of She′chem God made come back upon their own heads, that the malediction of Jo′tham the son of Jer·ub·ba′al might come upon them.

10 Now after A·bim′e·lech there rose up to save Israel To′la the son of Pu′ah, the son of Do′do, a man of Is′sa·char, and he was dwelling in Sha′mir in the mountainous region of E′phra·im. [2] And he continued to judge Israel for twenty-three years, after which he died and was buried in Sha′mir.

[3] Then after him Ja′ir the Gil′e·ad·ite rose up, and he continued to judge Israel for twenty-two years. [4] And he came to have thirty sons who rode on thirty full-grown asses, and they had thirty cities. These they continue to call Hav′voth-ja′ir down to this day; they are in the land of Gil′e·ad. [5] After that Ja′ir died and was buried in Ka′mon.

[6] And the sons of Israel again proceeded to do what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah, and they began to serve the Ba′als and the Ash′to·reth images and the gods of Syria and the gods of Si′don and the gods of Mo′ab and the gods of the sons of Am′mon and the gods of the Phi·lis′tines. So they left Jehovah and did not serve him. [7] At this Jehovah’s anger blazed against Israel, so that he sold them into the hand of the Phi·lis′tines and into the hand of the sons of Am′mon. [8] Hence they shattered and heavily oppressed the sons of Israel in that year—for eighteen years all the sons of Israel that were on the side of the Jordan in the land of the Am′or·ites that was in Gil′e·ad. [9] And the sons of Am′mon would cross the Jordan to fight even against Judah and Benjamin and the house of E′phra·im; and Israel was greatly distressed. [10] And the sons of Israel began to call to Jehovah for aid, saying: “We have sinned against you, because we have left our God and we serve the Ba′als.”

[11] Then Jehovah said to the sons of Israel: “Was it not from Egypt and from the Am′or·ites and from the sons of Am′mon and from the Phi·lis′tines [12] and the Si·do′ni·ans and Am′a·lek and Mid′i·an, when they oppressed YOU and YOU went crying out to me, that I proceeded to save YOU out of their hand? [13] As for YOU, YOU abandoned me and took up serving other gods. That is why I shall not save YOU again. [14] Go and call for aid to the gods whom YOU have chosen. Let them be the ones to save YOU in the time of YOUR distress.” [15] But the sons of Israel said to Jehovah: “We have sinned. You yourself do to us according to anything that is good in your eyes. Only deliver us, please, this day.” [16] And they began to remove the foreign gods from their midst and to serve Jehovah, so that his soul became impatient because of the trouble of Israel.

[17] In time the sons of Am′mon were called together and pitched camp in Gil′e·ad. So the sons of Israel gathered themselves together and pitched camp in Miz′pah. [18] And the people and the princes of Gil′e·ad began to say to one another: “Who is the man that will take the lead in fighting against the sons of Am′mon? Let him become the head of all the inhabitants of Gil′e·ad.”

11 Now Jeph′thah the Gil′e·ad·ite had become a mighty, valiant man, and he was the son of a prostitute woman, and Gil′e·ad came to be the father of Jeph′thah. [2] And Gil′e·ad’s wife kept bearing sons to him. When the sons of the wife got big, they proceeded to drive Jeph′thah out and to say to him: “You must have no inheritance in the household of our father, for you are the son of another woman.” [3] So Jeph′thah ran away because of his brothers and took up dwelling in the land of Tob. And idle men kept bringing themselves together to Jeph′thah, and they would go out with him.

[4] And it came about after a while that the sons of Am′mon began to fight against Israel. [5] And it came about that when the sons of Am′mon did fight against Israel, the older men of Gil′e·ad immediately went to take Jeph′thah out of the land of Tob. [6] Then they said to Jeph′thah: “Do come and serve as our commander, and let us fight against the sons of Am′mon.” [7] But Jeph′thah said to the older men of Gil′e·ad: “Was it not YOU that hated me so that YOU drove me out of my father’s house? And why is it that YOU have come to me now just when YOU are in distress?” [8] At this the older men of Gil′e·ad said to Jeph′thah: “That is why now we have returned to you, and you must go with us and fight against the sons of Am′mon, and you must become for us the head of all the inhabitants of Gil′e·ad.” [9] So Jeph′thah said to the older men of Gil′e·ad: “If YOU are bringing me back to fight against the sons of Am′mon, and Jehovah does abandon them to me, I, for my part, shall become YOUR head! ” [10] In turn the older men of Gil′e·ad said to Jeph′thah: “Let Jehovah prove to be the listener between us if the way we shall do is not according to your word.” [11] Consequently Jeph′thah went with the older men of Gil′e·ad and the people set him over them as head and commander. And Jephʹthah proceeded to speak all his words before Jehovah in Mizʹpah.

[12] Then Jephʹthah sent messengers to the king of the sons of Amʹmon, saying: “What do I have to do with you, seeing that you have come against me to fight in my land?” [13] So the king of the sons of Amʹmon said to the messengers of Jephʹthah: “It is because Israel took my land when they came up out of Egypt, from the Arʹnon as far as the Jabʹbok and as far as the Jordan. And now do return it peacefully.” [14] But Jephʹthah sent once more messengers to the king of the sons of Amʹmon [15] and said to him:

“This is what Jephʹthah has said, ‘Israel did not take the land of Moʹab and the land of the sons of Amʹmon. [16] For when they came up out of Egypt Israel went walking through the wilderness as far as the Red Sea and got to come to Kaʹdesh. [17] Then Israel sent messengers to the king of Eʹdom, saying: “Let me pass, please, through your land,” and the king of Eʹdom did not listen. And also to the king of Moʹab they sent, and he did not consent. And Israel kept dwelling in Kaʹdesh. [18] When they walked on through the wilderness, they went their way around the land of Eʹdom and the land of Moʹab, so that they went toward the rising of the sun as respects the land of Moʹab and took up camping in the region of the Arʹnon; and they did not come within the boundary of Moʹab, because Arʹnon was the boundary of Moʹab.

[19] “‘After that Israel sent messengers to Siʹhon the king of the Amʹor·ites, the king of Heshʹbon, and Israel said to him: “Let us pass, please, through your land to my own place.” [20] And Siʹhon did not feel sure about Israel’s crossing through his territory, and Siʹhon went gathering all his people together and camping in Jaʹhaz and fighting against Israel. [21] At this Jehovah the God of Israel gave Siʹhon and all his people into Israel’s hand, so that they struck them and Israel took possession of all the land of the Am′or·ites inhabiting that land. [22] Thus they took possession of all the territory of the Am′or·ites from the Ar′non as far as the Jab′bok and from the wilderness as far as the Jordan.

[23] “‘And now Jehovah the God of Israel it was that dispossessed the Am′or·ites from before his people Israel, and you, for your part, would dispossess them. [24] Is it not whomever Che′mosh your god causes you to dispossess that you will dispossess? And every one whom Jehovah our God has dispossessed from before us is the one we shall dispossess. [25] And now are you any better than Ba′lak the son of Zip′por, the king of Mo′ab? Did he ever contend with Israel, or did he ever fight against them? [26] While Israel was dwelling in Hesh′bon and its dependent towns and in A·ro′er and its dependent towns and in all the cities that are by the banks of Ar′non for three hundred years, why, then, did YOU never snatch them away during that time? [27] As for me, I have not sinned against you, but you are dealing wrong with me by fighting against me. Let Jehovah the Judge judge today between the sons of Israel and the sons of Am′mon.’”

[28] And the king of the sons of Am′mon did not listen to the words of Jeph′thah that he had sent to him.

[29] Jehovah’s spirit now came upon Jeph′thah, and he proceeded to pass through Gil′e·ad and Ma·nas′seh and to pass through Miz′peh of Gil′e·ad, and from Miz′peh of Gil′e·ad he passed along to the sons of Am′mon.

[30] Then Jeph′thah made a vow to Jehovah and said: “If you without fail give the sons of Am′mon into my hand, [31] it must also occur that the one coming out, who comes out of the doors of my house to meet me when I return in peace from the sons of Am′mon, must also become Jehovah’s, and I must offer that one up as a burnt offering.”

[32] So Jeph′thah passed along to the sons of Am′mon to fight against them, and Jehovah proceeded to give them into his hand. [33] And he went striking them from A·ro′er all the way to Min′nith—twenty cities—and as far as A′bel-ker′a·mim with a very great slaughter. Thus the sons of Am′mon were subdued before the sons of Israel.

[34] Finally Jeph′thah came to Miz′pah to his home, and, look! his daughter coming out to meet him with tambourine playing and dancing! Now she was absolutely the only child. Besides her he had neither son nor daughter. [35] And it came about that when he caught sight of her, he began to rip his garments and to say: “Alas, my daughter! You have indeed made me bend down, and you yourself have become the one I was ostracizing. And I—I have opened my mouth to Jehovah, and I am unable to turn back.”

[36] But she said to him: “My father, if you have opened your mouth to Jehovah, do to me according to what has gone forth from your mouth, since Jehovah has executed acts of vengeance for you upon your enemies, the sons of Am′mon.” [37] And she went on to say to her father: “Let this thing be done to me: Let me alone for two months, and let me go, and I will descend upon the mountains, and let me weep over my virginity, I and my girl companions.”

[38] At this he said: “Go! ” So he sent her away for two months; and she kept going, she with her girl companions, and weeping over her virginity upon the mountains. [39] And it came about at the end of two months that she made her return to her father, after which he carried out his vow that he had made toward her. As for her, she never had relations with a man. And it came to be a regulation in Israel: [40] From year to year the daughters of Israel would go to give commendation to the daughter of Jeph′thah the Gil′e·ad·ite, four days in the year.

12 Then the men of E′phra·im were called together and crossed over northward and said to Jeph′thah: “Why is it that you crossed over to fight against the sons of Am′mon, and to us you did not issue a call to go with you? Your very house we shall burn over you with fire.” [2] But Jeph′thah said to them: “I became a special contender, I and my people, with the sons of Am′mon. And I proceeded to call to YOU for aid, and YOU did not save me out of their hand. [3] When I got to see that you were no savior, then I determined to put my soul in my own palm and go over against the sons of Am′mon. At that Jehovah gave them into my hand. So why have YOU come up against me this day to fight against me?”

[4] Immediately Jeph′thah collected all the men of Gil′e·ad together and fought E′phra·im; and the men of Gil′e·ad went striking E′phra·im down, for they had said: “Men escaped from E′phra·im is what YOU are, O Gil′e·ad, inside of E′phra·im, inside of Ma·nas′seh.” [5] And Gil′e·ad got to capture the fords of the Jordan ahead of E′phra·im; and it occurred that when the escaping men of E′phra·im would say: “Let me pass over,” then the men of Gil′e·ad would say to each one: “Are you an E′phra·im·ite?” When he would say: “No!” [6] then they would say to him: “Please say Shib′bo·leth.” And he would say: “Sib′bo·leth,” as he was unable to say the word correctly. And they would lay hold of him and slay him at the fords of the Jordan. So there fell at that time forty-two thousand out of E′phra·im.

[7] And Jeph′thah continued to judge Israel for six years, after which Jeph′thah the Gil′e·ad·ite died and was buried in his city in Gil′e·ad.

[8] And Ib′zan from Beth′le·hem began to judge Israel after him. [9] And he came to have thirty sons and thirty daughters. He sent outside and brought in thirty daughters for his sons from outside. And he continued to judge Israel for seven years. [10] Then Ib′zan died and was buried in Beth′le·hem.

[11] And after him E′lon the Ze·bu′lu·nite began to judge Israel. And he continued to judge Israel ten years. [12] Then E′lon the Ze·bu′lu·nite died and was buried in Ai′ja·lon in the land of Zeb′u·lun.

[13] And after him Ab′don the son of Hil′lel the Pir′a·thon·ite began to judge Israel. [14] And he came to have forty sons and thirty grandsons who rode on seventy full-grown asses. And he continued to judge Israel eight years. [15] Then Ab′don the son of Hil′lel the Pir′a·thon·ite died and was buried in Pir′a·thon in the land of E′phra·im in the mountain of the A·mal′ek·ite.

13 And the sons of Israel engaged again in doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, so that Jehovah gave them into the hand of the Phi·lisʹtines for forty years.

[2] Meanwhile there happened to be a certain man of Zoʹrah of the family of the Danʹites, and his name was Ma·noʹah. And his wife was barren and had borne no child. [3] In time
Jehovah’s angel appeared to the woman and said to her:
“Look, now, you are barren and have borne no child. And you will certainly become pregnant and give birth to a son. [4] And now watch yourself, please, and do not drink wine or intoxicating liquor, and do not eat anything unclean. [5] For, look! you will be pregnant, and you will certainly give birth to a son, and no razor should come upon his head, because a Nazʹi·rite of God is what the child will become on leaving the belly; and he it is who will take the lead in saving Israel out of the hand of the Phi·lisʹtines.”

[6] Then the woman went and said to her husband: “There was a man of the true God that came to me, and his appearance was like the appearance of the angel of the true God, very fear-inspiring. And I did not ask him from just where he was, neither did he tell me his name. [7] But he said to me, ‘Look!
You will be pregnant, and you will certainly give birth to a son. And now do not drink wine or intoxicating liquor, and do not eat any unclean thing, because a Nazʹi·rite of God is what the child will become on leaving the belly until the day of his death.’”

[8] And Ma·noʹah began to entreat Jehovah and say: “Excuse me, Jehovah. The man of the true God that you just sent, let him, please, come again to us and instruct us as to what we ought to do to the child that will be born.” [9] Accordingly the true God listened to the voice of Ma·noʹah, and the angel of the true God came again to the woman while she was sitting in the field, and Ma·noʹah her husband was not with her. [10] Immediately the woman hurried and ran and told her husband and said to him: “Look! The man that came the other day to me has appeared to me.”

[11] At that Ma·noʹah got up and accompanied his wife and came to the man and said to him: “Are you the man that spoke to the woman?” to which he said: “I am.” [12] Then Ma·noʹah said: “Now let your words come true. What will become the child’s mode of life and his work?” [13] So Jehovah’s angel said to Ma·noʹah: “From everything that I mentioned to the woman she should keep herself. [14] Nothing at all that comes forth from the wine vine should she eat, and no wine or intoxicating liquor let her drink, and no unclean thing of any sort let her eat. Everything that I have commanded her let her keep.”

[15] Ma·noʹah now said to Jehovah’s angel: “Let us, please, detain you and fix up a kid of the goats before you.” [16] But Jehovah’s angel said to Ma·noʹah: “If you detain me, I shall not feed myself on your bread; but if you will render up a burnt offering to Jehovah, you may offer it up.” For Ma·noʹah did not know that he was Jehovah’s angel. [17] Then Ma·noʹah said to Jehovah’s angel: “What is your name, that when your word comes true we shall certainly do you honor?” [18] However, Jehovah’s angel said to him: “Just why should you ask about my name, when it is a wonderful one?”

[19] And Ma·noʹah proceeded to take the kid of the goats and the grain offering and to offer it upon the rock to Jehovah. And He was doing something in a wonderful way while Ma·noʹah and his wife were looking on. [20] So it came about that, as the flame ascended from off the altar heavenward, then Jehovah’s angel ascended in the flame of the altar while Ma·noʹah and his wife were looking on. At once they fell upon their faces to the earth. [21] And Jehovah’s angel did not repeat appearing to Ma·noʹah and his wife anymore. Then it was that Ma·noʹah knew that he had been Jehovah’s angel. [22] Consequently Ma·noʹah said to his wife: “We shall positively die, because it is God that we have seen.” [23] But his wife said to him: “If Jehovah had been delighted only to put us to death, he would not have accepted a burnt offering and grain offering from our hand, and he would not have shown us all these things, and he would not as now have let us hear anything like this.”

[24] Later the woman gave birth to a son and called his name Samson; and the boy kept getting bigger, and Jehovah continued to bless him. [25] In time Jehovah’s spirit started to impel him in Maʹha·neh-dan between Zoʹrah and Eshʹta·ol.

14 Then Samson went down to Tim′nah and saw a woman in Tim′nah of the daughters of the Phi·lis′tines. [2] So he went up and told his father and his mother and said: “There is a woman that I have seen in Tim′nah of the daughters of the Phi·lis′tines, and now get her for me as a wife.” [3] But his father and his mother said to him: “Is there not among the daughters of your brothers and among all my people a woman, so that you are going to take a wife from the uncircumcised Phi·lis′tines?” Still Samson said to his father: “Get just her for me, because she is the one just right in my eyes.” [4] As for his father and his mother, they did not know that that was from Jehovah, that he was looking for an opportunity against the Phi·lis′tines, as at that particular time the Phi·lis′tines were ruling over Israel.

[5] Accordingly Samson went on down with his father and his mother to Tim′nah. When he got as far as the vineyards of Tim′nah, why, look! a maned young lion roaring upon meeting him. [6] Then Jehovah’s spirit became operative upon him, so that he tore it in two, just as someone tears a male kid in two, and there was nothing at all in his hand. And he did not tell his father or his mother what he had done. [7] And he continued on his way down and began to speak to the woman; and she was still right in Samson’s eyes.

[8] Now after a while he went on back to take her home. Meantime he turned aside to look at the carcass of the lion, and there there was a swarm of bees in the lion’s corpse, and honey. [9] So he scraped it out into his palms and walked on, eating as he walked. When he rejoined his father and his mother, he at once gave them some, and they began to eat. And he did not tell them that it was out of the corpse of the lion that he had scraped the honey.

[10] And his father continued on his way down to the woman, and Samson proceeded to hold a banquet there; for that was the way the young fellows used to do. [11] And it came about that, on their seeing him, they immediately took thirty groomsmen, that these should keep with him. [12] Then Samson said to them: “Let me, please, propound a riddle to YOU. If YOU will without fail tell it to me during the seven days of the banquet and YOU do solve it, I shall in that case have to give YOU thirty undergarments and thirty outfits of clothing. [13] But if YOU are unable to tell it to me, YOU yourselves also must give me thirty undergarments and thirty outfits of clothing.” At this they said to him: “Do propound your riddle, and let us hear it.” [14] So he said to them:

“Out of the eater something to eat came forth,
And out of the strong something sweet came forth.”

And they proved unable to tell the riddle for three days. [15] And it came about on the fourth day that they began to say to Samson’s wife: “Fool your husband that he may tell us the riddle. Otherwise we shall burn you and the house of your father with fire. Was it to take our possessions that YOU people invited us here?” [16] Consequently Samson’s wife began to weep over him and to say: “You only hate me, you do, and you do not love me. There was a riddle that you propounded to the sons of my people, but to me you have not told it.” At this he said to her: “Why, to my own father and my own mother I have not told it, and ought I to tell it to you?” [17] But she kept weeping over him the seven days that the banquet continued for them, and it came about on the seventh day that finally he told her, because she had pressured him. Then she told the riddle to the sons of her people. [18] So the men of the city said to him on the seventh day before ever he could go into the interior room:

“What is sweeter than honey,
And what is stronger than a lion?”

In turn he said to them:

“If YOU had not plowed with my young cow,
YOU would not have solved my riddle.”

19 And Jehovah’s spirit became operative upon him, so that he went down to Ash′ke·lon and struck down thirty men of theirs and took what he stripped off them and gave the outfits to the tellers of the riddle. And his anger continued hot, and he went his way up to his father’s house.

20 And Samson’s wife came to belong to a groomsman of his who had associated with him.

15 And it came about after a while, in the days of wheat harvest, that Samson went visiting his wife with a kid of the goats. So he said: “I will go in to my wife in the interior room.” And her father did not allow him to go in. [2] But her father said: “I really said to myself, ‘You must unquestionably hate her.’ Hence I gave her to your groomsman. Is not her younger sister better than she is? Let her, please, become yours instead of the other.” [3] However, Samson said to them: “This time I must be free of guilt against the Phi·lis′tines in case I am dealing with them to their injury.”

[4] And Samson went his way and proceeded to catch three hundred foxes and to take torches and turn tail to tail and put one torch between two tails, right in the middle. [5] With that he set fire to the torches and sent them out into the fields of standing grain of the Phi·lis′tines. Thus he set on fire everything from sheaf to standing grain and the vineyards and the olive groves.

[6] And the Phi·lis′tines began to say: “Who did this?” Then they said: “It was Samson the son-in-law of the Tim′nite, because he took his wife and then gave her to his groomsman.” At that the Phi·lis′tines went up and burned her and her father with fire. [7] In turn Samson said to them: “If YOU do like this, there is nothing but for me to avenge myself upon YOU, and afterward I shall quit.” [8] And he went smiting them, piling legs upon thighs with a great slaughter, after which he went down and began to dwell in a cleft of the crag E′tam.

[9] Later the Phi·lis′tines came up and camped in Judah and went tramping about in Le′hi. [10] Then the men of Judah said:

“Why have YOU come up against us?” to which they said: “It is to tie Samson that we have come up, to do to him just as he has done to us.” [11] So three thousand men of Judah went down to the cleft of the crag E′tam and said to Samson: “Do you not know that the Phi·lis′tines are ruling over us? So what does this mean that you have done to us?” Then he said to them: “Just as they did to me is the way I have done to them.” [12] But they said to him: “It is to tie you that we have come down, to give you into the hand of the Phi·lis′tines.” At that Samson said to them: “Swear to me that YOU yourselves will not assault me.” [13] And they went on to say to him: “No, but we shall merely tie you, and we will give you into their hand; but we shall by no means put you to death.”

Accordingly they bound him with two new ropes and brought him up out of the crag. [14] He, for his part, came as far as Le′hi, and the Phi·lis′tines, for their part, shouted exultantly at meeting him. And Jehovah’s spirit became operative upon him, and the ropes that were upon his arms came to be like linen threads that have been scorched with fire, so that his fetters melted off his hands. [15] He now found a moist jawbone of a male ass and thrust his hand out and took it and went striking down a thousand men with it. [16] Then Samson said:

“With the jawbone of a male ass—one heap, two heaps!
With the jawbone of a male ass I have struck down a thousand men.”

[17] And it came about that when he finished speaking, he immediately threw the jawbone out of his hand and called that place Ra′math-le′hi. [18] Now he became very thirsty, and he began to call on Jehovah and say: “It was you that gave this great salvation into the hand of your servant, and now shall I die of thirst and must I fall into the hand of the uncircumcised?” [19] So God split open a mortar-shaped hollow that was in Le′hi, and water began to come out of it, and he proceeded to drink, after which his spirit returned and he revived. That is why he called its name En-hak·korʹe, which is in Leʹhi down to this day.

20 And he continued to judge Israel in the days of the Phi·lisʹtines twenty years.

16 Once Samson went to Ga′za and saw a prostitute woman there and came in to her. [2] And report was made to the Ga′zites, saying: “Samson has come in here.” So they surrounded him and lay in wait for him all night long in the city gate. And they kept quiet the whole night, saying: “As soon as the morning gets light, we must also kill him.”

[3] However, Samson kept lying till midnight and then rose at midnight and grabbed hold of the doors of the city gate and the two side posts and pulled them out along with the bar and put them upon his shoulders and went carrying them up to the top of the mountain that is in front of He′bron.

[4] And it came about after that that he fell in love with a woman in the torrent valley of So′rek, and her name was De·li′lah. [5] And the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to come up to her and to say to her: “Fool him and see in what his great power is and with what we can prevail over him and with what we are certain to tie him so as to master him; and we, for our part, shall give you each one thousand one hundred silver pieces.”

[6] Later De·li′lah said to Samson: “Do tell me, please, In what is your great power and with what can you be tied for one to master you?” [7] Then Samson said to her: “If they tie me with seven still-moist sinews that have not been dried out, I must also grow weak and become like an ordinary man.” [8] So the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines brought up to her seven still-moist sinews that had not been dried out. Later she tied him with them. [9] Now the ambush was sitting in the interior room of hers, and she began to say to him: “The Phi·lis′tines are upon you, Samson! ” At that he tore the sinews in two, just as a twisted thread of tow is torn in two when it smells fire. And his power did not become known.

[10] Subsequently De·liʹlah said to Samson: “Look! You have trifled with me that you might speak lies to me. Now tell me, do please, with what you can be tied.” [11] So he said to her: “If they tie me tight with new ropes with which no work has been done, I must also grow weak and become like an ordinary man.” [12] So De·liʹlah took new ropes and tied him with them and said to him: “The Phi·lisʹtines are upon you, Samson!” All the while the ambush was sitting in the interior room. At that he tore them in two from off his arms like a thread.

[13] After that De·liʹlah said to Samson: “Up till now you have trifled with me that you might speak lies to me. Do tell me with what you can be tied.” Then he said to her: “If you will weave the seven braids of my head with the warp thread.” [14] Accordingly she fixed them with the pin, after which she said to him: “The Phi·lisʹtines are upon you, Samson!” So he awoke from his sleep and pulled out the loom pin and the warp thread.

[15] She now said to him: “How dare you say, ‘I do love you,’ when your heart is not with me? These three times you have trifled with me and have not told me in what your great power is.” [16] And it came about that because she pressured him with her words all the time and kept urging him, his soul got to be impatient to the point of dying. [17] Finally he disclosed to her all his heart and said to her: “A razor has never come upon my head, because I am a Nazʹi·rite of God from my mother’s belly. If I did get shaved, my power also would certainly depart from me, and I should indeed grow weak and become like all other men.”

[18] When De·liʹlah got to see that he had disclosed to her all his heart, she immediately sent and called the Phi·lisʹtine axis lords, saying: “Come up this time, for he has disclosed to me all his heart.” And the Phi·lisʹtine axis lords came up to her that they might bring up the money in their hand. [19] And she proceeded to make him sleep upon her knees. Then she called the man and had him shave off the seven braids of his head, after which she started to show the mastery of him, and his power kept departing from upon him. [20] Now she said: “The Phi·lisʹtines are upon you, Samson! ” At that he woke up from his sleep and said: “I shall go out as at other times and shake myself free.” And he himself did not know that it was Jehovah that had departed from him. [21] So the Phi·lisʹtines grabbed hold of him and bored his eyes out and brought him down to Gaʹza and bound him with two fetters of copper; and he came to be a grinder in the prison house. [22] Meanwhile the hair of his head started to grow luxuriantly as soon as he had been shaved.

[23] As for the Phi·lisʹtine axis lords, they gathered together to sacrifice a great sacrifice to Daʹgon their god and for rejoicing, and they kept saying: “Our god has given into our hand Samson our enemy! ” [24] When the people got to see him, they at once gave way to praising their god, “because,” said they, “our god has given into our hand our enemy and the devastator of our land and the one who multiplied our slain.”

[25] And it came about that because their heart was merry, they began to say: “Call Samson that he may offer us some amusement.” So they called Samson out of the prison house that he might make sport before them; and they proceeded to stand him between the pillars. [26] Then Samson said to the boy that was holding him by his hand: “Do permit me to feel the pillars upon which the house is firmly established and let me lean against them.” [27] (Incidentally, the house was full of men and women and all the Phi·lisʹtine axis lords were there; and upon the roof there were about three thousand men and women who were looking on while Samson offered some amusement.)

[28] Samson now called to Jehovah and said: “Sovereign Lord Jehovah, remember me, please, and strengthen me, please, just this once, O you the true God, and let me avenge myself upon the Phi·lisʹtines with vengeance for one of my two eyes.”

[29] With that Samson braced himself against the two middle pillars upon which the house was firmly established, and got a grasp on them, one with his right and the other with his left hand. [30] And Samson proceeded to say: “Let my soul die with the Phi·lisʹtines.” Then he bent himself with power, and the house went falling upon the axis lords and upon all the people that were in it, so that the dead that he put to death in his own death came to be more than those he had put to death during his lifetime.

[31] Later his brothers and all the household of his father came on down and lifted him up and brought him up and buried him between Zoʹrah and Eshʹta·ol in the burial place of Ma·noʹah his father. As for him, he had judged Israel twenty years.

17 Now there happened to be a man of the mountainous region of E′phra·im whose name was Mi′cah. [2] In time he said to his mother: “The thousand one hundred silver pieces that were taken from you and over which you pronounced a curse and also said it in my hearing—look! the silver is with me. It was I who took it.” At that his mother said: “Blessed may my son be of Jehovah.” [3] Accordingly he gave back the thousand one hundred pieces of silver to his mother; and his mother went on to say: “I must without fail sanctify the silver to Jehovah from my hand for my son, so as to make a carved image and a molten statue; and now I shall give it back to you.”

[4] So he returned the silver to his mother, and his mother took two hundred silver pieces and gave them to the silversmith. And he went making a carved image and a molten statue; and it got to be in Mi′cah’s house. [5] As for the man Mi′cah, he had a house of gods, and he proceeded to make an eph′od and teraphim and to fill the hand of one of his sons with power, that he might serve as priest for him. [6] In those days there was no king in Israel. As for everybody, what was right in his own eyes he was accustomed to do.

[7] Now there happened to be a young man of Beth′le·hem in Judah of the family of Judah, and he was a Levite. And he was residing there for a time. [8] And the man proceeded to go from the city of Beth′le·hem in Judah to reside for a time wherever he might find a place. At length while going his way he came into the mountainous region of E′phra·im as far as the house of Mi′cah. [9] Then Mi′cah said to him: “Where do you come from?” At that he said to him: “I am a Levite from Beth′le·hem in Judah, and I am on my way to reside for a time wherever I may find a place.” [10] So Mi′cah said to him:

“Do dwell with me and serve as a father and priest for me, and I, for my part, shall give you ten silver pieces a year and the usual outfit of garments and your sustenance.” Accordingly the Levite went in. [11] Thus the Levite took it upon himself to dwell with the man, and the young man got to be as one of his sons to him. [12] Furthermore, Mi′cah filled the hand of the Levite with power, that the young man might serve as a priest for him and might continue in the house of Mi′cah. [13] Hence Mi′cah said: “Now I do know that Jehovah will do me good, because the Levite has become priest for me.”

18 In those days there was no king in Israel. And in those days the tribe of the Dan′ites was looking for an inheritance for itself to dwell there; because up to that day an inheritance had not fallen to them in the midst of the tribes of Israel.

[2] Eventually the sons of Dan sent five men of their family, men from among them, men who were valiant fellows, out from Zo′rah and Esh′ta·ol, to spy out the land and to explore it. So they said to them: “Go, explore the land.” In time they came into the mountainous region of E′phra·im as far as the house of Mi′cah and got to spend the night there. [3] While they were close by the house of Mi′cah, they recognized the voice of the young man, the Levite, so that they turned aside there. And they proceeded to say to him: “Who brought you here, and what are you doing in this place, and what interest do you have here?” [4] In turn he said to them: “Thus and so Mi′cah did for me that he might hire me, and that I might serve as priest for him.” [5] Then they said to him: “Inquire, please, of God that we may know whether our way on which we are going will be successful.” [6] So the priest said to them: “Go in peace. It is before Jehovah that YOUR way is in which YOU go.”

[7] Accordingly the five men went on and came to La′ish and saw how the people that were within it were dwelling in self-reliance according to the custom of the Si·do′ni·ans, quiet and unsuspecting, and there was no oppressive conqueror that was molesting a thing in the land, while they were far off from the Si·do′ni·ans and they had nothing to do with mankind.

[8] At length they came to their brothers at Zoʹrah and Eshʹta·ol, and their brothers began to say to them: “How was it with YOU?” [9] At this they said: “Do get up, and let us go up against them; for we have seen the land, and, look! it is very good. And YOU are hesitant. Do not be sluggish about walking to come in to take possession of the land. [10] When YOU come in, YOU will come to an unsuspecting people, and the land is quite wide; for God has given it into YOUR hand, a place where there is no lack of any sort of thing that is in the earth.”

[11] Then six hundred men girded with weapons of war, out of the family of the Danʹites, departed from there, that is, from Zoʹrah and Eshʹta·ol. [12] And they got on their way up and went camping at Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim in Judah. That is why they have called that place Maʹha·neh-dan down to this day. Look! It is west of Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim. [13] After that they passed along from there to the mountainous region of Eʹphra·im and came as far as the house of Miʹcah.

[14] Then the five men that had gone to spy out the land of Laʹish answered and said to their brothers: “Did YOU know that there are in these houses an ephʹod and teraphim and a carved image and a molten statue? And now have in mind what YOU ought to do.” [15] So they turned aside there and came to the house of the young man, the Levite, at the house of Miʹcah, and began to ask how he was getting along. [16] All the while the six hundred men girded with their weapons of war, who were of the sons of Dan, were standing at the entrance of the gate. [17] The five men that had gone to spy out the land now went on up, that they might enter in there to take the carved image and the ephʹod and the teraphim and the molten image. (And the priest was standing at the entrance of the gate with the six hundred men girded with weapons of war.) [18] And these went into the house of Mi′cah and proceeded to take the carved image, the eph′od and the teraphim and the molten image. At that the priest said to them: “What are YOU doing?” 19 But they said to him: “Be quiet. Put your hand over your mouth, and go with us and become a father and a priest for us. Which is better, for you to continue a priest to the house of one man or for you to become a priest to a tribe and family in Israel?” 20 At this the heart of the priest was pleased, and he now took the eph′od and the teraphim and the carved image and came into the midst of the people.

21 Then they turned and went their way and put the little ones and the livestock and the valuable things ahead of them. 22 They themselves had got a distance away from the house of Mi′cah when the men who were in the houses that were close by the house of Mi′cah were called together and tried to catch up with the sons of Dan. 23 When they kept crying out to the sons of Dan, then they turned their faces and said to Mi′cah: “What is the matter with you that you have been called together?” 24 So he said: “My gods that I made YOU have taken, the priest too, and YOU go YOUR way, and what do I have anymore? How, then, is it that YOU can say to me, ‘What is the matter with you?’” 25 At this the sons of Dan said to him: “Do not let your voice be heard close to us, for fear that men bitter of soul may assault YOU people, and you have to forfeit your own soul and the soul of your household.” 26 And the sons of Dan kept going on their way; and Mi′cah got to see that they were stronger than he was, and so he turned and went back to his house.

27 As for them, they took what Mi′cah had made and the priest that had become his, and they kept going toward La′ish, against a people quiet and unsuspecting. And they proceeded to strike them with the edge of the sword, and the city they burned with fire. 28 And there was no deliverer, for it was far away from Si′don, and they had nothing at all to do with mankind; and it was in the low plain that belonged to Beth-re′hob. Then they built the city and took up dwelling in it. [29] Furthermore, they called the name of the city Dan by the name of their father, Dan, who had been born to Israel. Nevertheless, La′ish was the city’s name at first. [30] After that the sons of Dan stood up the carved image for themselves; and Jon′a·than the son of Ger′shom, Moses’ son, he and his sons became priests to the tribe of the Dan′ites until the day of the land’s being taken into exile. [31] And they kept the carved image of Mi′cah, which he had made, set up for themselves all the days that the house of the true God continued in Shi′loh.

19 Now it happened in those days that there was no king in Israel. And it came about that a certain Levite was residing for a time in the remotest parts of the mountainous region of E′phra·im. In time he took as his wife a concubine from Beth′le·hem in Judah. [2] And his concubine began to commit fornication against him. Finally she went away from him to the house of her father at Beth′le·hem in Judah and continued there fully four months. [3] Then her husband got up and went after her to speak consolingly to her so as to bring her back; and there were with him his attendant and a couple of he-asses. So she had him come into her father’s house. When the father of the young woman got to see him, he at once rejoiced to meet him. [4] Consequently his father-in-law, the young woman’s father, took hold of him, so that he continued to dwell with him three days; and they would eat and drink, and he would stay overnight there.

[5] And it came about on the fourth day, when they got up early in the morning as usual, he now rose to go, but the father of the young woman said to his son-in-law: “Sustain your heart with a bit of bread and afterward YOU people may go.” [6] So they sat down, and both of them began to eat and to drink together; after which the father of the young woman said to the man: “Come on, please, and stay overnight, and let your heart feel good.” [7] When the man rose to go, his father-in-law kept begging him, so that he stayed overnight there again.

[8] When he got up early in the morning on the fifth day to go, the father of the young woman then said: “Please, take sustenance for your heart.” And they lingered until the fading away of the day. And both of them kept eating. [9] The man now rose to go, he and his concubine and his attendant; but his father-in-law, the young woman’s father, said to him: “Look, now! The day has declined toward becoming evening. Please, STAY overnight. Here the day is settling down. Stay here overnight, and let your heart feel good. And tomorrow YOU people must get up early for YOUR journey, and you must go to your tent.” [10] However, the man did not consent to stay overnight, but he rose and got on his way and came as far as in front of Je′bus, that is to say, Jerusalem; and with him there were the couple of he-asses saddled up, and his concubine and his attendant.

[11] While they were close by Je′bus, as the daylight had gone down considerably, the attendant now said to his master: “O come, now, and let us turn aside to this city of the Jeb′u·sites and stay in it overnight.” [12] But his master said to him: “Let us not turn aside to a city of foreigners who are no part of the sons of Israel; and we have to pass on as far as Gib′e·ah.” [13] And he went on to say to his attendant: “Come and let us approach one of the places, and we must stay overnight either in Gib′e·ah or in Ra′mah.” [14] So they passed along and kept on their way, and the sun began to set upon them when near to Gib′e·ah, which belongs to Benjamin.

[15] Consequently they turned aside there to go in to stay overnight in Gib′e·ah. And they proceeded to go in and sit down in the public square of the city, and there was nobody taking them on into the house to stay overnight. [16] Eventually, look! an old man coming in from his work in the field at evening, and the man was from the mountainous region of E′phra·im, and he was residing for a time in Gib′e·ah; but the men of the place were Ben′ja·mites. [17] When he raised his eyes he got to see the man, the traveler, in the public square of the city. So the old man said: “Where are you going, and where do you come from?” [18] In turn he said to him: “We are passing along from Beth′le·hem in Judah to the remotest parts of the mountainous region of E′phra·im. That is where I am from, but I went to Beth′le·hem in Judah; and it is to my own house that I am going, and there is nobody taking me on into the house. [19] And there are both straw and fodder for our he-asses, and there are both bread and wine for me and your slave girl and for the attendant with your servant. There is no lack of a single thing.” [20] However, the old man said: “May you have peace! Just let any lack of yours be upon me. Only do not stay overnight in the public square.” [21] With that he brought him into his house and threw mash to the he-asses. Then they washed their feet and began to eat and drink.

[22] While they were making their hearts feel good, look! the men of the city, mere good-for-nothing men, surrounded the house, shoving one another against the door; and they kept saying to the old man, the owner of the house: “Bring out the man that came into your house, that we may have intercourse with him.” [23] At that the owner of the house went on out to them and said to them: “No, my brothers, do not do anything wrong, please, since this man has come into my house. Do not commit this disgraceful folly. [24] Here are my virgin daughter and his concubine. Let me bring them out, please, and YOU rape them and do to them what is good in YOUR eyes. But to this man YOU must not do this disgraceful, foolish thing.”

[25] And the men did not want to listen to him. Hence the man took hold of his concubine and brought her forth to them outside; and they began to have intercourse with her, and kept on abusing her all night long until the morning, after which they sent her off at the ascending of the dawn. [26] Then the woman came as it was turning to morning, and fell down at the entrance of the man’s house where her master was,—until daylight. [27] Later her master rose up in the morning and opened the doors of the house and went out to get on his way, and, look! the woman, his concubine, fallen at the entrance of the house with her hands upon the threshold! [28] So he said to her: “Rise up, and let us go.” But there was no one answering. At that the man took her upon the ass and rose up and went to his place.

[29] Then he entered his house and took the slaughtering knife and laid hold of his concubine and cut her up according to her bones into twelve pieces and sent her into every territory of Israel. [30] And it occurred that everybody seeing it said: “Such a thing as this has never been brought about or been seen from the day that the sons of Israel went up out of the land of Egypt down to this day. Set YOUR hearts upon it, take counsel and speak.”

20 Consequently all the sons of Israel went out and the assembly congregated themselves as one man, from Dan down to Be′er-she′ba along with the land of Gil′e·ad, to Jehovah at Miz′pah. [2] So the keymen of all the people and all the tribes of Israel took their station in the congregation of the people of the true God, four hundred thousand men on foot who drew the sword.

[3] And the sons of Benjamin got to hear that the sons of Israel had gone up to Miz′pah.

Then the sons of Israel said: “SPEAK. How has this bad thing been brought about?” [4] At this the man, the Levite, the husband of the murdered woman, answered and said: “It was to Gib′e·ah, which belongs to Benjamin, that I came, I and my concubine, to stay overnight. [5] And the landowners of Gib′e·ah proceeded to rise up against me and to surround the house against me by night. It was I that they figured on killing, but it was my concubine that they raped, and she gradually died. [6] Hence I grasped my concubine and cut her up and sent her into every field of Israel’s inheritance, because they had carried on loose conduct and disgraceful folly in Israel. [7] Look! All YOU sons of Israel, give YOUR word and counsel here.”

[8] So all the people rose up as one man, saying: “We shall not go any of us to his tent, nor shall we turn aside any of us to his house. [9] And now this is the thing that we shall do to Gib′e·ah. Let us go up by lot against it. [10] And we must take ten men out of a hundred of all the tribes of Israel, and a hundred out of a thousand, and a thousand out of ten thousand, to procure provisions for the people, that they may take action by going against Gib′e·ah of Benjamin, in view of all the disgraceful folly that they did in Israel.” [11] Thus all the men of Israel were gathered against the city as one man, as allies.

[12] Accordingly the tribes of Israel sent men to all the tribesmen of Benjamin, saying: “What is this bad thing that has been brought about among YOU? [13] And now give over the men, the good-for-nothing men, that are in Gib′e·ah, that we may put them to death, and let us clear out what is bad from Israel.” And the sons of Benjamin did not want to listen to the voice of their brothers, the sons of Israel.

[14] Then the sons of Benjamin went gathering together out of the cities to Gib′e·ah to go out to battle against the sons of Israel. [15] So the sons of Benjamin got to be mustered on that day from the cities, twenty-six thousand men drawing sword, apart from the inhabitants of Gib′e·ah, of whom seven hundred chosen men were mustered. [16] Out of all this people there were seven hundred chosen men left-handed. Every one of these was a slinger of stones to a hairbreadth and would not miss.

[17] And the men of Israel were mustered apart from Benjamin, four hundred thousand men drawing sword. Every one of these was a man of war. [18] And they proceeded to rise up and go on up to Beth′el and to inquire of God. Then the sons of Israel said: “Who of us should go up in the lead to the battle against the sons of Benjamin?” To this Jehovah said: “Judah in the lead.”

[19] After that the sons of Israel rose up in the morning and camped against Gib′e·ah.

[20] The men of Israel now went out to battle against Benjamin; and the men of Israel proceeded to draw up in battle formation against them at Gib′e·ah. [21] So the sons of Benjamin came on out from Gib′e·ah and brought twenty-two thousand men in Israel down to ruin to the earth on that day. [22] However, the people, the men of Israel, showed themselves courageous and again went drawing up in battle formation in the place where they had drawn up in formation on the first day. [23] Then the sons of Israel went up and wept before Jehovah until the evening and inquired of Jehovah, saying: “Shall I again approach for battle against the sons of Benjamin my brother?” To this Jehovah said: “Go up against him.”

[24] Accordingly the sons of Israel drew near to the sons of Benjamin on the second day. [25] In turn Benjamin came on out from Gib′e·ah to meet them on the second day and brought a further eighteen thousand men among the sons of Israel down to ruin to the earth, all of these drawing sword. [26] At that all the sons of Israel, even all the people, went on up and came to Beth′el and wept and sat there before Jehovah and fasted on that day until the evening and offered up burnt offerings and communion offerings before Jehovah. [27] After that the sons of Israel inquired of Jehovah, as it was there that the ark of the covenant of the true God was in those days. [28] Now Phin′e·has the son of El·e·a′zar, the son of Aaron, was standing before it in those days, saying: “Shall I go out yet again to battle against the sons of Benjamin my brother or shall I cease to?” To this Jehovah said: “Go up, because tomorrow I shall give him into your hand.” [29] Then Israel set men in ambush against Gib′e·ah all around.

[30] And the sons of Israel proceeded to go up against the sons of Benjamin on the third day, and to draw up in formation against Gib′e·ah the same as at the other times. [31] When the sons of Benjamin went on out to meet the people, they were drawn away from the city. Then, the same as at the other times, they started to strike down some of the people mortally wounded on the highways, one of which goes up to Beth′el and the other to Gib′e·ah, in the field, about thirty men in Israel. [32] So the sons of Benjamin began to say: “They are suffering defeat before us the same as at the first.” As for the sons of Israel, they said: “Let us flee, and we shall certainly draw them away from the city onto the highways.” [33] And all the men of Israel rose up from their places and went drawing up in formation at Ba′al-ta′mar, while those of Israel in ambush were making a charge out of their places in the vicinity of Gib′e·ah. [34] Thus ten thousand chosen men out of all Israel came in front of Gib′e·ah, and the fighting was heavy; and the Ben′ja·mites did not know that calamity was impending over them.

[35] And Jehovah proceeded to defeat Benjamin before Israel, so that the sons of Israel on that day brought down to ruin in Benjamin twenty-five thousand one hundred men, all of these drawing sword.

[36] However, the sons of Benjamin imagined that the men of Israel faced defeat when they kept giving ground to Benjamin because they trusted in the ambush that they had set against Gib′e·ah. [37] As for the ambush, they acted quickly and went dashing toward Gib′e·ah. Then the ambush spread out and struck all the city with the edge of the sword.

[38] Now the men of Israel had come to the arrangement with the ambush for them to make a smoke signal go up from the city.

[39] When the sons of Israel turned around in the battle, Benjamin started to strike down about thirty men mortally wounded among the men of Israel, for they said: “They are unquestionably suffering nothing but defeat before us just as in the first battle.” [40] And the signal started to go up from the city as a pillar of smoke. So when Benjamin turned his face back, look! the whole city went up heavenward. [41] And the men of Israel made an about-face, and the men of Benjamin were disturbed, for they saw that calamity had reached them. [42] Hence they turned before the men of Israel in the direction of the wilderness, and the battle followed them up closely, while the men from out of the cities were bringing them down to ruin in their midst. [43] They surrounded Benjamin. They pursued him without a place to rest. They trampled him down directly in front of Gib′e·ah toward the rising of the sun. [44] Finally there fell eighteen thousand men of Benjamin, all of these being valiant men.

[45] Thus they turned and went fleeing to the wilderness to the crag of Rim′mon. And they made a gleaning of five thousand men of them on the highways, and they kept following closely after them as far as Gi′dom and so struck down two thousand more men of them. [46] And all those of Benjamin that fell on that day amounted at last to twenty-five thousand men drawing sword, all these being valiant men. [47] But six hundred men turned and went fleeing to the wilderness to the crag of Rim′mon, and they continued to dwell on the crag of Rim′mon four months.

[48] And the men of Israel came back against the sons of Benjamin and went striking with the edge of the sword those of the city, from men to domestic animal up to all that were found. Also, all the cities that were found they consigned to the fire.

21 Now the men of Israel had sworn in Miz′pah, saying: “Not a man of us will give his daughter to Benjamin as a wife.” [2] Consequently the people came to Beth′el and kept sitting there before the true God until the evening and continued to raise their voice and indulge in a great deal of weeping. [3] And they would say: “Why, O Jehovah the God of Israel, has this occurred in Israel, for one tribe to be missing today from Israel?” [4] And it came about the next day that the people proceeded to get up early and to build an altar there and to offer up burnt offerings and communion offerings.

[5] Then the sons of Israel said: “Who is there out of all the tribes of Israel that has not come up in the congregation to Jehovah, for there is a great oath that has taken place respecting the one that has not come up to Jehovah at Miz′pah, saying, ‘Let him be put to death without fail.’” [6] And the sons of Israel began to feel regret over Benjamin their brother. So they said: “Today one tribe has been chopped off from Israel. [7] What shall we do to those who are left over as to wives, now that we ourselves have sworn by Jehovah not to give them any of our daughters as wives?”

[8] And they went on to say: “Which one out of the tribes of Israel is it that has not come up to Jehovah at Miz′pah?” And, look! no one had come into the camp from Ja′besh-gil′e·ad to the congregation. [9] When the people were counted, well, look! there was not a man there from the inhabitants of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad. [10] Hence the assembly proceeded to send twelve thousand of the most valiant men there and to command them, saying: “Go, and YOU must strike the inhabitants of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad with the edge of the sword, even the women and the little ones. [11] And this is the thing that YOU should do: Every male and every woman that has experienced lying with a male YOU should devote to destruction.” [12] However, they found out of the inhabitants of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad four hundred girls, virgins, that had not had intercourse with a man by lying with a male. So they brought them to the camp at Shi′loh, which is in the land of Ca′naan.

[13] And all the assembly now sent and spoke to the sons of Benjamin that were on the crag of Rim′mon and offered them peace. [14] Accordingly Benjamin came back at that time. Then they gave them the women that they had preserved alive from the women of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad; but they did not find enough for them. [15] And the people felt regret over Benjamin because Jehovah had made a rupture between the tribes of Israel. [16] Consequently the older men of the assembly said: “What shall we do to the men that are left over as to wives, for womankind has been annihilated out of Benjamin?” [17] Then they said: “There should be a possession for those who have escaped of Benjamin, that a tribe might not be wiped out of Israel. [18] As for us, we are not allowed to give them wives from our daughters, because the sons of Israel have sworn, saying, ‘Cursed is the one that gives a wife to Benjamin.’”

[19] Finally they said: “Look! There is a festival of Jehovah from year to year in Shi′loh, which is to the north of Beth′el, toward the east of the highway that goes up from Beth′el to She′chem and toward the south of Le·bo′nah.” [20] So they commanded the sons of Benjamin, saying: “Go, and YOU must lie in wait in the vineyards. [21] And YOU must look, and, there now, when the daughters of Shi′loh come on out to dance in circle dances, YOU must also come out from the vineyards and carry off for yourselves by force each one his wife from the daughters of Shi′loh, and YOU must go to the land of Benjamin. [22] And it must occur that should their fathers or their brothers come to conduct a legal case against us, we also shall certainly say to them, ‘Do us a favor for their sakes, because we have not taken for each one his wife by war, for it was not YOU that did the giving to them at a time when YOU would become guilty.’”

[23] Accordingly the sons of Benjamin did just that way, and they proceeded to carry off wives for their number from the women dancing around, whom they snatched away; after which they went off and returned to their inheritance and built the cities and took up dwelling in them.

[24] And the sons of Israel began to disperse from there at that time, each one to his own tribe and his own family; and they went their way out from there, each one to his own inheritance.

[25] In those days there was no king in Israel. What was right in his own eyes was what each one was accustomed to do.

RUTH

1 Now it came about in the days when the judges administered justice that a famine arose in the land, and a man proceeded to go from Beth′le·hem in Judah to reside as an alien in the fields of Mo′ab, he with his wife and his two sons. [2] And the man’s name was E·lim′e·lech, and his wife’s name Na′o·mi, and the names of his two sons were Mah′lon and Chil′i·on, Eph′rath·ites from Beth′le·hem in Judah. Eventually they came to the fields of Mo′ab and continued there.

[3] In time E·lim′e·lech the husband of Na′o·mi died, so that she remained with her two sons. [4] Later the men took wives for themselves, Mo′ab·ite women. The name of the one was Or′pah, and the name of the other Ruth. And they went on dwelling there for about ten years. [5] In time the two of them, Mah′lon and Chil′i·on, also died, so that the woman remained without her two children and her husband. [6] And she proceeded to get up with her daughters-in-law and to return from the fields of Mo′ab, for she had heard in the field of Mo′ab that Jehovah had turned his attention to his people by giving them bread.

[7] And she went her way out from the place where she had continued, and both of her daughters-in-law were with her, and they kept walking on the road to return to the land of Judah. [8] Finally Na′o·mi said to both of her daughters-in-law: “Go, return, each one to the house of her mother. May Jehovah exercise loving-kindness toward YOU, just as YOU have exercised it toward the men now dead and toward me. [9] May Jehovah make a gift to YOU, and do YOU find a resting-place each one in the house of her husband.” Then she kissed them, and they began to raise their voices and weep.

10 And they kept saying to her: “No, but with you we shall return to your people.” 11 But Na′o·mi said: “Return, my daughters. Why should YOU go with me? Do I still have sons in my inward parts, and will they have to become YOUR husbands? 12 Return, my daughters, go, for I have grown too old to get to belong to a husband. If I had said I had hope also that I should certainly become a husband’s tonight and also should certainly bear sons, 13 would YOU keep waiting for them until they could grow up? Would YOU keep yourselves secluded for them so as not to become a husband’s? No, my daughters, for it is very bitter to me because of YOU, that the hand of Jehovah has gone out against me.”

14 At that they raised their voices and wept some more, after which Or′pah kissed her mother-in-law. As for Ruth, she stuck with her. 15 So she said: “Look! Your widowed sister-in-law has returned to her people and her gods. Return with your widowed sister-in-law.”

16 And Ruth proceeded to say: “Do not plead with me to abandon you, to turn back from accompanying you; for where you go I shall go, and where you spend the night I shall spend the night. Your people will be my people, and your God my God. 17 Where you die I shall die, and there is where I shall be buried. May Jehovah do so to me and add to it if anything but death should make a separation between me and you.”

18 When she got to see that she was persistent about going with her, then she left off speaking to her. 19 And they both continued on their way until they came to Beth′le·hem. And it came about that as soon as they came to Beth′le·hem, all the city became stirred up over them, and the women kept saying: “Is this Na′o·mi?” 20 And she would say to the women: “Do not call me Na′o·mi. Call me Ma′ra, for the Almighty has made it very bitter for me. [21] I was full when I went, and it is empty-handed that Jehovah has made me return. Why should YOU call me Na′o·mi, when it is Jehovah that has humiliated me and the Almighty that has caused me calamity?”

[22] Thus Na′o·mi made her return, Ruth the Mo′ab·ite woman, her daughter-in-law, being with her when returning from the fields of Mo′ab; and they came to Beth′le·hem at the commencement of barley harvest.

2 Now Na′o·mi had a kinsman of her husband, a man mighty in wealth, of the family of E·lim′e·lech, and his name was Bo′az.

[2] In time Ruth the Mo′ab·ite woman said to Na′o·mi: “Let me go, please, to the field and glean among the ears of grain following after whoever it is in whose eyes I may find favor.” So she said to her: “Go, my daughter.” [3] At that she went off and entered and began to glean in the field behind the harvesters. Thus by chance she lighted on the tract of the field belonging to Bo′az, who was of the family of E·lim′e·lech. [4] And, look! Bo′az came from Beth′le·hem and proceeded to say to the harvesters: “Jehovah be with YOU.” In turn they would say to him: “Jehovah bless you.”

[5] Subsequently Bo′az said to the young man who was set over the harvesters: “To whom does this young woman belong?” [6] So the young man set over the harvesters answered and said: “The young woman is a Mo′ab·i·tess, who returned with Na′o·mi from the field of Mo′ab. [7] Then she said, ‘Let me glean, please, and I shall certainly gather among the cut-off ears of grain behind the harvesters.’ So she entered and kept on her feet from that time in the morning until her sitting down just now in the house a little while.”

[8] Later Bo′az said to Ruth: “You have heard, have you not, my daughter? Do not go away to glean in another field, and you must also not cross over from this place, and in that way you should keep close by my young women. [9] Let your eyes be on the field that they will harvest, and you must go with them. Have I not commanded the young men not to touch you? When you are thirsty, you must also go to the vessels and drink from what the young men will draw.”

10 At that she fell upon her face and bowed down to the earth and said to him: “How is it I have found favor in your eyes so that I am taken notice of, when I am a foreigner?” 11 Then Bo′az answered and said to her: “The report was fully made to me of all that you have done to your mother-in-law after the death of your husband, and how you proceeded to leave your father and your mother and the land of your relatives and to go to a people whom you had not known formerly. 12 May Jehovah reward the way you act, and may there come to be a perfect wage for you from Jehovah the God of Israel, under whose wings you have come to seek refuge.” 13 To this she said: “Let me find favor in your eyes, my lord, because you have comforted me and because you have spoken reassuringly to your maidservant, although I myself may not happen to be like one of your maidservants.”

14 And Bo′az proceeded to say to her at mealtime: “Approach here, and you must eat some of the bread and dip your piece in the vinegar.” So she sat down beside the harvesters, and he would hold out roasted grain to her and she would eat, so that she was satisfied and yet had something left over. 15 Then she got up to glean. Bo′az now commanded his young men, saying: “Let her glean also among the cut-off ears of grain, and YOU must not molest her. 16 And YOU should also be sure to pull out some from the bundles of ears for her, and YOU must leave them behind that she may glean them, and YOU must not rebuke her.”

17 And she continued to glean in the field until the evening, after which she beat out what she had gleaned, and it came to be about an e′phah of barley. 18 Then she took it up and went into the city, and her mother-in-law got to see what she had gleaned. After that she took out what food she had left over when she had satisfied herself and gave it to her.

[19] Her mother-in-law now said to her: “Where did you glean today, and where did you work? May the one who took notice of you become blessed.” So she told her mother-in-law with whom she had worked; and she went on to say: “The name of the man with whom I worked today is Boʹaz.” [20] At that Naʹo·mi said to her daughter-in-law: “Blessed be he of Jehovah, who has not left his loving-kindness toward the living and the dead.” And Naʹo·mi went on to say to her: “The man is related to us. He is one of our repurchasers.” [21] Then Ruth the Moʹab·i·tess said: “He also said to me, ‘Close by the young people that are mine is where you should keep until they have finished the entire harvest that I have.’” [22] So Naʹo·mi said to Ruth her daughter-in-law: “It is better, my daughter, that you should go out with his young women, that they may not annoy you in another field.”

[23] And she continued to keep close by the young women of Boʹaz to glean until the harvest of the barley and the harvest of the wheat came to an end. And she kept on dwelling with her mother-in-law.

3 Na′o·mi her mother-in-law now said to her: “My daughter, ought I not to look for a resting-place for you, that it may go well with you? [2] And now, is not Bo′az, with whose young women you have continued, our kinsman? Look! He is winnowing barley at the threshing floor tonight. [3] And you must wash and rub yourself with oil and put your mantles upon you and go down to the threshing floor. Do not make yourself known to the man until he has finished eating and drinking. [4] And it should occur that when he lies down, you must also take note of the place where he lies down; and you must come and uncover him at his feet and lie down; and he, for his part, will tell you what you ought to do.”

[5] At that she said to her: “All that you say to me I shall do.” [6] And she proceeded to go down to the threshing floor and to do according to all that her mother-in-law had commanded her. [7] Meantime Bo′az ate and drank, and his heart was feeling good. Then he went to lie down at the extremity of the grain heap. After that she came stealthily and uncovered him at his feet and lay down. [8] And it came about at midnight that the man began to tremble. So he bent himself forward, and, look! a woman lying at his feet! [9] Then he said: “Who are you?” In turn she said: “I am Ruth your slave girl, and you must spread out your skirt over your slave girl, for you are a repurchaser.” [10] At that he said: “Blessed may you be of Jehovah, my daughter. You have expressed your loving-kindness better in the last instance than in the first instance, in not going after the young fellows whether lowly or rich. [11] And now, my daughter, do not be afraid. All that you say I shall do for you, for everyone in the gate of my people is aware that you are an excellent woman. [12] And now while it is a fact that I am a repurchaser, there is also a repurchaser closer related than I am. [13] Lodge here tonight, and it must occur in the morning that if he will repurchase you, fine! Let him do the repurchasing. But if he does not take delight in repurchasing you, I will then repurchase you, I myself, as sure as Jehovah lives. Keep lying down until the morning."

[14] And she kept lying at his feet until the morning and then got up before anyone could recognize another. He now said: "Do not let it be known that a woman came to the threshing floor." [15] And he went on to say: "Bring the cloak that is on you, and hold it open." So she held it open, and he proceeded to measure out six measures of barley and to place it upon her, after which he went into the city.

[16] And she went her way to her mother-in-law, who now said: "Who are you, my daughter?" Accordingly she told her everything that the man had done to her. [17] And she went on to say: "These six measures of barley he gave me, for he said to me, 'Do not come empty-handed to your mother-in-law.'" [18] At that she said: "Sit still, my daughter, until you know how the matter will turn out, for the man will have no rest unless he has brought the matter to an end today."

4 As for Boʹaz, he went up to the gate and began to sit there. And, look! the repurchaser was passing by, whom Boʹaz had mentioned. Then he said: “Do turn aside, do sit down here, So-and-so.” Hence he turned aside and sat down. [2] After that he took ten men of the older men of the city and said: “Sit down here.” So they sat down.

[3] He now said to the repurchaser: “The tract of the field that belonged to our brother E·limʹe·lech, Naʹo·mi, who has returned from the field of Moʹab, must sell. [4] As for me, I thought that I should disclose it to you, saying, ‘Buy it in front of the inhabitants and the older men of my people. If you will repurchase it, repurchase it; but if you will not repurchase it, do tell me, that I may know, for there is no one else but you to do the repurchasing, and I am next to you.’” At that he said: “I shall be the one to repurchase it.” [5] Then Boʹaz said: “On the day that you buy the field from Naʹo·mi’s hand, it is also from Ruth the Moʹab·i·tess, the wife of the dead man, that you must buy it so as to cause the name of the dead man to rise upon his inheritance.” [6] To this the repurchaser said: “I am unable to repurchase it for myself, for fear I may ruin my own inheritance. You repurchase it for yourself with my right of repurchase, because I am not able to do the repurchasing.”

[7] Now this was the custom of former times in Israel concerning the right of repurchase and concerning the exchange, to establish every sort of thing: A man had to draw his sandal off and give it to his fellow, and this was the attestation in Israel. [8] So when the repurchaser said to Boʹaz: “Buy it for yourself,” he proceeded to draw his sandal off. [9] Then Boʹaz said to the older men and all the people: “YOU are witnesses today that I do buy all that belonged to

E·lim′e·lech and all that belonged to Chil′i·on and Mah′lon from the hand of Na′o·mi. [10] And also Ruth the Mo′ab·i·tess, the wife of Mah′lon, I do buy for myself as a wife to cause the name of the dead man to rise upon his inheritance and that the name of the dead man may not be cut off from among his brothers and from the gate of his place. YOU are witnesses today.”

[11] At this all the people that were in the gate and the older men said: “Witnesses! May Jehovah grant the wife who is coming into your house to be like Rachel and like Le′ah, both of whom built the house of Israel; and you prove your worth in Eph′ra·thah and make a notable name in Beth′le·hem. [12] And may your house become like the house of Pe′rez, whom Ta′mar bore to Judah, from the offspring that Jehovah will give you out of this young woman.”

[13] Accordingly Bo′az took Ruth and she became his wife and he had relations with her. So Jehovah granted her conception and she bore a son. [14] And the women began to say to Na′o·mi: “Blessed be Jehovah, who has not let a repurchaser fail for you today; that his name may be proclaimed in Israel. [15] And he has become a restorer of your soul and one to nourish your old age, because your daughter-in-law who does love you, who is better to you than seven sons, has given birth to him.” [16] And Na′o·mi proceeded to take the child and to put it in her bosom, and she came to be its nurse. [17] Then the neighbor ladies gave it a name, saying: “A son has been born to Na′o·mi.” And they began to call his name O′bed. He is the father of Jes′se, David’s father.

[18] Now these are the generations of Pe′rez: Pe′rez became father to Hez′ron; [19] and Hez′ron became father to Ram; and Ram became father to Am·min′a·dab; [20] and Am·min′a·dab became father to Nah′shon; and Nah′shon became father to Sal′mon; [21] and Sal′mon became father to Bo′az; and Bo′az became father to O′bed; [22] and O′bed became father to Jes′se; and Jes′se became father to David.

THE FIRST OF SAMUEL

OR, ACCORDING TO THE GREEK SEPTUAGINT, THE FIRST OF KINGS

1 Now there happened to be a certain man of Ra·math·aʹim-zoʹphim of the mountainous region of Eʹphra·im, and his name was El·kaʹnah, the son of Je·roʹham, the son of E·liʹhu, the son of Toʹhu, the son of Zuph, an Eʹphra·im·ite. [2] And he had two wives, the name of the one being Hanʹnah, and the name of the other being Pe·ninʹnah. And Pe·ninʹnah came to have children, but Hanʹnah had no children. [3] And that man went up out of his city from year to year to prostrate himself and to sacrifice to Jehovah of armies in Shiʹloh. And there is where the two sons of Eʹli, Hophʹni and Phinʹe·has, were priests to Jehovah.

[4] And there came to be a day when El·kaʹnah proceeded to sacrifice, and he gave to Pe·ninʹnah his wife and to all her sons and her daughters portions; [5] but to Hanʹnah he gave one portion. Nonetheless it was Hanʹnah that he loved, and, as for Jehovah, he had closed up her womb. [6] And her rival wife also vexed her sorely for the sake of making her feel disconcerted because Jehovah had closed up her womb. [7] And that was the way she would do year by year, as often as she went up into the house of Jehovah. That was the way she would vex her, so that she would weep and not eat. [8] And El·kaʹnah her husband proceeded to say to her: “Hanʹnah, why do you weep, and why do you not eat, and why does your heart feel bad? Am I not better to you than ten sons?”

[9] Then Hanʹnah got up after they had eaten in Shiʹloh and after the drinking, while Eʹli the priest was sitting upon the seat by the doorpost of the temple of Jehovah. 10 And she was bitter of soul, and she began to pray to Jehovah and to weep greatly. 11 And she went on to make a vow and say: “O Jehovah of armies, if you will without fail look upon the affliction of your slave girl and actually remember me, and you will not forget your slave girl and actually give to your slave girl a male offspring, I will give him to Jehovah all the days of his life, and no razor will come upon his head.”

12 And it occurred that while she prayed extendedly before Jehovah, E′li was watching her mouth. 13 As for Han′nah, she was speaking in her heart; only her lips were quivering, and her voice was not heard. But E′li took her for drunk. 14 So E′li said to her: “How long will you behave drunk? Put away your wine from upon you.” 15 At this Han′nah answered and said: “No, my lord! A woman hard pressed in spirit I am; and wine and intoxicating liquor I have not drunk, but I pour out my soul before Jehovah. 16 Do not make your slave girl like a good-for-nothing woman, for it is out of the abundance of my concern and my vexation that I have spoken until now.” 17 Then E′li answered and said: “Go in peace, and may the God of Israel grant your petition that you have asked of him.” 18 To this she said: “Let your maidservant find favor in your eyes.” And the woman proceeded to go on her way and to eat, and her face became self-concerned no more.

19 Then they got up early in the morning and prostrated themselves before Jehovah, after which they returned and came into their house at Ra′mah. El·ka′nah now had intercourse with Han′nah his wife, and Jehovah began remembering her. 20 So it came about at the rolling around of a year that Han′nah became pregnant and brought a son to birth and proceeded to call his name Samuel, because, said she, “it is from Jehovah that I have asked him.”

[21] In time the man El·kaʹnah went up with all his household to sacrifice to Jehovah the yearly sacrifice and his vow offering. [22] As for Hanʹnah, she did not go up, for she had said to her husband: “As soon as the boy is weaned, I must bring him, and he must appear before Jehovah and dwell there to time indefinite.” [23] At this El·kaʹnah her husband said to her: “Do what is good in your eyes. Stay at home until you wean him. Only may Jehovah carry out his word.” So the woman stayed at home and kept nursing her son until she weaned him.

[24] Accordingly just as soon as she had weaned him, she brought him up with her, along with a three-year-old bull and one eʹphah of flour and a large jar of wine, and she proceeded to enter the house of Jehovah in Shiʹloh. And the boy was with her. [25] Then they slaughtered the bull and brought the boy to Eʹli. [26] With that she said: “Excuse me, my lord! By the life of your soul, my lord, I am the woman that was standing with you in this place to pray to Jehovah. [27] It was with reference to this boy that I prayed that Jehovah should grant me my petition that I asked of him. [28] And I, in my turn, have lent him to Jehovah. All the days that he does happen to be, he is one requested for Jehovah.”

And he proceeded to bow down there to Jehovah.

2 And Han′nah went on to pray and say:
“My heart does exult in Jehovah,
My horn is indeed exalted in Jehovah.
My mouth is widened against my enemies,
For I do rejoice in the salvation from you.

2 There is no one holy like Jehovah, for there is no one but you;
And there is no rock like our God.

3 Do not YOU people speak very haughtily so much,
Let nothing go forth unrestrained from YOUR mouth,
For a God of knowledge Jehovah is,
And by him deeds are rightly estimated.

4 The mighty men of the bow are filled with terror,
But those that are stumbling do gird on vital energy.

5 The satisfied must hire themselves out for bread,
But the hungry actually cease to hunger.
Even the barren has given birth to seven,
But she that was abundant in sons has faded away.

6 Jehovah is a Killer and a Preserver of life,
A Bringer down to She′ol, and He brings up.

7 Jehovah is an Impoverisher and an Enricher,
An Abaser, also an Exalter,

8 A Raiser of a lowly one from the dust;
From the ashpit he lifts up a poor one,
To make them sit with nobles; and a throne of glory he gives to them as a possession.
For to Jehovah belong earth’s supports,
And he places upon them the productive land.

9 The feet of his loyal ones he guards;
As for the wicked ones, they are silenced in darkness,
For not by power does a man prove superior.

10 As for Jehovah, those contending against him will be terrified;
Against them he will thunder in the heavens.
Jehovah himself will judge the ends of the earth,
That he may give strength to his king,
That he may exalt the horn of his anointed one.”

11 Then El·ka′nah went to Ra′mah to his house; and as for the boy, he became a minister of Jehovah before E′li the priest.

[12] Now the sons of E′li were good-for-nothing men; they did not acknowledge Jehovah. [13] As for the due right of the priests from the people, whenever any man was offering a sacrifice, an attendant of the priest came with the three-pronged fork in his hand, just when the meat was boiling, [14] and made a thrust into the basin or the two-handled cooking pot or the caldron or the one-handled cooking pot. Anything that the fork might bring up the priest would take for himself. That is the way they would do in Shi′loh to all the Israelites coming there. [15] Also, before ever they could make the fat smoke, an attendant of the priest came and said to the man sacrificing: “Do give meat to roast for the priest so that he may receive from you, not boiled meat, but raw.” [16] When the man would say to him: “Let them be sure to make the fat smoke first of all. Then take for yourself just whatever your soul may crave,” he actually said: “No, but you should give it now; and, if not, I shall have to take it by force!” [17] And the sin of the attendants came to be very great before Jehovah; for the men treated the offering of Jehovah with disrespect.

[18] And Samuel was ministering before Jehovah, as a boy, having a linen eph′od girded on. [19] Also, a little sleeveless coat his mother would make for him, and she brought it up to him from year to year when she came up with her husband to sacrifice the yearly sacrifice. [20] And E′li blessed El·ka′nah and his wife and said: “May Jehovah appoint to you an offspring from this wife in place of the thing lent, that was lent to Jehovah.” And they went to their place. [21] Accordingly Jehovah turned his attention to Han′nah, so that she had pregnancy and gave birth to three sons and two daughters. And the boy Samuel continued growing up with Jehovah.

[22] And E′li was very old, and he had heard of all that his sons kept doing to all Israel and how they would lie down with the women that were serving at the entrance of the tent of meeting. [23] And he used to say to them: “Why do YOU keep doing things like these? For the things I am hearing about YOU from all the people are bad. [24] No, my sons, because the report is not good that I am hearing, that the people of Jehovah are causing to circulate. [25] If a man should sin against a man, God will arbitrate for him; but if it is against Jehovah that a man should sin, who is there to pray for him?” But they would not listen to the voice of their father, because Jehovah was now pleased to put them to death. [26] All the while the boy Samuel was growing bigger and more likable both from Jehovah’s standpoint and from that of men.

[27] And a man of God proceeded to come to E′li and say to him: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Did I not for a fact reveal myself to the house of your forefather while they happened to be in Egypt as slaves to the house of Phar′aoh? [28] And there was a choosing of him out of all the tribes of Israel for me, to act as priest and go up upon my altar to make sacrificial smoke billow up, to bear an eph′od before me, that I might give to the house of your forefather all the offerings made by fire of the sons of Israel. [29] Why do YOU men keep kicking at my sacrifice and at my offering that I have commanded in my dwelling, and you keep honoring your sons more than me by fattening yourselves from the best of every offering of Israel my people?

[30] “‘That is why the utterance of Jehovah the God of Israel is: “I did indeed say, As for your house and the house of your forefather, they will walk before me to time indefinite.” But now the utterance of Jehovah is: “It is unthinkable, on my part, because those honoring me I shall honor, and those despising me will be of little account.” [31] Look! Days are coming when I shall certainly chop off your arm and the arm of the house of your forefather, so that there will not come to be an old man in your house. [32] And you will actually look upon an adversary in my dwelling amid all the good that is done to Israel; and never will there come to be an old man in your house. [33] And yet there is a man of yours that I shall not cut off from being at my altar so as to cause your eyes to fail and to make your soul pine away; but the greater number of your house will all die by the sword of men. [34] And this is the sign for you that will come to your two sons, Hophʹni and Phinʹe·has: On one day both of them will die. [35] And I shall certainly raise up for myself a faithful priest. In harmony with what is in my heart and in my soul he will do; and I shall certainly build for him a lasting house, and he will certainly walk before my anointed one always. [36] And it must occur that anyone left over in your house will come and bow down to him for the payment of money and a round loaf of bread, and will certainly say: “Attach me, please, to one of the priestly offices to eat a piece of bread.”’”

3 All the while the boy Samuel was ministering to Jehovah before E′li, and word from Jehovah had become rare in those days; there was no vision being spread abroad.

[2] Now it came about on that day that E′li was lying in his place, and his eyes had begun to grow dim; he was not able to see. [3] And the lamp of God was not yet extinguished, and Samuel was lying in the temple of Jehovah, where the ark of God was. [4] And Jehovah proceeded to call Samuel. At this he said: “Here I am.” [5] And he went running to E′li and saying: “Here I am, for you called me.” But he said: “I did not call. Lie down again.” So he went and lay down. [6] And Jehovah went on to call yet again: “Samuel!” At this Samuel got up and went to E′li and said: “Here I am, for you did call me.” But he said: “I did not call, my son. Lie down again.” [7] (As regards Samuel, he had not yet come to know Jehovah, and the word of Jehovah had not yet begun to be revealed to him.) [8] So Jehovah called again for the third time: “Samuel!” At that he got up and went to E′li and said: “Here I am, for you must have called me.”

And E′li began to discern that it was Jehovah that was calling the boy. [9] Consequently E′li said to Samuel: “Go, lie down, and it must occur that, if he should call you, you must say, ‘Speak, Jehovah, for your servant is listening.’” So Samuel went and lay down in his place.

[10] Then Jehovah came and took his position and called as at the other times: “Samuel, Samuel!” At this Samuel said: “Speak, for your servant is listening.” [11] And Jehovah went on to say to Samuel: “Look! I am doing something in Israel which if anyone hears about, both his ears will tingle. [12] On that day I shall carry out toward E′li all that I have said respecting his house, from beginning to end. 13 And you must tell him that I am judging his house to time indefinite for the error that he has known, because his sons are calling down evil upon God, and he has not rebuked them. 14 And that is why I have sworn to the house of E′li that the error of the house of E′li will not be brought to exemption from punishment by sacrifice or by offering to time indefinite.”

15 And Samuel continued lying down until the morning. Then he opened the doors of Jehovah’s house. And Samuel was afraid to tell E′li of the appearing. 16 But E′li called Samuel and said: “Samuel, my son! ” At this he said: “Here I am.” 17 And he went on to say: “What is the word that he has spoken to you? Do not, please, hide it from me. May God do so to you and so may he add to it if you should hide from me a word of all the word that he has spoken to you.” 18 So Samuel told him all the words, and he did not hide anything from him. At that he said: “It is Jehovah. What is good in his eyes let him do.”

19 And Samuel continued growing up, and Jehovah himself proved to be with him and did not cause any of all his words to fall to the earth. 20 And all Israel from Dan to Be′er-she′ba became aware that Samuel was one accredited for the position of prophet to Jehovah. 21 And Jehovah proceeded to appear again in Shi′loh, because Jehovah revealed himself to Samuel in Shi′loh by the word of Jehovah.

4 And the word of Samuel continued to come to all Israel.

Then Israel went out to meet the Phi·lis′tines in battle; and they took up camping alongside Eb·en·e′zer, and the Phi·lis′tines themselves encamped in A′phek. [2] And the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to draw up in formation to meet Israel, and the battle went badly, so that Israel was defeated before the Phi·lis′tines, who went striking down about four thousand men in closed battle line in the field. [3] When the people came to the camp the older men of Israel began to say: “Why did Jehovah defeat us today before the Phi·lis′tines? Let us take to ourselves from Shi′loh the ark of Jehovah’s covenant, that it may come into our midst and may save us from the palm of our enemies.” [4] So the people sent to Shi′loh and carried from there the ark of the covenant of Jehovah of armies, who is sitting upon the cherubs. And the two sons of E′li were there with the ark of the covenant of the true God, namely, Hoph′ni and Phin′e·has.

[5] And it came about that as soon as the ark of the covenant of Jehovah came into the camp, all the Israelites broke out into loud shouting, so that the earth was in a stir. [6] The Phi·lis′tines also got to hear the sound of the shouting and began saying: “What does the sound of this loud shouting in the camp of the Hebrews mean?” Finally they got to know that the ark of Jehovah itself had come into the camp. [7] And the Phi·lis′tines became afraid, because, they said: “God has come into the camp!” So they said: “Woe to us, for such a thing as this never occurred before! [8] Woe to us! Who will save us from the hand of this majestic God? This is the God that was the smiter of Egypt with every sort of slaughter in the wilderness. [9] Show yourselves courageous and prove yourselves men, YOU Phi·lis′tines, that YOU may not serve the Hebrews just as they have served YOU; and YOU must prove yourselves men and fight! ” [10] Accordingly the Phi·lis′tines fought and Israel was defeated, and they went fleeing each one to his tent; and the slaughter came to be very great, so that out of Israel there fell thirty thousand men on foot. [11] And the ark of God itself was captured, and the two sons of E′li, Hoph′ni and Phin′e·has, died.

[12] And a man of Benjamin went running from the battle line so that he arrived at Shi′loh on that day with his garments ripped apart and dirt on his head. [13] When he arrived, there was E′li sitting on the seat by the roadside, watching, because his heart had become atremble over the ark of the true God. And the man himself went in to report in the city, and the whole city began crying out. [14] And E′li got to hear the sound of the outcry. So he said: “What does the sound of this turmoil mean?” And the man himself hurried that he might go in and report to E′li. [15] (Now E′li was ninety-eight years old, and his eyes had set so that he was unable to see.) [16] And the man proceeded to say to E′li: “I am the one coming from the battle line, and I—it is from the battle line that I have fled today.” At this he said: “What is the thing that has happened, my son?” [17] So the news bearer answered and said: “Israel has fled before the Phi·lis′tines, and there has also occurred a great defeat among the people; and also your own two sons have died—Hoph′ni and Phin′e·has—and the very ark of the true God has been captured.”

[18] And it came about that at the moment that he mentioned the ark of the true God, he began to fall from the seat backward beside the gate, and his neck got broken so that he died, because the man was old and heavy; and he himself had judged Israel forty years. [19] And his daughter-in-law, the wife of Phin′e·has, was pregnant near to giving birth, and she got to hear the report that the ark of the true God was captured and that her father-in-law and her husband had died. At that she bowed herself and began giving birth, because her pangs came unexpectedly upon her. [20] And about the time of her death, the women standing by her began to speak: “Do not be afraid, because it is a son that you have borne.” And she did not answer and did not set her heart on it. [21] But she called the boy Ich′a·bod, saying: “Glory has gone away from Israel into exile,” this with reference to the ark of the true God’s being captured and with reference to her father-in-law and her husband. [22] So she said: “Glory has gone away from Israel into exile, because the ark of the true God has been captured.”

5 As for the Phi·lis′tines, they took the ark of the true God and then brought it from Eb·en·e′zer to Ash′dod. [2] And the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to take the ark of the true God and bring it into the house of Da′gon and station it beside Da′gon. [3] Then the Ash′dod·ites got up early the very next day, and there Da′gon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of Jehovah. So they took Da′gon and returned him to his place. [4] When they got up early in the morning the very day after, there Da′gon was fallen upon his face to the earth before the ark of Jehovah, with the head of Da′gon and the palms of both his hands cut off, to the threshold. Only the fish part had been left upon him. [5] That is why the priests of Da′gon and all those going into the house of Da′gon do not tread upon the threshold of Da′gon in Ash′dod down to this day.

[6] And the hand of Jehovah came to be heavy upon the Ash′dod·ites, and he began causing panic and striking them with piles, namely, Ash′dod and its territories. [7] And the men of Ash′dod came to see that it was so, and they said: “Do not let the ark of the God of Israel dwell with us, because his hand has been hard against us and against Da′gon our god.” [8] Consequently they sent and gathered all the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines to them and said: “What shall we do to the ark of the God of Israel?” Finally they said: “Toward Gath let the ark of the God of Israel go around.” So they brought the ark of the God of Israel around to there.

[9] And it came about that after they had brought it around to there, the hand of Jehovah came to be upon the city with a very great confusion, and he began striking the men of the city, from small to great, and piles began breaking out on them. [10] Hence they sent the ark of the true God to Ek′ron.

And it came about that as soon as the ark of the true God came to Ek′ron, the Ek′ron·ites began to cry out, saying: “They have brought the ark of the God of Israel around to me to put me and my people to death!” 11 Consequently they sent and gathered all the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines and said: “SEND the ark of the God of Israel away that it may return to its place and may not put me and my people to death.” For a death-dealing confusion had occurred in the whole city; the hand of the true God had been very heavy there, 12 and the men that did not die had been struck with piles. And the cry of the city for help kept ascending to the heavens.

6 And the ark of Jehovah proved to be in the field of the Phi·lis′tines seven months. [2] And the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to call the priests and the diviners, saying: “What shall we do with the ark of Jehovah? Let us know with what we should send it away to its place.” [3] To this they said: “If YOU are sending the ark of the God of Israel away, do not send it away without an offering, for YOU should by all means return to him a guilt offering. Then it is that YOU will be healed, and it must become known to YOU why his hand would not turn away from YOU.” [4] At this they said: “What is the guilt offering that we ought to return to him?” Then they said: “According to the number of the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines, five golden piles and five golden jerboas, for every one of YOU and YOUR axis lords have the same scourge. [5] And YOU must make images of YOUR piles and images of YOUR jerboas that are bringing the land to ruin, and YOU must give glory to the God of Israel. Perhaps he will lighten his hand from off YOU and YOUR god and YOUR land. [6] Also, why should YOU make YOUR heart unresponsive just the way Egypt and Phar′aoh made their heart unresponsive? Was it not as soon as He dealt severely with them that they proceeded to send them away, and they went their way? [7] And now take and make a new wagon, and two cows that are giving suck, upon which no yoke has come up, and YOU must hitch the cows to the wagon, and YOU must make their young ones go back home from following them. [8] And YOU must take the ark of Jehovah and place it on the wagon, and the golden articles that YOU must return to him as a guilt offering YOU should put into a box at the side of it. And YOU must send it away, and it must go. [9] And YOU must look: if it is the road to its territory that it goes up, to Beth-she′mesh, it is he that has done to us this great evil; but if not, we must know that it was not his hand that touched us; an accident it was that happened to us.”

[10] And the men proceeded to do accordingly. So they took two cows that were giving suck and hitched them to the wagon, and their young ones they shut up at home. [11] Then they put the ark of Jehovah upon the wagon, and also the box and the golden jerboas and the images of their piles. [12] And the cows began to go straight ahead on the road to Beth-sheʹmesh. On the one highway they went, lowing as they went, and they did not turn aside to the right or to the left. All the while the axis lords of the Phi·lisʹtines were walking after them as far as the boundary of Beth-sheʹmesh. [13] And people of Beth-sheʹmesh were reaping the wheat harvest in the low plain. When they raised their eyes and saw the Ark, they gave way to rejoicing at seeing it. [14] And the wagon itself came into the field of Joshua the Beth-sheʹmite and kept standing there, where there was a large stone. And they went splitting up the wood of the wagon, and the cows they offered up as a burnt offering to Jehovah.

[15] And the Levites themselves took the ark of Jehovah down and the box that was with it, in which the golden articles were, and they proceeded to put it upon the large stone. And the men of Beth-sheʹmesh, for their part, offered up burnt offerings, and they continued rendering up sacrifices on that day to Jehovah.

[16] And the five axis lords of the Phi·lisʹtines themselves saw it and went their way back to Ekʹron on that day. [17] Now these are the golden piles that the Phi·lisʹtines returned as a guilt offering to Jehovah: for Ashʹdod one, for Gaʹza one, for Ashʹke·lon one, for Gath one, for Ekʹron one. [18] And the golden jerboas were to the number of all the cities of the Phi·lisʹtines belonging to the five axis lords, from the fortified city to the village of the open country.

And the great stone upon which they rested the ark of Jehovah is a witness down to this day in the field of Joshua the Beth-sheʹmite. [19] And he went striking down the men of Beth-sheʹmesh, because they had looked upon the ark of Jehovah. So he struck down among the people seventy men —fifty thousand men—and the people began mourning because Jehovah had struck down the people with a great slaughter. [20] Further, the men of Beth-sheʹmesh said: “Who will be able to stand before Jehovah this holy God, and to whom will he withdraw from off us?” [21] Finally they sent messengers to the inhabitants of Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim, saying: “The Phi·lisʹtines have returned the ark of Jehovah. Come down. Take it up to yourselves.”

7 Accordingly the men of Kir′i·ath-je′a·rim came and brought the ark of Jehovah up and took it into the house of A·bin′a·dab on the hill, and El·e·a′zar his son was the one whom they sanctified to guard the ark of Jehovah.

[2] And it came about that from the day of the Ark’s dwelling in Kir′i·ath-je′a·rim the days kept multiplying, so that they amounted to twenty years, and all the house of Israel went lamenting after Jehovah. [3] And Samuel proceeded to say to all the house of Israel: “If it is with all YOUR heart YOU are returning to Jehovah, put away the foreign gods from YOUR midst and also the Ash′to·reth images, and direct YOUR heart unswervingly to Jehovah and serve him alone, and he will deliver YOU from the hand of the Phi·lis′tines.” [4] At that the sons of Israel put away the Ba′als and the Ash′to·reth images and began serving Jehovah alone.

[5] Then Samuel said: “Collect all Israel together at Miz′pah, that I may pray in YOUR behalf to Jehovah.” [6] So they were collected together at Miz′pah, and they went drawing water and pouring it out before Jehovah and kept a fast on that day. And they began saying there: “We have sinned against Jehovah.” And Samuel took up judging the sons of Israel in Miz′pah.

[7] And the Phi·lis′tines came to hear that the sons of Israel had collected themselves together at Miz′pah, and the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines got on their way up against Israel.
When the sons of Israel heard of it, they began to be afraid on account of the Phi·lis′tines. [8] So the sons of Israel said to Samuel: “Do not keep silent for our sakes from calling to Jehovah our God for aid, that he may save us from the hand of the Phi·lis′tines.” [9] Then Samuel took a sucking lamb and offered it up as a burnt offering, a whole offering, to Jehovah; and Samuel began calling to Jehovah for aid in behalf of Israel, and Jehovah proceeded to answer him. [10] And it came about that while Samuel was offering up the burnt offering, the Phi·lis′tines themselves drew near for battle against Israel. And Jehovah now caused it to thunder with a loud noise on that day against the Phi·lis′tines, that he might throw them into confusion; and they got defeated before Israel. [11] At that the men of Israel sallied forth from Miz′pah and went in pursuit of the Phi·lis′tines and kept striking them down as far as south of Beth-car. [12] Then Samuel took a stone and set it between Miz′pah and Jesh′a·nah and began to call its name Eb·en·e′zer. Accordingly he said: “Till now Jehovah has helped us.” [13] Thus the Phi·lis′tines were subdued, and they did not come anymore into the territory of Israel; and the hand of Jehovah continued to be against the Phi·lis′tines all the days of Samuel. [14] And the cities that the Phi·lis′tines had taken from Israel kept coming back to Israel from Ek′ron to Gath, and the territory of them Israel delivered from the hand of the Phi·lis′tines.

And there came to be peace between Israel and the Am′or·ites.

[15] And Samuel kept on judging Israel all the days of his life. [16] And he traveled from year to year and made the circuit of Beth′el and Gil′gal and Miz′pah and judged Israel at all these places. [17] But his return was to Ra′mah, because there was where his house was, and there he judged Israel. And he proceeded to build an altar there to Jehovah.

8 And it came about that as soon as Samuel had grown old he made appointments of his sons as judges for Israel. [2] Now the name of his firstborn son happened to be Joel, and the name of his second A·bi′jah; they were judging in Be′er-she′ba. [3] And his sons did not walk in his ways, but they were inclined to follow unjust profit and would accept a bribe and pervert judgment.

[4] In time all the older men of Israel collected themselves together and came to Samuel at Ra′mah [5] and said to him: “Look! You yourself have grown old, but your own sons have not walked in your ways. Now do appoint for us a king to judge us like all the nations.” [6] But the thing was bad in the eyes of Samuel inasmuch as they had said: “Do give us a king to judge us,” and Samuel began to pray to Jehovah. [7] Then Jehovah said to Samuel: “Listen to the voice of the people as respects all that they say to you; for it is not you whom they have rejected, but it is I whom they have rejected from being king over them. [8] In accord with all their doings that they have done from the day of my bringing them up out of Egypt until this day in that they kept leaving me and serving other gods, that is the way they are doing also to you. [9] And now listen to their voice. Only this, that you should solemnly warn them, and you must tell them the rightful due of the king who will reign over them.”

[10] So Samuel said all the words of Jehovah to the people who were asking a king of him. [11] And he proceeded to say: “This will become the rightful due of the king that will reign over YOU: YOUR sons he will take and put them as his in his chariots and among his horsemen, and some will have to run before his chariots; [12] and to appoint for himself chiefs over thousands and chiefs over fifties, and some to do his plowing and to reap his harvest and to make his war instruments and his chariot instruments. [13] And YOUR daughters he will take for ointment mixers and cooks and bakers. [14] And YOUR fields and YOUR vineyards and YOUR olive groves, the best ones, he will take and actually give to his servants. [15] And of YOUR fields of seed and of YOUR vineyards he will take the tenth, and he will certainly give them to his court officials and his servants. [16] And YOUR menservants and YOUR maidservants and YOUR best herds, and YOUR asses he will take, and he will have to use them for his work. [17] Of YOUR flocks he will take the tenth, and YOU yourselves will become his as servants. [18] And YOU will certainly cry out in that day by reason of YOUR king, whom YOU have chosen for yourselves, but Jehovah will not answer YOU in that day.”

[19] However, the people refused to listen to the voice of Samuel and said: “No, but a king is what will come to be over us. [20] And we must become, we also, like all the nations, and our king must judge us and go out before us and fight our battles.” [21] And Samuel gave a hearing to all the words of the people; then he spoke them in the ears of Jehovah. [22] And Jehovah proceeded to say to Samuel: “Listen to their voice, and you must cause a king to reign for them.” Accordingly Samuel said to the men of Israel: “Go each one to his city.”

9 Now there happened to be a man of Benjamin, and his name was Kish, the son of A·bi′el, the son of Ze′ror, the son of Be·co′rath, the son of A·phi′ah, a Ben′ja·min·ite, a man mighty in wealth. [2] And he happened to have a son whose name was Saul, young and handsome, and there was no man of the sons of Israel that was handsomer than he; from his shoulders upward he was taller than all the people.

[3] And the she-asses belonging to Kish the father of Saul got lost. So Kish said to Saul his son: “Take, please, with you one of the attendants and get up, go, look for the she-asses.” [4] And he went passing through the mountainous region of E′phra·im and passing on through the land of Shal′i·shah, and they did not find them. And they went passing on through the land of Sha′a·lim, but they were not there. And he went passing on through the land of the Ben′ja·min·ites, and they did not find them.

[5] They themselves came into the land of Zuph; and Saul, for his part, said to his attendant that was with him: “Do come, and let us return, that my father may not quit attending to the she-asses and actually become anxious about us.” [6] But he said to him: “Look, please! There is a man of God in this city, and the man is held in honor. All that he says comes true without fail. Let us go there now. Perhaps he can tell us our way that we must go.” [7] At this Saul said to his attendant: “And if we should go, what shall we bring to the man? because the bread itself has disappeared from our receptacles, and, as a gift, there is nothing to bring to the man of the true God. What is there with us?” [8] So the attendant answered Saul once more and said: “Look! There is a quarter of a shekel of silver found in my hand, and I shall have to give it to the man of the true God, and he will have to tell us our way.” [9] (In former times in Israel this was the way the man would have talked on his going to seek God: “COME, and let us go to the seer.” For the prophet of today used to be called a seer in former times.) [10] Then Saul said to his attendant: “Your word is good. Do come, let us go.” And they went their way to the city where the man of the true God was.

[11] While they were going up on the ascent to the city, they themselves found girls going out to draw water. So they said to them: “Is the seer in this place?” [12] Then they answered them and said: “He is. Look! He is ahead of you. Hurry now, because today he has come to the city, for there is a sacrifice today for the people on the high place. [13] As soon as YOU men come into the city, YOU will directly find him before he goes up to the high place to eat; because the people may not eat until his coming, for he is the one that blesses the sacrifice. First after that those who are invited may eat. And now GO up, because him—just now YOU will find him.” [14] Accordingly they went on up to the city. As they were coming into the middle of the city, why, there was Samuel coming out to meet them to go up to the high place.

[15] As for Jehovah, he had uncovered the ear of Samuel the day before Saul came, saying: [16] “Tomorrow about this time I shall send to you a man from the land of Benjamin, and you must anoint him as leader over my people Israel; and he must save my people from the hand of the Phi·lis′tines, because I have seen the affliction of my people, for their outcry has come to me.” [17] And Samuel himself saw Saul, and Jehovah, for his part, answered him: “Here is the man of whom I said to you, ‘This is the one that will keep my people within bounds.’”

[18] Then Saul approached Samuel in the middle of the gate and said: “Do tell me, please, Just where is the house of the seer?” [19] And Samuel proceeded to answer Saul and say: “I am the seer. Go up before me to the high place, and YOU men must eat with me today, and I must send you away in the morning, and all that is in your heart I shall tell you. [20] As regards the she-asses that were lost to you three days ago, do not set your heart on them, for they have been found. And to whom does all that is desirable of Israel belong? Is it not to you and to the whole house of your father?” [21] At this Saul answered and said: “Am I not a Ben′ja·min·ite of the smallest of the tribes of Israel, and my family the most insignificant of all the families of the tribe of Benjamin? So why have you spoken to me a thing like this?”

[22] Then Samuel took Saul and his attendant and brought them to the dining hall and gave them a place at the head of those invited; and they were about thirty men. [23] Later Samuel said to the cook: “Do give the portion that I have given to you, of which I said to you, ‘Put it away by you.’” [24] At that the cook lifted off the leg and what was on it, and put it before Saul. And he went on to say: “Here is what has been reserved. Put it before yourself. Eat, because to the appointed time they have reserved it for you that you may eat with those invited.” So Saul ate with Samuel on that day. [25] Subsequently they went down from the high place to the city, and he continued speaking with Saul on the housetop. [26] Then they rose early, and it came about that as soon as the dawn ascended Samuel proceeded to call to Saul on the housetop, saying: “Do get up, that I may send you away.” So Saul got up and both of them, he and Samuel, went forth out of doors. [27] While they were descending by the edge of the city Samuel himself said to Saul: “Say to the attendant that he should pass on ahead of us”—so he passed on—“and, as for you, stand still now that I may let you hear the word of God.”

10 Samuel then took the flask of oil and poured it out upon his head and kissed him and said: “Is it not because Jehovah has anointed you as a leader over his inheritance? [2] On your going away from me today you will certainly find two men close by the tomb of Rachel in the territory of Benjamin at Zel′zah, and they will certainly say to you, ‘The she-asses that you have gone to look for have been found, but now your father has given up the matter of the she-asses and has become anxious about YOU men, saying: “What shall I do about my son?”’ [3] And you must pass on from there still farther and come as far as the big tree of Ta′bor, and there there must encounter you three men going up to the true God at Beth′el, one carrying three kids and one carrying three round loaves of bread and one carrying a large jar of wine. [4] And they will certainly ask about your welfare and give you two loaves, and you must accept them from their hand. [5] It is after that that you will come to the hill of the true God, where there is a garrison of the Phi·lis′tines. And it should come about that at the time of your coming there to the city, you will certainly meet a group of prophets coming down from the high place, and ahead of them a stringed instrument and tambourine and flute and harp, while they are speaking as prophets. [6] And the spirit of Jehovah will certainly become operative upon you, and you will certainly speak as a prophet along with them and be changed into another man. [7] And it must occur that when these signs come to you, do for yourself what your hand finds possible, because the true God is with you. [8] And you must go down ahead of me to Gil′gal; and, look! I am going down to you to offer up burnt sacrifices, to render up communion sacrifices. Seven days you should keep waiting until my coming to you, and I shall certainly let you know what you should do.”

[9] And it occurred that as soon as he turned his shoulder to go from Samuel, God began changing the heart of his into another; and all these signs proceeded to come true on that day. [10] So they went from there to the hill, and here there was a group of prophets to meet him; at once the spirit of God became operative upon him, and he began to speak as a prophet in the middle of them. [11] And it came about that when all those knowing him formerly saw him, look! it was with prophets that he prophesied. Consequently the people said one to another: “What is this that has happened to the son of Kish? Is Saul also among the prophets?” [12] Then a man from there answered and said: “But who is their father?” That is why it has become a proverbial saying: “Is Saul also among the prophets?”

[13] At length he finished speaking as a prophet and came to the high place. [14] Later the brother of Saul’s father said to him and to his attendant: “Where did YOU go?” Upon that he said: “To look for the she-asses, and we kept on going to see, but they were not there. So we came to Samuel.” [15] At this Saul’s uncle said: “Do tell me, please, What did Samuel say to YOU men?” [16] In turn Saul said to his uncle: “He told us unmistakably that the she-asses had been found.” And the matter of the kingship about which Samuel had talked, he did not tell him.

[17] And Samuel proceeded to call the people together to Jehovah at Miz′pah [18] and to say to the sons of Israel: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘It was I who brought Israel up out of Egypt and who went delivering YOU from the hand of Egypt and from the hand of all the kingdoms that were oppressing YOU. [19] But YOU—today YOU have rejected YOUR God who was a savior to YOU out of all YOUR evils and YOUR distresses, and YOU went on to say: “No, but a king is what you should put over us.” And now take YOUR stand before Jehovah by YOUR tribes and by YOUR thousands.’”

[20] Accordingly Samuel had all the tribes of Israel draw near, and the tribe of Benjamin came to be picked. [21] Then he had the tribe of Benjamin draw near by its families, and the family of the Mat′rites came to be picked. Finally Saul the son of Kish came to be picked. And they went looking for him, and he was not to be found. [22] Hence they inquired further of Jehovah: “Has the man come here as yet?” To this Jehovah said: “Here he is, hidden among the luggage.” [23] So they went running and took him from there. When he took his stand in the middle of the people, he was taller than all the other people from his shoulders upward. [24] Then Samuel said to all the people: “Have YOU seen the one whom Jehovah has chosen, that there is none like him among all the people?” And all the people began to shout and say: “Let the king live!”

[25] Upon that Samuel spoke to the people about the rightful due of the kingship and wrote it in a book and deposited it before Jehovah. Then Samuel sent all the people away, each one to his house. [26] As for Saul himself, he went to his home at Gib′e·ah, and the valiant men whose heart God had touched proceeded to go with him. [27] As for the good-for-nothing men, they said: “How will this one save us?” Accordingly they despised him, and they did not bring any gift to him. But he continued like one grown speechless.

11 And Na′hash the Am′mon·ite proceeded to go up and camp against Ja′besh in Gil′e·ad. At that all the men of Ja′besh said to Na′hash: “Conclude a covenant with us that we may serve you.” [2] Then Na′hash the Am′mon·ite said to them: “On this condition I shall conclude it with YOU, on the condition of boring out every right eye of YOURS, and I must put it as a reproach upon all Israel.” [3] In turn the older men of Ja′besh said to him: “Give us seven days’ time, and we will send messengers into all the territory of Israel and, if there is no savior of us, we must then go out to you.” [4] In time the messengers came to Gib′e·ah of Saul and spoke the words in the ears of the people, and all the people began raising their voice and weeping.

[5] But here is Saul coming after the herd from the field, and Saul proceeded to say: “What is the matter with the people, that they should weep?” And they began relating to him the words of the men of Ja′besh. [6] And the spirit of God became operative upon Saul on his hearing these words, and his anger got very hot. [7] So he took a pair of bulls and cut them in pieces and sent these into all the territory of Israel by the hand of the messengers, saying: “Whoever of us is not going out as a follower of Saul and of Samuel, this is the way it will be done to his cattle! ” And the dread of Jehovah began to fall upon the people so that they came out as one man. [8] Then he took the sum of them in Be′zek, and the sons of Israel amounted to three hundred thousand, and the men of Judah thirty thousand. [9] They now said to the messengers that had come: “This is what YOU will say to the men of Ja′besh in Gil′e·ad, ‘Tomorrow salvation will take place for YOU when the sun gets hot.’” With that the messengers came and told the men of Ja′besh, and they gave way to rejoicing. [10] Accordingly the men of Ja′besh said: “Tomorrow we shall come out to YOU people, and YOU must do to us in harmony with all that is good in YOUR eyes.”

11 And it came about on the next day that Saul proceeded to put the people into three bands; and they made their way into the middle of the camp during the morning watch and went striking down the Am′mon·ites till the day grew hot. When there proved to be some that were left over, then they were sent scattering and there were not left over among them two together. 12 And the people began to say to Samuel: “Who is it saying, ‘Saul—is he to be king over us?’ GIVE the men over, that we may put them to death.” 13 However, Saul said: “Not a man should be put to death on this day, because today Jehovah has performed salvation in Israel.”

14 Later Samuel said to the people: “Come and let us go to Gil′gal that we may there make the kingship anew.” 15 So all the people went to Gil′gal, and there they proceeded to make Saul king before Jehovah in Gil′gal. Then they rendered up communion sacrifices there before Jehovah, and there Saul and all the men of Israel continued rejoicing to a great degree.

12 Finally Samuel said to all Israel: “Here I have listened to YOUR voice as respects all that YOU have said to me, that I should cause a king to reign over YOU. [2] And now here is the king walking before YOU! As for me, I have grown old and gray, and my sons, here they are with YOU, and I—I have walked before YOU from my youth until this day. [3] Here I am. Answer against me in front of Jehovah and in front of his anointed one: Whose bull have I taken or whose ass have I taken or whom have I defrauded or whom have I crushed or from whose hand have I accepted hush money that I should hide my eyes with it? And I shall make restoration to YOU people.” [4] To this they said: “You have not defrauded us, nor have you crushed us, nor have you accepted anything at all from the hand of a single one.” [5] So he said to them: “Jehovah is a witness against YOU, and his anointed one is a witness this day that YOU have found nothing at all in my hand.” To this they said: “He is a witness.”

[6] And Samuel went on to say to the people: “Jehovah is a witness, who used Moses and Aaron and who brought YOUR forefathers up out of the land of Egypt. [7] And now take YOUR stand, and I will judge YOU before Jehovah and recount to YOU all the righteous acts of Jehovah that he has done with YOU and with YOUR forefathers.

[8] “As soon as Jacob had come into Egypt and YOUR forefathers began calling to Jehovah for aid, Jehovah proceeded to send Moses and Aaron, that they might lead YOUR forefathers out from Egypt and cause them to dwell in this place. [9] And they went forgetting Jehovah their God, so that he sold them into the hand of Sis′e·ra the chief of the army of Ha′zor and into the hand of the Phi·lis′tines and into the hand of the king of Mo′ab, and they kept fighting against them. [10] And they began to call to Jehovah for aid and say, ‘We have sinned, for we have left Jehovah that we might serve the Baʹals and the Ashʹto·reth images; and now deliver us out of the hand of our enemies, that we may serve you.’ [11] And Jehovah proceeded to send Jer·ub·baʹal and Beʹdan and Jephʹthah and Samuel and deliver YOU out of the hand of YOUR enemies all around, that YOU might dwell in security. [12] When YOU saw that Naʹhash the king of the sons of Amʹmon had come against YOU, YOU kept saying to me, ‘No, but a king is what should reign over us!’ all the while Jehovah YOUR God being YOUR King. [13] And now here is the king whom YOU have chosen, for whom YOU asked; and here Jehovah has put over YOU a king. [14] If YOU will fear Jehovah and actually serve him and obey his voice, and YOU will not rebel against the order of Jehovah, both YOU and the king who must reign over YOU will certainly prove to be followers of Jehovah YOUR God. [15] But if YOU will not obey the voice of Jehovah and YOU will actually rebel against the order of Jehovah, the hand of Jehovah will certainly prove to be against YOU and YOUR fathers. [16] Now, also, take YOUR stand and see this great thing that Jehovah is doing before YOUR eyes. [17] Is it not wheat harvest today? I shall call to Jehovah that he may give thunders and rain; then know and see that YOUR evil is abundant that YOU have done in the eyes of Jehovah in asking for yourselves a king.”

[18] Upon that Samuel called to Jehovah, and Jehovah proceeded to give thunders and rain on that day, so that all the people were greatly in fear of Jehovah and of Samuel. [19] And all the people began to say to Samuel: “Pray in behalf of your servants to Jehovah your God, as we do not want to die; because we have added to all our sins an evil in asking for ourselves a king.”

[20] So Samuel said to the people: “Do not be afraid. YOU—YOU have done all this evil. Only do not turn aside from following Jehovah, and YOU must serve Jehovah with all YOUR heart. [21] And YOU must not turn aside to follow the unrealities that are of no benefit and that do not deliver, because they are unrealities. [22] For Jehovah will not desert his people for the sake of his great name, because Jehovah has taken it upon himself to make YOU his people. [23] As for me also, it is unthinkable, on my part, to sin against Jehovah by ceasing to pray in YOUR behalf; and I must instruct YOU in the good and right way. [24] Only fear Jehovah, and YOU must serve him in truth with all YOUR heart; for see what great things he has done for YOU. [25] But if YOU flagrantly do what is bad, YOU will be swept away, both YOU and YOUR king.”

13 Saul was [?] years old when he began to reign, and for two years he reigned over Israel. [2] And Saul proceeded to choose for himself three thousand men out of Israel; and two thousand came to be with Saul at Mich′mash and in the mountainous region of Beth′el, and a thousand proved to be with Jon′a·than at Gib′e·ah of Benjamin, and the rest of the people he sent away, each one to his tent. [3] Then Jon′a·than struck down the garrison of the Phi·lis′tines that was in Ge′ba; and the Phi·lis′tines got to hear of it. As for Saul, he had the horn blown throughout all the land, saying: “Let the Hebrews hear!” [4] And all Israel itself heard tell: “Saul has struck down a garrison of the Phi·lis′tines, and now Israel has become foul-smelling among the Phi·lis′tines.” So the people were called together to follow Saul to Gil′gal.

[5] And the Phi·lis′tines, for their part, collected themselves together to fight against Israel, thirty thousand war chariots and six thousand horsemen and people like the grains of sand that are upon the seashore for multitude; and they went their way up and began camping in Mich′mash to the east of Beth-a′ven. [6] And the men of Israel themselves saw that they were in sore straits, because the people were hard pressed; and the people went hiding themselves in the caves and the hollows and the crags and the vaults and the waterpits. [7] Hebrews even crossed the Jordan to the land of Gad and Gil′e·ad. But Saul himself was yet in Gil′gal, and all the people trembled while following him. [8] And he continued waiting for seven days to the appointed time that Samuel had said; and Samuel did not come to Gil′gal, and the people were scattering from him. [9] Finally Saul said: “BRING near to me the burnt sacrifice and the communion sacrifices.” With that he went offering up the burnt sacrifice.

10 And it came about that as soon as he had finished offering up the burnt sacrifice, why, there was Samuel coming in. So Saul went out to meet him and bless him. 11 Then Samuel said: “What is it you have done?” To this Saul said: “I saw that the people had been dispersed from me, and you—you did not come within the appointed days, and the Phi·lis′tines were being collected together at Mich′mash, 12 so I said to myself, ‘Now the Phi·lis′tines will come down against me at Gil′gal, and the face of Jehovah I have not softened.’ So I compelled myself and went offering up the burnt sacrifice.”

13 At this Samuel said to Saul: “You have acted foolishly. You have not kept the commandment of Jehovah your God that he commanded you, because, if you had, Jehovah would have made your kingdom firm over Israel to time indefinite. 14 And now your kingdom will not last. Jehovah will certainly find for himself a man agreeable to his heart; and Jehovah will commission him as a leader over his people, because you did not keep what Jehovah commanded you.”

15 Then Samuel rose and went his way up from Gil′gal to Gib′e·ah of Benjamin, and Saul proceeded to take the count of the people, those yet found with him, about six hundred men. 16 And Saul and Jon′a·than his son and the people yet found with them were dwelling in Ge′ba of Benjamin. As for the Phi·lis′tines, they had encamped in Mich′mash. 17 And the force of pillagers would sally forth from the camp of the Phi·lis′tines in three bands. The one band would turn to the road to Oph′rah, to the land of Shu′al, 18 and the other band would turn to the road of Beth-ho′ron, and the third band would turn to the road to the boundary that looks toward the valley of Ze·bo′im, toward the wilderness.

19 Now there was not a smith to be found in all the land of Israel, because the Phi·lis′tines had said: “That the Hebrews may not make a sword or a spear.” [20] And all the Israelites would go down to the Phi·lisʹtines to get each one his plowshare or his mattock or his ax or his sickle sharpened. [21] And the price for sharpening proved to be a pim for the plowshares and for the mattocks and for the three-toothed instruments and for the axes and for fixing fast the oxgoad. [22] And it happened on the day of battle that not a sword or a spear was found in the hand of any of the people that were with Saul and Jonʹa·than; but there could be found one belonging to Saul and to Jonʹa·than his son.

[23] Now an outpost of the Phi·lisʹtines would sally forth to the ravine pass of Michʹmash.

14 And it came about one day that Jon′a·than the son of Saul proceeded to say to the attendant carrying his weapons: “Do come and let us cross over to the outpost of the Phi·lis′tines who are across over there.” But to his father he did not tell it. [2] And Saul was dwelling at the outskirts of Gib′e·ah under the pomegranate tree that is in Mig′ron; and the people that were with him were about six hundred men. [3] (And A·hi′jah the son of A·hi′tub, the brother of Ich′a·bod, the son of Phin′e·has, the son of E′li, the priest of Jehovah in Shi′loh, was carrying the eph′od.) And the people themselves did not know that Jon′a·than had gone. [4] Now between the passages that Jon′a·than looked for to cross over against the outpost of the Phi·lis′tines there was a toothlike crag here on this side and a toothlike crag there on that side, and the name of the one was Bo′zez and the name of the other was Se′neh. [5] The one tooth was a pillar on the north facing Mich′mash, and the other was on the south facing Ge′ba.

[6] So Jon′a·than said to the attendant, his armor-bearer: “Do come and let us cross over to the outpost of these uncircumcised men. Perhaps Jehovah will work for us, for there is no hindrance to Jehovah to save by many or by few.” [7] At this his armor-bearer said to him: “Do whatever is in your heart. Turn where you wish to. Here I am with you in accord with your heart.” [8] Then Jon′a·than said: “Here we are crossing over to the men, and let us expose ourselves to them. [9] If this is the way they should say to us, ‘Stand still until we make contact with YOU!’ we must then stand where we are, and we should not go on up to them. [10] But if this is the way they should say, ‘Come up against us!’ we must then go up, because Jehovah will certainly give them into our hand, and this is for us the sign.”

[11] With that the two of them exposed themselves to the outpost of the Phi·lis′tines. And the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to say: “Here are the Hebrews coming out from the holes where they have hidden themselves.” [12] So the men of the outpost answered Jon′a·than and his armor-bearer and said: “Come on up to us, and we will let YOU know a thing!” At once Jon′a·than said to his armor-bearer: “Come up after me, because Jehovah will certainly give them into the hand of Israel.” [13] And Jon′a·than kept going up on his hands and his feet, and his armor-bearer after him; and they began to fall before Jon′a·than, and his armor-bearer was putting them to death behind him. [14] And the first slaughter with which Jon′a·than and his armor-bearer struck them down amounted to about twenty men within about half the plowing line in an acre of field.

[15] Then a trembling occurred in the camp in the field and among all the people of the outpost; and the force of pillagers trembled, even they, and the earth began quaking, and it developed into a trembling from God. [16] And the watchmen belonging to Saul in Gib′e·ah of Benjamin got to see it, and, look! the turmoil swayed this way and that.

[17] And Saul proceeded to say to the people that were with him: “Take the count, please, and see who has gone out from us.” When they took the count, why, look! Jon′a·than and his armor-bearer were not there. [18] Saul now said to A·hi′jah: “Do bring the ark of the true God near!” (For the ark of the true God proved to be on that day with the sons of Israel.) [19] And it came about that while Saul was speaking to the priest, the turmoil that was in the camp of the Phi·lis′tines continued to go on, getting greater and greater. Then Saul said to the priest: “Withdraw your hand.” [20] Thus Saul and all the people that were with him were called out. So they came as far as the battle, and there the sword of each one had come to be against his fellowman; the rout was very great. [21] And the Hebrews that had come to belong to the Phi·lis′tines as formerly and that had gone up with them into the camp round about, even they too were for proving themselves to be with Israel who was with Saul and Jon′a·than. [22] All the men of Israel also that were hidden in the mountainous region of E′phra·im heard that the Phi·lis′tines had taken to flight, and they too went pursuing closely after them into the battle. [23] And Jehovah proceeded on that day to save Israel, and the battle itself passed over to Beth-a′ven.

[24] And the men of Israel themselves were hard pressed on that day, and yet Saul put the people under the pledge of an oath, saying: "Cursed is the man that eats bread before the evening and until I have taken vengeance upon my enemies!" And none of the people tasted bread.

[25] And all those of the land came into the woods, when honey happened to be over the surface of the field. [26] When the people came into the woods, why, look! there was a dripping of honey, but there was no one putting his hand to his mouth, because the people were afraid of the oath. [27] As for Jon′a·than, he had not been listening when his father put the people under an oath, so he stretched out the tip of the rod that was in his hand and dipped it into the honeycomb and drew his hand back to his mouth, and his eyes began to beam. [28] At this one of the people answered and said: "Your father solemnly put the people under oath, saying, 'Cursed is the man that eats bread today!'" (And the people began to get tired.) [29] However, Jon′a·than said: "My father has brought ostracism upon the land. SEE, please, how my eyes have beamed because I tasted this little bit of honey. [30] How much more so if the people had but eaten today from the spoil of their enemies that they found! For now the slaughter upon the Phi·lis′tines has not been great.”

[31] And on that day they kept striking down the Phi·lis′tines from Mich′mash to Ai′ja·lon, and the people got to be very tired. [32] And the people began darting greedily at the spoil and taking sheep and cattle and calves and slaughtering them on the earth, and the people fell to eating along with the blood. [33] So they told Saul, saying: “Look! The people are sinning against Jehovah by eating along with the blood.” At this he said: “YOU have dealt treacherously. First of all, roll a great stone to me.” [34] After that Saul said: “Scatter among the people, and YOU must say to them, ‘Bring near to me, each one of YOU, his bull and, each one, his sheep, and YOU must do the slaughtering in this place and the eating, and YOU must not sin against Jehovah by eating along with the blood.’” Accordingly all the people brought near each one his bull that was in his hand that night and did the slaughtering there. [35] And Saul proceeded to build an altar to Jehovah. With it he started altar building to Jehovah.

[36] Later Saul said: “Let us go down after the Phi·lis′tines by night and plunder them until the morning lightens up, and let us not leave a single one among them.” To this they said: “Anything that is good in your eyes do.” Then the priest said: “Let us approach here to the true God.” [37] And Saul began to inquire of God: “Shall I go down after the Phi·lis′tines? Will you give them into the hand of Israel?” And he did not answer him on that day. [38] So Saul said: “Come near here, all YOU keymen of the people, and ascertain and see in what way this sin has come to be today. [39] For as Jehovah, who is the Deliverer of Israel, is alive, even if it is in Jon′a·than my son, yet he will positively die.” But there was no one answering him out of all the people. [40] And he went on to say to all Israel: “YOU yourselves will come to be on the one side, and I and Jon′a·than my son—we will come to be on the other side.” At this the people said to Saul: “What is good in your eyes do.”

[41] And Saul proceeded to say to Jehovah: “O God of Israel, do give Thum′mim!” Then Jon′a·than and Saul were taken, and the people themselves went out. [42] Saul now said: “CAST lots to decide between me and Jon′a·than my son.” And Jon′a·than got to be taken. [43] Then Saul said to Jon′a·than: “Do tell me, What have you done?” So Jon′a·than told him and said: “I did for a fact taste a little honey on the tip of the rod that is in my hand. Here I am! Let me die!”

[44] At this Saul said: “Thus may God do and thus may he add to it, if you do not positively die, Jon′a·than.” [45] But the people said to Saul: “Is Jon′a·than to die, who has performed this great salvation in Israel? It is unthinkable! As Jehovah is alive, not as much as a single hair of his head will fall to the earth; for it was with God that he worked this day.” With that the people redeemed Jon′a·than, and he did not die.

[46] So Saul withdrew from following the Phi·lis′tines, and the Phi·lis′tines themselves went to their place.

[47] And Saul himself took the kingship over Israel and went warring round about against all his enemies, against Mo′ab and against the sons of Am′mon and against E′dom and against the kings of Zo′bah and against the Phi·lis′tines; and wherever he would turn he administered condemnation. [48] And he went on acting valiantly and proceeded to strike down Am′a·lek and to deliver Israel out of the hand of their pillager.

[49] And the sons of Saul came to be Jon′a·than and Ish′vi and Mal′chi-shu′a, and, as for the names of his two daughters, the name of the one born first was Me′rab and the name of the younger one Mi′chal. [50] And the name of Saul’s wife was

A·hin′o·am the daughter of A·him′a·az, and the name of the chief of his army was Ab′ner the son of Ner, the uncle of Saul. 51 And Kish was the father of Saul, and Ner the father of Ab′ner was the son of A·bi′el.

52 And the warfare continued heavy against the Phi·lis′tines all the days of Saul. When Saul saw any mighty man or any valiant person, he would gather him to himself.

15 Then Samuel said to Saul: “It was I whom Jehovah sent to anoint you as king over his people Israel, and now listen to the voice of the words of Jehovah. [2] This is what Jehovah of armies has said, ‘I must call to account what Am′a·lek did to Israel when he set himself against him in the way while he was coming up out of Egypt. [3] Now go, and you must strike down Am′a·lek and devote him to destruction with all that he has, and you must not have compassion upon him, and you must put them to death, man as well as woman, child as well as suckling, bull as well as sheep, camel as well as ass.’” [4] Accordingly Saul summoned the people and took the count of them in Te·la′im, two hundred thousand men on foot and ten thousand men of Judah.

[5] And Saul proceeded to come as far as the city of Am′a·lek and to lie in ambush by the torrent valley. [6] Meanwhile Saul said to the Ken′ites: “GO, DEPART, GO DOWN from the midst of the A·mal′ek·ites, that I may not sweep you away with them. As for you, you exercised loving-kindness with all the sons of Israel at the time of their coming up out of Egypt.” So the Ken′ites departed from the midst of Am′a·lek. [7] After that Saul went striking down Am′a·lek from Hav′i·lah as far as Shur, which is in front of Egypt. [8] And he got to catch A′gag the king of Am′a·lek alive, and all the other people he devoted to destruction with the edge of the sword. [9] But Saul and the people had compassion upon A′gag and upon the best of the flock and the herd and the fat ones and upon the rams and upon all that was good, and they did not wish to devote them to destruction. As for all the goods that were despicable and rejected, these they devoted to destruction.

[10] The word of Jehovah now came to Samuel, saying: [11] “I do regret that I have caused Saul to reign as king, because he has turned back from following me, and my words he has not carried out.” And it was distressing to Samuel, and he kept crying out to Jehovah all night long. [12] Then Samuel got up early to meet Saul in the morning. But report was made to Samuel, saying: “Saul came to Carʹmel, and, look! he was erecting a monument for himself, and he then turned around and went across and descended to Gilʹgal.” [13] At length Samuel came to Saul, and Saul began to say to him: “Blessed are you of Jehovah. I have carried out the word of Jehovah.” [14] But Samuel said: “Then what does this sound of the flock in my ears mean, and the sound of the herd that I am hearing?” [15] To this Saul said: “From the A·malʹek·ites they have brought them, because the people had compassion upon the best of the flock and of the herd, for the purpose of sacrificing to Jehovah your God; but what was left over we have devoted to destruction.” [16] At this Samuel said to Saul: “Stop! And I will tell you what Jehovah spoke to me last night.” So he said to him: “Speak!”

[17] And Samuel went on to say: “Was it not when you were little in your own eyes that you were head of the tribes of Israel, and Jehovah proceeded to anoint you as king over Israel? [18] Later Jehovah sent you on a mission and said, ‘Go, and you must devote the sinners, the A·malʹek·ites, to destruction, and you must fight against them until you will have exterminated them.’ [19] So why is it you did not obey the voice of Jehovah but went darting greedily at the spoil and doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah?”

[20] However, Saul said to Samuel: “But I have obeyed the voice of Jehovah in that I went on the mission on which Jehovah had sent me and I brought Aʹgag the king of Amʹa·lek, but Amʹa·lek I have devoted to destruction. [21] And the people went taking from the spoil sheep and cattle, the choicest of them as something devoted to destruction, to sacrifice to Jehovah your God in Gilʹgal.”

22 In turn Samuel said: “Does Jehovah have as much delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices as in obeying the voice of Jehovah? Look! To obey is better than a sacrifice, to pay attention than the fat of rams; 23 for rebelliousness is the same as the sin of divination, and pushing ahead presumptuously the same as using uncanny power and teraphim. Since you have rejected the word of Jehovah, he accordingly rejects you from being king.”

24 Then Saul said to Samuel: “I have sinned; for I have overstepped the order of Jehovah and your words, because I feared the people and so obeyed their voice. 25 And now, please, pardon my sin and return with me that I may prostrate myself to Jehovah.” 26 But Samuel said to Saul: “I shall not return with you, for you have rejected the word of Jehovah, and Jehovah rejects you from continuing as king over Israel.” 27 As Samuel was turning about to go, he immediately grabbed hold of the skirt of his sleeveless coat, but it ripped away. 28 At this Samuel said to him: “Jehovah has ripped away the royal rule of Israel from off you today, and he will certainly give it to a fellowman of yours who is better than you. 29 And, besides, the Excellency of Israel will not prove false, and He will not feel regrets, for He is not an earthling man so as to feel regrets.”

30 At this he said: “I have sinned. Now honor me, please, in front of the older men of my people and in front of Israel and return with me, and I shall certainly prostrate myself to Jehovah your God.” 31 So Samuel returned behind Saul, and Saul proceeded to prostrate himself to Jehovah. 32 After that Samuel said: “BRING Aʹgag the king of Amʹa·lek near to me.” Then Aʹgag went to him reluctantly, and Aʹgag began to say to himself: “Truly the bitter experience of death has departed.” 33 However, Samuel said: “Just as your sword has bereaved women of children, in that way your mother will be most bereaved of children among women.” With that Samuel went hacking A′gag to pieces before Jehovah in Gil′gal.

34 Samuel now went his way to Ra′mah, and Saul, for his part, went up to his own house at Gib′e·ah of Saul. 35 And Samuel did not see Saul again until the day of his death, because Samuel had gone into mourning for Saul. As for Jehovah, he regretted that he had made Saul king over Israel.

16 Eventually Jehovah said to Samuel: “For how long will you be mourning for Saul, while I, on the other hand, have rejected him from ruling as king over Israel? Fill your horn with oil and go. I shall send you to Jes′se the Beth′le·hem·ite, because I have provided among his sons a king for myself.” [2] But Samuel said: “How can I go? Once Saul has heard of it he will certainly kill me.” And Jehovah went on to say: “A young cow of the herd you should take with you, and you must say, ‘To sacrifice to Jehovah is why I have come.’ [3] And you must call Jes′se to the sacrifice; and I, for my part, shall make known to you what you should do, and you must anoint for me the one whom I designate to you.”

[4] And Samuel proceeded to do what Jehovah spoke. When he came to Beth′le·hem the older men of the city began to tremble at meeting him, and so they said: “Does your coming mean peace?” [5] To this he said: “It means peace. To sacrifice to Jehovah is why I have come. Sanctify yourselves, and YOU must come with me to the sacrifice.” Then he sanctified Jes′se and his sons, after which he called them to the sacrifice. [6] And it came about that, as they came in and he caught sight of E·li′ab, he at once said: “Surely his anointed one is before Jehovah.” [7] But Jehovah said to Samuel: “Do not look at his appearance and at the height of his stature, for I have rejected him. For not the way man sees is the way God sees, because mere man sees what appears to the eyes; but as for Jehovah, he sees what the heart is.” [8] Then Jes′se called A·bin′a·dab and had him pass before Samuel, but he said: “Neither has Jehovah chosen this one.” [9] Next Jes′se had Sham′mah pass by, but he said: “Neither has Jehovah chosen this one.” [10] So Jes′se had seven of his sons pass before Samuel; still Samuel said to Jes′se: “Jehovah has not chosen these.”

[11] Finally Samuel said to Jes′se: “Are these all the boys?” To this he said: “The youngest one has till now been left out, and, look! he is pasturing the sheep.” At that Samuel said to Jes′se: “Do send and fetch him, because we shall not sit down to meal until his coming here.” [12] Accordingly he sent and had him come. Now he was ruddy, a young man with beautiful eyes and handsome in appearance. Then Jehovah said: “Get up, anoint him, for this is he!” [13] Accordingly Samuel took the horn of oil and anointed him in the midst of his brothers. And the spirit of Jehovah began to be operative upon David from that day forward. Later Samuel rose and went his way to Ra′mah.

[14] And the very spirit of Jehovah departed from Saul, and a bad spirit from Jehovah terrorized him. [15] And the servants of Saul began to say to him: “Here, now, God’s bad spirit is terrorizing you. [16] Let our lord, please, command your servants before you that they should look for a skilled man playing upon the harp. And it must occur that, when God’s bad spirit comes to be upon you, he will have to play with his hand, and it will certainly be well with you.” [17] So Saul said to his servants: “Provide me, please, a man doing well at playing, and YOU must bring him to me.”

[18] And one of the attendants proceeded to answer and say: “Look! I have seen how a son of Jes′se the Beth′le·hem·ite is skilled at playing, and he is a valiant, mighty man and a man of war and an intelligent speaker and a well-formed man, and Jehovah is with him.” [19] Then Saul sent messengers to Jes′se and said: “Do send to me David your son, who is with the flock.” [20] So Jes′se took an ass, bread and a skin bottle of wine and a kid of the goats and sent them by the hand of David his son to Saul. [21] Thus David came to Saul and attended upon him; and he got to loving him very much, and he came to be his armor-bearer. [22]

Consequently Saul sent to Jes′se, saying: “Let David, please, keep attending upon me, for he has found favor in my eyes.”
23 And it occurred that, when God’s spirit came to be upon Saul, David took the harp and played with his hand; and there was relief for Saul and it was well with him, and the bad spirit departed from upon him.

17 And the Phi·lis′tines went collecting their camps together for war. When they were collected together at So′coh, which belongs to Judah, then they took up camping between So′coh and A·ze′kah, in E′phes-dam′mim. [2] As for Saul and the men of Israel, they collected themselves together and took up camping in the low plain of E′lah, and they went drawing up in battle formation to meet the Phi·lis′tines. [3] And the Phi·lis′tines were standing on the mountain on this side, and the Israelites were standing on the mountain on that side, with the valley between them.

[4] And a champion began to go out from the camps of the Phi·lis′tines, his name being Go·li′ath, from Gath, his height being six cubits and a span. [5] And there was a helmet of copper on his head, and he was clad with a coat of mail, of overlapping scales, and the weight of the coat of mail was five thousand shekels of copper. [6] And there were greaves of copper above his feet and a javelin of copper between his shoulders. [7] And the wooden shaft of his spear was like the beam of loom workers, and the blade of his spear was six hundred shekels of iron; and the bearer of the large shield was marching ahead of him. [8] Then he stood still and began to call to the battle lines of Israel and say to them: “Why do YOU come out to draw up in battle formation? Am I not the Phi·lis′tine and YOU servants belonging to Saul? Choose a man for yourselves, and let him come down to me. [9] If he is able to fight with me and he does strike me down, we must then become servants to YOU. But if I myself am a match for him and I do strike him down, YOU must also become servants to us, and YOU must serve us.” [10] And the Phi·lis′tine went on to say: “I myself do taunt the battle lines of Israel this day. Give me a man, and let us fight together!”

[11] When Saul and all Israel heard these words of the Phi·lis′tine, then they became terrified and were greatly afraid.

[12] Now David was the son of this Eph′rath·ite from Beth′le·hem of Judah whose name was Jes′se. And he had eight sons. And in the days of Saul the man was already old among men. [13] And the three oldest sons of Jes′se proceeded to go. They went after Saul to the war, and the names of his three sons that went into the war were E·li′ab the firstborn, and his second son A·bin′a·dab and the third Sham′mah. [14] And David was the youngest, and the three oldest themselves went after Saul.

[15] And David was going and returning from Saul to tend the sheep of his father at Beth′le·hem. [16] And the Phi·lis′tine kept coming forward at early morning and at evening and taking his position for forty days.

[17] Then Jes′se said to David his son: “Take, please, to your brothers this e′phah of roasted grain and these ten loaves of bread, and carry them quickly to the camp to your brothers. [18] And these ten portions of milk you should bring to the chief of the thousand; also, you should look after your own brothers as regards their welfare, and a token from them you should take.” [19] Meantime, Saul and they and all the other men of Israel were in the low plain of E′lah, fighting against the Phi·lis′tines.

[20] Accordingly David got up early in the morning and left the sheep to the keeper’s charge and picked up and went just as Jes′se had commanded him. When he came to the camp enclosure, the military forces were going out to the battle line, and they raised a shout for the battle. [21] And Israel and the Phi·lis′tines began drawing up battle line to meet battle line. [22] Immediately David left the baggage from off him to the care of the keeper of the baggage and went running to the battle line. When he came, he began asking about the welfare of his brothers.

23 While he was speaking with them, why, here the champion, his name being Go·liʹath the Phi·lisʹtine from Gath, was coming up from the battle lines of the Phi·lisʹtines, and he began speaking the same words as before, and David got to listen in. 24 As for all the men of Israel, on their seeing the man, why, they went fleeing on account of him and were very much afraid. 25 And the men of Israel began to say: “Have YOU seen this man that is coming up? For it is to taunt Israel that he is coming up. And it must occur that, the man who strikes him down, the king will enrich him with great riches, and his own daughter he will give him, and the house of his father he will set free in Israel.”

26 And David began to say to the men that were standing close by him: “What will be done to the man that strikes down that Phi·lisʹtine over there and actually turns away reproach from upon Israel? For who is this uncircumcised Phi·lisʹtine that he has to taunt the battle lines of the living God?” 27 Then the people said to him the same words as before, saying: “This is the way it will be done to the man that strikes him down.” 28 And E·liʹab his oldest brother got to hear as he spoke to the men, and E·liʹab’s anger grew hot against David, so that he said: “Why is it that you have come down? And in whose charge did you leave those few sheep behind in the wilderness? I myself well know your presumptuousness and the badness of your heart, because you have come down for the purpose of seeing the battle.” 29 To this David said: “What have I done now? Was it not just a word?” 30 With that he turned about from beside him toward someone else and went saying the same word as before, and, in turn, the people gave him the same reply as formerly.

31 So the words that David spoke came to be heard, and they went telling them before Saul. Hence he fetched him. 32 And David proceeded to say to Saul: “Do not let the heart of any man collapse within him. Your servant himself will go and actually fight with this Phi·lis′tine.” 33 But Saul said to David: “You are not able to go against this Phi·lis′tine to fight with him, for you are but a boy, and he is a man of war from his boyhood.” 34 And David went on to say to Saul: “Your servant became a shepherd of his father among the flock, and there came a lion, and also a bear, and each carried off a sheep from the drove. 35 And I went out after it and struck it down and made the rescue from its mouth. When it began rising against me, I grabbed hold of its beard and struck it down and put it to death. 36 Both the lion and the bear your servant struck down; and this uncircumcised Phi·lis′tine must become like one of them, for he has taunted the battle lines of the living God.” 37 Then David added: “Jehovah, who delivered me from the paw of the lion and from the paw of the bear, he it is who will deliver me from the hand of this Phi·lis′tine.” At this Saul said to David: “Go, and may Jehovah himself prove to be with you.”

38 Saul now went clothing David with his garments, and he put a copper helmet upon his head, after which he clothed him with a coat of mail. 39 Then David girded his sword on over his garments and undertook to go but could not, because he had not tried them out. Finally David said to Saul: “I am unable to go in these things, for I have not tried them out.” So David removed them off him. 40 And he proceeded to take his staff in his hand and to choose for himself the five smoothest stones from the torrent valley and to place them in his shepherds’ bag that served him as a receptacle, and in his hand was his sling. And he began approaching the Phi·lis′tine.

[41] And the Phi·lis′tine began to come, coming nearer and nearer to David, and the man carrying the large shield was ahead of him. [42] Now when the Phi·lis′tine looked and saw David, he began despising him because he proved to be a boy and ruddy, of beautiful appearance. [43] So the Phi·lis′tine said to David: “Am I a dog, so that you are coming to me with staves?” With that the Phi·lis′tine called down evil upon David by his gods. [44] And the Phi·lis′tine went on to say to David: “Just come to me, and I will give your flesh to the fowls of the heavens and to the beasts of the field.”

[45] In turn David said to the Phi·lis′tine: “You are coming to me with a sword and with a spear and with a javelin, but I am coming to you with the name of Jehovah of armies, the God of the battle lines of Israel, whom you have taunted. [46] This day Jehovah will surrender you into my hand, and I shall certainly strike you down and remove your head off you; and I shall certainly give the carcasses of the camp of the Phi·lis′tines this day to the fowls of the heavens and to the wild beasts of the earth; and people of all the earth will know that there exists a God belonging to Israel. [47] And all this congregation will know that neither with sword nor with spear does Jehovah save, because to Jehovah belongs the battle, and he must give YOU men into our hand.”

[48] And it occurred that the Phi·lis′tine rose and kept coming and drawing nearer to meet David, and David began hurrying and running toward the battle line to meet the Phi·lis′tine. [49] Then David thrust his hand into his bag and took a stone from there and slung it, so that he struck the Phi·lis′tine in his forehead and the stone sank into his forehead, and he went falling upon his face to the earth. [50] So David, with a sling and a stone, proved stronger than the Phi·lis′tine and struck the Phi·lis′tine down and put him to death; and there was no sword in David’s hand. [51] And David continued running and got to stand over the Phi·lis′tine. Then he took his sword and pulled it out of its sheath and definitely put him to death when he cut his head off with it. And the Phi·lis′tines got to see that their mighty one had died, and they took to flight.

[52] At that the men of Israel and of Judah rose and broke into shouting and went in pursuit of the Phi·lis′tines clear to the valley and as far as the gates of Ek′ron, and the fatally wounded of the Phi·lis′tines kept falling on the way from Sha′a·ra′im, both as far as Gath and as far as Ek′ron. [53] Afterward the sons of Israel returned from hotly pursuing the Phi·lis′tines and went pillaging their camps.

[54] Then David took the head of the Phi·lis′tine and brought it to Jerusalem, and his weapons he put in his tent.

[55] Now at the moment that Saul saw David going out to meet the Phi·lis′tine, he said to Ab′ner the chief of the army: “Whose son is the boy, Ab′ner?” To this Ab′ner said: “By the life of your soul, O king, I do not know at all! ” [56] So the king said: “You inquire whose son the lad is.” [57] Accordingly, as soon as David returned from striking the Phi·lis′tine down, Ab′ner proceeded to take him and bring him before Saul with the head of the Phi·lis′tine in his hand. [58] Saul now said to him: “Whose son are you, boy?” to which David said: “The son of your servant Jes′se the Beth′le·hem·ite.”

18 And it came about that, as soon as he had finished speaking to Saul, Jon′a·than’s very soul became bound up with the soul of David, and Jon′a·than began to love him as his own soul. [2] Then Saul took him on that day, and he did not allow him to return to his father’s house. [3] And Jon′a·than and David proceeded to conclude a covenant, because of his loving him as his own soul. [4] Further, Jon′a·than stripped himself of the sleeveless coat that was on him and gave it to David, and also his garments, and even his sword and his bow and his belt. [5] And David began going out. Wherever Saul would send him he would act prudently, so that Saul placed him over the men of war; and it seemed good in the eyes of all the people and also in the eyes of the servants of Saul.

[6] And it came about that at their coming in, when David returned from striking the Phi·lis′tines down, the women began coming out from all the cities of Israel with song and dances to meet Saul the king, with tambourines, with rejoicing and with lutes. [7] And the women that were celebrating kept responding and saying:

> “Saul has struck down his thousands,
> And David his tens of thousands.”

[8] And Saul began to be very angry, and this saying was bad from his viewpoint, so that he said: “They have given David tens of thousands, but to me they have given the thousands, and there is yet only the kingship to give him! ” [9] And Saul was continually looking suspiciously at David from that day forward.

[10] And it came about the next day that God’s bad spirit became operative upon Saul, so that he behaved like a prophet within the house, while David was playing music with his hand, as in former days; and the spear was in Saul’s hand. [11] And Saul proceeded to hurl the spear and say: “I will pin David even to the wall!” but David turned aside from before him, twice. [12] And Saul grew afraid of David because Jehovah proved to be with him, but from Saul he had departed. [13] Consequently Saul removed him from his company and appointed him as chief of a thousand for him; and he regularly went out and came in before the people. [14] And David was continually acting prudently in all his ways, and Jehovah was with him. [15] And Saul kept seeing that he was acting very prudently, so that he was scared of him. [16] And all Israel and Judah were lovers of David, because he was going out and coming in before them.

[17] Finally Saul said to David: “Here is my oldest daughter Me′rab. She is the one that I shall give you as a wife. Only prove yourself a valiant person to me and fight the wars of Jehovah.” But as for Saul, he said to himself: “Do not let my hand come to be upon him, but let the hand of the Phi·lis′tines come to be upon him.” [18] At this David said to Saul: “Who am I and who are my kinsfolk, my father’s family, in Israel, so that I should become son-in-law to the king?” [19] However, it came about that at the time for giving Me′rab, Saul’s daughter, to David, she herself had already been given to A′dri·el the Me·hol′ath·ite as a wife.

[20] Now Mi′chal, Saul’s daughter, was in love with David, and they went reporting it to Saul, and the matter was to his liking. [21] So Saul said: “I shall give her to him that she may serve as a snare to him, and that the hand of the Phi·lis′tines may come to be upon him.” Accordingly Saul said to David: “By one of the two women you will form a marriage alliance with me today.” [22] Further, Saul commanded his servants: “Speak to David secretly, saying, ‘Look! The king has found delight in you, and all his servants themselves have fallen in love with you. So now form a marriage alliance with the king.’” [23] And the servants of Saul began to speak these words in the ears of David, but David said: “Is it an easy thing in YOUR eyes to form a marriage alliance with the king, when I am a man of little means and lightly esteemed?” [24] Then the servants of Saul reported to him, saying: “It was with words like these that David spoke.”

[25] At that Saul said: “This is what YOU men will say to David, ‘The king has delight, not in marriage money, but in a hundred foreskins of the Phi·lis′tines, to avenge himself on the enemies of the king.’” But as for Saul, he had schemed to have David fall by the hand of the Phi·lis′tines. [26] So his servants reported these words to David, and the matter was to David’s liking, to form a marriage alliance with the king, and the days had not yet expired. [27] So David rose and he and his men went and struck down among the Phi·lis′tines two hundred men, and David came bringing their foreskins and giving them in full number to the king, to form a marriage alliance with the king. In turn Saul gave him Mi′chal his daughter as a wife. [28] And Saul got to see and know that Jehovah was with David. As for Mi′chal, Saul’s daughter, she loved him. [29] And again Saul felt still more fear because of David, and Saul came to be an enemy of David always.

[30] And the princes of the Phi·lis′tines would go out, and it would happen that as often as they went out David acted most prudently of all the servants of Saul; and his name came to be very precious.

19 At length Saul spoke to Jon′a·than his son and to all his servants of putting David to death. [2] As for Jon′a·than, Saul’s son, he took great delight in David. So Jon′a·than told David, saying: “Saul my father is seeking to have you put to death. And now be on your guard, please, in the morning, and you must dwell in secrecy and keep yourself hidden. [3] And I, for my part, shall go out and certainly stand at the side of my father in the field where you will be, and I myself shall speak for you to my father, and I shall certainly see what will happen, and I shall be sure to tell you.”

[4] Accordingly Jon′a·than spoke well of David to Saul his father and said to him: “Do not let the king sin against his servant David, for he has not sinned toward you and his works have been very good toward you. [5] And he proceeded to put his soul in his palm and strike the Phi·lis′tine down, so that Jehovah performed a great salvation for all Israel. You saw it, and you gave way to rejoicing. So why should you sin against innocent blood in having David put to death for nothing?” [6] Then Saul obeyed the voice of Jon′a·than, and Saul swore: “As Jehovah is living, he will not be put to death.” [7] Afterward Jon′a·than called David and Jon′a·than told him all these words. Then Jon′a·than brought David to Saul, and he continued before him the same as formerly.

[8] In time war broke out again and David went sallying forth and fighting against the Phi·lis′tines and striking them down with a great slaughter, and they took to flight from before him.

[9] And Jehovah’s bad spirit came to be upon Saul when he was sitting in his house with his spear in his hand, while David was playing music with his hand. [10] Consequently Saul sought to pin David to the wall with the spear, but he dodged from before Saul, so that he struck the spear into the wall. And David himself fled that he might escape during that night. [11] Later Saul sent messengers to David’s house to watch it and to have him put to death in the morning; but Mi′chal his wife told David, saying: “If you are not letting your soul escape tonight, tomorrow you will be a man put to death.” [12] Immediately Mi′chal had David descend through the window, that he might go and run away and escape. [13] Then Mi′chal took the teraphim image and placed it on the couch, and a net of goats’ hair she put at the place of his head, after which she covered it with a garment.

[14] Saul now sent messengers to take David, but she said: “He is sick.” [15] So Saul sent the messengers to see David, saying: “Bring him on his couch up to me to have him put to death.” [16] When the messengers came in, why, there was the teraphim image on the couch and a net of goats’ hair at the place of his head. [17] At this Saul said to Mi′chal: “Why did you trick me like this, so that you sent my enemy away that he might escape?” In turn Mi′chal said to Saul: “He himself said to me, ‘Send me away! Why should I put you to death?’”

[18] As for David, he ran away and made his escape and got to come to Samuel at Ra′mah. And he proceeded to tell him all that Saul had done to him. Then he and Samuel went away, and they took up dwelling in Nai′oth. [19] In time the report got to Saul, saying: “Look! David is in Nai′oth in Ra′mah.” [20] At once Saul sent messengers to take David. When they got to see the elderly ones of the prophets prophesying, and Samuel standing in his position over them, the spirit of God came to be upon Saul’s messengers, and they began behaving like prophets, they also.

21 When they told it to Saul, he immediately sent other messengers, and they began behaving like prophets, they also. So Saul sent messengers again, the third set, and they began behaving like prophets, they also. 22 Finally he too went to Raʹmah. When he got as far as the great cistern that is in Seʹcu, he began to inquire and say: “Where are Samuel and David?” To this they said: “There in Naiʹoth in Raʹmah.” 23 And he kept on his way from there to Naiʹoth in Raʹmah, and the spirit of God came to be upon him, yes, him, and he went on walking and continued behaving like a prophet until he came into Naiʹoth in Raʹmah. 24 And he also proceeded to strip off his garments and behave, he also, like a prophet before Samuel, and he lay fallen naked all that day and all that night. That is why they came to say: “Is Saul also among the prophets?”

20 And David went running away from Nai′oth in Ra′mah. However, he came and said in front of Jon′a·than: “What have I done? What is my error, and what sin have I committed before your father, for he is seeking for my soul?” [2] At this he said to him: “It is unthinkable! You will not die. Look! My father will not do a big thing or a little thing and not disclose it to my ear; and for what reason should my father conceal this matter from me? This does not happen.” [3] But David swore in addition and said: “Your father must surely know that I have found favor in your eyes, and so would say, ‘Do not let Jon′a·than know this for fear he may feel hurt.’ But, in fact, as Jehovah is living and as your soul is living, there is just about a step between me and death!”

[4] And Jon′a·than went on to say to David: “Whatever your soul may say I shall do for you.” [5] At this David said to Jon′a·than: “Look! Tomorrow is new moon, and I myself ought, without fail, to be sitting with the king to eat; and you must send me away, and I must conceal myself in the field until the evening on the third day. [6] If your father should miss me at all, then you must say, ‘David earnestly asked leave of absence of me to run to Beth′le·hem his city, because there is a yearly sacrifice there for all the family.’ [7] If the way he should say is, ‘It is all right!’ it means peace to your servant. But if he should at all become angry, know that what is bad has been determined upon by him. [8] And you must render loving-kindness toward your servant, for it is into a covenant of Jehovah that you have brought your servant with you. But if there is error in me, put me to death yourself, since why should it be to your father that you should bring me?”

[9] To this Jon′a·than said: “That is unthinkable respecting you! But if I should at all get to know that evil has been determined upon by my father to come upon you, shall I not tell it to you?” [10] Then David said to Jon′a·than: “Who will tell me whether what your father may answer you is harsh?” [11] In turn Jon′a·than said to David: “Just come, and let us go out into the field.” So both of them went out into the field. [12] And Jon′a·than went on to say to David: “Jehovah the God of Israel be a witness that I shall sound out my father about this time tomorrow, or the third day, and if he is well-disposed toward David, shall I not then send to you and certainly disclose it to your ear? [13] So may Jehovah do to Jon′a·than and so may he add to it, if, in case it should seem good to my father to do evil against you, I do not indeed disclose it to your ear and send you away, and you do not certainly go in peace. And may Jehovah prove to be with you, just as he proved to be with my father. [14] And will you not, if I shall be still alive, yes, will you not exercise the loving-kindness of Jehovah toward me, that I may not die? [15] And you will not cut off your own loving-kindness from being with my household to time indefinite. Nor, when Jehovah cuts off the enemies of David, every one from the surface of the ground, [16] will the name of Jon′a·than be cut off from the house of David. And Jehovah must require it at the hand of David’s enemies.” [17] So Jon′a·than swore again to David because of his love for him; for as he loved his own soul he loved him.

[18] And Jon′a·than went on to say to him: “Tomorrow is new moon, and you will certainly be missed, because your seat will be vacant. [19] And certainly on the third day you will be missed very much; and you must come to the place where you concealed yourself on the working day, and you must dwell near this stone here. [20] And as for me, I shall shoot three arrows to one side of it, to send them where I will to a target. [21] And, look! I shall send the attendant, saying, ‘Go, find the arrows.’ If I should specifically say to the attendant, ‘Look! The arrows are on this side of you, take them,’ then you come, for it means peace for you and there is nothing the matter, as Jehovah is living. [22] But if this is the way I should say to the lad, ‘Look! The arrows are farther away from you,’ go, for Jehovah has sent you away. [23] And as for the word that we have spoken, I and you, why, may Jehovah be between me and you to time indefinite.”

[24] And David proceeded to conceal himself in the field. And it came to be new moon, and the king took his seat at the meal to eat. [25] And the king was sitting in his seat as at other times, in the seat by the wall; and Jon′a·than was facing him, and Ab′ner was sitting at Saul’s side, but David’s place was vacant. [26] And Saul did not say anything at all on that day, for he said to himself: “Something has happened so that he is not clean, for he has not been cleansed.” [27] And it came about the day after the new moon, on the second day, that David’s place continued vacant. At this Saul said to Jon′a·than his son: “Why has not the son of Jes′se come to the meal either yesterday or today?” [28] So Jon′a·than answered Saul: “David earnestly asked leave of absence from me to go to Beth′le·hem. [29] And he went on to say, ‘Send me away, please, because we have a family sacrifice in the city, and it was my own brother that commanded me. So now, if I have found favor in your eyes, let me slip away, please, that I may see my brothers.’ That is why he has not come to the king’s table.” [30] Then Saul’s anger grew hot against Jon′a·than and he said to him: “You son of a rebellious maid, do I not well know that you are choosing the son of Jes′se to your own shame and to the shame of the secret parts of your mother? [31] For all the days that the son of Jes′se is alive on the ground, you and your kingship will not be firmly established. So now send and fetch him to me, for he is destined for death.”

[32] However, Jon′a·than answered Saul his father and said to him: “Why should he be put to death? What has he done?” [33] At that Saul went hurling the spear at him to strike him; and Jon′a·than came to know that it had been determined upon by his father to put David to death. [34] Immediately Jon′a·than rose up from the table in the heat of anger, and he did not eat bread on the second day after the new moon, for he had been hurt respecting David, because his own father had humiliated him.

[35] And it came about in the morning that Jon′a·than made his way out to the field of David’s appointed place, and a young attendant was with him. [36] And he proceeded to say to his attendant: “Run, please, find the arrows that I am shooting.” The attendant ran, and he himself shot the arrow to make it pass beyond him. [37] When the attendant came as far as the place of the arrow that Jon′a·than had shot, Jon′a·than began to call from behind the attendant and say: “Is not the arrow farther away from you?” [38] And Jon′a·than went on calling from behind the attendant: “In haste! Act quickly! Do not stand still!” And the attendant of Jon′a·than went picking up the arrows and then came to his master. [39] As for the attendant, he did not know anything; only Jon′a·than and David themselves knew about the matter. [40] After that Jon′a·than gave his weapons to the attendant that belonged to him and he said to him: “Go, take them to the city.”

[41] The attendant went. As for David, he rose up from nearby to the south. Then he fell on his face to the earth and bowed three times; and they began kissing each other and weeping for each other, until David had done it the most. [42] And Jon′a·than went on to say to David: “Go in peace, since we have sworn, both of us, in the name of Jehovah, saying, ‘May Jehovah himself prove to be between me and you and between my offspring and your offspring to time indefinite.’”

Accordingly David rose up and went his way, and Jon′a·than himself came into the city.

21 Later David came into Nob to A·him′e·lech the priest; and A·him′e·lech began to tremble at meeting David and then said to him: “Why is it you are by yourself, and no one is with you?” [2] At this David said to A·him′e·lech the priest: “The king himself commanded me as to a matter, and he went on to say to me, ‘Let no one know anything at all of the matter concerning which I am sending you and concerning which I have commanded you.’ And I have made an appointment with the young men for such and such a place. [3] And now, if there are five loaves of bread at your disposal, just give them into my hand, or whatever may be found.” [4] But the priest answered David and said: “There is no ordinary bread under my hand, but there is holy bread; provided that the young men have at least kept themselves from womankind.” [5] So David answered the priest and said to him: “But womankind has been kept away from us the same as formerly when I went out, and the organisms of the young men continue holy, although the mission itself is ordinary. And how much more so today, when one becomes holy in his organism?” [6] At that the priest gave him what was holy, because there happened to be no bread there but the showbread that had been removed from before Jehovah so as to place fresh bread there on the day of its being taken away.

[7] Now one of Saul’s servants was there on that day, detained before Jehovah, and his name was Do′eg the E′dom·ite, the principal one of the shepherds that belonged to Saul.

[8] And David went on to say to A·him′e·lech: “And is there nothing here at your disposal, a spear or a sword? For neither my own sword nor my weapons did I take in my hand, because the king’s matter proved to be urgent.” [9] To this the priest said: “The sword of Go·liʹath the Phi·lisʹtine, whom you struck down in the low plain of Eʹlah—here it is, wrapped up in a mantle, behind the ephʹod. If it is what you would take for yourself, take it, because there is no other here except it.” And David went on to say: “There is none like it. Give it to me.”

10 Then David rose up and continued running away on account of Saul on that day, and at length came to Aʹchish the king of Gath. 11 And the servants of Aʹchish began to say to him: “Is not this David the king of the land? Was it not to this one that they kept responding with dances, saying,

‘Saul has struck down his thousands,
And David his tens of thousands’?”

12 And David began to take these words to his heart, and he became very much afraid on account of Aʹchish the king of Gath. 13 So he disguised his sanity under their eyes and began acting insane in their hand and kept making cross marks on the doors of the gate and let his saliva run down upon his beard. 14 Finally Aʹchish said to his servants: “Here YOU see a man behaving crazy. Why should YOU bring him to me? 15 Am I in need of people driven crazy, so that YOU have brought this one to behave crazy by me? Should this one come into my home?”

22 So David proceeded to go from there and escape to the cave of A·dul′lam; and his brothers and the entire house of his father got to hear of it and made their way down there to him. [2] And all men in distress and all men who had a creditor and all men bitter in soul began to collect together to him, and he came to be a chief over them; and there came to be with him about four hundred men.

[3] Later David went from there to Miz′peh in Mo′ab and said to the king of Mo′ab: “Let my father and my mother, please, dwell with YOU people until I know what God will do to me.” [4] Accordingly he settled them before the king of Mo′ab, and they continued dwelling with him all the days that David happened to be in the inaccessible place.

[5] In time Gad the prophet said to David: “You must not keep dwelling in the inaccessible place. Go away, and you must come yourself into the land of Judah.” Hence David went away and came into the forest of He′reth.

[6] And Saul got to hear that David and the men that were with him had been discovered, while Saul was sitting in Gib′e·ah under the tamarisk tree on the high place with his spear in his hand and all his servants stationed about him. [7] Then Saul said to his servants stationed about him: “Listen, please, YOU Ben′ja·min·ites. Will the son of Jes′se also give to all of YOU fields and vineyards? Will he appoint all of YOU chiefs of thousands and chiefs of hundreds? [8] For YOU have conspired, all of YOU, against me; and there is no one disclosing it to my ear when my own son concludes a covenant with the son of Jes′se, and there is no one of YOU having sympathy for me and disclosing to my ear that my own son has raised up my own servant against me as a lier in ambush the way it is this day.”

[9] At this Do′eg the E′dom·ite, being stationed as he was over the servants of Saul, answered and said: “I saw the son of Jes′se come to Nob to A·him′e·lech the son of A·hi′tub. [10] And he proceeded to inquire of Jehovah for him; and provisions he gave him, and the sword of Go·li′ath the Phi·lis′tine he gave him.” [11] At once the king sent to call A·him′e·lech the son of A·hi′tub the priest and all the house of his father, the priests that were in Nob. So all of them came to the king.

[12] Saul now said: “Listen, please, you son of A·hi′tub!” to which he said: “Here I am, my lord.” [13] And Saul went on to say to him: “Why have YOU men conspired against me, you and the son of Jes′se, by your giving him bread and a sword, and there being an inquiry of God for him, to rise up against me as a lier in ambush the way it is this day?” [14] At this A·him′e·lech answered the king and said: “And who among all your servants is like David, faithful, and the son-in-law of the king and a chief over your bodyguard and honored in your house? [15] Is it today that I have started to inquire of God for him? It is unthinkable on my part! Do not let the king lay anything against his servant and against the entire house of my father, for in all this your servant did not know a thing small or great.”

[16] But the king said: “You will positively die, A·him′e·lech, you with all the house of your father.” [17] With that the king said to the runners stationed about him: “Turn and put to death the priests of Jehovah, because their hand also is with David and because they knew that he was a runaway and they did not disclose it to my ear!” And the servants of the king did not want to thrust out their hand to assault the priests of Jehovah. [18] Finally the king said to Do′eg: “You turn and assault the priests!” Immediately Do′eg the E′dom·ite turned and himself assaulted the priests and put to death on that day eighty-five men bearing an eph′od of linen. 19 Even Nob the city of the priests he struck with the edge of the sword, man as well as woman, child as well as suckling and bull and ass and sheep with the edge of the sword.

20 However, one son of A·him′e·lech the son of A·hi′tub, whose name was A·bi′a·thar, made his escape and went running away to follow David. 21 Then A·bi′a·thar told David: “Saul has killed the priests of Jehovah.” 22 At this David said to A·bi′a·thar: “I well knew on that day, because Do′eg the E′dom·ite was there, that he would without fail tell Saul. I personally have wronged every soul of the house of your father. 23 Just dwell with me. Do not be afraid, for whoever looks for my soul looks for your soul, for you are one needing protection with me.”

23 In time they came reporting to David, saying: “Here the Phi·lis′tines are warring against Kei′lah, and they are pillaging the threshing floors.” [2] And David proceeded to inquire of Jehovah, saying: “Shall I go, and must I strike down these Phi·lis′tines?” In turn Jehovah said to David: “Go, and you must strike down the Phi·lis′tines and save Kei′lah.” [3] At this the men of David said to him: “Look! We are afraid while here in Judah, and how much more so in case we should go to Kei′lah against the battle lines of the Phi·lis′tines!” [4] So David inquired yet again of Jehovah. Jehovah now answered him and said: “Rise up, go down to Kei′lah, because I am giving the Phi·lis′tines into your hand.” [5] Accordingly David went with his men to Kei′lah and fought against the Phi·lis′tines and drove off with their livestock, but struck them down with a great slaughter; and David came to be the savior of the inhabitants of Kei′lah.

[6] Now it came about that when A·bi′a·thar the son of A·him′e·lech ran away to David at Kei′lah, there was an eph′od that went down in his hand. [7] In time the report was made to Saul: “David has come to Kei′lah.” And Saul began to say: “God has sold him into my hand, for he has shut himself up by coming into a city with doors and bar.” [8] So Saul summoned all the people to war, to go down to Kei′lah, to besiege David and his men. [9] And David got to know that Saul was fabricating mischief against him. Hence he said to A·bi′a·thar the priest: “Do bring the eph′od near.” [10] And David went on to say: “O Jehovah the God of Israel, your servant has definitely heard that Saul is seeking to come to Kei′lah to lay the city in ruin on my account. [11] Will the landowners of Kei′lah surrender me into his hand? Will Saul come down just as your servant has heard? O Jehovah the God of Israel, tell your servant, please.” To this Jehovah said: “He will come down.” [12] And David went on to say: “Will the landowners of Keiʹlah surrender me and my men into Saul’s hand?” In turn Jehovah said: “They will do the surrendering.”

[13] At once David rose up with his men, about six hundred men, and they went out of Keiʹlah and continued walking about wherever they could walk about. And to Saul it was reported that David had escaped from Keiʹlah, and so he gave up going out. [14] And David took up dwelling in the wilderness in places difficult to approach, and he kept dwelling in the mountainous region in the wilderness of Ziph. And Saul kept looking for him always, and God did not give him into his hand. [15] And David continued in fear because Saul had gone out to look for his soul while David was in the wilderness of Ziph at Hoʹresh.

[16] Jonʹa·than the son of Saul now rose up and went to David at Hoʹresh, that he might strengthen his hand in regard to God. [17] And he went on to say to him: “Do not be afraid; for the hand of Saul my father will not find you, and you yourself will be king over Israel, and I myself shall become second to you; and Saul my father also has knowledge to that effect.” [18] Then the two of them concluded a covenant before Jehovah; and David kept dwelling in Hoʹresh, and Jonʹa·than himself went to his own home.

[19] Later the men of Ziph went up to Saul at Gibʹe·ah, saying: “Is not David concealing himself close by us in the places difficult to approach at Hoʹresh, on the hill of Hach·iʹlah, which is to the right side of Je·shiʹmon? [20] And now in harmony with all the craving of your soul, O king, to come down, come down, and our part will be to surrender him into the hand of the king.” [21] At this Saul said: “Blessed are YOU of Jehovah, for YOU have had compassion on me. [22] Go, please, persevere some more and ascertain and see his place where his foot comes to be—whoever saw him there—for it has been said to me that he himself is surely cunning. [23] And see and ascertain about all the hiding places where he hides himself; and YOU must return to me with the evidence, and I will go with YOU; and it must occur that, if he is in the land, I will also search for him carefully among all the thousands of Judah.”

[24] So they rose up and went to Ziph ahead of Saul, while David and his men were in the wilderness of Ma′on in the Ar′a·bah to the south of Je·shi′mon. [25] Later Saul came with his men to look for him. When they told David, he at once went down to the crag and continued dwelling in the wilderness of Ma′on. When Saul got to hear of it, he went chasing after David into the wilderness of Ma′on. [26] Eventually Saul came to this side of the mountain, and David and his men were on that side of the mountain. So David became hurried to go away because of Saul; all the while Saul and his men were closing in on David and his men to grab hold of them. [27] But there was a messenger that came to Saul, saying: “Do hasten and go, for the Phi·lis′tines have made a raid on the land! ” [28] At that Saul turned back from chasing after David and went to meet the Phi·lis′tines. That is why they have called that place the Crag of the Divisions.

[29] Then David made his way up from there and took up dwelling in the places difficult to approach at En-ge′di.

24 And it came about that, as soon as Saul returned from following the Phi·lis′tines, they came reporting to him, saying: “Look! David is in the wilderness of En-ge′di.”

[2] And Saul proceeded to take three thousand chosen men out of all Israel and to go looking for David and his men upon the bare rocks of the mountain goats. [3] At length he came to the stone sheepfolds along the road, where a cave was. So Saul came in to ease nature, while David and his men were in the parts of the cave farthest back, sitting down. [4] And David’s men began to say to him: “Here is the day on which Jehovah does say to you, ‘Look! I am giving your enemy into your hand, and you must do to him just as it may seem good in your eyes.’” So David rose up and quietly cut off the skirt of the sleeveless coat that belonged to Saul. [5] But it came about afterward that David’s heart kept striking him for the reason that he had cut off the skirt of the sleeveless coat that belonged to Saul. [6] Hence he said to his men: “It is unthinkable, on my part, from Jehovah’s standpoint, that I should do this thing to my lord, the anointed of Jehovah, by thrusting out my hand against him, for he is the anointed of Jehovah.” [7] Accordingly David dispersed his men with these words, and he did not allow them to rise up against Saul. As for Saul, he rose up from the cave and kept going on his way.

[8] So David rose up afterward and went out from the cave and called out after Saul, saying: “My lord the king!” At this Saul looked behind him, and David proceeded to bow low with his face to the earth and prostrate himself. [9] And David went on to say to Saul: “Why do you listen to the words of man, saying, ‘Look! David is seeking your hurt’? [10] Here this day your eyes have seen how Jehovah gave you today into my hand in the cave; and someone said to kill you, but I felt sorry for you and said, ‘I shall not thrust out my hand against my lord, for he is the anointed of Jehovah.’ [11] And, my father, see, yes, see the skirt of your sleeveless coat in my hand, for when I cut off the skirt of your sleeveless coat I did not kill you. Know and see that there is no badness or revolt in my hand, and I have not sinned against you, while you are lying in wait for my soul to take it away. [12] May Jehovah judge between me and you; and Jehovah must take vengeance for me from you, but my own hand will not come to be upon you. [13] Just as the proverb of the ancients says, ‘From the wicked ones wickedness will go forth,’ but my own hand will not come to be upon you. [14] After whom has the king of Israel gone out? After whom are you chasing? After a dead dog? After a single flea? [15] And Jehovah must become judge, and he must judge between me and you, and he will see and he will conduct the legal case for me and judge me to free me from your hand.”

[16] And it came about that, at the moment that David finished speaking these words to Saul, Saul proceeded to say: “Is this your voice, my son David?” And Saul began to raise his own voice and weep. [17] And he went on to say to David: “You are more righteous than I am, for it is you who have rendered me good, and it is I who have rendered you evil. [18] And you—you have told today what good you have done in connection with me in that Jehovah surrendered me into your hand and you did not kill me. [19] Now in the case where a man finds his enemy, will he send him away on a good road? So Jehovah himself will reward you with good, due to the fact that this day you have done it to me. [20] And now, look! I well know that you will, without fail, rule as king, and that in your hand the kingdom of Israel will certainly endure. [21] So now do swear to me by Jehovah that you will not cut off my seed after me and that you will not annihilate my name out of the house of my father.” [22] Accordingly David swore to Saul, after which Saul went to his home. As for David and his men, they went up to the place difficult to approach.

25 In time Samuel died; and all Israel proceeded to collect together and bewail him and bury him at his house in Ra′mah. Then David rose up and went down to the wilderness of Pa′ran.

[2] Now there was a man in Ma′on, and his work was in Car′mel. And the man was very great, and he had three thousand sheep and a thousand goats; and he came to be engaged in shearing his sheep at Car′mel. [3] And the man's name was Na′bal, and his wife's name was Ab′i·gail. And the wife was good in discretion and beautiful in form, but the husband was harsh and bad in his practices; and he was a Ca′leb·ite. [4] And David got to hear in the wilderness that Na′bal was shearing his sheep. [5] So David sent ten young men and David said to the young men: "Go up to Car′mel, and YOU must come to Na′bal and ask him in my name about his welfare. [6] And this is what YOU must say to my brother, 'May you be well and also your household be well and all that you have be well. [7] And now I have heard that you have shearers. Now the shepherds that belong to you happened themselves to be with us. We did not molest them, and nothing at all showed up missing of theirs all the days they happened to be in Car′mel. [8] Ask your own young men, and they will tell you, that my young men may find favor in your eyes, because it was upon a good day that we came. Just give, please, whatever your hand may find to your servants and to your son David.'"

[9] Accordingly David's young men came and spoke to Na′bal in accord with all these words in the name of David and then waited. [10] At this Na′bal answered David's servants and said: "Who is David, and who is the son of Jes′se? Nowadays the servants that are breaking away, each one from before his master, have become many. [11] And do I have to take my bread and my water and my slaughtered meat that I have butchered for my shearers and give it to men of whom I do not even know from where they are?”

[12] Upon that David’s young men turned around on their way and went back and came and reported to him in accord with all these words. [13] Immediately David said to his men: “Gird on every one his sword!” So they girded on every one his sword and David also girded on his own sword; and they began to go up after David, about four hundred men, while two hundred sat by the baggage.

[14] Meanwhile, to Ab′i·gail, Na′bal’s wife, one of the young men reported, saying: “Look! David sent messengers from the wilderness to wish our master well, but he screamed rebukes at them. [15] And the men were very good to us, and they did not molest us, and we did not miss a single thing all the days of our walking about with them while we happened to be in the field. [16] A wall was what they proved to be around us both by night and by day, all the days that we happened to be with them, shepherding the flock. [17] And now know and see what you are going to do, for calamity has been determined against our master and against all his house, as he is too much of a good-for-nothing fellow to speak to him.”

[18] At once Ab′i·gail hastened and took two hundred loaves of bread and two large jars of wine and five sheep dressed and five seah measures of roasted grain and a hundred cakes of raisins and two hundred cakes of pressed figs and put them upon the asses. [19] Then she said to her young men: “Pass on ahead of me. Look! I am coming after YOU.” But to her husband Na′bal she told nothing.

[20] And it occurred that while she was riding on the ass and secretly going down the mountain, why, there were David and his men coming down to meet her. So she encountered them. [21] As for David, he had said: “It was altogether for disappointment that I guarded everything that belongs to this fellow in the wilderness and not a single thing of all that belongs to him showed up missing, and yet he repays me evil in return for good. [22] So may God do to the enemies of David and so may he add to it if I shall let anyone of all who are his that urinates against the wall remain until the morning.”

[23] When Ab′i·gail caught sight of David, she at once hastened and got down off the ass and fell upon her face before David and bowed to the earth. [24] She then fell at his feet and said: “Upon me myself, O my lord, be the error; and, please, let your slave girl speak in your ears, and listen to the words of your slave girl. [25] Please, do not let my lord set his heart upon this good-for-nothing man Na′bal, for, as his name is, so is he. Na′bal is his name, and senselessness is with him. As for me your slave girl, I did not see my lord’s young men that you had sent. [26] And now, my lord, as Jehovah is living and as your soul is living, Jehovah has held you back from entering into bloodguilt and having your own hand come to your salvation. And now let your enemies and those seeking injury to my lord become like Na′bal. [27] And now as regards this gift blessing that your maidservant has brought to my lord, it must be given to the young men that are walking about in the steps of my lord. [28] Pardon, please, the transgression of your slave girl, because Jehovah will without fail make for my lord a lasting house, because the wars of Jehovah are what my lord is fighting; and as for badness, it will not be found in you throughout your days. [29] When man rises up to pursue you and look for your soul, the soul of my lord will certainly prove to be wrapped up in the bag of life with Jehovah your God; but, as for the soul of your enemies, he will sling it forth as from inside the hollow of the sling. [30] And it must occur that, because Jehovah will do to my lord the good toward you according to all that he has spoken, he certainly will commission you as leader over Israel. [31] And let this not become to you a cause for staggering or a stumbling block to the heart of my lord, both by the shedding of blood without cause and by having the hand of my lord itself come to his salvation. And Jehovah will certainly do good to my lord, and you must remember your slave girl.”

[32] At this David said to Ab′i·gail: “Blessed be Jehovah the God of Israel, who has sent you this day to meet me! [33] And blessed be your sensibleness, and blessed be you who have restrained me this day from entering into bloodguilt and having my own hand come to my salvation. [34] And, on the other hand, as Jehovah the God of Israel is living, who has held me back from doing injury to you, if you had not hastened that you might come to meet me, there would certainly not have remained to Na′bal until the morning light anyone urinating against a wall.” [35] With that David accepted from her hand what she had brought him, and to her he said: “Go up in peace to your house. See, I have listened to your voice that I may have consideration for your person.”

[36] Later Ab′i·gail came in to Na′bal, and there he was having a feast in his house like the feast of the king; and Na′bal’s heart was feeling good within him, and he was as drunk as could be; and she did not tell him a thing, small or great, until the morning light. [37] And it came about in the morning, when the wine had gone out of Na′bal, that his wife went telling him these things. And his heart came to be dead inside him, and he himself became as a stone. [38] After that about ten days elapsed and then Jehovah struck Na′bal, so that he died.

[39] And David got to hear that Na′bal had died, and so he said: “Blessed be Jehovah, who has conducted the legal case of my reproach to free me from Na′bal’s hand and has kept his servant back from badness, and the badness of Na′bal Jehovah has turned back upon his own head!” And David proceeded to send and propose to Ab′i·gail to take her as his wife. [40] So David’s servants came to Ab′i·gail at Car′mel and spoke to her, saying: “David himself has sent us to you to take you as his wife.” [41] Immediately she rose up and bowed with her face to the earth and said: “Here is your slave girl as a maidservant to wash the feet of the servants of my lord.” [42] Then Ab′i·gail hastened and rose up and went riding on the ass with five maids of hers walking behind her; and she went accompanying the messengers of David and then became his wife.

[43] David had also taken A·hin′o·am from Jez′re·el; and the women came to be, even both of them, his wives.

[44] As for Saul, he had given Mi′chal his daughter, David’s wife, to Pal′ti the son of La′ish, who was from Gal′lim.

26 In time the men of Ziph came to Saul at Gib′e·ah, saying: “Is not David concealing himself on the hill of Hach·i′lah, facing Je·shi′mon?” [2] And Saul proceeded to rise up and go down to the wilderness of Ziph, and with him three thousand men, the chosen ones of Israel, to look for David in the wilderness of Ziph. [3] And Saul took up camping on the hill of Hach·i′lah, which faces Je·shi′mon, by the road, while David was dwelling in the wilderness. And he got to see that Saul had come after him into the wilderness. [4] So David sent spies that he might know that Saul had for a fact come. [5] Later David rose up and went to the place where Saul had encamped, and David got to see the place where Saul had lain down, and also Ab′ner the son of Ner the chief of his army; and Saul was lying in the camp enclosure with the people camping all around him. [6] Then David answered and said to A·him′e·lech the Hit′tite and A·bish′ai the son of Ze·ru′iah, the brother of Jo′ab: “Who will go down with me to Saul into the camp?” To this A·bish′ai said: “I myself shall go down with you.” [7] And David made his way with A·bish′ai to the people by night; and, look! Saul was lying asleep in the camp enclosure with his spear stuck into the earth at his head, and Ab′ner and the people were lying all around him.

[8] A·bish′ai now said to David: “God has today surrendered your enemy into your hand. And now let me, please, pin him to the earth with the spear just once, and I shall not do it to him twice.” [9] However, David said to A·bish′ai: “Do not bring him to ruin, for who is it that has thrust his hand out against the anointed of Jehovah and has remained innocent?” [10] And David went on to say: “As Jehovah is living, Jehovah himself will deal him a blow; or his day will come and he will have to die, or down into battle he will go, and he will certainly be swept away. [11] It is unthinkable, on my part, from Jehovah’s standpoint, to thrust my hand out against the anointed of Jehovah! So now take, please, the spear that is at his head and the water jug, and let us get on our way.” [12] Accordingly David took the spear and the water jug from the place at Saul’s head, and then they got on their way; and there was no one seeing nor anyone taking note nor anyone waking up, for all of them were asleep, because it was a deep sleep from Jehovah that had fallen upon them. [13] Then David passed on to the other side and stood upon the top of the mountain at a distance, the space between them being vast.

[14] And David began to call out to the people and to Abʹner the son of Ner, saying: “Will you not answer, Abʹner?” And Abʹner began to answer and say: “Who are you that have called out to the king?” [15] And David went on to say to Abʹner: “Are you not a man? And who is like you in Israel? Why, then, did you not watch over your lord the king? For one of the people came in to bring the king your lord to ruin. [16] This thing that you have done is not good. As Jehovah is living, YOU men deserve to die, because YOU have not watched over YOUR lord, over the anointed of Jehovah. And now see where the king’s spear and the water jug are that were at his head.”

[17] And Saul began to recognize the voice of David and to say: “Is this your voice, my son David?” To this David said: “It is my voice, my lord the king.” [18] And he added: “Why is this that my lord is chasing after his servant, for what have I done, and what badness is there in my hand? [19] And now let my lord the king, please, listen to the words of his servant: If it is Jehovah that has incited you against me, let him smell a grain offering. But if it is the sons of man, they are cursed before Jehovah, because they have driven me out today from feeling myself attached to the inheritance of Jehovah, saying, ‘Go, serve other gods!’ [20] And now do not let my blood fall to the earth before the face of Jehovah; for the king of Israel has gone out to look for a single flea, just as one chases a partridge upon the mountains.”

[21] In turn Saul said: “I have sinned. Come back, my son David, for I shall no more do you injury, in view of the fact that my soul has been precious in your eyes this day. Look! I have acted foolishly and am very much mistaken.” [22] Then David answered and said: “Here is the spear of the king, and let one of the young men come on over and fetch it. [23] And Jehovah it is who will repay to each one his own righteousness and his own faithfulness, in that Jehovah today gave you into my hand, and I was unwilling to thrust my hand out against the anointed of Jehovah. [24] And, look! just as your soul was great this day in my eyes, so may my soul be great in the eyes of Jehovah, that he may deliver me out of all distress.” [25] At this Saul said to David: “Blessed may you be, my son David. Not only will you without fail work but you will also without fail come off the winner.” And David proceeded to go on his way; and as for Saul, he returned to his place.

27 However, David said in his heart: “Now I shall be swept away one day by Saul’s hand. There is nothing better for me than that I should escape without fail to the land of the Phi·lis′tines; and Saul must despair of me in looking for me any longer in all the territory of Israel, and I shall certainly escape from his hand.” [2] So David rose up and he and six hundred men that were with him passed over to A′chish the son of Ma′och, the king of Gath. [3] And David continued to dwell with A′chish in Gath, he and his men, each one with his household, David and his two wives, A·hin′o·am the Jez′re·el·i·tess and Ab′i·gail, Na′bal’s wife, the Car′mel·it·ess. [4] In time report was made to Saul that David had run away to Gath, and so he did not go looking for him still another time.

[5] Then David said to A′chish: “If, now, I have found favor in your eyes, let them give me a place in one of the cities of the countryside, that I may dwell there; for why should your servant dwell in the royal city with you?” [6] Accordingly A′chish gave him Zik′lag on that day. That is why Zik′lag has come to belong to the kings of Judah down to this day.

[7] And the number of the days that David dwelt in the countryside of the Phi·lis′tines came to be a year and four months. [8] And David proceeded to go up with his men that they might raid the Gesh′ur·ites and the Gir′zites and the A·mal′ek·ites; for they were inhabiting the land that extended from Te′lam as far as Shur and down to the land of Egypt. [9] And David struck the land, but he preserved neither man nor woman alive; and he took flocks and herds and asses and camels and garments, after which he returned and came to A′chish. [10] Then A′chish said: “Where did YOU men make a raid today?” To this David said: “Upon the south of Judah and upon the south of the Je·rahʹme·el·ites and upon the south of the Kenʹites.” [11] As for man and woman, David was not preserving any alive to bring them to Gath, saying: “That they may not tell on us, saying, ‘This is the way David did.’” (And this way has been his procedure all the days that he dwelt in the countryside of the Phi·lisʹtines.) [12] Consequently Aʹchish believed David, saying to himself: “He has unquestionably become a stench among his people Israel; and he will have to become my servant to time indefinite.”

28 And it came about in those days that the Phi·lis′tines began to collect their camps for the army to make war against Israel. So A′chish said to David: “You undoubtedly know that it is with me that you should go out into the camp, you and your men.” [2] At that David said to A′chish: “That is why you yourself know what your servant is to do.” Accordingly A′chish said to David: “That is why guardian of my head I shall appoint you always.”

[3] Now Samuel himself had died, and all Israel had proceeded to bewail him and bury him in Ra′mah his own city. As for Saul, he had removed the spirit mediums and the professional foretellers of events from the land.

[4] Subsequently the Phi·lis′tines collected together and came and pitched camp in Shu′nem. So Saul collected all Israel together and they pitched camp in Gil·bo′a. [5] When Saul got to see the camp of the Phi·lis′tines he became afraid, and his heart began to tremble very much. [6] Although Saul would inquire of Jehovah, Jehovah never answered him, either by dreams or by the U′rim or by the prophets. [7] Finally Saul said to his servants: “Seek for me a woman who is a mistress of spirit mediumship, and I will go to her and consult her.” Then his servants said to him: “Look! There is a woman who is a mistress of spirit mediumship in En-dor.”

[8] So Saul disguised himself and clothed himself with other garments and went, he and two men with him; and they came to the woman by night. He now said: “Employ divination, please, for me by spirit mediumship and bring up for me the one whom I shall designate to you.” [9] However, the woman said to him: “Here you yourself well know what Saul did, how he cut off the spirit mediums and the professional foretellers of events from the land. Why, then, are you acting like a trapper against my soul to have me put to death?” [10] Immediately Saul swore to her by Jehovah, saying: “As Jehovah is alive, guilt for error will not befall you in this matter!” [11] At this the woman said: “Whom shall I bring up for you?” To this he said: “Bring up Samuel for me.” [12] When the woman saw “Samuel” she began crying out at the top of her voice; and the woman went on to say to Saul: “Why did you trick me, when you yourself are Saul?” [13] But the king said to her: “Do not be afraid, but what did you see?” And the woman went on to say to Saul: “A god I saw coming up out of the earth.” [14] At once he said to her: “What is his form?” to which she said: “It is an old man coming up, and he has himself covered with a sleeveless coat.” At that Saul recognized that it was “Samuel,” and he proceeded to bow low with his face to the earth and to prostrate himself.

[15] And “Samuel” began to say to Saul: “Why have you disturbed me by having me brought up?” To this Saul said: “I am in very sore straits, as the Phi·lis′tines are fighting against me, and God himself has departed from me and has answered me no more, either by means of the prophets or by dreams; so that I am calling you to let me know what I shall do.”

[16] And “Samuel” went on to say: “Why, then, do you inquire of me, when Jehovah himself has departed from you and proves to be your adversary? [17] And Jehovah will do for himself just as he spoke by means of me, and Jehovah will rip the kingdom away from your hand and give it to your fellowman David. [18] As you did not obey the voice of Jehovah, and you did not execute his burning anger against Am′a·lek, that is why this is the thing that Jehovah will certainly do to you this day. [19] And Jehovah will also give Israel with you into the hand of the Phi·lis′tines, and

[20] At that Saul quickly fell down his full length to the earth and became very much afraid because of “Samuel’s” words. Also, there happened to be no power in him, because he had not eaten food the whole day and the whole night. [21] The woman now came to Saul and saw that he had been greatly disturbed. So she said to him: “Here your maidservant has obeyed your voice, and I proceeded to put my soul in my palm and obey the words that you spoke to me. [22] And now, please, you, in turn, obey the voice of your maidservant; and let me set before you a piece of bread, and you eat, that power may come to be in you, because you will go on your way.” [23] But he refused and said: “I am not going to eat.” However, his servants and also the woman kept urging him. Finally he obeyed their voice and rose up from the earth and sat on the couch. [24] Now the woman had a fattened calf in the house. So she quickly sacrificed it and took flour and kneaded dough and baked it into unfermented cakes. [25] Then she served them to Saul and his servants, and they ate. After that they rose up and went away during that night.

29 And the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to collect all their camps together at A′phek, while the Israelites were camping by the spring that was in Jez′re·el. [2] And the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines were passing along by hundreds and by thousands, and David and his men were passing along afterward with A′chish. [3] And the princes of the Phi·lis′tines began to say: “What do these Hebrews mean?” At this A′chish said to the princes of the Phi·lis′tines: “Is this not David the servant of Saul king of Israel, who happened to be with me here a year or two, and I have not found in him a single thing from the day of his deserting to me until this day?” [4] And the princes of the Phi·lis′tines became indignant at him; and the princes of the Phi·lis′tines went on to say to him: “Make the man go back, and let him go back to his place where you assigned him; and do not let him go down with us into the battle, that he may not become a resister of us in the battle. And with what should this person put himself in favor with his lord? Is it not with the heads of those our men? [5] Is this not David to whom they kept responding in the dances, saying, ‘Saul has struck down his thousands, and David his tens of thousands’?”

[6] Consequently A′chish called David and said to him: “As Jehovah is living, you are upright, and your going out and your coming in with me in the camp has been good in my eyes; for I have not found badness in you from the day of your coming to me until this day. But in the eyes of the axis lords you are not good. [7] And now return and go in peace, that you may not do anything bad in the eyes of the axis lords of the Phi·lis′tines.” [8] However, David said to A′chish: “Why, what have I done, and what have you found in your servant from the day that I came to be before you until this day, that I should not come and actually fight against the enemies of my lord the king?” [9] At this A′chish answered and said to David: “I well know that you have been good in my own eyes, like an angel of God. Only it is the princes of the Phi·lis′tines that have said, ‘Let him not go up with us into the battle.’ [10] And now rise up early in the morning with the servants of your lord that came with you; and YOU men must rise up early in the morning when it has become light for YOU. Then go.”

[11] Accordingly David rose up early, he and his men, to go in the morning and return to the land of the Phi·lis′tines; and the Phi·lis′tines themselves went up to Jez′re·el.

30 And it came about while David and his men were coming to Zikʹlag on the third day, that the A·malʹek·ites made a raid on the south and on Zikʹlag; and they proceeded to strike Zikʹlag and burn it with fire, [2] and to carry off captive the women and all that were in it, from the smallest to the greatest. They did not put anyone to death, but they drove them along and went on their way. [3] When David came with his men to the city, why, there it was burned with fire, and, as for their wives and their sons and their daughters, they had been carried off captive. [4] And David and the people that were with him began to raise their voice and weep, until there was in them no power to weep anymore. [5] And David’s two wives had been carried off captive, A·hinʹo·am the Jezʹre·el·i·tess and Abʹi·gail the wife of Naʹbal the Carʹmel·ite. [6] And it became very distressing to David, because the people said to stone him; for the soul of all the people had become bitter, each one because of his sons and his daughters. So David took to strengthening himself by Jehovah his God.

[7] Hence David said to A·biʹa·thar the priest, the son of A·himʹe·lech: “Do, please, bring the ephʹod near to me.” And A·biʹa·thar came bringing the ephʹod near to David. [8] And David began to inquire of Jehovah, saying: “Shall I chase after this marauder band? Shall I overtake them?” At this he said to him: “Go in chase, for you will without fail overtake them, and you will without fail make a deliverance.”

[9] Promptly David got on his way, he and the six hundred men that were with him, and they went on as far as the torrent valley of Beʹsor, and the men that were to be left behind stood still. [10] And David kept up the chase, he and four hundred men, but two hundred men that were too tired to pass over the torrent valley of Be′sor stood still.

11 And they got to find a man, an Egyptian, in the field. So they took him to David and gave him bread that he might eat and gave him water to drink. 12 Further, they gave him a slice of a cake of pressed figs and two cakes of raisins. Then he ate and his spirit returned to him; for he had not eaten bread or drunk water for three days and three nights. 13 David now said to him: “To whom do you belong, and where are you from?” to which he said: “I am an Egyptian attendant, a slave of an A·mal′ek·ite man, but my master left me because I took sick three days ago. 14 We were the ones that made a raid on the south of the Cher′e·thites and upon that which belongs to Judah and upon the south of Ca′leb; and Zik′lag we burned with fire.” 15 At this David said to him: “Will you lead me down to this marauder band?” To this he said: “Do swear to me by God that you will not put me to death, and that you will not surrender me into the hand of my master, and I shall lead you down to this marauder band.”

16 Accordingly he led him down, and there they were spread disorderly over the surface of all the land eating and drinking and having a feast on account of all the great spoil that they had taken from the land of the Phi·lis′tines and the land of Judah. 17 And David went striking them down from the morning darkness until the evening, that he might devote them to destruction; and not a man of them escaped except four hundred young men that rode upon camels and took to flight. 18 And David got to deliver all that the A·mal′ek·ites had taken, and his two wives David delivered. 19 And there was nothing of theirs lacking, from the smallest to the greatest and to sons and daughters and from the spoil, even to anything that they had taken for themselves.

Everything David recovered. [20] So David took all the flocks and the herds, which they drove before that other livestock. Then they said: “This is David’s spoil.”

[21] At length David came to the two hundred men who had been too tired to go along with David, and whom they had kept sitting by the torrent valley of Be′sor; and they came out to meet David and to meet the people that were with him. When David came near to the people he began to ask them how they were. [22] However, every bad and good-for-nothing man out of the men that had gone with David answered and kept saying: “For the reason that they did not go with us, we will give them none of the spoil that we delivered, except to each one his wife and his sons, and let them lead them and go.” [23] But David said: “YOU must not do that way, my brothers, with what Jehovah has given us, in that he safeguarded us and gave the marauder band that came against us into our hand. [24] And who will listen to YOU as to this saying? For as the share of the one that went down into the battle even so will the share of the one that sat by the baggage be. All will have a share together.” [25] And it came about from that day forward that he kept it set as a regulation and a judicial decision for Israel down to this day.

[26] When David came to Zik′lag he proceeded to send some of the spoil to the older men of Judah, his friends, saying: “Here is a gift blessing for YOU from the spoil of Jehovah’s enemies.” [27] To those who were in Beth′el, and to those in Ra′moth of the south, and to those in Jat′tir, [28] and to those in A·ro′er, and to those in Siph′moth, and to those in Esh·te·mo′a, [29] and to those in Ra′cal, and to those in the cities of the Je·rah′me·el·ites, and to those in the cities of the Ken′ites, [30] and to those in Hor′mah, and to those in Bor′a·shan, and to those in A′thach, [31] and to those in

He′bron, and to all the places where David had walked about, he and his men.

31 Now the Phi·lis′tines were fighting against Israel, and the men of Israel took to flight from before the Phi·lis′tines, and they kept falling down slain in Mount Gil·bo′a. [2] And the Phi·lis′tines kept in close range of Saul and his sons; and the Phi·lis′tines at last struck down Jon′a·than and A·bin′a·dab and Mal′chi-shu′a, Saul’s sons. [3] And the fighting became heavy against Saul, and the shooters, the bowmen, finally found him, and he got severely wounded by the shooters. [4] Then Saul said to his armor-bearer: “Draw your sword and run me through with it, that these uncircumcised men may not come and certainly run me through and deal abusively with me.” And his armor-bearer was unwilling, because he was very much afraid. So Saul took the sword and fell upon it. [5] When his armor-bearer saw that Saul had died, then he too fell upon his own sword and died with him. [6] Thus Saul and his three sons and his armor-bearer, even all his men, came to die together on that day. [7] When the men of Israel that were in the region of the low plain and that were in the region of the Jordan saw that the men of Israel had fled, and that Saul and his sons had died, then they began to leave the cities and flee, after which the Phi·lis′tines came on in and took up dwelling in them.

[8] And it came about the next day that, when the Phi·lis′tines came to strip the slain, they got to find Saul and his three sons fallen upon Mount Gil·bo′a. [9] And they proceeded to cut off his head and strip off his armor and send into the land of the Phi·lis′tines all around to inform the houses of their idols and the people. [10] Finally they put his armor in the house of the Ash′to·reth images, and his corpse they fastened on the wall of Beth-shan. [11] And as regards him, the inhabitants of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad got to hear what the Phi·lis′tines had done to Saul. [12] Immediately all the valiant men rose up and went all night long and took the corpse of Saul and the corpses of his sons off the wall of Beth-shan and came to Jaʹbesh and burned them there. [13] Then they took their bones and buried them under the tamarisk tree in Jaʹbesh, and they went fasting for seven days.

THE SECOND OF SAMUEL

OR, ACCORDING TO THE GREEK SEPTUAGINT, THE SECOND OF KINGS

1 And it came about after Saul’s death, and when David himself had returned from striking down the A·mal′ek·ites, that David continued to dwell at Zik′lag two days. [2] And it came about on the third day that, look! a man was coming from the camp, from Saul, with his garments ripped apart and dirt upon his head; and it came about that when he came to David, he at once fell down to the earth and prostrated himself.

[3] And David proceeded to say to him: “Where do you come from?” at which he said to him: “From the camp of Israel I have escaped.” [4] And David went on to say to him: “How did the matter turn out? Tell me, please.” To this he said: “The people have fled from the battle and also many of the people have fallen so that they died, and even Saul and Jon′a·than his son have died.” [5] Then David said to the young man that was telling him: “How do you really know that Saul has died and also Jon′a·than his son?” [6] At this the young man that was telling him said: “I unexpectedly chanced to be on Mount Gil·bo′a, and there was Saul supporting himself upon his spear; and, look! the charioteers and the mounted men had caught up with him. [7] When he turned back and saw me, then he called me, and I said, ‘Here I am!’ [8] And he went on to say to me, ‘Who are you?’ at which I said to him, ‘I am an A·mal′ek·ite.’ [9] Then he said, ‘Stand, please, over me and definitely put me to death, for the cramp has seized me, because all my soul is yet in me.’ [10] So I stood over him and definitely put him to death, for I knew that he could not live after he had fallen. Then I took the diadem that was upon his head and the bracelet that was upon his arm, that I might bring them to my lord here.”

11 At this David took hold of his garments and ripped them apart, and so did all the men also that were with him. 12 And they began to wail and weep and fast until the evening over Saul and over Jon′a·than his son and over the people of Jehovah and over the house of Israel, because they had fallen by the sword.

13 David now said to the young man that was telling him: “Where are you from?” to which he said: “I am the son of an alien resident, an A·mal′ek·ite.” 14 Then David said to him: “How was it that you did not fear to thrust your hand out to bring the anointed of Jehovah to ruin?” 15 With that David called one of the young men and said: “Go near. Smite him.” Accordingly he struck him down so that he died. 16 David then said to him: “The bloodguilt for you be upon your own head, because your own mouth has testified against you, saying, ‘I myself definitely put the anointed of Jehovah to death.’”

17 And David proceeded to chant this dirge over Saul and Jon′a·than his son 18 and to say that the sons of Judah should be taught “The Bow.” Look! It is written in the book of Ja′shar:

19 “The beauty, O Israel, is slain upon your high places.
How have the mighty men fallen!

20 Do not, YOU people, tell it in Gath;
Do not announce it in the streets of Ash′ke·lon,
For fear that the daughters of the Phi·lis′tines may rejoice,
For fear that the daughters of the uncircumcised men may exult.

21 YOU mountains of Gil·bo′a, let no dew, let no rain be upon YOU, nor let there be fields of holy contributions;
Because there the shield of mighty ones was befouled,
The shield of Saul, so that there was none anointed with oil.

22 From the blood of the slain, from the fat of mighty ones,
The bow of Jon′a·than did not turn back,
And the sword of Saul would not return without success.

23 Saul and Jon′a·than, the lovable ones and the pleasant ones during their life,
And in their death they were not separated.
Swifter than the eagles they were,
Mightier than the lions they were.

24 YOU daughters of Israel, weep over Saul,
Who clothed YOU in scarlet with finery,
Who put ornaments of gold upon YOUR clothing.

25 How have the mighty ones fallen in the midst of the battle!
Jon′a·than slain upon your high places!

26 I am distressed over you, my brother Jon′a·than,
Very pleasant you were to me.
More wonderful was your love to me than the love from women.

27 How have the mighty ones fallen
And the weapons of war perished!”

2 And it came about afterward that David proceeded to inquire of Jehovah, saying: “Shall I go up into one of the cities of Judah?” At this Jehovah said to him: “Go up.” And David went on to say: “Where shall I go up?” Then he said: “To He′bron.” [2] Accordingly David went up there and also his two wives, A·hin′o·am the Jez′re·el·i·tess and Ab′i·gail the wife of Na′bal the Car′mel·ite. [3] And the men that were with him David brought up, each with his household; and they took up dwelling in the cities of He′bron territory. [4] Then the men of Judah came and anointed David there as king over the house of Judah.

And they came telling David, saying: “The men of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad were the ones that buried Saul.” [5] Hence David sent messengers to the men of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad and said to them: “Blessed may YOU be of Jehovah, because YOU exercised this loving-kindness toward YOUR lord, toward Saul, in that YOU buried him. [6] And now may Jehovah exercise toward YOU loving-kindness and trustworthiness, and I too shall exercise to YOU this goodness because YOU have done this thing. [7] And now let YOUR hands strengthen themselves and prove yourselves valiant men, because YOUR lord Saul is dead, and it is even I whom the house of Judah have anointed as king over them.”

[8] As for Ab′ner the son of Ner the chief of the army that had belonged to Saul, he took Ish-bo′sheth, Saul’s son, and proceeded to bring him across to Ma·ha·na′im, [9] and to make him king over Gil′e·ad and the Ash′ur·ites and Jez′re·el and over E′phra·im and Benjamin and over Israel, all of it. [10] Forty years old Ish-bo′sheth, Saul’s son, was when he became king over Israel, and for two years he ruled as king. Only the house of Judah proved themselves followers of David. 11 And the number of the days that David proved to be king in He′bron over the house of Judah came to be seven years and six months.

12 In time Ab′ner the son of Ner and the servants of Ish-bo′sheth, Saul’s son, went out from Ma·ha·na′im to Gib′e·on. 13 As for Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah and the servants of David, they went out and later met together by the pool of Gib′e·on; and they kept sitting, these on this side of the pool and those on that side of the pool. 14 Finally Ab′ner said to Jo′ab: “Let the young men rise up, please, and let them put on a combat before us.” To this Jo′ab said: “Let them rise up.” 15 So they rose up and went across by number, twelve belonging to Benjamin and Ish-bo′sheth, Saul’s son, and twelve from the servants of David. 16 And they began grabbing hold of one another by the head, with the sword of each one in the side of the other, so that they fell down together. And that place came to be called Hel′kath-haz·zu′rim, which is in Gib′e·on.

17 And the fighting came to be extremely hard on that day, and Ab′ner and the men of Israel were finally defeated before the servants of David. 18 Now the three sons of Ze·ru′iah happened to be there, Jo′ab and A·bish′ai and As′a·hel; and As′a·hel was swift on his feet, like one of the gazelles that are in the open field. 19 And As′a·hel went chasing after Ab′ner, and he did not incline to go to the right or to the left from following Ab′ner. 20 At length Ab′ner looked behind him and said: “Is this you, As′a·hel?” to which he said: “It is I.” 21 Then Ab′ner said to him: “Veer to your right or to your left and seize one of the young men as yours and take what you strip off him as yours.” And As′a·hel did not want to turn aside from following him. 22 So Ab′ner said to As′a·hel yet again: “Turn your course aside from following me. Why should I strike you down to the earth? How, then, could I raise my face to Jo′ab your brother?” [23] But he kept refusing to turn aside; and Ab′ner got to strike him in the abdomen with the butt end of the spear, so that the spear came out from his back; and he fell there and died where he was. And it came about that all those who came to the place where As′a·hel fell and then died would stand still.

[24] And Jo′ab and A·bish′ai went chasing after Ab′ner. As the sun was setting they themselves came to the hill of Am′mah, which is in front of Gi′ah on the way to the wilderness of Gib′e·on. [25] And the sons of Benjamin went collecting together behind Ab′ner, and they came to be one company and kept standing upon the top of one hill. [26] And Ab′ner began to call to Jo′ab and say: “Is the sword going to eat endlessly? Do you not really know that bitterness is what will develop at last? How long, then, will it be before you say to the people to turn back from following their brothers?” [27] At that Jo′ab said: “As the true God is living, if you had not spoken, then only by the morning would the people have been withdrawn, each one from following his brother.” [28] Jo′ab now blew the horn, and all the people came to a halt and did not continue chasing after Israel anymore, and they did not renew the fighting anymore.

[29] As for Ab′ner and his men, they marched through the Ar′a·bah all that night and went crossing the Jordan and marching through the entire gully and finally came to Ma·ha·na′im. [30] As for Jo′ab, he turned back from following Ab′ner and began to collect all the people together. And there were missing from the servants of David nineteen men and As′a·hel. [31] And the servants of David, for their part, had struck down those of Benjamin and of the men of Ab′ner—there were three hundred and sixty men that died. [32] And they proceeded to carry As′a·hel and bury him in the burial place of his father, which is at Beth′le·hem. Then Jo′ab and his men went marching on all night long, and it became daylight for them at Heʹbron.

3 And the war between the house of Saul and the house of David came to be long drawn out; and David kept getting stronger, and the house of Saul kept declining more and more.

[2] Meantime, sons were born to David in He′bron, and his firstborn came to be Am′non by A·hin′o·am the Jez′re·el·i·tess. [3] And his second was Chil′e·ab by Ab′i·gail the wife of Na′bal the Car′mel·ite, and the third was Ab′sa·lom the son of Ma′a·cah the daughter of Tal′mai the king of Gesh′ur. [4] And the fourth was Ad·o·ni′jah the son of Hag′gith, and the fifth was Sheph·a·ti′ah the son of A·bi′tal. [5] And the sixth was Ith′re·am by Eg′lah, David’s wife. These were the ones born to David in He′bron.

[6] And it came about that while the war between the house of Saul and the house of David kept up, Ab′ner himself was continually strengthening his position in the house of Saul. [7]
Now Saul had had a concubine whose name was Riz′pah, the daughter of A′iah. Later Ish-bo′sheth said to Ab′ner: “Why was it that you had relations with the concubine of my father?” [8] And Ab′ner got very angry at the words of Ish-bo′sheth and went on to say: “Am I a dog’s head that belongs to Judah? Today I keep exercising loving-kindness toward the house of Saul your father, to his brothers and his personal friends, and I have not let you find yourself in the hand of David; and yet you call me to account for an error concerning a woman today. [9] So may God do to Ab′ner and so may he add to it, if, just as Jehovah swore to David, that is not the way that I shall do to him, [10] so as to transfer the kingdom from the house of Saul and to establish the throne of David over Israel and over Judah from Dan to Be′er-she′ba.” [11] And he was not able to say one word more in reply to Ab′ner because of being afraid of him.

[12] Accordingly Ab′ner sent messengers to David on the spot, saying: “To whom does the land belong?” adding: “Do conclude your covenant with me, and, look! my hand will be with you to turn to your side the whole of Israel.” [13] To this he said: “Good! I myself shall conclude a covenant with you. Only one thing there is that I am asking of you, saying, ‘You may not see my face except first you bring Mi′chal, Saul’s daughter, when you come to see my face.’” [14] Further, David sent messengers to Ish-bo′sheth, Saul’s son, saying: “Do give over my wife Mi′chal, whom I engaged to myself for a hundred foreskins of the Phi·lis′tines.” [15] So Ish-bo′sheth sent and took her from her husband, Pal′ti·el the son of La′ish. [16] But her husband kept walking with her, weeping as he walked after her as far as Ba·hu′rim. Then Ab′ner said to him: “Go, return!” At that he returned.

[17] Meanwhile there had come to be communication by Ab′ner with the older men of Israel, saying: “Both yesterday and previously YOU proved yourselves seeking David as king over YOU. [18] And now act, for Jehovah himself said to David, ‘By the hand of David my servant I shall save my people Israel from the hand of the Phi·lis′tines and from the hand of all their enemies.’” [19] Then Ab′ner also spoke in the ears of Benjamin, after which Ab′ner also went to speak in the ears of David at He′bron all that was good in the eyes of Israel and in the eyes of the whole house of Benjamin.

[20] When Ab′ner came to David at He′bron, and with him twenty men, David proceeded to make a feast for Ab′ner and for the men that were with him. [21] Then Ab′ner said to David: “Let me rise up and go and collect all Israel together to my lord the king, that they may conclude a covenant with you, and you will certainly become king over all that your soul craves.” So David sent Ab′ner off, and he got on his way in peace.

[22] And here David’s servants and Jo′ab were coming from a raid, and the spoil that they brought with them was abundant. As for Ab′ner, he was not with David in He′bron, for he had sent him off, and he was on his way in peace. [23] And Jo′ab and all the army that was with him came in, and they now reported to Jo′ab, saying: “Ab′ner the son of Ner came to the king, and he proceeded to send him off, and he is on his way in peace.” [24] So Jo′ab went in to the king and said: “What have you done? Look! Ab′ner has come to you. Why was it that you sent him off so that he successfully went away? [25] You well know Ab′ner the son of Ner, that it was to fool you that he came and to get to know your going out and your coming in and to get to know everything that you are doing.”

[26] With that Jo′ab went out from David and sent messengers after Ab′ner, and they then had him return from the cistern of Si′rah; and David himself did not know of it. [27] When Ab′ner returned to He′bron, Jo′ab now led him aside inside the gate to speak with him quietly. However, there he struck him in the abdomen, so that he died because of the blood of As′a·hel his brother. [28] When David heard of it afterward, he at once said: “I and my kingdom, from the standpoint of Jehovah, are innocent for time indefinite of bloodguilt for Ab′ner the son of Ner. [29] May it whirl back upon the head of Jo′ab and upon the entire house of his father, and let there not be cut off from Jo′ab’s house a man with a running discharge or a leper or a man taking hold of the twirling spindle or one falling by the sword or one in need of bread! ” [30] As for Jo′ab and A·bish′ai his brother, they killed Ab′ner over the fact that he had put As′a·hel their brother to death at Gib′e·on in the battle.

[31] Then David said to Joʹab and all the people that were with him: “Rip YOUR garments apart and tie on sackcloth and wail before Abʹner.” Even King David was walking behind the couch. [32] And they had the burial of Abʹner in Heʹbron; and the king began to raise his voice and weep at Abʹner’s burial place, and all the people gave way to weeping. [33] And the king went on to chant over Abʹner and say:

“As with the death of a senseless person should Abʹner die?
[34] Your hands had not been bound ones,
And your feet had not been put into fetters of copper.
As one falling before the sons of unrighteousness you have fallen.”

At that all the people wept over him again.

[35] Later all the people came to give David bread for consolation while it was yet that day, but David swore, saying: “So may God do to me and so may he add to it, if before the sun sets I shall taste bread or anything at all! ” [36] And all the people themselves took notice, and it was good in their eyes. Like everything that the king did, it was in the eyes of all the people good. [37] And all the people and all Israel got to know on that day that it had not originated with the king to have Abʹner the son of Ner put to death. [38] And the king went on to say to his servants: “Do YOU not know that it is a prince and a great man that has fallen this day in Israel? [39] And I today am weak although anointed as king, and these men, the sons of Ze·ruʹiah, are too severe for me. May Jehovah repay the doer of what is bad according to his own badness.”

4 When the son of Saul heard that Ab′ner had died in He′bron, then his hands became feeble and all the Israelites themselves were disturbed. [2] And there were two men, chiefs of the marauding bands, that happened to belong to the son of Saul, the name of the one being Ba′a·nah and the name of the other being Re′chab, the sons of Rim′mon the Be·er′oth·ite, of the sons of Benjamin; for Be·er′oth, too, used to be counted as part of Benjamin. [3] And the Be·er′oth·ites went running away to Git′ta·im, and they came to be alien residents there down to this day.

[4] Now Jon′a·than, the son of Saul, had a son lame in the feet. Five years old he happened to be when the report about Saul and Jon′a·than came from Jez′re·el; and his nurse began to carry him and flee, but it came about that as she was running in panic to flee, he then had a fall and was lamed. And his name was Me·phib′o·sheth.

[5] And the sons of Rim′mon the Be·er′oth·ite, Re′chab and Ba′a·nah, proceeded to go and come to the house of Ish-bo′sheth about when the day had heated up, as he was taking his noonday siesta. [6] And here they came into the middle of the house as men fetching wheat, and then struck him in the abdomen; and Re′chab and Ba′a·nah his brother themselves escaped detection. [7] When they went into the house, he was lying upon his couch in his inner bedroom, and then they struck him so that they put him to death, after which they removed his head and took his head and walked on the road to the Ar′a·bah all night long. [8] Eventually they came bringing the head of Ish-bo′sheth to David at He′bron and said to the king: “Here is the head of Ish-bo′sheth the son of Saul your enemy who looked for your soul; but Jehovah gives to my lord the king revenge this day upon Saul and his offspring.”

9 However, David answered Reʹchab and Baʹa·nah his brother, the sons of Rimʹmon the Be·erʹoth·ite, and said to them: “As Jehovah who redeemed my soul out of all distress is living, 10 when there was one reporting to me, saying, ‘Here Saul is dead,’ and he himself in his own eyes became like a bringer of good news, I, however, took hold of him and killed him in Zikʹlag when it was due for me to give him the messenger’s fee; 11 how much more so when wicked men themselves have killed a righteous man in his own house upon his bed? And now should I not require his blood from YOUR hands, and must I not clear YOU out of the earth?” 12 With that David commanded the young men and they killed them and cut off their hands and their feet and hanged them by the pool in Heʹbron; and the head of Ish-boʹsheth they took and then buried in the burial place of Abʹner in Heʹbron.

5 In time all the tribes of Israel came to David at Heʹbron and said: “Look! We ourselves are your bone and your flesh. [2] Both yesterday and previously while Saul happened to be king over us, you yourself became the one leading Israel out and bringing it in. And Jehovah proceeded to say to you, ‘You yourself will shepherd my people Israel, and you yourself will become leader over Israel.’” [3] So all the older men of Israel came to the king at Heʹbron, and King David concluded a covenant with them in Heʹbron before Jehovah; after which they anointed David as king over Israel.

[4] Thirty years old was David when he became king. For forty years he ruled as king. [5] In Heʹbron he ruled as king over Judah for seven years and six months; and in Jerusalem he ruled as king for thirty-three years over all Israel and Judah. [6] Consequently the king and his men went to Jerusalem against the Jebʹu·sites inhabiting the land, and they began to say to David: “You will not come in here, but the blind and the lame ones will certainly turn you away,” they thinking: “David will not come in here.” [7] Just the same, David proceeded to capture the stronghold of Zion, that is, the City of David. [8] So David said on that day: “Anyone striking the Jebʹu·sites, let him, by means of the water tunnel, make contact with both the lame and the blind, hateful to the soul of David! ” That is why they say: “The blind one and the lame one will not come into the house.” [9] And David took up dwelling in the stronghold, and it came to be called the City of David; and David began to build all around from the Mound and inward. [10] Thus David went on getting greater and greater, and Jehovah the God of armies was with him.

[11] And Hiʹram the king of Tyre proceeded to send messengers to David, and also cedar trees and workers in wood and workers in stone for walls, and they began to build a house for David. [12] And David came to know that Jehovah had firmly established him as king over Israel and that he had exalted his kingdom for the sake of his people Israel.

[13] Meantime, David went on taking more concubines and wives out of Jerusalem after he came from Heʹbron; and more sons and daughters continued to be born to David. [14] And these are the names of those born to him in Jerusalem: Sham·muʹa and Shoʹbab and Nathan and Solʹo·mon, [15] and Ibʹhar and E·liʹshu·a and Neʹpheg and Ja·phiʹa, [16] and E·lishʹa·ma and E·liʹa·da and E·liphʹe·let.

[17] And the Phi·lisʹtines got to hear that they had anointed David as king over Israel. At that all the Phi·lisʹtines came up to look for David. When David heard of it, then he went down to the place hard to approach. [18] And the Phi·lisʹtines, for their part, came in and kept tramping about in the low plain of Rephʹa·im. [19] And David began to inquire of Jehovah, saying: “Shall I go up against the Phi·lisʹtines? Will you give them into my hand?” At this Jehovah said to David: “Go up, for I shall without fail give the Phi·lisʹtines into your hands.” [20] So David came to Baʹal-pe·raʹzim, and David got to strike them down there. At that he said: “Jehovah has broken through my enemies ahead of me, like a gap made by waters.” That is why he called the name of that place Baʹal-pe·raʹzim. [21] Consequently they left their idols there, and so David and his men took them away.

[22] Later the Phi·lisʹtines came up once again and tramped about in the low plain of Rephʹa·im. [23] At that David inquired of Jehovah, but he said: “You must not go up. Go around to the rear of them, and you must come against them in front of the baʹca bushes. [24] And let it occur that, when you hear the sound of a marching in the tops of the baʹca bushes, at that time you act with decision, because at that time

Jehovah will have gone out ahead of you to strike down the camp of the Phi·lis′tines.” [25] Accordingly David did that way, just as Jehovah had commanded him, and he went striking down the Phi·lis′tines from Ge′ba to as far as Ge′zer.

6 And David proceeded again to gather all the choice men in Israel, thirty thousand. [2] Then David and all the people that were with him rose up and went to Baʹal·e-juʹdah to bring up from there the ark of the true God, where a name is called on, the name of Jehovah of armies, sitting on the cherubs. [3] However, they had the ark of the true God ride upon a new wagon, that they might carry it from the house of A·binʹa·dab, which was on the hill; and Uzʹzah and A·hiʹo, the sons of A·binʹa·dab, were leading the new wagon.

[4] So they carried it from A·binʹa·dab’s house, which was on the hill—with the ark of the true God; and A·hiʹo was walking ahead of the Ark. [5] And David and all the house of Israel were celebrating before Jehovah with all sorts of instruments of juniper wood and with harps and with stringed instruments and with tambourines and with sistrums and with cymbals. [6] And they came gradually as far as the threshing floor of Naʹcon, and Uzʹzah now thrust his hand out to the ark of the true God and grabbed hold of it, for the cattle nearly caused an upset. [7] At that Jehovah’s anger blazed against Uzʹzah and the true God struck him down there for the irreverent act, so that he died there close by the ark of the true God. [8] And David became angry over the fact that Jehovah had broken through in a rupture against Uzʹzah, and that place came to be called Peʹrez-uzʹzah down to this day. [9] And David became afraid of Jehovah on that day and began to say: “How will the ark of Jehovah come to me?” [10] And David was not willing to remove the ark of Jehovah to him at the City of David. So David had it carried aside to the house of Oʹbed-eʹdom the Gitʹtite.

[11] And the ark of Jehovah kept dwelling at the house of Oʹbed-eʹdom the Gitʹtite three months; and Jehovah kept blessing O′bed-e′dom and all his household. 12 Finally the report was made to King David, saying: “Jehovah has blessed the house of O′bed-e′dom and all that is his on account of the ark of the true God.” At that David proceeded to go and bring the ark of the true God out of the house of O′bed-e′dom up to the City of David with rejoicing. 13 And it came about that when the carriers of the ark of Jehovah had marched six steps, he immediately sacrificed a bull and a fatling.

14 And David was dancing around before Jehovah with all his power, all the while David being girded with an eph′od of linen. 15 And David and all the house of Israel were bringing up the ark of Jehovah with joyful shouting and sound of horn. 16 And it occurred that when the ark of Jehovah came into the City of David, Mi′chal, Saul’s daughter, herself looked down through the window and got to see King David leaping and dancing around before Jehovah; and she began to despise him in her heart. 17 So they brought the ark of Jehovah in and set it in its place inside the tent that David had pitched for it; after which David offered up burnt sacrifices and communion sacrifices before Jehovah. 18 When David was finished with offering up the burnt sacrifices and the communion sacrifices, he then blessed the people in the name of Jehovah of armies. 19 Further, he apportioned to all the people, to the whole crowd of Israel, man as well as woman, to each one a ring-shaped cake of bread and a date cake and a raisin cake, after which all the people went each to his own house.

20 David now returned to bless his own household, and Mi′chal, Saul’s daughter, came on out to meet David and then said: “How glorious the king of Israel made himself today when he uncovered himself today to the eyes of the slave girls of his servants, just as one of the empty-headed men uncovers himself outright! ” [21] At this David said to Mi′chal: “It was before Jehovah, who chose me rather than your father and all his household to put me in command as leader over Jehovah’s people Israel, and I will celebrate before Jehovah. [22] And I will make myself even more lightly esteemed than this, and I will become low in my eyes; and with the slave girls whom you mentioned, with them I am determined to glorify myself.” [23] So, as regards Mi′chal, Saul’s daughter, she came to have no child down to the day of her death.

7 And it came about that, when the king dwelt in his own house and Jehovah himself had given him rest from all his enemies round about, [2] then the king said to Nathan the prophet: “See, now, I am dwelling in a house of cedars while the ark of the true God is dwelling in the middle of tent cloths.” [3] Upon that Nathan said to the king: “Everything that is in your heart—go, do, because Jehovah is with you.”

[4] And it came about on that night that the word of Jehovah came to Nathan, saying: [5] “Go, and you must say to my servant David, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Should you yourself build me a house for me to dwell in? [6] For I have not dwelt in a house from the day of my bringing the sons of Israel up out of Egypt to this day, but I was continually walking about in a tent and in a tabernacle. [7] During all the time that I have walked about among all the sons of Israel, was there a word that I spoke with one of the tribes of Israel that I commanded to shepherd my people Israel, saying, ‘Why did YOU people not build me a house of cedars?’”’ [8] And now this is what you will say to my servant David, ‘This is what Jehovah of armies has said: “I myself took you from the pasture ground from following the flock to become a leader over my people Israel. [9] And I shall prove to be with you wherever you do go, and I will cut off all your enemies from before you; and I shall certainly make for you a great name, like the name of the great ones that are in the earth. [10] And I shall certainly appoint a place for my people Israel and plant them, and they will indeed reside where they are, and no more will they be disturbed; and the sons of unrighteousness will not afflict them again as they did at the first, [11] even from the day that I put judges in command over my people Israel; and I will give you rest from all your enemies.

"'"And Jehovah has told you that a house is what Jehovah will make for you. [12] When your days come to the full, and you must lie down with your forefathers, then I shall certainly raise up your seed after you, which will come out of your inward parts; and I shall indeed firmly establish his kingdom. [13] He is the one that will build a house for my name, and I shall certainly establish the throne of his kingdom firmly to time indefinite. [14] I myself shall become his father, and he himself will become my son. When he does wrong, I will also reprove him with the rod of men and with the strokes of the sons of Adam. [15] As for my loving-kindness, it will not depart from him the way I removed it from Saul, whom I removed on account of you. [16] And your house and your kingdom will certainly be steadfast to time indefinite before you; your very throne will become one firmly established to time indefinite."'"

[17] According to all these words and according to all this vision was the way that Nathan spoke to David.

[18] At that King David came in and sat down before Jehovah and said: "Who am I, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah? And what is my house that you have brought me thus far? [19] As though this should even be something little in your eyes, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah, yet you also speak respecting the house of your servant down to a distant future time; and this is the law given for mankind, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah. [20] And what more can David add and speak to you, when you yourself know your servant well, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah? [21] For the sake of your word and in agreement with your own heart you have done all these great things to cause your servant to know them. [22] That is why you are indeed great, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah; for there is no other like you, and there is no God except you among all of whom we have heard with our ears. [23] And what one nation in the earth is like your people Israel, whom God went to redeem to himself as a people and to assign himself a name and to do for them great and fear-inspiring things—to drive out because of your people, whom you have redeemed to yourself from Egypt, the nations and their gods? [24] And you proceeded to establish your people Israel firmly for yourself as your people to time indefinite; and you yourself, O Jehovah, have become their God.

[25] “And now, Jehovah God, the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house carry out to time indefinite and do just as you have spoken. [26] And let your own name become great to time indefinite, saying, ‘Jehovah of armies is God over Israel,’ and let the very house of your servant David become firmly established before you. [27] For you, Jehovah of armies the God of Israel, have made a revelation to your servant’s ear, saying, ‘A house I shall build for you.’ That is why your servant has taken heart to pray to you with this prayer. [28] And now, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah, you are the true God; and as for your words, let them prove to be truth, since you promise to your servant this goodness. [29] And now take it upon yourself and bless the house of your servant for it to continue to time indefinite before you; for you yourself, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah, have promised, and due to your blessing let the house of your servant be blessed to time indefinite.”

8 And it came about afterward that David proceeded to strike the Phi·lis′tines down and subdue them, and David got to take Meth′eg-am′mah out of the hand of the Phi·lis′tines.

[2] And he went on to strike down the Mo′ab·ites and measure them with a line, making them lie down on the earth, that he might measure two lines to put them to death, and a full line to preserve them alive; and the Mo′ab·ites came to be David’s servants to carry tribute.

[3] And David went on to strike down Had·ad·e′zer the son of Re′hob the king of Zo′bah as he was going his way to put his control back again at the river Eu·phra′tes. [4] And David got to capture from him one thousand seven hundred horsemen and twenty thousand men on foot; and David proceeded to hamstring all the chariot horses, but he let a hundred chariot horses of them remain.

[5] When Syria of Damascus came to help Had·ad·e′zer the king of Zo′bah, David then struck down among the Syrians twenty-two thousand men. [6] Further, David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus; and the Syrians came to be David’s servants to carry tribute. And Jehovah continued to save David wherever he went. [7] Moreover, David took the circular shields of gold that happened to be on the servants of Had·ad·e′zer and brought them to Jerusalem. [8] And from Be′tah and Be·ro′thai, cities of Had·ad·e′zer, King David took copper in very great quantity.

[9] Now To′i the king of Ha′math got to hear that David had struck down all the military force of Had·ad·e′zer. [10] So To′i sent Jo′ram his son to King David to ask him about his welfare and congratulate him over the fact that he had fought against Had·ad·e′zer so that he struck him down (for Had·ad·e′zer had become trained in warfare against To′i); and in his hand there proved to be articles of silver and articles of gold and articles of copper. 11 These also King David sanctified to Jehovah, together with the silver and the gold that he had sanctified from all the nations that he had subdued, 12 from Syria and from Mo′ab and from the sons of Am′mon and from the Phi·lis′tines and from Am′a·lek and from the spoil of Had·ad·e′zer the son of Re′hob the king of Zo′bah. 13 And David proceeded to make a name when he came back from striking down the E′dom·ites in the Valley of Salt—eighteen thousand. 14 And he kept garrisons placed in E′dom. In all E′dom he placed garrisons, and all the E′dom·ites came to be servants of David; and Jehovah kept saving David wherever he went.

15 And David kept reigning over all Israel; and David was continually rendering judicial decision and righteousness for all his people. 16 And Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah was over the army; and Je·hosh′a·phat the son of A·hi′lud was recorder. 17 And Za′dok the son of A·hi′tub and A·him′e·lech the son of A·bi′a·thar were priests, and Se·rai′ah was secretary. 18 And Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da was over the Cher′e·thites and the Pel′e·thites. As for the sons of David, they became priests.

9 And David proceeded to say: “Is there yet anyone that is left over of the house of Saul, that I may exercise loving-kindness toward him for the sake of Jon′a·than?” [2] Now the house of Saul had a servant whose name was Zi′ba. So they called him to David, and the king then said to him: “Are you Zi′ba?” to which he said: “I am your servant.” [3] And the king went on to say: “Is there nobody of the house of Saul anymore, that I may exercise toward him the loving-kindness of God?” At this Zi′ba said to the king: “There is yet a son of Jon′a·than, lame in the feet.” [4] Then the king said to him: “Where is he?” So Zi′ba said to the king: “Look! He is in the house of Ma′chir the son of Am′mi·el at Lo-de′bar.”

[5] Immediately King David sent and took him from the house of Ma′chir the son of Am′mi·el at Lo-de′bar. [6] When Me·phib′o·sheth the son of Jon′a·than the son of Saul came in to David, he at once fell upon his face and prostrated himself. Then David said: “Me·phib′o·sheth!” to which he said: “Here is your servant.” [7] And David went on to say to him: “Do not be afraid, for without fail I shall exercise loving-kindness toward you for the sake of Jon′a·than your father; and I must return to you all the field of Saul your grandfather, and you yourself will eat bread at my table constantly.”

[8] At that he prostrated himself and said: “What is your servant, that you have turned your face to the dead dog such as I am?” [9] The king now called Zi′ba, Saul’s attendant, and said to him: “Everything that had come to belong to Saul and to all his house I do give to the grandson of your master. [10] And you must cultivate the ground for him, you and your sons and your servants, and you must do the gathering in, and it must serve as food for those belonging to the grandson of your master, and they must eat; but Me·phib′o·sheth himself, the grandson of your master, will eat bread at my table constantly.”

Now Zi′ba had fifteen sons and twenty servants. [11] So Zi′ba said to the king: “In accord with all that my lord the king commands for his servant is the way that your servant will do; but Me·phib′o·sheth is eating at my table like one of the sons of the king.” [12] Now Me·phib′o·sheth had a young son whose name was Mi′ca, and all those dwelling in the house of Zi′ba were servants to Me·phib′o·sheth. [13] And Me·phib′o·sheth himself was dwelling in Jerusalem, for it was constantly at the table of the king that he was eating; and he was lame in both of his feet.

10 And it came about afterward that the king of the sons of Am′mon came to die, and Ha′nun his son began to reign instead of him. [2] At this David said: “I shall exercise loving-kindness toward Ha′nun the son of Na′hash, just as his father exercised loving-kindness toward me.” Accordingly David sent by means of his servants to comfort him over his father, and the servants of David proceeded to come into the land of the sons of Am′mon. [3] However, the princes of the sons of Am′mon said to Ha′nun their lord: “Is David honoring your father in your eyes in that he has sent to you comforters? Is it not for the sake of searching through the city and to spy it out and to overthrow it that David has sent his servants to you?” [4] So Ha′nun took the servants of David and shaved off half their beards and cut their garments in half to their buttocks and sent them away. [5] Later people reported it to David, and he at once sent to meet them, because the men had come to feeling very humiliated; and the king went on to say: “Dwell in Jer′i·cho until YOUR beards grow abundantly. Then YOU must return.”

[6] In time the sons of Am′mon saw that they had become foul-smelling to David, and the sons of Am′mon proceeded to send and hire Syrians of Beth-re′hob and Syrians of Zo′bah, twenty thousand men on foot, and the king of Ma′a·cah, a thousand men, and Ish′tob, twelve thousand men. [7] When David heard of it, then he sent Jo′ab and all the army and the mighty men. [8] And the sons of Am′mon began to go out and draw up in battle formation at the entrance of the gate, also the Syrians of Zo′bah and of Re′hob, and Ish′tob and Ma′a·cah by themselves in the open field.

[9] When Jo′ab saw that the battle charges had come to be against him from the front and from the rear, he at once chose some of all the choice men in Israel and drew them up in formation to meet the Syrians. [10] And the rest of the people he gave into the hand of A·bish′ai his brother, that he might draw them up in formation to meet the sons of Am′mon. [11] And he went on to say: “If the Syrians become too strong for me, then you must serve as a salvation for me; but if the sons of Am′mon themselves become too strong for you, I must also come to save you. [12] Be strong, that we may show ourselves courageous in behalf of our people and in behalf of the cities of our God; and as for Jehovah, he will do what is good in his own eyes.”

[13] Then Jo′ab and the people that were with him advanced to the battle against the Syrians, and they went fleeing from before him. [14] As for the sons of Am′mon, they saw that the Syrians had fled, and they took to flight from before A·bish′ai and hence came into the city. After that Jo′ab returned from the sons of Am′mon and came to Jerusalem.

[15] When the Syrians saw that they had been defeated before Israel, they proceeded to gather themselves together. [16] So Had·ad·e′zer sent and brought out the Syrians that were in the region of the River; and then they came to He′lam, with Sho′bach the chief of the army of Had·ad·e′zer before them.

[17] When the report was made to David, he immediately gathered all Israel and crossed the Jordan and came to He′lam. The Syrians now drew up in formation to meet David and began to fight against him. [18] And the Syrians took to flight from before Israel; and David got to kill of the Syrians seven hundred charioteers and forty thousand horsemen, and Sho′bach the chief of their army he struck down so that he died there. [19] When all the kings, the servants of Had·ad·e′zer, saw that they had been defeated before Israel, they promptly made peace with Israel and began to serve them; and the Syrians were afraid to try saving the sons of Am′mon anymore.

11 And it came about at the return of the year, at the time that kings sally forth, that David proceeded to send Jo′ab and his servants with him and all Israel, that they might bring the sons of Am′mon to ruin and lay siege to Rab′bah, while David was dwelling in Jerusalem.

[2] And it came about at the time of evening that David proceeded to rise from his bed and walk about on the rooftop of the king’s house; and from the rooftop he caught sight of a woman bathing herself, and the woman was very good in appearance. [3] Then David sent and inquired about the woman and someone said: “Is this not Bath-she′ba the daughter of E·li′am the wife of U·ri′ah the Hit′tite?” [4] After that David sent messengers that he might take her. So she came in to him and he lay down with her, while she was sanctifying herself from her uncleanness. Later she returned to her house.

[5] And the woman became pregnant. Consequently she sent and told David and said: “I am pregnant.” [6] At this David sent to Jo′ab, saying: “Send to me U·ri′ah the Hit′tite.” So Jo′ab sent U·ri′ah to David. [7] When U·ri′ah came to him, David began to ask how Jo′ab was getting along and how the people were getting along and how the war was getting along. [8] Finally David said to U·ri′ah: “Go down to your house and bathe your feet.” Accordingly U·ri′ah went out from the king’s house, and the king’s courtesy gift went out following him. [9] However, U·ri′ah lay down at the entrance of the king’s house with all the other servants of his lord, and he did not go down to his own house. [10] So they told David, saying: “U·ri′ah did not go down to his own house.” Upon that David said to U·ri′ah: “It is from a journey that you have come in, is it not? Why have you not gone down to your own house?” [11] At this U·riʹah said to David: “The Ark and Israel and Judah are dwelling in booths, and my lord Joʹab and the servants of my lord are camping on the face of the field, and I—shall I go into my own house to eat and drink and to lie down with my wife? As you are living and as your soul is living, I shall not do this thing! ”

[12] Then David said to U·riʹah: “Dwell here also today, and tomorrow I shall send you away.” Therefore U·riʹah kept dwelling in Jerusalem on that day and the day following. [13] Further, David called him that he might eat before him and drink. So he got him drunk. Nevertheless, he went out in the evening to lie down on his bed with the servants of his lord, and to his own house he did not go down. [14] And it came about in the morning that David proceeded to write a letter to Joʹab and send it by the hand of U·riʹah. [15] So he wrote in the letter, saying: “PUT U·riʹah in front of the heaviest battle charges, and YOU men must retreat from behind him, and he must be struck down and die.”

[16] And it came about that while Joʹab was keeping guard over the city he kept U·riʹah put in the place where he knew that there were valiant men. [17] When the men of the city came on out and went fighting against Joʹab, then some of the people, the servants of David, fell and U·riʹah the Hitʹtite also died. [18] Joʹab now sent that he might report to David all the matters of the war. [19] And he went on to command the messenger, saying: “As soon as you finish speaking to the king about all the matters of the war, [20] then it must occur that if the rage of the king comes up and he does say to you, ‘Why did YOU have to go so near to the city to fight? Did YOU men not know that they would shoot from on top of the wall? [21] Who was it that struck down A·bimʹe·lech the son of Je·rubʹbe·sheth? Was it not a woman that pitched an upper millstone upon him from on top of the wall so that he died at

The′bez? Why did YOU men have to go so close to the wall?’ you must also say, ‘Your servant U·ri′ah the Hit′tite died too.’”

22 So the messenger went and came and told David all about which Jo′ab had sent him. 23 And the messenger went on to say to David: “The men proved superior to us, so that they came out against us into the field; but we kept pressing them right up to the entrance of the gate. 24 And the shooters kept shooting at your servants from on top of the wall, so that some of the servants of the king died; and your servant U·ri′ah the Hit′tite also died.” 25 At that David said to the messenger: “This is what you will say to Jo′ab, ‘Do not let this matter appear bad in your eyes, for the sword eats up one as well as another. Intensify your battle against the city and throw it down.’ And encourage him.”

26 And the wife of U·ri′ah got to hear that U·ri′ah her husband had died, and she began to wail over her owner. 27 When the mourning period was past, David immediately sent and took her home to his house, and she came to be his wife. In time she bore to him a son, but the thing that David had done appeared bad in the eyes of Jehovah.

12 And Jehovah proceeded to send Nathan to David. So he came in to him and said to him: “There were two men that happened to be in one city, the one rich and the other of little means. [2] The rich man happened to have very many sheep and cattle; [3] but the man of little means had nothing but one female lamb, a small one, that he had bought. And he was preserving it alive, and it was growing up with him and with his sons, all together. From his morsel it would eat, and from his cup it would drink, and in his bosom it would lie, and it came to be as a daughter to him. [4] After a while a visitor came to the rich man, but he spared taking some from his own sheep and his own cattle to get such ready for the traveler that had come in to him. So he took the female lamb of the man of little means and got it ready for the man that had come in to him.”

[5] At this David’s anger grew very hot against the man, so that he said to Nathan: “As Jehovah is living, the man doing this deserves to die! [6] And for the female lamb he should make compensation with four, as a consequence of the fact that he has done this thing and because he did not have compassion.”

[7] Then Nathan said to David: “You yourself are the man! This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘I myself anointed you as king over Israel, and I myself delivered you out of the hand of Saul. [8] And I was willing to give you the house of your lord and the wives of your lord into your bosom, and to give you the house of Israel and of Judah. And if it were not enough, I was willing to add to you things like these as well as other things. [9] Why did you despise the word of Jehovah by doing what is bad in his eyes? U·riʹah the Hitʹtite you struck down with the sword, and his wife you took as your wife, and him you killed by the sword of the sons of Am′mon. 10 And now a sword will not depart from your own house to time indefinite, as a consequence of the fact that you despised me so that you took the wife of U·ri′ah the Hit′tite to become your wife.’ 11 This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Here I am raising up against you calamity out of your own house; and I will take your wives under your own eyes and give them to your fellowman, and he will certainly lie down with your wives under the eyes of this sun. 12 Whereas you yourself acted in secret, I, for my part, shall do this thing in front of all Israel and in front of the sun.’”

13 David now said to Nathan: “I have sinned against Jehovah.” At this Nathan said to David: “Jehovah, in turn, does let your sin pass by. You will not die. 14 Notwithstanding this, because you have unquestionably treated Jehovah with disrespect by this thing, also the son himself, just born to you, will positively die.”

And Jehovah proceeded to deal a blow to the child that the wife of U·ri′ah had borne to David so that it took sick. 16 And David began to seek the true God in behalf of the boy, and David went on a strict fast and came in and spent the night and lay down on the earth. 17 So the older men of his house stood up over him to raise him up from the earth, but he did not consent and did not take bread in company with them. 18 And it came about on the seventh day that the child gradually died. And the servants of David were afraid to tell him that the child had died; for they said: “Look! While the child continued alive we did speak to him, and he did not listen to our voice; so how can we say to him, ‘The child has died’? Then he will certainly do something bad.”

[19] When David got to see that his servants were whispering together, David began to discern that the child had died. So David said to his servants: “Has the child died?” To this they said: “He has died.” [20] Then David got up from the earth and washed and rubbed himself with oil and changed his mantles and came to the house of Jehovah and prostrated himself; after which he came into his own house and asked, and they promptly set bread before him and he began to eat. [21] Consequently his servants said to him: “What does this thing mean that you have done? For the sake of the child while alive you fasted and kept weeping; and just as soon as the child had died you got up and began to eat bread.” [22] To this he said: “While the child was yet alive I did fast and I kept weeping, because I said to myself, ‘Who is there knowing whether Jehovah may show me favor, and the child will certainly live?’ [23] Now that he has died, why is it I am fasting? Am I able to bring him back again? I am going to him, but, as for him, he will not return to me.”

[24] And David began to comfort Bath-sheʹba his wife. Further, he came in to her and lay down with her. In time she bore a son, and his name came to be called Solʹo·mon. And Jehovah himself did love him. [25] So he sent by means of Nathan the prophet and called his name Jed·i·diʹah, for the sake of Jehovah.

[26] And Joʹab continued to fight against Rabʹbah of the sons of Amʹmon and got to capture the city of the kingdom. [27] So Joʹab sent messengers to David and said: “I have fought against Rabʹbah. I have also captured the city of waters. [28] And now gather the rest of the people and encamp against the city, and capture it; that I myself may not be the one to capture the city, and my name should not have to be called upon it.”

[29] Accordingly David gathered all the people and went to Rab′bah and fought against it and captured it. [30] And he got to take the crown of Mal′cam off its head, the weight of which was a talent of gold, along with precious stones; and it came to be upon David’s head. And the spoil of the city that he brought out was very much. [31] And the people that were in it, he brought out that he might put them at sawing stones and at sharp instruments of iron and at axes of iron, and he made them serve at brickmaking. And that was the way he proceeded to do to all the cities of the sons of Am′mon. Finally David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

13 And it came about after such things that Ab′sa·lom the son of David had a beautiful sister whose name was Ta′mar, and Am′non the son of David fell in love with her. [2] And it was so distressing to Am′non that he felt sick on account of Ta′mar his sister, because she was a virgin, and it was difficult in the eyes of Am′non to do anything at all to her. [3] Now Am′non had a companion whose name was Je·hon′a·dab, the son of Shim′e·ah, David’s brother; and Je·hon′a·dab was a very wise man. [4] So he said to him: “Why are you, the son of the king, so downcast as this, morning by morning? Will you not tell me?” At this Am′non said to him: “With Ta′mar the sister of Ab′sa·lom my brother I am in love.” [5] Upon that Je·hon′a·dab said to him: “Lie down on your bed and play sick. And your father will certainly come to see you, and you must say to him, ‘Please, let Ta′mar my sister come in and give me bread as a patient, and she will have to make the bread of consolation under my eyes in order that I may see it, and I shall have to eat from her hand.’”

[6] Accordingly Am′non lay down and played sick, and so the king came in to see him. Then Am′non said to the king: “Please, let Ta′mar my sister come in and bake two heart-shaped cakes under my eyes, that I may take bread as a patient from her hand.” [7] At that David sent to Ta′mar at the house, saying: “Go, please, to the house of Am′non your brother and make the bread of consolation for him.” [8] So Ta′mar went to the house of Am′non her brother while he was lying down. Then she took the flour dough and kneaded it and made the cakes under his eyes and cooked the heart-shaped cakes. [9] Finally she took the deep pan and poured it out before him, but Am′non refused to eat and said: “HAVE everybody go out from me! ” Then everybody went out from him.

[10] Am′non now said to Ta′mar: “Bring the bread of consolation to the interior room, that I may take it as a patient from your hand.” So Ta′mar took the heart-shaped cakes that she had made and brought them in to Am′non her brother in the interior room. [11] When she came near to him for him to eat, he at once grabbed hold of her and said to her: “Come, lie down with me, my sister.” [12] However, she said to him: “No, my brother! Do not humiliate me; for it is not usual to do that way in Israel. Do not do this disgraceful folly. [13] And I—where shall I cause my reproach to go? And you—you will become like one of the senseless men in Israel. And now speak, please, to the king; for he will not withhold me from you.” [14] And he did not consent to listen to her voice, but used strength superior to hers and humiliated her and lay down with her. [15] And Am′non began hating her with a very great hatred, because the hatred with which he hated her was greater than the love with which he had loved her, so that Am′non said to her: “Get up, go away!” [16] At this she said to him: “No, my brother; for this badness in sending me away is greater than the other that you have done with me!” And he did not consent to listen to her.

[17] With that he called his attendant who waited upon him and said: “Send this person away from me, please, to the outside, and lock the door behind her.” [18] (Now upon her there was a striped robe; for that was the way the daughters of the king, the virgins, used to dress with sleeveless coats.) So his waiter proceeded to lead her clear outside, and he locked the door behind her. [19] Then Ta′mar placed ashes upon her head, and the striped robe that was upon her she ripped apart; and she kept her hands put upon her head and went walking away, crying out as she walked.

[20] At this Ab′sa·lom her brother said to her: “Was it Am′non your brother that happened to be with you? And now, my sister, keep silent. He is your brother. Do not set your heart on this matter.” And Ta′mar began to dwell, while being kept from association with others, at the house of Ab′sa·lom her brother. [21] And King David himself heard about all these things, and he became very angry. [22] And Ab′sa·lom did not speak with Am′non either bad or good; for Ab′sa·lom hated Am′non over the fact that he had humiliated Ta′mar his sister.

[23] And it turned out after two full years that Ab′sa·lom came to have sheepshearers at Ba′al-ha′zor, which is close by E′phra·im; and Ab′sa·lom proceeded to invite all the sons of the king. [24] So Ab′sa·lom came in to the king and said: “Here, now, your servant has sheepshearers! Let the king go, please, and also his servants, with your servant.” [25] But the king said to Ab′sa·lom: “No, my son! Do not let all of us go, please, that we may not be a burden upon you.” Although he kept urging him, he did not consent to go but blessed him. [26] Finally Ab′sa·lom said: “If not you, let Am′non my brother go with us, please.” At this the king said to him: “Why should he go with you?” [27] And Ab′sa·lom began to urge him, so that he sent Am′non and all the sons of the king with him.

[28] Then Ab′sa·lom commanded his attendants, saying: “See, please, that just as soon as Am′non’s heart is in a merry mood with wine, and I shall certainly say to YOU, ‘Strike down Am′non!’ YOU must then put him to death. Do not be afraid. Have not I myself commanded YOU? Be strong and prove yourselves to be valiant men.” [29] And Ab′sa·lom’s attendants proceeded to do to Am′non just as Ab′sa·lom had commanded; and all the other sons of the king began to rise up and mount each one his mule and take to flight. [30] And it came about that, while they were on the way, the report itself came to David, saying: “Ab′sa·lom has struck down all the sons of the king, and not one of them has been left over.” [31] At this the king got up and ripped his clothes apart and lay upon the earth, and all his servants were standing by with their garments ripped apart.

[32] However, Je·hon′a·dab the son of Shim′e·ah, David’s brother, answered and said: “Do not let my lord think that it is all the young men the sons of the king that they have put to death, for it is Am′non alone that has died, because at the order of Ab′sa·lom it has occurred as something appointed from the day that he humiliated Ta′mar his sister. [33] And now do not let my lord the king take to his heart the word, saying, ‘All the king’s sons themselves have died’; but it is Am′non alone that has died.”

[34] Meantime, Ab′sa·lom went running away. Later the young man, the watchman, raised his eyes and saw, and, look! there were many people coming from the road behind him by the mountainside. [35] At this Je·hon′a·dab said to the king: “Look! The king’s sons themselves have come in. In accord with the word of your servant so it has taken place.” [36] And it came about that, as soon as he finished speaking, here the king’s sons themselves came in, and they began to raise their voice and weep; and even the king and all his servants wept with a very great weeping. [37] As for Ab′sa·lom, he ran off that he might go to Tal′mai the son of Am·mi′hud the king of Gesh′ur. And David continued to mourn over his son all the days. [38] As for Ab′sa·lom, he ran off and made his way to Gesh′ur; and he came to be there three years.

[39] Finally the soul of David the king longed to go out to Ab′sa·lom; for he had comforted himself concerning Am′non, because he was dead.

14 Now Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah came to know that the king’s heart was toward Ab′sa·lom. [2] Accordingly Jo′ab sent to Te·ko′a and took from there a wise woman and said to her: “Go in mourning, please, and dress yourself, please, with garments of mourning, and do not rub yourself with oil; and you must become like a woman here who has been mourning many days over someone dead. [3] And you must come in to the king and speak to him a word like this.” With that Jo′ab put the words in her mouth.

[4] And the Te·ko′ite woman proceeded to come in to the king and fall upon her face to the earth and prostrate herself and say: “Do save, O king!” [5] At this the king said to her: “What is the matter with you?” To this she said: “For a fact I am a widowed woman, now that my husband is dead. [6] And your maidservant had two sons, and the two of them began to struggle with each other in the field while there was no deliverer to part them. Finally the one struck the other down and put him to death. [7] And here all the family have risen up against your maidservant and keep saying, ‘Give over the striker of his brother, that we may put him to death for the soul of his brother whom he killed, and let us even annihilate the heir!’ And they will certainly extinguish the glow of my charcoals that has remained, so as to assign to my husband neither a name nor a remnant on the surface of the ground.”

[8] Then the king said to the woman: “Go to your house, and I myself shall give command regarding you.” [9] At this the Te·ko′ite woman said to the king: “Upon me, O my lord the king, be the error, and also upon the house of my father, while the king and his throne are innocent.” [10] And the king went on to say: “If there is anyone speaking to you, you must also bring him to me, and he will never hurt you again.” [11] But she said: “Let the king, please, remember Jehovah your God, that the avenger of blood may not be continually causing ruin and that they may not annihilate my son.” To this he said: “As Jehovah is living, not a single hair of your son will fall to the earth.” [12] The woman now said: “Let your maidservant, please, speak a word to my lord the king.” So he said: “Speak!”

[13] And the woman went on to say: “Why, then, have you reasoned like this against the people of God? As the king is speaking this word he is like one that is guilty, in that the king does not bring back his own banished one. [14] For we shall die without fail and be like waters that are being poured down to the earth, which cannot be gathered. But God will not take away a soul, and he has thought out reasons why the one banished should not be banished from him. [15] And now that I have come in to speak this word to the king my lord, it is because the people made me afraid. So your maidservant said, ‘Let me speak, please, to the king. Perhaps the king will act on the word of his slave girl. [16] Because the king proceeded to listen so as to deliver his slave girl out of the palm of the man seeking to annihilate me and my lone son from the inheritance given by God,’ [17] then your maidservant said, ‘Let the word of my lord the king serve, please, to give rest.’ For just like an angel of the true God is the way my lord the king is, to distinguish what is good and what is bad, and may Jehovah your God himself prove to be with you.”

[18] The king now answered and said to the woman: “Do not, please, hide from me a thing about which I am asking you.” To this the woman said: “Let my lord the king speak, please.” [19] And the king went on to say: “Is the hand of Joʹab with you in all this?” Then the woman answered and said: “As your soul is living, O my lord the king, no man can go to the right or go to the left from all that my lord the king has spoken; for it was your servant Joʹab that commanded me, and he it was that put in the mouth of your maidservant all these words. 20 For the sake of altering the face of the matter your servant Joʹab has done this thing, but my lord is wise as with the wisdom of the angel of the true God so as to know all that is in the earth.”

21 Subsequently the king said to Joʹab: “Here, now, I shall certainly do this thing. So go, bring the young man Abʹsa·lom back.” 22 At this Joʹab fell upon his face to the earth and prostrated himself and blessed the king; and Joʹab went on to say: “Today your servant does know that I have found favor in your eyes, O my lord the king, because the king has acted on the word of his servant.” 23 With that Joʹab rose up and went to Geshʹur and brought Abʹsa·lom to Jerusalem. 24 However, the king said: “Let him turn toward his own house, but my face he may not see.” So Abʹsa·lom turned toward his own house, and the face of the king he did not see.

25 Now compared with Abʹsa·lom there proved to be no man so beautiful in all Israel as to be praised so much. From the sole of his foot to the crown of his head there proved to be no defect in him. 26 And when he shaved his head—and it occurred at the end of every year that he would shave it; because it was so heavy upon him, he shaved it—he weighed the hair of his head, two hundred shekels by the royal stone weight. 27 And there came to be born to Abʹsa·lom three sons and one daughter whose name was Taʹmar. She proved to be a woman most beautiful in appearance.

28 And Abʹsa·lom continued dwelling in Jerusalem for two full years, and the face of the king he did not see. 29 So Abʹsa·lom sent for Joʹab to send him to the king, and he did not consent to come to him. Then he sent again, a second time, and he did not consent to come. [30] Finally he said to his servants: “See Jo′ab’s tract of land beside mine, and there he has barley. Go and set it ablaze with fire.” Accordingly the servants of Ab′sa·lom set the tract of land ablaze with fire. [31] At this Jo′ab rose up and came to Ab′sa·lom at the house and said to him: “Why did your servants set the tract of land that is mine ablaze with fire?” [32] So Ab′sa·lom said to Jo′ab: “Look! I sent to you, saying, ‘Come here and let me send you to the king, saying: “Why have I come from Gesh′ur? It would be better for me that I should still be there. And now let me see the face of the king and, if there is any error in me, he must then put me to death.”’”

[33] Subsequently Jo′ab came in to the king and told him. Then he called Ab′sa·lom, who now came in to the king and prostrated himself to him, falling upon his face to the earth before the king; after which the king kissed Ab′sa·lom.

15 And it came about following such things that Ab′sa·lom proceeded to have a chariot made for himself, with horses and with fifty men running before him. [2] And Ab′sa·lom rose up early and stood at the side of the road to the gate. And it came about, when any man happened to have a legal case to come to the king for judgment, then Ab′sa·lom would call him and say: “From what city are you?” and he would say: “From one of the tribes of Israel your servant is.” [3] And Ab′sa·lom would say to him: “See, your matters are good and straight; but there is no one from the king giving you a hearing.” [4] And Ab′sa·lom would go on to say: “O that I were appointed judge in the land, that to me every man might come that happens to have a legal case or judgment! Then I should certainly do justice to him.”

[5] It also occurred that, when a man drew near to bow down to him, he thrust his hand out and grabbed hold of him and kissed him. [6] And Ab′sa·lom kept doing a thing like this to all Israelites that would come in for judgment to the king; and Ab′sa·lom kept stealing the hearts of the men of Israel.

[7] And it came about at the end of forty years that Ab′sa·lom proceeded to say to the king: “Let me go, please, and pay in He′bron my vow that I solemnly made to Jehovah. [8] For your servant made a solemn vow when I was dwelling in Gesh′ur in Syria, saying, ‘If Jehovah will without fail bring me back to Jerusalem, I must also render service to Jehovah.’” [9] So the king said to him: “Go in peace.” With that he rose up and went to He′bron.

[10] Ab′sa·lom now sent spies through all the tribes of Israel, saying: “As soon as YOU hear the sound of the horn, YOU must also say, ‘Ab′sa·lom has become king in He′bron!’” [11]

Now there had gone with Ab′sa·lom two hundred men from Jerusalem, being called and going unsuspectingly, and they did not know a single thing. 12 Further, when he offered the sacrifices, Ab′sa·lom sent for A·hith′o·phel the Gi′lon·ite, David’s counselor, from his city Gi′loh. And the conspiracy kept getting stronger, and the people were continually growing in number with Ab′sa·lom.

13 In time an informer came to David, saying: “The heart of the men of Israel has come to be behind Ab′sa·lom.” 14 At once David said to all his servants that were with him in Jerusalem: “Get up, and let us run away; for there will prove to be no escaping for us because of Ab′sa·lom! Go hurriedly, for fear he may hurry up and actually catch up with us and bring down upon us what is bad and strike the city with the edge of the sword!” 15 At this the king’s servants said to the king: “According to all that my lord the king may choose, here are your servants.” 16 So the king went out with all his household at his feet, and the king left ten women, concubines, to take care of the house. 17 And the king continued on his way out with all the people at his feet; and they came to a stop at Beth-mer′hak.

18 And all his servants were crossing at his side; and all the Cher′e·thites and all the Pel′e·thites and all the Git′tites, six hundred men that had followed him from Gath, were crossing before the king’s face. 19 Then the king said to It′tai the Git′tite: “Why should you yourself also go with us? Go back and dwell with the king; for you are a foreigner and, besides, you are an exile from your place. 20 Yesterday was when you came and today shall I make you wander with us, to go when I am going wherever I am going? Go back and take your brothers back with you, and may Jehovah exercise toward you loving-kindness and trustworthiness!” 21 But It′tai answered the king and said: “As Jehovah is living and as my lord the king is living, in the place where my lord the king may come to be, whether for death or for life, there is where your servant will come to be! ” [22] At that David said to It′tai: “Go and cross over.” So It′tai the Git′tite crossed over, and also all his men and all the little ones that were with him.

[23] And all the people of the land were weeping with a loud voice, and all the people were crossing over, and the king was standing by the torrent valley of Kid′ron, and all the people were crossing over upon the open road to the wilderness. [24] And here also there were Za′dok and with him all the Levites carrying the ark of the covenant of the true God; and they proceeded to set the ark of the true God down by A·bi′a·thar until all the people completed crossing over from the city. [25] But the king said to Za′dok: “Take the ark of the true God back to the city. If I shall find favor in the eyes of Jehovah, he will also certainly bring me back and let me see it and its abiding place. [26] But if this is what he should say, ‘I have found no delight in you,’ here I am, let him do to me just as it is good in his eyes.” [27] And the king went on to say to Za′dok the priest: “You are a seer, are you? Do return to the city in peace, and also A·him′a·az your son and Jon′a·than the son of A·bi′a·thar, the two sons of YOU men, with YOU. [28] See, I am lingering by the fords of the wilderness until word comes from YOU men to inform me.” [29] Accordingly Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar took the ark of the true God back to Jerusalem, and they continued to dwell there.

[30] And David was going up by the ascent of the Olives, weeping as he went up, with his head covered; and he was walking barefoot, and all the people that were with him covered each one his head, and they went up weeping as they went up. [31] And to David the report was made, saying: “A·hith′o·phel himself is among those conspiring with Ab′sa·lom.” At this David said: “Turn, please, the counsel of A·hith′o·phel into foolishness, O Jehovah!”

[32] And it came about that when David himself came to the summit where people used to bow down to God, here to meet him was Hu′shai the Ar′chite, with his robe ripped apart and dirt upon his head. [33] However, David said to him: “If you actually went across with me, you would then certainly become a load upon me. [34] But if you return to the city and you actually say to Ab′sa·lom, ‘I am your servant, O King. I used to prove myself the servant of your father, even I at that time, but now even I am your servant,’ you must then frustrate the counsel of A·hith′o·phel for me. [35] Are not Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar the priests there with you? And it must occur that everything that you may hear from the house of the king you should tell to Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar the priests. [36] Look! There with them are their two sons, A·him′a·az belonging to Za′dok and Jon′a·than belonging to A·bi′a·thar; and by means of them YOU men must send to me everything that YOU may hear.” [37] So Hu′shai, David’s companion, came into the city. As for Ab′sa·lom, he proceeded to come into Jerusalem.

16 When David himself had crossed over a little beyond the summit, there was Ziʹba the attendant of Me·phibʹo·sheth to meet him with a couple of asses saddled and upon them two hundred loaves of bread and a hundred cakes of raisins and a hundred loads of summer fruit and a large jar of wine. [2] Then the king said to Ziʹba: “What do these things mean on your part?” To this Ziʹba said: “The asses are for the household of the king to ride, and the bread and the load of summer fruit are for the young men to eat, and the wine is for the one tired out in the wilderness to drink.” [3] The king now said: “And where is the son of your master?” At this Ziʹba said to the king: “There he is dwelling in Jerusalem; for he said, ‘Today the house of Israel will give back to me the royal rule of my father.’” [4] The king then said to Ziʹba: “Look! Yours is everything that belongs to Me·phibʹo·sheth.” Upon that Ziʹba said: “I do bow down. Let me find favor in your eyes, my lord the king.”

[5] And King David came as far as Ba·huʹrim, and, look! coming out from there was a man of the family of Saul’s house, and his name was Shimʹe·i, the son of Geʹra, coming out and calling down evil as he came out. [6] And he began throwing stones at David and at all the servants of King David; and all the people and all the mighty men were at his right and at his left. [7] And this is what Shimʹe·i said as he called down evil: “Get out, get out, you bloodguilty man and good-for-nothing man! [8] Jehovah has brought back upon you all the bloodguilt for the house of Saul in place of whom you have ruled as king; and Jehovah gives the kingship into the hand of Abʹsa·lom your son. And here you are in your calamity, because you are a bloodguilty man!”

9 Finally A·bish′ai the son of Ze·ru′iah said to the king: “Why should this dead dog call down evil upon my lord the king? Let me go over, please, and take off his head.” 10 But the king said: “What do I have to do with YOU men, YOU sons of Ze·ru′iah? Thus let him call down evil, because Jehovah himself has said to him, ‘Call down evil upon David!’ So who should say, ‘Why did you do that way?’” 11 And David went on to say to A·bish′ai and all his servants: “Here my own son, who has come forth out of my own inward parts, is looking for my soul; and how much more now a Ben′ja·min·ite! Let him alone that he may call down evil, for Jehovah has said so to him! 12 Perhaps Jehovah will see with his eye, and Jehovah will actually restore to me goodness instead of his malediction this day.” 13 With that David and his men kept going on in the road, while Shim′e·i was walking on the side of the mountain, walking abreast of him that he might call down evil; and he kept throwing stones while abreast of him, and he threw a lot of dust.

14 At length the king and all the people that were with him arrived tired. So they refreshed themselves there.

15 As for Ab′sa·lom and all the people, the men of Israel, they entered Jerusalem; and A·hith′o·phel was with him. 16 And it came about that, as soon as Hu′shai the Ar′chite, David’s companion, came in to Ab′sa·lom, Hu′shai proceeded to say to Ab′sa·lom: “Let the king live! Let the king live!” 17 At this Ab′sa·lom said to Hu′shai: “This is the loving-kindness of yours toward your companion, is it? Why did you not go with your companion?” 18 So Hu′shai said to Ab′sa·lom: “No; but the one whom Jehovah has chosen and also this people and all the men of Israel, his I shall become, and with him I shall dwell. 19 And for the second time I must say, Whom shall I myself serve? Is it not before his son? Just as I served before your father, so I shall prove to be before you.”

[20] Later Ab′sa·lom said to A·hith′o·phel: “YOU men, give counsel on YOUR part. What shall we do?” [21] Then A·hith′o·phel said to Ab′sa·lom: “Have relations with the concubines of your father, whom he left behind to take care of the house. And all Israel will certainly hear that you have made yourself foul-smelling to your father, and the hands of all those who are with you will certainly become strong.” [22] Accordingly they pitched a tent for Ab′sa·lom upon the roof, and Ab′sa·lom began to have relations with the concubines of his father under the eyes of all Israel.

[23] And the counsel of A·hith′o·phel, with which he counseled in those days, was just as when a man would inquire of the word of the true God. That was the way all the counsel of A·hith′o·phel was both to David and to Ab′sa·lom.

17 And A·hith′o·phel proceeded to say to Ab′sa·lom: “Let me choose, please, twelve thousand men and rise up and chase after David tonight. [2] And I shall come upon him when he is weary and feeble in both hands, and I shall certainly drive him into trembling; and all the people that are with him will have to flee, and I shall certainly strike down the king by himself. [3] And let me bring all the people back to you. Equivalent to the returning of all is the man whom you are seeking; and all the people will themselves come to be at peace.” [4] And the word was just right in the eyes of Ab′sa·lom and in the eyes of all the older men of Israel.

[5] However, Ab′sa·lom said: “Call, please, Hu′shai the Ar′chite also, and let us hear what is in his mouth, even his.” [6] So Hu′shai came in to Ab′sa·lom. Then Ab′sa·lom said to him: “According to this word is the way A·hith′o·phel spoke. Shall we act upon his word? If not, you yourself speak.” [7] At this Hu′shai said to Ab′sa·lom: “The counsel with which A·hith′o·phel has counseled is not good in this instance!”

[8] And Hu′shai went on to say: “You yourself well know your father and the men of his, that they are mighty, and they are bitter of soul, like a female bear that has lost her cubs in the field; and your father is a warrior, and he will not spend the night with the people. [9] Look! Now he is in hiding in one of the hollows or in one of the other places; and it will certainly occur that, just as soon as he falls upon them at the start, the one hearing of it will then be bound to hear and say, ‘A defeat has taken place among the people that are following Ab′sa·lom!’ [10] And even the valiant man whose heart is as the heart of the lion will himself surely soften in weakness; for all Israel is aware that your father is a mighty man and so, too, are the valiant men that are with him. [11] I myself do say in counsel: Let all Israel without fail be gathered to you, from Dan to Be′er-she′ba, as the sand particles that are by the sea for multitude, with your own person going into the fight. [12] And we must come against him in one of the places where he is certain to be found, and we ourselves will be upon him just as the dew falls upon the ground; and there will certainly not be left even a single one among him and all the men that are with him. [13] And if it is into some city that he will withdraw, all Israel must also carry ropes to that city, and we shall certainly drag it down to the torrent valley, until there shall not be found there even a pebble.”

[14] Then Ab′sa·lom and all the men of Israel said: “The counsel of Hu′shai the Ar′chite is better than the counsel of A·hith′o·phel!” And Jehovah himself had given command to frustrate the counsel of A·hith′o·phel although good, in order that Jehovah might bring calamity upon Ab′sa·lom.

[15] Later Hu′shai said to Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar the priests: “This and that was the way that A·hith′o·phel counseled Ab′sa·lom and the older men of Israel; and this and that was the way that I myself counseled. [16] And now send speedily and tell David, saying, ‘Do not lodge in the desert plains of the wilderness tonight, but you also ought to cross over without fail, for fear that the king and all the people that are with him may be swallowed up.’”

[17] As Jon′a·than and A·him′a·az were standing at En-ro′gel, a maidservant went off and told them. So they themselves went off, as they had to tell King David; for they were not able to appear entering the city. [18] However, a young man got to see them and told Ab′sa·lom. So the two of them went off speedily and came to the house of a man in Ba·hu′rim, who had a well in his courtyard; and they went down into it. [19] After that the woman took and spread out a screen over the face of the well and heaped up cracked grain upon it; and not a thing became known of it. [20] The servants of Ab′sa·lom now came to the woman at her house and said: “Where are A·him′a·az and Jon′a·than?” At this the woman said to them: “They passed on from here to the waters.” Then they kept on searching, and they did not find them and so returned to Jerusalem.

[21] And it came about after their going away that then they came up out of the well and went on and told King David and said to David: “YOU people, rise up and speedily pass over the waters; for this is the way that A·hith′o·phel counseled against YOU.” [22] Immediately David rose up and also all the people that were with him, and they kept crossing the Jordan until the morning became light, until not a one was lacking that had not passed over the Jordan.

[23] As for A·hith′o·phel, he saw that his counsel had not been acted upon, and he proceeded to saddle an ass and rise up and go off to his house at his own city. Then he gave commands to his household and strangled himself and thus died. So he was buried in the burial place of his forefathers.

[24] As for David, he came to Ma·ha·na′im, and Ab′sa·lom himself crossed the Jordan, he and all the men of Israel with him. [25] And A·ma′sa was the one whom Ab′sa·lom put in the place of Jo′ab over the army; and A·ma′sa was the son of a man whose name was Ith′ra the Israelite, who had relations with Ab′i·gail the daughter of Na′hash, the sister of Ze·ru′iah, Jo′ab’s mother. [26] And Israel and Ab′sa·lom took up camping in the land of Gil′e·ad.

[27] And it came about that, as soon as David came to Ma·ha·na′im, Sho′bi the son of Na′hash from Rab′bah of the sons of Am′mon, and Ma′chir the son of Am′mi·el from Lo-de′bar, and Bar·zil′lai the Gil′e·ad·ite from Ro·ge′lim [28] brought beds and basins and potter’s vessels, and wheat and barley and flour and roasted grain and broad beans and lentils and parched grain; 29 and honey and butter and sheep and curds of cattle they brought forward for David and the people that were with him to eat, for they said: “The people are hungry and tired and thirsty in the wilderness.”

18 And David proceeded to number the people that were with him and to place over them chiefs of thousands and chiefs of hundreds. [2] Further, David sent one third of the people under the hand of Jo′ab and one third under the hand of A·bish′ai the son of Ze·ru′iah, Jo′ab’s brother, and one third under the hand of It′tai the Git′tite. Then the king said to the people: “I myself also shall without fail go out with YOU.” [3] But the people said: “You must not go out, for if we should at all flee, they would not set heart upon us; and if half of us would die, they would not set heart upon us, because you are worth ten thousand of us; and now it would be better if you would be of service to us to give help from the city.” [4] So the king said to them: “Whatever seems good in YOUR eyes I shall do.” And the king kept standing at the side of the gate, and all the people themselves went out by hundreds and by thousands. [5] And the king went on to command Jo′ab and A·bish′ai and It′tai, saying: “Deal gently for my sake with the young man Ab′sa·lom.” And all the people themselves heard when the king commanded all the chiefs over the matter of Ab′sa·lom.

[6] And the people continued on their way out to the field to meet Israel; and the battle came to be in the forest of E′phra·im. [7] Finally the people of Israel were defeated there before the servants of David, and the slaughter there turned out to be great on that day, of twenty thousand men. [8] And the battle there got to be spread out over all the land that was in sight. Furthermore, the forest did more in eating up the people than the sword did in eating them up on that day.

[9] Eventually Ab′sa·lom found himself before the servants of David. And Ab′sa·lom was riding upon a mule, and the mule got to come under the network of boughs of a massive big tree, so that his head got caught fast in the big tree, and he was taken up between the heavens and the earth, as the mule itself that was under him passed along. [10] Then a certain man saw it and told Jo′ab and said: “Look! I have seen Ab′sa·lom hung in a big tree.” [11] At this Jo′ab said to the man who was telling him: “And here you saw it, and why did you not strike him down to the earth there? Then it would have been my obligation to give you ten pieces of silver and a belt.” [12] But the man said to Jo′ab: “And although I were weighing upon my palms a thousand pieces of silver, I should not thrust my hand out against the king’s son; for in our hearing it was that the king commanded you and A·bish′ai and It′tai, saying, ‘WATCH, whoever you are, over the young man, over Ab′sa·lom.’ [13] Otherwise I should have dealt treacherously against his soul and the whole matter itself would not be hidden from the king, and you yourself would take a position off on the side.” [14] To this Jo′ab said: “Let me not hold myself up this way before you!” With that he took three shafts in his palm and proceeded to drive them through the heart of Ab′sa·lom while he was yet alive in the heart of the big tree. [15] Then ten attendants carrying Jo′ab’s weapons came around and struck Ab′sa·lom, that they might put him to death. [16] Jo′ab now blew the horn, that the people might return from chasing after Israel; for Jo′ab had held back the people. [17] Finally they took Ab′sa·lom and pitched him in the forest into a big hollow and raised up over him a very big pile of stones. As for all Israel, they fled each man to his home.

[18] Now Ab′sa·lom himself, while he was alive, had taken and proceeded to raise up for himself a pillar, which is in the Low Plain of the King, for he said: “I have no son in order to keep my name in remembrance.” So he called the pillar by his own name, and it continues to be called Ab′sa·lom’s Monument down to this day.

[19] Now as regards A·himʹa·az the son of Zaʹdok, he said: “Let me run, please, and break the news to the king, because Jehovah has judged him to free him from the hand of his enemies.” [20] But Joʹab said to him: “You are not a man of news this day, and you must break the news on another day; but this day you must not break the news, for the very reason that the king’s own son has died.” [21] Then Joʹab said to the Cushʹite: “Go, tell the king what you have seen.” At that the Cushʹite bowed to Joʹab and began to run. [22] A·himʹa·az the son of Zaʹdok now said once again to Joʹab: “Let, now, happen whatever will, let me also myself, please, run behind the Cushʹite.” However, Joʹab said: “Why is it that you yourself have to run, my son, when there is no news being found for you?” [23] Still he said: “Let, now, happen whatever will, let me run.” So he said to him: “Run!” And A·himʹa·az began to run by the way of the District, and he eventually passed by the Cushʹite.

[24] Now David was sitting between the two gates. Meantime, the watchman went to the roof of the gate by the wall. At length he raised his eyes and saw and, look! there was a man running by himself. [25] So the watchman called and told the king, at which the king said: “If he is by himself, there is news in his mouth.” And he kept coming, steadily getting nearer. [26] The watchman now saw another man running. The watchman therefore called to the gatekeeper and said: “Look! Another man running by himself!” at which the king said: “This one also is a news bearer.” [27] And the watchman went on to say: “I am seeing that the running style of the first is like the running style of A·himʹa·az the son of Zaʹdok,” at which the king said: “This is a good man, and with good news he should come.” [28] Eventually A·himʹa·az called and said to the king: “It is well!” With that he bowed to the king with his face to the earth. And he went on to say: “Blessed be Jehovah your God, who has surrendered the men that lifted up their hand against my lord the king!”

29 However, the king said: “Is it well with the young man Ab′sa·lom?” To this A·him′a·az said: “I saw the great commotion at the time Jo′ab sent the king’s servant and your servant, and I did not know what it was.” 30 So the king said: “Step aside, take your position here.” At that he stepped aside and kept standing still.

31 And here was the Cush′ite coming in, and the Cush′ite began to say: “Let my lord the king accept news, for Jehovah has judged you today to free you from the hand of all those rising up against you.” 32 But the king said to the Cush′ite: “Is it well with the young man Ab′sa·lom?” To this the Cush′ite said: “May the enemies of my lord the king and all those who rose up against you for evil become as the young man.”

33 Then the king became disturbed and went up to the roof chamber over the gateway and gave way to weeping; and this is what he said as he walked: “My son Ab′sa·lom, my son, my son Ab′sa·lom! O that I might have died, I myself, instead of you, Ab′sa·lom my son, my son!”

19 Later it was reported to Jo′ab: “Look! The king is weeping, and he carries on mourning over Ab′sa·lom.” [2] So the salvation on that day came to be an occasion of mourning on the part of all the people, because the people heard say on that day: “The king has felt hurt over his son.” [3] And the people began to steal away on that day to come into the city, just as the people would steal away when they felt disgraced because they fled in the battle. [4] And the king himself covered up his face, and the king continued crying out with a loud voice: “My son Ab′sa·lom! Ab′sa·lom my son, my son!”

[5] Finally Jo′ab came in to the king at the house and said: “You have today put to shame the face of all your servants, the ones providing escape for your soul today and for the soul of your sons and your daughters and the soul of your wives and the soul of your concubines, [6] by loving those hating you and by hating those loving you; for you have reported today that chiefs and servants are nothing to you, because I well know today that if only Ab′sa·lom were alive and all of us others were today dead, why, in that case it would be right in your eyes. [7] And now rise up, go out and speak straight to the heart of your servants, because, by Jehovah, I do swear that, in case you are not going out, not a man will lodge with you tonight; and this will certainly be worse for you than all the injury that has come upon you from your youth until now.” [8] Accordingly the king rose up and seated himself in the gate, and to all the people they made the report, saying: “There is the king sitting in the gate.” And all the people began to come before the king.

As for Israel, they had fled each one to his home. [9] And all the people came to be involved in dispute in all the tribes of Israel, saying: “It was the king that delivered us out of the palm of our enemies, and he it was that provided escape for us out of the palm of the Phi·lis′tines; and now he has run away out of the land from Ab′sa·lom. 10 As for Ab′sa·lom, whom we anointed over us, he has died in the battle. So now why are YOU doing nothing to bring the king back?”

11 As for King David, he sent to Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar the priests, saying: “SPEAK to the older men of Judah, saying, ‘Why should YOU become the last ones to bring the king back to his house, when the word of all Israel itself has come to the king at his house? 12 My brothers YOU are; my bone and my flesh YOU are. So why should YOU become the last ones to bring the king back?’ 13 And to A·ma′sa YOU should say, ‘Are you not my bone and my flesh? So may God do to me and so may he add to it if you will not become the army chief before me always instead of Jo′ab.’”

14 And he proceeded to bend the heart of all the men of Judah as one man, so that they sent word to the king: “Come back, you and all your servants.”

15 And the king began to go back and got to come as far as the Jordan. As for Judah, they came to Gil′gal to go and meet the king, to conduct the king across the Jordan. 16 Then Shim′e·i the son of Ge′ra the Ben′ja·min·ite, who was from Ba·hu′rim, hurried and went down with the men of Judah to meet King David. 17 And there were with him a thousand men from Benjamin. (And also Zi′ba the attendant of the house of Saul and his fifteen sons and twenty servants of his were with him, and they made it successfully to the Jordan before the king. 18 And he crossed the ford to conduct the household of the king across and to do what was good in his eyes.) As for Shim′e·i the son of Ge′ra, he fell down before the king when he was about to cross the Jordan. 19 He now said to the king: “Do not let my lord attribute error to me, and do not remember the wrong that your servant did on the day that my lord the king went out of Jerusalem, so that the king should lay it to his heart. [20] For your servant well knows that I am the one that sinned; and so here I have today come the first of all the house of Joseph to go down to meet my lord the king.”

[21] At once A·bishʹai the son of Ze·ruʹiah answered and said: “In return for this should not Shimʹe·i be put to death, in that he called evil down upon the anointed of Jehovah?” [22] But David said: “What do I have to do with YOU men, YOU sons of Ze·ruʹiah, that YOU should become today a resister of me? Will anyone today be put to death in Israel? For do I not well know that today I am king over Israel?” [23] Then the king said to Shimʹe·i: “You will not die.” And the king went on to swear to him.

[24] As for Me·phibʹo·sheth the grandson of Saul, he came down to meet the king; and he had not attended to his feet nor had he attended to his mustache nor had he washed his garments from the day that the king went away until the day that he came in peace. [25] And it came about that, when he came to Jerusalem to meet the king, then the king said to him: “Why did you not go with me, Me·phibʹo·sheth?” [26] To this he said: “My lord the king, it was my servant that tricked me. For your servant had said, ‘Let me saddle the female ass for me that I may ride upon it and go with the king,’ for your servant is lame. [27] So he slandered your servant to my lord the king. But my lord the king is as an angel of the true God, and so do what is good in your eyes. [28] For all the household of my father would have become nothing but doomed to death to my lord the king, and yet you placed your servant among those eating at your table. So what do I still have as a just claim even for crying out further to the king?”

[29] However, the king said to him: “Why do you yet keep speaking your words? I do say, You and Zi′ba should share in the field.” [30] At this Me·phib′o·sheth said to the king: “Let him even take the whole, now that my lord the king has come in peace to his house.”

[31] And Bar·zil′lai the Gil′e·ad·ite himself came down from Ro·ge′lim that he might pass on to the Jordan with the king so as to escort him to the Jordan. [32] And Bar·zil′lai was very old, being eighty years of age; and he himself supplied the king with food while he was dwelling in Ma·ha·na′im, for he was a very great man. [33] So the king said to Bar·zil′lai: “You yourself cross over with me, and I shall certainly supply you with food with me in Jerusalem.” [34] But Bar·zil′lai said to the king: “What are the days of the years of my life like, that I should go up with the king to Jerusalem? [35] I am eighty years old today. Could I discern between good and bad, or could your servant taste what I ate and what I drank, or could I listen anymore to the voice of male and female singers? So why should your servant become a burden anymore to my lord the king? [36] For it is just a little way that your servant could bring the king along to the Jordan, and why should the king repay me with this reward? [37] Let your servant return, please, and let me die in my city close by the burial place of my father and my mother. But here is your servant Chim′ham. Let him cross over with my lord the king; and you do to him what is good in your eyes.”

[38] Accordingly the king said: “With me Chim′ham will go across, and I myself shall do to him what is good in your eyes; and all that you may choose to lay upon me I shall do for you.” [39] All the people now began to cross the Jordan, and the king himself crossed; but the king kissed Bar·zil′lai and blessed him, after which he returned to his place. [40] When the king went across to Gil′gal, Chim′ham himself crossed with him, and also all the people of Judah, and also half the people of Israel, that they might bring the king across.

[41] And, look! all the men of Israel were coming to the king, and they proceeded to say to the king: “Why did our brothers the men of Judah steal you that they might bring the king and his household and all the men of David with him over the Jordan?” [42] At this all the men of Judah answered the men of Israel: “Because the king is closely related to us; and why is it that you have become angry over this thing? Have we eaten at all at the king’s expense, or has a gift been carried to us?”

[43] However, the men of Israel answered the men of Judah and said: “We have ten parts in the king, so that even in David we are more than you. Why, then, have you treated us with contempt, and why did not our matter become first for us to bring our king back?” But the word of the men of Judah was more severe than the word of the men of Israel.

20 Now there happened to be there a good-for-nothing man, whose name was She′ba, the son of Bich′ri a Ben′ja·min·ite; and he proceeded to blow the horn and say: “We have no share in David, and we have no inheritance in the son of Jes′se. Every one to his gods, O Israel! ” [2] At that all the men of Israel began to go up from following David to follow She′ba the son of Bich′ri; but as for the men of Judah, they stuck to their king from the Jordan to Jerusalem.

[3] Eventually David came to his house at Jerusalem. Then the king took the ten women, the concubines whom he had left behind to take care of the house, and he put them in a house of confinement, but he kept on supplying food to them. And with them he did not have any relations, but they continued shut up closely until the day of their dying, in a widowhood with a living husband.

[4] The king now said to A·ma′sa: “Call the men of Judah together to me within three days, and you yourself stand here.” [5] So A·ma′sa went to call Judah together; but he came later than the fixed time that he had appointed for him. [6] Then David said to A·bish′ai: “Now She′ba the son of Bich′ri will be worse for us than Ab′sa·lom. You yourself take the servants of your lord and chase after him, that he may not actually find for himself fortified cities and escape before our eyes.” [7] Accordingly the men of Jo′ab and the Cher′e·thites and the Pel′e·thites and all the mighty men went out after him; and they went on out of Jerusalem to chase after She′ba the son of Bich′ri. [8] They were close by the great stone that is in Gib′e·on, and A·ma′sa himself came to meet them. Now Jo′ab was girded, clothed with a garment; and upon him there was girded a sword attached to his hip, in its sheath. And he himself came forth, and so it fell out.

[9] And Jo′ab proceeded to say to A·ma′sa: “Is it all right with you, my brother?” Then Jo′ab’s right hand took hold of A·ma′sa’s beard so as to kiss him. [10] As for A·ma′sa, he was not on guard against the sword that was in Jo′ab’s hand; so that he struck him with it in the abdomen, and his intestines spilled out to the earth, and he did not have to do it to him again. So he died. And Jo′ab and A·bish′ai his brother, for their part, chased after She′ba the son of Bich′ri.

[11] And a certain one of Jo′ab’s young men stood over him and kept saying: “Whoever has found delight in Jo′ab and whoever belongs to David, let him follow Jo′ab! ” [12] All the while A·ma′sa was wallowing in the blood in the middle of the highway. When the man saw that all the people stood still, then he moved A·ma′sa from the highway to the field. Finally he cast a garment over him, as he saw that everyone coming up to him stood still. [13] As soon as he had removed him from the highway, each man passed by following Jo′ab to chase after She′ba the son of Bich′ri.

[14] And She′ba went passing through all the tribes of Israel to Abel of Beth-ma′a·cah. As for all the Bich′rites, they then congregated together and also went in after him.

[15] And they proceeded to come and lay siege against him in Abel of Beth-ma′a·cah and cast up a siege rampart against the city, as it was standing within a rampart. And all the people that were with Jo′ab were undermining the wall, to throw it down. [16] And a wise woman began to call from the city: “Listen, men, listen! Say, please, to Jo′ab, ‘Come near as far as here, and let me speak to you.’” [17] So he went near to her, and the woman then said: “Are you Jo′ab?” to which he said: “I am.” At this she said to him: “Listen to the words of your slave girl.” In turn he said: “I am listening.” [18] And she went on to say: “Without exception they used to speak in former times, saying, ‘Let them but inquire in Abel, and thus they will certainly end the matter.’ [19] I represent the peaceable and faithful ones of Israel. You are seeking to put to death a city and a mother in Israel. Why should you swallow up the inheritance of Jehovah?” [20] To this Jo′ab answered and said: “It is altogether unthinkable on my part that I should swallow up and that I should bring to ruin. [21] The matter is not that way, but a man from the mountainous region of E′phra·im, whose name is She′ba the son of Bich′ri, has lifted up his hand against King David. YOU people, give him over by himself, and I will withdraw from the city.” Then the woman said to Jo′ab: “Look! His head will be pitched to you over the wall! ”

[22] At once the woman went in her wisdom to all the people, and they proceeded to cut off the head of She′ba the son of Bich′ri and pitch it to Jo′ab. Upon that he blew the horn, and so they were scattered from the city, each one to his home; and Jo′ab himself returned to Jerusalem to the king.

[23] And Jo′ab was over all the army of Israel; and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da was over the Cher′e·thites and over the Pel′e·thites. [24] And A·do′ram was over those conscripted for forced labor; and Je·hosh′a·phat the son of A·hi′lud was the recorder. [25] And She′va was secretary, and Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar were priests. [26] And I′ra the Ja′ir·ite also became a priest of David.

21 Now there came to be a famine in the days of David for three years, year after year; and David proceeded to consult the face of Jehovah. Then Jehovah said: “Upon Saul and upon his house there is bloodguilt, because he put the Gib′e·on·ites to death.” [2] So the king called the Gib′e·on·ites and talked to them. (Incidentally, the Gib′e·on·ites were not of the sons of Israel, but of the remainder of the Am′or·ites; and the sons of Israel themselves had sworn to them, but Saul sought to strike them down in his feeling jealous for the sons of Israel and Judah.) [3] And David went on to say to the Gib′e·on·ites: “What shall I do to YOU, and with what shall I make atonement, that YOU may certainly bless the inheritance of Jehovah?” [4] So the Gib′e·on·ites said to him: “It is not a matter of silver or gold for us in connection with Saul and his household, neither is it ours to put a man to death in Israel.” At that he said: “Whatever YOU are saying I shall do for YOU.” [5] At this they said to the king: “The man that exterminated us and that schemed to annihilate us from subsisting in any of the territory of Israel, [6] let there be given to us seven men of his sons; and we must expose them to Jehovah in Gib′e·ah of Saul, the chosen one of Jehovah.” Accordingly the king said: “I myself shall give them.”

[7] However, the king felt compassion upon Me·phib′o·sheth the son of Jon′a·than the son of Saul on account of the oath of Jehovah that was between them, between David and Jon′a·than the son of Saul. [8] Consequently the king took the two sons of Riz′pah the daughter of A′iah whom she bore to Saul, Ar·mo′ni and Me·phib′o·sheth, and the five sons of Mi′chal the daughter of Saul whom she bore to A′dri·el the son of Bar·zil′lai the Me·hol′ath·ite. [9] Then he gave them into the hand of the Gib′e·on·ites and they proceeded to expose them on the mountain before Jehovah, so that the seven of them fell together; and they themselves were put to death in the first days of harvest, at the start of the barley harvest. [10] However, Riz′pah the daughter of A′iah took sackcloth and spread it for herself upon the rock from the start of harvest until water poured down upon them from the heavens; and she did not allow the fowls of the heavens to rest upon them by day nor the wild beasts of the field by night.

[11] At length it was reported to David what Riz′pah the daughter of A′iah, Saul's concubine, had done. [12] So David went and took the bones of Saul and the bones of Jon′a·than his son from the landowners of Ja′besh-gil′e·ad, who had stolen them from the public square of Beth-shan, where the Phi·lis′tines had hanged them on the day that the Phi·lis′tines struck down Saul on Gil·bo′a. [13] And he proceeded to bring up from there the bones of Saul and the bones of Jon′a·than his son; furthermore, they gathered the bones of the men being exposed. [14] Then they buried the bones of Saul and of Jon′a·than his son in the land of Benjamin in Ze′la in the burial place of Kish his father, that they might do everything that the king had commanded. So God let himself be entreated for the land after this.

[15] And the Phi·lis′tines came to have war again with Israel. Accordingly David and his servants with him went down and fought the Phi·lis′tines; and David grew tired. [16] And Ish′bi-be′nob, who was among those born of the Reph′a·im, the weight of whose spear was three hundred shekels of copper and who was girded with a new sword, got to think of striking David down. [17] At once A·bish′ai the son of Ze·ru′iah came to his help and struck the Phi·lis′tine down and put him to death. At that time the men of David swore to him, saying: "You must not go out with us to the battle anymore, that you may not extinguish the lamp of Israel!"

[18] And it came about after this that war arose once more with the Phi·lis′tines at Gob. Then it was that Sib′be·cai the Hu′shath·ite struck down Saph, who was among those born of the Reph′a·im.

[19] And war arose once again with the Phi·lis′tines at Gob, and El·ha′nan the son of Ja′a·re-or′e·gim the Beth′le·hem·ite got to strike down Go·li′ath the Git′tite, the shaft of whose spear was like the beam of loom workers.

[20] And war arose yet again at Gath, when there happened to be a man of extraordinary size, with six fingers on each of his hands and six toes on each of his feet, twenty-four in number; and he too had been born to the Reph′a·im. [21] And he kept taunting Israel. Finally Jon′a·than the son of Shim′e·i, David's brother, struck him down.

[22] These four had been born to the Reph′a·im in Gath; and they came to fall by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

22 And David proceeded to speak to Jehovah the words of this song in the day that Jehovah had delivered him out of the palm of all his enemies and out of Saul’s palm; [2] and he went on to say:

“Jehovah is my crag and my stronghold and the Provider of escape for me.

[3] My God is my rock. I shall take refuge in him,
My shield and my horn of salvation, my secure height,
And my place for flight, my Savior; from violence you save me.

[4] On the One to be praised, Jehovah, I shall call,
And from my enemies I shall be saved.

[5] For deadly breaking waves encircled me;
There were flash floods of good-for-nothing men that kept terrifying me.

[6] The ropes of She′ol themselves surrounded me;
The snares of death confronted me.

[7] In my distress I kept calling upon Jehovah,
And to my God I kept calling.
Then out of his temple he heard my voice,
With my cry for help in his ears.

[8] And back and forth the earth began to shake and to rock;
The foundations of the heavens themselves became agitated,
And they kept shaking back and forth because he had been angered.

[9] Smoke went up at his nostrils, and fire itself from his mouth kept devouring;
Coals themselves blazed up from him.

[10] And he proceeded to bend the heavens down and to descend;
And thick gloom was beneath his feet.

[11] And he came riding upon a cherub and came flying;
And he was visible upon the wings of a spirit.

[12] Then he put a darkness around him as booths,
Dark waters, thick clouds.

[13] From the brightness in front of him burning coals of fire blazed up.

[14] From heaven Jehovah began to thunder,
And the Most High himself began to give forth his voice.

[15] And he kept sending out arrows, that he might scatter them;
Lightning, that he might throw them into confusion.

[16] And the streambeds of the sea became visible,
The foundations of the productive land became uncovered,
At the rebuke of Jehovah, from the blast of the breath of his nostrils.

17 He was sending from on high, he was taking me,
He was drawing me out of great waters.
18 He was delivering me from my strong enemy,
From those hating me; because they were stronger than I was.
19 They kept confronting me in the day of my disaster,
But Jehovah became my support.
20 And he proceeded to bring me out into a roomy place;
He was rescuing me, because he had found delight in me.
21 Jehovah rewards me according to my righteousness;
According to the cleanness of my hands he repays me.
22 For I have kept the ways of Jehovah,
And I have not wickedly departed from my God.
23 For all his judicial decisions are in front of me;
And as for his statutes, I shall not turn aside from them.
24 And I shall prove myself faultless toward him,
And I will keep myself from error on my part.
25 And let Jehovah repay me according to my righteousness,
According to my cleanness in front of his eyes.
26 With someone loyal you will act in loyalty;
With the faultless, mighty one you will deal faultlessly;
27 With the one keeping clean you will show yourself clean,
And with the crooked one you will act as silly.
28 And the humble people you will save;
But your eyes are against the haughty ones, that you may bring them low.
29 For you are my lamp, O Jehovah,
And it is Jehovah that makes my darkness shine.
30 For by you I can run against a marauder band;
By my God I can climb a wall.
31 As for the true God, perfect is his way;
The saying of Jehovah is a refined one.
A shield he is to all those taking refuge in him.
32 For who is a God besides Jehovah,
And who is a rock besides our God?
33 The true God is my strong fortress,
And he will cause my way to be perfect,
34 Making my feet like those of the hinds;
And upon places high for me he keeps me standing.
35 He is teaching my hands for warfare;
And my arms have pressed down a bow of copper.
36 And you will give me your shield of salvation,
And it is your humility that makes me great.

37 You will make room large enough for my steps under me;
And my ankles will certainly not wobble.

38 I will pursue my enemies, that I may annihilate them,
And I shall not return until they are exterminated.

39 And I shall exterminate them and break them in pieces, that they may not rise up;
And they will fall under my feet.

40 And you will gird me with vital energy for the battle;
You will make those rising against me collapse under me.

41 And as for my enemies, you will certainly give me the back of their neck;
Those hating me intensely—I shall also silence them.

42 They cry for help, but there is no savior;
To Jehovah, but he actually does not answer them.

43 And I shall pound them fine like the dust of the earth;
Like the mire of the streets I shall pulverize them;
I shall beat them flat.

44 And you will provide me escape from the faultfinding of my people.
You will safeguard me to be the head of nations;
A people that I have not known—they will serve me.

45 Foreigners themselves will come cringing to me;
Ears will be obedient to hear me.

46 Foreigners themselves will fade away,
And they will come quaking out from their bulwarks.

47 Jehovah is living; and blessed be my Rock;
And let the God of the rock of my salvation be exalted.

48 The true God is the Giver of acts of vengeance to me
And the One bringing the peoples down under me,

49 And the One bringing me out from my enemies.
And above those who rise up against me you will lift me up;
From the man of violent deeds you will deliver me.

50 That is why I shall thank you, O Jehovah, among the nations;
And to your name I shall make melody:

51 The One doing great acts of salvation for his king
And exercising loving-kindness to his anointed one,
To David and to his seed for time indefinite.”

23 And these are the last words of David:
“The utterance of David the son of Jes′se,
And the utterance of the able-bodied man that was raised up on high,
The anointed of the God of Jacob,
And the pleasant one of the melodies of Israel.

[2] The spirit of Jehovah it was that spoke by me,
And his word was upon my tongue.

[3] The God of Israel said,
To me the Rock of Israel spoke,
‘When one ruling over mankind is righteous,
Ruling in the fear of God,

[4] Then it is as the light of morning, when the sun shines forth,
A morning without clouds.
From brightness, from rain, there is grass out of the earth.’

[5] For is not my household like that with God?
Because it is an indefinitely lasting covenant that he has assigned to me,
Nicely put in order in everything and secured.
Because it is all my salvation and all my delight,
Is that not why he will make it grow?

[6] But good-for-nothing persons are chased away, like thornbushes, all of them;
For it is not by the hand that they should be taken.

[7] When a man touches them
He should be fully armed with iron and the shaft of a spear,
And with fire they will thoroughly be burned up.”

[8] These are the names of the mighty men that belonged to David: Jo′sheb-bas·she′beth a Tah·che′mo·nite, the head of the three. He was brandishing his spear over eight hundred slain at one time. [9] Next to him El·e·a′zar the son of Do′do the son of A·ho′hi was among the three mighty men with David when they taunted the Phi·lis′tines. They had gathered themselves there for the battle, and so the men of Israel retreated. [10] He it was that rose up and kept striking down the Phi·lis′tines until his hand wearied and his hand kept cleaving to the sword, so that Jehovah performed a great salvation on that day; and as for the people, they returned behind him only to strip those struck down.

11 And next to him was Sham′mah the son of A′gee the Har′a·rite. And the Phi·lis′tines proceeded to gather themselves to Le′hi, where there then happened to be a tract of the field full of lentils; and the people themselves fled because of the Phi·lis′tines. 12 But he took his stand in the middle of the tract and delivered it and kept striking down the Phi·lis′tines, so that Jehovah performed a great salvation.

13 And three of the thirty head ones proceeded to go down and come at the harvest, to David at the cave of A·dul′lam; and a tent village of the Phi·lis′tines was encamped in the low plain of the Reph′a·im. 14 And David was then in the place hard to approach; and an outpost of the Phi·lis′tines was then in Beth′le·hem. 15 After a while David expressed his craving and said: "O that I might have a drink of the water from the cistern of Beth′le·hem that is at the gate!" 16 At that the three mighty men forced their way into the camp of the Phi·lis′tines and drew water from the cistern of Beth′le·hem that is at the gate and came carrying and bringing it to David; and he did not consent to drink it, but poured it out to Jehovah. 17 And he went on to say: "It is unthinkable on my part, O Jehovah, that I should do this! Shall I drink the blood of the men going at the risk of their souls?" And he did not consent to drink it.

These are the things the three mighty men did.

18 As for A·bish′ai the brother of Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah, he was the head of the thirty, and he was brandishing his spear over three hundred slain ones, and he had a reputation like the three. 19 Although he was distinguished even more than the rest of the thirty, and he came to be their chief, to the rank of the first three he did not come.

[20] As for Be·naiʹah the son of Je·hoiʹa·da the son of a valiant man, who did many deeds in Kabʹze·el, he himself struck down the two sons of Arʹi·el of Moʹab; and he himself descended and struck down a lion inside a waterpit on a day of snowfall. [21] And he it was that struck down the Egyptian man that was of extraordinary size. Though there was a spear in the hand of the Egyptian, yet he went on down to him with a rod and snatched the spear away from the Egyptian’s hand and killed him with his own spear. [22] These things Be·naiʹah the son of Je·hoiʹa·da did; and he had a reputation like the three mighty men. [23] Although he was distinguished even more than the thirty, to the rank of the three he did not come; but David appointed him to his own bodyguard.

[24] Asʹa·hel the brother of Joʹab was among the thirty; El·haʹnan the son of Doʹdo of Bethʹle·hem, [25] Shamʹmah the Haʹrod·ite, E·liʹka the Haʹrod·ite, [26] Heʹlez the Palʹtite, Iʹra the son of Ikʹkesh the Te·koʹite, [27] Abi-eʹzer the Anʹa·thoth·ite, Me·bunʹnai the Huʹshath·ite, [28] Zalʹmon the A·hoʹhite, Maʹha·rai the Ne·tophʹa·thite, [29] Heʹleb the son of Baʹa·nah the Ne·tophʹa·thite, Itʹtai the son of Riʹbai of Gibʹe·ah of the sons of Benjamin, [30] Be·naiʹah a Pirʹa·thon·ite, Hidʹdai of the torrent valleys of Gaʹash, [31] Aʹbi-alʹbon the Arʹbath·ite, Azʹma·veth the Bar-huʹmite, [32] E·liʹah·ba the Sha·alʹbo·nite, the sons of Jaʹshen, Jonʹa·than, [33] Shamʹmah the Harʹa·rite, A·hiʹam the son of Shaʹrar the Harʹa·rite, [34] E·liphʹe·let the son of A·hasʹbai the son of the Ma·acʹa·thite, E·liʹam the son of A·hithʹo·phel the Giʹlon·ite, [35] Hezʹro the Carʹmel·ite, Paʹa·rai the Arʹbite, [36] Iʹgal the son of Nathan of Zoʹbah, Baʹni the Gadʹite, [37] Zeʹlek the Amʹmon·ite, Naʹha·rai the Be·erʹoth·ite, armor-bearers of Joʹab the son of Ze·ruʹiah, [38] Iʹra the Ithʹrite, Gaʹreb the Ithʹrite, [39] U·riʹah the Hitʹtite—thirty-seven in all.

24 And again the anger of Jehovah came to be hot against Israel, when one incited David against them, saying: “Go, take a count of Israel and Judah.” [2] So the king said to Joʹab the chief of the military forces who was with him: “Move about, please, through all the tribes of Israel, from Dan to Beʹer-sheʹba, and YOU men register the people, and I shall certainly know the number of the people.” [3] But Joʹab said to the king: “May Jehovah your God even add to the people a hundred times as many as they are while the very eyes of my lord the king are seeing it. But as for my lord the king, why has he found delight in this thing?”

[4] Finally the king’s word prevailed upon Joʹab and the chiefs of the military forces. So Joʹab and the chiefs of the military forces went out from before the king to register the people Israel. [5] Then they crossed the Jordan and took up camping at A·roʹer to the right of the city that is in the middle of the torrent valley, toward the Gadʹites, and to Jaʹzer. [6] After that they came on to Gilʹe·ad and the land of Tahʹtim-hodʹshi and continued on to Dan-jaʹan and went around to Siʹdon. [7] Then they came to the fortress of Tyre and all the cities of the Hiʹvites and of the Caʹnaan·ites and came to the terminating point in the Negʹeb of Judah at Beʹer-sheʹba. [8] Thus they went moving about through all the land and came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. [9] Joʹab now gave the number of the registration of the people to the king; and Israel amounted to eight hundred thousand valiant men drawing sword, and the men of Judah were five hundred thousand men.

[10] And David’s heart began to beat him after he had so numbered the people. Consequently David said to Jehovah: “I have sinned very much in what I have done. And now, Jehovah, let your servant’s error pass by, please; for I have acted very foolishly.” 11 When David proceeded to rise up in the morning, Jehovah’s word itself came to Gad the prophet, David’s visionary, saying: 12 “Go, and you must say to David, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Three things I am laying upon you. Choose for yourself one of them that I may do it to you.”’” 13 Accordingly Gad came in to David and told him and said to him: “Should there come to you seven years of famine in your land, or three months of your fleeing before your adversaries, with them pursuing you, or the occurring of three days of pestilence in your land? Now know and see what I shall reply to the One sending me.” 14 So David said to Gad: “It is very distressing to me. Let us fall, please, into the hand of Jehovah, for many are his mercies; but into the hand of man do not let me fall.”

15 Then Jehovah gave a pestilence in Israel from the morning until the time appointed, so that out of the people from Dan to Be′er-she′ba seventy thousand persons died. 16 And the angel kept his hand thrust out toward Jerusalem to bring it to ruin; and Jehovah began to feel regret over the calamity, and so he said to the angel that was bringing ruin among the people: “It is enough! Now let your hand drop.” And Jehovah’s angel himself happened to be close by the threshing floor of A·rau′nah the Jeb′u·site.

17 And David proceeded to say to Jehovah, when he saw the angel that was striking the people down, yes, he proceeded to say: “Here it is I that have sinned and it is I that have done wrong; but these sheep—what have they done? Let your hand, please, come upon me and upon the house of my father.”

18 Later Gad came in to David on that day and said to him: “Go up, set up for Jehovah an altar on the threshing floor of A·rau′nah the Jeb′u·site.” 19 And David began to go up in accord with the word of Gad, according to what Jehovah had commanded. [20] When A·rauʹnah looked down and saw the king and his servants passing along toward him, A·rauʹnah at once went out and bowed down to the king with his face to the earth. [21] Then A·rauʹnah said: “Why has my lord the king come to his servant?” At that David said: “To buy from you the threshing floor for building an altar to Jehovah, that the scourge may be halted from upon the people.” [22] But A·rauʹnah said to David: “Let my lord the king take it and offer up what is good in his eyes. See the cattle for the burnt offering and the threshing sledge and the implements of the cattle for the wood. [23] Everything A·rauʹnah, O king, does give to the king.” And A·rauʹnah went on to say to the king: “May Jehovah your God show pleasure in you.”

[24] However, the king said to A·rauʹnah: “No, but without fail I shall buy it from you for a price; and I shall not offer up to Jehovah my God burnt sacrifices without cost.” Accordingly David bought the threshing floor and the cattle for fifty silver shekels. [25] And David proceeded to build there an altar to Jehovah and offer up burnt sacrifices and communion sacrifices, and Jehovah began letting himself be entreated for the land, so that the scourge was halted from upon Israel.

THE FIRST OF KINGS

OR, ACCORDING TO THE GREEK SEPTUAGINT, THE THIRD OF KINGS

1 Now King David was old, advanced in days; and they would cover him with garments, but he would not feel warm. [2] So his servants said to him: “Let them look for a girl, a virgin, for my lord the king, and she will have to attend upon the king, that she may become his nurse; and she must lie in your bosom, and my lord the king will certainly feel warm.” [3] And they went looking for a beautiful girl throughout all the territory of Israel, and finally found Ab′i·shag the Shu′nam·mite and then brought her in to the king. [4] And the girl was beautiful in the extreme; and she came to be the king’s nurse and kept waiting upon him, and the king himself had no intercourse with her.

[5] All the while Ad·o·ni′jah the son of Hag′gith was lifting himself up, saying: “I myself am going to rule as king!” And he proceeded to have a chariot made for himself with horsemen and fifty men running before him. [6] And his father did not hurt his feelings at any time by saying: “Why is this the way you have done?” And he was also very good-looking in form, and his mother had borne him after Ab′sa·lom. [7] And he came to have dealings with Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah and with A·bi′a·thar the priest, and they began offering help as followers of Ad·o·ni′jah. [8] As for Za′dok the priest and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da and Nathan the prophet and Shim′e·i and Re′i and the mighty men that belonged to David, they did not become involved with Ad·o·ni′jah.

[9] Eventually Ad·o·niʹjah held a sacrifice of sheep and cattle and fatlings close by the stone of Zoʹhe·leth, which is beside En-roʹgel, and he proceeded to invite all his brothers the king’s sons and all the men of Judah the king’s servants; [10] and Nathan the prophet and Be·naiʹah and the mighty men and Solʹo·mon his brother he did not invite. [11] Nathan now said to Bath-sheʹba, Solʹo·mon’s mother: “Have you not heard that Ad·o·niʹjah the son of Hagʹgith has become king, and our lord David does not know of it at all? [12] So now come, let me, please, solemnly counsel you. And provide escape for your own soul and for the soul of your son Solʹo·mon. [13] Go and enter in to King David, and you must say to him, ‘Was it not you, my lord the king, that swore to your slave girl, saying: “Solʹo·mon your son is the one that will become king after me, and he is the one that will sit upon my throne”? So why has Ad·o·niʹjah become king?’ [14] Look! While you are yet speaking there with the king, then I myself shall come in after you, and I shall certainly confirm your words.”

[15] Accordingly Bath-sheʹba went in to the king in the interior room, and the king was very old, and Abʹi·shag the Shuʹnam·mite was waiting upon the king. [16] Then Bath-sheʹba bowed low and prostrated herself to the king, upon which the king said: “What do you have to ask?” [17] At this she said to him: “My lord, it was you that swore by Jehovah your God to your slave girl, ‘Solʹo·mon your son is the one that will become king after me, and he is the one that will sit upon my throne.’ [18] And now, look! Ad·o·niʹjah himself has become king, and now my lord the king himself does not know of it at all. [19] So he sacrificed bulls and fatlings and sheep in great quantity and invited all the sons of the king and A·biʹa·thar the priest and Joʹab the chief of the army; but Solʹo·mon your servant he has not invited. [20] And you my lord the king—the eyes of all Israel are upon you, to tell them who is going to sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him. [21] And it will certainly occur that as soon as my lord the king lies down with his forefathers, I myself and also my son Sol′o·mon shall certainly become offenders.”

[22] And, look! while she was yet speaking with the king, Nathan the prophet himself came in. [23] At once they told the king, saying: “Here is Nathan the prophet!” After that he came in before the king and prostrated himself to the king with his face to the earth. [24] Then Nathan said: “My lord the king, did you yourself say, ‘Ad·o·ni′jah is the one that will become king after me, and he is the one that will sit upon my throne’? [25] For he has today gone down that he might sacrifice bulls and fatlings and sheep in great quantity and might invite all the sons of the king and the chiefs of the army and A·bi′a·thar the priest; and there they are eating and drinking before him and they keep saying, ‘Let King Ad·o·ni′jah live!’ [26] But as for me your servant, me and Za′dok the priest and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da and Sol′o·mon your servant he has not invited. [27] If it is from my lord the king that this thing has been brought about, then you have not caused your servant to know who should sit upon the throne of my lord the king after him.”

[28] King David now answered and said: “YOU men, call Bath-she′ba for me.” At that she came in before the king and stood before the king. [29] And the king proceeded to swear and say: “As Jehovah is living who redeemed my soul out of all distress, [30] just as I have sworn to you by Jehovah the God of Israel, saying, ‘Sol′o·mon your son is the one that will become king after me, and he is the one that will sit upon my throne in place of me!’ that is the way I shall do this day.” [31] Then Bath-she′ba bowed low with her face to the earth and prostrated herself to the king and said: “Let my lord King David live to time indefinite! ”

[32] Immediately King David said: “YOU men, call for me Za′dok the priest and Nathan the prophet and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da.” So they came in before the king. [33] And the king went on to say to them: “Take with YOU the servants of YOUR lord, and YOU must make Sol′o·mon my son ride upon the she-mule that belongs to me and lead him down to Gi′hon. [34] And Za′dok the priest and Nathan the prophet must anoint him there as king over Israel; and YOU must blow the horn and say, ‘Let King Sol′o·mon live! ’ [35] And YOU must come up following him, and he must come in and sit upon my throne; and he himself will be king in place of me, and him I shall have to commission to become leader over Israel and over Judah.” [36] At once Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da answered the king and said: “Amen! Thus may Jehovah the God of my lord the king say. [37] Just as Jehovah proved to be with my lord the king, so let him prove to be with Sol′o·mon, and may he make his throne greater than the throne of my lord King David.”

[38] And Za′dok the priest and Nathan the prophet and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da and the Cher′e·thites and the Pel′e·thites proceeded to go down and make Sol′o·mon ride upon the she-mule of King David, and then brought him to Gi′hon. [39] Za′dok the priest now took the horn of oil out of the tent and anointed Sol′o·mon; and they began to blow the horn, and all the people broke out saying: “Let King Sol′o·mon live! ” [40] After that all the people came on up following him, and the people were playing on flutes and rejoicing with great joy, so that the earth was split by the noise of them.

[41] And Ad·o·ni′jah and all the ones invited that were with him got to hear it, when they themselves had finished eating. When Jo′ab got to hear the sound of the horn, he at once said: “What does the noise of the town in an uproar mean?” [42] While he was yet speaking, why, here Jon′a·than the son of A·bi′a·thar the priest came. Then Ad·o·ni′jah said: “Come on in, for you are a valiant man, and you bring good news.” [43] But Jon′a·than answered and said to Ad·o·ni′jah: “No! Our lord King David himself has made Sol′o·mon king. [44] So the king sent with him Za′dok the priest and Nathan the prophet and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da and the Cher′e·thites and the Pel′e·thites, and they made him ride upon the she-mule of the king. [45] Then Za′dok the priest and Nathan the prophet anointed him as king in Gi′hon; after which they came up from there rejoicing, and the town is in an uproar. That was the noise that YOU men heard. [46] And, besides, Sol′o·mon has sat down upon the throne of the kingship. [47] And, another thing, the servants of the king have come in to wish our lord King David well, saying, ‘May your God make Sol′o·mon’s name more splendid than your name, and may he make his throne greater than your throne!’ At that the king bowed down upon the bed. [48] And too this is what the king said, ‘Blessed be Jehovah the God of Israel, who has today given one to sit upon my throne, with my own eyes seeing it!’”

[49] And all those invited that were with Ad·o·ni′jah began to tremble and rise up and go each one on his own way. [50] And Ad·o·ni′jah himself was afraid because of Sol′o·mon. So he rose up and went away and grabbed hold of the horns of the altar. [51] In time the report was made to Sol′o·mon, saying: “Here Ad·o·ni′jah himself has become afraid of King Sol′o·mon; and here he has taken hold on the horns of the altar, saying, ‘Let King Sol′o·mon first of all swear to me that he will not put his servant to death by the sword.’” [52] To this Sol′o·mon said: “If he will become a valiant man, there will not fall a single hair of his to the earth; but if what is bad should be found in him, he will also have to die.” 53 So King Sol′o·mon sent and they brought him down from off the altar. Then he came in and bowed down to King Sol′o·mon; after which Sol′o·mon said to him: “Go to your own house.”

2 And the days of David gradually drew near for him to die; and he proceeded to command Sol′o·mon his son, saying: [2] “I am going in the way of all the earth, and you must be strong and prove yourself to be a man. [3] And you must keep the obligation to Jehovah your God by walking in his ways, by keeping his statutes, his commandments and his judicial decisions and his testimonies, according to what is written in the law of Moses, in order that you may act prudently in everything that you do and everywhere that you turn; [4] in order that Jehovah may carry out his word that he spoke respecting me, saying, ‘If your sons will take care of their way by walking before me in truth with all their heart and with all their soul, there will not be cut off a man of yours from sitting upon the throne of Israel.’

[5] “And you yourself also well know what Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah did to me in what he did to two chiefs of the armies of Israel, to Ab′ner the son of Ner and A·ma′sa the son of Je′ther, when he killed them and placed the blood of war in peacetime and put the blood of war on his belt that was about his hips and in his sandals that were on his feet. [6] And you must act according to your wisdom, and not let his gray hairs go down in peace to She′ol.

[7] “And toward the sons of Bar·zil′lai the Gil′e·ad·ite you should exercise loving-kindness, and they must prove to be among those eating at your table; for that was the way they drew near to me when I ran away from before Ab′sa·lom your brother.

[8] “And here there is with you Shim′e·i the son of Ge′ra the Ben′ja·min·ite from Ba·hu′rim, and he it was that called down evil upon me with a painful malediction on the day that I was going to Ma·ha·naʹim; and he it was that came down to meet me at the Jordan, so that I swore to him by Jehovah, saying, ‘I shall not put you to death by the sword.’ [9] And now do not leave him unpunished, for you are a wise man and you well know what you ought to do to him, and you must bring his gray hairs down to Sheʹol with blood.”

[10] Then David lay down with his forefathers and was buried in the City of David. [11] And the days that David had reigned over Israel were forty years. In Heʹbron he had reigned seven years, and in Jerusalem he had reigned thirty-three years.

[12] As for Solʹo·mon, he sat down upon the throne of David his father; and gradually his kingship became very firmly established.

[13] In time Ad·o·niʹjah the son of Hagʹgith came to Bath-sheʹba, Solʹo·mon’s mother. At this she said: “Is your coming peaceable?” to which he said: “It is peaceable.” [14] And he went on to say: “There is a matter I have for you.” So she said: “Speak.” [15] And he continued: “You yourself well know that the kingship was to have become mine, and it was toward me that all Israel had set their face for me to become king; but the kingship turned and came to be my brother’s, for it was from Jehovah that it became his. [16] And now there is one request that I am making of you. Do not turn my face away.” Accordingly she said to him: “Speak.” [17] And he went on to say: “Please, say to Solʹo·mon the king (for he will not turn your face away) that he should give me Abʹi·shag the Shuʹnam·mite as a wife.” [18] To this Bath-sheʹba said: “Good! I myself shall speak for you to the king.”

[19] So Bath-sheʹba came in to King Solʹo·mon to speak to him for Ad·o·niʹjah. At once the king rose to meet her and bowed down to her. Then he sat down upon his throne and had a throne set for the mother of the king, that she might sit at his right. [20] And she proceeded to say: “There is one little request that I am making of you. Do not turn my face away.” So the king said to her: “Make it, my mother; for I shall not turn your face away.” [21] And she went on to say: “Let Ab′i·shag the Shu′nam·mite be given to Ad·o·ni′jah your brother as a wife.” [22] At this King Sol′o·mon answered and said to his mother: “And why are you requesting Ab′i·shag the Shu′nam·mite for Ad·o·ni′jah? Request also for him the kingship (because he is my brother older than I am), even for him and for A·bi′a·thar the priest and for Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah.”

[23] With that King Sol′o·mon swore by Jehovah, saying: “So may God do to me, and so may he add to it, if it was not against his own soul that Ad·o·ni′jah spoke this thing. [24] And now, as Jehovah is living who has firmly established me and keeps me seated upon the throne of David my father and who made a house for me just as he has spoken, today Ad·o·ni′jah will be put to death.” [25] Immediately King Sol′o·mon sent by means of Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da; and he proceeded to fall upon him, so that he died.

[26] And to A·bi′a·thar the priest the king said: “Go to An′a·thoth to your fields! For you are deserving of death; but on this day I shall not put you to death, because you carried the ark of the Sovereign Lord Jehovah before David my father, and because you suffered affliction during all the time that my father suffered affliction.” [27] So Sol′o·mon drove out A·bi′a·thar from serving as a priest of Jehovah, to fulfill Jehovah’s word that he had spoken against the house of E′li in Shi′loh.

[28] And the report itself came clear to Jo′ab—for Jo′ab himself had inclined to follow Ad·o·ni′jah, although Ab′sa·lom he had not inclined to follow—and Jo′ab went fleeing to the tent of Jehovah and began to hold fast to the horns of the altar. [29]

Then King Sol′o·mon was told: “Jo′ab has fled to the tent of Jehovah, and there he is beside the altar.” So Sol′o·mon sent Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da, saying: “Go, fall upon him!” [30] Accordingly Be·nai′ah came to the tent of Jehovah and said to him: “This is what the king has said, ‘Come on out!’” But he said: “No! For here is where I shall die.” At that Be·nai′ah brought word back to the king, saying: “This is what Jo′ab spoke, and this is what he answered me.” [31] Then the king said to him: “Do just as he has spoken and fall upon him; and you must bury him and remove from off me and from off the house of my father the blood undeservedly shed that Jo′ab spilled. [32] And Jehovah will certainly bring back his blood upon his own head, because he fell upon two men more righteous and better than he was, and he proceeded to kill them with the sword, when my father David himself had not known of it, namely, Ab′ner the son of Ner the chief of the army of Israel and A·ma′sa the son of Je′ther the chief of the army of Judah. [33] And their blood must come back upon the head of Jo′ab and upon the head of his offspring to time indefinite; but for David and for his offspring and for his house and for his throne there will come to be peace to time indefinite from Jehovah.” [34] Then Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da went on up and fell upon him and put him to death; and he got to be buried at his own house in the wilderness. [35] Upon that the king put Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da in place of him over the army; and Za′dok the priest the king put in the place of A·bi′a·thar.

[36] Finally the king sent and called Shim′e·i and said to him: “Build yourself a house in Jerusalem, and you must dwell there and not go out from there to this place and that. [37] And it must occur that on the day of your going out and when you do pass over the torrent valley of Kid′ron, you should unmistakably know that you will positively die. Bloodguilt for you will itself come to be upon your own head.” [38] At this Shimʹe·i said to the king: “The word is good. Just as my lord the king has spoken is the way that your servant will do.” And Shimʹe·i kept dwelling in Jerusalem many days.

[39] And it came about at the end of three years that two slaves of Shimʹe·i went running away to Aʹchish the son of Maʹa·cah the king of Gath; and people came telling Shimʹe·i, saying: “Look! Your slaves are at Gath.” [40] Immediately Shimʹe·i got up and saddled his ass and went to Gath to Aʹchish to look for his slaves; after which Shimʹe·i went and brought his slaves from Gath. [41] Then Solʹo·mon was told: “Shimʹe·i has gone out of Jerusalem to Gath and is back.” [42] At that the king sent and called Shimʹe·i and said to him: “Did I not put you under oath by Jehovah that I might warn you, saying, ‘On the day of your going outside and when you do go here and there you should unmistakably know that you will positively die,’ and so did you not say to me, ‘Good is the word that I have heard’? [43] Why, then, did you not keep the oath of Jehovah and the commandment that I solemnly laid upon you?” [44] And the king went on to say to Shimʹe·i: “You yourself certainly know all the injury which your heart well knows that you did to David my father; and Jehovah will certainly return the injury by you upon your own head. [45] But King Solʹo·mon will be blessed, and the throne of David itself will prove to be firmly established before Jehovah forever.” [46] With that the king commanded Be·naiʹah the son of Je·hoiʹa·da, who then went out and fell upon him, so that he died.

And the kingdom was firmly established in the hand of Solʹo·mon.

3 And Sol′o·mon proceeded to form a marriage alliance with Phar′aoh the king of Egypt and to take Phar′aoh’s daughter and bring her to the City of David, until he finished building his own house and the house of Jehovah and Jerusalem’s wall all around. [2] Only the people were sacrificing on the high places, for a house had not been built to the name of Jehovah down to those days. [3] And Sol′o·mon continued to love Jehovah by walking in the statutes of David his father. Only it was on the high places that he was regularly sacrificing and making offerings smoke.

[4] Accordingly the king went to Gib′e·on to sacrifice there, for that was the great high place. A thousand burnt sacrifices Sol′o·mon proceeded to offer upon that altar. [5] In Gib′e·on Jehovah appeared to Sol′o·mon in a dream by night; and God proceeded to say: “Request what I should give you.” [6] At this Sol′o·mon said: “You yourself have exercised great loving-kindness toward your servant David my father according as he walked before you in truth and in righteousness and in uprightness of heart with you; and you continued keeping toward him this great loving-kindness, so that you gave him a son to sit upon his throne as at this day. [7] And now, Jehovah my God, you yourself have made your servant king in the place of David my father, and I am but a little boy. I do not know how to go out and how to come in. [8] And your servant is in the middle of your people whom you have chosen, a multitudinous people that cannot be numbered or counted for multitude. [9] And you must give to your servant an obedient heart to judge your people, to discern between good and bad; for who is able to judge this difficult people of yours?”

10 And the thing was pleasing in the eyes of Jehovah, because Sol′o·mon had requested this thing. 11 And God went on to say to him: “For the reason that you have requested this thing and have not requested for yourself many days nor requested for yourself riches nor requested the soul of your enemies, and you have requested for yourself understanding to hear judicial cases, 12 look! I shall certainly do according to your words. Look! I shall certainly give you a wise and understanding heart, so that one like you there has not happened to be before you, and after you there will not rise up one like you. 13 And also what you have not requested I will give you, both riches and glory, so that there will not have happened to be any among the kings like you, all your days. 14 And if you will walk in my ways by keeping my regulations and my commandments, just as David your father walked, I will also lengthen your days.”

15 When Sol′o·mon awoke, why, here it had been a dream. Then he came to Jerusalem and stood before the ark of the covenant of Jehovah and offered up burnt sacrifices and rendered up communion offerings and spread a feast for all his servants.

16 At that time two women, prostitutes, got to come in to the king and stand before him. 17 Then the one woman said: “Excuse me, my lord, I and this woman are dwelling in one house, so that I gave birth close by her in the house. 18 And it came about on the third day after I gave birth, this woman also proceeded to give birth. And we were together. There was no stranger with us in the house, no one but the two of us in the house. 19 Later the son of this woman died at night, because she lay upon him. 20 So she got up in the middle of the night and took my son from beside me while your slave girl herself was asleep and laid him in her own bosom, and her dead son she laid in my bosom. 21 When I got up in the morning to nurse my son, why, there he was dead. So I examined him closely in the morning, and, look! he did not prove to be my son that I had borne.” 22 But the other woman said: “No, but my son is the living one and your son is the dead one!” All the while this woman was saying: “No, but your son is the dead one and my son is the living one.” And they kept on speaking before the king.

23 Finally the king said: “This one is saying, ‘This is my son, the living one, and your son is the dead one!’ and that one is saying, ‘No, but your son is the dead one and my son is the living one!’” 24 And the king went on to say: “YOU men, get me a sword.” So they brought the sword before the king. 25 And the king proceeded to say: “YOU men, sever the living child in two and give the one half to the one woman and the other half to the other.” 26 At once the woman whose son was the living one said to the king (for her inward emotions were excited toward her son, so that she said): “Excuse me, my lord! YOU men, give her the living child. Do not by any means put him to death.” All the while this other woman was saying: “Neither mine nor yours will he become. YOU men, do the severing!” 27 At that the king answered and said: “YOU men, give her the living child, and YOU must by no means put him to death. She is his mother.”

28 And all Israel got to hear of the judicial decision that the king had handed down; and they became fearful because of the king, for they saw that the wisdom of God was within him to execute judicial decision.

4 And King Sol′o·mon continued king over all Israel. [2] And these are the princes that he had: Az·a·ri′ah the son of Za′dok, the priest; [3] El·i·hor′eph and A·hi′jah, the sons of Shi′sha, secretaries; Je·hosh′a·phat the son of A·hi′lud, the recorder; [4] and Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da was over the army, and Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar were priests; [5] and Az·a·ri′ah the son of Nathan was over the deputies, and Za′bud the son of Nathan was a priest, the friend of the king; [6] and A·hi′shar was over the household, and Ad·o·ni′ram the son of Ab′da, over those conscripted for forced labor.

[7] And Sol′o·mon had twelve deputies over all Israel, and they provided the king and his household with food. It would devolve upon each one to provide the food one month in the year. [8] And these were their names: The son of Hur, in the mountainous region of E′phra·im; [9] the son of De′ker, in Ma′kaz and in Sha·al′bim and Beth-she′mesh and E′lon-beth-ha′nan; [10] the son of He′sed, in A·rub′both (he had So′coh and all the land of He′pher); [11] the son of A·bin′a·dab, all the mountain ridge of Dor (Ta′phath, Sol′o·mon’s daughter, herself became his wife); [12] Ba′a·na the son of A·hi′lud, in Ta′a·nach and Me·gid′do and all Beth-she′an, which is beside Zar′e·than below Jez′re·el, from Beth-she′an to A′bel-me·ho′lah to the region of Jok′me·am; [13] the son of Ge′ber, in Ra′moth-gil′e·ad (he had the tent villages of Ja′ir the son of Ma·nas′seh, which are in Gil′e·ad; he had the region of Ar′gob, which is in Ba′shan: sixty large cities with wall and copper bar); [14] A·hin′a·dab the son of Id′do, in Ma·ha·na′im; [15] A·him′a·az, in Naph′ta·li (he, too, took Bas′e·math, Sol′o·mon’s daughter, as a wife); [16] Ba′a·na the son of Hu′shai, in Ash′er and Be·a′loth; [17] Je·hosh′a·phat the son of Pa·ru′ah, in Is′sa·char; [18] Shim′e·i the son of E′la, in Benjamin; [19] Ge′ber the son of U′ri, in the land of Gil′e·ad, the land of Si′hon the king of the Am′or·ites, and of Og the king of Ba′shan, and there was one deputy over all the other deputies that were in the land.

[20] Judah and Israel were many, like the grains of sand that are by the sea for multitude, eating and drinking and rejoicing.

[21] As for Sol′o·mon, he proved to be ruler over all the kingdoms from the River to the land of the Phi·lis′tines and to the boundary of Egypt. They were bringing gifts and serving Sol′o·mon all the days of his life.

[22] And Sol′o·mon’s food for each day regularly proved to be thirty cor measures of fine flour and sixty cor measures of flour, [23] ten fat cattle and twenty pastured cattle and a hundred sheep, besides some stags and gazelles and roebucks and fattened cuckoos. [24] For he was holding in subjection everything this side of the River, from Tiph′sah to Ga′za, even all the kings this side of the River; and peace itself became his in every region of his, all around. [25] And Judah and Israel continued to dwell in security, everyone under his own vine and under his own fig tree, from Dan to Be′er-she′ba, all the days of Sol′o·mon.

[26] And Sol′o·mon came to have forty thousand stalls of horses for his chariots and twelve thousand horsemen.

[27] And these deputies supplied food to King Sol′o·mon and everyone approaching the table of King Sol′o·mon, each one in his month. They left nothing lacking. [28] And the barley and the straw for the horses and for the teams of horses they kept bringing to wherever the place might prove to be, each one according to his commission.

[29] And God continued giving Sol′o·mon wisdom and understanding in very great measure and a broadness of heart, like the sand that is upon the seashore. [30] And Sol′o·mon’s wisdom was vaster than the wisdom of all the Orientals and than all the wisdom of Egypt. [31] And he was wiser than any other man, than E′than the Ez′ra·hite and He′man and Cal′col and Dar′da the sons of Ma′hol; and his fame came to be in all the nations all around. [32] And he could speak three thousand proverbs, and his songs came to be a thousand and five. [33] And he would speak about the trees, from the cedar that is in Leb′a·non to the hyssop that is coming forth on the wall; and he would speak about the beasts and about the flying creatures and about the moving things and about the fishes. [34] And they kept coming from all the peoples to hear Sol′o·mon’s wisdom, even from all the kings of the earth who had heard of his wisdom.

5 And Hi′ram the king of Tyre proceeded to send his servants to Sol′o·mon, for he had heard that it was he that they had anointed as king in place of his father; for a lover of David Hi′ram had always proved to be. [2] In turn Sol′o·mon sent to Hi′ram, saying: [3] “You yourself well know that David my father was not able to build a house to the name of Jehovah his God because of the warfare with which they surrounded him, until Jehovah put them under the soles of his feet. [4] And now Jehovah my God has given me rest all around. There is no resister, and there is nothing bad happening. [5] And here I am thinking of building a house to the name of Jehovah my God, just as Jehovah promised to David my father, saying, ‘Your son whom I shall put upon your throne in place of you, he is the one that will build the house to my name.’ [6] And now command that they cut for me cedars from Leb′a·non; and my servants themselves will prove to be with your servants, and the wages of your servants I shall give to you according to all that you may say, for you yourself well know that there is among us no one knowing how to cut trees like the Si·do′ni·ans.”

[7] And it came about that as soon as Hi′ram heard the words of Sol′o·mon, he began to rejoice greatly, and he went on to say: “Blessed is Jehovah today in that he has given David a wise son over this numerous people!” [8] Accordingly Hi′ram sent to Sol′o·mon, saying: “I have heard what you sent to me. For my part, I shall do all your delight in the matter of timbers of cedar trees and timbers of juniper trees. [9] My servants themselves will bring them down out of Leb′a·non to the sea; and I, for my part, shall put them in log rafts to go by sea clear to the place that you will send me notice of; and I shall certainly have them broken up there, and you, for your part, will carry them; and you, for your part, will do my delight by giving the food for my household.”

10 So Hi′ram became a giver of timbers of cedar trees and timbers of juniper trees to Sol′o·mon according to all his delight. 11 And Sol′o·mon, for his part, gave Hi′ram twenty thousand cor measures of wheat as food supplies for his household and twenty cor measures of beaten-out oil. That was what Sol′o·mon kept giving Hi′ram year by year. 12 And Jehovah, for his part, gave Sol′o·mon wisdom, just as he had promised him; and there came to be peace between Hi′ram and Sol′o·mon, and both of them proceeded to conclude a covenant.

13 And King Sol′o·mon kept bringing up those conscripted for forced labor out of all Israel; and those conscripted for forced labor amounted to thirty thousand men. 14 And he would send them to Leb′a·non in shifts of ten thousand a month. For a month they would continue in Leb′a·non, for two months at their homes; and Ad·o·ni′ram was over those conscripted for forced labor. 15 And Sol′o·mon came to have seventy thousand burden bearers and eighty thousand cutters in the mountain, 16 besides Sol′o·mon’s princely deputies who were over the work, three thousand three hundred foremen over the people who were active in the work. 17 Accordingly the king commanded that they should quarry great stones, expensive stones, to lay the foundation of the house with hewn stones. 18 So Sol′o·mon’s builders and Hi′ram’s builders and the Ge′bal·ites did the cutting, and they kept preparing the timbers and the stones to build the house.

6 And it came about in the four hundred and eightieth year after the sons of Israel came out from the land of Egypt, in the fourth year, in the month of Ziv, that is, the second month, after Sol′o·mon became king over Israel, that he proceeded to build the house to Jehovah. [2] And the house that King Sol′o·mon built to Jehovah was sixty cubits in its length, and twenty in its width, and thirty cubits in its height. [3] And the porch in front of the temple of the house was twenty cubits in its length, in front of the width of the house. Ten cubits it was in its depth, in front of the house.

[4] And for the house he went on to make windows of narrowing frames. [5] Further, he built against the wall of the house a side structure all around, against the walls of the house all around the temple and the innermost room, and made side chambers all around. [6] The lowest side chamber was five cubits in its width, and the middle one was six cubits in its width, and the third one was seven cubits in its width; for there were cutbacks that he gave to the house all around outside, that it might not have a hold in the walls of the house.

[7] As for the house, while it was being built, it was of quarry stone already completed that it was built; and as for hammers and axes or any tools of iron, they were not heard in the house while it was being built. [8] The entrance of the lowest side chamber was on the right side of the house, and by a winding staircase they would go up to the middle one, and from the middle one up to the third one. [9] Further, he continued building the house that he might finish it, and covered in the house with beams and rows in cedarwood. [10] Moreover, he built the side chambers against the whole house five cubits in their height, and they had a hold on the house by timbers of cedar trees.

[11] Meantime, the word of Jehovah came to Sol′o·mon, saying: [12] “As regards this house that you are building, if you will walk in my statutes and perform my judicial decisions and actually keep all my commandments by walking in them, I also shall certainly carry out my word with you that I spoke to David your father; [13] and I shall indeed reside in the middle of the sons of Israel, and I shall not leave my people Israel.”

[14] And Sol′o·mon continued building the house that he might finish it. [15] And he proceeded to build the walls of the house inside it with boards of cedar. From the floor of the house up to the rafters of the ceiling he overlaid it with timber inside; and he went on to overlay the floor of the house with boards of juniper. [16] Further, he built twenty cubits at the rear sides of the house with boards of cedar, from the floor up to the rafters, and built for it inside the innermost room, the Most Holy. [17] And it was forty cubits that the house proved to be, that is, the temple in front of it. [18] And the cedarwood on the house inside was with carvings of gourd-shaped ornaments and garlands of blossoms. All of it was cedarwood; there was no stone to be seen.

[19] And the innermost room in the interior of the house he prepared inside, to put there the ark of the covenant of Jehovah. [20] And the innermost room was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in width, and twenty cubits in its height; and he proceeded to overlay it with pure gold, and to overlay the altar with cedarwood. [21] And Sol′o·mon went on to overlay the house inside with pure gold, and to make chainwork of gold pass across in front of the innermost room, and to overlay it with gold. [22] And the whole house he overlaid with gold, until all the house was completed; and all the altar that was toward the innermost room he overlaid with gold.

[23] Further, he made in the innermost room two cherubs of oil-tree wood, ten cubits being the height of each one. [24] And five cubits was the one wing of the cherub, and five cubits was the other wing of the cherub. Ten cubits it was from the tip of his wing to the tip of his wing. [25] And the second cherub was ten cubits. The two cherubs had the same measure and the same shape. [26] The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and that was so of the other cherub. [27] Then he put the cherubs inside the inner house, so that they spread out the wings of the cherubs. Thus the wing of the one reached to the wall and the wing of the other cherub was reaching to the other wall; and their wings were toward the middle of the house, reaching wing to wing. [28] Moreover, he overlaid the cherubs with gold.

[29] And all the walls of the house round about he carved with engraved carvings of cherubs and palm-tree figures and engravings of blossoms, inside and outside; [30] and the floor of the house he overlaid with gold, inside and outside. [31] And the entrance of the innermost room he made with doors of oil-tree wood: side pillars, doorposts and a fifth. [32] And the two doors were of oil-tree wood, and he carved upon them carvings of cherubs and palm-tree figures and the engravings of blossoms, and he overlaid them with gold; and he proceeded to beat the gold down upon the cherubs and the palm-tree figures. [33] And that was the way he made for the entrance of the temple, the doorposts of oil-tree wood, foursquare. [34] And the two doors were of juniper wood. The two leaves of the one door turned on pivots, and the two leaves of the other door turned on pivots. [35] And he carved cherubs and palm-tree figures and engravings of blossoms, and overlaid gold foil upon the representations.

[36] And he went on to build the inner courtyard with three rows of hewn stone and a row of beams of cedarwood.

[37] In the fourth year the house of Jehovah had its foundation laid, in the lunar month of Ziv; [38] and in the eleventh year, in the lunar month of Bul, that is, the eighth month, the house was finished as regards all its details and all its plan; so that he was seven years at building it.

7 And his own house Sol′o·mon built in thirteen years, so that he finished all his own house.

[2] And he proceeded to build the House of the Forest of Leb′a·non a hundred cubits in its length, and fifty cubits in its width, and thirty cubits in its height, upon four rows of pillars of cedarwood; and there were beams of cedarwood upon the pillars. [3] And it was paneled in with cedarwood above upon the girders that were upon the forty-five pillars. There were fifteen to a row. [4] As for framed windows, there were three rows, and there was an illumination opening opposite an illumination opening in three tiers. [5] And all the entrances and the doorposts were squared with the frame, and also the forefront of the illumination opening opposite an illumination opening in three tiers.

[6] And the Porch of Pillars he made fifty cubits in its length, and thirty cubits in its width; and another porch was in front of them with pillars and a canopy in front of them.

[7] As for the Porch of the Throne where he would do judging, he made the porch of judgment; and they covered it in with cedarwood from the floor to the rafters.

[8] As regards the house of his where he was to dwell, at the other courtyard, it was away from the house belonging to the Porch. It proved to be like this in workmanship. And there was a house like this Porch that he proceeded to build for Phar′aoh’s daughter, whom Sol′o·mon had taken.

[9] All these were of expensive stones according to measures, hewn, sawed with stone-saws, inside and outside, and from the foundation up to the coping, and outside as far as the great courtyard. [10] And the expensive stones laid as a foundation were great stones, stones of ten cubits, and stones of eight cubits. [11] And up above there were expensive stones according to measures, hewn, and also cedarwood. [12] As for the great courtyard, round about were three rows of hewn stone and a row of beams of cedarwood; and this also for the inner courtyard of the house of Jehovah, and for the porch of the house.

[13] And King Solʹo·mon proceeded to send and fetch Hiʹram out of Tyre. [14] He was the son of a widowed woman from the tribe of Naphʹta·li, and his father was a Tyrʹi·an man, a worker in copper; and he was full of the wisdom and the understanding and the knowledge for doing every sort of work in copper. Accordingly he came to King Solʹo·mon and began to do all his work.

[15] Then he cast the two pillars of copper, eighteen cubits being the height of each pillar, and a string of twelve cubits would measure around each of the two pillars. [16] And two capitals he made to put upon the tops of the pillars, cast in copper. Five cubits was the height of the one capital, and five cubits was the height of the other capital. [17] There were nets in network, twisted ornaments in chainwork, for the capitals that were upon the top of the pillars; seven for the one capital, and seven for the other capital. [18] And he went on to make the pomegranates and two rows round about upon the one network to cover the capitals that were upon the top of the pillars; and that was what he did for the other capital. [19] And the capitals that were upon the top of the pillars at the porch were of lily work, of four cubits. [20] And the capitals were upon the two pillars, also up close beside the belly that was adjoining the network; and there were two hundred pomegranates in rows all around upon each capital.

[21] And he proceeded to set up the pillars belonging to the porch of the temple. So he set up the right-hand pillar and called its name Ja′chin, and then set up the left-hand pillar and called its name Bo′az. [22] And upon the top of the pillars there was lily work. And the work of the pillars was gradually completed.

[23] And he proceeded to make the molten sea ten cubits from its one brim to its other brim, circular all around; and its height was five cubits, and it took a line of thirty cubits to circle all around it. [24] And there were gourd-shaped ornaments down below its brim all around, encircling it, ten in a cubit, enclosing the sea all around, with two rows of the gourd-shaped ornaments cast in its casting. [25] It was standing upon twelve bulls, three facing north, and three facing west, and three facing south, and three facing east; and the sea was above upon them, and all their hind parts were toward the center. [26] And its thickness was a handbreadth; and its brim was like the workmanship of the brim of a cup, a lily blossom. Two thousand bath measures were what it would contain.

[27] And he went on to make the ten carriages of copper, four cubits being the length of each carriage, and four cubits its width, and three cubits its height. [28] And this was the workmanship of the carriages: they had sidewalls, and the sidewalls were between the crossbars. [29] And upon the sidewalls that were between the crossbars there were lions, bulls and cherubs, and over the crossbars it was like that. Up above and beneath the lions and the bulls there were wreaths in hanging work. [30] And there were four wheels of copper to each carriage, with axles of copper; and its four cornerpieces were supports for them. Beneath the basin were the supports, cast with wreaths across from each. [31] And its mouth from inside to the supports and upward was [?] cubits; and its mouth was round, the workmanship of a stand of one and a half cubits, and also upon its mouth there were carvings. And their sidewalls were squared, not round. [32] And the four wheels were down below the sidewalls, and the supports of the wheels were by the carriage; and the height of each wheel was one and a half cubits. [33] And the workmanship of the wheels was like the workmanship of a chariot wheel. Their supports and their felloes and their spokes and their hubs, they were all cast. [34] And there were four supports upon the four corners of each carriage; its supports were of one piece with the carriage. [35] And on top of the carriage there was a stand a half a cubit in height, circular all around; and upon the top of the carriage its sides and its sidewalls were of one piece with it. [36] Further, he engraved upon the plates of its sides and upon its sidewalls cherubs, lions and palm-tree figures according to the clear space of each, and wreaths all around. [37] It was like this that he made the ten carriages; they all had one cast, one measure, one shape.

[38] And he proceeded to make ten basins of copper. Forty bath measures were what each basin would contain. Each basin was four cubits. There was one basin upon each carriage for the ten carriages. [39] Then he put five carriages on the right side of the house, and five on the left side of the house; and the sea itself he put to the right side of the house eastward, toward the south.

[40] And Hi′ram gradually made the basins and the shovels and the bowls. At length Hi′ram finished doing all the work that he did for King Sol′o·mon as respects the house of Jehovah: [41] The two pillars and the bowl-shaped capitals that were upon the top of the two pillars, and the two networks to cover the two round capitals that were upon the top of the pillars, [42] and the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two rows of pomegranates to each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals that were upon the two pillars; [43] and the ten carriages and the ten basins upon the carriages, [44] and the one sea and the twelve bulls beneath the sea; [45] and the cans and the shovels and the bowls and all these utensils, which Hi′ram made of polished copper for King Sol′o·mon for the house of Jehovah. [46] In the District of the Jordan it was that the king cast them in the clay mold, between Suc′coth and Zar′e·than.

[47] And Sol′o·mon left all the utensils unweighed because of so extraordinarily great a quantity. The weight of the copper was not ascertained. [48] And Sol′o·mon gradually made all the utensils that pertained to the house of Jehovah, the altar of gold and the table on which was the showbread, of gold, [49] and the lampstands, five to the right and five to the left before the innermost room, of pure gold, and the blossoms and the lamps and the snuffers, of gold, [50] and the basins and the extinguishers and the bowls and the cups and the fire holders, of pure gold, and the sockets for the doors of the inner house, that is, the Most Holy, and for the doors of the house of the temple, of gold.

[51] Finally all the work that King Sol′o·mon had to do as regards the house of Jehovah was at its completion; and Sol′o·mon began to bring in the things made holy by David his father; the silver and the gold and the articles he put in the treasures of the house of Jehovah.

8 At that time Sol′o·mon proceeded to congregate the older men of Israel, all the heads of the tribes, the chieftains of the fathers, of the sons of Israel, to King Sol′o·mon at Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of Jehovah out of the City of David, that is to say, Zion. [2] So all the men of Israel congregated themselves to King Sol′o·mon in the lunar month of Eth′a·nim in the festival, that is, the seventh month. [3] So all the older men of Israel came, and the priests began to carry the Ark. [4] And they came bringing up the ark of Jehovah and the tent of meeting and all the holy utensils that were in the tent; and the priests and the Levites came bringing them up. [5] And King Sol′o·mon and with him all the assembly of Israel, those keeping their appointment with him, were before the Ark, sacrificing sheep and cattle that could not be counted or numbered for multitude.

[6] Then the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of Jehovah to its place, to the innermost room of the house, the Most Holy, to underneath the wings of the cherubs.

[7] For the cherubs were spreading out their wings over the place of the Ark, so that the cherubs kept the Ark and its poles screened over from above. [8] But the poles proved to be long, so that the tips of the poles were visible from the Holy in front of the innermost room, but they were not visible outside. And there they continue down to this day. [9] There was nothing in the Ark but the two stone tablets which Moses had deposited there in Ho′reb, when Jehovah had covenanted with the sons of Israel while they were coming out from the land of Egypt.

[10] And it came about that when the priests came out from the holy place, the cloud itself filled the house of Jehovah. [11]

And the priests were unable to stand to do their ministering because of the cloud, for the glory of Jehovah filled the house of Jehovah. [12] At that time Sol′o·mon said: “Jehovah himself said he was to reside in the thick gloom. [13] I have successfully built a house of lofty abode for you, an established place for you to dwell in to time indefinite.”

[14] Then the king turned his face and began to bless all the congregation of Israel, while all the congregation of Israel were standing up. [15] And he went on to say: “Blessed is Jehovah the God of Israel, who spoke by his own mouth with David my father and by his own hand has given fulfillment, saying, [16] ‘From the day that I brought my people Israel out from Egypt I have not chosen a city out of all the tribes of Israel to build a house for my name to continue there; but I shall choose David to come to be over my people Israel.’ [17] And it came to be close to the heart of David my father to build a house to the name of Jehovah the God of Israel. [18] But Jehovah said to David my father, ‘For the reason that it proved to be close to your heart to build a house to my name, you did well, because it proved to be close to your heart. [19] Only you yourself will not build the house, but your son who is coming forth from your loins is the one that will build the house to my name.’ [20] And Jehovah proceeded to carry out his word that he had spoken, that I might rise up in the place of David my father and sit upon the throne of Israel, just as Jehovah had spoken, and that I might build the house to the name of Jehovah the God of Israel, [21] and that I might locate a place there for the Ark where the covenant of Jehovah is that he concluded with our forefathers when he was bringing them out from the land of Egypt.”

[22] And Sol′o·mon began standing before the altar of Jehovah in front of all the congregation of Israel, and he now spread his palms out to the heavens; [23] and he went on to say: “O

Jehovah the God of Israel, there is no God like you in the heavens above or on the earth beneath, keeping the covenant and the loving-kindness toward your servants who are walking before you with all their heart, [24] you who have kept toward your servant David my father that which you promised him, so that you made the promise with your own mouth, and with your own hand you have made the fulfillment, as at this day. [25] And now, O Jehovah the God of Israel, keep toward your servant David my father that which you promised him, saying, ‘There will not be cut off a man of yours from before me to sit upon the throne of Israel, if only your sons will take care of their way by walking before me just as you have walked before me.’ [26] And now, O God of Israel, let your promise that you have promised to your servant David my father prove trustworthy, please.

[27] “But will God truly dwell upon the earth? Look! The heavens, yes, the heaven of the heavens, themselves cannot contain you; how much less, then, this house that I have built! [28] And you must turn toward the prayer of your servant and to his request for favor, O Jehovah my God, to listen to the entreating cry and to the prayer with which your servant is praying before you today; [29] that your eyes may prove to be opened toward this house night and day, toward the place of which you said, ‘My name will prove to be there,’ to listen to the prayer with which your servant prays toward this place. [30] And you must listen to the request for favor on the part of your servant and of your people Israel with which they pray toward this place; and may you yourself hear at the place of your dwelling, in the heavens, and you must hear and forgive.

[31] “When a man sins against his fellowman, and he actually lays a cursing upon him to bring him under liability to the curse, and he actually comes within the curse before your altar in this house, [32] then may you yourself hear from the heavens, and you must act and judge your servants by pronouncing the wicked one wicked by putting his way upon his own head, and by pronouncing the righteous one righteous by giving to him according to his own righteousness.

33 “When your people Israel are defeated before the enemy, because they kept sinning against you, and they indeed return to you and laud your name and pray and make request for favor toward you in this house, 34 then may you yourself hear from the heavens, and you must forgive the sin of your people Israel and you must bring them back to the ground that you gave to their forefathers.

35 “When heaven is shut up so that no rain occurs, because they kept sinning against you, and they actually pray toward this place and laud your name, and from their sin they turn back, because you kept afflicting them, 36 then may you yourself hear from the heavens, and you must forgive the sin of your servants, even of your people Israel, because you teach them the good way in which they should walk; and you must give rain upon your land that you have given to your people as a hereditary possession.

37 “In case a famine occurs in the land, in case a pestilence occurs, in case scorching, mildew, locusts, cockroaches occur; in case their enemy besieges them in the land of their gates—any sort of plague, any sort of malady— 38 whatever prayer, whatever request for favor there may occur on the part of any man or of all your people Israel, because they know each one the plague of his own heart, and they actually spread out their palms to this house, 39 then may you yourself hear from the heavens, your established place of dwelling, and you must forgive and act and give to each one according to all his ways, because you know his heart (for you yourself alone well know the heart of all the sons of mankind); [40] to the end that they may fear you all the days that they are alive upon the surface of the ground that you gave to our forefathers.

[41] “And also to the foreigner, who is no part of your people Israel and who actually comes from a distant land by reason of your name [42] (for they shall hear of your great name and of your strong hand and of your stretched-out arm), and he actually comes and prays toward this house, [43] may you yourself listen from the heavens, your established place of dwelling, and you must do according to all that for which the foreigner calls to you; in order that all the peoples of the earth may get to know your name so as to fear you the same as your people Israel do, and so as to know that your name itself has been called upon this house that I have built.

[44] “In case your people go out to the war against their enemy in the way that you send them, and they indeed pray to Jehovah in the direction of the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built to your name, [45] you must also hear from the heavens their prayer and their request for favor, and you must execute judgment for them.

[46] “In case they sin against you (for there is no man that does not sin), and you have to be incensed at them and abandon them to the enemy, and their captors actually carry them off captive to the land of the enemy distant or nearby; [47] and they indeed come to their senses in the land where they have been carried off captive, and they actually return and make request to you for favor in the land of their captors, saying, ‘We have sinned and erred, we have acted wickedly’; [48] and they indeed return to you with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their enemies who carried them off captive, and they indeed pray to you in the direction of their land that you gave to their forefathers, the city that you have chosen and the house that I have built to your name; [49] you must also hear from the heavens, your established place of dwelling, their prayer and their request for favor, and you must execute judgment for them, [50] and you must forgive your people who had sinned against you and all their transgressions with which they transgressed against you; and you must make them objects of pity before their captors and they must pity them [51] (for they are your people and your inheritance, whom you brought out from Egypt, from inside the iron furnace), [52] that your eyes may prove to be opened to the request for favor of your servant and to the request for favor of your people Israel, by listening to them in all for which they call to you. [53] For you yourself separated them as your inheritance out of all the peoples of the earth, just as you have spoken by means of Moses your servant when you were bringing our forefathers out from Egypt, O Sovereign Lord Jehovah."

[54] And it came about that, as soon as Sol′o·mon finished praying to Jehovah with all this prayer and request for favor, he rose up from before the altar of Jehovah, from bending down upon his knees with his palms spread out to the heavens; [55] and he began to stand and bless all the congregation of Israel with a loud voice, saying: [56] "Blessed be Jehovah, who has given a resting-place to his people Israel according to all that he has promised. There has not failed one word of all his good promise that he has promised by means of Moses his servant. [57] May Jehovah our God prove to be with us just as he proved to be with our forefathers. May he neither leave us nor forsake us, [58] so as to incline our heart to himself to walk in all his ways and to keep his commandments and his regulations and his judicial decisions, which he gave in command to our forefathers. [59] And may these words of mine with which I have made request for favor before Jehovah prove to be near to Jehovah our God by day and night, that he may execute judgment for his servant and judgment for his people Israel as it may require day by day; [60] to the end that all the peoples of the earth may know that Jehovah is the true God. There is no other. [61] And YOUR heart must prove to be complete with Jehovah our God by walking in his regulations and by keeping his commandments as at this day.”

[62] And the king and all Israel with him were offering a grand sacrifice before Jehovah. [63] And Sol′o·mon proceeded to offer the communion sacrifices that he had to offer to Jehovah, twenty-two thousand cattle and a hundred and twenty thousand sheep, that the king and all the sons of Israel might inaugurate the house of Jehovah. [64] On that day the king had to sanctify the middle of the courtyard that is before the house of Jehovah, because there he had to render up the burnt sacrifice and the grain offering and the fat pieces of the communion sacrifices; for the copper altar that is before Jehovah was too small to contain the burnt sacrifice and the grain offering and the fat pieces of the communion sacrifices. [65] And Sol′o·mon proceeded to carry on at that time the festival, and all Israel with him, a great congregation from the entering in of Ha′math down to the torrent valley of Egypt, before Jehovah our God seven days and another seven days, fourteen days. [66] On the eighth day he sent the people away; and they began to bless the king and to go to their homes, rejoicing and feeling merry of heart over all the goodness that Jehovah had performed for David his servant and for Israel his people.

9 And it came about that, as soon as Sol′o·mon had finished building the house of Jehovah and the house of the king and every desirable thing of Sol′o·mon that he took delight in making, [2] then Jehovah appeared to Sol′o·mon the second time, the same as he had appeared to him in Gib′e·on. [3] And Jehovah went on to say to him: “I have heard your prayer and your request for favor with which you requested favor before me. I have sanctified this house that you have built by putting my name there to time indefinite; and my eyes and my heart will certainly prove to be there always. [4] And you, if you will walk before me, just as David your father walked, with integrity of heart and with uprightness by doing according to all that I have commanded you, and you will keep my regulations and my judicial decisions, [5] I also shall indeed establish the throne of your kingdom over Israel to time indefinite, just as I promised David your father, saying, ‘Not a man of yours will be cut off from sitting upon the throne of Israel.’ [6] If YOU yourselves and YOUR sons should definitely turn back from following me and not keep my commandments and my statutes that I have put before YOU men, and YOU actually go and serve other gods and bow down to them, [7] I will also cut Israel off from upon the surface of the ground that I have given to them; and the house that I have sanctified to my name I shall throw away from before me, and Israel will indeed become a proverbial saying and a taunt among all the peoples. [8] And this house itself will become heaps of ruins. Everyone passing by it will stare in amazement and will certainly whistle and say, ‘For what reason did Jehovah do like that to this land and this house?’ [9] And they will have to say, ‘For the reason that they left Jehovah their God who had brought their forefathers out from the land of Egypt, and they proceeded to take hold of other gods and bow down to them and serve them. That is why Jehovah brought upon them all this calamity.’”

10 And it came about at the end of twenty years, in which Sol′o·mon built the two houses, the house of Jehovah and the house of the king, 11 (Hi′ram the king of Tyre had himself assisted Sol′o·mon with timbers of cedar trees and timbers of juniper trees and with gold as much as he delighted in,) that at that time King Sol′o·mon proceeded to give to Hi′ram twenty cities in the land of Gal′i·lee. 12 Accordingly Hi′ram went out from Tyre to see the cities that Sol′o·mon had given him, and they were not just right in his eyes. 13 So he said: “What sort of cities are these that you have given me, my brother?” And they came to be called the Land of Ca′bul down to this day.

14 In the meantime Hi′ram sent to the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold.

15 Now this is the account of those conscripted for forced labor that King Sol′o·mon levied to build the house of Jehovah and his own house and the Mound and the wall of Jerusalem and Ha′zor and Me·gid′do and Ge′zer. 16 (Phar′aoh the king of Egypt himself had come up and then captured Ge′zer and burned it with fire, and the Ca′naan·ites dwelling in the city he had killed. So he gave it as a parting gift to his daughter, the wife of Sol′o·mon.) 17 And Sol′o·mon went on to build Ge′zer and Lower Beth-ho′ron, 18 and Ba′al·ath and Ta′mar in the wilderness, in the land, 19 and all the storage cities that became Sol′o·mon’s and the chariot cities and the cities for the horsemen, and the desirable things of Sol′o·mon that he had desired to build in Jerusalem and in Leb′a·non and in all the land of his dominion. 20 As for all the people remaining over from the Am′or·ites, the Hit′tites, the Per′iz·zites, the Hi′vites and the Jeb′u·sites, who were no part of the sons of Israel, 21 their sons who had been left over after them in the land whom the sons of Israel had been unable to devote to destruction, Sol′o·mon kept levying them for slavish forced labor until this day. [22] And there were none of the sons of Israel that Sol′o·mon constituted slaves; for they were the warriors and his servants and his princes and his adjutants and chiefs of his charioteers and of his horsemen. [23] These were the chiefs of the deputies who were over the work of Sol′o·mon, five hundred and fifty, the foremen over the people who were active in the work.

[24] However, Phar′aoh’s daughter herself came up out of the City of David to her own house that he had built for her. It was then that he built the Mound.

[25] And Sol′o·mon continued three times in the year to offer up burnt sacrifices and communion sacrifices upon the altar that he had built for Jehovah, and there was a making of sacrificial smoke on the altar, which was before Jehovah; and he completed the house.

[26] And there was a fleet of ships that King Sol′o·mon made in E′zi·on-ge′ber, which is by E′loth, upon the shore of the Red Sea in the land of E′dom. [27] And Hi′ram kept sending in the fleet of ships his own servants, seamen, having a knowledge of the sea, along with the servants of Sol′o·mon. [28] And they proceeded to go to O′phir and take from there four hundred and twenty talents of gold and bring it in to King Sol′o·mon.

10 Now the queen of She′ba was hearing the report about Sol′o·mon in connection with the name of Jehovah. So she came to test him with perplexing questions. [2] Finally she arrived at Jerusalem with a very impressive train, camels carrying balsam oil and very much gold and precious stones; and she came on in to Sol′o·mon and began to speak to him all that happened to be close to her heart. [3] Sol′o·mon, in turn, went on to tell her all her matters. There proved to be no matter hidden from the king that he did not tell her.

[4] When the queen of She′ba got to see all the wisdom of Sol′o·mon and the house that he had built, [5] and the food of his table and the sitting of his servants and the table service of his waiters and their attire and his drinks and his burnt sacrifices that he regularly offered up at the house of Jehovah, then there proved to be no more spirit in her. [6] So she said to the king: “True has the word proved to be that I heard in my own land about your matters and about your wisdom. [7] And I did not put faith in the words until I had come that my own eyes might see; and, look! I had not been told the half. You have surpassed in wisdom and prosperity the things heard to which I listened. [8] Happy are your men; happy are these servants of yours who are standing before you constantly, listening to your wisdom! [9] May Jehovah your God come to be blessed, who has taken delight in you by putting you upon the throne of Israel; because Jehovah loves Israel to time indefinite, so that he appointed you as king to render judicial decision and righteousness.”

[10] Then she gave the king a hundred and twenty talents of gold and a very great deal of balsam oil and precious stones. There never came anymore the like of that balsam oil for quantity such as the queen of She′ba gave to King Sol′o·mon.

[11] And Hi′ram’s fleet of ships that carried gold from O′phir also brought from O′phir timbers of algum trees in very great amount and precious stones. [12] And the king proceeded to make out of the timbers of the algum trees supports for the house of Jehovah and for the house of the king, and also harps and stringed instruments for the singers. Timbers of algum trees like this have not come in nor have they been seen down to this day.

[13] And King Sol′o·mon himself gave the queen of She′ba all her delight for which she asked, apart from what he gave her according to the openhandedness of King Sol′o·mon. After that she turned about and went to her own land, she together with her servants.

[14] And the weight of the gold that came to Sol′o·mon in one year amounted up to six hundred and sixty-six talents of gold, [15] apart from the men of travel and the profit from the traders and all the kings of the Arabs and the governors of the land.

[16] And King Sol′o·mon went on to make two hundred large shields of alloyed gold (six hundred shekels of gold he proceeded to lay upon each large shield), [17] and three hundred bucklers of alloyed gold (three mi′nas of gold he proceeded to lay upon each buckler). Then the king put them in the House of the Forest of Leb′a·non.

[18] Further, the king made a great ivory throne and overlaid it with refined gold. [19] There were six steps to the throne, and the throne had a round canopy behind it, and there were armrests on this side and on that side by the place of sitting, and two lions were standing beside the armrests. [20] And there were twelve lions standing there upon the six steps, on this side and on that side. No other kingdom had any made just like it.

[21] And all the drinking vessels of King Sol′o·mon were of gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Leb′a·non were of pure gold. There was nothing of silver; it was considered in the days of Sol′o·mon as nothing at all. [22] For the king had a fleet of ships of Tar′shish on the sea along with Hi′ram’s fleet of ships. Once every three years the fleet of ships of Tar′shish would come carrying gold and silver, ivory, and apes and peacocks.

[23] So King Sol′o·mon was greater in riches and wisdom than all the other kings of the earth. [24] And all the people of the earth were seeking the face of Sol′o·mon to hear his wisdom that God had put in his heart. [25] And they were bringing each his gift, articles of silver and articles of gold and garments and armor and balsam oil, horses and mules, as a yearly matter of course.

[26] And Sol′o·mon kept gathering more chariots and steeds; and he came to have a thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand steeds, and he kept them stationed in the chariot cities and close by the king in Jerusalem.

[27] And the king came to make the silver in Jerusalem like the stones, and cedarwood he made like the sycamore trees that are in the She·phe′lah for great quantity.

[28] And there was the export of the horses that Sol′o·mon had from Egypt, and the company of the king’s merchants would themselves take the horse drove for a price. [29] And a chariot customarily came up and was exported from Egypt for six hundred silver pieces, and a horse for a hundred and fifty; and that was the way it was for all the kings of the Hit′tites and the kings of Syria. It was by means of them that they did the exporting.

11 And King Sol′o·mon himself loved many foreign wives along with the daughter of Phar′aoh, Mo′ab·ite, Am′mon·ite, E′dom·ite, Si·do′ni·an and Hit′tite women, [2] from the nations of whom Jehovah had said to the sons of Israel: “YOU must not go in among them, and they themselves should not come in among YOU; truly they will incline YOUR heart to follow their gods.” It was to them that Sol′o·mon clung to love them. [3] And he came to have seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines; and his wives gradually inclined his heart. [4] And it came about in the time of Sol′o·mon’s growing old that his wives themselves had inclined his heart to follow other gods; and his heart did not prove to be complete with Jehovah his God like the heart of David his father. [5] And Sol′o·mon began going after Ash′to·reth the goddess of the Si·do′ni·ans and after Mil′com the disgusting thing of the Am′mon·ites. [6] And Sol′o·mon began to do what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah, and he did not follow Jehovah fully like David his father.

[7] It was then that Sol′o·mon proceeded to build a high place to Che′mosh the disgusting thing of Mo′ab on the mountain that was in front of Jerusalem, and to Mo′lech the disgusting thing of the sons of Am′mon. [8] And that was the way he did for all his foreign wives who were making sacrificial smoke and sacrificing to their gods.

[9] And Jehovah came to be incensed at Sol′o·mon, because his heart had inclined away from Jehovah the God of Israel, the one appearing to him twice. [10] And respecting this thing he commanded him not to go after other gods; but he had not kept that which Jehovah had commanded. [11] Jehovah now said to Sol′o·mon: “For the reason that this has taken place with you and you have not kept my covenant and my statutes that I laid in command upon you, I shall without fail rip the kingdom away from off you, and I shall certainly give it to your servant. [12] However, in your days I shall not do it, for the sake of David your father. Out of the hand of your son I shall rip it away. [13] Only it will not be all the kingdom that I shall rip away. One tribe I shall give to your son, for the sake of David my servant and for the sake of Jerusalem which I have chosen."

[14] And Jehovah began to raise up a resister to Sol′o·mon, namely, Ha′dad the E′dom·ite of the offspring of the king. He was in E′dom. [15] And it came about when David struck down E′dom, when Jo′ab the chief of the army came up to bury those slain, that he tried to strike down every male in E′dom. [16] (For it was six months that Jo′ab and all Israel dwelt there until he had cut off every male in E′dom.) [17] And Ha′dad went running away, he and some E′dom·ite men of the servants of his father with him, to come into Egypt, while Ha′dad was a young boy. [18] So they rose up out of Mid′i·an and came into Pa′ran and took men with them from Pa′ran and came into Egypt to Phar′aoh the king of Egypt, who then gave him a house. Also, bread he assigned to him, and land he gave him. [19] And Ha′dad continued to find favor in the eyes of Phar′aoh, so much that he gave him a wife, the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tah′pe·nes the lady. [20] In time the sister of Tah′pe·nes bore him Ge·nu′bath his son, and Tah′pe·nes got to wean him right inside the house of Phar′aoh; and Ge·nu′bath continued at the house of Phar′aoh right among the sons of Phar′aoh.

[21] And Ha′dad himself heard in Egypt that David had lain down with his forefathers and that Jo′ab the chief of the army had died. So Ha′dad said to Phar′aoh: "Send me away, that I may go to my own land." [22] But Phar′aoh said to him: "What are you in need of while with me that here you are seeking to go to your own land?” To this he said: “Nothing; but you ought to send me away without fail.”

[23] And God proceeded to raise up to him another resister, namely, Reʹzon the son of E·liʹa·da, who had run away from Had·ad·eʹzer the king of Zoʹbah his lord. [24] And he kept collecting men to his side and came to be chief of a marauder band, when David killed them. So they went to Damascus and took up dwelling in it and began reigning in Damascus. [25] And he came to be a resister of Israel all the days of Solʹo·mon, and that along with the injury that Haʹdad did; and he had an abhorrence of Israel while he continued reigning over Syria.

[26] And there was Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat an Eʹphra·im·ite from Zerʹe·dah, a servant of Solʹo·mon, and his mother’s name was Ze·ruʹah, a widowed woman. He too began to lift up his hand against the king. [27] And this is the reason why he lifted up his hand against the king: Solʹo·mon himself had built the Mound. He had closed up the gap of the City of David his father. [28] Now the man Jer·o·boʹam was a valiant, mighty man. When Solʹo·mon got to see that the young man was a hard worker, he proceeded to make him overseer over all the compulsory service of the house of Joseph. [29] And it came about at that particular time that Jer·o·boʹam himself went out from Jerusalem, and A·hiʹjah the Shiʹlo·nite the prophet got to find him on the road, and A·hiʹjah was covering himself with a new garment; and the two of them were by themselves in the field. [30] A·hiʹjah now took hold of the new garment that was on him and ripped it into twelve pieces. [31] And he went on to say to Jer·o·boʹam:

“Take for yourself ten pieces; for this is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘Here I am ripping the kingdom out of the hand of Solʹo·mon, and I shall certainly give you ten tribes. [32] And the one tribe is what will continue his for the sake of my servant David and for the sake of Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel. [33] The reason why is that they have left me and begun to bow down to Ash′to·reth the goddess of the Si·do′ni·ans, to Che′mosh the god of Mo′ab and to Mil′com the god of the sons of Am′mon; and they have not walked in my ways by doing what is right in my eyes and my statutes and my judicial decisions like David his father. [34] But I shall not take the entire kingdom out of his hand, because a chieftain I shall set him for all the days of his life, for the sake of David my servant whom I chose, because he kept my commandments and my statutes. [35] And I shall certainly take the kingship out of the hand of his son and give it to you, even ten tribes. [36] And to his son I shall give one tribe, in order that David my servant may continue having a lamp always before me in Jerusalem, the city that I have chosen for myself to put my name there. [37] And you are the one that I shall take, and you will indeed reign over all that your soul craves, and you will certainly become king over Israel. [38] And it must occur that, if you obey all that I shall command you, and you do walk in my ways and actually do what is right in my eyes by keeping my statutes and my commandments, just as David my servant did, I will also prove to be with you, and I will build you a lasting house, just as I have built for David, and I will give you Israel. [39] And I shall humiliate the offspring of David on account of this, only not always.’”

[40] And Sol′o·mon began seeking to put Jer·o·bo′am to death. So Jer·o·bo′am got up and went running off to Egypt to Shi′shak the king of Egypt, and he continued in Egypt until Sol′o·mon’s death.

[41] As for the rest of the affairs of Sol′o·mon and all that he did and his wisdom, are they not written in the book of the affairs of Sol′o·mon? [42] And the days that Sol′o·mon had reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel were forty years. [43] Then Sol′o·mon lay down with his forefathers, and was buried in the City of David his father; and Re·ho·bo′am his son began to reign in place of him.

12 And Re·ho·boʹam proceeded to go to Sheʹchem, for it was to Sheʹchem that all Israel came to make him king. [2] And it came about that as soon as Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat heard of it while he was yet in Egypt (because he had run off on account of King Solʹo·mon, that Jer·o·boʹam might dwell in Egypt), [3] then they sent and called him. After that Jer·o·boʹam and all the congregation of Israel came and began to speak to Re·ho·boʹam, saying: [4] “Your father, for his part, made our yoke hard, and, as for you, now make the hard service of your father and his heavy yoke that he put upon us lighter, and we shall serve you.”

[5] At this he said to them: “Go away for three days and return to me.” So the people went away. [6] And King Re·ho·boʹam began to take counsel with the older men who had continued attending upon Solʹo·mon his father while he continued alive, saying: “How are YOU advising to reply to this people?” [7] Accordingly they spoke to him, saying: “If today you would prove yourself a servant to this people and actually serve them, you must also answer them and speak to them with good words; and they will be bound to become your servants always.”

[8] However, he left the counsel of the older men with which they had advised him, and he began to take counsel with the young men that had grown up with him, who were the ones attending upon him. [9] And he went on to say to them: “What is it that YOU are offering in counsel that we may reply to this people who have spoken to me, saying, ‘Make the yoke that your father put upon us lighter’?” [10] In turn the young men that had grown up with him spoke to him, saying: “This is what you should say to this people who have spoken to you, saying, ‘Your father, for his part, made our yoke heavy, but, as for you, make it lighter upon us’; this is what you should speak to them, ‘My little finger itself will certainly be thicker than my father’s hips. [11] And now my father, for his part, loaded upon YOU a heavy yoke; but I, for my part, shall add to YOUR yoke. My father, for his part, chastised YOU with whips, but I, for my part, shall chastise YOU with scourges.’”

[12] And Jer·o·boʹam and all the people proceeded to come to Re·ho·boʹam on the third day, just as the king had spoken, saying: “Return to me on the third day.” [13] And the king began to answer the people harshly, and to leave the counsel of the older men who had counseled him. [14] And he went on to speak to them according to the counsel of the young men, saying: “My father, for his part, made YOUR yoke heavy, but I, for my part, shall add to YOUR yoke. My father, for his part, chastised YOU with whips, but I, for my part, shall chastise YOU with scourges.” [15] And the king did not listen to the people, because the turn of affairs took place at the instance of Jehovah, in order that he might indeed carry out his word that Jehovah had spoken by means of A·hiʹjah the Shiʹlo·nite to Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat.

[16] When all Israel got to see that the king had not listened to them, then the people replied to the king, saying: “What share do we have in David? And there is no inheritance in the son of Jesʹse. To your gods, O Israel. Now see to your own house, O David! ” With that Israel began to go to their tents. [17] As for the sons of Israel that were dwelling in the cities of Judah, Re·ho·boʹam continued to reign over them.

[18] Subsequently King Re·ho·boʹam sent A·doʹram, who was over those conscripted for forced labor, but all Israel pelted him with stones, so that he died. And King Re·ho·boʹam himself managed to get up into the chariot to flee to Jerusalem. [19] And the Israelites kept up their revolt against the house of David down to this day.

[20] And it came about that as soon as all Israel heard that Jer·o·boʹam had returned, they at once sent and called him to the assembly and made him king over all Israel. None became a follower of the house of David except the tribe of Judah by itself.

[21] When Re·ho·boʹam arrived at Jerusalem, he immediately congregated all the house of Judah and the tribe of Benjamin, a hundred and eighty thousand choice men able-bodied for war, to fight against the house of Israel, so as to bring the kingship back to Re·ho·boʹam the son of Solʹo·mon. [22] Then the word of the true God came to She·maiʹah the man of the true God, saying: [23] “Say to Re·ho·boʹam the son of Solʹo·mon the king of Judah and to all the house of Judah and Benjamin and the rest of the people, [24] ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “YOU must not go up and fight against YOUR brothers the sons of Israel. Go back each one to his house, for it is at the instance of myself that this thing has been brought about.”’” So they obeyed the word of Jehovah, and went back home according to the word of Jehovah.

[25] And Jer·o·boʹam proceeded to build Sheʹchem in the mountainous region of Eʹphra·im and to dwell in it. Then he went forth from there and built Pe·nuʹel. [26] And Jer·o·boʹam began to say in his heart: “Now the kingdom will return to the house of David. [27] If this people continues going up to render sacrifices in the house of Jehovah in Jerusalem, the heart of this people will also be bound to return to their lord, Re·ho·boʹam the king of Judah; and they will certainly kill me and return to Re·ho·boʹam the king of Judah.” [28] Consequently the king took counsel and made two golden calves and said to the people: “It is too much for YOU to go up to Jerusalem. Here is your God, O Israel, that brought you up out of the land of Egypt.” [29] Then he placed the one in Beth′el, and the other he put in Dan. [30] And this thing came to be a cause for sin, and the people began to go before the one as far as Dan.

[31] And he began to make a house of high places and to make priests from the people in general, who did not happen to be of the sons of Le′vi. [32] And Jer·o·bo′am went on to make a festival in the eighth month on the fifteenth day of the month, like the festival that was in Judah, that he might make offerings upon the altar that he had made in Beth′el, to sacrifice to the calves that he had made; and he put in attendance at Beth′el the priests of the high places that he had made. [33] And he began to make offerings upon the altar that he had made in Beth′el on the fifteenth day in the eighth month, in the month that he had invented by himself; and he proceeded to make a festival for the sons of Israel and to make offerings upon the altar to make sacrificial smoke.

13 And here there was a man of God that had come out of Judah by the word of Jehovah to Beth′el, while Jer·o·bo′am was standing by the altar to make sacrificial smoke. [2] Then he called out against the altar by the word of Jehovah and said: “O altar, altar, this is what Jehovah has said, ‘Look! A son born to the house of David, whose name is Jo·si′ah! And he will certainly sacrifice upon you the priests of the high places that are making sacrificial smoke upon you, and men’s bones he will burn upon you.’” [3] And he gave a portent on that day, saying: “This is the portent of which Jehovah has spoken: Look! The altar is ripped apart, and the fatty ashes that are upon it will certainly be spilled out.”

[4] And it came about that, as soon as the king heard the word of the man of the true God that he had called out against the altar in Beth′el, Jer·o·bo′am at once thrust out his hand from off the altar, saying: “YOU men, grab hold of him!” Immediately his hand that he had thrust out against him became dried up, and he was not able to draw it back to himself. [5] And the altar itself was ripped apart so that the fatty ashes were spilled out from the altar, according to the portent that the man of the true God had given by the word of Jehovah.

[6] The king now answered and said to the man of the true God: “Soften, please, the face of Jehovah your God and pray in my behalf that my hand may be restored to me.” At this the man of the true God softened the face of Jehovah, so that the king’s hand was restored to him, and it came to be as at first. [7] And the king went on to say to the man of the true God: “Do come with me to the house and take sustenance, and let me give you a gift.” [8] But the man of the true God said to the king: “If you gave me half of your house

I would not come with you and eat bread or drink water in this place. [9] For that is the way he commanded me by the word of Jehovah, saying, ‘You must not eat bread or drink water, and you must not return by the way that you went.’” [10] And he began to go by another way, and he did not return by the way by which he had come to Beth′el.

[11] And a certain old prophet was dwelling in Beth′el, and his sons now came in and related to him all the work that the man of the true God had done that day in Beth′el and the words that he had spoken to the king, and they went on relating them to their father. [12] Then their father spoke to them: “Which way, then, did he go?” So his sons showed him the way that the man of the true God that had come out of Judah had gone. [13] He now said to his sons: “Saddle the ass for me.” Accordingly they saddled the ass for him, and he went riding on it.

[14] And he went following the man of the true God and got to find him sitting under the big tree. Then he said to him: “Are you the man of the true God who has come out of Judah?” to which he said: “I am.” [15] And he went on to say to him: “Go with me to the house and eat bread.” [16] But he said: “I am not able to go back with you or to come in with you, and I may not eat bread or drink water with you in this place. [17] For it has been spoken to me by the word of Jehovah, ‘You must not eat bread or drink water there. You must not go back again by the way by which you went.’” [18] At this he said to him: “I too am a prophet like you, and an angel himself spoke to me by the word of Jehovah, saying, ‘Have him come back with you to your house that he may eat bread and drink water.’” (He deceived him.) [19] So he went back with him that he might eat bread in his house and drink water.

[20] And it came about, while they were sitting at the table, that the word of Jehovah came to the prophet that had brought him back; [21] and he began to call out to the man of the true God that had come out of Judah, saying: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘For the reason that you rebelled against the order of Jehovah and did not keep the commandment with which Jehovah your God commanded you, [22] but you went back that you might eat bread and drink water in the place about which he spoke to you: “Do not eat bread or drink water,” your dead body will not come into the burial place of your forefathers.’”

[23] And it came about after his eating bread and after his drinking that he at once saddled for him the ass, that is, for the prophet whom he had brought back. [24] And he got on his way. Later a lion found him on the road and put him to death, and his dead body came to be thrown onto the road. And the ass was standing beside it, and the lion was standing beside the dead body. [25] And here there were men passing by, so that they got to see the dead body thrown onto the road and the lion standing beside the dead body. Then they came in and spoke of it in the city in which the old prophet was dwelling.

[26] When the prophet that had brought him back from the way heard of it, he immediately said: “It is the man of the true God that rebelled against the order of Jehovah; and so Jehovah gave him to the lion, that he might crush him and put him to death, according to the word of Jehovah that he spoke to him.” [27] And he went on to speak to his sons, saying: “Saddle the ass for me.” So they saddled it. [28] Then he got on his way and found the dead body of him thrown onto the road with the ass and the lion standing beside the dead body. The lion had not eaten the dead body, nor had it crushed the ass. [29] And the prophet proceeded to lift up the dead body of the man of the true God and to deposit him upon the ass and to bring him back. Thus he came into the city of the old prophet to bewail and bury him. [30] Accordingly he deposited his dead body in his own burial place; and they kept wailing over him: “Too bad, my brother!” [31] And it came about after his burying him that he went on to say to his sons: “When I die YOU must bury me in the burial place in which the man of the true God is buried. Beside his bones deposit my own bones. [32] For without fail the word that he called out by the word of Jehovah against the altar that is in Beth′el and against all the houses of the high places that are in the cities of Sa·mar′i·a will take place.”

[33] After this thing Jer·o·bo′am did not turn back from his bad way, but he again went making priests of high places from the people in general. As for anyone delighting in it, he would fill his hand with power, saying: “And let him become one of the priests of high places.” [34] And in this thing there came to be a cause of sin on the part of the household of Jer·o·bo′am and an occasion for effacing them and annihilating them off the surface of the ground.

14 At that particular time A·bi′jah the son of Jer·o·bo′am fell sick. [2] So Jer·o·bo′am said to his wife: “Rise up, please, and you must disguise yourself that they may not know that you are the wife of Jer·o·bo′am, and you must go to Shi′loh. Look! There is where A·hi′jah the prophet is. He is the one that spoke with reference to me as to becoming king over this people. [3] And you must take in your hand ten loaves of bread and sprinkled cakes and a flask of honey, and you must come in to him. He it is that will certainly tell you what is going to happen to the boy.”

[4] And the wife of Jer·o·bo′am proceeded to do so. Consequently she rose up and went to Shi′loh and came to the house of A·hi′jah. Now A·hi′jah himself was unable to see, for his eyes had set because of his age.

[5] And Jehovah himself had said to A·hi′jah: “Here is the wife of Jer·o·bo′am coming to apply for a word from you regarding her son; for he is sick. This way and that is how you should speak to her. And it will occur that as soon as she arrives, she will be making herself unrecognizable.”

[6] And it came about that as soon as A·hi′jah heard the sound of her feet as she was coming into the entrance, he began to say: “Come in, you wife of Jer·o·bo′am. Why is it that you are making yourself unrecognizable while I am being sent to you with a severe message? [7] Go, say to Jer·o·bo′am, ‘This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said: “For the reason that I raised you up out of the middle of your people, that I might constitute you a leader over my people Israel, [8] and I went on to rip the kingdom away from the house of David and give it to you, and you have not become like my servant David, who kept my commandments and who walked after me with all his heart by doing only what was right in my eyes, [9] but you began to act worse than all those who happened to be prior to you, and you went and made for yourself another god and molten images to offend me, and it is I whom you have cast behind your back; [10] for that reason here I am bringing calamity upon the house of Jer·o·boʹam, and I shall certainly cut off from Jer·o·boʹam anyone urinating against a wall, a helpless and worthless one in Israel; and I shall indeed make a clean sweep behind the house of Jer·o·boʹam, just as one clears away the dung until it is disposed of. [11] The one dying of Jer·o·boʹam's in the city, the dogs will eat; and the one dying in the field, the fowls of the heavens will eat, because Jehovah himself has spoken it."'

[12] "And you yourself, rise up, go to your house. When your feet come into the city the child will certainly die. [13] And all Israel will indeed bewail him and bury him, because this one alone of Jer·o·boʹam's will come into a burial place; for the reason that something good toward Jehovah the God of Israel has been found in him in the house of Jer·o·boʹam. [14] And Jehovah will certainly raise up to himself a king over Israel who will cut off the house of Jer·o·boʹam the said day, and what if right now? [15] And Jehovah will indeed strike Israel down, just as the reed sways in the water; and he will certainly uproot Israel off this good ground that he gave to their forefathers, and he will indeed scatter them beyond the River, for the reason that they made their sacred poles, so offending Jehovah. [16] And he will give Israel up on account of the sins of Jer·o·boʹam with which he sinned and with which he caused Israel to sin."

[17] At that Jer·o·boʹam's wife rose up and went her way and came to Tirʹzah. As she was arriving at the threshold of the house, the boy himself died. [18] So they buried him, and all Israel went wailing for him, according to Jehovah’s word that he had spoken by means of his servant A·hi′jah the prophet.

[19] And the rest of the affairs of Jer·o·bo′am, how he warred and how he reigned, there they are written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel. [20] And the days that Jer·o·bo′am reigned were twenty-two years, after which he lay down with his forefathers; and Na′dab his son began to reign in place of him.

[21] As for Re·ho·bo′am the son of Sol′o·mon, he had become king in Judah. Forty-one years old Re·ho·bo′am was when he began to reign, and seventeen years he reigned in Jerusalem, the city that Jehovah had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put his name there. And his mother’s name was Na′a·mah the Am′mon·it·ess. [22] And Judah went on doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah, so that they incited him to jealousy more than all that their forefathers had done by their sins with which they sinned. [23] And they too kept building for themselves high places and sacred pillars and sacred poles upon every high hill and under every luxuriant tree. [24] And even the male temple prostitute proved to be in the land. They acted according to all the detestable things of the nations whom Jehovah had driven out from before the sons of Israel.

[25] And it came about in the fifth year of King Re·ho·bo′am that Shi′shak the king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem. [26] And he got to take the treasures of the house of Jehovah and the treasures of the house of the king; and everything he took. And he went on to take all the gold shields that Sol′o·mon had made. [27] Consequently King Re·ho·bo′am made in place of them copper shields, and he committed them to the control of the chiefs of the runners, the guards of the entrance of the king’s house. [28] And it would occur that as often as the king came to the house of Jehovah, the runners would carry them, and they returned them to the guard chamber of the runners.

[29] And the rest of the affairs of Re·ho·boʹam and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the times of the kings of Judah? [30] And warfare itself took place between Re·ho·boʹam and Jer·o·boʹam always. [31] Finally Re·ho·boʹam lay down with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David. And his mother’s name was Naʹa·mah the Amʹmon·it·ess. And A·biʹjam his son began to reign in place of him.

15 And in the eighteenth year of King Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, A·biʹjam became king over Judah. [2] Three years he reigned in Jerusalem; and his mother’s name was Maʹa·cah the granddaughter of A·bishʹa·lom. [3] And he went on walking in all the sins of his father that he did prior to him; and his heart did not prove to be complete with Jehovah his God, like the heart of David his forefather. [4] For, on account of David, Jehovah his God gave him a lamp in Jerusalem by raising his son up after him and keeping Jerusalem in existence, [5] because David did what was right in the eyes of Jehovah, and he did not turn aside from anything that He had commanded him all the days of his life, only in the matter of U·riʹah the Hitʹtite. [6] And warfare itself took place between Re·ho·boʹam and Jer·o·boʹam all the days of his life.

[7] As for the rest of the affairs of A·biʹjam and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? There was warfare also that took place between A·biʹjam and Jer·o·boʹam. [8] Finally A·biʹjam lay down with his forefathers and they buried him in the City of David; and Aʹsa his son began to reign in place of him.

[9] In the twentieth year of Jer·o·boʹam the king of Israel, Aʹsa reigned as king of Judah. [10] And forty-one years he reigned in Jerusalem; and his grandmother’s name was Maʹa·cah the granddaughter of A·bishʹa·lom. [11] And Aʹsa proceeded to do what was right in the eyes of Jehovah, like David his forefather. [12] Accordingly he had the male temple prostitutes pass out of the land and removed all the dungy idols that his forefathers had made. [13] As for even Maʹa·cah his grandmother, he went on to remove her from being lady, because she had made a horrible idol to the sacred pole; after which Aʹsa cut down her horrible idol and burned it at the torrent valley of Kid′ron. [14] And the high places he did not remove. Nevertheless, A′sa’s heart itself proved to be complete with Jehovah all his days. [15] And he began to bring in the things made holy by his father and the things made holy by himself into the house of Jehovah, silver and gold and articles.

[16] And warfare itself took place between A′sa and Ba′a·sha the king of Israel all their days. [17] So Ba′a·sha the king of Israel came up against Judah and began to build Ra′mah, to allow no one to go out or come in to A′sa the king of Judah. [18] At that A′sa took all the silver and the gold that were left in the treasures of the house of Jehovah and the treasures of the house of the king and put them in the hand of his servants; and King A′sa now sent them to Ben-ha′dad the son of Tab·rim′mon the son of He′zi·on, the king of Syria, who was dwelling in Damascus, saying: [19] “There is a covenant between me and you, between my father and your father. Here I have sent you a present of silver and gold. Come, do break your covenant with Ba′a·sha the king of Israel, that he may withdraw from me.” [20] Accordingly Ben-ha′dad listened to King A′sa and sent the chiefs of the military forces that were his against the cities of Israel and went striking down I′jon and Dan and A′bel-beth-ma′a·cah and all Chin′ne·reth, as far as all the land of Naph′ta·li. [21] And it came about that as soon as Ba′a·sha heard of it, he immediately quit building Ra′mah and continued dwelling in Tir′zah. [22] And King A′sa, for his part, summoned all Judah—there was none exempt—and they proceeded to carry the stones of Ra′mah and the timbers of it, with which Ba′a·sha had been building; and King A′sa began to build with them Ge′ba in Benjamin, and Miz′pah.

[23] As for the rest of all the affairs of A′sa and all his mightiness and all that he did and the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? Only at the time of his growing old he got diseased in his feet. [24] Finally A′sa lay down with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David his forefather; and Je·hosh′a·phat his son began to reign in place of him.

[25] As for Na′dab the son of Jer·o·bo′am, he became king over Israel in the second year of A′sa the king of Judah; and he continued to reign over Israel two years. [26] And he kept doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah and went on walking in the way of his father and in his sin with which he caused Israel to sin. [27] And Ba′a·sha the son of A·hi′jah of the house of Is′sa·char began to conspire against him; and Ba′a·sha got to strike him down at Gib′be·thon, which belonged to the Phi·lis′tines, while Na′dab and all Israel were besieging Gib′be·thon. [28] So Ba′a·sha put him to death in the third year of A′sa the king of Judah and began to reign in place of him. [29] And it came about that as soon as he became king, he struck down all the house of Jer·o·bo′am. He did not let anyone breathing remain of Jer·o·bo′am’s until he had annihilated them, according to Jehovah’s word that he had spoken by means of his servant A·hi′jah the Shi′lo·nite, [30] on account of the sins of Jer·o·bo′am with which he sinned and with which he caused Israel to sin and by his offensiveness with which he offended Jehovah the God of Israel. [31] As for the rest of the affairs of Na′dab and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [32] And warfare itself took place between A′sa and Ba′a·sha the king of Israel all their days.

[33] In the third year of A′sa the king of Judah, Ba′a·sha the son of A·hi′jah became king over all Israel in Tir′zah for twenty-four years. [34] And he kept doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah and went walking in the way of Jer·o·boʹam and in his sin with which he caused Israel to sin.

16 The word of Jehovah now came to Je′hu the son of Ha·na′ni against Ba′a·sha, saying: [2] “Inasmuch as I raised you up out of the dust that I might constitute you leader over my people Israel, but you went walking in the way of Jer·o·bo′am and so caused my people Israel to sin by offending me with their sins, [3] here I am making a clean sweep after Ba′a·sha and after his house, and I shall certainly constitute his house like the house of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat. [4] Anyone of Ba′a·sha that is dying in the city the dogs will eat; and anyone of his that is dying in the field the fowls of the heavens will eat.”

[5] As for the rest of the affairs of Ba′a·sha and what he did and his mightiness, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [6] Finally Ba′a·sha lay down with his forefathers and was buried in Tir′zah; and E′lah his son began to reign in place of him. [7] And also by means of Je′hu the son of Ha·na′ni the prophet, Jehovah’s word itself had come against Ba′a·sha and his house, both because of all the badness that he committed in the eyes of Jehovah by offending him with the work of his hands, that it might become like the house of Jer·o·bo′am, and because he struck him down.

[8] In the twenty-sixth year of A′sa the king of Judah, E′lah the son of Ba′a·sha became king over Israel in Tir′zah for two years. [9] And his servant Zim′ri the chief of half the chariots began to conspire against him, while he was in Tir′zah drinking himself drunk at the house of Ar′za, who was over the household in Tir′zah. [10] And Zim′ri proceeded to come in and strike him down and put him to death in the twenty-seventh year of A′sa the king of Judah, and he began to reign in place of him. [11] And it came about that when he began to reign, as soon as he sat down upon his throne, he struck down all the house of Ba′a·sha. He did not let anyone of his remain that urinates against a wall or his avengers of blood or his friends. 12 Thus Zim′ri annihilated the whole house of Ba′a·sha, according to the word of Jehovah that he had spoken against Ba′a·sha by means of Je′hu the prophet, 13 on account of all the sins of Ba′a·sha and the sins of E′lah his son with which they sinned and with which they caused Israel to sin by offending Jehovah the God of Israel with their vain idols. 14 As for the rest of the affairs of E′lah and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel?

15 In the twenty-seventh year of A′sa the king of Judah, Zim′ri became king for seven days in Tir′zah, while the people were encamping against Gib′be·thon, which belonged to the Phi·lis′tines. 16 In time the people that were encamped heard it said: “Zim′ri has conspired and also struck down the king.” So all Israel made Om′ri, the chief of the army, king over Israel on that day in the camp. 17 Om′ri and all Israel with him now went on up from Gib′be·thon and began to lay siege to Tir′zah. 18 And it came about that as soon as Zim′ri saw that the city had been captured, he then came into the dwelling tower of the king’s house and burned the king’s house over himself with fire, so that he died, 19 for the sins of his with which he had sinned by doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah by walking in the way of Jer·o·bo′am and in his sin which he did by causing Israel to sin. 20 As for the rest of the affairs of Zim′ri and his conspiracy with which he conspired, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel?

21 It was then that the people of Israel began to divide themselves into two parts. There was one part of the people that became followers of Tib′ni the son of Gi′nath, to make him king, and the other part followers of Om′ri. [22] Finally the people that were following Om′ri overcame the people that were following Tib′ni the son of Gi′nath; so that Tib′ni met death, and Om′ri began to reign.

[23] In the thirty-first year of A′sa the king of Judah, Om′ri became king over Israel for twelve years. In Tir′zah he reigned six years. [24] And he proceeded to buy the mountain of Sa·mar′i·a from She′mer for two talents of silver, and began to build on the mountain and call the name of the city that he built by the name of She′mer the master of the mountain, Sa·mar′i·a. [25] And Om′ri kept doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah and came to do worse than all who were prior to him. [26] And he went walking in all the way of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat and in his sin with which he caused Israel to sin by offending Jehovah the God of Israel with their vain idols. [27] As for the rest of the affairs of Om′ri, what he did and his mightiness with which he acted, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [28] Finally Om′ri lay down with his forefathers and was buried in Sa·mar′i·a; and A′hab his son began to reign in place of him.

[29] And as for A′hab the son of Om′ri, he became king over Israel in the thirty-eighth year of A′sa the king of Judah; and A′hab the son of Om′ri continued to reign over Israel in Sa·mar′i·a twenty-two years. [30] And A′hab the son of Om′ri proceeded to do worse in the eyes of Jehovah than all those who were prior to him. [31] And it came about that, as if it were the most trivial thing for him to walk in the sins of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat, he now took as wife Jez′e·bel the daughter of Eth·ba′al the king of the Si·do′ni·ans and began to go and serve Ba′al and to bow down to him. [32] Further, he set up an altar to Ba′al at the house of Ba′al that he built in Sa·mar′i·a. [33] And A′hab went on to make the sacred pole; and A′hab came to do more to offend Jehovah the God of Israel than all the kings of Israel that happened to be prior to him.

34 In his days Hi′el the Beth′el·ite built Jer′i·cho. At the forfeit of A·bi′ram his firstborn he laid the foundation of it, and at the forfeit of Se′gub his youngest he put up its doors, according to Jehovah’s word that he spoke by means of Joshua the son of Nun.

17 And E·li′jah the Tish′bite from the inhabitants of Gil′e·ad proceeded to say to A′hab: “As Jehovah the God of Israel before whom I do stand is living, there will occur during these years neither dew nor rain, except at the order of my word! ”

2 The word of Jehovah now came to him, saying: 3 “Go away from here, and you must turn your way eastward and conceal yourself at the torrent valley of Che′rith that is east of the Jordan. 4 And it must occur that from the torrent valley you should drink, and the ravens I shall certainly command to supply you food there.” 5 Immediately he went and did according to the word of Jehovah, and so went and took up dwelling by the torrent valley of Che′rith that is east of the Jordan. 6 And the ravens themselves were bringing him bread and meat in the morning and bread and meat in the evening, and from the torrent valley he kept drinking. 7 But it came about at the end of some days that the torrent valley became dry, because there had occurred no downpour upon the earth.

8 The word of Jehovah now came to him, saying: 9 “Rise up, go to Zar′e·phath, which belongs to Si′don, and you must dwell there. Look! I shall certainly command there a woman, a widow, to supply you food.” 10 Accordingly he rose up and went to Zar′e·phath and came into the entrance of the city; and, look! a woman, a widow, was there gathering up pieces of wood. So he called to her and said: “Please, get me a sip of water in a vessel that I may drink.” 11 When she began to go and get it, he went on to call to her and say: “Please, get me a bit of bread in your hand.” 12 At this she said: “As Jehovah your God is living, I have no round cake, but a handful of flour in the large jar and a little oil in the small jar; and here I am gathering up a few pieces of wood, and I must go in and make something for myself and my son, and we shall have to eat it and die.”

13 Then E·liʹjah said to her: “Do not be afraid. Go in, do according to your word. Only from what is there make me a small round cake first, and you must bring it out to me, and for yourself and your son you can make something afterward. 14 For this is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘The large jar of flour itself will not get exhausted, and the small jar of oil itself will not fail until the day of Jehovah’s giving a downpour upon the surface of the ground.’” 15 So she went and did according to E·liʹjah’s word; and she continued to eat, she together with him and her household, for days. 16 The large jar of flour itself did not get exhausted, and the small jar of oil itself did not fail, according to Jehovah’s word that he had spoken by means of E·liʹjah.

17 And it came about after these things that the son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick, and his sickness came to be so severe that there was no breath left in him. 18 At this she said to E·liʹjah: “What do I have to do with you, O man of the true God? You have come to me to bring my error to mind and to put my son to death.” 19 But he said to her: “Give me your son.” Then he took him from her bosom and carried him up to the roof chamber, where he was dwelling, and laid him upon his own couch. 20 And he began calling to Jehovah and saying: “O Jehovah my God, is it also upon the widow with whom I am residing as an alien that you must bring injury by putting her son to death?” 21 And he proceeded to stretch himself upon the child three times and call to Jehovah and say: “O Jehovah my God, please, cause the soul of this child to come back within him.” 22 Finally Jehovah listened to E·liʹjah’s voice, so that the soul of the child came back within him and he came to life. 23 E·li′jah now took the child and brought him down from the roof chamber into the house and gave him to his mother; and E·li′jah then said: “See, your son is alive.” 24 Upon that the woman said to E·li′jah: “Now, indeed, I do know that you are a man of God and that Jehovah’s word in your mouth is true.”

18 And it came about after many days that Jehovah’s own word came to E·li′jah in the third year, saying: “Go, show yourself to A′hab, as I am determined to give rain upon the surface of the ground.” [2] Accordingly E·li′jah went to show himself to A′hab, while the famine was severe in Sa·mar′i·a.

[3] Meantime, A′hab called O·ba·di′ah, who was over the household. (Now O·ba·di′ah himself had proved to be one greatly fearing Jehovah. [4] Hence it came about that when Jez′e·bel cut off Jehovah’s prophets, O·ba·di′ah proceeded to take a hundred prophets and keep them hid by fifties in a cave, and he supplied them bread and water.) [5] And A′hab went on to say to O·ba·di′ah: “Go through the land to all the springs of water and to all the torrent valleys. Perhaps we may find green grass, that we may preserve the horses and mules alive and may not have any more of the beasts cut off.” [6] So they divided between themselves the land through which to pass. A′hab himself went alone by one way, and O·ba·di′ah himself went alone by another way.

[7] As O·ba·di′ah continued on the way, why, there was E·li′jah to meet him. At once he recognized him and fell upon his face and said: “Is this you, my lord E·li′jah?” [8] At this he said to him: “It is I. Go, say to your lord, ‘Here is E·li′jah.’” [9] But he said: “What sin have I committed that you should be putting your servant into the hand of A′hab to put me to death? [10] As Jehovah your God is living, there is not a nation or kingdom where my lord has not sent to look for you. After they had said, ‘He is not here,’ he made the kingdom and the nation swear that they could not find you. [11] And now you are saying, ‘Go, say to your lord: “Here is E·li′jah.”’ [12] And it is bound to occur that, when I myself go from you, then the spirit of Jehovah itself will carry you away to where I shall not know; and I shall have come to tell A′hab, and he will not find you, and he will be bound to kill me, as your servant himself has feared Jehovah from his youth. 13 Has not my lord been told what I did when Jez′e·bel killed the prophets of Jehovah, how I kept some of the prophets of Jehovah hid, a hundred men by fifties in a cave, and kept supplying them bread and water? 14 And now you are saying, ‘Go, say to your lord: “Here is E·li′jah.”’ And he will be bound to kill me.” 15 However, E·li′jah said: “As Jehovah of armies before whom I do stand is living, today I shall show myself to him.”

16 Accordingly O·ba·di′ah went off to meet A′hab and told him; and so A′hab went to meet E·li′jah.

17 And it came about that, as soon as A′hab saw E·li′jah, A′hab immediately said to him: “Is this you, the bringer of ostracism upon Israel?”

18 To this he said: “I have not brought ostracism upon Israel, but you and the house of your father have, because YOU men have left the commandments of Jehovah, and you went following the Ba′als. 19 And now send, collect together all Israel to me at Mount Car′mel and also the four hundred and fifty prophets of Ba′al and the four hundred prophets of the sacred pole, who are eating at the table of Jez′e·bel.” 20 And A′hab proceeded to send among all the sons of Israel and collect the prophets together at Mount Car′mel.

21 Then E·li′jah approached all the people and said: “How long will YOU be limping upon two different opinions? If Jehovah is the true God, go following him; but if Ba′al is, go following him.” And the people did not say a word in answer to him. 22 And E·li′jah went on to say to the people: “I myself have been left as a prophet of Jehovah, I alone, while the prophets of Ba′al are four hundred and fifty men. 23 Now let them give us two young bulls, and let them choose for themselves one young bull and cut it in pieces and put it upon the wood, but they should not put fire to it. And I myself shall dress the other young bull, and I must place it upon the wood, but I shall not put fire to it. 24 And YOU must call upon the name of YOUR god, and I, for my part, shall call upon the name of Jehovah; and it must occur that the true God that answers by fire is the true God.” To this all the people answered and said: “The thing is good.”

25 E·li′jah now said to the prophets of Ba′al: “Choose for yourselves one young bull and dress it first, because YOU are the majority; and call upon the name of YOUR god, but YOU must not put fire to it.” 26 Accordingly they took the young bull that he gave them. Then they dressed it, and they kept calling upon the name of Ba′al from morning till noon, saying: “O Ba′al, answer us!” But there was no voice, and there was no one answering. And they kept limping around the altar that they had made. 27 And it came about at noon that E·li′jah began to mock them and say: “Call at the top of YOUR voice, for he is a god; for he must be concerned with a matter, and he has excrement and has to go to the privy. Or maybe he is asleep and ought to wake up!” 28 And they began calling at the top of their voice and cutting themselves according to their custom with daggers and with lances, until they caused blood to flow out upon them. 29 And it came about that, as soon as noon was past and they continued behaving as prophets until the going up of the grain offering, there was no voice, and there was no one answering, and there was no paying of attention.

30 At length E·li′jah said to all the people: “Approach me.” So all the people approached him. Then he proceeded to mend the altar of Jehovah that was torn down. 31 So E·li′jah took twelve stones, according to the number of the tribes of the sons of Jacob, to whom Jehovah’s word had come, saying:

“Israel is what your name will become.” [32] And he went on to build the stones into an altar in the name of Jehovah and to make a trench, of about the area sowed with two seah measures of seed, all around the altar. [33] After that he put the pieces of wood in order and cut the young bull in pieces and placed it upon the pieces of wood. He now said: “FILL four large jars with water and pour it upon the burnt offering and upon the pieces of wood.” [34] Then he said: “Do it again.” So they did it again. But he said: “Do it a third time.” So they did it a third time. [35] Thus the water went all around the altar, and the trench also he filled with water.

[36] And it came about at the time that the grain offering goes up that E·li′jah the prophet began to approach and say: “O Jehovah, the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel, today let it be known that you are God in Israel and I am your servant and it is by your word that I have done all these things. [37] Answer me, O Jehovah, answer me, that this people may know that you, Jehovah, are the true God and you yourself have turned their heart back.”

[38] At that the fire of Jehovah came falling and went eating up the burnt offering and the pieces of wood and the stones and the dust, and the water that was in the trench it licked up. [39] When all the people saw it, they immediately fell upon their faces and said: “Jehovah is the true God! Jehovah is the true God! ” [40] Then E·li′jah said to them: “Seize the prophets of Ba′al! Do not let a single one of them escape! ” At once they seized them, and E·li′jah then brought them down to the torrent valley of Ki′shon and slaughtered them there.

[41] E·li′jah now said to A′hab: “Go up, eat and drink; for there is the sound of the turmoil of a downpour.” [42] And A′hab proceeded to go up to eat and drink. As for E·li′jah, he went up to the top of Car′mel and began crouching to the earth and keeping his face put between his knees. [43] Then he said to his attendant: “Go up, please. Look in the direction of the sea.” So he went up and looked and then said: “There is nothing at all.” And he went on to say, “Go back,” for seven times. [44] And it came about at the seventh time that he got to say: “Look! There is a small cloud like a man’s palm ascending out of the sea.” He now said: “Go up, say to A′hab, ‘Hitch up! And go down that the downpour may not detain you!’” [45] And it came about in the meantime that the heavens themselves darkened up with clouds and wind and a great downpour began to occur. And A′hab kept riding and made his way to Jez′re·el. [46] And the very hand of Jehovah proved to be upon E·li′jah, so that he girded up his hips and went running ahead of A′hab all the way to Jez′re·el.

19 Then A′hab told Jez′e·bel all that E·li′jah had done and all about how he had killed all the prophets with the sword. [2] At that Jez′e·bel sent a messenger to E·li′jah, saying: “So may the gods do, and so may they add to it, if at this time tomorrow I shall not make your soul like the soul of each one of them! ” [3] And he became afraid. Consequently he rose up and began to go for his soul and came to Be′er-she′ba, which belongs to Judah. Then he left his attendant behind there. [4] And he himself went into the wilderness a day’s journey, and at length came and sat down under a certain broom tree. And he began to ask that his soul might die and to say: “It is enough! Now, O Jehovah, take my soul away, for I am no better than my forefathers.”

[5] Finally he lay down and fell asleep under the broom tree. But, look! now an angel was touching him. Then he said to him: “Rise up, eat.” [6] When he looked, why, there at his head was a round cake upon heated stones and a jug of water. And he began to eat and drink, after which he lay down again. [7] Later the angel of Jehovah came back a second time and touched him and said: “Rise up, eat, for the journey is too much for you.” [8] So he rose up and ate and drank, and he kept going in the power of that nourishment for forty days and forty nights as far as the mountain of the true God, Ho′reb.

[9] There he finally entered into a cave, that he might spend the night there; and, look! there was Jehovah’s word for him, and it went on to say to him: “What is your business here, E·li′jah?” [10] To this he said: “I have been absolutely jealous for Jehovah the God of armies; for the sons of Israel have left your covenant, your altars they have torn down, and your prophets they have killed with the sword, so that I only am left; and they begin looking for my soul to take it away.” 11 But it said: “Go out, and you must stand on the mountain before Jehovah.” And, look! Jehovah was passing by, and a great and strong wind was rending mountains and breaking crags before Jehovah. (Jehovah was not in the wind.) And after the wind there was a quaking. (Jehovah was not in the quaking.) 12 And after the quaking there was a fire. (Jehovah was not in the fire.) And after the fire there was a calm, low voice. 13 And it came about that as soon as E·liʹjah heard it, he immediately wrapped his face in his official garment and went out and stood at the entrance of the cave; and, look! there was a voice for him, and it proceeded to say to him: “What is your business here, E·liʹjah?” 14 To this he said: “I have been absolutely jealous for Jehovah the God of armies; for the sons of Israel have left your covenant, your altars they have torn down, and your prophets they have killed with the sword, so that I only am left; and they begin looking for my soul to take it away.”

15 Jehovah now said to him: “Go, return on your way to the wilderness of Damascus; and you must come in and anoint Hazʹa·el as king over Syria. 16 And Jeʹhu the grandson of Nimʹshi you should anoint as king over Israel; and E·liʹsha the son of Shaʹphat from Aʹbel-me·hoʹlah you should anoint as prophet in place of you. 17 And it must occur that the one escaping from Hazʹa·el’s sword, Jeʹhu will put to death; and the one escaping from Jeʹhu’s sword, E·liʹsha will put to death. 18 And I have let seven thousand remain in Israel, all the knees that have not bent down to Baʹal, and every mouth that has not kissed him.”

19 Accordingly he went from there and found E·liʹsha the son of Shaʹphat while he was plowing with twelve spans before him, and he with the twelfth. So E·liʹjah crossed over to him and threw his official garment upon him. 20 At that he left the bulls and went running after E·li′jah and said: “Let me, please, kiss my father and my mother. Then I will go following you.” At this he said to him: “Go, return; for what have I done to you?” 21 So he returned from following him and then took a span of the bulls and sacrificed them, and with the implements of the bulls he boiled their flesh and then gave it to the people, and they proceeded to eat. After that he rose up and went following E·li′jah and began to minister to him.

20 As for Ben-haʹdad the king of Syria, he collected all his military forces together and also thirty-two kings with him and horses and chariots, and he proceeded to go up and lay siege to Sa·marʹi·a and fight against it. [2] Then he sent messengers to Aʹhab the king of Israel at the city. And he went on to say to him: “This is what Ben-haʹdad has said, [3] ‘Your silver and your gold are mine, and your wives and your sons, the best looking, are mine.’” [4] To this the king of Israel answered and said: “According to your word, my lord the king, yours I am with all that belongs to me.”

[5] Later the messengers came back and said: “This is what Ben-haʹdad has said, ‘I sent to you, saying: “Your silver and your gold and your wives and your sons you will give me. [6] But about this time tomorrow I shall send my servants to you, and they must carefully search your house and the houses of your servants; and it must occur that everything desirable to your eyes they will put in their hand, and they must take it away.”’”

[7] At that the king of Israel called all the older men of the land and said: “Take note, please, and see that it is calamity that this one is seeking; for he sent to me for my wives and my sons and my silver and my gold, and I did not hold them back from him.” [8] Then all the older men and all the people said to him: “Do not obey, and you should not consent.” [9] So he said to the messengers of Ben-haʹdad: “Say to my lord the king, ‘All that you sent to your servant at first I shall do; but this thing I am not able to do.’” With that the messengers went off and brought word back to him.

[10] Ben-haʹdad now sent to him and said: “So may the gods do to me, and so may they add to it, if the dust of Sa·marʹi·a will be sufficient for handfuls for all the people that follow me!” [11] In turn the king of Israel answered and said: “YOU men, speak to him, ‘Do not let one girding on boast about himself like one unfastening.’” [12] And it came about that as soon as he heard this word, while he himself and the kings were drinking in the booths, he immediately said to his servants: “Get set!” And they began to get set against the city.

[13] And, look! a certain prophet approached A′hab the king of Israel and then said: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Have you seen all this great crowd? Here I am giving it into your hand today, and you will certainly know that I am Jehovah.’” [14] Then A′hab said: “By whom?” to which he said: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘By the young men of the princes of the jurisdictional districts.’” Finally he said: “Who will open the battle engagement?” to which he said: “You!”

[15] And he proceeded to take the count of the young men of the princes of the jurisdictional districts, and they came to be two hundred and thirty-two; and after them he took the count of all the people, all the sons of Israel, seven thousand. [16] And they began to go out at noon while Ben-ha′dad was drinking himself drunk in the booths, he together with the kings, the thirty-two kings that were helping him. [17] When the young men of the princes of the jurisdictional districts came out first, Ben-ha′dad at once sent out; and they came telling him, saying: “There are men that have come out from Sa·mar′i·a.” [18] At that he said: “Whether it is for peace that they have come out, YOU should seize them alive; or whether it is for battle that they have come out, alive is how YOU should seize them.” [19] And these were the ones that came out from the city, the young men of the princes of the jurisdictional districts and the military forces that were behind them. [20] And they began to strike down each one his man; and the Syrians took to flight, and Israel went in pursuit of them, but Ben-haʹdad the king of Syria got to escape upon a horse together with the horsemen. 21 But the king of Israel went out and kept striking down the horses and the chariots, and he struck down the Syrians with a great slaughter.

22 Later the prophet approached the king of Israel and said to him: “Go, strengthen yourself and take note and see what you are going to do; for at the return of the year the king of Syria is coming up against you.”

23 As for the servants of the king of Syria, they said to him: “Their God is a God of mountains. That is why they proved stronger than we were. So, on the other hand, let us fight against them on the level land and see whether we shall not prove stronger than they are. 24 And do this thing: Remove the kings each one from his place and put in governors instead of them. 25 As for you, you should number a military force for yourself equal to the military force that fell from your side, with horse for horse and chariot for chariot; and let us fight against them on the level land and see whether we shall not prove stronger than they are.” Accordingly he listened to their voice and did just that way.

26 And it came about at the return of the year that Ben-haʹdad proceeded to muster the Syrians and to go up to Aʹphek for battle against Israel. 27 As for the sons of Israel, they were mustered and supplied and began to go out to meet them; and the sons of Israel went into camp in front of them like two tiny flocks of goats, while the Syrians, for their part, filled the earth. 28 Then the man of the true God approached and said to the king of Israel, yes, he went on to say: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘For the reason that the Syrians have said: “Jehovah is a God of mountains, and he is not a God of low plains,” I shall have to give all this great crowd into your hand, and YOU men will certainly know that I am Jehovah.'"

[29] And they continued encamped for seven days, these in front of those. And it came about on the seventh day that the engagement in battle began; and the sons of Israel went striking down the Syrians, a hundred thousand men on foot in one day. [30] And those that were left went fleeing to A′phek, to the city; and the wall came falling down upon twenty-seven thousand men that were left. As for Ben-ha′dad, he fled and finally came into the city into the innermost chamber.

[31] So his servants said to him: "Here, now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are kings of loving-kindness. Please, let us carry sackcloth upon our loins and ropes upon our heads, and let us go out to the king of Israel. Perhaps he will preserve your soul alive." [32] Accordingly they girded sackcloth about their loins, with ropes upon their heads, and came in to the king of Israel and said: "Your servant Ben-ha′dad has said, 'Please, let my soul live.'" To this he said: "Is he still alive? He is my brother." [33] So the men themselves took it as an omen and quickly took it as a decision of his own accord, and they went on to say: "Ben-ha′dad is your brother." At that he said: "Come, fetch him." Then Ben-ha′dad went out to him; and he at once had him get up into the chariot.

[34] Ben-ha′dad now said to him: "The cities that my father took from your father I shall return; and streets you will assign to yourself in Damascus the same as my father assigned in Sa·mar′i·a."

"And as for me, in a covenant I shall send you away."

With that he concluded a covenant with him and sent him away.

[35] And a certain man of the sons of the prophets said to his friend by the word of Jehovah: “Strike me, please.” But the man refused to strike him. [36] Therefore he said to him: “For the reason that you did not listen to the voice of Jehovah, here you are going away from me, and a lion will certainly strike you down.” After that he went away from beside him, and the lion got to find him and strike him down.

[37] And he went on to find another man and to say: “Strike me, please.” So the man struck him, striking and wounding.

[38] Then the prophet went and stood still for the king by the road, and he kept himself disguised with a bandage over his eyes. [39] And it came about that as the king was passing by, he cried out to the king and proceeded to say: “Your servant himself went out into the thick of the battle; and, look! a man was leaving the line, and he came bringing a man to me and then said, ‘Guard this man. If he should in any way be missing, your soul will also have to take the place of his soul, or else a talent of silver you will weigh out.’ [40] And it came about that as your servant was active here and there, why, he himself was gone.” At this the king of Israel said to him: “Thus your own judgment is. You yourself have decided.” [41] Upon that he hurriedly removed the bandage from over his eyes, and the king of Israel got to recognize him, that he was from the prophets. [42] He now said to him: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘For the reason that you have let go out of your hand the man devoted to me for destruction, your soul must take the place of his soul, and your people the place of his people.’” [43] At that the king of Israel went on his way toward his house, sullen and dejected, and came to Sa·marʹi·a.

21 And it came about after these things that there was a vineyard that happened to belong to Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite, which was in Jez′re·el, beside the palace of A′hab the king of Sa·mar′i·a. [2] So A′hab spoke to Na′both, saying: “Do give me your vineyard, that it may serve as a garden of vegetables to me, for it is close by my house; and let me give you in place of it a vineyard better than it. Or if it is good in your eyes, I will give you money as the price of this.” [3] But Na′both said to A′hab: “It is unthinkable on my part, from Jehovah’s standpoint, for me to give the hereditary possession of my forefathers to you.” [4] Consequently A′hab came into his house, sullen and dejected over the word that Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite had spoken to him, when he said: “I shall not give you the hereditary possession of my forefathers.” Then he lay down upon his couch and kept his face turned, and he did not eat bread.

[5] Finally Jez′e·bel his wife came in to him and spoke to him: “Why is it that your spirit is sad and you are not eating bread?” [6] At that he spoke to her: “Because I proceeded to speak to Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite and say to him, ‘Do give me your vineyard for money. Or, if you prefer, let me give you another vineyard in place of it.’ But he said, ‘I shall not give you my vineyard.’” [7] Then Jez′e·bel his wife said to him: “Is it you that now exercise the kingship over Israel? Rise up, eat bread and let your heart be merry. I myself shall give you the vineyard of Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite.” [8] Accordingly she wrote letters in A′hab’s name and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters to the older men and the nobles that were in his city dwelling with Na′both. [9] But she wrote in the letters, saying: “Proclaim a fast, and HAVE Na′both sit at the head of the people. [10] And MAKE two men, good-for-nothing fellows, sit in front of him, and let them bear witness against him, saying, ‘You have cursed God and the king!’ And BRING him out and stone him that he may die.”

[11] So the men of his city, the older men and the nobles that were dwelling in his city, did just as Jez′e·bel had sent to them, just as it was written in the letters that she had sent to them. [12] They proclaimed a fast and had Na′both sit at the head of the people. [13] Then two of the men, good-for-nothing fellows, came in and sat down in front of him; and the good-for-nothing men began to bear witness against him, that is, Na′both, in front of the people, saying: “Na′both has cursed God and the king!” After that they brought him out to the outskirts of the city and stoned him with stones, so that he died. [14] They now sent to Jez′e·bel, saying: “Na′both has been stoned so that he is dead.”

[15] And it came about that, as soon as Jez′e·bel heard that Na′both had been stoned so that he died, Jez′e·bel immediately said to A′hab: “Rise up, take possession of the vineyard of Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite, which he refused to give you for money; for Na′both is no longer alive, but dead.” [16] And it came about that, as soon as A′hab heard that Na′both was dead, A′hab at once rose up to go down to the vineyard of Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite, to take possession of it.

[17] And Jehovah’s word came to E·li′jah the Tish′bite, saying: [18] “Rise up, go down to meet A′hab the king of Israel, who is in Sa·mar′i·a. There he is in the vineyard of Na′both, where he has gone down to take possession of it. [19] And you must speak to him, saying, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Have you murdered and also taken possession?”’ And you must speak to him, saying, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “In the place where the dogs licked up the blood of Na′both, the dogs will lick up your blood, even yours.”’”

20 And A′hab proceeded to say to E·li′jah: “Have you found me, O enemy of mine?” to which he said: “I have found you. ‘For the reason that you have sold yourself to do what is bad in the eyes of Jehovah, 21 here I am bringing calamity upon you; and I shall certainly make a clean sweep after you and cut off from A′hab anyone urinating against a wall and the helpless and worthless one in Israel. 22 And I shall certainly constitute your house like the house of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat and like the house of Ba′a·sha the son of A·hi′jah, for the offense with which you have offended and then caused Israel to sin.’ 23 And also as regards Jez′e·bel Jehovah has spoken, saying, ‘The very dogs will eat up Jez′e·bel in the plot of land of Jez′re·el. 24 Anyone of A′hab’s that is dying in the city the dogs will eat up; and anyone dying in the field the fowls of the heavens will eat up. 25 Without exception no one has proved to be like A′hab, who sold himself to do what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah, whom Jez′e·bel his wife egged on. 26 And he went acting very detestably by going after the dungy idols, the same as all that the Am′or·ites had done, whom Jehovah drove out from before the sons of Israel.’”

27 And it came about that as soon as A′hab heard these words, he proceeded to rip his garments apart and to put sackcloth upon his flesh; and he went on a fast and kept lying down in sackcloth and walking despondently. 28 And Jehovah’s word came to E·li′jah the Tish′bite, saying: 29 “Have you seen how A′hab has humbled himself on my account? For the reason that he has humbled himself because of me, I shall not bring the calamity in his own days. In the days of his son I shall bring the calamity upon his house.”

22 And for three years they continued dwelling without war between Syria and Israel. [2] And it came about in the third year that Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah proceeded to go down to the king of Israel. [3] Then the king of Israel said to his servants: “Do YOU really know that Ra′moth-gil′e·ad belongs to us? Yet we are hesitating to take it out of the hand of the king of Syria.” [4] And he went on to say to Je·hosh′a·phat: “Will you go with me to the fight at Ra′moth-gil′e·ad?” At this Je·hosh′a·phat said to the king of Israel: “I am the same as you. My people are the same as your people. My horses are the same as your horses.”

[5] However, Je·hosh′a·phat went on to say to the king of Israel: “Inquire, please, first of all for the word of Jehovah.” [6] So the king of Israel collected the prophets together, about four hundred men, and said to them: “Shall I go against Ra′moth-gil′e·ad in war, or shall I refrain?” And they began to say: “Go up, and Jehovah will give it into the king’s hand.”

[7] But Je·hosh′a·phat said: “Is there not here a prophet of Jehovah still? Then let us inquire through him.” [8] At that the king of Israel said to Je·hosh′a·phat: “There is still one man through whom to inquire of Jehovah; but I myself certainly hate him, for he does not prophesy good things concerning me but bad—Mi·cai′ah the son of Im′lah.” However, Je·hosh′a·phat said: “Do not let the king say a thing like that.”

[9] Accordingly the king of Israel called a certain court official and said: “Do bring Mi·cai′ah the son of Im′lah quickly.” [10] Now the king of Israel and Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah were sitting each one on his throne, clothed in garments, in the threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Sa·mar′i·a;

and all the prophets were acting as prophets before them. [11] Then Zed·e·kiʹah the son of Che·naʹa·nah made for himself horns of iron and said: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘With these you will push the Syrians until you exterminate them.’” [12] And all the other prophets were prophesying the same as that, saying: “Go up to Raʹmoth-gilʹe·ad and prove successful; and Jehovah will certainly give it into the king’s hand.”

[13] And the messenger that had gone to call Mi·caiʹah spoke to him, saying: “Look, now! The words of the prophets are unanimously of good to the king. Let your word, please, become like the word of one of them, and you must speak good.” [14] But Mi·caiʹah said: “As Jehovah is living, what Jehovah will say to me, that is what I shall speak.” [15] Then he came in to the king, and the king proceeded to say to him: “Mi·caiʹah, shall we go to Raʹmoth-gilʹe·ad in war, or shall we refrain?” At once he said to him: “Go up and prove successful; and Jehovah will certainly give it into the king’s hand.” [16] At that the king said to him: “For how many times am I putting you under oath that you should not speak to me anything but truth in the name of Jehovah?” [17] So he said: “I certainly see all the Israelites scattered on the mountains, like sheep that have no shepherd. And Jehovah went on to say: ‘These have no masters. Let them go back each one to his house in peace.’”

[18] Then the king of Israel said to Je·hoshʹa·phat: “Did I not say to you, ‘He will prophesy concerning me, not good things, but bad’?”

[19] And he went on to say: “Therefore hear the word of Jehovah: I certainly see Jehovah sitting upon his throne and all the army of the heavens standing by him, to his right and to his left. [20] And Jehovah proceeded to say, ‘Who will fool Aʹhab, that he may go up and fall at Raʹmoth-gilʹe·ad?’ And this one began to say something like this, while that one was saying something like that. [21] Finally a spirit came out and stood before Jehovah and said, ‘I myself shall fool him.’ At that Jehovah said to him, ‘By what means?’ [22] To this he said, ‘I shall go forth, and I shall certainly become a deceptive spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ So he said, ‘You will fool him, and, what is more, you will come off the winner. Go out and do that way.’ [23] And now here Jehovah has put a deceptive spirit into the mouth of all these prophets of yours; but Jehovah himself has spoken calamity concerning you.”

[24] Zed·e·kiʹah the son of Che·naʹa·nah now approached and struck Mi·caiʹah upon the cheek and said: “In just which way did the spirit of Jehovah pass along from me to speak with you?” [25] At that Mi·caiʹah said: “Look! You are seeing which way on that day when you will enter the innermost chamber to hide yourself.” [26] Then the king of Israel said: “Take Mi·caiʹah and turn him back to Aʹmon the chief of the city and to Joʹash the king’s son. [27] And you must say, ‘This is what the king has said: “PUT this fellow in the house of detention and feed him with a reduced allowance of bread and a reduced allowance of water until I come in peace.”’” [28] Upon that Mi·caiʹah said: “If you return at all in peace, Jehovah has not spoken with me.” And he added: “Hear, all YOU peoples.”

[29] And the king of Israel and Je·hoshʹa·phat the king of Judah proceeded to go up to Raʹmoth-gilʹe·ad. [30] The king of Israel now said to Je·hoshʹa·phat: “There will be a disguising and entering into the battle for me, but you, for your part, put on your garments.” Accordingly, the king of Israel disguised himself and entered into the battle. [31] As for the king of Syria, he had commanded the thirty-two chiefs of the chariots that were his, saying: “YOU must fight, neither with the small nor the great, but with the king of Israel alone.” [32] And it came about that, as soon as the chiefs of the chariots saw Je·hosh′a·phat, they, for their part, said to themselves: “Surely it is the king of Israel.” So they turned aside against him to fight; and Je·hosh′a·phat began to cry for aid. [33] And it came about that, as soon as the chiefs of the chariots saw that it was not the king of Israel, they immediately came back from following him.

[34] And there was a man that bent the bow in his innocence, but he got to strike the king of Israel between the appendages and the coat of mail, so that he said to his charioteer: “Turn your hand around, and take me out from the camp, because I have been badly wounded.” [35] And the battle kept rising in intensity on that day, and the king himself had to be kept in a standing position in the chariot facing the Syrians, and gradually he died in the evening; and the blood of the wound kept pouring out upon the interior of the war chariot. [36] And the ringing cry began to pass through the camp about the setting of the sun, saying: “Everyone to his city, and everyone to his land!” [37] Thus the king died. When he was brought to Sa·mar′i·a, then they buried the king in Sa·mar′i·a. [38] And they began to wash off the war chariot by the pool of Sa·mar′i·a, and the dogs went licking up his blood (and the prostitutes themselves bathed there), according to Jehovah’s word that he had spoken.

[39] As for the rest of the affairs of A′hab and all that he did and the house of ivory that he built and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [40] Finally A′hab lay down with his forefathers; and A·ha·zi′ah his son began to reign in place of him.

[41] As for Je·hosh′a·phat the son of A′sa, he had become king over Judah in the fourth year of A′hab the king of Israel. [42]

Je·hoshʹa·phat was thirty-five years old when he began to reign, and for twenty-five years he reigned in Jerusalem; and his mother’s name was A·zuʹbah the daughter of Shilʹhi. [43] And he kept walking in all the way of Aʹsa his father. He did not turn aside from it, by doing what was right in the eyes of Jehovah. Only the high places themselves did not disappear. The people were still sacrificing and making sacrificial smoke on the high places. [44] And Je·hoshʹa·phat kept peaceful relations with the king of Israel. [45] As for the rest of the affairs of Je·hoshʹa·phat and the mightiness with which he acted and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [46] And the rest of the male temple prostitutes that had been left over in the days of Aʹsa his father he cleared out from the land.

[47] As regards a king, there was none in Eʹdom; a deputy was king.

[48] Je·hoshʹa·phat, for his part, made Tarʹshish ships to go to Oʹphir for gold; but they did not go, because the ships were wrecked at Eʹzi·on-geʹber. [49] It was then that A·ha·ziʹah the son of Aʹhab said to Je·hoshʹa·phat: “Let my servants go with your servants in the ships,” but Je·hoshʹa·phat did not consent.

[50] Finally Je·hoshʹa·phat lay down with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David his forefather; and Je·hoʹram his son began to reign in place of him.

[51] As for A·ha·ziʹah the son of Aʹhab, he became king over Israel in Sa·marʹi·a in the seventeenth year of Je·hoshʹa·phat the king of Judah, and he continued to reign over Israel for two years. [52] And he kept doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes and went walking in the way of his father and in the way of his mother and in the way of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat, who had caused Israel to sin. 53 And he continued serving Ba′al and bowing down to him and kept offending Jehovah the God of Israel according to all that his father had done.

THE SECOND OF KINGS

OR, ACCORDING TO THE GREEK SEPTUAGINT, THE FOURTH OF KINGS

1 And Mo′ab began to revolt against Israel after the death of A′hab.

[2] Then A·ha·zi′ah fell down through the grating in his roof chamber that was in Sa·mar′i·a and got sick. So he sent messengers and said to them: “Go, inquire of Ba′al-ze′bub the god of Ek′ron whether I shall revive from this sickness.” [3] As for the angel of Jehovah, he spoke to E·li′jah the Tish′bite: “Rise up, go up to meet the messengers of the king of Sa·mar′i·a and say to them, ‘Is it because there is no God at all in Israel that YOU are going to inquire of Ba′al-ze′bub the god of Ek′ron? [4] So therefore this is what Jehovah has said: “As regards the couch upon which you have gone up, you will not come down off it, because you will positively die.”’” With that E·li′jah went off.

[5] When the messengers came back to him, he immediately said to them: “Why is it that YOU have come back?” [6] So they said to him: “There was a man that came up to meet us, and he proceeded to say to us, ‘Go, return to the king who sent YOU, and YOU must speak to him: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Is it because there is no God at all in Israel that you are sending to inquire of Ba′al-ze′bub the god of Ek′ron? Therefore, as regards the couch upon which you have gone up, you will not come down off it, because you will positively die.’”’” [7] At this he spoke to them: “What was the appearance of the man that came up to meet YOU and then spoke these words to YOU?” [8] So they said to him: “A man possessing a hair garment, with a leather belt girded about his loins.” Immediately he said: “It was E·li′jah the Tish′bite.”

[9] And he proceeded to send to him a chief of fifty with his fifty. When he went up to him, there he was sitting upon the top of the mountain. He now spoke to him: “Man of the true God, the king himself has spoken, ‘Do come down.’” [10] But E·li′jah answered and spoke to the chief of the fifty: “Well, if I am a man of God, let fire come down from the heavens and eat up you and your fifty.” And fire came descending from the heavens and went eating up him and his fifty.

[11] So he sent again to him another chief of fifty with his fifty. In turn he answered and spoke to him: “Man of the true God, this is what the king has said, ‘Do come down quickly.’” [12] But E·li′jah answered and spoke to them: “If I am a man of the true God, let fire come down from the heavens and eat up you and your fifty.” And fire of God came descending from the heavens and went eating up him and his fifty.

[13] And he went sending again a third chief of fifty and his fifty. But the third chief of fifty went up and came and bent down upon his knees in front of E·li′jah and began to implore favor of him and speak to him: “Man of the true God, please let my soul and the soul of these fifty servants of yours be precious in your eyes. [14] Here fire came down from the heavens and went eating up the two former chiefs of fifty and their fifties, but now let my soul be precious in your eyes.”

[15] At that the angel of Jehovah spoke to E·li′jah: “Go down with him. Do not be afraid because of him.” So he rose and went down with him to the king. [16] Then he spoke to him: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘For the reason that you have sent messengers to inquire of Ba′al-ze′bub the god of Ek′ron, is it because there is no God at all in Israel of whose word to inquire? Therefore as regards the couch upon which you have gone up, you will not come down off it, because you will positively die.’” 17 And he gradually died, according to the word of Jehovah that E·li′jah had spoken; and Je·ho′ram began to reign in place of him, in the second year of Je·ho′ram the son of Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah, because he had not come to have a son.

18 As for the rest of A·ha·zi′ah’s things that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel?

2 And it came about that when Jehovah was to take E·li′jah in a windstorm up to the heavens, E·li′jah and E·li′sha proceeded to go from Gil′gal. [2] And E·li′jah began to say to E·li′sha: “Sit here, please, because Jehovah himself has sent me clear to Beth′el.” But E·li′sha said: “As Jehovah is living and as your soul is living, I will not leave you.” So they went down to Beth′el. [3] Then the sons of the prophets that were at Beth′el came out to E·li′sha and said to him: “Do you really know that today Jehovah is taking your master from headship over you?” At this he said: “I, too, well know it. BE silent.”

[4] E·li′jah now said to him: “E·li′sha, sit here, please, because Jehovah himself has sent me to Jer′i·cho.” But he said: “As Jehovah is living and as your soul is living, I will not leave you.” So they came on to Jer′i·cho. [5] Then the sons of the prophets that were at Jer′i·cho approached E·li′sha and said to him: “Do you really know that today Jehovah is taking your master from headship over you?” At this he said: “I, too, well know it. BE silent.”

[6] E·li′jah now said to him: “Sit here, please, because Jehovah himself has sent me to the Jordan.” But he said: “As Jehovah is living and as your soul is living, I will not leave you.” So both of them went on. [7] And there were fifty men of the sons of the prophets that went and kept standing in view at a distance; but, as for both of them, they stood by the Jordan. [8] Then E·li′jah took his official garment and wrapped it up and struck the waters, and gradually they were divided this way and that way, so that both of them went across on the dry ground.

[9] And it came about that as soon as they had gone across E·li′jah himself said to E·li′sha: “Ask what I should do for you before I am taken from you.” To this E·li′sha said: “Please, that two parts in your spirit may come to me.” [10] At that he said: “You have asked a difficult thing. If you see me when taken from you, it will happen to you that way; but if you do not, it will not happen.”

[11] And it came about that as they were walking along, speaking as they walked, why, look! a fiery war chariot and fiery horses, and they proceeded to make a separation between them both; and E·li′jah went ascending in the windstorm to the heavens. [12] All the while E·li′sha was seeing it, and he was crying out: “My father, my father, the war chariot of Israel and his horsemen!” And he did not see him anymore. Consequently he took hold of his own garments and ripped them into two pieces. [13] After that he picked up the official garment of E·li′jah that had fallen off him, and went back and stood by the shore of the Jordan. [14] Then he took the official garment of E·li′jah that had fallen off him and struck the waters and said: “Where is Jehovah the God of E·li′jah, even He?” When he struck the waters, then they were gradually divided this way and that way, so that E·li′sha went across.

[15] When the sons of the prophets that were at Jer′i·cho saw him some way off, they began to say: “The spirit of E·li′jah has settled down upon E·li′sha.” Accordingly they came to meet him and bowed down to him to the earth. [16] And they went on to say to him: “Here, now, there are with your servants fifty men, valiant persons. Let them go, please, and look for your master. It may be that the spirit of Jehovah has lifted him up and then thrown him upon one of the mountains or in one of the valleys.” But he said: “YOU must not send them.” [17] And they kept urging him until he was embarrassed, so that he said: “Send.” They now sent fifty men; and they kept looking for three days, but they did not find him. [18] When they returned to him, he was dwelling in Jer′i·cho. Then he said to them: “Did I not say to YOU, ‘Do not go’?”

[19] In time the men of the city said to E·li′sha: “Here, now, the situation of the city is good, just as my master is seeing; but the water is bad, and the land is causing miscarriages.” [20] At that he said: “Fetch me a small new bowl and put salt in it.” So they fetched it for him. [21] Then he went on out to the source of the water and threw salt in it and said: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘I do make this water healthful. No more will death or any causing of miscarriages result from it.’” [22] And the water continues healed down to this day, according to E·li′sha’s word that he spoke.

[23] And he proceeded to go up from there to Beth′el. As he was going up on the way, there were small boys that came out from the city and began to jeer him and that kept saying to him: “Go up, you baldhead! Go up, you baldhead!” [24] Finally he turned behind him and saw them and called down evil upon them in the name of Jehovah. Then two she-bears came out from the woods and went tearing to pieces forty-two children of their number. [25] And he kept going from there to Mount Car′mel, and from there he returned to Sa·mar′i·a.

3 As for Je·ho′ram the son of A′hab, he became king over Israel in Sa·mar′i·a in the eighteenth year of Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah, and he continued to reign for twelve years. [2] And he kept on doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, only not like his father or like his mother, but he removed the sacred pillar of Ba′al that his father had made. [3] Only he stuck to the sins of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat, with which he caused Israel to sin. He did not depart from them.

[4] As regards Me′sha the king of Mo′ab, he became a sheep raiser, and he paid to the king of Israel a hundred thousand lambs and a hundred thousand unshorn male sheep. [5] And it came about that as soon as A′hab died, the king of Mo′ab began to revolt against the king of Israel. [6] Consequently King Je·ho′ram went out on that day from Sa·mar′i·a and mustered all Israel. [7] He went farther and now sent to Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah, saying: “The king of Mo′ab himself has revolted against me. Will you go with me to Mo′ab in war?” To this he said: “I shall go. I am the same as you are; my people are the same as your people; my horses are the same as your horses.” [8] And he went on to say: “By which particular way shall we go up?” So he said: “By the way of the wilderness of E′dom.”

[9] And the king of Israel and the king of Judah and the king of E′dom proceeded to go, and they kept going their way around for seven days, and there proved to be no water for the camp and for the domestic animals that were following their steps. [10] At length the king of Israel said: “How unfortunate that Jehovah has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Mo′ab!” [11] At that Je·hosh′a·phat said: “Is there not here a prophet of Jehovah? Then let us inquire of Jehovah through him.” So one of the servants of the king of Israel answered and said: “There is here E·li′sha the son of Sha′phat, who poured out water upon the hands of E·li′jah.” [12] Then Je·hosh′a·phat said: “The word of Jehovah exists with him.” Accordingly the king of Israel and Je·hosh′a·phat and the king of E′dom went down to him.

[13] And E·li′sha proceeded to say to the king of Israel: “What do I have to do with you? Go to the prophets of your father and to the prophets of your mother.” But the king of Israel said to him: “No, for Jehovah has called these three kings to give them into the hand of Mo′ab.” [14] To this E·li′sha said: “As Jehovah of armies before whom I do stand is living, if it were not that it is the face of Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah for which I am having consideration, I would not look at you or see you. [15] And now YOU men fetch me a string-instrument player.” And it occurred that, as soon as the string-instrument player played, the hand of Jehovah came to be upon him. [16] And he went on to say: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Let there be a making of this torrent valley full of ditches; [17] for this is what Jehovah has said: “YOU men will not see a wind, and YOU will not see a downpour; yet that torrent valley will be filled with water, and YOU men will certainly drink from it, YOU and YOUR livestock and YOUR domestic animals.”’ [18] And this will indeed be a trivial thing in the eyes of Jehovah, and he will certainly give Mo′ab into YOUR hand. [19] And YOU must strike down every fortified city and every choice city, and every good tree YOU should fell, and all the springs of water YOU should stop up, and every good tract of land YOU should mar with stones.”

[20] And it came about in the morning, at the time of the going up of the grain offering, that, look! water was coming from the direction of E′dom, and the land came to be filled with the water.

[21] As regards all the Moʹab·ites, they heard that the kings had come up to fight against them. Consequently they called together men from as many as were girding on a belt and upward, and they began standing at the boundary. [22] When they got up early in the morning, the sun itself flashed upon the water, so that the Moʹab·ites from the opposite side saw the water red like blood. [23] And they began to say: “This is blood! The kings have unquestionably been put to the sword, and they went striking one another down. So now, to the spoil, O Moʹab!” [24] When they came into the camp of Israel, the Israelites immediately rose up and began striking the Moʹab·ites down so that they took to flight from before them. Hence they came into Moʹab, striking the Moʹab·ites down as they came. [25] And the cities they went throwing down, and, as for every good tract of land, they would pitch each one his stone and actually fill it; and every spring of water they would stop up, and every good tree they would fell, until they left only the stones of Kir-harʹe·seth remaining in it; and the slingers began going around it and striking it down.

[26] When the king of Moʹab saw that the battle had proved too strong for him, he at once took with him seven hundred men drawing sword to break through to the king of Eʹdom; but they were not able to. [27] Finally he took his firstborn son who was going to reign in place of him and offered him up as a burnt sacrifice upon the wall. And there came to be great indignation against Israel, so that they pulled away from against him and returned to their land.

4 Now there was a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets that cried out to E·liʹsha, saying: “Your servant, my husband, is dead; and you yourself well know that your own servant had continually feared Jehovah, and the creditor himself has come to take both my children for his slaves.” [2] At this E·liʹsha said to her: “What shall I do for you? Tell me; what do you have in the house?” To this she said: “Your maidservant has nothing at all in the house but a spouted jar of oil.” [3] Then he said: “Go, ask for vessels for yourself from outside, from all your neighbors, empty vessels. Do not hold yourself to a few. [4] And you must go and close the door behind yourself and your sons, and you must pour out into all these vessels, and the full ones you should set aside.” [5] Upon that she went away from him.

When she closed the door behind herself and her sons, they were bringing the vessels near to her, and she was doing the pouring out. [6] And it came about that as soon as the vessels were full she went on to say to her son: “Do bring still another vessel near to me.” But he said to her: “There is no other vessel.” At that the oil stopped. [7] So she came in and told the man of the true God, and he now said: “Go, sell the oil and pay off your debts, and you and your sons should live from what is left.”

[8] And it came about one day that E·liʹsha went passing along to Shuʹnem, where there was a prominent woman, and she began to constrain him to eat bread. And it came about that as often as he would pass by, he would turn aside there to eat bread. [9] At length she said to her husband: “Here, now, I well know that it is a holy man of God that is passing by us constantly. [10] Please, let us make a little roof chamber on the wall and put there for him a couch and a table and a chair and a lampstand; and it must occur that whenever he comes in to us he can turn aside there.”

[11] And it came about one day that as usual he came in there and turned aside to the roof chamber and lay down there. [12] So he said to Ge·haʹzi his attendant: “Call this Shuʹnam·mite woman.” At that he called her that she might stand before him. [13] Then he said to him: “Please, say to her, ‘Here you have restricted yourself for us with all this restriction. What is there to be done for you? Is there anything to speak to the king or to the chief of the army for you?’” To this she said: “In among my own people I am dwelling.” [14] And he went on to say: “What, then, is there to be done for her?” Ge·haʹzi now said: “For a fact, a son she does not have, and her husband is old.” [15] Immediately he said: “Call her.” So he called her, and she kept standing at the entrance. [16] Then he said: “At this appointed time next year you will be embracing a son.” But she said: “No, my master, O man of the true God! Do not tell lies in connection with your maidservant.”

[17] However, the woman became pregnant and gave birth to a son at this appointed time the next year, just as E·liʹsha had spoken to her. [18] And the child kept on growing up, and it came about one day that he went out as usual to his father with the reapers. [19] And he kept saying to his father: “My head, O my head!” At last he said to the attendant: “Carry him to his mother.” [20] Accordingly he carried him and brought him to his mother. And he kept sitting upon her knees until noon, and gradually he died. [21] Then she went up and laid him upon the couch of the man of the true God and closed the door upon him and went out. [22] She now called her husband and said: “Do send me, please, one of the attendants and one of the she-asses, and let me run as far as the man of the true God and return.” [23] But he said:

“Why are you going to him today? It is not a new moon nor a sabbath.” However, she said: “It is all right.” [24] So she saddled up the she-ass and said to her attendant: “Drive and go ahead. Do not hold back for my sake from riding unless I shall have said so to you.”

[25] And she proceeded to go and come to the man of the true God at Mount Car′mel. And it came about that, as soon as the man of the true God saw her out ahead, he immediately said to Ge·ha′zi his attendant: “Look! The Shu′nam·mite woman over there. [26] Now run, please, to meet her and say to her, ‘Is it all right with you? Is it all right with your husband? Is it all right with the child?’” To this she said: “It is all right.” [27] When she came to the man of the true God at the mountain, she at once took hold of him by his feet. At this Ge·ha′zi came near to push her away, but the man of the true God said: “Let her alone, for her soul is bitter within her; and Jehovah himself has hidden it from me and not told me.” [28] She now said: “Did I ask for a son through my lord? Did I not say, ‘You must not lead me to a false hope’?”

[29] Immediately he said to Ge·ha′zi: “Gird up your loins and take my staff in your hand and go. In case you encounter anyone, you must not greet him; and in case anyone should greet you, you must not answer him. And you must place my staff upon the face of the boy.” [30] At this the mother of the boy said: “As Jehovah is living and as your soul is living, I will not leave you.” Therefore he got up and went with her. [31] And Ge·ha′zi himself passed along before them and then put the staff upon the boy’s face, but there was no voice nor paying of attention. So he went back to meet him and told him, saying: “The boy did not wake up.”

[32] At last E·li′sha came into the house, and there the boy was dead, being laid upon his couch. [33] Then he came in and closed the door behind them both and began to pray to Jehovah. [34] Finally he went up and lay down upon the child and put his own mouth upon his mouth and his own eyes upon his eyes and his own palms upon his palms and kept bent over him, and gradually the child’s flesh grew warm. [35] Then he began walking again in the house, once this way and once that way, after which he went up and bent over him. And the boy began to sneeze as many as seven times, after which the boy opened his eyes. [36] He now called Ge·ha′zi and said: “Call this Shu′nam·mite woman.” So he called her and she came in to him. Then he said: “Lift up your son.” [37] And she proceeded to come in and fall at his feet and bow down to him to the earth, after which she lifted up her son and went out.

[38] And E·li′sha himself returned to Gil′gal, and there was famine in the land. As the sons of the prophets were sitting before him, he in time said to his attendant: “Put the large cooking pot on and boil stew for the sons of the prophets.” [39] Accordingly a certain one went out to the field to pick mallows, and he got to find a wild vine and went picking wild gourds from it, his garment full, and then came and sliced them into the stewpot, for they were not acquainted with them. [40] Later they poured it out for the men to eat. And it came about that, as soon as they ate from the stew, they themselves cried out and began saying: “There is death in the pot, O man of the true God.” And they were not able to eat. [41] So he said: “FETCH, then, flour.” After he threw it into the pot, he went on to say: “Pour out for the people that they may eat.” And nothing injurious proved to be in the pot.

[42] And there was a man that came from Ba′al-shal′i·shah, and he came bringing to the man of the true God bread of the first ripe fruits, twenty barley loaves, and new grain in his bread bag. Then he said: “Give it to the people that they may eat." [43] However, his waiter said: "How shall I put this before a hundred men?" To this he said: "Give it to the people that they may eat, for this is what Jehovah has said, 'There will be an eating and a having of leftovers.'" [44] At that he put it before them, and they began to eat, and they had leftovers according to the word of Jehovah.

5 Now a certain Naʹa·man, the chief of the army of the king of Syria, had become a great man before his lord and held in esteem, because it was by him that Jehovah had given salvation to Syria; and the man himself had proved to be a valiant, mighty man, though a leper. [2] And the Syrians, for their part, had gone out as marauder bands, and they got to take captive from the land of Israel a little girl, and she came to be before Naʹa·man’s wife. [3] In time she said to her mistress: “If only my lord were before the prophet that is in Sa·marʹi·a! In that case he would recover him from his leprosy.” [4] Subsequently someone came and reported to his lord, saying: “It was like this and that that the girl spoke who is from the land of Israel.”

[5] Then the king of Syria said: “Get going! Come, and let me send a letter to the king of Israel.” So he proceeded to go and take in his hand ten talents of silver and six thousand pieces of gold and ten changes of garments. [6] And he came bringing the letter to the king of Israel, saying: “And now at the same time that this letter comes to you, here I do send to you Naʹa·man my servant, that you may recover him from his leprosy.” [7] And it came about that as soon as the king of Israel read the letter, he immediately ripped his garments apart and said: “Am I God, to put to death and to preserve alive? For this person is sending to me to recover a man from his leprosy; for just take note, please, YOU men, and see how he is seeking a quarrel with me.”

[8] And it came about that, as soon as E·liʹsha the man of the true God heard that the king of Israel had ripped his garments apart, he at once sent to the king, saying: “Why did you rip your garments apart? Let him come, please, to me that he may know that there exists a prophet in Israel.” [9]

So Na′a·man came with his horses and his war chariots and stood at the entrance of the house of E·li′sha. 10 However, E·li′sha sent a messenger to him, saying: “Going there, you must bathe seven times in the Jordan that your flesh may come back to you; and be clean.” 11 At this Na′a·man grew indignant and began to go away and say: “Here I had said to myself, ‘To me he will come out all the way and will certainly stand and call upon the name of Jehovah his God and move his hand to and fro over the place and actually give the leper recovery.’ 12 Are not the A·ba′nah and the Phar′par, the rivers of Damascus, better than all the waters of Israel? Can I not bathe in them and certainly be clean?” With that he turned and went away in a rage.

13 His servants now approached and spoke to him and said: “My father, had it been a great thing that the prophet himself had spoken to you, would you not do it? How much more, then, since he said to you, ‘Bathe and be clean’?” 14 At that he went down and began to plunge into the Jordan seven times according to the word of the man of the true God; after which his flesh came back like the flesh of a little boy and he became clean.

15 Then he went back to the man of the true God, he with all his camp, and came and stood before him and said: “Here, now, I certainly know that there is no God anywhere in the earth but in Israel. And now accept, please, a blessing gift from your servant.” 16 However, he said: “As Jehovah before whom I do stand is living, I will not accept it.” And he began to urge him to accept it, but he kept refusing. 17 Finally Na′a·man said: “If not, please, let there be given to your servant some ground, the load of a pair of mules; because your servant will no more render up a burnt offering or a sacrifice to any other gods but to Jehovah. 18 In this thing may Jehovah forgive your servant: When my lord comes into the house of Rim′mon to bow down there, and he is supporting himself upon my hand, and I have to bow down at the house of Rim′mon, when I bow down at the house of Rim′mon may Jehovah, please, forgive your servant in this respect.” 19 At this he said to him: “Go in peace.” Accordingly he went away from him for a good stretch of the land.

20 Then Ge·ha′zi the attendant of E·li′sha the man of the true God said: “Here my master has spared Na′a·man this Syrian by not accepting from his hand what he brought. As Jehovah is living, I will run after him and take something from him.” 21 And Ge·ha′zi went chasing after Na′a·man. When Na′a·man saw someone running after him, he at once got down from his chariot to meet him and then said: “Is all well?” 22 To this he said: “All is well. My master himself has sent me, saying, ‘Look! Just now there have come to me two young men from the mountainous region of E′phra·im from the sons of the prophets. Do give them, please, a talent of silver and two changes of garments.’” 23 At that Na′a·man said: “Go on, take two talents.” And he kept urging him and finally bound up two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and gave them to two of his attendants, that they might carry them before him.

24 When he came to O′phel, he immediately took them from their hand and deposited them in the house and sent the men away. So off they went. 25 And he himself came in and then stood by his master. E·li′sha now said to him: “Where did you come from, Ge·ha′zi?” But he said: “Your servant did not go anywhere at all.” 26 At that he said to him: “Did not my heart itself go along just as the man turned to get down off his chariot to meet you? Is it a time to accept silver or to accept garments or olive groves or vineyards or sheep or cattle or menservants or maidservants? 27 So the leprosy of Na′a·man will stick to you and your offspring to time indefinite.” Immediately he went out from before him, a leper white as snow.

6 And the sons of the prophets began to say to E·liʹsha: “Look, now! The place where we are dwelling before you is too cramped for us. [2] Let us go, please, as far as the Jordan and take from there each one a beam and make for ourselves there a place in which to dwell.” So he said: “Go.”
[3] And a certain one went on to say: “Come on, please, and go with your servants.” At that he said: “I myself shall go.” [4] Accordingly he went with them, and they finally came to the Jordan and began to cut down the trees. [5] And it came about that a certain one was felling his beam, and the axhead itself fell into the water. And he began to cry out and say: “Alas, my master, for it was borrowed! ” [6] Then the man of the true God said: “Where did it fall?” So he showed him the place. Immediately he cut off a piece of wood and threw it there and made the axhead float. [7] He now said: “Lift it up for yourself.” At once he thrust his hand out and took it.

[8] And the king of Syria, for his part, became involved in war against Israel. Accordingly he took counsel with his servants, saying: “At such and such a place YOU will encamp with me.” [9] Then the man of the true God sent to the king of Israel, saying: “Guard yourself against passing by this place, because there is where the Syrians are coming down.” [10] So the king of Israel sent to the place that the man of the true God had said to him. And he warned him, and he kept away from there, not once or twice.

[11] Consequently the heart of the king of Syria became enraged over this matter, so that he called his servants and said to them: “Will YOU not tell me who from those who belong to us is for the king of Israel?” [12] Then one of his servants said: “None, my lord the king, but it is E·liʹsha the prophet who is in Israel that tells the king of Israel the things that you speak in your inner bedroom.” [13] So he said: “YOU men go and see where he is, that I may send and take him.” Later the report was made to him, saying: “There he is in Do′than.” [14] Immediately he sent horses and war chariots and a heavy military force there; and they proceeded to come by night and close in upon the city.

[15] When the minister of the man of the true God rose early to get up, and went out, why, there a military force was surrounding the city with horses and war chariots. At once his attendant said to him: “Alas, my master! What shall we do?” [16] But he said: “Do not be afraid, for there are more who are with us than those who are with them.” [17] And E·li′sha began to pray and say: “O Jehovah, open his eyes, please, that he may see.” Immediately Jehovah opened the attendant’s eyes, so that he saw; and, look! the mountainous region was full of horses and war chariots of fire all around E·li′sha.

[18] When they began to come down to him, E·li′sha went on to pray to Jehovah and say: “Please, strike this nation with blindness.” So he struck them with blindness according to the word of E·li′sha. [19] E·li′sha now said to them: “This is not the way, and this is not the city. Follow me, and let me conduct YOU to the man YOU look for.” However, he conducted them to Sa·mar′i·a.

[20] And it came about that as soon as they arrived at Sa·mar′i·a, E·li′sha then said: “O Jehovah, open the eyes of these that they may see.” Immediately Jehovah opened their eyes, and they got to see; and here they were in the middle of Sa·mar′i·a. [21] The king of Israel now said to E·li′sha as soon as he saw them: “Shall I strike them down, shall I strike them down, my father?” [22] But he said: “You must not strike them down. Are those whom you have taken captive with your sword and with your bow the ones that you are striking down? Set bread and water before them that they may eat and drink and go to their lord.” [23] Accordingly he spread a great feast for them; and they began to eat and drink, after which he sent them away and they went to their lord. And not once did the marauding bands of the Syrians come again into the land of Israel.

[24] And it came about afterward that Ben-ha′dad the king of Syria proceeded to collect all his camp together and to go up and besiege Sa·mar′i·a. [25] In time a great famine arose in Sa·mar′i·a, and, look! they were besieging it until an ass’s head got to be worth eighty silver pieces, and the fourth of a cab measure of dove’s dung was worth five silver pieces. [26] And it came about as the king of Israel was passing along upon the wall that a certain woman cried out to him, saying: “Do save, O my lord the king! ” [27] To this he said: “If Jehovah does not save you, from what source shall I save you? either from the threshing floor or from the wine or oil press?” [28] And the king went on to say to her: “What is the matter with you?” So she said: “This very woman said to me, ‘Give your son that we may eat him today, and my own son we shall eat tomorrow.’ [29] Accordingly we boiled my son and ate him. Then I said to her on the next day, ‘Give your son that we may eat him.’ But she hid her son.”

[30] And it came about that as soon as the king heard the woman’s words, he immediately ripped his garments apart; and as he was passing along upon the wall, the people got to see, and, look! sackcloth was underneath upon his flesh. [31] And he went on to say: “So may God do to me, and so may he add to it, if the head of E·li′sha the son of Sha′phat continues standing upon him today! ”

[32] And E·li′sha was sitting in his own house, and the older men were sitting with him, when he sent a man from before him. Before the messenger could come in to him, he himself said to the older men: “Have YOU seen how this son of a murderer has sent to take off my head? See to it: as soon as the messenger comes, close the door, and YOU must press him back with the door. Is there not the sound of the feet of his lord behind him?” 33 While he was yet speaking with them, here was the messenger coming down to him, and the king proceeded to say: “Here this is the calamity from Jehovah. Why should I wait any longer for Jehovah?”

7 E·li′sha now said: “Listen, YOU men, to the word of Jehovah. This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Tomorrow about this time a seah measure of fine flour will be worth a shekel, and two seah measures of barley worth a shekel in the gateway of Sa·mar′i·a.’” [2] At that the adjutant upon whose hand the king was supporting himself answered the man of the true God and said: “If Jehovah were making floodgates in the heavens, could this thing take place?” To this he said: “Here you are seeing it with your own eyes, but from it you will not eat.”

[3] And there were four men, lepers, that happened to be at the entrance of the gate; and they began to say the one to the other: “Why are we sitting here until we have died? [4] If we had said, ‘Let us enter the city,’ when the famine is in the city, we would also have to die there. And if we do sit here, we shall also have to die. So now come and let us invade the camp of the Syrians. If they preserve us alive, we shall live; but if they put us to death, then we shall have to die.” [5] Accordingly they rose up in the evening darkness to enter the camp of the Syrians; and they got to come as far as the outskirts of the camp of the Syrians, and, look! nobody was there.

[6] And Jehovah himself had caused the camp of the Syrians to hear the sound of war chariots, the sound of horses, the sound of a great military force, so that they said to one another: “Look! The king of Israel has hired against us the kings of the Hit′tites and the kings of Egypt to come against us!” [7] Immediately they got up and went fleeing in the evening darkness and leaving their tents and their horses and their asses—the camp just as it was—and they kept fleeing for their soul.

[8] When these lepers came as far as the outskirts of the camp, they then entered into one tent and began to eat and drink and carry from there silver and gold and garments and go off and stick them away. After that they returned and entered into another tent and carried things from there and went off and stuck them away.

[9] Finally they began to say the one to the other: “It is not right what we are doing. This day is a day of good news! If we are hesitating, and we actually wait until the morning light, guilt must also catch up with us. So now come and let us enter and make report at the king’s house.” [10] So they came and called to the gatekeepers of the city and reported to them, saying: “We came into the camp of the Syrians, and, look! there was nobody there nor sound of a man, but only the horses tied and the asses tied and the tents just as they were.” [11] At once the gatekeepers called out and they reported to the king’s house inside.

[12] Immediately the king rose up by night and said to his servants: “Let me tell YOU, please, what the Syrians have done to us. They well know that we are hungry; and so they went out from the camp to hide themselves in the field, saying, ‘They will come out from the city, and we shall catch them alive, and into the city we shall enter.’” [13] Then one of his servants answered and said: “Let them take, please, five of the remaining horses that have remained in the city. Look! They are the same as all the crowd of Israel that have remained in it. Look! They are the same as all the crowd of Israel that have perished. And let us send out and see.” [14] Accordingly they took two chariots with horses and the king sent them out after the camp of the Syrians, saying: “Go and see.” [15] At that they went following them as far as the Jordan; and, look! all the way was full of garments and utensils that the Syrians had thrown away as they were hurrying away. Then the messengers returned and reported to the king.

16 And the people proceeded to go out and plunder the camp of the Syrians; and so a seah measure of fine flour came to be worth a shekel, and two seah measures of barley worth a shekel, according to the word of Jehovah. 17 And the king himself had appointed the adjutant upon whose hand he was supporting himself to have charge of the gateway; and the people kept trampling him in the gateway, so that he died, just as the man of the true God had spoken, when he spoke at the time that the king came down to him. 18 Thus it came about just as the man of the true God had spoken to the king, saying: “Two seah measures of barley worth a shekel and a seah measure of fine flour worth a shekel it will come to be tomorrow at this time in the gateway of Sa·marʹi·a.” 19 But the adjutant answered the man of the true God and said: “Even if Jehovah were making floodgates in the heavens, could it take place according to this word?” To this he said: “Here you are seeing it with your own eyes, but from it you will not eat.” 20 Thus it happened to him like that, when the people kept trampling him in the gateway, so that he died.

8 And E·li′sha himself had spoken to the woman whose son he had revived, saying: “Rise up and go, you with your household, and reside as an alien wherever you can reside as an alien; for Jehovah has called for a famine, and, besides, it must come upon the land for seven years.” [2] So the woman got up and did according to the word of the man of the true God and went, she with her household, and took up residence as an alien in the land of the Phi·lis′tines for seven years.

[3] And it came about at the end of seven years that the woman proceeded to return from the land of the Phi·lis′tines and go forth to cry out to the king for her house and for her field. [4] Now the king was speaking to Ge·ha′zi the attendant of the man of the true God, saying: “Do relate to me, please, all the great things that E·li′sha has done.” [5] And it came about that as he was relating to the king how he had revived the dead one, why, here the woman whose son he had revived was crying out to the king for her house and for her field. At once Ge·ha′zi said: “My lord the king, this is the woman, and this is her son whom E·li′sha revived.” [6] At that the king asked the woman, and she went on to relate to him the story. Then the king gave her a court official, saying: “Return all that belongs to her and all the products of the field from the day of her leaving the land until now.”

[7] And E·li′sha proceeded to come to Damascus; and Ben-ha′dad the king of Syria was sick. Accordingly the report was made to him, saying: “The man of the true God has come as far as here.” [8] At that the king said to Haz′a·el: “Take a gift in your hand and go and meet the man of the true God, and you must inquire of Jehovah through him, saying, ‘Shall I revive from this sickness?’” [9] So Haz′a·el went to meet him and took a gift in his hand, even every sort of good thing of Damascus, the load of forty camels, and came and stood before him and said: “Your son, Ben-ha′dad, the king of Syria, has sent me to you, saying, ‘Shall I revive from this sickness?’” [10] Then E·li′sha said to him: “Go, say to him, ‘You will positively revive,’ and Jehovah has shown me that he will positively die.” [11] And he kept a fixed look and kept it set to the point of embarrassment. Then the man of the true God gave way to weeping. [12] At this Haz′a·el said: “Why is my lord weeping?” To this he said: “Because I well know what injury you will do to the sons of Israel. Their fortified places you will consign to the fire, and their choice men you will kill with the sword, and their children you will dash to pieces, and their pregnant women you will rip up.” [13] Upon that Haz′a·el said: “What is your servant, who is a mere dog, that he could do this great thing?” But E·li′sha said: “Jehovah has shown me you as king over Syria.”

[14] After that he went from E·li′sha and came to his own lord, who then said to him: “What did E·li′sha say to you?” To this he said: “He said to me, ‘You will positively revive.’” [15] And it came about on the next day that he proceeded to take a coverlet and dip it in water and spread it out over his face, so that he died. And Haz′a·el began to reign in place of him.

[16] And in the fifth year of Je·ho′ram the son of A′hab the king of Israel, while Je·hosh′a·phat was king of Judah, Je·ho′ram the son of Je·hosh′a·phat the king of Judah became king. [17] Thirty-two years old he happened to be when he became king, and for eight years he reigned in Jerusalem. [18] And he went walking in the way of the kings of Israel, just as those of the house of A′hab had done; for it was A′hab’s daughter that became his wife, and he kept doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. [19] And Jehovah did not want to bring Judah to ruin for the sake of David his servant, just as he had promised him to give a lamp to him and to his sons always.

[20] In his days E′dom revolted from under the hand of Judah, and then made a king reign over them. [21] Consequently Je·ho′ram passed over to Za′ir, also all the chariots with him. And it came about that he himself rose up by night and got to strike down the E′dom·ites that were surrounding him and the chiefs of the chariots; and the people went fleeing to their tents. [22] But E′dom kept up its revolt from under the hand of Judah down to this day. It was then that Lib′nah began to revolt at that time.

[23] And the rest of the affairs of Je·ho′ram and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [24] Finally Je·ho′ram lay down with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David. And A·ha·zi′ah his son began to reign in place of him.

[25] In the twelfth year of Je·ho′ram the son of A′hab the king of Israel, A·ha·zi′ah the son of Je·ho′ram the king of Judah became king. [26] Twenty-two years old was A·ha·zi′ah when he began to reign, and for one year he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Ath·a·li′ah the granddaughter of Om′ri the king of Israel. [27] And he went walking in the way of the house of A′hab and kept doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, like the house of A′hab, for he was a relative of the house of A′hab by marriage. [28] Accordingly he went with Je·ho′ram the son of A′hab to the war against Haz′a·el the king of Syria at Ra′moth-gil′e·ad, but the Syrians struck down Je·ho′ram. [29] So Je·ho′ram the king returned to get healed at Jez′re·el from the wounds that the Syrians got to inflict upon him at Ra′mah when he fought Haz′a·el the king of Syria. As for A·ha·zi′ah the son of Je·ho′ram the king of Judah, he went down to see Je·ho′ram the son of A′hab in Jez′re·el, for he was sick.

9 And E·liʹsha the prophet, for his part, called one of the sons of the prophets and then said to him: “Gird up your loins and take this flask of oil in your hand and go to Raʹmoth-gilʹe·ad. [2] When you have come in there, see Jeʹhu the son of Je·hoshʹa·phat the son of Nimʹshi there; and you must come in and make him get up from the midst of his brothers and bring him into the innermost chamber. [3] And you must take the flask of oil and pour it out upon his head and say, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “I do anoint you as king over Israel.”’ And you must open the door and flee and not wait.”

[4] And the attendant, the prophet’s attendant, got on his way to Raʹmoth-gilʹe·ad. [5] When he came in, why, there the chiefs of the military force were seated. He now said: “There is a word I have for you, O chief.” At this Jeʹhu said: “For which one of all of us?” Then he said: “For you, O chief.” [6] So he got up and came into the house; and he proceeded to pour the oil out upon his head and say to him: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘I do anoint you as king over Jehovah’s people, that is, over Israel. [7] And you must strike down the house of Aʹhab your lord, and I must avenge the blood of my servants the prophets and the blood of all the servants of Jehovah at the hand of Jezʹe·bel. [8] And the whole house of Aʹhab must perish; and I must cut off from Aʹhab anyone urinating against a wall and any helpless and worthless one in Israel. [9] And I must constitute the house of Aʹhab like the house of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat and like the house of Baʹa·sha the son of A·hiʹjah. [10] And Jezʹe·bel the dogs will eat up in the tract of land at Jezʹre·el, and there will be no one burying her.’” With that he opened the door and went fleeing.

[11] As for Je′hu, he went out to the servants of his lord, and they began to say to him: “Is everything all right? Why did this crazy man come in to you?” But he said to them: “YOU yourselves well know the man and his sort of talk.” [12] But they said: “It is false! Tell us, please.” Then he said: “It was like this and like that that he talked to me, saying, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “I do anoint you as king over Israel.”’” [13] At this they hurriedly took each one his garment and put it under him upon the bare steps, and they began to blow the horn and say: “Je′hu has become king!” [14] And Je′hu the son of Je·hosh′a·phat the son of Nim′shi proceeded to conspire against Je·ho′ram.

And Je·ho′ram himself had happened to be keeping guard at Ra′moth-gil′e·ad, he with all Israel, because of Haz′a·el the king of Syria. [15] Later Je·ho′ram the king returned to get healed at Jez′re·el from the wounds that the Syrians got to inflict upon him when he fought Haz′a·el the king of Syria.

Je′hu now said: “If YOUR soul agrees, do not let anyone go out in escape from the city to go and make report in Jez′re·el.” [16] And Je′hu began to ride and go to Jez′re·el; for Je·ho′ram was lying there, and A·ha·zi′ah the king of Judah himself had gone down to see Je·ho′ram. [17] And the watchman was standing upon the tower in Jez′re·el, and he got to see the heaving mass of Je′hu’s men as he was coming, and he at once said: “There is a heaving mass of men that I am seeing.” At that Je·ho′ram said: “Take a cavalryman and send him to meet them, and let him say, ‘Is there peace?’” [18] Accordingly a rider on a horse went to meet him and said: “This is what the king has said, ‘Is there peace?’” But Je′hu said: “What do you have to do with ‘peace’? Get around to my rear!”

And the watchman went on to report, saying: “The messenger came as far as to them, but he has not returned.”

[19] So he sent out a second rider on a horse, who, when he came to them, proceeded to say: “This is what the king has said, ‘Is there peace?’” But Je′hu said: “What do you have to do with ‘peace’? Get around to my rear!”

[20] And the watchman went on to report, saying: “He came as far as to them, but he has not returned; and the driving is like the driving of Je′hu the grandson of Nim′shi, for it is with madness that he drives.” [21] At that Je·ho′ram said: “Hitch up!” So his war chariot was hitched up and Je·ho′ram the king of Israel and A·ha·zi′ah the king of Judah went out, each in his own war chariot. As they continued on out to meet Je′hu, they got to find him in the tract of land of Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite.

[22] And it came about that as soon as Je·ho′ram saw Je′hu, he immediately said: “Is there peace, Je′hu?” But he said: “What peace could there be as long as there are the fornications of Jez′e·bel your mother and her many sorceries?” [23] At once Je·ho′ram made a turn with his hands, that he might flee, and said to A·ha·zi′ah: “There is trickery, A·ha·zi′ah!” [24] And Je′hu himself filled his hand with a bow and proceeded to shoot Je·ho′ram between the arms, so that the arrow came out at his heart, and he collapsed in his war chariot. [25] He now said to Bid′kar his adjutant: “Lift him up; throw him into the tract of the field of Na′both the Jez′re·el·ite; for remember: I and you were riding teams behind A′hab his father, and Jehovah himself lifted up this pronouncement against him: [26] ‘“Certainly the blood of Na′both and the blood of his sons I saw yesterday,” is the utterance of Jehovah, “and I shall certainly repay you in this tract of land,” is the utterance of Jehovah.’ So now, lift him up; throw him into the tract of land according to the word of Jehovah.”

[27] And A·ha·zi′ah the king of Judah himself saw it and took to flight by the way of the garden house. (Later Je′hu went in pursuit of him and said: “Him also! STRIKE him down!” So they struck him down while in the chariot on the way up to Gur, which is by Ib′le·am. And he continued his flight to Me·gid′do and got to die there. [28] Then his servants carried him in a chariot to Jerusalem, and so they buried him in his grave with his forefathers in the City of David. [29] And it was in the eleventh year of Je·ho′ram the son of A′hab that A·ha·zi′ah had become king over Judah.)

[30] At length Je′hu came to Jez′re·el, and Jez′e·bel herself heard of it. And she proceeded to paint her eyes with black paint and do her head up beautifully and to look down through the window. [31] And Je′hu himself came in by the gate. She now said: “Did it go all right with Zim′ri the killer of his lord?” [32] At that he raised his face toward the window and said: “Who is with me? Who?” Immediately two or three court officials looked down at him. [33] So he said: “Let her drop!” Then they let her drop, and some of her blood went spattering upon the wall and upon the horses; and he now trampled upon her. [34] After that he came on in and ate and drank and then said: “YOU men, please, take care of this accursed one and bury her, for she is the daughter of a king.” [35] When they went to bury her, they did not find anything of her but the skull and the feet and the palms of the hands. [36] When they returned and told him, he went on to say: “It is the word of Jehovah that he spoke by means of his servant E·li′jah the Tish′bite, saying, ‘In the tract of land of Jez′re·el the dogs will eat the flesh of Jez′e·bel. [37] And the dead body of Jez′e·bel will certainly become as manure upon the face of the field in the tract of land of Jez′re·el, that they may not say: “This is Jez′e·bel.”’”

10 Now A′hab had seventy sons in Sa·mar′i·a. Therefore Je′hu wrote letters and sent them to Sa·mar′i·a to the princes of Jez′re·el, the older men and the caretakers of A′hab, saying: [2] “Now, then, at the very time that this letter comes to YOU there are with YOU the sons of YOUR lord, and there are with YOU the war chariots and the horses and a fortified city and the armor. [3] And YOU must see which is the best and most upright of the sons of YOUR lord and put him upon the throne of his father. Then fight for the house of YOUR lord.”

[4] And they became very greatly afraid and began to say: “Look! Two kings themselves did not stand before him, and how shall we ourselves stand?” [5] Consequently the one who was over the house and the one who was over the city and the older men and the caretakers sent to Je′hu, saying: “We are your servants, and everything that you say to us we shall do. We shall not make anyone king. What is good in your own eyes do.”

[6] At that he wrote them a second letter, saying: “If YOU belong to me, and it is my voice that YOU are obeying, take the heads of the men that are sons of YOUR lord and come to me tomorrow at this time at Jez′re·el.”

Now the sons of the king, seventy men, were with the distinguished men of the city that were bringing them up. [7] And it came about that as soon as the letter came to them, they went taking the sons of the king and slaughtering them, seventy men, after which they put their heads in baskets and sent them to him at Jez′re·el. [8] Then the messenger came in and told him, saying: “They have brought the heads of the sons of the king.” So he said: “PUT them in two heaps at the entrance of the gate until morning.” [9] And it came about in the morning that he proceeded to go out. Then he stood still and said to all the people: “YOU are righteous. Here I myself conspired against my lord, and I got to kill him; but who struck down all these? [10] Know, then, that nothing of Jehovah’s word will fall unfulfilled to the earth that Jehovah has spoken against the house of A′hab; and Jehovah himself has done what he spoke by means of his servant E·li′jah.” [11] Moreover, Je′hu went on to strike down all who were left over of the house of A′hab in Jez′re·el and all his distinguished men and his acquaintances and his priests, until he had let no survivor of his remain.

[12] And he proceeded to rise and come in, then get on his way to Sa·mar′i·a. The binding house of the shepherds was on the way. [13] And Je′hu himself encountered the brothers of A·ha·zi′ah the king of Judah. When he said to them, “Who are YOU?” then they said: “We are the brothers of A·ha·zi′ah, and we are on our way down to ask if all is well with the sons of the king and the sons of the lady.” [14] Immediately he said: “Seize them alive, YOU men!” So they seized them alive and slaughtered them at the cistern of the binding house, forty-two men, and he did not let a single one of them remain.

[15] As he was going along from there he got to encounter Je·hon′a·dab the son of Re′chab coming to meet him. When he blessed him, he accordingly said to him: “Is your heart upright with me, just as my own heart is with your heart?”

To this Je·hon′a·dab said: “It is.”

“If it is, do give me your hand.”

So he gave him his hand. At that he made him get up into the chariot with him. [16] Then he said: “Do go along with me and look upon my toleration of no rivalry toward Jehovah.”

And they kept him riding with him in his war chariot. [17] Finally he came to Sa·marʹi·a. Now he went striking down all who were left over of Aʹhab’s in Sa·marʹi·a, until he had annihilated them, according to Jehovah’s word that he had spoken to E·liʹjah.

[18] Further, Jeʹhu collected all the people together and said to them: “Aʹhab, on the one hand, worshiped Baʹal a little. Jeʹhu, on the other hand, will worship him a great deal. [19] So now call all the prophets of Baʹal, all his worshipers and all his priests to me. Do not let a single one be missing, because I have a great sacrifice for Baʹal. Anyone that is missing will not keep living.” As for Jeʹhu, he acted slyly, for the purpose of destroying the worshipers of Baʹal.

[20] And Jeʹhu went on to say: “Sanctify a solemn assembly for Baʹal.” Accordingly they proclaimed it. [21] After that Jeʹhu sent through all Israel, so that all the worshipers of Baʹal came in. And not a single one was left over that did not come in. And they kept coming into the house of Baʹal, and the house of Baʹal came to be full from end to end. [22] He now said to the one who was over the wardrobe: “Bring out garments for all the worshipers of Baʹal.” So he brought the attire out for them. [23] Then Jeʹhu entered with Je·honʹa·dab the son of Reʹchab into the house of Baʹal. He now said to the worshipers of Baʹal: “Search carefully and see that there may be here with YOU none of the worshipers of Jehovah, but only the worshipers of Baʹal.” [24] Finally they came in to render up sacrifices and burnt offerings, and Jeʹhu himself stationed eighty men outside at his disposal and went on to say: “As for the man that escapes from the men whom I am bringing into YOUR hands, the one’s soul will go for the other’s soul.”

[25] And it came about that as soon as he finished rendering up the burnt offering, Jeʹhu immediately said to the runners and the adjutants: “Come in, strike them down! Do not let a single one go out.” And the runners and the adjutants began to strike them down with the edge of the sword and to throw them out, and they kept going as far as the city of the house of Ba′al. [26] Then they brought out the sacred pillars of the house of Ba′al and burned each one. [27] Further, they pulled down the sacred pillar of Ba′al and pulled down the house of Ba′al, and they kept it set aside for privies down to this day.

[28] Thus Je′hu annihilated Ba′al out of Israel. [29] It was only the sins of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat, with which he caused Israel to sin, that Je′hu did not turn aside from following them, that is, the golden calves of which one was in Beth′el and one in Dan. [30] Consequently Jehovah said to Je′hu: “For the reason that you have acted well in doing what is right in my eyes, and according to all that was in my heart you have done to the house of A′hab, sons themselves to the fourth generation will sit for you upon the throne of Israel.” [31] And Je′hu himself did not take care to walk in the law of Jehovah the God of Israel with all his heart. He did not turn aside from the sins of Jer·o·bo′am with which he caused Israel to sin.

[32] In those days Jehovah started to cut off Israel piece by piece; and Haz′a·el kept striking them in all the territory of Israel, [33] from the Jordan toward the rising of the sun, all the land of Gil′e·ad, the Gad′ites and the Reu′ben·ites and the Ma·nas′sites, from A·ro′er, which is by the torrent valley of Ar′non, even Gil′e·ad and Ba′shan.

[34] And the rest of the affairs of Je′hu and all that he did and all his mightiness, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [35] Finally Je′hu lay down with his forefathers, and they buried him in Sa·mar′i·a; and Je·ho′a·haz his son began to reign in place of him. [36]

And the days that Je′hu had reigned over Israel were twenty-eight years in Sa·mar′i·a.

11 Now as regards Ath·a·liʹah the mother of A·ha·ziʹah, she saw that her son had died. So she rose up and destroyed all the offspring of the kingdom. [2] However, Je·hoshʹe·ba the daughter of King Je·hoʹram, the sister of A·ha·ziʹah, took Je·hoʹash the son of A·ha·ziʹah and stole him from among the sons of the king that were to be put to death, even him and his nursing woman, into the inner room for the couches, and they kept him concealed from the face of Ath·a·liʹah, and he was not put to death. [3] And he continued with her at the house of Jehovah in hiding for six years, while Ath·a·liʹah was reigning over the land.

[4] And in the seventh year Je·hoiʹa·da sent and then took the chiefs of hundreds of the Caʹri·an bodyguard and of the runners and brought them to himself at the house of Jehovah and concluded a covenant with them and made them swear at the house of Jehovah, after which he showed them the son of the king. [5] And he went on to command them, saying: “This is the thing that YOU will do: One third of YOU are coming in on the sabbath and keeping strict watch over the king’s house; [6] and one third will be at the Gate of the Foundation, and one third will be at the gate behind the runners; and YOU must keep strict watch over the house by turns. [7] And there are two divisions among YOU that are all going out on the sabbath, and they must keep strict watch over the house of Jehovah in behalf of the king. [8] And YOU must encircle the king all around, each one with his weapons in his hand; and anyone entering within the rows will be put to death. And continue with the king when he goes out and when he comes in.”

[9] And the chiefs of hundreds proceeded to do according to all that Je·hoiʹa·da the priest had commanded. So they took each one his men that were coming in on the sabbath, together with those that were going out on the sabbath, and then came in to Je·hoiʹa·da the priest. [10] The priest now gave the chiefs of hundreds the spears and the circular shields that had belonged to King David, which were in the house of Jehovah. [11] And the runners kept standing each one with his weapons in his hand, from the right side of the house clear to the left side of the house, by the altar and by the house, all around near the king. [12] Then he brought the son of the king out and put upon him the diadem and the Testimony; and so they made him king and anointed him. And they began to clap their hands and say: “Let the king live! ”

[13] When Ath·a·liʹah heard the sound of the people running, she at once came to the people at the house of Jehovah. [14] Then she saw, and there the king was standing by the pillar according to the custom, and the chiefs and the trumpets by the king, and all the people of the land rejoicing and blowing the trumpets. Immediately Ath·a·liʹah ripped her garments apart and began crying: “Conspiracy! Conspiracy! ” [15] But Je·hoiʹa·da the priest commanded the chiefs of hundreds, the appointed ones of the military force, and said to them: “Take her out from inside the rows, and, as for anyone coming after her, let there be an execution of death with the sword! ” For the priest had said: “Do not let her be put to death in the house of Jehovah.” [16] So they laid their hands upon her and she came by the way of the horse entry of the king’s house, and she got put to death there.

[17] Then Je·hoiʹa·da concluded the covenant between Jehovah and the king and the people, that they should prove themselves the people of Jehovah; and also between the king and the people. [18] After that all the people of the land came to the house of Baʹal and pulled down his altars; and his images they broke up thoroughly, and Matʹtan the priest of Baʹal they killed before the altars.

And the priest proceeded to put overseers over the house of Jehovah. [19] Further, he took the chiefs of hundreds and the Ca′ri·an bodyguard and the runners and all the people of the land, that they might bring the king down from the house of Jehovah; and they came gradually by the way of the gate of the runners to the king’s house; and he began to sit upon the throne of the kings. [20] And all the people of the land continued to rejoice; and the city, for its part, had no disturbance, and Ath·a·li′ah herself they had put to death with the sword at the king’s house.

[21] Seven years old Je·ho′ash was when he began to reign.

12 In the seventh year of Je′hu, Je·ho′ash became king, and for forty years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Zib′i·ah from Be′er-she′ba. [2] And Je·ho′ash continued doing what was right in Jehovah’s eyes all the days of his that Je·hoi′a·da the priest instructed him. [3] It was only the high places that did not disappear. The people were still sacrificing and making sacrificial smoke on the high places.

[4] And Je·ho′ash proceeded to say to the priests: “All the money for the holy offerings that is brought to the house of Jehovah, the money at which each one is assessed, the money for the souls according to individual valuation, all the money that it comes up on the heart of each one to bring to the house of Jehovah, [5] let the priests take for themselves, each one from his acquaintance; and let them, for their part, repair the cracks of the house wherever any crack is found.”

[6] And it came about that by the twenty-third year of King Je·ho′ash, the priests had not yet repaired the cracks of the house. [7] So King Je·ho′ash called Je·hoi′a·da the priest and the priests and said to them: “Why is it that YOU are not repairing the cracks of the house? Now, then, do not take any more money from YOUR acquaintances, but for the cracks of the house YOU should give it.” [8] At that the priests consented not to take any more money from the people and not to repair the cracks of the house.

[9] Je·hoi′a·da the priest now took a chest and bored a hole in its lid and put it beside the altar on the right as a person comes into the house of Jehovah, and there the priests, the doorkeepers, put all the money that was being brought into the house of Jehovah. [10] And it came about that as soon as they saw that there was a great deal of money in the chest, the secretary of the king and the high priest would come up, and they would bind it up and count the money that was being found at the house of Jehovah. [11] And they gave the money that had been counted off over to the hands of doers of the work that were appointed to the house of Jehovah. In turn they paid it out to the workers in wood and to the builders that were working at the house of Jehovah, [12] and to the masons and to the hewers of stone, and to buy timbers and hewn stones for repairing the cracks of the house of Jehovah and for all that was expended upon the house to repair it.

[13] Only as respects the house of Jehovah there were not made basins of silver, extinguishers, bowls, trumpets, any sort of gold article and article of silver from the money that was being brought to the house of Jehovah; [14] for it was to the doers of the work that they would give it, and with it they repaired the house of Jehovah. [15] And they would not call for an accounting with the men into whose hand they would give the money to give to the doers of the work, because it was with faithfulness that they were working. [16] As for the money for guilt offerings and the money for sin offerings, it was not being brought to the house of Jehovah. So it came to belong to the priests.

[17] Then it was that Haz′a·el the king of Syria proceeded to go up and fight against Gath and capture it, after which Haz′a·el set his face to go up against Jerusalem. [18] At that Je·ho′ash the king of Judah took all the holy offerings that Je·hosh′a·phat and Je·ho′ram and A·ha·zi′ah his forefathers, the kings of Judah, had sanctified and his own holy offerings and all the gold to be found in the treasures of the house of Jehovah and the house of the king and sent them to Haz′a·el the king of Syria. So he withdrew from against Jerusalem.

19 As for the rest of the affairs of Je·ho′ash and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? 20 However, his servants rose up and leagued together in a conspiracy and struck Je·ho′ash down at the house of the Mound, on the way that goes down to Sil′la. 21 And Jo′za·car the son of Shim′e·ath and Je·hoz′a·bad the son of Sho′mer, his servants, were the ones that struck him down, so that he died. Accordingly they buried him with his forefathers in the City of David; and Am·a·zi′ah his son began to reign in place of him.

13 In the twenty-third year of Je·hoʹash the son of A·ha·ziʹah the king of Judah, Je·hoʹa·haz the son of Jeʹhu became king over Israel in Sa·marʹi·a for seventeen years. [2] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes and went walking in pursuit of the sin of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, with which he caused Israel to sin. He did not turn aside from it. [3] And Jehovah’s anger became hot against Israel, so that he gave them into the hand of Hazʹa·el the king of Syria and into the hand of Ben-haʹdad the son of Hazʹa·el all their days.

[4] In time Je·hoʹa·haz softened the face of Jehovah, so that Jehovah listened to him; for he had seen the oppression upon Israel, because the king of Syria had oppressed them. [5] Consequently Jehovah gave Israel a savior, so that they came out from under the hand of Syria, and the sons of Israel continued to dwell in their homes as formerly. [6] (Only they did not depart from the sin of the house of Jer·o·boʹam, with which he caused Israel to sin. In it he walked; and even the sacred pole itself stood in Sa·marʹi·a.) [7] For he had not left to Je·hoʹa·haz any people but fifty horsemen and ten chariots and ten thousand men on foot, because the king of Syria had destroyed them, that he might make them like the dust at threshing.

[8] As for the rest of the affairs of Je·hoʹa·haz and all that he did and his mightiness, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [9] Finally Je·hoʹa·haz lay down with his forefathers, and they buried him in Sa·marʹi·a; and Je·hoʹash his son began to reign in place of him.

[10] In the thirty-seventh year of Je·ho′ash the king of Judah, Je·ho′ash the son of Je·ho′a·haz became king over Israel in Sa·mar′i·a for sixteen years. [11] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. He did not depart from all the sins of Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat, with which he made Israel sin. In them he walked.

[12] As for the rest of the affairs of Je·ho′ash and all that he did and his mightiness and how he fought against Am·a·zi′ah the king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [13] Finally Je·ho′ash lay down with his forefathers, and Jer·o·bo′am himself sat upon his throne. In turn Je·ho′ash was buried in Sa·mar′i·a with the kings of Israel.

[14] As regards E·li′sha, he had taken sick with the sickness with which he was to die. So Je·ho′ash the king of Israel came down to him and began to weep over his face and say: “My father, my father, the war chariot of Israel and his horsemen!” [15] And E·li′sha proceeded to say to him: “Take a bow and arrows.” So he took to himself a bow and arrows. [16] And he went on to say to the king of Israel: “Put your hand to the bow.” Accordingly he put his hand to it, after which E·li′sha laid his hands upon the hands of the king. [17] Then he said: “Open the window to the east.” So he opened it. Finally E·li′sha said: “Shoot!” So he shot. He now said: “Jehovah’s arrow of salvation, even the arrow of salvation against Syria! And you will certainly strike down Syria at A′phek to the finishing point.”

[18] And he went on to say: “Take the arrows.” At that he took them. Then he said to the king of Israel: “Strike on the earth.” So he struck three times and stopped. [19] And the man of the true God grew indignant at him; hence he said: “It was meant to strike five or six times! In that case you would certainly be striking down Syria to the finishing point, but now it is three times that you will strike down Syria.”

[20] After that E·li′sha died and they buried him. And there were marauding bands of the Mo′ab·ites that regularly came into the land at the coming in of the year. [21] And it came about that as they were burying a man, why, here they saw the marauding band. At once they threw the man into E·li′sha’s burial place and went off. When the man touched the bones of E·li′sha, he immediately came to life and stood upon his feet.

[22] As for Haz′a·el the king of Syria, he oppressed Israel all the days of Je·ho′a·haz. [23] However, Jehovah showed them favor and had mercy upon them and turned to them for the sake of his covenant with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; and he did not want to bring them to ruin, and he did not cast them away from before his face until now. [24] Finally Haz′a·el the king of Syria died, and Ben-ha′dad his son began to reign in place of him. [25] And Je·ho′ash the son of Je·ho′a·haz proceeded to take back again from the hand of Ben-ha′dad the son of Haz′a·el the cities that he had taken from the hand of Je·ho′a·haz his father in war. Three times Je·ho′ash struck him down, and he got to recover the cities of Israel.

14 In the second year of Je·hoʹash the son of Je·hoʹa·haz the king of Israel, Am·a·ziʹah the son of Je·hoʹash the king of Judah became king. [2] Twenty-five years old he happened to be when he began to reign, and for twenty-nine years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Je·ho·adʹdin of Jerusalem. [3] And he continued to do what was upright in Jehovah’s eyes, only not like David his forefather. According to all that Je·hoʹash his father had done, he did. [4] It was only the high places that did not disappear. The people were still sacrificing and making sacrificial smoke on the high places. [5] And it came about that as soon as the kingdom had become firm in his hand, he began to strike down his servants that had struck down the king his father. [6] And the sons of the strikers he did not put to death, according to what is written in the book of Moses’ law that Jehovah gave in command, saying: “Fathers should not be put to death for sons, and sons themselves should not be put to death for fathers; but for his own sin should each one be put to death.” [7] He himself struck down the Eʹdom·ites in the Valley of Salt, ten thousand men, and got to seize Seʹla in the war, and its name came to be called Jokʹthe·el down to this day.

[8] Then it was that Am·a·ziʹah sent messengers to Je·hoʹash the son of Je·hoʹa·haz the son of Jeʹhu the king of Israel, saying: “Do come. Let us look each other in the face.” [9] At that Je·hoʹash the king of Israel sent to Am·a·ziʹah the king of Judah, saying: “The thorny weed itself that was in Lebʹa·non sent to the cedar that was in Lebʹa·non, saying, ‘Do give your daughter to my son as a wife.’ However, a wild beast of the field that was in Lebʹa·non passed by and trampled the thorny weed down. [10] You have unmistakably struck down Eʹdom, and your heart has lifted you up. Enjoy your honor and dwell in your own house. Why, then, should you engage in strife under unfavorable conditions and have to fall, you and Judah with you?” [11] And Am·a·ziʹah did not listen.

So Je·hoʹash the king of Israel came up, and they proceeded to look each other in the face, he and Am·a·ziʹah the king of Judah, at Beth-sheʹmesh, which belongs to Judah. [12] And Judah came to be defeated before Israel, so that they took to flight, each one to his tent. [13] And it was Am·a·ziʹah the king of Judah the son of Je·hoʹash the son of A·ha·ziʹah that Je·hoʹash the king of Israel captured at Beth-sheʹmesh, after which they came to Jerusalem and he made a breach in the wall of Jerusalem at the Gate of Eʹphra·im clear to the Corner Gate, four hundred cubits. [14] And he took all the gold and silver and all the articles to be found at the house of Jehovah and in the treasures of the house of the king and the hostages and then returned to Sa·marʹi·a.

[15] As for the rest of the affairs of Je·hoʹash, what he did and his mightiness and how he fought against Am·a·ziʹah the king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [16] Finally Je·hoʹash lay down with his forefathers and was buried in Sa·marʹi·a with the kings of Israel, and Jer·o·boʹam his son began to reign in place of him.

[17] And Am·a·ziʹah the son of Je·hoʹash the king of Judah continued to live after the death of Je·hoʹash the son of Je·hoʹa·haz the king of Israel for fifteen years. [18] As for the rest of the affairs of Am·a·ziʹah, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [19] At length they leagued against him in a conspiracy at Jerusalem, and he went fleeing to Laʹchish; but they sent in pursuit of him to Laʹchish and put him to death there. [20] So they carried him upon horses and he was buried in Jerusalem with his forefathers in the City of David. [21] Then all the people of Judah took Az·a·riʹah, he at the time being sixteen years old, and they made him king in place of his father Am·a·ziʹah. 22 He himself built Eʹlath and got to restore it to Judah after the king lay down with his forefathers.

23 In the fifteenth year of Am·a·ziʹah the son of Je·hoʹash the king of Judah, Jer·o·boʹam the son of Je·hoʹash the king of Israel became king in Sa·marʹi·a for forty-one years. 24 And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. He did not depart from all the sins of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, with which he caused Israel to sin. 25 He it was that restored the boundary of Israel from the entering in of Haʹmath clear to the sea of the Arʹa·bah, according to the word of Jehovah the God of Israel who spoke by means of his servant Joʹnah the son of A·mitʹtai, the prophet that was from Gath-heʹpher. 26 For Jehovah had seen the very bitter affliction of Israel. There was neither any helpless one nor any worthless one, nor was there a helper for Israel. 27 And Jehovah had promised not to wipe out the name of Israel from under the heavens. Consequently he saved them by the hand of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Je·hoʹash.

28 As for the rest of the affairs of Jer·o·boʹam and all that he did and his mightiness, how he fought and how he restored Damascus and Haʹmath to Judah in Israel, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? 29 Finally Jer·o·boʹam lay down with his forefathers, with the kings of Israel, and Zech·a·riʹah his son began to reign in place of him.

15 In the twenty-seventh year of Jer·o·boʹam the king of Israel, Az·a·riʹah the son of Am·a·ziʹah the king of Judah became king. [2] Sixteen years old he happened to be when he began to reign, and for fifty-two years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Je·co·liʹah of Jerusalem. [3] And he continued to do what was upright in Jehovah’s eyes, according to all that Am·a·ziʹah his father had done. [4] It was only that the high places did not disappear. The people were still sacrificing and making sacrificial smoke on the high places. [5] Finally Jehovah plagued the king, and he continued to be a leper until the day of his death, and he kept dwelling in his house exempt from duties, while Joʹtham the king’s son was over the house, judging the people of the land. [6] As for the rest of the affairs of Az·a·riʹah and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [7] At length Az·a·riʹah lay down with his forefathers, and they buried him with his forefathers in the City of David; and Joʹtham his son began to reign in place of him.

[8] In the thirty-eighth year of Az·a·riʹah the king of Judah, Zech·a·riʹah the son of Jer·o·boʹam became king over Israel in Sa·marʹi·a for six months. [9] And he went on doing what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, just as his forefathers had done. He did not depart from the sins of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, with which he caused Israel to sin. [10] Then Shalʹlum the son of Jaʹbesh conspired against him and struck him down at Ibʹle·am and put him to death and began to reign in place of him. [11] As for the rest of the affairs of Zech·a·riʹah, there they are written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel. [12] That was Jehovah’s word that he had spoken to Jeʹhu, saying: “Sons themselves to the fourth generation will sit for you upon the throne of Israel.” And it came to be that way.

[13] As for Shalʹlum the son of Jaʹbesh, he became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uz·ziʹah the king of Judah, and he continued to reign for a full lunar month in Sa·marʹi·a. [14] Then Menʹa·hem the son of Gaʹdi came up from Tirʹzah and came to Sa·marʹi·a and struck down Shalʹlum the son of Jaʹbesh in Sa·marʹi·a and put him to death; and he began to reign in place of him. [15] As for the rest of the affairs of Shalʹlum and his conspiracy with which he conspired, there they are written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel. [16] It was then that Menʹa·hem proceeded to strike down Tiphʹsah and all that was in it and its territory out from Tirʹzah, because it did not open up, and he went striking it down. All its pregnant women he ripped up.

[17] In the thirty-ninth year of Az·a·riʹah the king of Judah, Menʹa·hem the son of Gaʹdi became king over Israel for ten years in Sa·marʹi·a. [18] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. He did not depart from all the sins of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, with which he caused Israel to sin, all his days. [19] Pul the king of As·syrʹi·a came into the land. Consequently Menʹa·hem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, that his hands might prove to be with him to strengthen the kingdom in his own hand. [20] So Menʹa·hem brought forth the silver at the expense of Israel, at the expense of all the valiant, mighty men, to give to the king of As·syrʹi·a fifty silver shekels for each man. At that the king of As·syrʹi·a turned back, and he did not stay there in the land. [21] As for the rest of the affairs of Menʹa·hem and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel? [22] Finally Menʹa·hem lay down with his forefathers, and Pek·a·hiʹah his son began to reign in place of him.

[23] In the fiftieth year of Az·a·riʹah the king of Judah, Pek·a·hiʹah the son of Menʹa·hem became king over Israel in Sa·marʹi·a for two years. [24] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. He did not depart from the sins of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, with which he caused Israel to sin. [25] Then Peʹkah the son of Rem·a·liʹah his adjutant conspired against him and struck him down in Sa·marʹi·a in the dwelling tower of the king’s house with Arʹgob and A·riʹeh, and with him there were fifty men of the sons of Gilʹe·ad. So he put him to death and began to reign in place of him. [26] As for the rest of the affairs of Pek·a·hiʹah and all that he did, there they are written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel.

[27] In the fifty-second year of Az·a·riʹah the king of Judah, Peʹkah the son of Rem·a·liʹah became king over Israel in Sa·marʹi·a for twenty years. [28] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes. He did not depart from the sins of Jer·o·boʹam the son of Neʹbat, with which he caused Israel to sin. [29] In the days of Peʹkah the king of Israel, Tigʹlath-pil·eʹser the king of As·syrʹi·a came in and proceeded to take Iʹjon and Aʹbel-beth-maʹa·cah and Ja·noʹah and Keʹdesh and Haʹzor and Gilʹe·ad and Galʹi·lee, all the land of Naphʹta·li, and to carry them into exile in As·syrʹi·a. [30] Finally Ho·sheʹa the son of Eʹlah formed a conspiracy against Peʹkah the son of Rem·a·liʹah and struck him and put him to death; and he began to reign in place of him in the twentieth year of Joʹtham the son of Uz·ziʹah. [31] As for the rest of the affairs of Peʹkah and all that he did, there they are written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Israel.

[32] In the second year of Peʹkah the son of Rem·a·liʹah the king of Israel, Joʹtham the son of Uz·ziʹah the king of Judah became king. [33] Twenty-five years old he happened to be when he began to reign, and for sixteen years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Je·ruʹsha the daughter of Zaʹdok. [34] And he continued to do what was right in Jehovah’s eyes. According to all that Uz·ziʹah his father had done, he did. [35] It was only that the high places did not disappear. The people were still sacrificing and making sacrificial smoke on the high places. He it was that built the upper gate of the house of Jehovah. [36] As for the rest of the affairs of Joʹtham, what he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [37] In those days Jehovah started to send against Judah Reʹzin the king of Syria and Peʹkah the son of Rem·a·liʹah. [38] Finally Joʹtham lay down with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David his forefather; and Aʹhaz his son began to reign in place of him.

2 KINGS

16 In the seventeenth year of Pe′kah the son of Rem·a·li′ah, A′haz the son of Jo′tham the king of Judah became king. [2] Twenty years old was A′haz when he began to reign, and for sixteen years he reigned in Jerusalem; and he did not do what was right in the eyes of Jehovah his God like David his forefather. [3] And he went walking in the way of the kings of Israel, and even his own son he made pass through the fire, according to the detestable things of the nations whom Jehovah drove out because of the sons of Israel. [4] And he kept sacrificing and making sacrificial smoke on the high places and upon the hills and under every luxuriant tree.

[5] It was then that Re′zin the king of Syria and Pe′kah the son of Rem·a·li′ah the king of Israel proceeded to come up against Jerusalem in war and laid siege against A′haz, but they were not able to fight. [6] At that time Re′zin the king of Syria restored E′lath to E′dom, after which he cleared out the Jews from E′lath; and the E′dom·ites, for their part, entered E′lath and kept dwelling there down to this day. [7] So A′haz sent messengers to Tig′lath-pil·e′ser the king of As·syr′i·a, saying: “I am your servant and your son. Come up and save me out of the palm of the king of Syria and out of the palm of the king of Israel, who are rising up against me.” [8] Accordingly A′haz took the silver and the gold that was to be found at the house of Jehovah and in the treasures of the king’s house and sent the king of As·syr′i·a a bribe. [9] At that the king of As·syr′i·a listened to him and the king of As·syr′i·a went up to Damascus and captured it and led its people into exile at Kir, and Re′zin he put to death.

[10] Then King A′haz went to meet Tig′lath-pil·e′ser the king of As·syr′i·a at Damascus, and he got to see the altar that was in Damascus. So King A′haz sent U·ri′jah the priest the design of the altar and its pattern as respects all its workmanship. [11] And U·riʹjah the priest proceeded to build the altar. According to all that King Aʹhaz had sent from Damascus was the way that U·riʹjah the priest made it, pending the time that King Aʹhaz came from Damascus. [12] When the king came from Damascus, the king got to see the altar; and the king began to go near to the altar and make offerings upon it. [13] And he continued to make his burnt offering and his grain offering smoke and to pour out his drink offering and to sprinkle the blood of the communion sacrifices that were his upon the altar. [14] And the copper altar that was before Jehovah he now brought near from in front of the house, from between his altar and the house of Jehovah, and put it at the north side of his altar. [15] And King Aʹhaz went on to command him, even U·riʹjah the priest, saying: "Upon the great altar make the burnt offering of the morning smoke, also the grain offering of the evening and the burnt offering of the king and his grain offering and the burnt offering of all the people of the land and their grain offering and their drink offerings; and all the blood of burnt offering and all the blood of a sacrifice you should sprinkle upon it. As for the copper altar, it will become something for me to take under consideration." [16] And U·riʹjah the priest went doing according to all that King Aʹhaz had commanded.

[17] Furthermore, King Aʹhaz cut the sidewalls of the carriages in pieces and removed from off them the basins; and the sea he took down off the copper bulls that were underneath it and then put it upon a stone pavement. [18] And the covered structure for the sabbath that they had built in the house and the king's outer entryway he shifted from the house of Jehovah because of the king of As·syrʹi·a.

[19] As for the rest of the affairs of Aʹhaz, what he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? 20 Finally A′haz lay down with his forefathers and was buried with his forefathers in the City of David; and Hez·e·ki′ah his son began to reign in place of him.

17 In the twelfth year of A′haz the king of Judah, Ho·she′a the son of E′lah became king in Sa·mar′i·a over Israel for nine years. [2] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, only not as the kings of Israel that happened to be prior to him. [3] It was against him that Shal·man·e′ser the king of As·syr′i·a came up, and Ho·she′a came to be his servant and began to pay tribute to him. [4] However, the king of As·syr′i·a got to find conspiracy in Ho·she′a’s case, in that he had sent messengers to So the king of Egypt and did not bring the tribute up to the king of As·syr′i·a as in former years. Hence the king of As·syr′i·a shut him up and kept him bound in the house of detention.

[5] And the king of As·syr′i·a proceeded to come up against all the land and to come up to Sa·mar′i·a and lay siege against it for three years. [6] In the ninth year of Ho·she′a, the king of As·syr′i·a captured Sa·mar′i·a and then led Israel into exile in As·syr′i·a and kept them dwelling in Ha′lah and in Ha′bor at the river Go′zan and in the cities of the Medes.

[7] And it came about because the sons of Israel had sinned against Jehovah their God, who brought them up out of the land of Egypt from under the hand of Phar′aoh the king of Egypt, and they began to fear other gods; [8] and they kept walking in the statutes of the nations whom Jehovah had driven out from before the sons of Israel, and in the statutes of the kings of Israel that they had made; [9] and the sons of Israel went searching into the things that were not right toward Jehovah their God and kept building themselves high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen clear to the fortified city; [10] and they kept setting up for themselves sacred pillars and sacred poles upon every high hill and under every luxuriant tree; [11] and there on all the high places they continued to make sacrificial smoke the same as the nations whom Jehovah had taken into exile because of them, and they kept doing bad things to offend Jehovah;

12 And they continued to serve dungy idols, concerning which Jehovah had said to them: “YOU must not do this thing”; 13 and Jehovah kept warning Israel and Judah by means of all his prophets and every visionary, saying: “Turn back from YOUR bad ways and keep my commandments, my statutes, according to all the law that I commanded YOUR forefathers and that I have sent to YOU by means of my servants the prophets”; 14 and they did not listen but kept hardening their necks like the necks of their forefathers that had not exercised faith in Jehovah their God; 15 and they continued rejecting his regulations and his covenant that he had concluded with their forefathers and his reminders with which he had warned them, and they went following vain idols and became vain themselves, even in imitation of the nations that were all around them, concerning whom Jehovah had commanded them not to do like them;

16 And they kept leaving all the commandments of Jehovah their God and proceeded to make for themselves molten statues, two calves, and to make a sacred pole, and they began to bow down to all the army of the heavens and to serve Baʹal; 17 and they continued to make their sons and their daughters pass through the fire and to practice divination and to look for omens, and they kept selling themselves to do what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah, to offend him;

18 Therefore Jehovah got very incensed against Israel, so that he removed them from his sight. He did not let any remain but the tribe of Judah alone.

[19] Even Judah itself did not keep the commandments of Jehovah their God, but they went walking in the statutes of Israel that they had made. [20] Consequently Jehovah rejected all the seed of Israel and kept afflicting them and giving them into the hand of pillagers, until he had cast them away from before him. [21] For he ripped Israel off from the house of David, and they proceeded to make Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat king; and Jer·o·bo′am proceeded to part Israel from following Jehovah, and he caused them to sin with a great sin. [22] And the sons of Israel went walking in all the sins of Jer·o·bo′am that he had done. They did not depart from them, [23] until Jehovah removed Israel from his sight, just as he had spoken by means of all his servants the prophets. So Israel went off its own soil into exile in As·syr′i·a down to this day.

[24] Subsequently the king of As·syr′i·a brought people from Babylon and Cu′thah and Av′va and Ha′math and Seph·ar·va′im and had them dwell in the cities of Sa·mar′i·a instead of the sons of Israel; and they began to take possession of Sa·mar′i·a and to dwell in its cities. [25] And it came about at the start of their dwelling there that they did not fear Jehovah. Therefore Jehovah sent lions among them, and they came to be killers among them. [26] So they sent word to the king of As·syr′i·a, saying: “The nations that you have taken into exile and then settled in the cities of Sa·mar′i·a have not known the religion of the God of the land, so that he keeps sending lions among them; and, look! they are putting them to death, inasmuch as there are none knowing the religion of the God of the land.”

[27] At that the king of As·syr′i·a commanded, saying: “Have one of the priests go there whom YOU led into exile from there, that he may go and dwell there and teach them the religion of the God of the land.” [28] Accordingly one of the priests whom they had led into exile from Sa·mar′i·a came and began dwelling in Beth′el, and he came to be a teacher of them as to how they ought to fear Jehovah.

29 However, each different nation came to be a maker of its own god, which they then deposited in the house of the high places that the Sa·mar′i·tans had made, each different nation, in their cities where they were dwelling. 30 And the men of Babylon, for their part, made Suc′coth-be′noth, and the men of Cuth, for their part, made Ner′gal, and the men of Ha′math, for their part, made A·shi′ma. 31 As for the Av′vites, they made Nib′haz and Tar′tak; and the Se′phar·vites were burning their sons in the fire to A·dram′me·lech and A·nam′me·lech the gods of Seph·ar·va′im. 32 And they came to be fearers of Jehovah and went making for themselves from the people in general priests of high places, and they came to be functionaries for them in the house of the high places. 33 It was of Jehovah that they became fearers, but it was of their own gods that they proved to be worshipers, according to the religion of the nations from among whom they had led them into exile.

34 Down to this day they are doing according to their former religions. There were none fearing Jehovah and none doing according to his statutes and his judicial decisions and the law and the commandment that Jehovah had commanded the sons of Jacob, whose name he made Israel; 35 when Jehovah concluded a covenant with them and commanded them, saying: “YOU must not fear other gods, and YOU must not bow down to them nor serve them nor sacrifice to them. 36 But Jehovah, who brought YOU up out of the land of Egypt with great power and a stretched-out arm, is the One whom YOU should fear, and to him YOU should bow down, and to him YOU should sacrifice. 37 And the regulations and the judicial decisions and the law and the commandment that he wrote for YOU, YOU should take care to do always; and

YOU must not fear other gods. [38] And the covenant that I have concluded with YOU, YOU must not forget; and YOU must not fear other gods. [39] But it is Jehovah YOUR God that YOU should fear, as he is the one that will deliver YOU out of the hand of all YOUR enemies.”

[40] And they did not obey, but it was according to their former religion that they were doing. [41] And these nations came to be fearers of Jehovah, but it was their own graven images that they proved to be serving. As for both their sons and their grandsons, it was just as their forefathers had done that they themselves are doing down to this day.

18 And it came about in the third year of Ho·she′a the son of E′lah the king of Israel that Hez·e·ki′ah the son of A′haz the king of Judah became king. [2] Twenty-five years old he happened to be when he began to reign, and for twenty-nine years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was A′bi the daughter of Zech·a·ri′ah. [3] And he continued to do what was right in Jehovah’s eyes, according to all that David his forefather had done. [4] He it was that removed the high places and broke the sacred pillars to pieces and cut down the sacred pole and crushed to pieces the copper serpent that Moses had made; for down to those days the sons of Israel had continually been making sacrificial smoke to it, and it used to be called the copper serpent-idol. [5] In Jehovah the God of Israel he trusted; and after him there proved to be no one like him among all the kings of Judah, even those who had happened to be prior to him. [6] And he kept sticking to Jehovah. He did not turn aside from following him, but he continued keeping his commandments that Jehovah had commanded Moses. [7] And Jehovah proved to be with him. Wherever he would go out, he would act prudently; and he proceeded to rebel against the king of As·syr′i·a and did not serve him. [8] It was he that struck down the Phi·lis′tines clear to Ga′za and also its territories, from the tower of the watchmen clear to the fortified city.

[9] And it came about in the fourth year of King Hez·e·ki′ah, that is, the seventh year of Ho·she′a the son of E′lah the king of Israel, that Shal·man·e′ser the king of As·syr′i·a came up against Sa·mar′i·a and began to lay siege to it. [10] And they got to capture it at the end of three years; in the sixth year of Hez·e·ki′ah, that is, the ninth year of Ho·she′a the king of Israel, Sa·mar′i·a was captured. [11] After that the king of

As·syr′i·a took Israel into exile in As·syr′i·a and set them down in Ha′lah and in Ha′bor at the river Go′zan and in the cities of the Medes, 12 over the fact that they had not listened to the voice of Jehovah their God, but kept overstepping his covenant, even all that Moses the servant of Jehovah had commanded. They neither listened nor performed.

13 And in the fourteenth year of King Hez·e·ki′ah, Sen·nach′er·ib the king of As·syr′i·a came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and proceeded to seize them. 14 So Hez·e·ki′ah the king of Judah sent to the king of As·syr′i·a at La′chish, saying: “I have sinned. Turn back from against me. Whatever you may impose upon me I shall carry.” Accordingly the king of As·syr′i·a laid upon Hez·e·ki′ah the king of Judah three hundred silver talents and thirty gold talents. 15 Therefore Hez·e·ki′ah gave all the silver that was to be found at the house of Jehovah and in the treasures of the king’s house. 16 At that time Hez·e·ki′ah cut off the doors of the temple of Jehovah and the doorposts that Hez·e·ki′ah the king of Judah had overlaid and then gave them to the king of As·syr′i·a.

17 And the king of As·syr′i·a proceeded to send Tar′tan and Rab′sa·ris and Rab′sha·keh from La′chish to King Hez·e·ki′ah with a heavy military force to Jerusalem, that they might go up and come to Jerusalem. So they went up and came and stood still by the conduit of the upper pool, which is at the highway of the laundryman’s field. 18 And they began to call out to the king, but there came out to them E·li′a·kim the son of Hil·ki′ah, who was over the household, and Sheb′nah the secretary and Jo′ah the son of A′saph the recorder.

19 Accordingly Rab′sha·keh said to them: “Please, say to Hez·e·ki′ah, ‘This is what the great king, the king of As·syr′i·a, has said: “What is this confidence in which you have trusted? [20] You have said (but it is the word of lips), ‘There are counsel and mightiness for the war.’ Now in whom have you put your trust, that you have rebelled against me? [21] Now, look! you have put your trust in the support of this crushed reed, Egypt, which, if a man should brace himself upon it, would certainly enter into his palm and pierce it. That is the way Phar′aoh the king of Egypt is to all those putting their trust in him. [22] And in case YOU men should say to me, ‘It is Jehovah our God in whom we have put our trust,’ is he not the one whose high places and whose altars Hez·e·ki′ah has removed, while he says to Judah and Jerusalem, ‘Before this altar YOU should bow down in Jerusalem’?”’ [23] Now, then, make a wager, please, with my lord the king of As·syr′i·a, and let me give you two thousand horses to see whether you are able, on your part, to put riders upon them. [24] How, then, could you turn back the face of one governor of the smallest servants of my lord, while you, for your part, put your trust in Egypt for chariots and for horsemen? [25] Now is it without authorization from Jehovah that I have come up against this place to bring it to ruin? Jehovah himself said to me, ‘Go up against this land, and you must bring it to ruin.’”

[26] At this E·li′a·kim the son of Hil·ki′ah and Sheb′nah and Jo′ah said to Rab′sha·keh: “Speak with your servants, please, in the Syrian language, for we can listen; and do not speak with us in the Jews’ language in the ears of the people that are on the wall.” [27] But Rab′sha·keh said to them: “Is it to your lord and to you that my lord has sent me to speak these words? Is it not to the men sitting upon the wall, that they may eat their own excrement and drink their own urine with YOU men?”

[28] And Rab′sha·keh continued to stand and call out in a loud voice in the Jews’ language; and he went on to speak and say: “HEAR the word of the great king, the king of As·syr′i·a.

[29] This is what the king has said, ‘Do not let Hez·e·ki′ah deceive YOU people, for he is not able to deliver YOU out of my hand. [30] And do not let Hez·e·ki′ah cause YOU to trust in Jehovah, saying: “Without fail Jehovah will deliver us, and this city will not be given into the hand of the king of As·syr′i·a.” [31] Do not listen to Hez·e·ki′ah; for this is what the king of As·syr′i·a has said: “Make a capitulation to me, and come out to me, and eat each one from his own vine and each one from his own fig tree and drink each one the water of his own cistern, [32] until I come and I actually take YOU to a land like YOUR own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oil-olive trees and honey; and keep living that YOU may not die. And do not listen to Hez·e·ki′ah, for he allures YOU, saying, ‘Jehovah himself will deliver us.’ [33] Have the gods of the nations at all delivered each one his own land out of the hand of the king of As·syr′i·a? [34] Where are the gods of Ha′math and Ar′pad? Where are the gods of Seph·ar·va′im, He′na and Iv′vah? Have they delivered Sa·mar′i·a out of my hand? [35] Who are there among all the gods of the lands that have delivered their land out of my hand, so that Jehovah should deliver Jerusalem out of my hand?”’”

[36] And the people kept silent and did not answer him a word, for the commandment of the king was, saying: “YOU must not answer him.” [37] But E·li′a·kim the son of Hil·ki′ah, who was over the household, and Sheb′nah the secretary and Jo′ah the son of A′saph the recorder came to Hez·e·ki′ah with their garments ripped apart and told him the words of Rab′sha·keh.

2 KINGS

19 And it came about that as soon as King Hez·e·ki′ah heard, he immediately ripped his garments apart and covered himself with sackcloth and came into the house of Jehovah. [2] Further, he sent E·li′a·kim, who was over the household, and Sheb′nah the secretary and the older men of the priests covered with sackcloth to Isaiah the prophet the son of A′moz. [3] And they proceeded to say to him: “This is what Hez·e·ki′ah has said, ‘This day is a day of distress and of rebuke and of scornful insolence; for the sons have come as far as the womb’s mouth, and there is no power to give birth. [4] Perhaps Jehovah your God will hear all the words of Rab′sha·keh, whom the king of As·syr′i·a his lord sent to taunt the living God, and he will actually call him to account for the words that Jehovah your God has heard. And you must lift up prayer in behalf of the remnant that are to be found.’”

[5] So the servants of King Hez·e·ki′ah came in to Isaiah. [6] Then Isaiah said to them: “This is what YOU should say to YOUR lord, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “Do not be afraid because of the words that you have heard with which the attendants of the king of As·syr′i·a spoke abusively of me. [7] Here I am putting a spirit in him, and he must hear a report and return to his own land; and I shall certainly cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.”’”

[8] After that Rab′sha·keh returned and found the king of As·syr′i·a fighting against Lib′nah; for he had heard that he had pulled away from La′chish. [9] He heard it said respecting Tir·ha′kah the king of E·thi·o′pi·a: “Here he has come out to fight against you.” Therefore he sent messengers again to Hez·e·ki′ah, saying: [10] “This is what YOU men should say to Hez·e·ki′ah the king of Judah, ‘Do not let your God in whom you are trusting deceive you, saying: “Jerusalem will not be given into the hand of the king of As·syr′i·a.” [11] Look! You yourself have heard what the kings of As·syr′i·a did to all the lands by devoting them to destruction; and will you yourself be delivered? [12] Have the gods of the nations that my forefathers brought to ruin delivered them, even Go′zan and Ha′ran and Re′zeph and the sons of E′den that were in Tel-as′sar? [13] Where is he—the king of Ha′math and the king of Ar′pad and the king of the cities of Seph·ar·va′im, He′na and Iv′vah?’”

[14] Then Hez·e·ki′ah took the letters out of the hand of the messengers and read them, after which Hez·e·ki′ah went up to the house of Jehovah and spread it out before Jehovah. [15] And Hez·e·ki′ah began to pray before Jehovah and say: “O Jehovah the God of Israel, sitting upon the cherubs, you alone are the true God of all the kingdoms of the earth. You yourself have made the heavens and the earth. [16] Incline your ear, O Jehovah, and hear. Open your eyes, O Jehovah, and see, and hear the words of Sen·nach′er·ib that he has sent to taunt the living God. [17] It is a fact, O Jehovah, the kings of As·syr′i·a have devastated the nations and their land. [18] And they have consigned their gods to the fire, because they were no gods, but the workmanship of man’s hands, wood and stone; so that they destroyed them. [19] And now, O Jehovah our God, save us, please, out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you, O Jehovah, are God alone.”

[20] And Isaiah the son of A′moz proceeded to send to Hez·e·ki′ah, saying: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘The prayer that you have made to me concerning Sen·nach′er·ib the king of As·syr′i·a I have heard. [21] This is the word that Jehovah has spoken against him:

> “The virgin daughter of Zion has despised you, she has held you in derision.
> Behind you the daughter of Jerusalem has wagged her head.

22 Whom have you taunted and spoken of abusively?
And against whom have you lifted up your voice
And do you raise your eyes on high?
It is against the Holy One of Israel!

23 By means of your messengers you have taunted Jehovah and you say,
‘With the multitude of my war chariots I myself—
I shall certainly ascend the height of mountainous regions,
The remotest parts of Leb′a·non;
And I shall cut down its lofty cedars, its choice juniper trees.
And I will enter its final lodging place, the forest of its orchard.

24 I myself shall certainly dig and drink strange waters,
And I shall dry up with the soles of my feet all the Nile canals of Egypt.’

25 Have you not heard? From remote times it is what I will do.
From bygone days I have even formed it.
Now I will bring it in.
And you will serve to make fortified cities desolate as piles of ruins.

26 And their inhabitants will be feeble-handed;
They will simply be terrified and will be ashamed.
They must become as vegetation of the field and green tender grass, Grass of the roofs, when there is a scorching before the east wind.

27 And your sitting quiet and your going out and your coming in I well know,
And your exciting yourself against me,

28 Because your exciting yourself against me and your roaring have come up into my ears.
And I shall certainly put my hook in your nose and my bridle between your lips,
And I shall indeed lead you back by the way by which you have come.”

29 “‘And this will be the sign for you: There will be an eating this year of the growth from spilled kernels, and in the second year grain that shoots up of itself; but in the third year sow seed, YOU people, and reap and plant vineyards and eat their fruitage. 30 And those who escape of the house of Judah, those who are left, will certainly take root downward and produce fruitage upward. 31 For out of Jerusalem a remnant will go forth, and those who escape from Mount Zion. The very zeal of Jehovah of armies will do this.

32 “‘That is why this is what Jehovah has said concerning the king of As·syr′i·a: “He will not come into this city nor will he shoot an arrow there nor confront it with a shield nor cast up a siege rampart against it. [33] By the way by which he proceeded to come, he will return, and into this city he will not come, is the utterance of Jehovah. [34] And I shall certainly defend this city to save it for my own sake and for the sake of David my servant.”’”

[35] And it came about on that night that the angel of Jehovah proceeded to go out and strike down a hundred and eighty-five thousand in the camp of the As·syr′i·ans. When people rose up early in the morning, why, there all of them were dead carcasses. [36] Therefore Sen·nach′er·ib the king of As·syr′i·a pulled away and went and returned, and he took up dwelling in Nin′e·veh. [37] And it came about that as he was bowing down at the house of Nis′roch his god, A·dram′me·lech and Shar·e′zer, his sons, themselves struck him down with the sword, and they themselves escaped to the land of Ar′a·rat. And E′sar-had′don his son began to reign in place of him.

20 In those days Hez·e·ki′ah got sick to the point of dying. Accordingly Isaiah the son of A′moz the prophet came in to him and said to him: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Give commands to your household, for you yourself will indeed die and will not live.’” [2] At that he turned his face to the wall and began to pray to Jehovah, saying: [3] “I beseech you, O Jehovah, remember, please, how I have walked before you in truthfulness and with a complete heart, and what was good in your eyes I have done.” And Hez·e·ki′ah began to weep profusely.

[4] And it came about that Isaiah himself had not yet gone out to the middle court when Jehovah’s word itself came to him, saying: [5] “Go back, and you must say to Hez·e·ki′ah the leader of my people, ‘This is what Jehovah the God of David your forefather has said: “I have heard your prayer. I have seen your tears. Here I am healing you. On the third day you will go up to the house of Jehovah. [6] And I shall certainly add fifteen years to your days, and out of the palm of the king of As·syr′i·a I shall deliver you and this city, and I will defend this city for my own sake and for the sake of David my servant.”’”

[7] And Isaiah went on to say: “YOU men, take a cake of pressed dried figs.” So they took and put it upon the boil, after which he gradually revived.

[8] Meantime, Hez·e·ki′ah said to Isaiah: “What is the sign that Jehovah will heal me and I shall certainly go up on the third day to the house of Jehovah?” [9] To this Isaiah said: “This is the sign for you from Jehovah that Jehovah will perform the word that he has spoken: Shall the shadow actually go forward ten steps of the stairs or should it go back ten steps?” [10] Then Hez·e·kiʹah said: “It is an easy thing for the shadow to extend itself ten steps, but not that the shadow should go backward ten steps.” [11] At that Isaiah the prophet began to call out to Jehovah; and he made the shadow that had gone down gradually go back on the steps, that is, on the steps of the stairs of Aʹhaz, ten steps backward.

[12] At that time Be·roʹdach-balʹa·dan the son of Balʹa·dan the king of Babylon sent letters and a gift to Hez·e·kiʹah; for he had heard that Hez·e·kiʹah had been sick. [13] And Hez·e·kiʹah proceeded to listen to them and show them all his treasure-house, the silver and the gold and the balsam oil and the good oil and his armory and all that was to be found in his treasures. There proved to be nothing that Hez·e·kiʹah did not show them in his own house and in all his dominion.

[14] After that Isaiah the prophet came in to King Hez·e·kiʹah and said to him: “What did these men say and from where did they proceed to come to you?” So Hez·e·kiʹah said: “From a distant land they came, from Babylon.” [15] And he went on to say: “What did they see in your house?” To this Hez·e·kiʹah said: “Everything that is in my house they saw. There proved to be nothing that I did not show them in my treasures.”

[16] Isaiah now said to Hez·e·kiʹah: “Hear the word of Jehovah, [17] ‘“Look! Days are coming, and all that is in your own house and that your forefathers have stored up down to this day will actually be carried to Babylon. Nothing will be left,” Jehovah has said. [18] “And some of your own sons that will come forth from you to whom you will become father will themselves be taken and actually become court officials in the palace of the king of Babylon.”’”

[19] At that Hez·e·kiʹah said to Isaiah: “The word of Jehovah that you have spoken is good.” And he went on to say: “Is it not so, if peace and truth themselves will continue in my own days?”

[20] As for the rest of the affairs of Hez·e·kiʹah and all his mightiness and how he made the pool and the conduit and then brought the water into the city, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [21] Finally Hez·e·kiʹah lay down with his forefathers; and Ma·nasʹseh his son began to reign in place of him.

21 Twelve years old was Ma·nas′seh when he began to reign, and for fifty-five years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Heph′zi·bah. [2] And he proceeded to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, according to the detestable things of the nations that Jehovah had driven out from before the sons of Israel. [3] So he built again the high places that Hez·e·ki′ah his father had destroyed, and set up altars to Ba′al and made a sacred pole, just as A′hab the king of Israel had done; and he began to bow down to all the army of the heavens and to serve them. [4] And he built altars in the house of Jehovah, respecting which Jehovah had said: “In Jerusalem I shall put my name.” [5] And he went on to build altars to all the army of the heavens in two courtyards of the house of Jehovah. [6] And he made his own son pass through the fire, and he practiced magic and looked for omens and made spirit mediums and professional foretellers of events. He did on a large scale what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, to offend him.

[7] Further, he put the carved image of the sacred pole that he had made in the house of which Jehovah had said to David and to Sol′o·mon his son: “In this house and in Jerusalem, which I have chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, I shall put my name to time indefinite. [8] And I shall not again make the foot of Israel wander from the ground that I gave to their forefathers, provided only they are careful to do according to all that I have commanded them, even concerning all the law that my servant Moses commanded them.” [9] And they did not listen, but Ma·nas′seh kept seducing them to do what was bad more than the nations whom Jehovah had annihilated from before the sons of Israel.

[10] And Jehovah kept speaking by means of his servants the prophets, saying: [11] “For the reason that Ma·nas′seh the king of Judah has done these detestable things, he has acted more wickedly than all that the Am′or·ites did that were prior to him, and he proceeded to make even Judah sin with his dungy idols. [12] That is why this is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘Here I am bringing a calamity upon Jerusalem and Judah, of which if anyone hears both his ears will tingle. [13] And I shall certainly stretch upon Jerusalem the measuring line applied to Sa·mar′i·a and also the leveling instrument applied to the house of A′hab; and I shall simply wipe Jerusalem clean just as one wipes the handleless bowl clean, wiping it clean and turning it upside down. [14] And I shall indeed forsake the remnant of my inheritance and give them into the hand of their enemies, and they will simply become plunder and pillage to all their enemies, [15] for the reason that they did what was bad in my eyes and were continually offending me from the day that their forefathers came out from Egypt down to this day.’”

[16] And there was also innocent blood that Ma·nas′seh shed in very great quantity, until he had filled Jerusalem from end to end, besides his sin with which he caused Judah to sin by doing what was bad in the eyes of Jehovah. [17] As for the rest of the affairs of Ma·nas′seh and all that he did and his sin with which he sinned, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [18] Finally Ma·nas′seh lay down with his forefathers and was buried in the garden of his house, in the garden of Uz′za; and A′mon his son began to reign in place of him.

[19] Twenty-two years old was A′mon when he began to reign, and for two years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Me·shul′le·meth the daughter of Ha′ruz from Jot′bah. [20] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, just as Ma·nasʹseh his father had done. [21] And he kept walking in all the way that his father had walked, and he continued serving the dungy idols that his father had served and bowing down to them. [22] Thus he left Jehovah the God of his forefathers, and he did not walk in the way of Jehovah. [23] Eventually servants of Aʹmon conspired against him and put the king to death in his own house. [24] But the people of the land struck down all the conspirators against King Aʹmon. Then the people of the land made Jo·siʹah his son king in place of him. [25] As for the rest of the affairs of Aʹmon, what he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [26] So they buried him in his grave in the garden of Uzʹza; and Jo·siʹah his son began to reign in place of him.

22 Eight years old was Jo·si′ah when he began to reign, and for thirty-one years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Je·di′dah the daughter of A·dai′ah from Boz′kath. [2] And he proceeded to do what was right in Jehovah’s eyes and to walk in all the way of David his forefather, and he did not turn aside to the right or to the left.

[3] And it came about in the eighteenth year of King Jo·si′ah that the king sent Sha′phan the son of Az·a·li′ah the son of Me·shul′lam the secretary to the house of Jehovah, saying: [4] “Go up to Hil·ki′ah the high priest, and let him complete the money that is being brought into the house of Jehovah that the doorkeepers have gathered from the people; [5] and let them put it into the hand of those doing the work, the appointed ones, in the house of Jehovah, that they may give it to those doing the work who are in the house of Jehovah to repair the cracks of the house, [6] to the craftsmen and the builders and the masons, and to buy timbers and hewn stones to repair the house. [7] Only no accounting should be taken of the money with them into whose hand it is being put, for it is in faithfulness that they are working.”

[8] Later Hil·ki′ah the high priest said to Sha′phan the secretary: “The very book of the law I have found in the house of Jehovah.” So Hil·ki′ah gave the book to Sha′phan, and he began to read it. [9] Then Sha′phan the secretary came in to the king and replied to the king and said: “Your servants have poured out the money that was to be found in the house, and they keep putting it into the hand of the doers of the work, the ones appointed, in the house of Jehovah.” [10] And Sha′phan the secretary went on to tell the king, saying: “There is a book that Hil·kiʹah the priest has given me.” And Shaʹphan began to read it before the king.

11 And it came about that as soon as the king heard the words of the book of the law, he immediately ripped his garments apart. 12 Then the king commanded Hil·kiʹah the priest and A·hiʹkam the son of Shaʹphan and Achʹbor the son of Mi·caiʹah and Shaʹphan the secretary and A·saiʹah the king’s servant, saying: 13 “Go, inquire of Jehovah in my own behalf and in behalf of the people and in behalf of all Judah concerning the words of this book that has been found; for great is Jehovah’s rage that has been set afire against us over the fact that our forefathers did not listen to the words of this book by doing according to all that is written concerning us.”

14 Accordingly Hil·kiʹah the priest and A·hiʹkam and Achʹbor and Shaʹphan and A·saiʹah went to Hulʹdah the prophetess the wife of Shalʹlum the son of Tikʹvah the son of Harʹhas, the caretaker of the garments, as she was dwelling in Jerusalem in the second quarter; and they proceeded to speak to her. 15 In turn she said to them: “This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said, ‘Say to the man that has sent YOU men to me: 16 “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Here I am bringing calamity upon this place and upon its inhabitants, even all the words of the book that the king of Judah has read; 17 due to the fact that they have left me and have gone making sacrificial smoke to other gods in order to offend me with all the work of their hands, and my rage has been set afire against this place and will not be extinguished.’”’ 18 And as to the king of Judah who is sending YOU to inquire of Jehovah, this is what YOU should say to him, ‘This is what Jehovah the God of Israel has said: “As regards the words that you have heard, 19 for the reason that your heart was soft so that you humbled yourself because of Jehovah at your hearing what I have spoken against this place and its inhabitants for it to become an object of astonishment and a malediction, and then you ripped your garments apart and began weeping before me, I, even I, have heard," is the utterance of Jehovah. 20 "That is why here I am gathering you to your forefathers, and you will certainly be gathered to your own graveyard in peace, and your eyes will not look upon all the calamity that I am bringing upon this place."'" And they proceeded to bring the king the reply.

23 Then the king sent and they gathered together to him all the older men of Judah and Jerusalem. [2] After that the king went up to the house of Jehovah, and also all the men of Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem with him, and also the priests and the prophets and all the people, from small to great; and he began to read in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant that had been found in the house of Jehovah. [3] And the king kept standing by the pillar and now concluded the covenant before Jehovah, to walk after Jehovah and to keep his commandments and his testimonies and his statutes with all the heart and with all the soul by carrying out the words of this covenant that were written in this book. Accordingly all the people took their stand in the covenant.

[4] And the king went on to command Hil·kiʹah the high priest and the priests of the second rank and the doorkeepers to bring out from the temple of Jehovah all the utensils made for Baʹal and for the sacred pole and for all the army of the heavens. Then he burned them outside Jerusalem on the terraces of Kidʹron, and he brought the dust of them to Bethʹel. [5] And he put out of business the foreign-god priests, whom the kings of Judah had put in that they might make sacrificial smoke on the high places in the cities of Judah and the surroundings of Jerusalem, and also those making sacrificial smoke to Baʹal, to the sun and to the moon and to the constellations of the zodiac and to all the army of the heavens. [6] Furthermore, he brought out the sacred pole from the house of Jehovah to the outskirts of Jerusalem, to the torrent valley of Kidʹron, and burned it in the torrent valley of Kidʹron and ground it to dust and cast its dust upon the burial place of the sons of the people. [7] Further, he pulled down the houses of the male temple prostitutes that were in the house of Jehovah, where the women were weaving tent shrines for the sacred pole.

[8] Then he brought all the priests from the cities of Judah, that he might make unfit for worship the high places where the priests had made sacrificial smoke, from Ge′ba as far as Be′er-she′ba; and he pulled down the high places of the gates that were at the entrance of the gate of Joshua, the chief of the city, which was at the left as a person came into the gate of the city. [9] Only the priests of the high places would not come up to the altar of Jehovah in Jerusalem, but they ate unfermented cakes in among their brothers. [10] And he made unfit for worship To′pheth, which is in the valley of the sons of Hin′nom, that no one might make his son or his daughter pass through the fire to Mo′lech. [11] Further, he caused the horses that the kings of Judah had given to the sun to cease from entering the house of Jehovah by the dining room of Na′than-mel′ech the court official, which was in the porticoes; and the chariots of the sun he burned in the fire. [12] And the altars that were upon the roof of the roof chamber of A′haz that the kings of Judah had made, and the altars that Ma·nas′seh had made in two courtyards of the house of Jehovah, the king pulled down, after which he crushed them there, and he cast their dust into the torrent valley of Kid′ron. [13] And the high places that were in front of Jerusalem, that were to the right of the Mount of Ruination, that Sol′o·mon the king of Israel had built to Ash′to·reth the disgusting thing of the Si·do′ni·ans and to Che′mosh the disgusting thing of Mo′ab and to Mil′com the detestable thing of the sons of Am′mon, the king made unfit for worship. [14] And he broke the sacred pillars to pieces and went on to cut down the sacred poles and to fill their places with human bones. [15] And also the altar that was in Beth′el, the high place that Jer·o·bo′am the son of Ne′bat, who caused Israel to sin, had made, even that altar and the high place he pulled down. Then he burned the high place; he ground it to dust and burned the sacred pole.

16 When Jo·si′ah turned, he got to see the burial places that were there in the mountain. So he sent and took the bones from the burial places and burned them upon the altar, that he might make it unfit for worship, according to Jehovah's word that the man of the true God had proclaimed, who proclaimed these things. 17 Then he said: "What is the gravestone over there that I am seeing?" At this the men of the city said to him: "It is the burial place of the man of the true God that came from Judah and proceeded to proclaim these things that you have done against the altar of Beth′el." 18 So he said: "Let him rest. Do not let anyone disturb his bones." Consequently they let his bones alone along with the bones of the prophet that had come from Sa·mar′i·a.

19 And also all the houses of the high places that were in the cities of Sa·mar′i·a that the kings of Israel had built to cause offense Jo·si′ah removed, and he went on to do to them according to all the doings that he had done at Beth′el. 20 Accordingly he sacrificed all the priests of the high places that were there upon the altars and burned human bones upon them. After that he returned to Jerusalem.

21 The king now commanded all the people, saying: "Hold a passover to Jehovah YOUR God according to what is written in this book of the covenant." 22 For no passover like this had been held from the days of the judges that had judged Israel, nor all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah. 23 But in the eighteenth year of King Jo·si′ah this passover was held to Jehovah in Jerusalem.

24 And also the spirit mediums and the professional foretellers of events and the teraphim and the dungy idols and all the disgusting things that had appeared in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem Jo·si′ah cleared out, in order that he might actually carry out the words of the law that were written in the book that Hil·ki′ah the priest had found at the house of Jehovah. 25 And like him there did not prove to be a king prior to him who returned to Jehovah with all his heart and with all his soul and with all his vital force, according to all the law of Moses; neither after him has there risen up one like him.

26 Nevertheless, Jehovah did not turn back from the great burning of his anger, with which his anger burned against Judah over all the offensive things with which Ma·nas′seh had made them offend. 27 But Jehovah said: “Judah, too, I shall remove from my sight, just as I have removed Israel; and I shall certainly reject this city that I have chosen, even Jerusalem, and the house of which I have said, ‘My name will continue there.’”

28 As for the rest of the affairs of Jo·si′ah and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? 29 In his days Phar′aoh Ne′choh the king of Egypt came up to the king of As·syr′i·a by the river Eu·phra′tes, and King Jo·si′ah proceeded to go to meet him; but he put him to death at Me·gid′do as soon as he saw him. 30 So his servants conveyed him dead in a chariot from Me·gid′do and brought him to Jerusalem and buried him in his grave. Then the people of the land took Je·ho′a·haz the son of Jo·si′ah and anointed him and made him king in place of his father.

31 Twenty-three years old was Je·ho′a·haz when he began to reign, and for three months he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Ha·mu′tal the daughter of Jeremiah from Lib′nah. 32 And he began to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, according to all that forefathers of his had done. 33

And Phar′aoh Ne′choh got to put him in bonds at Rib′lah in the land of Ha′math, to keep him from reigning in Jerusalem, and then imposed a fine upon the land of a hundred silver talents and a gold talent. [34] Furthermore, Phar′aoh Ne′choh made E·li′a·kim the son of Jo·si′ah king in place of Jo·si′ah his father and changed his name to Je·hoi′a·kim; and Je·ho′a·haz he took and then brought to Egypt, where he eventually died. [35] And the silver and the gold Je·hoi′a·kim gave to Phar′aoh. Only he taxed the land, to give the silver at the order of Phar′aoh. According to each one’s individual tax rate he exacted the silver and the gold from the people of the land, to give it to Phar′aoh Ne′choh.

[36] Twenty-five years old was Je·hoi′a·kim when he began to reign, and for eleven years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Ze·bi′dah the daughter of Pe·dai′ah from Ru′mah. [37] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, according to all that forefathers of his had done.

24 In his days Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon came up, and so Je·hoi′a·kim became his servant for three years. However, he turned back and rebelled against him. [2] And Jehovah began to send against him marauder bands of Chal·de′ans and marauder bands of Syrians and marauder bands of Mo′ab·ites and marauder bands of the sons of Am′mon, and he kept sending them against Judah to destroy it, according to Jehovah’s word that he had spoken by means of his servants the prophets. [3] It was only by the order of Jehovah that it took place against Judah, to remove it from his sight for the sins of Ma·nas′seh, according to all that he had done; [4] and also for the innocent blood that he had shed, so that he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and Jehovah did not consent to grant forgiveness.

[5] As for the rest of the affairs of Je·hoi′a·kim and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the affairs of the days of the kings of Judah? [6] Finally Je·hoi′a·kim lay down with his forefathers, and Je·hoi′a·chin his son began to reign in place of him.

[7] And never again did the king of Egypt come out from his land, for the king of Babylon had taken all that happened to belong to the king of Egypt from the torrent valley of Egypt up to the river Eu·phra′tes.

[8] Eighteen years old was Je·hoi′a·chin when he began to reign, and for three months he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Ne·hush′ta the daughter of El·na′than of Jerusalem. [9] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, according to all that his father had done. [10] During that time the servants of Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon came up to Jerusalem, so that the city came under siege. [11] And Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon proceeded to come against the city, while his servants were laying siege against it.

[12] At length Je·hoi′a·chin the king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon, he with his mother and his servants and his princes and his court officials; and the king of Babylon got to take him in the eighth year of his being king. [13] Then he brought out from there all the treasures of the house of Jehovah and the treasures of the king’s house, and went on to cut to pieces all the gold utensils that Sol′o·mon the king of Israel had made in the temple of Jehovah, just as Jehovah had spoken. [14] And he took into exile all Jerusalem and all the princes and all the valiant, mighty men—ten thousand he was taking into exile—and also every craftsman and builder of bulwarks. No one had been left behind except the lowly class of the people of the land. [15] Thus he took Je·hoi′a·chin into exile to Babylon; and the king’s mother and the king’s wives and his court officials and the foremost men of the land he led away as exiled people from Jerusalem to Babylon. [16] As for all the valiant men, seven thousand, and the craftsmen and the builders of bulwarks, a thousand, all the mighty men carrying on war, the king of Babylon proceeded to bring them as exiled people to Babylon. [17] Further, the king of Babylon made Mat·ta·ni′ah his uncle king in place of him. Then he changed his name to Zed·e·ki′ah.

[18] Twenty-one years old was Zed·e·ki′ah when he began to reign, and for eleven years he reigned in Jerusalem. And his mother’s name was Ha·mu′tal the daughter of Jeremiah from Lib′nah. [19] And he continued to do what was bad in Jehovah’s eyes, according to all that Je·hoi′a·kim had done. [20] For on account of the anger of Jehovah it took place in Jerusalem and in Judah, until he had cast them out of his sight. And Zed·e·ki′ah began to rebel against the king of Babylon.

25 And it came about in the ninth year of his being king, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, that Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon came, yes, he and all his military force, against Jerusalem and began camping against it and building against it a siege wall all around. [2] And the city came to be under siege until the eleventh year of King Zed·e·ki′ah. [3] On the ninth day of the fourth month the famine was severe in the city, and there proved to be no bread for the people of the land. [4] And the city got to be breached, and all the men of war fled by night by the way of the gate between the double wall that is by the king’s garden, while the Chal·de′ans were all around against the city; and the king began to go in the direction of the Ar′a·bah. [5] And a military force of Chal·de′ans went chasing after the king, and they got to overtake him in the desert plains of Jer′i·cho; and all his own military force was scattered from his side. [6] Then they seized the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Rib′lah, that they might pronounce a judicial decision upon him. [7] And Zed·e·ki′ah’s sons they slaughtered before his eyes, and Zed·e·ki′ah’s eyes he blinded, after which he bound him with copper fetters and brought him to Babylon.

[8] And in the fifth month on the seventh day of the month, that is to say, the nineteenth year of King Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon, Neb·u′zar·ad′an the chief of the bodyguard, the servant of the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. [9] And he proceeded to burn the house of Jehovah and the king’s house and all the houses of Jerusalem; and the house of every great man he burned with fire. [10] And the walls of Jerusalem, all around, the entire military force of Chal·de′ans that were with the chief of the bodyguard pulled down. [11] And the rest of the people that were left behind in the city and the deserters that had gone over to the king of Babylon and the rest of the crowd Neb·u′zar·ad′an the chief of the bodyguard took into exile. [12] And some of the lowly people of the land the chief of the bodyguard let remain as vinedressers and as compulsory laborers. [13] And the pillars of copper that were in the house of Jehovah, and the carriages and the copper sea that were in the house of Jehovah, the Chal·de′ans broke in pieces and went carrying the copper of them to Babylon. [14] And the cans and the shovels and the extinguishers and the cups and all the utensils of copper with which they used to minister they took. [15] And the chief of the bodyguard took the fire holders and the bowls that were of genuine gold and those that were of genuine silver. [16] As for the two pillars, the one sea and the carriages that Sol′o·mon had made for the house of Jehovah, there happened to be no way to tell the weight of the copper of all these utensils. [17] Eighteen cubits was the height of each pillar, and the capital upon it was of copper; and the height of the capital was three cubits; and the network and the pomegranates all around upon the capital, the whole of it, was copper; and the second pillar had the same as these upon the network.

[18] Furthermore, the chief of the bodyguard took Se·rai′ah the chief priest and Zeph·a·ni′ah the second priest and three doorkeepers; [19] and from the city he took one court official that had a command over the men of war, and five men from those having access to the king that were found in the city; and the secretary of the chief of the army, the one mustering the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land that were to be found in the city; [20] and Neb·u′zar·ad′an the chief of the bodyguard then took them and conducted them to the king of Babylon at Rib′lah. [21] And the king of Babylon proceeded to strike them down and put them to death at Rib′lah in the land of Ha′math. Thus Judah went into exile from off its soil.

[22] As for the people left behind in the land of Judah, whom Neb·u·chad·nez′zar the king of Babylon had left behind, he now appointed over them Ged·a·li′ah the son of A·hi′kam the son of Sha′phan. [23] When all the chiefs of the military forces, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had appointed Ged·a·li′ah, they immediately came to Ged·a·li′ah at Miz′pah, that is, Ish′ma·el the son of Neth·a·ni′ah and Jo·ha′nan the son of Ka·re′ah and Se·rai′ah the son of Tan·hu′meth the Ne·toph′a·thite and Ja·az·a·ni′ah the son of the Ma·ac′a·thite, they and their men. [24] Then Ged·a·li′ah swore to them and their men and said to them: “Do not be afraid of being servants to the Chal·de′ans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it will go well with YOU.”

[25] And it came about in the seventh month that Ish′ma·el the son of Neth·a·ni′ah the son of E·lish′a·ma of the royal offspring came, and also ten men with him, and they got to strike down Ged·a·li′ah, so that he died, and also the Jews and the Chal·de′ans that happened to be with him in Miz′pah. [26] After that all the people, from small to great, and the chiefs of the military forces rose up and came into Egypt; for they had become afraid because of the Chal·de′ans.

[27] And it came about in the thirty-seventh year of the exile of Je·hoi′a·chin the king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, that E′vil-mer′o·dach the king of Babylon, in the year of his becoming king, raised up the head of Je·hoi′a·chin the king of Judah out of the house of detention; [28] and he began to speak good things with him, and then put his throne higher than the thrones of the kings that were with him in Babylon. [29] And he took off his prison garments; and he ate bread constantly before him all the days of his life. [30] As for his allowance, an allowance was constantly given him from the king, daily as due, all the days of his life.

Mach·beʹnah and the father of Gibʹe·a. And Caʹleb's daughter was Achʹsah. [50] These became the sons of Caʹleb.

[53] And the families of Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim were the Ithʹrites and the Puʹthites and the Shuʹmath·ites and the Mishʹra·ites. It was from these that the Zoʹrath·ites and the Eshʹta·ol·ites came out. [8] As for Koz, he became father to A′nub and Zo·be′bah and the families of A·har′hel the son of Ha′rum.

[9] And Ja′bez came to be more honorable than his brothers; and it was his mother that called his name Ja′bez, saying: “I have given him birth in pain.” [10] And Ja′bez began to call upon the God of Israel, saying: “If you will without fail bless me and actually enlarge my territory and your hand really proves to be with me, and you really preserve me from calamity, that it may not hurt me,—” Accordingly God brought to pass what he had asked.

[11] As for Che′lub the brother of Shu′hah, he became father to Me′hir, who was the father of Esh′ton. [12] Esh′ton, in turn, became father to Beth-ra′pha and Pa·se′ah and Te·hin′nah the father of Ir-na′hash. These were the men of Re′cah. [13] And the sons of Ke′naz were Oth′ni·el and Se·rai′ah, and the sons of Oth′ni·el, Ha′thath. [14] As for Me·o′no·thai, he became father to Oph′rah. As for Se·rai′ah, he became father to Jo′ab

[17] And the sons of Ez′rah were Je′ther and Me′red and E′pher and Ja′lon; and she got to conceive Mir′i·am and Sham′mai and Ish′bah the father of Esh·te·mo′a. [18] As for his Jewish wife, she gave birth to Je′red the father of Ge′dor and He′ber the father of So′co and Je·ku′thi·el the father of Za·no′ah. And these were the sons of Bi·thi′ah the daughter of Phar′aoh, whom Me′red took.

[21] The sons of She′lah the son of Judah were Er the father of Le′cah and La′a·dah the father of Ma·re′shah and the families of the house of the workers of fine fabric of the house of Ash·be′a; [22] and Jo′kim and the men of Co·ze′ba and Jo′ash and Sa′raph, who became owners of Mo′ab·ite wives, and Jash′u·bi-le′hem. And the sayings are of old tradition. [23] They were the potters and the inhabitants of Ne·ta′im and Ge·de′rah. It was with the king in his work that they dwelt there.

[24] The sons of Sim′e·on were Nem′u·el and Ja′min, Ja′rib, Ze′rah, Sha′ul, [25] Shal′lum his son, Mib′sam his son, Mish′ma his son. [26] And the sons of Mish′ma were Ham′mu·el his son, Zac′cur his son, Shim′e·i his son. [27] And Shim′e·i had sixteen sons and six daughters; but his brothers did not have many sons, and none of their families had as many as the sons of Judah. [28] And they continued to dwell in Be′er-she′ba and Mo·la′dah and Ha′zar-shu′al [29] and in Bil′hah and in E′zem and in To′lad [30] and in Be·thu′el and in Hor′mah and in Zik′lag [31] and in Beth-mar′ca·both and in Ha′zar-su′sim and in Beth-bir′i and in Sha′a·ra′im. These were their cities down till David reigned.

[32] And their settlements were E′tam and A′in, Rim′mon and To′chen and A′shan, five cities. [33] And all their settlements that were all around these cities were as far as Ba′al. These were their dwelling places and their genealogical enrollments for them. [34] And Me·sho′bab and Jam′lech and Jo′shah the son of Am·a·zi′ah, [35] and Joel and Je′hu the son of Josh·i·bi′ah the son of Se·rai′ah the son of As′i·el, [36] and Eli·o·e′nai and Ja·a·ko′bah and Jesh·o·hai′ah and A·sai′ah and Ad′i·el and Je·sim′i·el and Be·nai′ah, [37] and Zi′za the son of Shi′phi the son of Al′lon the son of Je·da′iah the son of Shim′ri the son of She·mai′ah. [38] These who came in by names were the chieftains among their families, and the household itself of their forefathers increased in multitude. [39] And they proceeded to go to the entryway of Ge′dor, clear to the east of the valley, to look for pasturage for their flocks. [40] Eventually they found fat and good pasturage, and the land was quite wide and having no disturbance but at ease; for those dwelling there in former times were of Ham. [41] And these written down by their names proceeded to come in in the days of Hez·e·ki′ah the king of Judah and strike down the tents of the Ham′ites and the Me·u′nim that were to be found there, so that they devoted them to destruction down to this day; and they began to dwell in their place, because there was pasturage for their flocks there.

[42] And from them there were some of the sons of Sim′e·on that went to Mount Se′ir, five hundred men, with Pel·a·ti′ah and Ne·a·riʹah and Re·phaʹiah and Uzʹzi·el the sons of Ishʹi at their head. [43] And they proceeded to strike down the remnant that had escaped of Amʹa·lek, and they continued to dwell there down to this day.

5 And the sons of Reu′ben the firstborn of Israel—for he was the firstborn; but for his profaning the lounge of his father his right as firstborn was given to the sons of Joseph the son of Israel, so that he was not to be enrolled genealogically for the right of the firstborn. [2] For Judah himself proved to be superior among his brothers, and the one for leader was from him; but the right as firstborn was Joseph's— [3] the sons of Reu′ben the firstborn of Israel were Ha′noch and Pal′lu, Hez′ron and Car′mi. [4] The sons of Joel were She·mai′ah his son, Gog his son, Shim′e·i his son, [5] Mi′cah his son, Re·a′iah his son, Ba′al his son, [6] Be·er′ah his son, whom Til′gath-pil·ne′ser the king of As·syr′i·a took into exile, he being a chieftain of the Reu′ben·ites. [7] And his brothers by their families in the genealogical enrollment by their descendants were, as the head, Je·i′el, and Zech·a·ri′ah, [8] and Be′la the son of A′zaz the son of She′ma the son of Joel—he was dwelling in A·ro′er and as far as Ne′bo and Ba′al-me′on. [9] Even to the east he dwelt as far as where one enters the wilderness at the river Eu·phra′tes, for their livestock itself had become numerous in the land of Gil′e·ad. [10] And in the days of Saul they made war upon the Hag′rites, who came to fall by their hand; and so they dwelt in their tents throughout all the country east of Gil′e·ad.

[11] As for the sons of Gad in front of them, they dwelt in the land of Ba′shan as far as Sal′e·cah. [12] Joel was the head, and Sha′pham the second, and Ja′nai and Sha′phat in Ba′shan. [13] And their brothers belonging to the house of their forefathers were Mi′cha·el and Me·shul′lam and She′ba and Jo′rai and Ja′can and Zi′a and E′ber, seven. [14] These were the sons of Ab′i·ha·il the son of Hu′ri, the son of Ja·ro′ah, the son of Gil′e·ad, the son of Mi′cha·el, the son of Je·shish′ai, the son of Jah′do, the son of Buz; 15 A′hi the son of Ab′di·el, the son of Gu′ni, head of the house of their forefathers. 16 And they continued to dwell in Gil′e·ad, in Ba′shan and in its dependent towns and in all the pasture grounds of Shar′on as far as their terminations. 17 They were all of them enrolled genealogically in the days of Jo′tham the king of Judah and in the days of Jer·o·bo′am the king of Israel.

18 As for the sons of Reu′ben and the Gad′ites and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh; of those who were valiant fellows, men carrying shield and sword and bending the bow and trained in war, there were forty-four thousand seven hundred and sixty going out to the army. 19 And they began to make war upon the Hag′rites, and Je′tur and Na′phish and No′dab. 20 And they came to be helped against them, so that the Hag′rites and all those who were with them were given into their hand, for it was to God that they called for aid in the war, and he let himself be entreated in their favor because they trusted in him. 21 And they got to take captive their livestock, their camels fifty thousand, and sheep two hundred and fifty thousand, and asses two thousand, and human souls a hundred thousand. 22 For there were many that had fallen slain, because it was on the part of the true God that the fighting was. And they continued to dwell in their place down to the time of the exile.

23 As for the sons of the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh, they dwelt in the land from Ba′shan to Ba′al-her′mon and Se′nir and Mount Her′mon. They themselves became numerous. 24 And these were the heads of the house of their forefathers: E′pher and Ish′i and E′li·el and Az′ri·el and Jeremiah and Hod·a·vi′ah and Jah′di·el, men that were valiant, mighty fellows, men of fame, heads of the house of their forefathers. 25 And they began to act unfaithfully toward the God of their forefathers and went having immoral intercourse with the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had annihilated from before them. [26] Consequently the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul the king of As·syr′i·a even the spirit of Til′gath-pil·ne′ser the king of As·syr′i·a, so that he took into exile those of the Reu′ben·ites and of the Gad′ites and of the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh and brought them to Ha′lah and Ha′bor and Ha′ra and the river Go′zan to continue until this day.

6 The sons of Le′vi were Ger′shon, Ko′hath and Me·rar′i. [2]
And the sons of Ko′hath were Am′ram, Iz′har and He′bron and Uz′zi·el. [3] And the sons of Am′ram were Aaron and Moses, and there was Mir′i·am. And the sons of Aaron were Na′dab and A·bi′hu, El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar. [4] As for El·e·a′zar, he became father to Phin′e·has. Phin′e·has himself became father to Ab·i·shu′a. [5] Ab·i·shu′a, in turn, became father to Buk′ki; Buk′ki, in turn, became father to Uz′zi. [6] Uz′zi, in turn, became father to Zer·a·hi′ah; Zer·a·hi′ah, in turn, became father to Me·ra′ioth. [7] Me·ra′ioth himself father to A·hi′tub. [8] A·hi′tub, in turn, became father to

A·him′a·az, in turn, became father to Az·a·ri′ah. Az·a·ri′ah, in turn, became father to Jo·ha′nan. [10] Jo·ha′nan, in turn, became father to Az·a·ri′ah. He was the one that acted as priest in the house that Sol′o·mon built in Jerusalem.

[11] And Az·a·ri′ah came to be father to Am·a·ri′ah. Am·a·ri′ah, in turn, became father to A·hi′tub. [12] A·hi′tub, in turn, became father to Za′dok. Za′dok, in turn, became father to Shal′lum. [13] Shal′lum, in turn, became father to Hil·ki′ah.
Hil·ki′ah, in turn, became father to Az·a·ri′ah. [14] Az·a·ri′ah, in turn, became father to Se·rai′ah. Se·rai′ah, in turn, became father to Je·hoz′a·dak. [15] And Je·hoz′a·dak it was that went away when Jehovah took Judah and Jerusalem into exile by the hand of Neb·u·chad·nez′zar.

[16] The sons of Le′vi were Ger′shom, Ko′hath and Me·rar′i. [17]
And these are the names of the sons of Ger′shom: Lib′ni and

[22] The sons of Ko′hath were Am·min′a·dab his son, Ko′rah his son, As′sir his son, [23] El·ka′nah his son and E·bi′a·saph his son and As′sir his son; [24] Ta′hath his son, U·ri′el his son, Uz·zi′ah his son, and Sha′ul his son. [31] And these were the ones to whom David gave positions for the direction of the singing at the house of Jehovah after the Ark had a resting-place. [32] And they came to be ministers in the singing before the tabernacle of the tent of meeting until Sol′o·mon built the house of Jehovah in Jerusalem; and they kept attending upon their service according to their commission. [33] And these were those in attendance and also their sons: Of the sons of the Ko′hath·ites He′man the singer, the son of Joel, the son of Samuel, [34] the son of El·ka′nah, the son of Je·ro′ham, the son of E′li·el, the son of To′ah, [35] the son of Zuph, the son of El·ka′nah, the son of Ma′hath, the son of A·ma′sai, [36] the son of El·ka′nah, the son of Joel, the son of Az·a·ri′ah, the son of Zeph·a·ni′ah, [37] the son of Ta′hath, the son of As′sir, the son of E·bi′a·saph, the son of Ko′rah, [38] the son of Iz′har, the son of Ko′hath, the son of Le′vi, the son of Israel.

[39] As for his brother A′saph, who was attending at his right, A′saph was the son of Ber·e·chi′ah, the son of Shim′e·a, [40] the son of Mi′cha·el, the son of Ba·a·se′iah, the son of Mal·chi′jah, [41] the son of Eth′ni, the son of Ze′rah, the son of A·dai′ah, [42] the son of E′than, the son of Zim′mah, the son of Shim′e·i, [43] the son of Ja′hath, the son of Ger′shom, the son of Le′vi.

[48] And their brothers the Levites were the ones given for all the service of the tabernacle of the house of the true God. [49] And Aaron and his sons were making sacrificial smoke upon the altar of burnt offering and upon the altar of incense for all the work of the most holy things and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of the true God had commanded. [50] And these were the sons of Aaron: El·e·a′zar his son, Phin′e·has his son, Ab·i·shu′a his son, [51] Buk′ki his son, Uz′zi his son, Zer·a·hi′ah his son, [52] Me·ra′ioth his son, Am·a·ri′ah his son, A·hi′tub his son, [53] Za′dok his son, A·him′a·az his son.

[55] Accordingly they gave them He′bron in the land of Judah, with its pasture grounds all around it. [56] And the field of the city and its settlements they gave to Ca′leb the son of Je·phun′neh. [23] Afterward he had relations with his wife, so that she became pregnant and gave birth to a son. But he called his name Be·ri′ah, because it was with calamity that she happened to be in his house. 9 As for all Israelites, they were enrolled genealogically; and there they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel. And Judah itself was taken into exile at Babylon for their unfaithfulness. [2] And the first inhabitants that were in their possession in their cities were the Israelites, the priests, the Levites and the Neth′i·nim. [3] And in Jerusalem there dwelt some of the sons of Judah and some of the sons of Benjamin and some of the sons of E′phra·im and of Ma·nas′seh: [4] U′thai the son of Am·mi′hud the son of Om′ri the son of Im′ri the son of Ba′ni, of the sons of Pe′rez the son of Judah. [5] And of the Shi′lo·nites, A·sai′ah the firstborn and his sons. [6] And of the sons of Ze′rah, Je·u′el, and six hundred and ninety brothers of theirs.

[7] And of the sons of Benjamin, Sal′lu the son of Me·shul′lam the son of Hod·a·vi′ah the son of Has·se·nu′ah, [8] and Ib·ne′iah the son of Je·ro′ham, and E′lah the son of Uz′zi the son of Mich′ri, and Me·shul′lam the son of Sheph·a·ti′ah the son of Reu′el the son of Ib·ni′jah. [9] And the brothers of theirs by their descendants were nine hundred and fifty-six. All these were men that were heads of the fathers by the house of their forefathers.

[10] And of the priests there were Je·da′iah and Je·hoi′a·rib and Ja′chin, [11] and Az·a·ri′ah the son of Hil·ki′ah the son of Me·shul′lam the son of Za′dok the son of Me·ra′ioth the son of A·hi′tub, a leader of the house of the true God, [12] and A·dai′ah the son of Je·ro′ham the son of Pash′hur the son of Mal·chi′jah, and Ma′a·sai the son of Ad′i·el the son of Jah′ze·rah the son of Me·shul′lam the son of Me·shil′le·mith the son of Im′mer, [13] and their brothers, heads of the house of their forefathers, a thousand seven hundred and sixty, mighty men of ability for the work of the service of the house of the true God.

[14] And of the Levites there were She·maiʹah the son of Hasʹshub the son of Az·riʹkam the son of Hash·a·biʹah from the sons of Me·rarʹi; [15] and Bak·bakʹkar, Heʹresh and Gaʹlal, and Mat·ta·niʹah the son of Miʹca the son of Zichʹri the son of Aʹsaph, [16] and O·ba·diʹah the son of She·maiʹah the son of Gaʹlal the son of Je·duʹthun, and Ber·e·chiʹah the son of Aʹsa the son of El·kaʹnah, who was dwelling in the settlements of the Ne·tophʹa·thites.

[17] And the gatekeepers were Shalʹlum and Akʹkub and Talʹmon and A·hiʹman and their brother Shalʹlum the head, [18] and up till then he was in the king’s gate to the east. These were the gatekeepers of the camps of the sons of Leʹvi. [19] And Shalʹlum the son of Koʹre the son of E·biʹa·saph the son of Koʹrah and his brothers of the house of his father the Koʹrah·ites, over the work of the service, the doorkeepers of the tent, and their fathers over the camp of Jehovah, the keepers of the entryway. [20] And it was Phinʹe·has the son of El·e·aʹzar that happened to be leader over them in the past. Jehovah was with him. [21] Zech·a·riʹah the son of Me·shel·e·miʹah was the gatekeeper of the entrance of the tent of meeting.

[22] All of them who were selected as gatekeepers at the thresholds were two hundred and twelve. They were in their settlements by their genealogical enrollment. These David and Samuel the seer ordained in their office of trust. [23] And they and their sons were over the gates of the house of Jehovah, even the house of the tent, for guard service. [24] It was to the four directions that the gatekeepers came to be, to the east, to the west, to the north and to the south. [25] And their brothers in their settlements were to come in for seven days, from time to time, along with these. [26] For in office of trust there were four mighty men of the gatekeepers. They were Levites, and they proved to be in charge of the dining rooms and of the treasures of the house of the true God. [27] And all around the house of the true God they would spend the night; for guard service was upon them, and they were in charge of the key, even to open up from morning to morning.

[28] And some of them were in charge of the utensils of the service, for it was by number that they would bring them in and it was by number that they would take them out. [29] And some of them were men appointed over the utensils and over all the holy utensils and over the fine flour and the wine and the oil and the frankincense and the balsam oil. [30] And some of the sons of the priests were makers of the ointment mixture of balsam oil. [31] And Mat·ti·thiʹah of the Levites, who was the firstborn of Shalʹlum the Koʹrah·ite, was in the office of trust over the things baked in pans. [32] And some of the sons of the Koʹhath·ites, their brothers, were in charge of the layer bread, to prepare it sabbath by sabbath.

[33] And these were the singers, the heads of the fathers of the Levites in the dining rooms, those set free from duty; for by day and by night it was their responsibility to be in the work. [34] These were the heads of the fathers of the Levites by their descendants, headmen. These were the ones that dwelt in Jerusalem.

[35] And in Gibʹe·on was where the father of Gibʹe·on, Je·iʹel, dwelt. And his wife’s name was Maʹa·cah. [36] And his son, the firstborn, was Abʹdon, and Zur and Kish and Baʹal and Ner and Naʹdab, [37] and Geʹdor and A·hiʹo and Zech·a·riʹah and Mikʹloth. [38] As for Mikʹloth, he became father to Shimʹe·am. And it was really they that dwelt in front of their brothers in Jerusalem along with brothers of theirs. [39] As for Ner, he became father to Kish; Kish, in turn, became father to Saul;

Saul, in turn, became father to Jon′a·than and Mal′chi-shu′a and A·bin′a·dab and Esh·ba′al. 40 And the son of Jon′a·than was Mer′ib-ba′al. As for Mer′ib-ba′al, he became father to Mi′cah. 41 And the sons of Mi′cah were Pi′thon and Mel′ech and Tahr′e·a and A′haz. 42 As for A′haz, he became father to Ja′rah; Ja′rah, in turn, became father to Al′e·meth and Az′ma·veth and Zim′ri. Zim′ri, in turn, became father to Mo′za. 43 As for Mo′za, he became father to Bin′e·a and Re·pha′iah his son, El·e·a′sah his son, A′zel his son. 44 And A′zel had six sons, and these were their names: Az·ri′kam, Bo′che·ru and Ish′ma·el and She·a·ri′ah and O·ba·di′ah and Ha′nan. These were the sons of A′zel.

10 And the Phi·lis′tines, for their part, made war upon Israel; and the men of Israel went fleeing from before the Phi·lis′tines and kept falling slain in Mount Gil·bo′a. [2] And the Phi·lis′tines kept in close range of Saul and his sons; and the Phi·lis′tines got to strike down Jon′a·than and A·bin′a·dab and Mal′chi-shu′a, sons of Saul. [3] And the fighting became heavy against Saul; and those shooting with the bow finally found him, and he got wounded by the shooters. [4] Then Saul said to his armor-bearer: “Draw your sword and run me through with it, that these uncircumcised men may not come and certainly deal abusively with me.” And his armor-bearer was unwilling, because he was very much afraid. So Saul took the sword and fell upon it. [5] When his armor-bearer saw that Saul had died, then he too fell upon the sword and died. [6] Thus Saul and three sons of his died, and all those of his house died together. [7] When all the men of Israel that were in the low plain saw that they had fled and that Saul and his sons had died, then they began to leave their cities and flee; after which the Phi·lis′tines came on in and took up dwelling in them.

[8] And it came about the next day that, when the Phi·lis′tines came to strip the slain, they got to find Saul and his sons fallen upon Mount Gil·bo′a. [9] And they proceeded to strip him and take off his head and his armor and send into the land of the Phi·lis′tines all around to inform their idols and the people. [10] Finally they put his armor in the house of their god, and his skull they fastened to the house of Da′gon.

[11] And all those of Ja′besh in Gil′e·ad got to hear of all that the Phi·lis′tines had done to Saul. [12] So all the valiant men rose up and carried off the corpse of Saul and the corpses of his sons and brought them to Ja′besh and buried their bones under the big tree in Ja′besh; and they went fasting for seven days.

13 Thus Saul died for his unfaithfulness with which he had acted faithlessly against Jehovah concerning the word of Jehovah that he had not kept and also for asking of a spirit medium to make inquiry. 14 And he did not inquire of Jehovah. Consequently he put him to death and turned the kingship over to David the son of Jes′se.

11 In time all the Israelites collected themselves together to David at He′bron, saying: “Look! We are your bone and your flesh. [2] Both yesterday and previously, even while Saul happened to be king, you were the one leading Israel out and bringing it in; and Jehovah your God proceeded to say to you, ‘You yourself will shepherd my people Israel, and you yourself will become leader over my people Israel.’” [3] So all the older men of Israel came to the king at He′bron and David concluded a covenant with them in He′bron before Jehovah; after which they anointed David as king over Israel, according to Jehovah’s word by means of Samuel.

[4] Later David and all Israel went to Jerusalem, that is to say, Je′bus, where the Jeb′u·sites were the inhabitants of the land. [5] And the inhabitants of Je′bus began to say to David: “You will not come in here.” Just the same, David proceeded to capture the stronghold of Zion, that is to say, the City of David. [6] So David said: “Anyone striking the Jeb′u·sites first, he will become head and prince.” And Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah got to go up first, and he came to be head. [7] And David took up dwelling in the place difficult to approach. That is why they called it the City of David. [8] And he began to build the city all around, from the Mound even to the parts round about, but Jo′ab himself brought to life the rest of the city. [9] And David went on getting greater and greater, for Jehovah of armies was with him.

[10] Now these are the heads of the mighty men that belonged to David, holding strongly with him in his kingship together with all Israel, to make him king according to Jehovah’s word concerning Israel. [11] And this is the list of the mighty men that belonged to David: Ja·sho′be·am the son of a Hach′mon·ite, the head of the three. He was brandishing his spear over three hundred slain at one time. [12] And after him there was El·e·a′zar the son of Do′do the A·ho′hite. He was among the three mighty men. [13] He it was that happened to be with David at Pas-dam′mim, where the Phi·lis′tines had gathered themselves together for war. Now there happened to be a tract of the field full of barley, and the people, for their part, had fled because of the Phi·lis′tines. [14] But he took his stand in the middle of the tract and delivered it, and kept striking down the Phi·lis′tines, so that Jehovah saved with a great salvation.

[15] And three of the thirty head ones proceeded to go down to the rock, to David at the cave of A·dul′lam, while a camp of the Phi·lis′tines was camping in the low plain of Reph′a·im. [16] And David was then in the place hard to approach; and a garrison of the Phi·lis′tines was then in Beth′le·hem. [17] After a while David showed his craving and said: “O that I might have a drink of the water from the cistern of Beth′le·hem, which is at the gate! ” [18] At that the three forced their way into the camp of the Phi·lis′tines and drew water from the cistern of Beth′le·hem, which is at the gate, and came carrying and bringing it to David. And David did not consent to drink it, but poured it out to Jehovah. [19] And he went on to say: “It is unthinkable on my part, as regards my God, to do this! Is it the blood of these men that I should drink at the risk of their souls? For it was at the risk of their souls that they brought it.” And he did not consent to drink it. These are the things that the three mighty men did.

[20] As for A·bish′ai the brother of Jo′ab, he himself became head of the three; and he was brandishing his spear over three hundred slain, and he had a reputation like the three. [21] Of the three he was more distinguished than the two others, and he came to be a chief to them; and yet he did not come up to the first three.

[22] As for Be·naiʹah the son of Je·hoiʹa·da, the son of a valiant man, who did many deeds in Kabʹze·el, he himself struck down the two sons of Arʹi·el of Moʹab; and he himself descended and struck down a lion inside a waterpit in the day of snowfall. [23] And he it was that struck down the Egyptian man, a man of extraordinary size, of five cubits. And in the hand of the Egyptian there was a spear like the beam of loom workers; yet he went on down to him with a rod and snatched the spear away from the Egyptian’s hand and killed him with his own spear. [24] These things Be·naiʹah the son of Je·hoiʹa·da did, and he had a name among the three mighty men. [25] Although he was more distinguished than the thirty, yet to the rank of the first three he did not come. However, David put him over his own bodyguard.

[26] As for the mighty men of the military forces, there were Asʹa·hel the brother of Joʹab, El·haʹnan the son of Doʹdo of Bethʹle·hem, [27] Shamʹmoth the Haʹro·rite, Heʹlez the Pelʹo·nite, [28] Iʹra the son of Ikʹkesh the Te·koʹite, Abi-eʹzer the Anʹa·thoth·ite, [29] Sibʹbe·cai the Huʹshath·ite, Iʹlai the A·hoʹhite, [30] Maʹha·rai the Ne·tophʹa·thite, Heʹled the son of Baʹa·nah the Ne·tophʹa·thite, [31] Iʹthai the son of Riʹbai of Gibʹe·ah of the sons of Benjamin, Be·naiʹah the Pirʹa·thon·ite, [32] Huʹrai from the torrent valleys of Gaʹash, A·biʹel the Arʹbath·ite, [33] Azʹma·veth the Ba·haʹrum·ite, E·liʹah·ba the Sha·alʹbo·nite, [34] the sons of Haʹshem the Giʹzo·nite, Jonʹa·than the son of Shaʹgee the Harʹa·rite, [35] A·hiʹam the son of Saʹcar the Harʹa·rite, E·liʹphal the son of Ur, [36] Heʹpher the Me·cheʹrath·ite, A·hiʹjah the Pelʹo·nite, [37] Hezʹro the Carʹmel·ite, Naʹa·rai the son of Ezʹbai, [38] Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibʹhar the son of Hagʹri, [39] Zeʹlek the Amʹmon·ite, Naʹha·rai the Be·rothʹite, the armor-bearer of Joʹab the son of Ze·ruʹiah, [40] Iʹra the Ithʹrite, Gaʹreb the Ithʹrite, [41] U·riʹah the Hitʹtite, Zaʹbad the son of Ahʹlai, [42] Adʹi·na the son of Shiʹza the Reu′ben·ite, a head of the Reu′ben·ites, by whom there were thirty; [43] Ha′nan the son of Ma′a·cah, and Josh′a·phat the Mith′nite, [44] Uz·zi′a the Ash′te·rath·ite, Sha′ma and Je·i′el, the sons of Ho′tham the A·ro′er·ite, [45] Je·di′a·el the son of Shim′ri, and Jo′ha his brother the Ti′zite, [46] E′li·el the Ma′ha·vite, and Jer′i·bai and Josh·a·vi′ah the sons of El′na·am, and Ith′mah the Mo′ab·ite. [47] E′li·el and O′bed and Ja·a·si′el the Me·zo′ba·ite.

12 And these are the ones that came to David at Zik′lag while he was still under restrictions because of Saul the son of Kish; and they were among the mighty men, the helpers in the warfare, [2] armed with the bow, using the right hand and using the left hand with stones or with arrows in the bow. They were of the brothers of Saul, of Benjamin. [3] There was the head A·hi·e′zer and Jo′ash the sons of She·ma′ah the Gib′e·ath·ite, and Je′zi·el and Pel′et the sons of Az′ma·veth, and Ber′a·cah and Je′hu the An′a·thoth·ite, [4] and Ish·ma′iah the Gib′e·on·ite, a mighty man among the thirty and over the thirty; and Jeremiah and Ja·ha·zi′el and Jo·ha′nan and Jo′za·bad the Ge·de′rath·ite, [5] E·lu′zai and Jer′i·moth and Be·a·li′ah and Shem·a·ri′ah and Sheph·a·ti′ah the Har′i·phite, [6] El·ka′nah and Is·shi′ah and Az′ar·el and Jo·e′zer and Ja·sho′be·am, the Ko′rah·ites, [7] and Jo·e′lah and Zeb·a·di′ah the sons of Je·ro′ham of Ge′dor.

[8] And there were some of the Gad′ites that separated themselves to David’s side at the place difficult to approach in the wilderness, valiant, mighty men, army men for the war, keeping the large shield and the lance ready, whose faces were the faces of lions, and they were like the gazelles upon the mountains for speed. [9] E′zer was the head, O·ba·di′ah the second, E·li′ab the third, [10] Mish·man′nah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth, [11] At′tai the sixth, E′li·el the seventh, [12] Jo·ha′nan the eighth, El·za′bad the ninth, [13] Jeremiah the tenth, Mach′ban·nai the eleventh. [14] These were of the sons of Gad, heads of the army. The least one was equal to a hundred, and the greatest to a thousand. [15] These are the ones that crossed the Jordan in the first month when it was overflowing all its banks, and they then chased away all those of the low plains, to the east and to the west.

[16] And some of the sons of Benjamin and Judah proceeded to come clear to the place difficult to approach, to David. [17] Then David went out before them and answered and said to them: “If it is for peace that YOU have come to me to help me, my own heart will become at unity with YOU. But if it is to betray me to my adversaries when there is no wrong on my palms, let the God of our forefathers see to it and set it in order.” [18] And spirit itself enveloped A·maʹsai, the head of the thirty:

> “Yours we are, O David, and with you we are, O son of Jesʹse.
> Peace, peace be yours, and peace to the one helping you,
> For your God has helped you.”

So David received them and put them among the heads of the troops.

[19] And there were some of Ma·nasʹseh that deserted to David when he came with the Phi·lisʹtines against Saul for battle; but he did not help them, for on counsel the axis lords of the Phi·lisʹtines sent him away, saying: “At the risk of our own heads he will desert to his lord Saul.” [20] When he came to Zikʹlag there deserted to him from Ma·nasʹseh Adʹnah and Joʹza·bad and Je·diʹa·el and Miʹcha·el and Joʹza·bad and E·liʹhu and Zilʹle·thai, heads of the thousands that belonged to Ma·nasʹseh. [21] And they, for their part, were of help to David against the marauder band, because all of them were mighty men of valor, and they came to be chiefs in the army; [22] for day by day people kept coming to David to help him, until it was a great camp, like the camp of God.

[23] And these were the numbers of the heads of those equipped for the army that came to David at Heʹbron to turn the kingship of Saul over to him according to Jehovah’s order. [24] The sons of Judah carrying the large shield and the lance were six thousand eight hundred, equipped for the army. [25] Of the sons of Sim′e·on the mighty men of valor of the army were seven thousand one hundred.

[26] Of the sons of the Levites four thousand six hundred. [27] And Je·hoi′a·da was the leader of the sons of Aaron, and with him there were three thousand seven hundred. [28] Also Za′dok a young man, mighty in valor, and the house of his forefathers, twenty-two chiefs.

[29] And of the sons of Benjamin, the brothers of Saul, there were three thousand, and up till then the greater number of them were keeping strict watch of the house of Saul. [30] And of the sons of E′phra·im there were twenty thousand eight hundred, mighty men of valor, men of fame, by the house of their forefathers.

[31] And of the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh there were eighteen thousand that had been designated by name to come to make David king. [32] And of the sons of Is′sa·char having a knowledge of how to discern the times to know what Israel ought to do, there were two hundred head ones of theirs, and all their brothers were at their orders. [33] Of Zeb′u·lun those going out to the army, drawing up in battle formation with all the weapons of war, there were fifty thousand, and for flocking together to David they were not of a double heart. [34] And of Naph′ta·li there were a thousand chiefs, and with them with the large shield and the spear there were thirty-seven thousand. [35] And of the Dan′ites those drawing up in battle formation were twenty-eight thousand six hundred. [36] And of Ash′er those going out to the army for drawing up in battle formation were forty thousand.

[37] And from across the Jordan of the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites and the half tribe of Ma·nas′seh with all the weapons of the military army there were a hundred and twenty thousand. [38] All these were men of war, flocking together in battle line; with a complete heart they came to He′bron to make David king over all Israel; and also all the remainder of Israel were of one heart for making David king. 39 And they continued there with David three days, eating and drinking, for their brothers had made preparation for them. 40 And also those near to them, as far as Is′sa·char and Zeb′u·lun and Naph′ta·li, were bringing food upon asses and upon camels and upon mules and upon cattle, eatables of flour, cakes of pressed figs and cakes of raisins and wine and oil and cattle and sheep in great quantity, for there was rejoicing in Israel.

13 And David proceeded to consult with the chiefs of the thousands and of the hundreds and with every leader; [2] and David went on to say to all the congregation of Israel: “If it seems good to YOU and it is acceptable with Jehovah our God, let us send to our brothers that are left over in all the lands of Israel and with them to the priests and the Levites in their cities with pasture grounds, that they may collect themselves together to us. [3] And let us bring the ark of our God around to ourselves.” For they had not cared for it in the days of Saul. [4] So all the congregation said to do that way, for the thing seemed right in the eyes of all the people. [5] Accordingly David congregated all Israel from the river of Egypt as far as the entering of Haʹmath, to bring the ark of the true God from Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim.

[6] And David and all Israel proceeded to go up to Baʹal·ah, to Kirʹi·ath-jeʹa·rim, which belongs to Judah, to bring up from there the ark of the true God, Jehovah, sitting on the cherubs, where his name is called on. [7] However, they had the ark of the true God ride upon a new wagon from the house of A·binʹa·dab, and Uzʹzah and A·hiʹo were leading the wagon. [8] And David and all Israel were celebrating before the true God with full power and with songs and with harps and with stringed instruments and with tambourines and with cymbals and with trumpets. [9] And they came gradually as far as the threshing floor of Chiʹdon, and Uzʹzah now thrust his hand out to grab hold of the Ark, for the bulls nearly caused an upset. [10] At that Jehovah’s anger blazed against Uzʹzah, so that he struck him down because he had thrust his hand out upon the Ark, and he died there before God. [11] And David became angry because Jehovah had broken through in a rupture against Uz′zah; and that place came to be called Pe′rez-uz′zah down to this day.

12 And David became afraid of the true God on that day, saying: “How shall I bring the ark of the true God to me?” 13 And David did not remove the Ark to himself at the City of David, but he carried it aside to the house of O′bed-e′dom the Git′tite. 14 And the ark of the true God kept dwelling with the household of O′bed-e′dom, at his house three months; and Jehovah kept blessing the household of O′bed-e′dom and all that was his.

14 And Hiʹram the king of Tyre proceeded to send messengers to David and cedar timbers and builders of walls and workers in wood to build him a house. [2] And David came to know that Jehovah had firmly established him as king over Israel, for his kingship was highly exalted on account of his people Israel.

[3] And David went on to take more wives in Jerusalem, and David came to be father to more sons and daughters. [4] And these are the names of the children that became his in Jerusalem: Sham·muʹa and Shoʹbab, Nathan and Solʹo·mon, [5] and Ibʹhar and E·liʹshu·a and Elʹpe·let, [6] and Noʹgah and Neʹpheg and Ja·phiʹa, [7] and E·lishʹa·ma and Be·e·liʹa·da and E·liphʹe·let.

[8] And the Phi·lisʹtines got to hear that David had been anointed as king over all Israel. At that all the Phi·lisʹtines came up to look for David. When David heard of it, then he went out against them. [9] And the Phi·lisʹtines, for their part, came in and kept making raids in the low plain of Rephʹa·im. [10] And David began to inquire of God, saying: “Shall I go up against the Phi·lisʹtines, and will you certainly give them into my hand?” At this Jehovah said to him: “Go up, and I shall certainly give them into your hand.” [11] So David went up to Baʹal-pe·raʹzim and there got to strike them down. At that David said: “The true God has broken through my enemies by my hand like a gap made by waters.” That is why they called the name of that place Baʹal-pe·raʹzim. [12] Consequently they left their gods there. Then David said the word, and so they were burned in the fire.

[13] Later the Phi·lisʹtines once again made a raid in the low plain. [14] At that David inquired again of God, and the true

God now said to him: “You must not go up after them. Go around from directly against them, and you must come at them in front of the ba′ca bushes. [15] And let it occur that, when you hear the sound of the marching in the tops of the ba′ca bushes, then you go out into the fight, because the true God will have gone out before you to strike the camp of the Phi·lis′tines down.” [16] So David did just as the true God had commanded him, and they went striking down the camp of the Phi·lis′tines from Gib′e·on to Ge′zer. [17] And David’s fame began to go out into all the lands, and Jehovah himself put the dread of him upon all the nations.

15 And he continued building houses for himself in the City of David; and he went on to prepare a place for the ark of the true God and pitch a tent for it. [2] It was then that David said: “No one is to carry the ark of the true God but the Levites, for they are the ones whom Jehovah has chosen to carry the ark of Jehovah and to minister to him to time indefinite.” [3] Then David congregated all Israel at Jerusalem to bring the ark of Jehovah up to its place that he had prepared for it.

[4] And David proceeded to gather the sons of Aaron and the Levites; [5] of the sons of Ko′hath, U·ri′el the chief and his brothers, a hundred and twenty; [6] of the sons of Me·rar′i, A·sai′ah the chief and his brothers, two hundred and twenty; [7] of the sons of Ger′shom, Joel the chief and his brothers, a hundred and thirty; [8] of the sons of E·li·za′phan, She·mai′ah the chief and his brothers, two hundred; [9] of the sons of He′bron, E′li·el the chief and his brothers, eighty; [10] of the sons of Uz′zi·el, Am·min′a·dab the chief and his brothers, a hundred and twelve. [11] Furthermore, David called Za′dok and A·bi′a·thar the priests, and the Levites U·ri′el, A·sai′ah and Joel, She·mai′ah and E′li·el and Am·min′a·dab, [12] and he went on to say to them: “YOU are the heads of the fathers of the Levites. Sanctify yourselves, YOU and YOUR brothers, and YOU must bring the ark of Jehovah the God of Israel up to the place that I have prepared for it. [13] Because at the first time YOU did not, Jehovah our God broke through against us, for we did not search after him according to the custom.” [14] So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of Jehovah the God of Israel.

[15] Then the sons of the Levites began to carry the ark of the true God, just as Moses had commanded by Jehovah’s word, upon their shoulders with the rods upon them. [16] David now said to the chiefs of the Levites to station their brothers the singers with the instruments of song, stringed instruments and harps and cymbals, playing aloud to cause a sound of rejoicing to arise.

[17] Accordingly the Levites stationed He′man the son of Joel and, of his brothers, A′saph the son of Ber·e·chi′ah; and, of the sons of Me·rar′i their brothers, E′than the son of Kush·a′iah; [18] and with them their brothers of the second division, Zech·a·ri′ah, Ben and Ja·a′zi·el and She·mir′a·moth and Je·hi′el and Un′ni, E·li′ab and Be·nai′ah and Ma·a·sei′ah and Mat·ti·thi′ah and E·liph′e·le·hu and Mik·ne′iah, and O′bed-e′dom and Je·i′el the gatekeepers, [19] and the singers He′man, A′saph and E′than, with the copper cymbals to play aloud; [20] and Zech·a·ri′ah and A′zi·el and She·mir′a·moth and Je·hi′el and Un′ni and E·li′ab and Ma·a·sei′ah and Be·nai′ah with stringed instruments tuned to Al′a·moth, [21] and Mat·ti·thi′ah and E·liph′e·le·hu and Mik·ne′iah and O′bed-e′dom and Je·i′el and Az·a·zi′ah with harps tuned to Shem′i·nith, to act as directors; [22] and Chen·a·ni′ah the chief of the Levites in carrying, he giving instruction in carrying, for he was expert; [23] and Ber·e·chi′ah and El·ka′nah the gatekeepers for the Ark; [24] and Sheb·a·ni′ah and Josh′a·phat and Ne·than′el and A·ma′sai and Zech·a·ri′ah and Be·nai′ah and E·li·e′zer the priests loudly sounding the trumpets before the ark of the true God, and O′bed-e′dom and Je·hi′ah the gatekeepers for the Ark.

[25] And David and the older men of Israel and the chiefs of the thousands came to be the ones walking along to bring up the ark of the covenant of Jehovah from the house of O′bed-e′dom with rejoicing. [26] And it came about when the true God helped the Levites while carrying the ark of the covenant of Jehovah that they proceeded to sacrifice seven young bulls and seven rams. [27] And David was dressed in a sleeveless coat of fine fabric, and also all the Levites carrying the Ark and the singers and Chen·a·niʹah the chief of the carrying by the singers; but upon David there was an ephʹod of linen. [28] And all the Israelites were bringing up the ark of the covenant of Jehovah with joyful shouting and with the sounding of the horn and with trumpets and with cymbals, playing aloud on stringed instruments and harps.

[29] And it came about that, when the ark of the covenant of Jehovah came as far as the City of David, Miʹchal, Saul's daughter, herself looked down through the window and got to see King David skipping about and celebrating; and she began to despise him in her heart.

16 Thus they brought the ark of the true God in and placed it inside the tent that David had pitched for it; and they began to present burnt offerings and communion sacrifices before the true God. [2] When David finished offering up the burnt offering and the communion sacrifices, he went on to bless the people in the name of Jehovah. [3] Further, he apportioned to all the Israelites, man as well as woman, to each one a round loaf of bread and a date cake and a raisin cake. [4] Then he put before the ark of Jehovah some of the Levites as ministers, both to call to remembrance and to thank and praise Jehovah the God of Israel, [5] A′saph the head, and second to him Zech·a·ri′ah, and Je·i′el and She·mir′a·moth and Je·hi′el and Mat·ti·thi′ah and E·li′ab and Be·nai′ah and O′bed-e′dom and Je·i′el, with instruments of the string type and with harps, and A′saph with the cymbals playing aloud, [6] and Be·nai′ah and Ja·ha·zi′el the priests with the trumpets constantly before the ark of the covenant of the true God.

[7] It was then on that day that David made a contribution for the first time to thank Jehovah by means of A′saph and his brothers:

[8] “Give thanks to Jehovah, YOU people; call upon his name,
Make his deeds known among the peoples!

[9] Sing to him, make melody to him,
Concern yourselves with all his wonderful acts.

[10] Make YOUR boast in his holy name,
Let the heart of those seeking Jehovah rejoice.

[11] Search after Jehovah and his strength,
Seek his face constantly.

[12] Remember his wonderful acts that he has performed,
His miracles and the judicial decisions of his mouth,

[13] O offspring of Israel his servant,
YOU sons of Jacob, his chosen ones.

14 He is Jehovah our God; in all the earth are his judicial decisions.

15 Remember his covenant even to time indefinite,
The word that he commanded, to a thousand generations,

16 Which covenant he concluded with Abraham,
And his sworn statement to Isaac.

17 And which statement he kept standing as a regulation even to Jacob,
As an indefinitely lasting covenant even to Israel,

18 Saying, ‘To you I shall give the land of Caʹnaan,
As the allotment of YOUR inheritance.’

19 This was when YOU happened to be few in number,
Yes, very few, and alien residents in it.

20 And they kept walking about from nation to nation,
And from one kingdom to another people.

21 He did not allow anyone to defraud them,
But on their account he reproved kings,

22 Saying, ‘Do not YOU men touch my anointed ones,
And to my prophets do nothing bad.’

23 Sing to Jehovah, all YOU of the earth!
Announce from day to day the salvation he gives!

24 Relate among the nations his glory,
Among all the peoples his wonderful acts.

25 For Jehovah is great and very much to be praised,
And he is to be feared more than all other gods.

26 For all the gods of the peoples are valueless gods.
As for Jehovah, he made the heavens.

27 Dignity and splendor are before him,
Strength and joy are at his place.

28 Attribute to Jehovah, O families of peoples, Attribute to Jehovah glory and strength.

29 Attribute to Jehovah the glory of his name, Carry a gift and come in before him.
Bow down to Jehovah in holy adornment.

30 Be in severe pains on account of him, all YOU people of the earth!
Also the productive land is firmly established:
Never will it be made to totter.

31 Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be joyful,
And let them say among the nations, ‘Jehovah himself has become king!’

32 Let the sea thunder and also that which fills it,
Let the field exult and all that is in it.

33 At the same time let the trees of the forest break out joyfully on account of Jehovah,

For he has come to judge the earth.
34 Give thanks to Jehovah, YOU people, for he is good,
For to time indefinite is his loving-kindness.
35 And say, ‘Save us, O God of our salvation,
And collect us together and deliver us from the nations,
To give thanks to your holy name, to speak exultingly in your praise.
36 Blessed be Jehovah the God of Israel from time indefinite to time indefinite.’”

And all the people proceeded to say, “Amen! ” and a praise to Jehovah.

37 Then he left there before the ark of the covenant of Jehovah A′saph and his brothers to minister before the Ark constantly, according to the requirement of each day; 38 and O′bed-e′dom and his brothers, sixty-eight, and O′bed-e′dom the son of Je·du′thun and Ho′sah as gatekeepers; 39 and Za′dok the priest and his brothers the priests before the tabernacle of Jehovah on the high place that was at Gib′e·on, 40 to offer up burnt offerings to Jehovah on the altar of burnt offering constantly morning and evening and for all that is written in the law of Jehovah that he laid in command upon Israel; 41 and with them He′man and Je·du′thun and the rest of the select men that were designated by names to thank Jehovah, because “to time indefinite is his loving-kindness”; 42 and with them He′man and Je·du′thun, to sound forth the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of the song of the true God; and the sons of Je·du′thun at the gate. 43 And all the people proceeded to go each one to his own house. Accordingly David went around to bless his own house.

17 And it came about that as soon as David had begun dwelling in his own house, David proceeded to say to Nathan the prophet: “Here I am dwelling in a house of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of Jehovah is under tent cloths.” [2] Upon that Nathan said to David: “Everything that is in your heart do, for the true God is with you.”

[3] And it came about on that night that the word of God came to Nathan, saying: [4] “Go, and you must say to David my servant, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “It will not be you that will build me the house in which to dwell. [5] For I have not dwelt in a house from the day that I brought Israel up until this day, but I continued from tent to tent and from one tabernacle to another. [6] During all the time that I walked about in all Israel, did I speak a single word with one of the judges of Israel whom I commanded to shepherd my people, saying, ‘Why have YOU men not built me a house of cedars?’”’

[7] “And now this is what you will say to my servant David, ‘This is what Jehovah of armies has said: “I myself took you from the pasture ground from following the flock to become a leader over my people Israel. [8] And I shall prove to be with you wherever you do walk, and I shall cut off all your enemies from before you, and I shall certainly make for you a name like the name of the great ones that are upon the earth. [9] And I shall certainly appoint a place for my people Israel and plant them, and they will indeed reside where they are and no more will they be disturbed; and the sons of unrighteousness will not wear them out again, just as they did at the first, [10] even since the days that I put judges in command over my people Israel. And I shall certainly humble all your enemies. And I tell you, ‘Also a house Jehovah will build for you.’

[11] “‘“And it must occur that when your days have come to the full for you to go to be with your forefathers, I shall certainly raise up your seed after you that will come to be one of your sons, and I shall indeed firmly establish his kingship. [12] He is the one that will build me a house, and I shall certainly establish his throne firmly to time indefinite. [13] I myself shall become his father, and he himself will become my son; and my loving-kindness I shall not remove from him the way I removed it from the one that happened to be prior to you. [14] And I will cause him to stand in my house and in my kingship to time indefinite, and his throne will itself become one lasting to time indefinite.”’”

[15] According to all these words and according to all this vision was the way that Nathan spoke to David.

[16] After that King David came in and sat down before Jehovah and said: “Who am I, O Jehovah God, and what is my house that you have brought me thus far? [17] As though this should be something little in your eyes, O God, yet you speak concerning the house of your servant down to a distant future time, and you have looked on me according to the opportunity of the man in the ascendancy, O Jehovah God. [18] What more could David say to you as to honoring your servant, when you yourself know your servant well? [19] O Jehovah, for the sake of your servant and in agreement with your own heart you have done all these great things by making all the great achievements known. [20] O Jehovah, there is none like you, and there is no God except you in connection with all that we have heard with our ears. [21] And what other nation in the earth is like your people Israel, whom the true God went to redeem to himself as a people, to assign to yourself a name of great achievements and fear-inspiring things by driving out nations from before your people whom you have redeemed from Egypt? [22] And you proceeded to constitute your people Israel as your people to time indefinite, and you yourself, O Jehovah, became their God. [23] And now, O Jehovah, let the word that you have spoken concerning your servant and concerning his house prove faithful to time indefinite, and do just as you have spoken. [24] And let your name prove faithful and become great to time indefinite, saying, ‘Jehovah of armies, the God of Israel, is God to Israel,’ and let the house of David your servant be one lasting before you. [25] For you yourself, my God, have revealed to your servant the purpose to build him a house. That is why your servant has found occasion to pray before you. [26] And now, O Jehovah, you are the true God, and you promise this goodness concerning your servant. [27] And now you must take it upon yourself and bless the house of your servant for it to continue to time indefinite before you; for you yourself, O Jehovah, have blessed, and it is blessed to time indefinite.”

18 And it came about afterward that David proceeded to strike down the Phi·lis′tines and subdue them and take Gath and its dependent towns out of the hand of the Phi·lis′tines. [2] Then he struck Mo′ab down, and the Mo′ab·ites came to be David’s servants bearing tribute.

[3] And David went on to strike down Had·ad·e′zer the king of Zo′bah at Ha′math as he was going his way to set up his control at the river Eu·phra′tes. [4] Further, David captured from him a thousand chariots and seven thousand horsemen and twenty thousand men on foot. Then David hamstrung all the chariot horses, but he let a hundred chariot horses of them remain. [5] When Syria of Damascus came to help Had·ad·e′zer the king of Zo′bah, David went striking down among the Syrians twenty-two thousand men. [6] After that David put garrisons in Syria of Damascus, and the Syrians came to be David’s servants bearing tribute. And Jehovah kept giving salvation to David wherever he went. [7] Moreover, David took the circular shields of gold that happened to be on the servants of Had·ad·e′zer and brought them to Jerusalem. [8] And from Tib′hath and Cun, cities of Had·ad·e′zer, David took very much copper. With it Sol′o·mon made the copper sea and the pillars and the copper utensils.

[9] When To′u the king of Ha′math heard that David had struck down all the military force of Had·ad·e′zer the king of Zo′bah, [10] he immediately sent Ha·do′ram his son to King David to ask him about his welfare and congratulate him over the fact that he had fought against Had·ad·e′zer so that he struck him down, (for Had·ad·e′zer had become trained in warfare against To′u,) and there were with him all sorts of articles of gold and silver and copper. [11] These also King

David sanctified to Jehovah together with the silver and the gold that he had carried off from all the nations, from E′dom and from Mo′ab and from the sons of Am′mon and from the Phi·lis′tines and from Am′a·lek.

12 As for A·bish′ai the son of Ze·ru′iah, he struck down the E′dom·ites in the Valley of Salt, eighteen thousand. 13 So he put garrisons in E′dom, and all the E′dom·ites came to be David’s servants. And Jehovah kept saving David wherever he went. 14 And David continued to reign over all Israel, and he was continually rendering judicial decision and righteousness for all his people. 15 And Jo′ab the son of Ze·ru′iah was over the army, and Je·hosh′a·phat the son of A·hi′lud was recorder. 16 And Za′dok the son of A·hi′tub and A·him′e·lech the son of A·bi′a·thar were priests, and Shav′sha was secretary. 17 And Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da was over the Cher′e·thites and the Pel′e·thites; and the sons of David were the first in position at the side of the king.

19 And it came about afterward that Na′hash the king of the sons of Am′mon came to die, and his son began to reign in place of him. [2] At that David said: “I shall exercise loving-kindness toward Ha′nun the son of Na′hash, because his father exercised loving-kindness toward me.” Accordingly David sent messengers to comfort him over his father, and the servants of David proceeded to come into the land of the sons of Am′mon to Ha′nun to comfort him. [3] However, the princes of the sons of Am′mon said to Ha′nun: “Is David honoring your father in your eyes in that he has sent comforters to you? Is it not for the sake of making a thorough search and causing an overthrow and for spying out the land that his servants have come in to you?” [4] So Ha′nun took the servants of David and shaved them and cut their garments in half to their buttocks and sent them away. [5] Later people went and told David about the men; and he at once sent to meet them, because they had become men very much humiliated; and the king went on to say: “Dwell in Jer′i·cho until YOUR beards grow abundantly. Then YOU must return.”

[6] In time the sons of Am′mon saw that they had become foul-smelling to David, and Ha′nun and the sons of Am′mon proceeded to send a thousand silver talents to hire for themselves chariots and horsemen from Mes·o·po·ta′mi·a and from A′ram-ma′a·cah and from Zo′bah. [7] Thus they hired for themselves thirty-two thousand chariots and the king of Ma′a·cah and his people. Then they came in and camped before Med′e·ba; and as for the sons of Am′mon, they gathered together from their cities and now came in for the war.

[8] When David heard of it, he immediately sent Joʹab and all the army and the mighty men. [9] And the sons of Amʹmon began to go out and draw up in battle formation at the entrance of the city, and the kings that had come were by themselves in the open field.

[10] When Joʹab saw that the battle charges had come to be against him from the front and from the rear, he at once chose some of all the choice men in Israel and drew them up in formation to meet the Syrians. [11] And the rest of the people he gave into the hand of A·bishʹai his brother, that they might draw up in formation to meet the sons of Amʹmon. [12] And he went on to say: “If the Syrians become too strong for me, you must also serve as a salvation for me; but if the sons of Amʹmon themselves become too strong for you, I must also save you. [13] Be strong, that we may show ourselves courageous in behalf of our people and in behalf of the cities of our God; and as for Jehovah, what is good in his own eyes he will do.”

[14] Then Joʹab and the people that were with him advanced before the Syrians to the battle, and they took to flight from before him. [15] As for the sons of Amʹmon, they saw that the Syrians had fled, and they themselves also took to flight from before A·bishʹai his brother and then came into the city. Later Joʹab came into Jerusalem.

[16] When the Syrians saw that they had been defeated before Israel, they proceeded to send messengers and bring out the Syrians that were in the region of the River, with Shoʹphach the chief of the army of Had·ad·eʹzer before them.

[17] When the report was made to David, he immediately gathered all Israel together and crossed the Jordan and came to them and drew up in formation against them. When David drew up in battle formation to meet the Syrians, they began to fight against him. [18] But the Syrians took to flight because of Israel; and David went killing of the Syrians seven thousand charioteers and forty thousand men on foot, and Shoʹphach the chief of the army himself he put to death. [19] When the servants of Had·ad·eʹzer saw that they had been defeated before Israel, they promptly made peace with David and began to serve him; and Syria did not want to try saving the sons of Amʹmon anymore.

20 And it came about at the time of the year’s return, at the time that kings sally forth, that Jo′ab proceeded to lead the combat force of the army and lay the land of the sons of Am′mon in ruin and to come and besiege Rab′bah, while David was dwelling in Jerusalem; and Jo′ab went on to strike Rab′bah and throw it down. [2] But David took the crown of Mal′cam off its head, and found it to be a talent of gold in weight, and in it there were precious stones; and it came to be on David’s head. And the spoil of the city that he brought out was very much. [3] And the people that were in it he brought out, and he kept them employed at sawing stones and at sharp instruments of iron and at axes; and that was the way David proceeded to do to all the cities of the sons of Am′mon. Finally David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

[4] And it came about after this that war began breaking out at Ge′zer with the Phi·lis′tines. It was then that Sib′be·cai the Hu′shath·ite struck down Sip′pai of those born of the Reph′a·im, so that they were subdued.

[5] And there came to be war again with the Phi·lis′tines; and El·ha′nan the son of Ja′ir got to strike down Lah′mi the brother of Go·li′ath the Git′tite, the shaft of whose spear was like the beam of loom workers.

[6] And there came to be war again at Gath, when there happened to be a man of extraordinary size whose fingers and toes were in sixes, twenty-four; and he, too, had been born to the Reph′a·im. [7] And he kept taunting Israel. Finally Jon′a·than the son of Shim′e·a the brother of David struck him down.

8 These were the ones that had been born to the Rephʹa·im in Gath; and they came to fall by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

21 And Satan proceeded to stand up against Israel and to incite David to number Israel. [2] So David said to Jo′ab and the chiefs of the people: “Go, count Israel from Be′er-she′ba to Dan and bring it to me that I may know their number.” [3] But Jo′ab said: “May Jehovah add to his people a hundred times as many as they are. Do they not, O my lord the king, all of them belong to my lord as servants? Why does my lord seek this? Why should he become a cause of guilt to Israel?”

[4] The king’s word, however, prevailed over Jo′ab, so that Jo′ab went out and walked through all Israel, after which he came to Jerusalem. [5] Jo′ab now gave the number of the registration of the people to David; and all Israel amounted to a million one hundred thousand men drawing sword, and Judah four hundred and seventy thousand men drawing sword. [6] And Le′vi and Benjamin he did not register in among them, because the king’s word had been detestable to Jo′ab.

[7] Now this thing was bad in the eyes of the true God, and so he struck down Israel. [8] Consequently David said to the true God: “I have sinned very much in that I have done this thing. And now, please, cause your servant’s error to pass away; for I have acted very foolishly.” [9] And Jehovah proceeded to speak to Gad, David’s visionary, saying: [10] “Go, and you must speak to David, saying, ‘This is what Jehovah has said: “There are three things that I am directing against you. Choose for yourself one of them, that I may do it to you.”’” [11] Accordingly Gad went in to David and said to him: “This is what Jehovah has said, ‘Take your pick, [12] whether for three years there is to be a famine; or for three months there is to be a sweeping away from before your adversaries and for the sword of your enemies to overtake you, or for three days there is to be the sword of Jehovah, even pestilence, in the land, with Jehovah’s angel bringing ruin in all the territory of Israel.’ And now see what I should reply to the One sending me.” [13] So David said to Gad: “It is very distressing to me. Please, let me fall into the hand of Jehovah, for very many are his mercies; but into the hand of man do not let me fall.”

[14] Then Jehovah gave a pestilence in Israel, so that out of Israel seventy thousand persons fell. [15] Moreover, the true God sent an angel to Jerusalem to bring ruin to it; and as soon as he began bringing the ruin, Jehovah saw it and began to feel regret over the calamity; and so he said to the angel that was bringing the ruin: “It is enough! Now let your hand drop.” And Jehovah’s angel was standing close by the threshing floor of Or′nan the Jeb′u·site.

[16] When David raised his eyes, he got to see Jehovah’s angel standing between the earth and the heavens with his drawn sword in his hand extended toward Jerusalem; and David and the older men, covered with sackcloth, at once fell down upon their faces. [17] And David proceeded to say to the true God: “Was it not I that said to make a numbering of the people, and is it not I that have sinned and have unquestionably done bad? As for these sheep, what have they done? O Jehovah my God, let your hand, please, come to be upon me and my father’s house; but not upon your people, for a scourge.”

[18] And Jehovah’s angel, for his part, said to Gad to say to David that David should go up to erect an altar to Jehovah on the threshing floor of Or′nan the Jeb′u·site. [19] Accordingly David went up at the word of Gad that he had spoken in the name of Jehovah. [20] Meantime, Or′nan turned back and saw the angel; and his four sons with him were hiding themselves. Now Or′nan had been threshing wheat. [21] So

David came as far as Or′nan. When Or′nan looked and saw David, he immediately went out of the threshing floor and bowed down to David with his face to the earth. [22] Then David said to Or′nan: “Do give me the place of the threshing floor, that I may build in it an altar to Jehovah. For the money in full give it to me, that the scourge may be halted from upon the people.” [23] But Or′nan said to David: “Take it as your own, and let my lord the king do what is good in his own eyes. See, I do give the cattle for burnt offerings and the threshing sledge for the wood and the wheat as a grain offering. The whole I do give.”

[24] However, King David said to Or′nan: “No, but without fail I shall make the purchase for the money in full, because I shall not carry what is yours to Jehovah to offer up burnt sacrifices without cost.” [25] So David gave Or′nan for the place gold shekels to the weight of six hundred. [26] Then David built there an altar to Jehovah and offered up burnt sacrifices and communion sacrifices, and he proceeded to call upon Jehovah, who now answered him with fire from the heavens upon the altar of burnt offering. [27] Moreover, Jehovah said the word to the angel, who accordingly returned his sword to its sheath. [28] At that time, when David saw that Jehovah had answered him at the threshing floor of Or′nan the Jeb′u·site, he continued to sacrifice there. [29] But the tabernacle of Jehovah that Moses had made in the wilderness and the altar of burnt offering were at that time on the high place at Gib′e·on. [30] And David had not been able to go before it to consult God, for he had been terrified because of the sword of Jehovah’s angel.

22 Then David said: “This is the house of Jehovah the true God, and this is an altar for burnt offering for Israel.”

[2] David now said to bring together the alien residents that were in the land of Israel, and then he set them as stone hewers to hew squared stones for building the house of the true God. [3] And iron in great quantity for nails for the doors of the gates and for clamps David prepared, and also copper in such quantity as to be beyond weighing, [4] and also cedar timbers without number; for the Si·do′ni·ans and the Tyr′i·ans brought in cedar timbers in great quantity to David. [5] Accordingly David said: “Sol′o·mon my son is young and delicate, and the house to be built to Jehovah is to be surpassingly magnificent for beauteous distinction to all the lands. Let me, then, make preparation for him.” So David made preparation in great quantities before his death.

[6] Moreover, he called Sol′o·mon his son that he might command him to build a house to Jehovah the God of Israel. [7] And David went on to say to Sol′o·mon his son: “As for myself, it became close to my heart to build a house to the name of Jehovah my God. [8] But Jehovah’s word came against me, saying, ‘Blood in great quantity you have spilled, and great wars you have waged. You will not build a house to my name, for a great deal of blood you have spilled on the earth before me. [9] Look! There is a son being born to you. He himself will prove to be a restful man, and I shall certainly give him rest from all his enemies all around; for Sol′o·mon is what his name will become, and peace and quietness I shall bestow upon Israel in his days. [10] It is he that will build a house to my name, and he himself will become a son to me, and I a father to him. And I shall certainly establish the throne of his kingship firmly over Israel to time indefinite.’

[11] “Now, my son, may Jehovah prove to be with you, and you must prove successful and build the house of Jehovah your God, just as he has spoken concerning you. [12] Only may Jehovah give you discretion and understanding, and may he give you commandment concerning Israel even to keep the law of Jehovah your God. [13] In that case you will prove successful if you take care to carry out the regulations and the judicial decisions that Jehovah commanded Moses respecting Israel. Be courageous and strong. Do not be afraid nor be terrified. [14] And here during my affliction I have prepared for Jehovah’s house a hundred thousand talents of gold and a million talents of silver, and the copper and the iron there is no means of weighing because they have come to be in such quantity; and timbers and stones I have prepared, but to them you will make additions. [15] And with you there are in great number doers of work, stone hewers and workers in stone and wood and every one skillful in every sort of work. [16] The gold, the silver and the copper and the iron there is no means of numbering. Rise and act, and may Jehovah prove to be with you.”

[17] And David went on to command all the princes of Israel to help Sol′o·mon his son: [18] “Is not Jehovah YOUR God with YOU, and has he not given YOU rest all around? For he has given into my hand the inhabitants of the land, and the land has been subdued before Jehovah and before his people. [19] Now set YOUR heart and YOUR soul to inquire after Jehovah YOUR God, and rise and build the sanctuary of Jehovah the true God, to bring the ark of the covenant of Jehovah and the holy utensils of the true God to the house built to the name of Jehovah.”

23 And David himself had grown old and satisfied with days, and so he made Sol′o·mon his son king over Israel. [2]
And he proceeded to gather all the princes of Israel and the priests and the Levites. [3] Accordingly the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years upward; and their number, head by head of them, able-bodied man by able-bodied man, came to be thirty-eight thousand. [4] Of these for acting as supervisors over the work of the house of Jehovah there were twenty-four thousand; and as officers and judges six thousand; [5] and four thousand gatekeepers and four thousand givers of praise to Jehovah on the instruments that David said “I have made for giving praise.”

[6] Then David distributed them in divisions to the sons of Le′vi, to Ger′shon, Ko′hath and Me·rar′i. [7] To the Ger′shon·ites, La′dan and Shim′e·i. [8] The sons of La′dan were Je·hi′el the headman and Ze′tham and Joel, three. [9] The sons of Shim′e·i were She·lo′moth and Ha′zi·el and Ha′ran, three.
These were the heads of the fathers for La′dan. [10] And the sons of Shim′e·i were Ja′hath, Zi′na and Je′ush and Be·ri′ah.
These four were the sons of Shim′e·i. [11] And Ja′hath came to be the head, and Zi′zah the second. As for Je′ush and Be·ri′ah, they did not have many sons; so they became a paternal house for one official class.

[12] The sons of Ko′hath were Am′ram, Iz′har, He′bron and Uz′zi·el, four. [13] The sons of Am′ram were Aaron and Moses.
But Aaron was separated that he might sanctify the Most Holy, he and his sons to time indefinite, to make sacrificial smoke before Jehovah, to minister to him and to pronounce blessing in his name to time indefinite. [14] As for Moses the man of the true God, his sons themselves continued to be called among the tribe of the Levites. [15] The sons of Moses were Gerʹshom and E·li·eʹzer. [16] The sons of Gerʹshom were Shebʹu·el the head. [17] And the sons of E·li·eʹzer came to be Re·ha·biʹah the head; and E·li·eʹzer did not come to have other sons, but the sons of Re·ha·biʹah did themselves become exceedingly many. [18] The sons of Izʹhar were She·loʹmith the headman. [19] The sons of Heʹbron were Je·riʹah the head, Am·a·riʹah the second, Ja·ha·ziʹel the third and Jek·a·meʹam the fourth. [20] The sons of Uzʹzi·el were Miʹcah the head and Is·shiʹah the second.

[21] The sons of Me·rarʹi were Mahʹli and Muʹshi. The sons of Mahʹli were El·e·aʹzar and Kish. [22] But El·e·aʹzar died; and he had come to have, not sons, but daughters. So the sons of Kish their brothers took them as wives. [23] The sons of Muʹshi were Mahʹli and Eʹder and Jerʹe·moth, three.

[24] These were the sons of Leʹvi by the house of their fathers, the heads of the fathers, by their commissioned ones, in the number of the names, head by head of them, the doers of the work for the service of the house of Jehovah, from the age of twenty years upward. [25] For David had said: “Jehovah the God of Israel has given rest to his people, and he will reside in Jerusalem to time indefinite. [26] And also the Levites will not have to carry the tabernacle or any of its utensils for its service.” [27] For by the last words of David these were the number of the sons of Leʹvi from the age of twenty years upward. [28] For their function was at the disposition of the sons of Aaron for the service of the house of Jehovah over the courtyards and over the dining rooms and over the purification of every holy thing and the work of the service of the house of the true God, [29] even for the layer bread and for the fine flour for the grain offering and for the wafers of unfermented bread and for the griddle cakes and for the mixed dough and for all measures of quantity and size; [30] and for standing morning by morning to thank and praise

Jehovah, and likewise at evening; [31] and for every offering up of the burnt sacrifices to Jehovah at the sabbaths, at the new moons and at the festival seasons, by number according to the rule concerning them, constantly before Jehovah. [32] And they took care of the guarding of the tent of meeting and the guarding of the holy place and the guarding of the sons of Aaron their brothers for the service of the house of Jehovah.

24 Now the sons of Aaron had their divisions. The sons of Aaron were Na′dab and A·bi′hu, El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar. [2] However, Na′dab and A·bi′hu died before their father, and they did not happen to have any sons, but El·e·a′zar and Ith′a·mar continued to act as priests. [3] And David, and Za′dok from the sons of El·e·a′zar, and A·him′e·lech from the sons of Ith′a·mar proceeded to make divisions of them for their office in their service. [4] But the sons of El·e·a′zar were found to be more numerous in headmen than the sons of Ith′a·mar. So they distributed them to the sons of El·e·a′zar, as heads for their paternal houses, sixteen, and to the sons of Ith′a·mar, as heads for their paternal houses, eight.

[5] Further, they distributed them by lots, these along with those, for there had to be chiefs of the holy place and chiefs of the true God from the sons of El·e·a′zar and from the sons of Ith′a·mar. [6] Then She·mai′ah the son of Ne·than′el the secretary of the Levites wrote them down before the king and the princes and Za′dok the priest and A·him′e·lech the son of A·bi′a·thar and the heads of the fathers of the priests and of the Levites, one paternal house being picked out for El·e·a′zar and one being picked out for Ith′a·mar.

[7] And the lot proceeded to come out: the first for Je·hoi′a·rib; for Je·da′iah the second, [8] for Ha′rim the third, for Se·o′rim the fourth, [9] for Mal·chi′jah the fifth, for Mij′a·min the sixth, [10] for Hak′koz the seventh, for A·bi′jah the eighth, [11] for Jesh′u·a the ninth, for Shec·a·ni′ah the tenth, [12] for E·li′a·shib the eleventh, for Ja′kim the twelfth, [13] for Hup′pah the thirteenth, for Je·sheb′e·ab the fourteenth, [14] for Bil′gah the fifteenth, for Im′mer the sixteenth, [15] for He′zir the seventeenth, for Hap′piz·zez the eighteenth, [16] for Peth·a·hiʹah the nineteenth, for Je·hezʹkel the twentieth, [17] for Jaʹchin the twenty-first, for Gaʹmul the twenty-second, [18] for De·laʹiah the twenty-third, for Ma·a·ziʹah the twenty-fourth.

[19] These were their offices for their service, to come into the house of Jehovah according to their due right by the hand of Aaron their forefather, just as Jehovah the God of Israel had commanded him.

[20] And of the sons of Leʹvi that were left over, of the sons of Amʹram there was Shuʹba·el; of the sons of Shuʹba·el, Jeh·deʹiah; [21] of Re·ha·biʹah: of the sons of Re·ha·biʹah, Is·shiʹah the head; [22] of the Izʹhar·ites, She·loʹmoth; of the sons of She·loʹmoth, Jaʹhath; [23] and the sons of Heʹbron, Je·riʹah the head, Am·a·riʹah the second, Ja·ha·ziʹel the third, Jek·a·meʹam the fourth. [24] The sons of Uzʹzi·el, Miʹcah; of the sons of Miʹcah, Shaʹmir. [25] The brother of Miʹcah was Is·shiʹah; of the sons of Is·shiʹah, Zech·a·riʹah.

[26] The sons of Me·rarʹi were Mahʹli and Muʹshi; the sons of Ja·a·ziʹah, Beʹno. [27] The sons of Me·rarʹi: Of Ja·a·ziʹah, Beʹno and Shoʹham and Zacʹcur and Ibʹri. [28] Of Mahʹli, El·e·aʹzar, who did not come to have any sons. [29] Of Kish: the sons of Kish were Je·rahʹme·el. [30] And the sons of Muʹshi were Mahʹli and Eʹder and Jerʹi·moth.

These were the sons of the Levites by their paternal houses. [31] And they themselves also proceeded to cast lots exactly as their brothers the sons of Aaron did before David the king and Zaʹdok and A·himʹe·lech and the heads of the paternal houses of the priests and of the Levites. As respects paternal houses, the head one was exactly as his younger brother.

25 Further, David and the chiefs of the service groups separated for the service some of the sons of A′saph, He′man and Je·du′thun the ones prophesying with the harps, with the stringed instruments and with the cymbals. And from their number the official men for their service came to be. [2] Of the sons of A′saph, Zac′cur and Joseph and Neth·a·ni′ah and Ash·a·re′lah, the sons of A′saph under the control of A′saph the one prophesying under the control of the king. [3] Of Je·du′thun: the sons of Je·du′thun, Ged·a·li′ah and Ze′ri and Je·sha′iah, and Shim′e·i, Hash·a·bi′ah and Mat·ti·thi′ah, six, under the control of their father Je·du′thun, who was prophesying with the harp for thanking and praising Jehovah. [4] Of He′man: the sons of He′man, Buk·ki′ah, Mat·ta·ni′ah, Uz′zi·el, Sheb′u·el and Jer′i·moth, Han·a·ni′ah, Ha·na′ni, E·li′a·thah, Gid·dal′ti and Ro·mam′ti-e′zer, Josh·be·kash′ah, Mal·lo′thi, Ho′thir, Ma·ha′zi·oth. [5] All these were sons of He′man, a visionary of the king in the things of the true God to raise up his horn; thus the true God proceeded to give He′man fourteen sons and three daughters. [6] All these were under the control of their father in song at the house of Jehovah, with cymbals, stringed instruments and harps for the service of the house of the true God.

Under the control of the king were A′saph and Je·du′thun and He′man.

[7] And the number of them together with their brothers trained in song to Jehovah, all experts, came to be two hundred and eighty-eight. [8] So they cast lots as to the things to be taken care of, the little being just the same as the great, the expert along with the learner.

[9] And the lot proceeded to come out: the first belonging to A′saph for Joseph, for Ged·a·li′ah the second (he and his brothers and his sons were twelve); [10] the third for Zac′cur, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [11] the fourth for Iz′ri, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [12] the fifth for Neth·a·ni′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [13] the sixth for Buk·ki′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [14] the seventh for Jesh·a·re′lah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [15] the eighth for Je·sha′iah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [16] the ninth for Mat·ta·ni′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [17] the tenth for Shim′e·i, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [18] the eleventh for Az′ar·el, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [19] the twelfth for Hash·a·bi′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [20] for the thirteenth, Shu′ba·el, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [21] for the fourteenth, Mat·ti·thi′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [22] for the fifteenth, for Jer′e·moth, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [23] for the sixteenth, for Han·a·ni′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [24] for the seventeenth, for Josh·be·kash′ah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [25] for the eighteenth, for Ha·na′ni, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [26] for the nineteenth, for Mal·lo′thi, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [27] for the twentieth, for E·li′a·thah, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [28] for the twenty-first, for Ho′thir, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [29] for the twenty-second, for Gid·dal′ti, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [30] for the twenty-third, for Ma·ha′zi·oth, his sons and his brothers, twelve; [31] for the twenty-fourth, for Ro·mam′ti-e′zer, his sons and his brothers, twelve.

26 For the divisions of gatekeepers: Of the Ko′rah·ites, Me·shel·e·mi′ah the son of Ko′re of the sons of A′saph. [2] And Me·shel·e·mi′ah had sons: Zech·a·ri′ah the firstborn, Je·di′a·el the second, Zeb·a·di′ah the third, Jath′ni·el the fourth, [3] E′lam the fifth, Je·ho·ha′nan the sixth, El′ie·ho-e′nai the seventh. [4] And O′bed-e′dom had sons: She·mai′ah the firstborn, Je·hoz′a·bad the second, Jo′ah the third and Sa′car the fourth and Ne·than′el the fifth, [5] Am′mi·el the sixth, Is′sa·char the seventh, Pe·ul′le·thai the eighth; for God had blessed him.

[6] And to She·mai′ah his son there were sons born that were rulers of the house of their father, for they were capable, mighty men. [7] The sons of She·mai′ah, Oth′ni and Reph′a·el and O′bed, El·za′bad, whose brothers were capable men, E·li′hu and Sem·a·chi′ah. [8] All these were of the sons of O′bed-e′dom, they and their sons and their brothers, capable men with the power for the service, sixty-two belonging to O′bed-e′dom. [9] And Me·shel·e·mi′ah had sons and brothers, capable men, eighteen. [10] And Ho′sah of the sons of Me·rar′i had sons. Shim′ri was the head, for he did not happen to be the firstborn but his father appointed him as head; [11] Hil·ki′ah the second, Teb·a·li′ah the third, Zech·a·ri′ah the fourth. All the sons and brothers of Ho′sah were thirteen.

[12] Of these divisions of the gatekeepers, the headmen had duties exactly as their brothers did, to minister at the house of Jehovah. [13] So they cast lots for the small the same as for the great by their paternal houses, for the different gates. [14] Then the lot to the east fell to Shel·e·mi′ah. For Zech·a·ri′ah his son, a counselor with discretion, they cast the lots, and his lot got to come out to the north. [15] O′bed-e′dom had his to the south, and his sons had the storehouses. [16] Shupʹpim and Hoʹsah had theirs to the west close by the Gate Shalʹlech·eth by the highway that goes up, guard group corresponding with guard group; [17] to the east there were six Levites; to the north for a day, four; to the south for a day, four; and for the stores, two by two; [18] for the portico to the west, four at the highway, two at the portico. [19] These were the divisions of the gatekeepers of the sons of the Koʹrah·ites and of the sons of Me·rarʹi.

[20] As regards the Levites, A·hiʹjah was over the treasures of the house of the true God and over the treasures of the things made holy. [21] The sons of Laʹdan, the sons of the Gerʹshon·ite belonging to Laʹdan; the heads of the paternal houses belonging to Laʹdan the Gerʹshon·ite, Je·hiʹe·li. [22] The sons of Je·hiʹe·li, Zeʹtham and Joel his brother, were over the treasures of the house of Jehovah. [23] For the Amʹram·ites, for the Izʹhar·ites, for the Heʹbron·ites, for the Uz·ziʹel·ites, [24] even Shebʹu·el the son of Gerʹshom the son of Moses was a leader over the stores. [25] As regards his brothers, of E·li·eʹzer there was Re·ha·biʹah his son and Je·shaʹiah his son and Joʹram his son and Zichʹri his son and She·loʹmoth his son. [26] This She·loʹmoth and his brothers were over all the treasures of the things made holy, that David the king and the heads of the paternal houses, and the chiefs of the thousands and of the hundreds, and the chiefs of the army had made holy. [27] From the wars and from the spoil they had made things holy to maintain the house of Jehovah. [28] And also all that Samuel the seer and Saul the son of Kish and Abʹner the son of Ner and Joʹab the son of Ze·ruʹiah had made holy. What anyone made holy was under the control of She·loʹmith and his brothers.

[29] Of the Izʹhar·ites, Chen·a·niʹah and his sons were for the outside business as officers and as judges over Israel.

[30] Of the He′bron·ites, Hash·a·bi′ah and his brothers, capable men, a thousand seven hundred, were over the administration of Israel in the region of the Jordan to the west for all the work of Jehovah and for the king’s service. [31] Of the He′bron·ites, Je·ri′jah was the head of the He′bron·ites by its generations by forefathers. In the fortieth year of David’s kingship they were sought out, and valiant, mighty men came to be found among them in Ja′zer in Gil′e·ad. [32] And his brothers, capable men, were two thousand seven hundred, heads of the paternal houses. So David the king assigned them over the Reu′ben·ites and the Gad′ites and the half tribe of the Ma·nas′sites, for every matter of the true God and matter of the king.

27 As for the sons of Israel by their number, the heads of the paternal houses and the chiefs of the thousands and of the hundreds and their officers that were ministering to the king in every matter of the divisions of those that came in and that went out month by month for all the months of the year, each division was twenty-four thousand.

[2] Over the first division of the first month there was Ja·sho′be·am the son of Zab′di·el, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [3] Some of the sons of Pe′rez the head of all the chiefs of the service groups were for the first month. [4] And over the division of the second month there was Do′dai the A·ho′hite with his division, and Mik′loth was the leader, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [5] The chief of the third service group for the third month was Be·nai′ah the son of Je·hoi′a·da the chief priest, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [6] This Be·nai′ah was a mighty man of the thirty and over the thirty; and over his division there was Am·miz′a·bad his son. [7] The fourth for the fourth month was As′a·hel, Jo′ab’s brother, and Zeb·a·di′ah his son after him, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [8] The fifth chief for the fifth month was Sham′huth the Iz′rah·ite, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [9] The sixth for the sixth month was I′ra the son of Ik′kesh the Te·ko′ite, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [10] The seventh for the seventh month was He′lez the Pel′o·nite of the sons of E′phra·im, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [11] The eighth for the eighth month was Sib′be·cai the Hu′shath·ite of the Ze′rah·ites, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [12] The ninth for the ninth month was Abi-e′zer the An′a·thoth·ite of the Ben′ja·min·ites, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [13] The tenth for the tenth month was Maʹha·rai the Ne·tophʹa·thite of the Zeʹrah·ites, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [14] The eleventh for the eleventh month was Be·naiʹah the Pirʹa·thon·ite of the sons of Eʹphra·im, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand. [15] The twelfth for the twelfth month was Helʹdai the Ne·tophʹa·thite, of Othʹni·el, and in his division there were twenty-four thousand.

[16] And over the tribes of Israel, of the Reuʹben·ites, E·li·eʹzer the son of Zichʹri was leader; of the Simʹe·on·ites, Sheph·a·tiʹah the son of Maʹa·cah; [17] of Leʹvi, Hash·a·biʹah the son of Kem·uʹel; of Aaron, Zaʹdok; [18] of Judah, E·liʹhu, one of David’s brothers; of Isʹsa·char, Omʹri the son of Miʹcha·el; [19] of Zebʹu·lun, Ish·maʹiah the son of O·ba·diʹah; of Naphʹta·li, Jerʹi·moth the son of Azʹri·el; [20] of the sons of Eʹphra·im, Ho·sheʹa the son of Az·a·ziʹah; of the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh, Joel the son of Pe·daiʹah; [21] of the half tribe of Ma·nasʹseh in Gilʹe·ad, Idʹdo the son of Zech·a·riʹah; of Benjamin, Ja·a·siʹel the son of Abʹner; [22] of Dan, Azʹar·el the son of Je·roʹham. These were the princes of the tribes of Israel.

[23] And David did not take the number of those from twenty years of age and under, because Jehovah had promised to make Israel as many as the stars of the heavens. [24] Joʹab the son of Ze·ruʹiah had himself started to take the count, but he did not finish; and for this there came to be indignation against Israel, and the number did not come up into the account of the affairs of the days of King David.

[25] And over the treasures of the king there was Azʹma·veth the son of Adʹi·el. And over the treasures in the field, in the cities and in the villages and in the towers there was Jonʹa·than the son of Uz·ziʹah. [26] And over the doers of work in the field, for the cultivation of the soil, there was Ez′ri the son of Che′lub. [27] And over the vineyards there was Shim′e·i the Ra′math·ite; and over that which was in the vineyards for the wine supplies there was Zab′di the Shiph′mite. [28] And over the olive groves and the sycamore trees that were in the She·phe′lah there was Ba′al-ha′nan the Ge·de′rite; and over the oil supplies there was Jo′ash. [29] And over the herds that were grazing in Shar′on there was Shit′rai the Shar′on·ite; and over the herds in the low plains there was Sha′phat the son of Ad′lai. [30] And over the camels there was O′bil the Ish′ma·el·ite; and over the she-asses there was Jeh·de′iah the Me·ron′o·thite. [31] And over the flocks there was Ja′ziz the Hag′rite. All these were the chiefs of the goods that belonged to King David.

[32] And Jon′a·than, David’s nephew, was a counselor, a man of understanding, he being also a secretary; and Je·hi′el the son of Hach′mo·ni was with the king’s sons. [33] And A·hith′o·phel was a counselor of the king; and Hu′shai the Ar′chite was the king’s companion. [34] And after A·hith′o·phel there were Je·hoi′a·da the son of Be·nai′ah and A·bi′a·thar; and Jo′ab was chief of the army of the king.

28 And David proceeded to congregate all the princes of Israel, the princes of the tribes and the princes of the divisions of those ministering to the king and the chiefs of thousands and the chiefs of hundreds and the chiefs of all the goods and livestock of the king and of his sons, together with the court officials and the mighty men, even every valiant, mighty man, to Jerusalem. [2] Then David the king rose to his feet and said:

“Hear me, my brothers and my people. As for me, it was close to my heart to build a resting house for the ark of the covenant of Jehovah and as the footstool of our God, and I had made preparation to build. [3] And the true God himself said to me, ‘You will not build a house to my name; for a man of wars you are, and blood you have spilled.’ [4] Accordingly Jehovah the God of Israel chose me out of all the house of my father to become king over Israel to time indefinite; for it was Judah that he chose as leader, and in the house of Judah my father’s house, and among my father’s sons, I was the one whom he approved, to make me king over all Israel; [5] and out of all my sons (for many are the sons whom Jehovah has given me) he then chose Sol′o·mon my son to sit upon the throne of the kingship of Jehovah over Israel.

[6] “Further, he said to me, ‘Sol′o·mon your son is the one that will build my house and my courtyards; for I have chosen him as my son, and I myself shall become his father. [7] And I shall certainly establish his kingship firmly to time indefinite if he will be strongly resolved to do my commandments and my judicial decisions, as at this day.’ [8] And now, before the eyes of all Israel, Jehovah’s congregation, and in the ears of our God, take care and search for all the commandments of Jehovah YOUR God, in order that YOU may possess the good land and may certainly pass it on as an inheritance to YOUR sons after YOU to time indefinite.

[9] “And you, Sol′o·mon my son, know the God of your father and serve him with a complete heart and with a delightful soul; for all hearts Jehovah is searching, and every inclination of the thoughts he is discerning. If you search for him, he will let himself be found by you; but if you leave him, he will cast you off forever. [10] See, now, for Jehovah himself has chosen you to build a house as a sanctuary. Be courageous and act.”

[11] And David proceeded to give Sol′o·mon his son the architectural plan of the porch and of its houses and its storerooms and its roof chambers and its dark inner rooms and the house of the propitiatory cover; [12] even the architectural plan of everything that had come to be with him by inspiration for the courtyards of Jehovah’s house and for all the dining rooms all around, for the treasures of the house of the true God and for the treasures of the things made holy; [13] and for the divisions of the priests and of the Levites and for all the work of the service of Jehovah’s house and for all the utensils of the service of Jehovah’s house; [14] for the gold by weight, the gold for all the utensils for the different services, for all the utensils of silver by weight, for all the utensils for the different services; [15] and the weight for the lampstands of gold and their lamps of gold, by weight of the different lampstands and their lamps, and for the lampstands of silver by weight for the lampstand and its lamps according to the service of the different lampstands; [16] and the gold by weight for the tables of the layer bread, for the different tables, and silver for the tables of silver; [17] and the forks and the bowls and the pitchers of pure gold, and for the small gold bowls by weight for the different small bowls, and for the small silver bowls by weight for the different small bowls; [18] and for the incense altar refined gold by weight and for the representation of the chariot, namely, the cherubs of gold for spreading their wings out and screening over the ark of the covenant of Jehovah. [19] “He gave insight for the entire thing in writing from the hand of Jehovah upon me, even for all the works of the architectural plan.”

[20] And David went on to say to Sol′o·mon his son: “Be courageous and strong and act. Do not be afraid nor be terrified, for Jehovah God, my God, is with you. He will not desert you or leave you until all the work of the service of Jehovah’s house is finished. [21] And here are the divisions of the priests and of the Levites for all the service of the house of the true God; and with you in all the work there is every willing one with skill for all the service, and also the princes and all the people, for all your words.”

29 David the king now said to all the congregation: “Sol′o·mon my son, the one whom God has chosen, is young and delicate, but the work is great; for the castle is not for man, but for Jehovah God. [2] And according to all my power I have prepared for the house of my God the gold for the goldwork, and the silver for the silverwork, and the copper for the copperwork, the iron for the ironwork, and the timbers for the timberwork; onyx stones, and stones to be set with hard mortar, and mosaic pebbles, and every precious stone, and alabaster stones in great quantity. [3] And since I am taking pleasure in the house of my God, there is yet a special property of mine, gold and silver; I do give it to the house of my God over and above all that I have prepared for the holy house: [4] three thousand talents of gold of the gold of O′phir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver, for coating the walls of the houses; [5] of the gold for the goldwork, and of the silver for the silverwork and for all the work by the hand of the craftsmen. And who is there volunteering to fill his hand today with a gift for Jehovah?”

[6] And the princes of the paternal houses and the princes of the tribes of Israel and the chiefs of thousands and of hundreds and the chiefs of the business of the king proceeded to volunteer. [7] Accordingly they gave to the service of the house of the true God gold worth five thousand talents and ten thousand darics and silver worth ten thousand talents and copper worth eighteen thousand talents and iron worth a hundred thousand talents. [8] And what stones were found with any persons they gave to the treasure of the house of Jehovah under the control of Je·hi′el the Ger′shon·ite. [9] And the people gave way to rejoicing over their making voluntary offerings, for it was with a complete heart that they made voluntary offerings to Jehovah; and even David the king himself rejoiced with great joy.

[10] Consequently David blessed Jehovah before the eyes of all the congregation and David said: “Blessed may you be, O Jehovah the God of Israel our father, from time indefinite even to time indefinite. [11] Yours, O Jehovah, are the greatness and the mightiness and the beauty and the excellency and the dignity; for everything in the heavens and in the earth is yours. Yours is the kingdom, O Jehovah, the One also lifting yourself up as head over all. [12] The riches and the glory are on account of you, and you are dominating everything; and in your hand there are power and mightiness, and in your hand is ability to make great and to give strength to all. [13] And now, O our God, we are thanking you and praising your beauteous name.

[14] “And yet, who am I and who are my people, that we should retain power to make voluntary offerings like this? For everything is from you, and out of your own hand we have given to you. [15] For we are alien residents before you and settlers the same as all our forefathers. Like a shadow our days are upon the earth and there is no hope. [16] O Jehovah our God, all this abundance that we have prepared to build for you a house for your holy name, from your hand it is, and to you it all belongs. [17] And I well know, O my God, that you are an examiner of the heart, and that it is in rectitude that you take pleasure. I, for my part, in the uprightness of my heart have voluntarily offered all these things, and now your people who are on hand here I have enjoyed seeing make offerings voluntarily to you. [18] O Jehovah the God of Abraham, Isaac and Israel our forefathers, do keep this to time indefinite as the inclination of the thoughts of the heart of your people, and direct their heart to you. [19] And to Sol′o·mon my son give a complete heart to keep your commandments, your testimonies and your regulations, and to do everything, and to build the castle for which I have made preparation.”

[20] And David went on to say to all the congregation: “Bless, now, Jehovah YOUR God.” And all the congregation proceeded to bless Jehovah the God of their forefathers and bow low and prostrate themselves to Jehovah and to the king. [21] And they continued to sacrifice sacrifices to Jehovah and offer up burnt offerings to Jehovah on the day following that day, a thousand young bulls, a thousand rams, a thousand male lambs and their drink offerings, even sacrifices in great number for all Israel. [22] And they continued eating and drinking before Jehovah on that day with great rejoicing; and they proceeded a second time to make Sol′o·mon the son of David king and to anoint him to Jehovah as leader and also Za′dok as priest. [23] And Sol′o·mon began to sit upon Jehovah’s throne as king in place of David his father and to make a success of it, and all the Israelites were obedient to him. [24] As for all the princes and the mighty men and also all the sons of King David, they submitted themselves to Sol′o·mon the king. [25] And Jehovah continued to make Sol′o·mon surpassingly great before the eyes of all Israel and to put upon him such royal dignity as had not come to be upon any king before him over Israel.

[26] As for David the son of Jes′se, he reigned over all Israel; [27] and the days that he reigned over Israel were forty years. In He′bron he reigned for seven years, and in Jerusalem he reigned for thirty-three years. [28] And gradually he died in a good old age, satisfied with days, riches and glory; and Sol′o·mon his son began to reign in place of him. [29] As for the affairs of David the king, the first ones and the last, there they are written among the words of Samuel the seer and among the words of Nathan the prophet and among the words of Gad the visionary, [30] together with all his kingship and his mightiness and the times that had passed over him and over Israel and over all the kingdoms of the lands.

THE SECOND OF CHRONICLES

1 And Sol′o·mon the son of David continued to get strength in his kingship, and Jehovah his God was with him and kept making him surpassingly great.

[2] And Sol′o·mon proceeded to say the word to all Israel, to the chiefs of the thousands and of the hundreds and to the judges and to all the chieftains of all Israel, the heads of the paternal houses. [3] Then Sol′o·mon and all the congregation with him went to the high place that was at Gib′e·on; for there was where the tent of meeting of the true God, which Moses the servant of Jehovah had made in the wilderness, happened to be. [4] However, the ark of the true God David had brought up from Kir′i·ath-je′a·rim to the place that David had prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem. [5] And the copper altar that Bez′al·el the son of U′ri the son of Hur had made had been put before the tabernacle of Jehovah; and Sol′o·mon and the congregation applied as usual to it. [6] Sol′o·mon now made offerings there before Jehovah upon the copper altar that belonged to the tent of meeting, and he proceeded to offer upon it a thousand burnt offerings.

[7] During that night God appeared to Sol′o·mon and then said to him: “Ask! What shall I give you?” [8] At that Sol′o·mon said to God: “You are the One that exercised great loving-kindness toward David my father and that have made me king in place of him. [9] Now, O Jehovah God, let your promise with David my father prove faithful, for you yourself have made me king over a people as numerous as the dust particles of the earth. [10] Give me now wisdom and knowledge that I may go out before this people and that I may come in, for who could judge this great people of yours?”

11 Then God said to Sol′o·mon: “For the reason that this has proved to be close to your heart and you have not asked for wealth, riches and honor or for the soul of those hating you, neither is it even many days that you have asked for, but you ask for wisdom and knowledge for yourself that you may judge my people over whom I have made you king, 12 the wisdom and the knowledge are being given you; also wealth and riches and honor I shall give you such as no kings that were prior to you happened to have, and such as no one after you will come to have.”

13 So Sol′o·mon came from the high place that was at Gib′e·on, from before the tent of meeting, to Jerusalem and continued to reign over Israel. 14 And Sol′o·mon kept gathering chariots and steeds so that he came to have a thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand steeds, and he kept them stationed in chariot cities and close by the king at Jerusalem. 15 And the king came to make the silver and the gold in Jerusalem like the stones; and cedarwood he made like the sycamore trees that are in the She·phe′lah for great quantity. 16 And there was the export of the horses that Sol′o·mon had from Egypt, and the company of the king’s merchants would themselves take the horse drove for a price. 17 And they customarily brought up and exported from Egypt a chariot for six hundred silver pieces and a horse for a hundred and fifty; and that was the way it was for all the kings of the Hit′tites and the kings of Syria. It was by means of them that they did the exporting.

2 Sol′o·mon now gave the word to build a house to Jehovah’s name and a house for his kingship. [2] Accordingly
Sol′o·mon counted off seventy thousand men as burden bearers and eighty thousand men as cutters in the mountain, and as overseers over them three thousand six hundred. [3] Further, Sol′o·mon sent to Hi′ram the king of Tyre, saying: “Just as you dealt with David my father and you kept sending him cedarwood to build himself a house in which to dwell,— [4] here I am building a house to the name of Jehovah my God to sanctify it to him, to burn perfumed incense before him, with the constant layer bread and burnt offerings in the morning and in the evening, on the sabbaths and on the new moons and at the festival seasons of Jehovah our God. To time indefinite this will be upon Israel. [5]
And the house that I am building will be great, for our God is greater than all the other gods. [6] And who could retain power to build him a house? For the heavens and the heaven of the heavens cannot contain him, and who am I that I should build him a house except for making sacrificial smoke before him? [7] And now send me a skillful man to work in gold and in silver and in copper and in iron and in wool dyed reddish purple and crimson and blue thread, and knowing how to cut engravings, along with the skillful ones that are with me in Judah and in Jerusalem, whom David my father has prepared. [8] And send me timbers of cedar, juniper and algum from Leb′a·non, for I myself well know that your servants are experienced at cutting down the trees of Leb′a·non, (and here my servants are together with your servants,) [9] even for preparing timbers for me in great number, for the house that I am building will be great, yes, in a wonderful way. [10] And, look! to the gatherers of wood, the cutters of the trees, I do give wheat as food for your servants, twenty thousand cors, and barley twenty thousand cors, and wine twenty thousand baths, and oil twenty thousand baths.”

11 At that Hi′ram the king of Tyre said the word in writing and sent it to Sol′o·mon: “Because Jehovah loved his people he has constituted you king over them.” 12 And Hi′ram went on to say: “Blessed be Jehovah the God of Israel, who made the heavens and the earth, because he has given to David the king a wise son, experienced in discretion and understanding, who will build a house to Jehovah and a house for his kingship. 13 And now I do send a skillful man, experienced in understanding, belonging to Hi′ram-a′bi, 14 the son of a woman of the sons of Dan but whose father was a man of Tyre, experienced, to work in gold and in silver, in copper, in iron, in stones and in timbers, in wool dyed reddish purple, in blue thread and in fine fabric and in crimson and at cutting every sort of engraving and at designing every sort of device that may be given to him along with your own skillful men and the skillful men of my lord David your father. 15 And now the wheat and the barley, the oil and the wine that my lord has promised, let him send to his servants. 16 As for ourselves, we shall cut down trees from Leb′a·non according to all your need, and we shall bring them to you as rafts by sea to Jop′pa, and you, for your part, will take them up to Jerusalem.”

17 Then Sol′o·mon took a count of all the men that were alien residents, who were in the land of Israel, after the census that David his father had taken of them; and there came to be found a hundred and fifty-three thousand six hundred. 18 So he made seventy thousand of them burden bearers and eighty thousand cutters in the mountain and three thousand six hundred overseers for keeping the people in service.

3 Finally Sol′o·mon started to build the house of Jehovah in Jerusalem on Mount Mo·ri′ah, where Jehovah had appeared to David his father, in the place that David had prepared on the threshing floor of Or′nan the Jeb′u·site. [2] Accordingly he started to build in the second month on the second day, in the fourth year of his reign. [3] And these things Sol′o·mon laid as a foundation for building the house of the true God, the length in cubits by the former measurement being sixty cubits, and the width twenty cubits. [4] And the porch that was in front of the length was twenty cubits in front of the width of the house, and its height was a hundred and twenty; and he proceeded to overlay it inside with pure gold. [5] And the great house he covered with juniper wood, after which he covered it with good gold, and then he brought up upon it palm-tree figures and chains. [6] Further, he overlaid the house with precious stone for beauty; and the gold was gold from the gold country. [7] And he went on to cover the house, the rafters, the thresholds and its walls and its doors with gold; and he engraved cherubs upon the walls.

[8] And he proceeded to make the house of the Most Holy, its length in relation to the width of the house being twenty cubits, and its own width being twenty cubits; and then he covered it with good gold to the amount of six hundred talents. [9] And the weight for the nails was fifty gold shekels; and the roof chambers he covered with gold.

[10] Then he made in the house of the Most Holy two cherubs in the workmanship of images, and overlaid them with gold.
[11] As for the wings of the cherubs, their length was twenty cubits, the one wing of five cubits reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing of five cubits reaching to the wing of the other cherub. [12] And the wing of the one cherub of five cubits was reaching to the wall of the house, and the other wing of five cubits was in contact with the wing of the other cherub. [13] The wings of these cherubs were spread out twenty cubits; and they were standing upon their feet with their faces inward.

[14] Further, he made the curtain of blue thread and wool dyed reddish purple and crimson and fine fabric, and worked in cherubs upon it.

[15] Then he made before the house two pillars, thirty-five cubits in length, and the capital that was upon the top of each one was five cubits. [16] Further, he made chains in necklace style and put them upon the tops of the pillars, and made a hundred pomegranates and put them on the chains. [17] And he proceeded to set up the pillars in front of the temple, one to the right and one to the left, after which he called the name of the right-hand one Ja′chin and the name of the left-hand one Bo′az.

4 Then he made the copper altar, twenty cubits being its length, and twenty cubits its width, and ten cubits its height.

[2] And he proceeded to make the molten sea ten cubits from its one brim to its other brim, circular all around, and its height was five cubits, and it took a line of thirty cubits to circle all around it. [3] And there was the likeness of gourd-shaped ornaments under it clear around, surrounding it, ten in a cubit, enclosing the sea all around. The gourd-shaped ornaments were in two rows, being cast in its casting. [4] It was standing upon twelve bulls, three facing the north and three facing the west and three facing the south and three facing the east; and the sea was above upon them, and all their hind parts were inward. [5] And its thickness was a handbreadth; and its brim was like the workmanship of the brim of a cup, a lily blossom. As a receptacle, three thousand bath measures were what it could contain.

[6] Further, he made ten basins, and put five to the right and five to the left, to wash in them. Things having to do with the burnt offering they would rinse in them. But the sea was for the priests to wash in it.

[7] He then made lampstands of gold, ten of them of the same plan, and put them in the temple, five to the right and five to the left.

[8] Further, he made ten tables, and stationed them in the temple, five to the right and five to the left, and made a hundred bowls of gold.

[9] Then he made the courtyard of the priests and the great enclosure and the doors belonging to the enclosure, and their doors he overlaid with copper. [10] And the sea he placed at the right side, to the east, toward the south.

[11] Finally Hi′ram made the cans and the shovels and the bowls.

So Hi′ram finished doing the work that he did for King Sol′o·mon on the house of the true God. [12] The two pillars and the round capitals upon the top of the two pillars and the two networks to cover the two round capitals that were upon the top of the pillars [13] and the four hundred pomegranates for the two networks, two rows of pomegranates for each network to cover the two round capitals that were upon the pillars, [14] and the ten carriages and the ten basins upon the carriages; [15] the one sea and the twelve bulls under it, [16] and the cans and the shovels and the forks and all their utensils Hi′ram-a′biv made for King Sol′o·mon for the house of Jehovah, of polished copper. [17] In the District of the Jordan the king cast them in the thick ground between Suc′coth and Zer′e·dah. [18] Thus Sol′o·mon made all these utensils in very great quantity, for the weight of the copper was not ascertained.

[19] And Sol′o·mon proceeded to make all the utensils that were at the house of the true God and the golden altar and the tables with the showbread upon them, [20] and the lampstands and their lamps of pure gold, to light them up before the innermost room according to the rule; [21] and the blossoms and the lamps and the snuffers, of gold, (it was the purest gold,) [22] and the extinguishers and the bowls and the cups and the fire holders, of pure gold, and the entrance of the house, its inner doors for the Most Holy and the doors of the house of the temple, of gold.

5 Finally all the work that Sol′o·mon had to do for the house of Jehovah was at its completion, and Sol′o·mon began to bring in the things made holy by David his father; and the silver and the gold and all the utensils he put in the treasures of the house of the true God. [2] It was then that Sol′o·mon proceeded to congregate the older men of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the chieftains of the paternal houses of the sons of Israel, to Jerusalem, to bring the ark of the covenant of Jehovah up from the City of David, that is to say, Zion. [3] So all the men of Israel congregated themselves to the king at the festival, that of the seventh month.

[4] So all the older men of Israel came, and the Levites began to carry the Ark. [5] And they came bringing up the Ark and the tent of meeting and all the holy utensils that were in the tent. The priests the Levites brought them up. [6] And King Sol′o·mon and all the assembly of Israelites that were keeping their appointment with him before the Ark were sacrificing sheep and cattle that could not be counted or numbered for multitude. [7] Then the priests brought the ark of the covenant of Jehovah into its place, into the innermost room of the house, into the Most Holy, to underneath the wings of the cherubs. [8] Thus the cherubs were continually spreading out their wings over the place of the Ark, so that the cherubs covered over the Ark and its poles from above. [9]
But the poles were long, so that the tips of the poles were visible at the Holy in front of the innermost room, but they
